Coun. CURLEY—Mr. President, I anticipated that there would be an objection by Coun. Smith on this ground, and I would suggest, if agreeable to the members, that when the Board adjourns it be to meet Thursday of this week, when we can dispose of the North End Bath and such matters as are pending, and we can then adjourn to the 26th. I understand that the Mayor goes abroad on the 27th and that there will be no occasion for us to have meetings for a while after that time. That will give us two days to clean things up.
Coun. SMITH—There are a good many matters before committees and that will hardly give us time to call the committees together and act upon the things before them. I should rather make it next Monday, the time for the regular meeting.
Coun. BALLANTYNE—Mr. President, my reason for favoring adjournment for two weeks is this, that our President wishes to take a little vacation, I understand, and the Mayor is going away on the 27th so that the President will not be able to get any vacation after that time. I think that we ought to consider our President and see that he gets a few days' vacation. That is my reason for favoring adjournment to a week from next Monday.
Coun. SMITH—Mr. President, I withdraw my objection.
The Council voted, on motion of Coun. CURLEY, that when it adjourns it be to meet on Monday, June 26, at 3 p. m.

Adjourned, on motion of Coun. CURLEY, at 7.08 p. m., to meet on Monday, June 26, at 3 p. m.

CITY OF BOSTON.

Special meeting of the City Council, held in the Council Chamber, City Hall, at three o'clock p. m., President COLLINS in the chair. Absent—Coun. Kenny.

City of Boston,
Office of the Mayor, June 16, 1911.

To the Members of the City Council:

You are hereby requested to assemble in the City Council Chamber, City Hall, on Friday, June 16, at three o'clock, for the purpose of considering the repeal of an ordinance abolishing the Consumptives' Hospital Department and transferring its powers and duties to the Board of Health and for the transaction of such other business as may properly come before the meeting.

Yours respectfully,
JOHN F. FITZGERALD, Mayor.

Placed on file.

The Council voted, on motion of Coun. BALLANTYNE, to dispense with the reading of the records of the last meeting.

CONSOLIDATION OF DEPARTMENTS.

The following was received:

City of Boston,
Office of the Mayor, June 15, 1911.

To the City Council:

On Februarv 13, 1911, I recommended the passage of an ordinance abolishing the Consumptives' Hospital Department and transferring its powers and duties to the Board of Health. The draft which accompanied my message was referred to the Committee on Ordinances and, not having been rejected or adopted within the period of sixty days prescribed by section 2 of chapter 486 of the Acts of 1909, presumably became operative at the end of that period. No notice, however, was given to the heads of the departments concerned or to other city officials, and the Consumptives' Hospital Department has continued to exercise the powers and perform the duties conferred upon it by chapter 4 of the Ordinances of 1906.

As the original draft was not dated, the date having been left blank for subsequent insertion, there is some question whether the provisions of chapter 486 apply in this case, or whether, in other words, an undated ordinance becomes immediately operative upon the expiration of the sixty-day period.

Moreover, since my recommendation was made several bills have been presented and considered at the Legislature which might affect the control of the city over tuberculous patients. Four such bills, namely, Senate bills numbered 84, 85, 89 and 556, are now either in the committee or before one of the two houses of the Legislature. Measures more radical than any contained in these bills, such as the complete transfer of the work of the Consumptives' Hospital Department to the state, have been proposed, and this transfer, which is by no means impossible, could be most conveniently made if the accounts and activities of the hospital were kept entirely distinct and not involved with those of another department. If it is deemed desirable that the consolidation should be carried into effect the matter can be taken up again at a later date.

Under the circumstances, therefore, I recommend the passage of the accompanying ordinance, repealing the ordinance recommended in my message of February 13, 1911.

Respectfully,
JOHN F. FITZGERALD, Mayor.

City of Boston.
In the Year Nineteen Hundred and Eleven.
An Ordinance.

Be it ordained by the City Council of Boston, as follows:

That an ordinance abolishing the Consumptives' Hospital Department and transferring its powers and duties to the Board of Health, recommended in a message of his Honor the Mayor, dated February 13, 1911, filed with the City Clerk on that date, and rendered operative by the failure of the City Council to adopt or reject it within the prescribed period of sixty days thereafter, be and hereby is repealed.

Coun. HALE—Mr. President, I would like to ask whether there is any provision in connection with this to ratify the acts done by the Consumptives' Hospital Trustees.

President COLLINS—The Chair would state that there is no provision for the ratification of any acts of the Consumptives' Hospital Department since the sixty days have expired.

Coun. HALE—If you think it advisable I would present an amendment covering that. I think it is rather important.

President COLLINS—The Chair will accept any amendment that is offered.

The communication and ordinance were referred to the Executive Committee.

RECESS TAKEN.

The Council voted at 3.40 p. m., on motion of Coun. HALE, to take a recess subject to the call of the President.

The members reassembled in the Chamber and were called to order at 4.45 p. m.

SEWERAGE WORKS, CHARLES RIVER BASIN.

The following was received:

City of Boston,
Office of the Mayor, June 16, 1911.

To the City Council:

Among the bills presented on my petition to the General Court during the present session was one designed to limit the amount of the loan made mandatory under chapter 485 of the Acts of 1907 for a separate system of drainage within the watershed of the Charles River Basin. Under the provisions of that act it was necessary for the city to borrow about seven hundred thousand dollars ($700,000) this year, but the engineers of the Department of Public Works have estimated that the sum of three hundred and ninety-five thousand dollars ($395,000) was about all that could be expended to advantage and that it would be preferable to use the borrowing capacity of the city for an increase of the regular sewerage loan. The bill, which is House Bill No. 1295, has not yet been passed, and rather than permit any delay, which I am assured by the Commissioner of Public Works is extremely detrimental to the efficiency of the work itself, I desire to recommend the immediate passage of the accompanying order, which provides for a loan to the amount of three hundred and ninety-five thousand dollars ($395,000), which is substantially the limit set in the bill.

Respectfully,
JOHN F. FITZGERALD, Mayor.

Ordered, That the sum of three hundred ninety-five thousand dollars ($395,000) be appropriated for the construction of sewerage works within the watershed of the Charles River Basin, being a portion of the amount required by chapter 485 of the Acts of 1907, and that the City Treasurer be authorized to issue, from time to time, on the request of the Mayor, bonds of the City of Boston to said amount for said purpose.

Coun. McDONALD—I move that the rule be suspended and that the order may take its first reading to-day.

Coun. BALLANTYNE—Mr. President, I very much dislike to take matters out of the hands of the Committee on Finance, and, as I understand, a similar order is in the hands of that committee at present. This seems to be an urgent matter and his Honor has explained to the Council to-day that early in July the department will be without funds to prosecute this work, and that if it is left over to the next regular meeting on June 26 there will not he time to give the ordinance its second reading before the summer adjournment. For that reason I favor the first reading of the ordinance.

President COLLINS—The Chair will state that no communication is being taken out of the hands of the Committee on Finance. This is a new order.

Coun. BALLANTYNE—I so understand—that this is an order similar to the one in their hands.

Coun. SMITH—May I ask what will become of the order in the hands of the Committee on Finance?

President COLLINS—The Committee on Finance will meet and dispose of that order some time within sixty days from the date it was filed with the City Clerk. The Chair will state that that is an order which will become operative in sixty days if not acted on.

The rule was suspended and the order was read once and passed, yeas 7, nays 0.

Reports accepted; said papers placed on file.

COLLECTION OF RAGS.

Coun. BUCKLEY offered an order—That the Board of Health, through his Honor the Mayor, be requested to adopt such order or regulation as will result in a discontinuance of the prevailing custom of permitting the collection of rags and paper on inland dumps, as the collection, storage and sale of the same is injurious to public health.

Passed.

ADDITIONAL APPROPRIATION, NINTH REGIMENT ANNIVERSARY.

The following was received:

City of Boston,
Office of the Mayor, June 15, 1911.

To the City Council:

The preliminary estimate for an appropriation for the celebration of the Fiftieth Anniversary of the Ninth Regiment, M. V. M., was expected to cover the cost of the decorations and the music. It was found necessary, however, to employ the services of more than one hand for a considerable portion of the day and this, together with a slight excess in the expenditure for decorations, necessitates the addition of two hundred dollars ($200) to the original amount. I recommend, therefore, the passage of the accompanying order, transferring the sum of two hundred dollars ($200) from the Reserve Fund to the appropriation for Mayor, Public Celebrations.

Respectfully,
JOHN F. FITZGERALD, Mayor.

Ordered, That in accordance with the provisions of chapter 261 of the Acts of 1893 the City Auditor be and hereby is authorized to transfer the sum of two hundred dollars ($200) additional from the appropriation for Reserve Fund to the appropriation for Mayor, Public Celebrations, to be expended for the celebration of the fiftieth anniversary of the Ninth Regiment, M. V. M.

Passed, yeas 7, nays 0.

DOMESTIC BUILDING, CONSUMPTIVES' HOSPITAL.

The following was received:

City of Boston,
Office of the Mayor, June 15, 1911.

To the City Council:

For the reason given in the accompanying communication from the chairman of the Consumptives' Hospital Department, I recommend the passage of an order transferring the sum of $2,500 from the appropriation for "Completion of Second Ward" to the appropriation for "Domestic Building."

Consumptives' Hospital,
June 13, 1911.

Hon. John F. Fitzgerald,
Mayor of Boston:

Dear Sir,—I respectfully request the transfer of $2,500 from the unexpended balance of "Completion of Second Ward" account to the "Domestic Building" account. This transfer is asked to help pay for the refrigeration plant, the appropriation for the domestic building not being sufficient for this purpose.

Yours very truly,
EDWARD F. McSWEENEY, Chairman.

Ordered, That the City Auditor be and hereby is authorized to transfer the sum of $2,500 from the appropriation for Consumptives' Hospital Department, Completion of Second Ward, to the appropriation for Consumptives' Hospital Department, Domestic Building.

Referred to the Executive Committee.

COURTHOUSE, ETC., EAST BOSTON.

The following was received:

City of Boston,
Office of the Mayor, June 16, 1911.

To the City Council:

I beg to transmit a communication from the Superintendent of Public Buildings, calling attention to the need of an additional appropriation of sixty thousand dollars ($60,000) for the purchase of a site and the erection of a new building for a courthouse and police station in East Boston. The first loan for this purpose, amounting to eighty thousand dollars ($80,000), was approved by Mayor Hibbard on May 6, 1909. The sum in hand, according to the auditor's bulletin of June 1, 1911, is one hundred and two thousand dollars ($102,000). The matter has been pending so long, the need of improved accommodations is so obvious, and the demands of the citizens of East Boston so insistent, that I have drafted the accompanying loan order, appropriating the additional sum of sixty thousand dollars ($60,000) named by the Superintendent of Public Buildings in his tentative estimate, and recommend it for immediate passage by your honorable body.

Respectfully,
JOHN F. FITZGERALD, Mayor.

Public Buildings Department, June 16, 1911.

Hon. John F. Fitzgerald,
Mayor of Boston:

Dear Sir,—I desire to call your attention to the fact that in the matter of providing a new building for a courthouse and police station in East Boston, an additional appropriation of at least sixty thousand ($60,000) dollars will be required.

This estimate is a tentative one as the site for the new building has not as yet been definitely settled on. I respectfully suggest that the above be submitted to the City Council with the request that the amount be appropriated and added to the present appropriation for the building.

Yours respectfully,
M. J. FISH,
Superintendent of Public Buildings.

Ordered, That the sum of sixty thousand dollars ($60,000) be and hereby is appropriated, to be added to the appropriation for East Boston Courthouse and Police Station, and that to meet said appropriation the City Treasurer be authorized, with the approval of the Mayor, to issue bonds or certificates of indebtedness of the city to said amount.

Referred to the Committee on Finance.

PRINCE STREET PLAYGROUND IMPROVEMENTS.

The following was received:

City of Boston,
Office of the Mayor, June 22, 1911.

To the City Council:

I beg to transmit a letter from the chairman of the Board of Park Commissioners, requesting an appropriation of three thousand dollars ($3.000) for the completion of certain improvements on the Prince Street Playground. The need for this money is set forth in two letters from the chairman, under date of December 23 and 31, 1910, respectively, submitted to your honorable body at its meeting of January 16, 1911. While no appropriation was made in response to my recommendation at that time, about three thousand dollars ($3,000), derived partly from the maintenance appropriation of the department and partly from the unexpended balance of a special appropriation, was expended upon this improvement.

I believe that the work is necessary in order that the people of the district may receive the greatest benefit from this playground, and recommend the order attached hereto, transferring the sum of three thousand dollars ($3,000) from the appropriation for Reserve Fund to a special appropriation for Prince Street Playground Improvements.

Respectfully,
JOHN F. FITZGERALD, Mayor.

City of Boston,
Board of Commissioners of the
Department of Parks,
June 19, 1911.

Hon. John F. Fitzgerald,
Mayor of Boston:

Dear Sir,—You will remember that a contract was made by us and approved by you for improving the Prince Street Playground and that as the funds were not sufficient to complete this work some of the materials were to be placed in storage for use this spring, when an additional appropriation was assured to us. The necessary appropriation ($3,000) is on the amended list of May 19, 1911, now before you and the City Council and awaiting your approval and the appropriations. Meanwhile the work is stopped and the contractors object to storing the materials for this prolonged period. If you can obtain this small appropriation for us it would relieve an annoying situation.

Yours very truly,
ROBERT S. PEABODY, Chairman.

Ordered, That under the provisions of chapter 261 of the Acts of 1893, the City Auditor be and hereby is authorized to transfer the sum of three thousand dollars ($3,000) from the appropriation for Reserve Fund to a special appropriation, to be expended under the direction of the Park Commissioners for Prince Street Playground Improvements.

Referred to the Executive Committee.

FREMONT AVENUE PLAYGROUND.

The following was received:

City of Boston,
Office of the Mayor, June 22, 1911.

To the City Council:

The accompanying letter from the chairman of the Board of Park Commissioners offers an opportunity of the sort which, in my opinion, should be improved without hesitation. The commissioners have discovered a small unimproved lot on Fremont and Dayton avenues, near Mall street, Roxbury, which they believe would make an ideal neighborhood playground. The assessed valuation of the lot is two thousand six hundred dollars ($2,600), but the commissioners believe that it can be obtained for one thousand dollars ($1,000) less. With an appropriation of five thousand dollars ($5,000) they estimate that it could be converted into a very useful little retreat for mothers and small children. I recommend, therefore, the passage of the accompanying order, transferring the sum of five thousand dollars ($5,000) from the Reserve Fund to a special appropriation for Fremont Avenue Playground.

Respectfully,
JOHN F. FITZGERALD, Mayor.

City of Boston,
Board of Commissioners of the
Department of Parks,
Office at Pine Bank, Olmsted Park,
Jamaica Plain, Mass., June 6, 1911.

Hon. John F. Fitzgerald, Mayor,
City Hall, Boston, Mass.:

Dear Sir,—A small piece of land (about 5,133 square feet) has been offered to the Park Department as suitable for a children's playground. It is an unimproved lot at the end of Fremont and Dayton avenues and near Mall street. It is back land and surrounded by tenement and other houses and the lot is very small, but it is in a very thickly settled neighborhood and there are no playgrounds large or small nearby. The assessed valuation of the plot is $2,600. The price named is $1,000, but we are inclined to think a more modest offer would purchase it. This seems like a good chance to get a useful little playground for a small sum, but it would also be necessary to grade and fence and plant, etc. If we could have $5,000 for the entire improvement we think a very useful little retreat for mothers and little children could be made of it. Could any money be appropriated to this purpose and could we be authorized to make an offer for the land?

Yours very truly,
ROBERT S. PEABODY, Chairman.

City of Boston,
Board of Commissioners of the
Department of Parks,
Office at Pine Bank, Olmsted Park,
Jamaica Plain, Mass., June 14, 1911.

Hon. John F. Fitzgerald, Mayor,
City Hall, Boston, Mass.:

Dear Sir,—I acknowledge receipt of Mr. Leahy's note of June 9 regarding the purchase of the unimproved lot at the end of Fremont and Dayton avenues. Mr. Leahy's note says that you recommend our purchasing the property from the maintenance fund and that you will make it good at the end of the year if there is a deficit, providing the sum is not more than $1,000. The price of the lot is $1,000. We very likely can get it for something less, but whatever reduction in price we could get would not put it in any useful condition nor plant it nor care for it. Our needs are so great in proportion to our appropriation for maintenance that we are convinced that we ought not to cut into the maintenance appropriations for these expenditures. We think that we ought to see our way to taking care of the property before entering upon its possession. Could you not obtain through the Council the sum that would be necessary not only to buy the lot but to set it in condition? In my previous note I suggested $5,000 as the total sum needed. If we buy the lot for $1,000 or less the rest of the money, or about $4,000, we wanted to put it in good condition. Of course, less money could be spent for that purpose.

We hope you will see your way to making it possible for us to have in hand some sum larger than $1,000, and in fact anywhere between that and $5,000, so that without trespassing on our maintenance fund we can not only purchase but improve the land and make it useful.

Yours truly,
ROBERT S. PEABODY, Chairman.

Ordered, That under the provisions of chapter 261 of the Acts of 1893, the City Auditor be and hereby is authorized to transfer the sum of three thousand dollars ($3,000) from the appropriation for Reserve Fund to a special appropriation for Fremont Avenue Playground, to be expended under the direction of the Board of Park Commissioners.

Referred to the Executive Committee.

PARKMAN MEMORIAL BANDSTAND.

The following was received:

City of Boston,
Office of the Mayor, June 22, 1911.

To the City Council:

I beg to transmit two letters, one from the Chairman of the Music Department, under date of June 9, 1911, and the other from the Superintendent of Public Grounds, under date of June 16, 1911. The former contains the bids submitted in response to an advertisement for the construction of the Parkman Memorial Bandstand, according to the plans prepared by Messrs Derby, Robinson and Shepard, the successful competitors in a contest among architects for the best design. As the letter states, the lowest of the bids far exceeds the amount set aside for the construction of this stand, which, according to the letter of the Superintendent of Public Grounds, was twenty-five thousand dollars ($25,000). The excess, as estimated by Superintendent Sullivan, amounts to twenty-one thousand fifteen dollars and forty-four cents ($21,015.44).

While the results of the advertisement are somewhat disappointing, in that the original estimate was far below the actual cost, I have no doubt that your honorable body, through its Parkman Fund Committee, will vote to grant the amount which is necessary. This pavilion is in a peculiar sense a monument to Mr. Parkman, standing as it will in a conspicuous location on the park beside which he lived, and ministering to the pleasure of hundreds of thousands of music lovers. The model from which the stand will be built has been much admired and I believe that parsimony in such a case, leading as it must to the use of poorer materials and the impoverishment of the general effect, would be a discourtesy to the memory of one of the greatest benefactors of the city in recent years.

Respectfully,
JOHN F. FITZGERALD, Mayor.

Hon. John F. Fitzgerald,
Mayor of Boston:

Dear Sir—Bids for the erection of a Parkman Memorial Bandstand on Boston Common were opened at this office on Monday, June 12. Copy of the bids received have been mailed to your office.

At a former conference of the Music and Art Commission and this department it was decided that the cost of such a bandstand would not exceed $25,000. As you will note, the lowest bidder is very much in excess of this amount.

I have been in touch with the architects and obtained the following figures which give an idea of the approximate total cost of the proposed bandstand if the contract is awarded to the present lowest bidder.

Lowest bid	$42,794 00
Architect's commission	2,576 64
Clerk of the works, sixteen weeks	400 00
Cost of model	244 80
Total cost	$46,015 44

If it is your intention that the present design shall be carried out in accordance with specifications a further appropriation is necessary before the work can be undertaken. On the other hand, if on consideration you decide to call for new bids, to be within the estimated amount of $25,000, it must be borne in mind that the results will not be as satisfactory, as the present design would suffer in the event.

I would recommend that the bandstand be erected from the drawings submitted, and an additional appropriation from the Parkman Fund of $21,015.44 be made to cover the total cost.

Respectfully yours,
D. H. SULLIVAN, Superintendent.

Referred to the Committee on Parkman Fund.

REPAIRS AT FERRY.

The following was received:

City of Boston,
Office of the Mayor, June 21, 1911.

To the City Council:

I beg to transmit for consideration by your honorable body the inclosed statement from the Commissioner of Public Works, together with statements and estimates as to the need of repairs upon several of the piers of the ferry landings, and the desirability of installing water service to protect the North Ferry coal pocket against fire.

Respectfully,
JOHN F. FITZGERALD, Mayor.

City of Boston,
Public Works Department,
City Hall, June 15, 1911.

To the Honorable the Mayor:

Inclosed please find report of Division Engineer Fay in regard to the condition of the piers at the ferry landings. This work should undoubtedly be attended to, and it is simply a question whether you wish to advocate a loan for doing the work or whether you wish us to provide for this work from our Public Works Department appropriation.

Respectfully,
L. K. ROURKE,
Commissioner of Public Works.

City of Boston,
Public Works Department,
Bridge and Ferry Division,
June 9, 1911.

Mr. L. K. Rourke,
Commissioner of Public Works:

Dear Sir,—Several of the piers at the ferry landings are in very poor condition and should be rebuilt as soon as practicable. Their condition is such that accidents to boats and passengers are liable to occur at any time owing to decayed and loose timbers falling upon the boats. Furthermore, there is danger that some of the piers will be broken by the boats to such extent as to render certain slips useless, thereby seriously hampering the ferry service. In my opinion an appropriation of fifty-two thousand (52,000) dollars should be made for rebuilding ferry piers and wharves and to install water service to protect the North Ferry coal pocket against fire.

As the structures thus rebuilt should last for approximately twenty years their cost might properly be paid for by a loan.

A detailed estimate of this work is submitted herewith under the heading "Estimated Cost of Permanent Improvements."

Respectfully,
FREDERIC H. FAY,
Division Engineer.

EAST BOSTON FERRIES.

Estimated Cost of Permanent Improvements.

North Ferry, Boston side:
The north pier is in poor condition and entering boats have difficulty in landing owing to spread of pier at the inshore end. This pier could be improved for $1,500 and might last a couple of years longer, but for good work it should be rebuilt.
Estimated cost	$7,000 00
The middle pier has been repaired several times; the ends are in poor condition; the head leans too far to the south; the middle part is in fair condition, having some good and some poor piles. The pier should be rebuilt.
Estimated cost	11,000 00
The southerly pier is in poor condition, the head is free from the main pier, four-fifths of the upper girders are broken, the main piles are too rotten to hold new girders and many of the rear piles are loose. The pier should be rebuilt.
Estimated cost	9,500 00
North Ferry, East Boston side:
The outer end of the north pier is badly broken and should be rebuilt at once. The piles at the inshore end are in poor condition and for good work this end should also be rebuilt.
Estimated cost	4,000 00
The outer end of the middle pier should be rebuilt.
Estimated cost	1,500 00
South Ferry, Boston side:
The head of the north pier is free from the main pier and the piling is in very poor condition. The pier should be rebuilt as well as the narrow wharf on the southerly side of the drop.
Estimated cost	12,000 00

South Ferry, East Boston side:

The piling of the hospital dock is in very poor condition and should be rebuilt, and the outer end of the adjoining wharf should also be rebuilt.
Estimated cost	$2,500 00
The wharf south of the ferry belonging to the B. & M. R. R. over which the city has the right of way and which is used exclusively by the Ferry Service for coaling up the coal pocket is in very poor condition and for safety should be rebuilt in part.
Estimated cost	2,000 00
Portions of wharf adjoining southerly landing should be rebuilt and storehouses raised.
Estimated cost	2,000 00
Coal pocket, North Ferry, fire protection.
Estimated cost, about	500 00
Total	$52,000 00

PROBATION OFFICER, ROXBURY.

The following was received:

City of Boston,
Office of the Mayor, June 26, 1911.

To the City Council:

On June 16, 1911, I vetoed the order passed by your honorable body at its meeting of May 31, 1911, providing an appropriation of one thousand eight hundred dollars ($1,800) for the purpose of adding an extra probation officer at the Municipal Court of the Roxbury district. My reasons for doing so were set forth in the accompanying message. Since then representations have been made to me by the justice of the court and I am convinced that your order providing the necessary appropriation was a reasonable one. I recommend therefore that your original order be passed again, and if this is done will be pleased to attach my signature to it. The correspondence from Justice Williams, with an inclosure from the probation officer of the Roxbury Court, is appended hereto for your information.

Respectfully,
JOHN F. FITZGERALD, Mayor.

Municipal Court, Roxbury District,
Boston, June 22, 1911.

Hon. John F. Fitzgerald,
Mayor of Boston:

Dear Sir,— In accordance with your suggestion I inclose herein for consideration a new order establishing the salary of the male assistant probation officer of the Municipal Court of the Roxbury district of the City of Boston, authorized by chapter 116 of the Acts of the Legislature of 1911.

I also inclose a report made to me by the probation officer of this court showing the increase of criminal business and of the probation work of this court the past five years.

The need of this male assistant probation officer is very urgent. In fact without him the probation work of this court will be greatly impaired and we will be unable to comply with the recommendations of the probation commission that probation officers should visit their probationers at least once a month, which is a very necessary requirement for efficient probation work.

Thanking you for your careful consideration of this matter, I am,

Respectfully yours,
A. NATHAN WILLIAMS,
Justice of said Court.

Municipal Court, Roxbury District,
Boston, June 22, 1911.

The Honorable the Mayor and the City Council of the City of Boston sitting as County Commissioners of the County of Suffolk:

On April 20, 1911, by authority conferred by chapter 116 of the Acts of Legislature of 1911, I appointed Ulysses G. Varney, of Boston, male assistant probation officer of the Municipal Court of the Roxbury district of the City of Boston, and subject to your approval I have fixed his salary at $1,800 per year, payable in equal monthly payments, beginning with April 20, 1911.

Respectfully yours,
A. NATHAN WILLIAMS,
Justice of said Court.

June 17, 1911.

To His Honor A. Nathan Williams,
Justice of the Roxbury Municipal Court:

I respectfully submit the following figures, showing the increase in probation work in the Roxbury Court during the past six years.

YEAR.	Number of Drunks.	Number of Cases in Court.	Probation Cases.
1905	2,851	5,488	397
1906	3,209	5,795	455
1907	3,470	5,785	678
1908	3,517	6,397	766
1909	3,916	6,775	885
1910	4,085	7,076	1,319

Below will be found the amount of money collected by the probation officers from various sources:

October 1, 1908, to October 1, 1909, nonsupport, $3,677.71; suspended sentences, $1,369.40; restitution, $124.74; total for year, $5,181.75. October 1, 1909, to October 1, 1910, nonsupport, $9,239.77; suspended sentences, $3,549.50; restitution, $573.97; total for year, $13,363.24.

From June 1, 1910, to June 1, 1911, the following sums of money were collected by the probation officer of this office alone, irrespective of the women's department and the juvenile department:

Nonsupport, $11,024.51; suspended sentences, $3,311.70; restitution, $135.48; total, $14,471.69.

The approximate population of the Roxbury district in 1905 was 135,434.

The approximate population of the Roxbury district in 1910 was 156,914.

Respectfully submitted,
JOSEPH H. KEEN.

The message was referred by the President to the Committee on County Accounts.

Coun. BALLANTYNE—May I speak, in consideration of this order, in favor of a suspension of the rules? I understand his Honor the Mayor is anxious to sign this order before he leaves to-morrow.

President COLLINS—The Chair will state that there is no order accompanying the message. Accordingly, if the member desires hasty action on this it may be referred to the Executive Committee.

Coun. BALLANTYNE—I move a reconsideration of the reference made and move that it be referred to the Executive Committee.

A vote was taken on the question of reconsideration, and the Chair, being in doubt, called for a rising vote, whereupon, it appearing that five voted in the affirmative, the Chair declared that reconsideration prevailed.

President COLLINS—The question comes on reference to the Executive Committee. If there is no objection it will be referred.

Coun. BUCKLEY—It seems to me in a matter of that sort where the Mayor vetoes an order and then says other facts have come to his attention since he vetoed it, that the City Council ought to be made aware of those facts which have made him change his mind. It seems to me we should know whether the action is necessary. I think the Committee on County Accounts is the proper one to handle it.

Coun. BALLANTYNE—I have no desire to pass this order beyond the Committee on County Accounts except for the reason that his Honor the Mayor leaves to-morrow, and this probation officer has been working since April 20. I believe Judge Williams of the Roxbury Court called upon his Honor the Mayor a few days ago and explained the nature of the work done by the probation officers in the Roxbury Court and also the great amount of work transacted there compared with other courts in Massachusetts. I believe the Mayor was not aware that in the Roxbury district there are more cases tried and more people on probation than in any other court in Massachusetts, with the exception of the Boston Central Court. The Mayor was not informed of these facts in the first place. When they were made clear to him he was perfectly willing to approve the order and grant the extra probation officer.

Coun. BUCKLEY—I am very sorry that the people of Roxbury break the law so much that they have to be put on probation, but it seems to me in every court in the city there is as much work as in the Roxbury Court. In Charlestown the court has the reputation of doing more business, I think, than any district court in the state, not excepting Roxbury,—and the business is not done with residents of Charlestown but with residents of Malden, Somerville and the outlying towns where the good people live, who come into Charlestown and get drunk and are placed on probation. Not 15 per cent of the arrests are arrests of the inhabitants of the district. We get along with one probation officer there, and the people of Roxbury, it seems to me, should get along with the two they have, and don't need another.

Coun. BALLANTYNE—I would like to ask the member from Charlestown if he can tell me how many cases were tried last year in Charlestown.

Coun. BUCKLEY—I haven't that information right at hand, but I know that the Charlestown Court has been spoken of as doing more business than any other district court in the Commonwealth, next to the Central Court, of which Mr. Ballantyne also spoke. But I also want to impress upon the Council at this time that it is not the residents of Charlestown who are the offenders but the residents of the out-of-town sections, such as Malden, Somerville and Chelsea.

Coun. BALLANTYNE—I am informed by my brother from Charlestown that the number of cases tried in the Charlestown Court is about 5,000, and I want to inform these gentlemen that the number tried in the Roxbury Court last year was in the vicinity of 7,600, and there is only one court in Massachusetts that tries more cases, and that is the Boston Central Court, the Central Court of Worcester coming next. In Roxbury they have two probation officers at the present time—or rather one probation officer and an assistant. They ask for another assistant and I am sure they are much in need of him. I also wish to say, as my Brother Buckley did, that the cases tried in the Roxbury Court are not all Roxbury cases.

Coun. CURLEY—I was going to ask if they had not three at the present time. They have Mr. Reagan in charge of the juveniles, a lady in charge of the females, and Mr. Keen in charge of the males, so that there are three. I desire to make that correction, because they are all classed alike. When you say there are 7,600 cases you include the females. Certainly, then, you would have to include the female probation officers.

Coun. BALLANTYNE—Exactly.

The message stood referred to the Executive Committee.

PIER HEAD, MARINE PARK.

The following was received:

City of Boston,
Office of the Mayor, June 26, 1911.

To the City Council:

I am informed by the officials of the Park Department that with an additional appropriation of three thousand dollars ($3,000) the pier head at Marine Park can be put in a presentable condition. Its present aspect is deplorable and no use whatever can be made of it without an additional expenditure. I recommend, therefore, the transfer of three thousand dollars ($3,000) from the appropriation for Reserve Fund to the appropriation for Marine Park, Pier Head, Completion of.

Respectfully,
JOHN F. FITZGERALD, Mayor.

Ordered, That under the provisions of chapter 261 of the Acts of 1893 the City Auditor be and hereby is authorized to transfer the sum of three thousand dollars ($3,000) from the appropriation for Reserve Fund to the appropriation for Marine Park, Pier Head, Completion of.

BRANCH LIBRARY, CHARLESTOWN.

The following was received:

City of Boston,
Office of the Mayor, June 26, 1911.

To the City Council:

At the meeting of your honorable body held May 22, 1911, I submitted an order consolidating the two appropriations for a branch library in Charlestown. No action has been taken as yet by the Committee on Branch Libraries, to which the message and accompanying order was referred. As the total amount now available, namely, thirty thousand dollars ($30,000), is obviously inadequate, I beg to recommend the accompanying order transferring an additional sum of thirty thousand dollars ($30,000) for this purpose.

Respectfully,
JOHN F. FITZGERALD, Mayor.

NORTH END PIER.

The following was received:

City of Boston,
Office of the Mayor, June 26, 1911.

To the City Council:

On May 15 I transmitted to your honorable body a letter from the chairman of the Bath Trustees pointing out the need of an additional appropriation for the completion of certain work upon the pier at North End Park, which was stated to be in a dangerous condition. A loan order adding $5,000 to the existing appropriation for this purpose was referred to the Committee on Finance, which, at the meeting of June 13, reported unfavorably upon it. In presenting the report of the committee, which was accepted by the City Council, the chairman stated that in the opinion of the committee this was a matter which should be taken up by the Executive Committee and charged to maintenance, rather than to negotiate a loan, one merely as to the form which the order should take, and as the need is urgent, I recommend the passage of the accompanying order transferring the sum of five thousand dollars ($5,000) from the Reserve Fund to the appropriation for North End Pier, Buildings, etc.

Respectfully,
JOHN F. FITZGERALD, Mayor.

TRANSFER FOR ENTERTAINMENT.

The following was received:

City of Boston,
Office of the Mayor, June 26, 1911.

To the City Council:

I beg to recommend the passage of the accompanying order, transferring the sum of fifteen hundred dollars ($1,500) from the Reserve Fund to the appropriation for Mayor, Office Expenses, etc., to be expended in entertaining the Seventh Annual Convention of the Associated Advertising Clubs of America, which will be held in Boston, August 1 to 4, 1911, inclusive. This is an extremely important gathering and I am given to understand that a citizens' committee has undertaken to raise $25,000 for their reception. In my opinion the city should cooperate so as to insure a suitable welcome to the delegates, who will attend from all parts of the Union.

Respectfully,
JOHN F. FITZGERALD, Mayor.

TUNNEL, JAMAICA PLAIN.

The following was received:

City of Boston,
Office of the Mayor, June 26, 1911.

To the City Council:

In the letter of the secretary of the Street Laying-Out Department, dated May 10, 1911, and addressed to the Mayor, a suggestion advanced at the district meeting held in West Roxbury, February 16, 1911, by the Rev. George A. Lyons, that a tunnel be built under the railroad tracks between Boylston and Green streets, Jamaica Plain, was approved, and an estimate of the cost thereof offered in the following terms:

"This improvement will cost about $20,000. It would connect two large sections now divided by the railroad and would be of general public advantage. The Board recommends that it be done."

My opinion coincides with that of the Board of Street Commissioners, and I recommend the passage of the accompanying order transferring the sum designated above from the appropriation for Reserve Fund to a special appropriation for a tunnel between Boylston and Green streets, Jamaica Plain.

Respectfully,
JOHN F. FITZGERALD, Mayor.

Ordered, That under the provisions of chapter 261 of the Acts of 1893 the City Auditor be and hereby is authorized to transfer the sum of twenty thousand dollars ($20,000) from the appropriation for Reserve Fund to a special appropriation, to be expended under the direction of the Commissioner of Public Works, for a tunnel under the railroad tracks between Boylston and Green streets, Jamaica Plain.

Referred to the Executive Committee.

CONVENIENCE STATIONS.

The following was received:

City of Boston,
Office of the Mayor, June 26, 1911.

To the City Council:

The need of convenience stations in different parts of the city has been emphasized at the district meetings held in the early part of 1910 and 1911, in reports and recommendations from the Board of Health, and in communications from the executive director of Boston–1915, one of which, under date of May 5, 1911, is appended hereto. While the entire city cannot be covered in any one year, in view of the many demands for other improvements that are made upon the city authorities, I believe that we should begin this important work immediately and recommend the passage of the accompanying order, transferring the sum of fifty thousand dollars ($50,000) from the appropriation for Reserve Fund to a special appropriation to be expended under the direction of the Board of Health for convenience stations.

Respectfully,
JOHN F. FITZGERALD, Mayor.

Boston-1915,
Headquarters, 6 Beacon Street,
May 5, 1911.

Hon. John F. Fitzgerald,
Mayor of Boston:

My dear Mr. Mayor,—In sending the inclosed formal communication I venture to urge the immediate and pressing importance of the problem of convenience stations at crowded points in the city proper. I know you are fully in sympathy with the need for such stations, but perhaps you do not receive, as we do, testimony from so many different directions as to the crying demand for adequate accommodations in sections of the city now not taken care of.

The strongest argument that is presented is, of course, on the side of temperance. I have personal knowledge of a number of cases where men who had taken the pledge, being forced in the absence of other accommodations to make use of saloons, have been tempted back into habits of drinking.

But an almost equal demand comes from the great body of suhurhanites, especially women and children, who come into the city for the whole day, and who are seriously incommoded and are not infrequently made ill by having no puhlic conveniences of this sort, and not knowing where to go to find private accommodations.

Another type of request which has come in is from women employed in certain districts of the city, such as the market district, where private accommodations are entirely inadequate and where there is no public convenience station except, I believe, in Faneuil Hall.

The five stations which are advocated in the inclosed communication have been arrived at after very careful study of the problem, and we feel that were these to he huilt within the next year, in addition to that which, we understand, it is proposed to put upon the Park square end of the Common, they would fairly meet the most pressing needs of the situation, and would place Boston somewhere near the head of the procession in this matter of public decency, instead of heing, as it is now, practically at the rear.

Trusting that you will give this important matter your very serious consideration, I am, with high regard,

Yours very faithfully,
JAMES P. MUNROE.

Ordered, That under the provisions of chapter 261 of the Acts of 1893 the City Auditor be and herehy is authorized to transfer the sum of fifty thousand dollars ($50,000) from the appropriation for Reserve Fund to an appropriation to he expended under the direction of the Board of Health for convenience stations.

PLAYGROUND, WARD 19.

The following was received:

City of Boston,
Office of the Mayor, June 26, 1911.

To the City Council:

In my message of April 1, 1911, addressed to your honorable hody, I pointed out the necessity of an additional appropriation for playground accommodations in Ward 19, and stated that I should be heartily in favor of the expenditure of any reasonahle sum which would he required for this purpose. I have come to the conclusion that an additional expenditure of forty thousand dollars ($40,000) would be reasonable in view of the congested character of the district and the difficulty which has been experienced already in fixing upon a suitable site. I therefore recommend the passage of the accompanying order, appropriating this sum for playground accommodations in Ward 19.

Respectfully,
JOHN F. FITZGERALD, Mayor.

Ordered, That under the provisions of chapter 261 of the Acts of 1893 the City Auditor be and hereby is authorized to transfer the sum of forty thousand dollars ($40,000) from the appropriation for Reserve Fund to an appropriation for Playground Accommodations in Ward 19.

Referred to the Executive Committee.

Coun. KENNY moved that the Council take a recess suhject to the call of the Chair, hut withdrew the motion at the suggestion of the President that there were other messages from the Mayor and that the motion would be entertained after they were disposed of.

TRANSFER TO WARD 7 PLAYGROUND.

The following was received:

City of Boston,

To the City Council:

I heg to recommend the passage of the accompanying order, transferring the balance of an appropriation for Playground, Wards 7, and 9, to the appropriation for Playground, Ward 7.

Respectfully,
JOHN F. FITZGERALD, Mayor.

IMPROVEMENTS AT DEER ISLAND.

The following was received:

City of Boston,
Office of the Mayor, June 15, 1911.

To the City Council:

I beg to transmit a communication from the Penal Institutions Commissioner, calling attention to the need of a special appropriation amounting to forty-one thousand seven hundred dollars ($41,700) for repairs and improvements at the House of Correction on Deer Island, together with a report of a special examination by the Building Commissioner upon the condition of the present huilding at Deer Island, and copies of letters by Harrison H. Atwood, architect, and Frederic H. Fay, division engineer, relating to the condition of the hrick walls of the administration building and of the two city wharves, respectively.

Respectfully,
JOHN F. FITZGERALD, Mayor.

City of Boston,
Penal Institutions Department,
32 Tremont Street, June 13, 1911.

Mr. William A. Leahy,
Secretary to the Mayor:

Dear Sir,—On investigation and inquiry it is found that to properly conduct this department and to do necessary and permanent repairs in order to maintain our institution at the House of Correction at Deer Island it will he necessary that there shall he raised, outside of the regular appropriation, the amount of forty-one thousand seven hundred (41,700) dollars. The items making up this amount, with a specific reason in each case, are as follows:

For reconstruction and repairs on wharf, $15,000.

It has heen found by the engineer of the Public Works Department that the steamboat wharf at the House of Correction at Deer Island is in poor condition and should be reconstructed at once. The estimated cost of reconstructing this wharf is $7,000.

The wharf in front of the coal shed is in worse condition than the steamhoat wharf and should he rehuilt. The estimated cost of rehuilding this wharf is $8,000.

The walls of the old prison building, particularly the semicircular portion of the administration building, show a great deterioration, and in the judgment of the architect any unusual vihration would cause an extreme element of danger, as the walls are to-day being held together hy nothing more than the bond of the hrickwork, already fractured in several places. The estimated cost of reconstructing this wall is $5,000.

Men's old prison roof should be reconstructed at once, because the interior of the huilding will sustain material damage. Estimated cost, $1,000.

Men's new prison roof should he reconstructed at once, hecause the interior of the huilding will sustain material damage. Estimated cost, $1,000.

Hospital roof should be reconstructed immediately hecause the interior of the building will sustain material damage. Estimated cost, $2,500.

Electric wiring in harn. At the present time this barn is lighted by kerosene oil and there is grave danger because of the liability of fire. Electric wiring should be installed at once, at an estimated cost of $500.

Repairs to harns. In order to protect the city property, live stock, etc., it will be necessary to spend immediately for this purpose the sum of $1,000.

Dredging ahout the wharf. In this matter the department has already contracted and provided for this work and expended the sum of $2,700.

This was a work of ahsolute necessity in order to allow harges of reasonahle draught to come to our wharf, and it would seem that this item should be included in the special loan.

New hoiler. Unless the recommendation of myself and predecessors is carried out, providing for a central heating plant, it will he necessary for us this year to expend for a new 72-inch horizontal tuhular hoiler, to take the place of the one which has become useless, the sum of $2,500.

In this connection it would seem well at this time to consider the estahlishment of a central hoiler plant, or at least the starting of one.

Fire hose, $500.

Fire hydrants, $1,000.

The buildings owned by the city at the institution at Deer Island are probably worth in the vicinity of one million dollars, and we are now inadequately provided with proper protection. Our fire hose and hydrants are antique and in some cases worn out, and they should be replenished or added to immediately.

Arc and search lights, $1,000.

Telephone service to be modernized, $2,500.

In order to properly protect the institution and the community from escape, or attempted escape, of vicious criminals, these items are imperatively necessary.

Old windows, sashes and frames in old men's prison should be replaced immediatcly by new ones, at an estimated cost of $2,500.

Concrete wall back of piggery. This wall of cement to hold the bank in placc back of the new piggery, where the earth is sliding, is imperative. Estimated cost, $2,000.

Remodel old women's prison for laundry. This seems to be the place where a modern laundry, or an addition to our present laundry system, should be installed, and to properly care for this particular work at the institution it is estimated that it will cost $2,500. Yours truly,

FRED S. GORE,
Commissioner.

Mr. William A. Leahy,
Secretary to the Mayor:

Dear Sir—Supplcmentary to my letter of June 13, in relation to the amount of money that would be necessary for this department to expend outside of its regular appropriation, permit me to forward for the information of the City Council copies of letter from Harrison H. Atwood concerning one of the brick walls at the Deer Island institution, and one from the Public Works Department concerning the wharves at Deer Island.

Yours truly,

May 29, 1911.

Hon. Fred S. Gore,
Penal Institutions Commissioner,
32 Tremont Street, Boston:

Dear Sir,—In accordance with your verbal request that I make an examination of the fractured walls at the semicircular corners of the administration building at Deer Island, and report to you in writing as to their condition of stability, I beg to report as follows:

I made a personal examination of the fractured walls and floor framing on Friday, May 26, 1911, and found the lugs of both caps and sills of two of the corners of the building through three stories fractured clear through, and in the case of two of the caps the fractures are open to the width of more than an eighth of an inch with an attendant bulging of the brickwork; in one instance at least the stone sill and brickwork below have bulged outward between two and three inches, with a wide fracture, plainly visible at a glance.

The method of window head construction throughout this building is detailed by the inclosed sketch scale drawing; a thin granite cap and a four-inch wood lintel, set flat, carrying the brickwork back of the caps; the wood lintels are dry-rotted and decayed to an extent nearly if not wholly destroying their load-carrying value, so that by the bond of brickwork the entire weight of materials falls upon the thin granite caps. It is this overloading of the caps by the decayed wood lintels that has caused the fractures. The floors are so framed at the circular corners, as shown by the dotted lines, that practically no load except the weight of materials comes on the walls.

It is my judgment that any unusual vibration would cause an extreme element of danger as the walls are to-day being held together by nothing more than the bond of the brickwork, already fractured in several places, and the strength of the mortar in which the brickwork was laid.

I believe there is grave danger of the walls falling out at any time. I would respectfully advise that you request the Building Commissioner to detail one of the building inspectors connected with his department for an examination and written report of the condition of this structure at the circular corners.

Very respectfully yours,
HARRISON H. ATWOOD.

Mr. Fred S. Gore,
Penal Institutions Commissioner:

Dear Sir,—At your verbal request an examination of the two city wharves at Deer Island has been made.

The steamboat wharf is in poor condition and should be reconstructed at once A few main piles near the drop and about thirty fender piles should be renewed; the other piles should be examined by a diver, and, as the "Limnoria" have been active here, it will probably be found that other piles will need renewal; also the piles on the northerly side of the wharf should be cross-braced. The caps are in fair condition, but many of the stringers are in very poor condition. The estimated cost of reconstructing this wharf is $7,000.

The wharf in front of the coal shed is in worse condition than the steamboat wharf and it should be rebuilt. The estimated cost of rebuilding this wharf is $8,000.

Respectfully,
FREDERIC H. FAY,
Division Engineer.

WORK ON "ZOO," ETC.

The following was received:

City of Boston,
Office of the Mayor, June 26, 1911.

To the City Council:

The appended communication from the chairman of the Board of Park Commissioners suggests the need of an immediate appropriation for the continuance of the work on the Zoological Garden and the inception of the work on the Aquarium. A memorandum attached thereto, prepared by the secretary of the Park Department, indicates that the amount needed is about forty-nine thousand two hundred dollars ($49,200), and I respectfully recommend that your honorable body, through its Parkman Fund Committee, set aside this amount from the income of the fund, to be expended under the direction of the Board of Park Commissioners for the Aquarium and Zoological Garden.

Respectfully,
JOHN F. FITZGERALD, Mayor.

Board of Commissioners of the
Department of Parks,
June 23, 1911.

Hon. John F. Fitzgerald,
Mayor of Boston:

Dear Sir,—The Park Commission is having the sewer and water supply for the Zoological Garden at Franklin Park and the floors for the bear dens built by its own force. We have, however, accepted the lowest bids for the stonework of the bear dens, ironwork of the bear dens, ironwork of the bird cages, subject to your approval of these contracts.

The Aquarium proves to be more complicated and expensive than we had been led to expect. The Parkman Fund money already placed in our hands will not be enough for us to contract for this building in addition to the other work now going on, if we continue with it as designed and as desired. Our action in regard to it must depend on the answer we obtain from you and from the City Council to our annual report made to you March 3, 1911, and to our letters to you of March 22 and April 24, 1911. In these you will remember we stated what we hoped to accomplish before June 1, 1912, and told you that to do it we should need before that date $230,000 in addition to the $120,000 we now have. For these reasons may we ask you to supply us as early as possible with an answer to that letter, so that we may adjust our plan of work accordingly?

If you give us the money asked for, please understand that the cost and requirements of these novel undertakings have not tallied exactly with our intentions and the details of our program have therefore been somewhat changed from our letter. We see, however, no need of changing the total amount of money asked for if we are permitted to expend it on the Aquarium and Zoological Garden to the best of our judgment.

Hoping that you can give us an early answer to our letter,

Yours very truly,
ROBERT S. PEABODY, Chairman.

CONSOLIDATION OF DEPARTMENTS.

The following was received:

City of Boston,
Office of the Mayor, June 22, 1911.

To the City Council:

At the request of your honorable body, contained in an order passed at the meeting of February 27, I requested the Corporation Counsel to prepare a new draft of an ordinance abolishing the Bath, Music and Public Grounds Departments, so as to put into force a consolidation of the entire recreation service of the city. This draft was submitted to the Council at its meeting of May 1 and referred to the Committee on Ordinances. As this committee has not yet reported upon the matter and there is some question whether the word "submit" in my message is equivalent to "recommend," I desire now to recommend the passage of the ordinance in its original form as submitted by me and referred to the Committee on Ordinances.

Respectfully,
JOHN F. FITZGERALD, Mayor

Referred to the Committee on Ordinances.

PLAYGROUND, WARD 2.

The following was received:

City of Boston,
Office of the Mayor, June 26, 1911.

To the City Council:

The accompanying petition, signed by a large number of children in the poorer section of East Boston, and presented to me by a delegation of these young people in my office, has appealed to me strongly and emphasized the need of playground accommodations in this section. I have therefore prepared and recommend for passage the accompanying order transferring the sum of fifty thousand dollars ($50,000) from the appropriation for Reserve Fund to an appropriation for Playground Accommodations in Ward 2.

Respectfully,
JOHN F. FITZGERALD, Mayor.

(Annexed was the petition referred to.)

Ordered, That under the provisions of chapter 261 of the Acts of 1893 the City Auditor be and hereby is authorized to transfer the sum of fifty thousand dollars ($50,000) from the appropriation for Reserve Fund to an appropriation to be expended under the direction of the Park Commissioners for playground accommodations in Ward 2.

Referred to the Executive Committee.

MOTION FOR RECESS.

President COLLINS—Councilor Kenny moves that a recess be taken subject to the call of the Chair.

Coun. CURLEY—Mr. Chairman, I believe that Coun. Kenny will recognize the unfairness of presenting that motion. Coun. Attridge has sought recognition from the Chair several times before that motion was presented. Coun. Buckley has some matters that he desires considered before the recess. I have some. Coun. Hale has some. Coun. Smith has some. I don't think we should be put in the embarrassing position of having to humiliate the councilor from South Boston by defeating that motion.

President COLLINS—The Chair will say that at the time the motion for a recess was made the clerk had further communications from the Mayor and I said I would entertain the motion after the reading of the communications, and I will adhere to that policy.

Coun. CURLEY—I would say that I had no desire to reflect on the action taken by the Chair or on the action taken by the councilor from South Boston. I simply question the wisdom of putting the motion at this time.

Coun. KENNY—I have no objection to the Council sitting later and disposing of these other formal matters other than this,—that I had in mind that I wanted to defer the consideration of No. 4 on the calendar until we had further opportunity of conferring with the Mayor this afternoon, and if it is agreeable to let No. 4 wait until after the recess I will withdraw my motion.

Coun. CURLEY—One of the chief reasons that I am opposed to a reference is that I would like to see No. 4 acted on before we consult with anybody. I think we have consulted sufficiently on it.

Coun. McDONALD—I want to say that I am going to leave at half past four, and if you take a recess you must come back before half past four if you want me to vote on it.

Coun. KENNY—I think under those circumstances I will withdraw my motion.

There being no objection, Coun. Kenny was allowed to withdraw his motion.

BRANCH LIBRARY, NORTH END.

Coun. ATTRIDGE called up No. 4, unfinished business, viz.:

4. Ordered, That the sum of eighty-six thousand dollars ($86,000) be appropriated to be expended under the direction of the Library Trustees for land, building and equipment of a branch public library at the North End, and that to meet said appropriation the City Treasurer be authorized to issue, from time to time, on the request of the Mayor, bonds or certificates of indebtedness of the city to said amount.

On May 31 the foregoing order was read once and passed, yeas 6, nays 1.

Coun. KENNY—At the meeting of the Council held on the 11th of June this matter had its first reading. During the usual recess the Mayor, though one of his secretaries, invited me to come down to his office, which I did. The Mayor said to me at that time that upon further reflection he realized, and I will try to quote him literally, that the passage of this loan order would create a very delicate situation and inasmuch as he was prepared to have the Reserve Fund augmented by the merging of the so-called Shaw estate tax money he was willing that the money for the North End Library should be taken out of the Reserve Fund provided we merged the Shaw estate money with the Reserve Fund. Now, since that meeting, that has been done, and to-day before the opening of this meeting or at this time, we have in the Reserve Fund $647,859.48. So far as I know it is the largest amount that we have ever had at our disposal in the Reserve Fund. I believe the usual appropriation for the Reserve Fund is a quarter of a million. Now, Mr. President, this matter was fully threshed out at the meeting on the 13th of June, and I haven't any desire to enter upon any lengthy discussion of it now, but it seems to me that the Council is making a very great error if it passes the loan order in the face of the Mayor's promise to submit to the Council an appropriation providing the necessities that are looked for here, providing for the North End Library, and paying for it out of the Reserve Fund. It is beyond my comprehension how a body charged with the high responsibility with which this body is charged, as trustees of the city's funds, can subject the taxpayers of the city to the additional burden of carrying $86,000 when we already have on hand the money to meet this charge. I have a memorandum on my desk here,— I have it from the auditor, having received it to-day,— which shows that there are loans to-day outstanding for street improvements, what we ordinarily term maintenance work, money spent for improving the condition of the streets, pavements and that sort of improvement. And to-day the city has charged against it and is paying interest upon loans for what we call current expenses, amounting to $5,280,000 in round numbers. That is the result of an investigation made by the auditor yesterday and handed to me within an hour. Therefore, I say that to subject the city to the additional burden of carrying an additional debt of $85,000 when we have the money on hand with which to meet that obligation is rather peculiar finance. It is, Mr. President, a good deal like a man going to build a house which is to cost $5,000, the man having the money on hand, but instead of using it going out and borrowing money. I suppose the object of borrowing money is because you haven't got money on hand. That is the reason you borrow money. I am in favor of the North End Library; I am in favor of providing for the North End a library; and I am in favor of meeting the Mayor's position in the matter which, I desire to say, is highly commendable. I think the Mayor is to be commended for his position in this matter. and I can't conceive of this Board, for the sake of appearing consistent, holding that having once taken the position they must now go behind the Mayor's declared intentions. Now, since the meeting on June 3, the Committee on Appropriations has had a conference with the Mayor. This conference took place last Friday and at that time the Mayor stated to the committee that he was quite ready, provided the Council this afternoon rejected this loan order, to send to this Board an appropriation asking that this money come out of the Reserve Fund,—and within half an hour the Mayor's secretary has said to me in the corridor outside that that was still the Mayor's intention. If this Council in the face of those facts desires to go forward and borrow the money it must take the responsibility for having done so.

Coun. BALLANTYNE—I want to say in just one word that I am as heartily in favor of the North End Library as any member of this Board,—but that I can't under the circumstances see my way clear to vote for it under a loan order. I agree with what Mr. Kenny has said with regard to the conversations we have had with the Mayor since the last meeting, and I believe he stands ready to-day, if this order is rejected, to send in an appropriation order for that amount, so that the people of the North End can have a library. And I don't think the people of the North End care much how they get this library provided they get it. They want a library and I want to give it to them in the right way.

Coun. McDONALD—The Mayor told me within an hour that he would not send in any such order. He wanted the loan for $86,000 passed, and if we rejected it he would not send in an appropriation order but would hold us responsible for the result. I am in favor of a library for the North End, and I don't care whether we issue a loan for it, or whether it comes out of an appropriation, but I don't propose to reject a loan order and then afterwards be held responsible for the people of the North End not getting a library. If the Mayor intends to have it come out of an appropriation he ought to have sent in an order calling for an appropriation of that amount so that we might have passed that and rejected the loan order. He told me that he wouldn't do any such thing but that he wanted it passed as it was on the calendar.

Coun. KENNY—Now, Mr. President, we have an issue here. The Mayor is a party to it. I have quoted the Mayor and I have been corroborated by my friend from Ward 17 on my left. I have declared to this Council that the Mayor has said to me that he would send to this Board an appropriation for this money out of the Reserve Fund. Now my friend from Charlestown stands up here and takes exactly the opposite position and states that the Mayor is of a contrary state of mind. And there is the issue. Is the Council, in the face of that, going to act to-day? Is it not now the duty of each member here to vote to at least suspend this matter until my friend from Charlestown may go and return, whether at half past four or half past five or ten o'clock to-night? Is the Council, in face of that declaration from my friend from Charlestown, going to say that we must make this loan? I move, Mr. President, that this matter lie on the table and I will not ask to take it from the table until my friend from Charlestown has returned.

President COLLINS—The question comes on the motion of Coun. Kenny that the matter lie on the table.

The vote being taken, the Chair declared himself in doubt. Coun. KENNY asked for a roll call.

The roll call was taken and the motion was not passed, yeas 3, nays 6, viz.:

Yeas—Coun. Ballantyne, Collins, Kenny—3.

Nays—Coun. Attridge, Buckley, Curley, Hale, McDonald, Smith—6.

President COLLINS—The question comes on the passage of the order.

(Coun. BALLANTYNE in the chair.)

Coun. COLLINS—Mr. President, since this matter was first discussed before the City Council there appeared in the issue of the paper edited by the Mayor, called the Republic, a statement that it was very singular that I should vote for certain propositions pertaining to the other parts of Boston and refuse to give that section of the city in which I was born an equal opportunity to share in the resources of the city. My position taken at that time was due to the fact that the Mayor had stated—or it was reported that he had stated, and a rumor was circulated through the daily press—that he was to veto other items unless the particular item pertaining to the North End Library and others was taken care of. I said at that time I didn't believe the Council should be either cajoled or coerced into voting for matters simply because the Mayor threatened to veto other propositions. I thought that should rest with him—that we should give him the opportunity to veto, if he so desired. At that time I believed that it was not a very great wrong if money was taken by loan at that time because it was in the nature of a permanent improvement. But since that day there has come quite a change. The Mayor has sent to the City Council an order asking that the money commonly called the Shaw money, which was then a special item in the auditor's office, he transferred to the Reserve Fund, and this Council—in my opinion acting wisely—acceded to his request and passed the order, so that to-day we have substantially $700,000 in the Reserve Fund. Wherefore we find the Mayor since that time, and particularly during this session, sending in a number of orders aggregating from $20,000 to $50,000 to do work substantially similar to that which the Council is about to act on. In other words, Mr. President, it is a fundamental principle that if a man has money he is not letting it remain in a trust company at 2 per cent and borrowing at 4 per cent or more. That is fundamentally a bad business proposition, whether or not the improvement is that by way of maintenance or by way of a permanent institution. The North End Library, I believe, is a meritorious one, and it is true, as said by the Mayor, that I was born in the North End. I have never tried to capitalize that fact, Mr. President, and I never intend to in the future,—but I wish to say that this proposition, in my opinion, is as meritorious a one as has come before the Council during the year,—but when you have $700,000 on hand and it is contemplated to borrow $85,000, when we have more than almost ten times that amount in ready money, so that this Council, by acting on the matter to-day, can provide that the library shall be under way, for the people of the North End within one week, whereas if we pass this loan a second time it will probably be weeks before the library is started, I question whether or not the advocates of this proposition who are asking that the money be borrowed instead of spent from the Reserve Fund are showing any better faith than the men who are standing firm and not allowing themselves to be driven from their position. I recognize the fact that political capital may be made against me if I vote or decline to vote on this proposition, but I am willing to stand for what seems to be right. I believe that when we have the money available, and plenty of it, as is well signified by the numerous messages before the City Council to-day, that we ought to take that money from the Reserve Fund. The Mayor has signified his willingness to do so. The Council declines to give him the opportunity or to give the other members of the Council an opportunity to confer and see whether or not he will do it to-day. I say, in closing, that this matter should be gone into thoroughly,—that we should not act hastily,—that if we act to-day the money ought to come from the Reserve Fund where it properly should come from under the existing state of the city's finances. For that reason, Mr. President, if there is going to be a vote to-day on this proposition, I shall decline to vote in favor of this loan because there is the fundamental argument against it that the city has hundreds of thousands of dollars on hand for this particular purpose. The North End Library is a very important and commendable proposition. I know the needs of the district in which, I am proud to say, I was born. The district should have a library, the only question being as to the means of providing it. I believe the money for it should come from the Reserve Fund, and, until it is made clear that this is impossible, I cannot at this juncture give my approval to a loan, solely on the ground of its being bad, unwise and ill-advised finance.

Chairman BALLANTYNE—The question comes on passing the order.

Coun. KENNY—I think it is generally conceded that the tax rate of Boston should be somewhere in the vicinity of $16 or $16.50. I think that those who are trained in the management of the municipal finances, not only in Boston but in other cities, expect, and the people as a whole are quite prepared to meet, a tax bill of about $16 or $16.50 per thousand. Now, that is the condition in Boston. Here is an opportunity to get something out of that $16 or $16.50, an opportunity to take $85,000 and have something tangible at the end of the year, something that is not wiped out as a matter of bookkeeping, but which is substantial property, and it seems to me it will be a great pity if we don't do it. I don't believe, Mr. President, that the men who wantonly voted over $5,000,000 to pay for the repair of streets, putting it into a loan, should be placed in any other class than the men who vote to-day for this loan.

Chairman BALLANTYNE—The question comes on passing the order.

On the roll call, it appearing that six voted in the affirmative and two in the negative, the order was passed to its second and final reading. Coun. HALE moved reconsideration of the vote, hoping the same would not prevail, and reconsideration was refused.

President COLLINS in the chair.

The question came on confirmation. Committee, Coun. Ballantyne and McDonald. Whole number of ballots cast 9, yeas 9, and the several appointments were confirmed.

ADDITIONAL FIREMEN.

Coun. CURLEY offered an order—That his Honor the Mayor be requested to recommend to the City Council, at its meeting to-day, the transfer from the Reserve Fund of a sufficient sum of money to properly man the fire apparatus of the city, so the public may be protected from the possibility of a fire catastrophe.

Coun. CURLEY—Mr. Chairman, this order is presented with, or rather is suggested by, an editorial that appeared in the Boston Journal with relation to "the menacing fire hazard that should not be." The editorial said:

"If, responding to a first alarm of fire, there are not enough men to handle the apparatus on hand—

"If, owing to an undermanned department, it becomes necessary to ring a second alarm in order to obtain enough men for a first alarm fire—

"If, between responses to first and second alarms, a fire gets away from the department, spreads rapidly and consumes property to the value of many thousands of dollars—

"If, in the face of at least one not very remote happening like that, the City of Boston continues to neglect or refuses to bring its fire fighting force up to a basis of efficiency and safety—

"If, admitting the fact that the Fire Department is undermanned, those who could change conditions for the better say that the city cannot afford the expense—

"Who will be held responsible by the people of Boston?

"What will be the actual saving in dollars and cents?"

Now, Mr. Chairman, every person realizes that speedy action at the start of any fire means protection to the person whose property or life may be menaced. We are accustomed to speak of the fire in Chelsea and refer to the impossibility of such a conflagration in the City of Boston. We do not take into consideration, however, the fact that in the case of the Chelsea fire the fire departments of Chelsea and the adjoining cities and towns were really fighting the elements. They were fighting God in that fire, a 50-mile an hour breeze, the fire getting under headway, and cleaning out the greater portion of the city. And that same condition could obtain in any section of the City of Boston, not even excepting the downtown section. Why, Mr. Chairman, the Fire Department, as conducted at the present time during certain hours of the day, is a screaming farce. Two men on a piece of apparatus, the driver and the engineer, and on the hose wagon but one man, the driver, during at least five hours of every day,—during the meal hours,—because of the vacation, because of the leave of absence and because of various other reasons. I have no desire at this time—I may have later—to criticize the Fire Commissioner, but certainly it is a condition that should not obtain. The Fire Commissioner says that the condition can be remedied if he receives $100,000, which will provide for the placing of one hundred additional men, to bring the department up to a high state of efficiency. I feel that we owe it to the public of Boston to see that the arrangements are made before the Mayor leaves the city for the transfer from the Reserve Fund of $100,000, so that the Fire Department may be put on the proper basis of efficiency. The fire service perhaps next to the educational is the most important in connection with the conduct of the city. It is greater in importance than the Police Department and equal in importance with the Health Department. And if the people of Boston are agreeable to paying the present tax rate they are entitled to that measure of protection which should go with the payment of those taxes. You can take the section you come from yourself, Mr. Chairman, the great Dorchester section, a section made up largely of wooden houses, and perhaps a majority of them two or three stories in height. If a fire should start out there with a high wind, unless the apparatus responded speedily, and unless in addition there were sufficient men to man the apparatus when it arrived at the fire, there is no power in this city that could prevent a similar condition to that which obtained in Chelsea. Every sensible man recognizes the fact that it takes at least two stalwart and husky men to handle the hose when the water is turned on, and if one man must be detailed for the care of the horses, another to fire the boiler, it leaves the driver of the hose carriage to handle the hose that should be handled by two men when the apparatus arrives at a fire. It has been common knowledge in this city that for the past year and more, for the past three years, whenever a fire appears to be of any degree of importance, it is customary to ring in a second alarm and follow it up by a third alarm, and every time the apparatus responds the additional cost to the city is equivalent to what the city would be compelled to pay in additional salaries for these men. The Fire Commissioner says that the department has sufficient apparatus to care for the needs of the City of Boston but lacks the necessary men. I believe, Mr. Chairman, the need is of sufficient importance to warrant this Council in adopting this or some similar order, having a conference with the Mayor this afternoon and receiving a recommendation or communication from him with reference to this all-important subject that affects not only the property of the citizens of Boston but their lives as well.

The order was read again for the information of Coun. Kenny.

Coun. KENNY—It seems to me that it would not be proper to pass that order in its present form at this time. I think we ought to have the Fire Commissioner appear before the committee and give us a chance to talk with him about that. It seems to me it is rather a careless way to proceed to ask the Mayor now simply to issue an appropriation for $100,000 without first making some examination into the matter. Therefore I move that the matter be referred to the Executive Committee.

Coun. CURLEY—Mr. Chairman, I would endeavor to set at ease the mind of the distinguished councilor from South Boston by asking, when I have completed what I am about to say, that the order be read again for his benefit. The order is in no sense mandatory. It simply calls the attention of the Mayor to a fact that is common knowledge in this city. No less a body than the Finance Commission have already recommended that fifty additional men be placed on the Fire Department and with relation to the position of the Fire Commissioner I would state that I have a copy of this morning's Journal, in which the Fire Commissioner says:

"Fire Commissioner Daly adds his testimony to the evidence presented by the Boston Journal that the Fire Department is undermanned. Interviewed by an evening newspaper relative to the Boston Journal's exposure of conditions, the commissioner made these plain statements:

"The Boston Fire Department needs more men, nearly 100 of them.

"We need them to take the places of firemen absent on vacations or on account of sickness.

"It is a fact that we are shorthanded, although there is no better fire-fighting equipment anywhere than we have in Boston.

"We don't need new equipment, but we do need more men.'

"That is plain talk. Moreover, the Fire Commissioner calls attention to the fact that on April 11 he wrote to the Mayor, asking for an additional appropriation of $75,000 with which to increase the force.

"The Fire Commissioner does not deny this remarkable statement made by an officer of the Boston Fire Department concerning the fire on Albany street, in which the repair shop of the fire department was among the buildings destroyed: 'The Albany street fire became a conflagration because not enough men responded on the first alarm to handle the lines, and it was necessary to wait for a response to a second alarm. By that time the fire had got beyond control.'

"The cost to the city of rebuilding and refitting the fire department repair shop will be a good deal more than $75,000, which was the amount asked for by the Fire Commissioner in order to man his equipment as it should be manned.

"A member of the City Council gravely informs us that the city cannot afford to grant an additional appropriation for the fire department."

Now I don't know who that member is:

"He is mistaken. The city cannot afford not to man the department. The city cannot afford to depend upon second alarms to bring men enough to handle the equipment which responds to first alarms.

"The city cannot afford to plead financial poverty when this year, out of revenue, it is to spend $800,000 for a City Hall annex which might have been met by a loan.

"The way to remedy the present inexcusable conditions is to grant the allowance that the Fire Commissioner has asked for. He is the responsible head of the department. He knows and says that he needs more men.

"How much longer must the Fire Department remain undermanned?"

And, Mr. Chairman, that is voicing not only the opinion of the Fire Commissioner himself but it is voicing the opinion that is held by one of the reputable newspapers of the city, and it is voicing a recommendation that was made sometime since relative to an increase in the force of the Fire Department. Now, Mr. Chairman, if this order is adopted we simply delegate the Mayor's City Messenger to wait on the Mayor and get his views this afternoon on this proposition. We already have the views of the Fire Commissioner and of the Finance Commission and I believe we are all familiar with the views that will be held by his Honor the Mayor, that if public necessity demands an increase in the number of men in the fire service for the proper protection of property and lives in this city it is necessary and wise to recommend a sufficient sum to be transferred from the Reserve Fund to provide for those additional men. Now, then, Mr. Chairman, I might say in this connection that we have also to hear in mind that for the next month or six weeks his Honor the Mayor, who, I am reliably informed, bore quite a distinguished part in the great conflagration in Albany street, will be absent from the city, so that in addition to losing the services of these men that are needed in the Fire Department, we shall also be without the services of his Honor the Mayor, who has in the past proven a very valuable ally to the Fire Department, perhaps not at all times to their liking. Now, Mr. Chairman, I sincerely trust that the councilor will see the wisdom of approving this order, and I would accordingly move that the order be read for the information of the members.

The order was again read.

Coun. KENNY — Mr. President, I don't know either who the member is who has been referred to in that article. I had rather assumed it was my friend from Ward 17, because if I remember correctly he was the one, this gentleman who now displays such tremendous interest and enthusiasm on behalf of the Fire Department, he was the only member of this Council last fall who voted against a loan to rebuild the fire repair shop,— and I think it was the only occasion in his eight or ten years' service in this building as a member of the city government that he ever voted against a loan or appropriation. But for some reason or other, Mr. President, he did vote against that loan and I should therefore rather assume from the reading of that article that the writer of that editorial must have had him in mind when he referred to some member not in favor of granting money to the Fire Department. I think no other member has ever indicated by any speech or remark made on the floor of this Council that he was against supplying the Fire Department with a proper amount of money to operate successfully. I think the Council has been prepared at all times to make the appropriations from the Mayor's office. I think the Fire Department has suffered less than any other department in the matter of curtailment in the question of estimates last spring. Certainly I am always prepared to vote the necessary money in favor of properly maintaining the Fire Department. But I have it on fairly good authority that the Mayor does not agree that there should be any additional increase in the personnel of the Fire Department. That is why I made the motion that the matter be referred to the Executive Committee, and we will send down and see the Mayor. I think my remarks are entirely in accord with the gentleman from Ward 17.

Coun. CURLEY—Mr. Chairman, I would like to ask the member from South Boston if he is agreeable that the Mayor should come before the committee and submit his views on the proposition if it is referred to the Executive Committee.

Coun. KENNY—I am entirely agreeable, Mr. President, and I am always agreeable to the Mayor coming before our committees and I would like to be present all the time when he is there.

Coun. CURLEY—I must commend my distinguished brother from South Boston for his generosity in this respect. I have no desire to enter into a discussion of my votes one way or the other, but I am pleased to discover that the distinguished councilor from South Boston has found one loan I did vote against. I wasn't aware there was any, and it is rather refreshing to find there is at least one. I might say in this connection, however, that I can call to his attention that I voted against $300,000 for questionable equipment for the lamps, and I believe I was the only one that voted against it. I have no objection, since the councilor is agreeable to his Honor appearing before the committee, to having this order presented to the Executive Committee. I believe if the Mayor does come before that committee and the facts can be pointed out to him and verified through a conference with the Fire Commissioner, that he has the interests of the city sufficiently at heart to warrant his making a suitable recommendation, which I trust he will make.

President COLLINS—The question comes on the motion of Coun. KENNY to refer the matter to the Executive Committee.

The motion was carried.

MUNICIPAL BUILDING, WARD 12.

Coun. CURLEY offered an order—That the Committee on Finance be requested to consider the advisability of appropriating a sum sufficient to erect a municipal building in Ward 12.

Passed.

ACCEPTANCE OF RANDOLPH AVENUE.

Coun. BALLANTYNE submitted the petition of A. V. Berner et al that Randolph avenue be accepted.

In connection with the above Coun. BALLANTYNE offered an order—That the Board of Street Commissioners be requested to accept and lay out as a public way Randolph avenue, Ward 24.

Passed.

FREE FERRIES, JULY 4.

Coun. BALLANTYNE offered an order—That the City Auditor be authorized to allow for payment to the Commissioner of Public Works on account of the Ferry Division the sum of $1; and the said commissioner is hereby authorized to accept the same in lieu of tolls for the ferries on July 4, 1911; said sum to be charged to the appropriation for Mayor, Public Celebrations.

Passed.

QUESTION OF PRIVILEGE.

Coun. CURLEY—Mr. Chairman, I rise to a question of privilege. My question of privilege relates to an article that appeared in the Boston Herald on Saturday, June 24, an article headed, "Curley Should Resign." Now, Mr. Chairman, it is not my purpose to criticise Mr. O'Brien, the editor of the Boston Herald. I have too much sympathy for the condition in which the paper is financially and the condition it is in as regards its subscribers, in its magnificent isolation away from the field of newspaperdom, on Tremont street. What I desire to say, Mr. Chairman, is this, that with the limited circulation that the Herald had I had some difficulty in obtaining a copy of this particular date of Saturday, June 24, but finally succeeded after considerable work. The article reads:

"Curley Should Resign.

"How much longer is this city to sit placidly by and see James M. Curley occupy the two wholly incompatible offices of representative in Congress and member of the municipal Council? No man can perform the duties of one without neglecting the duties of the other. A worse overlapping of responsibilities could hardly be imagined, because of the distance between the two posts of duty. Congress is in session. Curley must leave it and its work to attend in Boston the meetings of the City Council and its committees. He appears to be neglecting these highly important committee duties with the result that the work of municipal administration is seriously obstructed."

Now, then, Mr. Chairman, it is very evident that the editor of the Herald is not familiar with the political complexion of this body—and that if I were absent during the entire year either from committee sessions or from sessions of the Board, it would make no real difference so far as the conduct of the Board is concerned, because as a rule, either in the committee or in open Board, I vote opposite to a majority of the members who constitute the Board or the committees. Now, I feel that the editor of the Herald is entitled to the information as to when I propose to resign one of these offices. I desire to say in this connection, Mr. Chairman, that if I were at present serving on a special committee in Congress I would feel compelled to resign at once. However, I am not on any special committee. If the committees of which I am a member were holding hearings at the present time, or if there was any prospect of their holding them during the present special session, I should feel compelled to resign in order to be there. But the fact is, Mr. Chairman, that those committees of which I am a member—the Committee on Foreign Relations, the Committee on Coinage and Weights and Measures, and the Committee on Naturalization and Emigration—have simply organized, and in pursuance of the Democratic caucus policy no matters will be considered by them until the regular session in December. Now, with relation to the matters under consideration at the Capitol I desire to say that no vote has been taken on any matter, either great or minor, that I have not been present and recorded upon, and that with relation to the minor routine duties of the post I have a newspaper man acting in the capacity of secretary who is fully competent to handle all the detail of the office. And I wish to say, with relation to my duties in the City Council here, that I feel that when the regular session of Congress comes in in December I should resign my position in the City Council, and propose to do so, but until the time when the regular session comes in in December I propose to hold down this position as well as the one in Washington. The question of how much salary I draw between the positions apparently is causing some mental perturbation to Mr. O'Brien of the Herald. I presume that is largely due to the financial condition of the Herald and the rather slim prospects of Mr. O'Brien receiving one salary on Saturday nights, to say nothing of two. I want to say in this connection, Mr. Chairman, that it has never been my purpose to apply the salary received in the City Council to my personal benefit—and I feel that a man who has sufficient ability to work up to the high position of editor of even such a poor sheet as the Boston Herald is at the present time should apply his energies and great abilities, if he possesses any, in some other direction that would be of more material benefit to the people of the city,—and I take it, Mr. Chairman, that the position the Boston Herald is in at the present time is similar to that of any business that is scaling downhill; and the best way to revive a business of that kind, from my observation, has been either to offer premiums that are of greater value than the amount necessary to pay for becoming a subscriber to the paper in addition to receiving the subscription, or the making of some popular appeal of that character that will appeal to the people and cause them to take an interest in such a sheet as the Herald. And I would say in this connection, Mr. Chairman, that there is a crying need for the services of some gigantic intellect such as that possessed by Mr. O'Brien with relation to loan sharks in Boston. Now, Mr. Chairman, I have no criticism to make of the loan sharks. If ever I feel the need of any money I would rather borrow it of them than to chance the possibility of a refusal from some personal friend. But what I desire to say in this connection, Mr. Chairman, is that it is just possible Mr. O'Brien's energies might be applied to the establishment of such a line of business as would make it possible——

Coun. SMITH—May I ask for a definition of personal privilege from the Chair?

Coun. CURLEY—I should like to ask, Mr. President, if it is customary to yield the floor without being requested so to do?

President COLLINS—A question of personal privilege is a question which affects a gentleman's standing in this body. If the question upon which he is speaking does affect his standing in this body, then he may talk to that question. It has been the custom here in this city government to give much latitude to the members of the City Council in talking to a question of personal privilege. In a small body I have tried to make my interpretation as liberal as possible. But the time is getting pretty near when I will have to draw a fast line of cleavage so as to keep the members talking to that question which pertains to their standing as members of the city government.

Coun. CURLEY—Mr. Chairman, so far as I personally am concerned I don't feel that it was necessary for the Chair to make a ruling of that character. With relation to the line of remarks in which I have indulged up to the present time, or in which I propose to indulge, it was not my desire to tire the Board with a résumé of the entire article in question. But my reason for touching on the financial feature of it is this, that the article says, "While the salary of a member of Congress is $7,500 and that of the City Council is only $1,500, it is plain that if he must cheat one or the other, it would be much better ethically for him to cheat the government of the United States by a wholesale neglect of his duties there." Now, Mr. Chairman, the question of cheating as it is presented there is cheating in the sense of drawing two salaries, and to the question of the disposition that I propose making of my salary I am at this time directing what I may have to say. In this connection I will suggest to the editor of the Boston Herald that it might be possible for him to devise a method whereby he could be of benefit to the city, and a method that perhaps might result in an increase of the circulation of his newspaper. In that connection I call attention to the loan shark business, an article affecting which appears in the Boston American, which says "once trapped it is harder for a victim to escape the clutches of a loan shark than it was for Hugo's hero to cut his way from the tentacles of the ferocious devil fish. Even Boston school teachers have got into their clutches, and after having paid 50 per cent more than they borrowed, they still owe one and a half times the original loan. One victim, a hard-working young man of South Boston, despairing of ever getting out of the clutches of a concern from which he borrowed $5, killed himself. Victims have paid back from ten to one hundred times the amount of the original loan, and still were in the debt of the money lender." Now in that connection I desire to say, with relation to my City Council salary to which Mr. O'Brien has referred, that I am willing to present either to him or to any other person who cares to take charge of such a fund $500 of that City Council salary for the creation of an enterprise in this city to be conducted either by paid attachés or to be conducted in connection with the newspaper whereby it will be possible to make unprofitable the business of a loan shark in the City of Boston, and at the same time to be of benefit to the entire people of Boston. And I might say, Mr. Chairman, in this connection, that the idea was suggested to me by the reading of this particular article called "The Russian Jew in the United States. Studies of Social Conditions in New York, in Philadelphia and Chicago, with a Description of Rural Settlements, planned and edited by Charles S. Bernheimer, Doctor of Philosphy." In this particular section it treats of a proposition along similar lines. That is to say, taking advantage or failing to take advantage of the necessity of poverty of the people in a community. And it treats of the Gemilath Chassodim which has been in existence since 1892. "Its object is to loan money without interest in sums from $5 to $50 to be paid off in weekly installments to any deserving individual who can find a sponsor, or in other words, who can find a responsible indorser for his note. When the society was organized it had a net capital of $80. The society has now a capital of $74,184.32, according to its twelfth annual report ending December 31, 1903, and turned over its capital over four times during the year, loaning $320,740 to 13,143 persons. Of the total amount loaned, 97 per cent was repaid by the borrowers. The value of such a society in the direction of preventive charity can hardly be estimated. In the language of one of the speakers at an annual meeting, the Gemilath Chassodim may be likened to a dispensary, and the United Hebrew Charities to a hospital. In the former, mild cases not yet requiring heroic surgical or medical interference may receive attention. Here, however, the simile ends. The dispensary is intended essentially for the poor man who has no other means of receiving medical assistance." And there are other societies here referred to. Now, then, Mr. Chairman, the same form of society was started in Chicago and had even a greater success in Chicago. It goes on to say, "The Russian Jews are a thrifty people, thoroughly appreciating the benefits accruing to them as beneficiaries of loan societies. The borrower soon realizes that the loan organization is to him no more nor less than a savings bank, where the original amount is loaned to him with the privilege of borrowing it again when it has been repaid. Thus, each time he pays his small weekly installment, he is saving so much out of his earnings for his particular use at some future day. It is this advantage that accounts for the prompt returns on money loaned and the fact that fully 95 per cent of all money so loaned is promptly repaid." Now, just one word in this connection. I am willing to contribute $500 of my Council salary to the disturbed editor of the Herald towards the creation of a fund of $25,000, $50,000 or $100,000, to be managed by the Boston Herald or any other reputable agency, the purpose of the fund being to loan money to the public of Boston, either with or without indorsers, after investigation, at a rate of ½ per cent a month or 6 per cent a year. There is no chattel loan company that can do business on a 6 per cent a year basis. Such a fund would tend to relieve the public from the oppression and extortion of those who are termed money sharks, and the carrying on of a work of that character would be very commendable and would be of a great deal of service to the community. If Mr. O'Brien would interest himself in such a matter he could win for himself a place in the opinion of the public of this city from a beneficent and benevolent standpoint that might be of great advantage, even from the standpoint of publicity, in the carrying on of ordinary newspaper work. That offer would hold good until Mr. O'Brien or some other reputable person sees fit to accept it.

Coun. KENNY—Mr. President, will the gentleman yield for a question?

Coun. CURLEY—Mr. President, I have completed my remarks, but I am perfectly willing to yield for a question.

Coun. KENNY—Mr. President, I think this is the second occasion when my friend from Ward 17 has referred to his intention to part with the salary which he receives from the City of Boston by holding this office as a member of the City Council. Inasmuch as he was elected a member of the City Council in the first instance, and inasmuch as the City of Boston engaged his services here for two years at $1,500 a year, why is it not proper for him to earn and keep the salary which he receives here in Boston and yield the salary which he is getting in Washington?

Coun. CURLEY—Mr. President, I feel that a proposition of that character is one that I have sufficient intelligence to pass upon for myself. If, however, I should feel it necessary to consult some particular individual or individuals with relation to the method of distribution, I don't think I would have occasion to disturb the distinguished councilor from South Boston.

WIRE LOCATIONS, ETC.

President COLLINS offered an order—That the Corporation Counsel be requested to inform the City Council, at its next meeting, what, in his opinion, is the effect of the passage of chapter 509 of the Acts of 1911, as to conferring upon the Mayor and City Council the right to grant locations for wires, poles, piers, conduits, abutments, etc.

Passed.

EXEMPTION OF BOARD OF APPEAL.

President COLLINS offered an order—That the Corporation Counsel be requested to inform the City Council, at its next meeting, his opinion and the reasons therefor as to whether or not the passage of chapter 631 of the Acts of 1910 operated to exempt the members of the Board of Appeal from approval by the Civil Service Commission under sections 9 and 10 of chapter 586 of the Acts of 1909.

Passed.

SALARY OF PROBATION OFFICER, ROXBURY.

Coun. BALLANTYNE offered an order—That the salary of the male assistant probation officer of the Municipal Court of the Roxbury district, determined by the justice of said court, at the rate of $1,800 per annum, to begin April 20, 1911, be and the same is hereby approved, the amount so paid to be charged to the appropriation for the County of Suffolk, Municipal Court of the Roxbury district of the City of Boston.

Coun. BUCKLEY—Mr. President, I move that this order be referred to the Executive Committee, to be considered with the order that is already before that committee.

Coun. BALLANTYNE—Mr. President, I have no objection to reference to the Executive Committee, but I am not aware of any similar order that is before the committee. There is a communication from his Honor the Mayor stating why he vetoed a similar order a week ago, with a statement that he is perfectly willing at the present time to sign this order. But if it is the desire of the gentlemen of the Council that this matter lie over a week I shall offer no further objection than I have already offered.

Coun. Buckley's motion to refer to the Executive Committee was carried.

IMPROVEMENTS ON WILLIAM EUSTIS PLAYGROUND.

Coun. BALLANTYNE presented the petition of Thomas J. Melvin et al., asking that improvements be made on the William Eustis Playground, Ward 17.

Referred to the Committee on Finance.

PUBLIC LANDS.

Coun. SMITH, for the Committee on Public Lands, submitted the following:

(1) Report on message of Mayor and order (referred June 13) to release restrictions on land, Boylston and Providence streets—that the order ought to pass.

On the question whether the order should pass a roll call was taken, and the order was passed, yeas 6, nays 1, viz.:

Yeas—Coun. Attridge, Ballantyne, Buckley, Collins, Kenny, Smith—6.

Nays—Coun. Curley—1.

Coun. BUCKLEY—I wasn't here when that matter was on. I would like to have it read again.

(The report was read again for the information of Coun. Buckley.)

Coun. BUCKLEY—I would like to have the entire order read. I wasn't here before. I would like to know if that is the Park square property.

(The order was read for the information of Coun. Buckley.)

Coun. CURLEY—I should like to ask through you, of the chairman of the Committee on Public Lands, if in the event of the passage of this order the city is not liable for all damage and equally liable for all improvements that may be made in that section?

Coun. SMITH—If this order goes through the city removes a restriction, a 5-foot restriction, as to building. That is the only restriction they remove. In return for that the city does not charge any betterments on the property owners, and builds at its own entire expense the street, taking part of the land from the Park Square Trust, so that no action will be begun until the owners of the Park square land give up the land they agreed to under the old trust. This simply puts us in a position to go ahead if the Park square people do as they formerly promised to do.

Coun. CURLEY—Mr. Chairman, but the city will be compelled to stand the entire expense and settle all the takings, etc.

Coun. SMITH—They will stand the expense of building the streets.

Coun. CURLEY—Mr. Chairman, I should like to ask Coun. Smith, through you, about what it is estimated the expense in connection with this will be, approximately?

Coun. SMITH—Well, I must say, we had our meeting some days ago, and the exact figures have gone from me. As I remember it, it is in the neighborhood of $60,000. I may be incorrect on that. I don't remember the exact figures. They were submitted to us at the time.

Coun. CURLEY—Mr. Chairman, I confess I can't see the wisdom of passing this order. Here is a great tract of land that covers several acres in a section of the city that has developed more rapidly—that is, that portion of it in the vicinity of Boylston street—than perhaps any other section in the entire city. At a hearing of the Street Commission upon this particular proposition I consulted Mr. Kiley, the real estate expert, and was informed that land values in that neighborhood have advanced 60 per cent in the last ten years. Now, Mr. Chairman, if the value of land has increased in that section 60 per cent in the past ten years it would seem but reasonable that they who have benefited by that increase, to which they have contributed in no degree,—because it has been the work of the others who developed that section and invested their money that made possible the great increase there and caused travel to tend in that direction and develop that particular section,—it is but reasonable that they should stand the expense of it. Now, Mr. Chairman, it is not the Park Square Trust, according to the recent ruling of the courts, that constitutes the interested parties in this particular instance. Rather is it the New York, New Haven & Hartford Railroad. And while a deed of trust was exchanged between the so-called Park Square Trust and the New York, New Haven & Hartford Railroad, in reality Mr. Minot and his associates were simply acting as agents for the New Haven Railroad in the matter of having the city develop property owned by the railroad. Now, I feel that the railroad has sufficient money to develop that property itself—and the location of a street in that particular section, extending from Boylston street to Columbus avenue, in all probability will be followed by a widening of Ferdinand street and of Pleasant street to Broadway, and an expense to the City of Boston, before the matter is settled, of a million dollars in land damages. I feel, Mr. Chairman, that this proposition is one of the most important that has come before this Board this year, and if the gentleman can't give us the exact figures—and certainly $60,000 can't be the exact figures—it is nearer half a million before they get through with it—after the vote is decided I would ask reconsideration and ask that the matter be referred to the Executive Committee.

Coun. SMITH—I don't think I made myself clear in the beginning. Providence street is the only street in question here. It is a simple deal between the owners of property running between Boylston and Providence streets and the city. If I may continue until I think I have made it clear I would be glad to answer questions. We remove the restrictions and in return for removing those restrictions we are not charged any damages for the taking of land. One counterbalances the other. It is a simple deal between the city and the owners of property. Now, any talk about the Park Square Trust is rather beside the point. This refers only to Providence street. A simple swap—our giving up the 5-foot restriction and their giving up the damages that would be assessed.

Coun. CURLEY—I don't feel that either the chairman of the Committee on Public Lands or myself are competent to discuss this question at the present time, because we are not in possession of sufficient information; but I would say for the benefit of Coun. Smith that these propositions are always simple at the start but they are exceedingly complex and very expensive to the city before they finish, and this is the beginning of the most expensive proposition this city has ever embarked on.

Coun. HALE—As long as this has something, even indirectly, to do with the Park Square Trust, and as long as the Park Square Trust is directly connected with the New Haven, I ask for the privilege of not voting on this matter, as being interested.

Coun. SMITH—It is not complimentary to tell me that I am not competent to discuss this matter, as we went into it somewhat in detail with Mr. Kiley in the committee, and I think thoroughly discussed it, and I think if the gentleman would care to go into argument we could make it thoroughly understood. But out of deference to his wishes I would be very glad to reconsider the vote we have already taken and refer it to the Executive Committee, as I, for one, do not care to be charged with pushing anything through here. If he cares to discuss the matter more in detail, either in committee or here before the Board, I would be glad to have reconsideration.

Coun. KENNY—Mr. President, I think that is a very wise suggestion by my friend on my left, and I would also add that after the vote is reconsidered perhaps the matter might lie on the table until the next meeting, and then give the member from Ward 17 a chance to consider it further.

Coun. BUCKLEY—Have we already decided the vote in the first instance?

President COLLINS—The vote was six in favor.

Coun. BUCKLEY—I thought before you decided the vote that I had spoken and that you had recognized me. If there is no objection I would like to change my vote to "No."

President COLLINS—The question comes on reconsideration, Coun. Buckley. But if there is no objection, Coun. Buckley asks unanimous consent to have his vote changed from "Yes" to "No." There is no objection and Coun. Buckley is given that privilege. The question now comes, five having voted in the affirmative and two in the negative, on reconsideration, by Coun. Curley.

The motion to reconsider was carried.

On motion of Coun. BALLANTYNE the matter was referred to the Executive Committee.

(2) Report on message of Mayor, communication and order (referred last year) to release restrictions on land on Peterborough street, Ward 11—that the order ought to pass.

Report accepted; order read once and passed, yeas 8, nays 0.

(3) Report on message of Mayor and order (referred April 24) to release restrictions on land on Providence street—that no further action is necessary.

Accepted.

(4) Report on petition of Charles S. Rackemann, trustee (referred May 1), for release of restrictions on certain lots on Providence street and Boylston street—that no further action is necessary.

Accepted.

INFORMATION CONCERNING HEALTH DEPARTMENT.

Coun. SMITH offered an order—That his Honor the Mayor be requested to report to this body what use is being made of the appropriation for two additional nurses to be employed by the Health Department on milk and baby hygiene work.

Coun. SMITH—The reason for calling this up is that in our annual budget we made an appropriation for an increase in the appropriation for the Health Department of $32,000, and when the representative was asked the reason for so doing he stated that he needed $27,000 of this for additional supervision in the schools, and that he needed about $3,000 for two additional nurses to put on this work in the summer. Since then we have heard nothing about these nurses going to work, although the hot months are rapidly approaching, and it occurred to me that something ought to be done along that line. I don't do this in antagonism to the Health Department, but simply to stir them up in order that something may be done before the summer passes. After passing the appropriation for this purpose we don't want to let the whole summer go by, when this work is so much needed. The fact that the Board of Health are willing to do the work is evidenced not only by the statement before the Board at the time of the appropriation but also by a letter of Doctor Durgin, which I have in my hand, in which he verifies that statement before the Board. This is being done in other cities on a much larger scale, and as long as we have granted the money to the Board of Health to take care of the babies in our crowded tenement sections it seems to me we ought to get busy on it at once. It is for this reason I have introduced the order. I hope the order will pass in order that we may get the nurses immediately.

The motion was carried and the order passed.

DAY OFF FOR PARK EMPLOYEES.

Coun. BUCKLEY offered an order—That the Park Commissioners be authorized to allow the employees of the Park Department a day off, without loss of pay, on August 3, the day set for the annual picnic of said employees.

Coun. BUCKLEY—The reason that order is presented is this: It is the same order that was presented and passed last year, and the employees had a letter from the Park Commissioners to the effect that the Board would allow their organization a day for its annual picnic, but could not allow pay for said day unless the Mayor and City Council authorized such holiday without loss of pay. They have always had it.

The order was passed.

CLAIMS.

Coun. BUCKLEY, for the Committee on Claims, submitted a report on the petition of Edmund K. Baker (referred May 31), offering to surrender alleged invalid tax deeds and requesting that he be reimbursed for the same—that the petitioner be given leave to withdraw.

Accepted.

ORDINANCES.

Coun. McDONALD, for the Committee on Ordinances, submitted the following:

(1) Report on message of Mayor and order (referred May 8) appropriating $2,000, to be expended in accordance with the program of the Municipal Athletic Association, under the direction of the Bath Trustees—that no further action is necessary.

Accepted.

(2) Report on message of Mayor and communication from Finance Commission (referred February 20) relative to the Consumptives' Hospital Department—that the same be placed on file.

Report accepted; said communication placed on file.

ANNUITY FOR MRS. BURKE.

Coun. McDONALD offered an order—That in accordance with the provisions of chapter 530 of the Acts of 1911 an annuity of three hundred dollars be hereby allowed and paid to Hattie Burke, widow of Patrick Burke, who was killed while in the service of the city, said annuity to continue for a period of eight years unless the said Hattie Burke shall remarry within said period, in which event the annuity shall cease; the amounts paid under authority of this order to be charged to the appropriation for Public Works Department, Highway Division.

Referred to the Executive Committee.

SMOKE NUISANCE, CABOT STREET BATH.

Coun. SMITH offered an order—That his Honor the Mayor be requested to cause the smoke nuisance at the Cabot Street baths to be discontinued.

Coun. SMITH—My reason for introducing this is because I understand from persons in the section and from personal observation that they burn soft coal there and the smoke is very objectionable, especially in so crowded a neighborhood.

The order was passed.

LIGHTING OF PLAYGROUNDS.

Coun. SMITH offered an order—That the Park Commissioners be requested to furnish an estimate of what it would cost to properly light the various playgrounds, with special reference to Columbus Avenue, William Eustis and the Charlesbank, and whether the same could be done out of their present appropriation.

Coun. SMITH—The playgrounds are as a rule under-lighted. This results in their not being used at night except for purposes for which they are not intended, and it seems to me we could make them more available for the boys of the various neighborhoods if we had proper electric lights. That is especially true of two mounds on the Charlesbank, and it is also true of Columbus Avenue, but it is generally true of the parks throughout the city, and I hope the additional expense of lighting them will be borne.

Coun. CURLEY—I would like to move, as an amendment, that the William Eustis Playground in Ward 17 may be included with the others.

Coun. BALLANTYNE—I would like to inform the councilor on the other side that an order and petition have gone in to-day with regard to that playground.

Coun. CURLEY—You have no objection to it being amended here?

Coun. BALLANTYNE—No.

The amendment was adopted, and the order as amended was passed.

REMOVAL OF PARK WALL.

Coun. SMITH offered an order—That the Park Commissioners be requested to report upon the advisability of removing the wall now bounding Franklin Park on Seaver street; and also whether the Boston Elevated Railway would bear the expense.

Coun. SMITH—This wall has directly caused the death of two people within a year, and accidents have happened to others, especially to one man who lost his leg. It seems to me the wall should be reported on by the Park Commissioners. It is a menace to life—the cars travel so close to it. It may be the Elevated will stand the whole expense and relieve the city of the expense. At any rate it seems to me the matter is well worth looking up and having a report upon.

The order was passed.

COLLECTION OF GARBAGE, NORTH END.

Coun. SMITH offered an order—That his Honor the Mayor be requested to furnish a report from the Sanitary Department as to whether the law is being enforced in the North End of the city in regard to the collection of garbage.

Coun. SMITH—It is with some hesitation that I introduce this order because it reflects somewhat on the Sanitary Department. For two months I have been receiving kicks from the residents of the North End, especially in the neighborhood of Hull and North Bennet streets, as to the collection of garbage. I advised them to go to the Sanitary Department and make known their troubles, which they did. A month ago, May 12, they wrote to Commissioner Rourke, who recognized their letter by a postal, and nothing has been done. A week ago they wrote again and nothing has resulted. I myself telephoned to the Sanitary Department on Wednesday. They said a report would be made to me on Friday, which has not been made up to date, although I reminded them of that this morning again. It seems to me the Sanitary Department might at least take the matter in hand. The conditions there are very bad. By actual count one day there were forty-seven barrels within four blocks, forty-seven barrels of garbage. Another day there were fifty barrels,—half of them wooden barrels, which is against the law. Not more than ten out of the fifty were covered, although the law requires covers to be used upon them. On the day after the 17th of June—Tuesday, June 18—there was no collection made of the garbage in that section of the city, although the garbage was larger in quantity on that day, of course,—and the next day it wasn't collected until afternoon, although residents of the section called the department up three times in the morning. And so it goes. I dislike to bring the matter up here in the Board. I have referred the people of that section to the Sanitary Department time and again and I see no other way to spur the department on to enforce the law than to give it publicity in this way. The hot season is approaching. The garbage will be more objectionable than ordinarily down there—and it seems to me the garbage matter should be taken up at once. If we have laws they should be enforced. If they don't intend to enforce them the matter should be treated in this body. I have in my pocket photographs bearing out the facts. They show that the barrels are wooden and are overflowing and have no covers. And, furthermore, some of the collectors of garbage take the trouble to roll the barrels out from the places in the buildings where they are kept rather than to fulfill the law and take them only when they are on the curbing. I should like to have the order passed in order that the Sanitary Department can clear its skirts if it has an explanation to make.

The order was passed.

SALE OF CHARLESTOWN ALMSHOUSE.

The following was received:

City of Boston,
Office of the Mayor, June 26, 1911.

To the City Council:

For the reasons given in the accompanying communication of the chairman of the Infirmary Trustees I beg to recommend the passage of the order attached hereto, authorizing them to sell to the Boston Elevated Railway Company for a sum not less than seventy-two thousand dollars ($72,000) the property known as the Charlestown Almshouse, with the land connected therewith.

Respectfully,
JOHN F. FITZGERALD, Mayor.

City of Boston,
Infirmary Department,
June 26, 1911.

Hon. John F. Fitzgerald,
Mayor of Boston:

Dear Sir,—I inclose herewith an order which I would like to have you forward to the City Council for consideration pertaining to the sale of the Charlestown Almshouse.

The proposed Malden elevated extension of the Boston Elevated Railway Company will pass through this property, destroying the building and dividing the land. This extension requires the removal of our department from the premises which in the past has been seriously considered by the trustees from a standpoint of economy. The advent of the Elevated now forces us to abandon the property for institutional purposes.

I have asked Mr. John C. Kiley to represent this department in negotiating with the Elevated Railway Company for a settlement and he reports that he thinks it desirable, if we can do so, to make a sale of the entire property to the Railway Company rather than have a taking made of a strip of land wide enough to give them a right of way for their overhead structure. He reports, and I coincide with him, that the city will be justified in selling the entire property to the Railway Company for seventy-two thousand dollars ($72,000), which he thinks is a fair market value for it. The property is assessed for fifty-four thousand seven hundred dollars ($54,700), of which thirty thousand seven hundred dollars ($30,700) is on the land, 102,567 square feet, and twenty-four thousand dollars ($24,000) on the buildings. The price set by Mr. Kiley is about thirty-one per cent (31%) in excess of the assessed valuation.

Very respectfully,
E. M. GALLAGHER, Chairman.

Ordered, That the Boston Infirmary Trustees be and hereby are authorized, with the approval of the Mayor, to sell to the Boston Elevated Railway Company for a sum not less than seventy-two thousand dollars ($72,000) the property in the Charlestown district known as the Charlestown Almshouse, with the land connected therewith, containing about 102,400 square feet, and upon such sale his Honor the Mayor is hereby authorized, in the name and behalf of the city, to execute a deed satisfactory to the Law Department, conveying said premises to said company for a consideration not less than seventy-two thousand dollars ($72,000), to be determined by said trustees and approved as aforesaid.

Referred to the Executive Committee.

CLOSING OF STREETS.

Coun. ATTRIDGE offered an order—That the Police Commissioner be authorized to close Ashland street, between Brown avenue and Ashland terrace, in front of the Sacred Heart Church, on Sunday, June 25, 1911, between the hours of 12 noon and 1 p. m.

Ordered, That the City Messenger be authorized to rope off said portion of Ashland street at the above mentioned time.

Passed.

President COLLINS offered an order—That the Police Commissioner be authorized to close to travel by vehicles, except fire, police, hospital and mail wagons, North Narvard street, from Western avenue to the bridge, on Friday, June 23, 1911, between one o'clock and five o'clock p. m.

Passed.

FILLING OF EAST BOSTON RESERVOIR.

Coun. KENNY offered an order—That the Commissioner of Public Works, through his Honor the Mayor, report as to the cost of filling the reservoir in East Boston, situated at Brooks and White streets, known as "Eagle Hill Reservoir," in a suitable manner for playground or park purposes.

Coun. KENNY—I am informed, Mr. President, that the necessity no longer exists for the continuance of that reservoir as a reservoir, and it has been suggested that that would make an admirable place for a park or playground. I went over on top of the reservoir some days ago and came to that conclusion, that it would make not a large but a very desirable park for the people of East Boston. They have a full view of the water. Therefore I present that order.

The order was passed.

CONSOLIDATION OF DEPARTMENTS.

Coun. KENNY—I have now a paper which I am going to offer in the shape of a draft of an ordinance in connection with the establishment of a Park and Recreation Department. It has appeared, I think, in some of the newspapers within a few days that there was danger of the ordinance which the Mayor had submitted to the Council some weeks since becoming effective if action was not taken, and that action was not likely to have been taken. I desire to say on behalf of this Council—especially on behalf of the chairman of the Committee on Ordinances—that those ordinances were discussed with members of the committee three or four weeks ago, and the matter was fully in the minds of the committee, and if the Mayor had not indicated, as he did last Friday, his intention to withdraw the draft which he had submitted and resubmit the draft in a new or the same form, a meeting would have been called and action would have been taken by this Council with respect to that matter. I have here a draft of an ordinance which I propose to offer, on behalf of myself, and I shall ask to have it referred to the proper committee to be considered in connection with the Mayor's draft of ordinances.

Coun. KENNY offered the following:

City of Boston.

In the Year Nineteen Hundred and Eleven.

An Ordinance Establishing a Park and Recreation Department and Abolishing the Park Department, the Public Grounds Department, the Bath Department and the Music Department.

Be it ordained by the City Council of Boston, as follows:

Section 1. The Park and Recreation Department which is hereby established shall be under the charge of a Board of Park and Recreation Commissioners, of whom one shall be a landscape architect or landscape engineer familiar with the theory and practice of designing, laying out and maintaining parks, who shall act as chairman, and shall receive a salary of $7,500 per annum; one shall be an architect, of not less than five years' experience in his profession; and one a civil engineer of not less than five years' experience in his profession. The members, other than the chairman, shall serve without pay.

Sect. 2. The Mayor shall appoint said commissioners, the chairman for a term of three years, and the other members for a term of two years and one year, respectively, and thereafter as the terms of office expire in each year he shall appoint one member for a term of three years. Vacancies as they occur shall be filled by the Mayor for the unexpired term.

Sect. 3. The said board shall exercise and perform all the duties herein enumerated and all other powers and duties not herein specifically enumerated which are required by existing laws and ordinances to be exercised and performed by the Park Commissioners, the Superintendent of Public Grounds and the Trustees of the Bath and Music Departments.

Sect. 4. Said board shall construct, improve, equip, supervise and regulate the use of all parks, public grounds, playgrounds, baths and beaches that have heretofore been under the charge and control of the Park Commissioners, the Superintendent of Public Grounds and Trustees of the Bath Department, or that hereafter may be placed in the charge of the department, or that may be taken by purchase or otherwise; and such other parks, playgrounds, public grounds, ways, or means for outdoor recreation as may be placed in the charge of the department by the city, the Board of Metropolitan Park Commissioners, or the Legislature, or in any other manner.

Sect. 5. Said board shall have the care and superintendence of all trees belonging to the city; shall trim all shade trees standing in the street so that they shall not interfere with public travel; shall carry out all orders of the Street Commissioners made after public notice and hearing to remove trees standing in the street; shall upon request of the officer having charge of the public lamps trim in such manner as said officer may require any tree which interferes with the proper lighting of a street, and shall cause all statutes and ordinances for the protection of trees, shrubs and flowers in the public grounds and streets to be strictly observed.

Sect. 6. Said board shall construct, improve, equip, supervise and regulate the use of all gymnasia and all bath houses now or hereafter provided by the city, and shall construct every such new bath house, gymnasium or means for public recreation for which an appropriation may hereafter be made.

Sect. 7. Said board shall have the charge and control of the selection of public music to be given for parades, concerts, public celebrations and other purposes under appropriations of the City Council, shall determine the parties to furnish the same, make the contracts and expend the moneys to be paid from the city treasury for such music, and perform all other duties given by statute or ordinance to the former board of Music Trustees.

Sect. 8. The rules and regulations heretofore adopted by the Park Commission for the use and government of the parks, parkways, playgrounds and streets formerly under its charge shall continue in force until changed by said board, with the approval of the City Council; and said board, with the approval of the City Council, may establish from time to time regulations for the use and government of said parks, parkways, playgrounds, streets, buildings and all premises in its charge. Whoever violates any such regulation shall be punished by a fine not exceeding twenty dollars for each offence and not only the person actually doing the prohibited thing but also his employer and every person concerned in so doing shall be punished by such fine.

Sect. 9. The board shall create two divisions of said department, namely, a Park Division and a Recreation Division. Each division shall be in charge of a deputy commissioner, who shall devote his whole time to the work and who shall receive an annual salary of not more than four thousand two hundred dollars. Said board shall appoint the deputy commissioners, engineers, physicians, subordinates and employees and define their powers and duties and fix the amount of their compensation.

Sect. 10. Chapter seven, chapter twenty-six, chapter twenty-eight, and chapter thirty-three of the Revised Ordinances of 1898 and all ordinances and parts of ordinances inconsistent herewith are hereby repealed.

Sect. 11. Section five of chapter three of the Revised Ordinances of 1898 is hereby amended by striking out the following words: "the superintendent of public grounds, four thousand dollars."

Section 12. This ordinance shall go into effect on the first day of September, 1911.

Referred to the Committee on Ordinances.

FEES FOR FIREARMS, ETC.

Coun. McDONALD offered the following:

City of Boston.

In the Year Nineteen Hundred and Eleven.

An Ordinance relative to fees for licenses for firearms.

Be it ordained by the City Council of Boston, as follows:

Licenses granted under the provisions of chapter 495 of the Acts of 1911, for the selling, renting or leasing of firearms, shall be issued by the City Clerk upon the payment in each case of a fee of two dollars, and an additional fee of two dollars shall be required for the transfer of the location under section 8 of said chapter. The payment of the fee as herein required shall be one of the conditions upon which the license or transfer is granted, and no such license or transfer shall take effect or be issued until the fee is paid.

Referred to the Executive Committee.

EXPENSE OF HEARINGS.

Coun. SMITH offered an order—That the expense of stenographic report of the district meetings held by the Mayor and City Council in February, 1911, amounting to $280, be charged to the appropriation for City Council, Incidental Expenses.

Referred to the Executive Committee.

DISPOSAL OF WASTE.

Coun. SMITH offered a resolution—That this Council do again request Commissioner Rourke to come before us and give us the benefit of his opinion regarding each of the contracts submitted at the recent call for bids to dispose of the city waste.

Coun. SMITH—The reason I ask for this is because the Council as a body has not up to date been informed in regard to the recent bids for disposal of the city waste, although ten such bids were sent in. On May 15 we passed an order here asking the commissioner to give us a detailed report on each one of these bids, with recommendation and opinion upon each. I believe he sent in the actual bids with no recommendation or opinion upon any of them. It seems to me this Council, in view of the fact that the matter will be settled before the summer, in all probability, ought to have the benefit of the knowledge of the commissioner on these various bids. They cover all the methods of disposing of the city waste. It would be very helpful to this body. We have already passed the order once. It seems to me that we should request his presence even though the bids were not accepted, because most of the companies who made the bids formerly will do so again.

Referred to the Executive Committee.

RECESS TAKEN.

The Council voted at 5.25 p. m., on motion of Coun. HALE, to take a recess subject to the call of the President.

The members of the Council reassembled in the Council Chamber and were called to order by the President at 7.58 p. m.

On the petition of the Old Colony Street Railway Company, after public notice and a hearing, it being determined that public service and convenience require the granting of such a petition, it is Ordered, That the Old Colony Street Railway Company be and it hereby is granted authority to act as a common carrier of newspapers, baggage, express matter and freight, in, along and upon those streets and highways in the City of Boston wherein is located and maintained the street railway of the said Old Colony Street Railway Company, between the drawbridge of the Neponset Bridge and a point at or near its car barn in the said Neponset district of the City of Boston, as shown on the plan accompanying its petition, to the extent and to the extent only of carrying and transporting such kinds of packages, parcels, goods and merchandise, of such size, bulk, weight and dimensions, as shall be approved by the honorable Board of Railroad Commissioners, exclusive, however, of such articles and commodities as shall from time to time be prohibited by or excluded with the approval of said honorable Board of Railroad Commissioners, subject, nevertheless, to such regulations and restrictions as in the opinion of said honorable Board of Railroad Commissioners public necessity and convenience require, and to such regulations and restrictions as may from time to time be made by the City Council and with the approval of the honorable Board of Railroad Commissioners, and to all provisions of law now or hereinafter in force relating to common carriers.

Report accepted; order passed.

(12) Report on message of Mayor and order (referred today) concerning restrictions on Providence street—that the order ought to pass.

The report was accepted, and the vote on passing the order was as follows:

Yeas—Coun. Attridge, Ballantyne, Collins, Kenny, Smith—5.

Nays—Coun. Buckley, Curley—2.

President COLLINS—The Chair will state that in his opinion, under the city charter, a release of restrictions is a release of interest in land requiring a two-thirds vote, at least six votes, of the Council. For that reason he will make a tentative ruling that the order has not passed, only five votes having been recorded in its favor.

Coun. BALLANTYNE—Mr. Chairman, I move a reconsideration of the vote just passed, and if that prevails I will ask assignment to the next meeting.

Reconsideration prevailed by a rising vote, 5 to 2, and the order was specially assigned to the next meeting on motion of Coun. BALLANTYNE.

LOCATION OF CONVENIENCE STATIONS.

The following was received:

City of Boston,
Office of the Mayor, June 26, 1911.

To the City Council:

In confirmation of the agreement reached at our informal conference in the Mayor's office to-day, I beg to say that if the order for a transfer recommended by me in my message dated to-day of $50,000 from the appropriation for Reserve Fund to a special appropriation for convenience stations is passed by your honorable body, I shall request the Board of Health to expend the appropriation for stations at the following points:

Ordered, That under the provisions of chapter 261 of the Acts of 1893 the City Auditor be and hereby is authorized to transfer the sum of seventeen thousand two hundred and fifty dollars ($17,250) from the appropriation for Reserve Fund to an appropriation, to be expended under the direction of the Park Commissioners, for Fens, Improvements.

The order was read a second time, and the question came on its passage.

Coun. SMITH—Mr. President, while I am going to vote in favor of this order I want to register my disapproval of the soiling of the playgrounds in the Fens. While it may fit in with the architectural features of the park and surrounding buildings it seems to me ill-advised to put soil on the playground as is proposed. Putting soil on a separate ten-acre lot of meadow is all right, but certainly they do not need soil on playgrounds. Boys prefer not to have it there, and prefer skin playgrounds and diamonds. I think it is a waste of money. But rather than vote against the whole appropriation I am going to vote in favor of this.

TREES, COMMONWEALTH AVENUE.

The following was received:

City of Boston,
Office of the Mayor, June 26, 1911.

To the City Council:

I beg to recommend the passage of the accompanying order transferring the sum of $10,000 from the appropriation for Reserve Fund to a special appropriation for Commonwealth Avenue, Trees. The need of planting trees along this avenue, which is one of the most conspicuous in the city, has heen urged from time to time in communications from the Park Department, and I feel that the city is now in a position when it can afford the expenditure without detriment to other improvements which nay have heen thought in the past to have a prior claim.

ENTERTAINMENT OF ADVERTISING MEN.

Coun. CURLEY—Mr. President, I move that the message of the Mayor and order to transfer $1,500 from Reserve Fund to Mayor, Office Expenses, for the entertainment of the advertising men during their convention here, he taken from the file of the Executive Committee.

Coun. CURLEY—Mr. President, there is no city so rich in historical traditions as the old City of Boston and there is no city in America that offers greater attraction to visitors from any part of the entire world; there is no city that has been more liberal in its appropriations for beautification and development of its magnificent park system, that has such attractions, the handiwork of God and of man. We rejoice in our attractions. In every portion of this country that one visits, where reference is made to Boston, people speak of the delightful time they had here, the splendid historical treasures, the art museums, the magnificent park system and the countless attractions, and I will at this time move that the recommendation of the Mayor relative to an appropriation for the entertainment of a convention of the advertising men be recalled from the Executive Committee.

The motion to recall was carried, and the order was passed, yeas 6, nay 1, Coun. Smith voting nay.

PROTEST AGAINST INCINERATOR.

Coun. SMITH presented the following petition:

June 26, 1911.

To the Honorable the City Council:

Gentlemen,— We hereby protest against the erection of an incinerator in the city quarry adjoining the New England Women's and Children's Hospital, Ward 22.

EMMA E. BUTLER,
Secretary Board of Directors.

84 Summer street, Newton.

The petition was ordered spread upon the record on motion of Coun. SMITH.

PARKMAN FUND.

Coun. KENNY, for the Committee on Parkman Fund, submitted the following:

(1) Report on message of Mayor (referred June 13) relative to expenditure of $40,000 on Boston Common for the continuance of the work of soil renovation—that the same he placed on file.

Accepted, and message placed on file.

IMPROVEMENTS, BOSTON COMMON.

Coun. KENNY, for the Committee on Parkman Fund, submitted a report recommending the passage of an order—That the Superintendent of Public Grounds be authorized to expend during the current year the sum of $20,000 for continuation of the work of soil renovation on Boston Common, and to expend $21,100 for completion of Parkman memorial handstand on Boston Common, said amounts to be charged to the income of the George F. Parkman Fund, and to he expended under the direction of the Superintendent of Public Grounds.

The report was accepted, and the question came on the passage of the order.

Coun. SMITH—Mr. President, simply as a matter of information—because I am heartily in favor of these things—I would like to ask what total that makes for resoiling the Common?

Coun. KENNY—Mr. President, the Council last year voted $40,000 for the renovating of the soil, and this $20,000 makes $60,000 so far. It is expected that ultimately it will cost in excess of $100,000.

The order was passed, yeas 7, nays 0.

Coun. KENNY, for the Committee on Parkman Fund, submitted a report recommending the passage of an order—That the Board of Park Commissioners he authorized to expend during the current year the sum of $49,200 from the income of the George F. Parkman Fund, said amount to he expended under the direction of the Board of Park Commissioners for the Aquarium and Zoological Garden.

Coun. SMITH—Mr. President, these undertakings were got under way last year, when I was not a member of this body, and in voting to-day for this appropriation from the Parkman Fund I do so realizing that we have already committed ourselves to these improvements. That is the only reason why I vote for this order, because it seems to me, with what knowledge I have of the improvements referred to—not having the benefit of the debate here last year—that I do not favor them. I think this is taking an undue proportion of the Parkman Fund for these two improvements with a consequent neglect of the parks for which the Parkman Fund was originally left. While I shall vote for this order, it is simply to complete what we are already committed to and which I would not have voted for.

President COLLINS—The Chair would state that the money is devoted to the parks in existence in 1888, and the two parks here referred to were in existence at the time Mr. Parkman's will was made.

Coun. SMITH—Mr. President, I desire to thank you for the information. At the same time I repeat what I have already said, that while the money may technically he for those parks, the purpose to which it is to be devoted is very foreign to Mr. Parkman's intention. No such purpose probably ever entered Mr. Parkman's head. The money was left for the benefit, improvement and upkeep of these parks, and not for aquariums and zoological gardens. While I shall vote for the order, because we are committed to it, I vote for it regretting that the Council of last year voted for these things, under the circumstances.

Coun. CURLEY—Mr. President, we all recognize the right of the distinguished councilor to interpret Mr. Parkman's wishes and intentions in connection with the parks. In the words of the sage, nothing more need be said.

Coun. KENNY—Mr. President, the Council a year ago, after very mature deliberation, decided on the policy of creating in Franklin Park a zoo and in South Boston an aquarium. The action was taken after public hearings held in the old Aldermanic Chamber and after various conferences on the part of the Council through the proper committees. Before the action was taken by the Council an opinion of the Law Department was had, and the Law Department decided that the creation of the zoo and the aquarium was within the terms of the will and was legal and proper. The Council took the precaution before embarking on these two enterprises to get the opinion of the Law Department. Having the opinion of the Law Department it then decided last year to vote certain amounts. This order is in furtherance of the action already taken.

The order was passed, yeas 7, nays 0.

GENERAL RECONSIDERATION.

On motion of Coun. BALLANTYNE the Council refused a general reconsideration of all action taken to-day.

THE NEXT MEETING.

Coun. KENNY—Mr. President, I move that we adjourn to meet on Friday next at four o'eloek p. m.

The motion was dcclared carried.

Coun. SMITH—Mr. President, I would simply say that I cannot be here next Friday, although I don't want that fact to influence the vote of this body.

Coun. BUCKLEY—And I cannot be here.

Coun. CURLEY—And I understand that Coun. Hale cannot be here.

President COLLINS—Does Coun. Smith doubt the vote?

Coun. SMITH—I don't know that I want to doubt the vote, Mr. President. I simply stated that I could not be here at that time, and I now understand that others cannot be here.

Coun. BALLANTYNE—Mr. President, in order to get the matter straightened out, I doubt the vote and ask for a rising vote. I think that the members ought to express their opinion fully at this meeting on Friday. We require six votes to pass some of the orders that will come before us, and if there are three or more members who cannot get here there will be no use in meeting. If Friday is not suitable let us meet some other day.

President COLLINS—The Chair would suggest that the members confer and arrive at some date agreeable to most.

Coun. KENNY—Mr. President, I will ask unanimous consent to withdraw my motion to meet on Friday, and would move that we adjourn to Thursday at four o'clock p. m.

President COLLINS—The Chair would respectfully advise the Council to confer, and declares a recess of a minute or two.

After a short recess it was voted, on motion of Coun. BALLANTYNE, that when the Council adjourn it be to meet on Wednesday, June 28, at three o'eloek p. m.

Adjourned at 8.34 p. m., to meet on Wednesday, June 28, at three o'eloek p. m.

CITY OF BOSTON.

Proceedings of City Council.

Wednesday, June 28, 1911.

Meeting of the City Council, held in the Council Chamber, City Hall, at three o'clock p. m., President COLLINS in the chair. Absent—Coun. Attridge.

The Council voted, on motion of Coun. BALLANTYNE, to dispense with the reading of the records of the last meeting.

PUBLIC LANDING, WARD 24.

The following was received:

City of Boston,
Office of the Mayor, June 28, 1911.

To the City Council:

I beg to transmit a communication from the secretary of the Park Department in reply to a request forwarded in compliance with your order passed at the meeting of May 15, 1911, "That the Park Department be requested, through his Honor the Mayor, to acquire land at the foot of Walnut street, Ward 24, and build and maintain a public landing in said location."

Respectfully,
WALTER L. COLLINS, Acting Mayor.

City of Boston,
Board of Commissioners
of the Department of Parks,
June 23, 1911.

Hon. John F. Fitzgerald,
Mayor of Boston:

Dear Sir,—The Board has received and considered the inclosed order of the City Council, requesting this department to acquire land at the foot of Walnut street, Ward 24, and to build and maintain a public landing in said location, and I am directed to say in reply that the Board has no appropriation which can be drawn upon for this purpose.

Respectfully yours,
GEORGE F. CLARKE, Secretary.

Referred to the Executive Committee.

BATHING BEACH, FREEPORT STREET.

The following was received:

City of Boston,
Office of the Mayor, June 26, 1911.

To the City Council:

The need of a bathing beach in the section of Dorchester south of Savin Hill has been repeatedly urged, and the demand seems to me to be a reasonable one, especially in view of the fact that until within a very few years the beach at Freeport street was used for this purpose. I recommend, therefore, the passage of the accompanying order transferring the sum of $9,000 from the Reserve Fund to a special appropriation for a bathing beach at Freeport street, Dorchester.

Respectfully,
JOHN F. FITZGERALD, Mayor.

Ordered, That under the provisions of chapter 261 of the Acts of 1893 the City Auditor be and hereby is authorized to transfer the sum of nine thousand dollars ($9,000) from the appropriation for Reserve Fund to an appropriation, to be expended under the direction of the Bath Trustees, for the purchase of shore property and the flats adjacent thereto on the northeast side of Freeport street, Dorchester, and the improvement thereof as a bathing beach.

Referred to the Executive Committee.

NEW HEALTH BOAT.

The following was received:

City of Boston,
Office of the Mayor, June 26, 1911.

To the City Council:

In my message to your honorable body under date of June 8 I recommended the passage of a loan order appropriating $48,000 for the construction of a new steamboat to take the place of the "Vigilant." I am informed that this order is likely to be rejected by your honorable body, and I beg to substitute therefor and recommend for passage the accompanying order transferring the same amount from the appropriation for Reserve Fund to a special appropriation for a new steamboat to take the place of the "Vigilant."

Respectfully,
JOHN F. FITZGERALD, Mayor.

Ordered, That under the provisions of chapter 261 of the Acts of 1893 the City Auditor be and hereby is authorized to transfer the sum of forty-eight thousand dollars ($48,000) from the appropriation for Reserve Fund to an appropriation, to be expended by the Board of Health, for new steamboat.

Referred to the Executive Committee.

BRANCH LIBRARY, EAST BOSTON.

The following was received:

City of Boston,
Office of the Mayor, June 26, 1911.

To the City Council:

The need of a new branch library building in the East Boston section has been urged by the Library Trustees and carefully considered by your Committee on Branch Libraries in its report to the City Council dated May 1. The committee in that report expresses its belief "that East Boston should be provided with a separate building, centrally and suitably located, for library purposes as soon as the finances of the city will permit." In my opinion the time has arrived for an appropriation for this purpose, and I recommend the passage of the accompanying order transferring the sum of $50,000 from the appropriation for Reserve Fund to a special appropriation for Branch Library, East Boston.

Respectfully,
JOHN F. FITZGERALD, Mayor.

Ordered, That under the provisions of chapter 261 of the Acts of 1893 the City Auditor be and hereby is authorized to transfer the sum of fifty thousand dollars ($50,000) from the appropriation for Reserve Fund to an appropriation, to be expended under the direction of the Trustees of the Boston Public Library, for Branch Library, East Boston.

Referred to the Executive Committee.

TEMPORARY BRIDGE, MYSTIC RIVER.

The following was received:

City of Boston,
Office of the Mayor, June 26, 1911.

To the City Council:

I beg to recommend the passage of the accompanying loan order appropriating the sum of $250,000 for a temporary bridge over the north channel of the Mystic river, between Chelsea and Boston.

My previous messages to your honorable body, dated August 1, 1910, and November 14, 1910, with the accompanying estimates and explanations from the city engineers, may be consulted for information as to the general situation in respect to this bridge. It is understood that under the present instructions from the War Department the city must complete the structure by November 1, 1911, but presumably this time will be extended after proper representations have been made to the Secretary of War.

The loan order for $250,000 twice recommended by me last year was finally rejected on the understanding that I should petition the General Court for legislation which would reapportion the cost of this and similar bridges so that Boston should no longer be compelled to bear an excessive share of the burden. Legislation effecting this result is now assured, and I believe that the time has come when the work should be under way. With the passage of the bill introduced by me, providing for a reapportionment of the cost, the only possible objection to the adoption of the order attached hereto will have been finally removed.

Respectfully,
JOHN F. FITZGERALD, Mayor.

Ordered, That the sum of two hundred fifty thousand dollars ($250,000) be appropriated, to be expended by the Commissioner of Public Works, for the construction of a temporary bridge across the north channel of the Mystic river, between the cities of Boston and Chelsea, said bridge to be built in conjunction with the city of Chelsea, under the statutes governing said joint construction, and to serve in place of the present structure, known as "Chelsea Bridge North," and that to meet said appropriation the City Treasurer be authorized, with the approval of the Mayor, to issue bonds or certificates of indebtedness of the city to said amount.

Referred to the Committee on Finance.

TENNIS COURTS, FRANKLIN FIELD.

The following was received:

City of Boston,
Office of the Mayor, June 26, 1911.

To the City Council:

I beg to recommend the passage of the accompanying order transferring the sum of $4,000 from the appropriation for Reserve Fund to an appropriation for Tennis Courts at Franklin Field.

Respectfully,
JOHN F. FITZGERALD, Mayor.

Ordered, That under the provisions of chapter 261 of the Acts of 1893 the City Auditor be and hereby is authorized to transfer the sum of four thousand dollars ($4,000) from the appropriation for Reserve Fund to an appropriation, to be expended under the direction of the Board of Park Commissioners, for Tennis Courts, Franklin Field.

Coun. HALE—Mr. President, I move that the rule be suspended and that this order be passed. It is one of the items we discussed with the Mayor the other day going over the various park improvements, and I think we all agreed that it should go through. I think it is only by mistake that it was not introduced at our last meeting.

The rule was suspended, the order was read a second time, and the question came on its passage.

Coun. SMITH—Mr. President, may I inquire whether that can be done this summer in time to use the courts this season or not?

Coun. HALE—I think it can be done by fall.

President COLLINS—Does the gentleman ask the question of me?

Coun. SMITH—Of the councilor who introduced the order.

President COLLINS—This is a message from the Mayor, Coun. Smith.

Coun. SMITH—Of the councilor who supported the order.

Coun. HALE—Mr. President, I have never made a tennis court, and I don't know, but my guess would be that it would take about six weeks to make a tennis court. In that case it would be ready for the autumn, which is really the best time you can have for tennis.

President COLLINS—The Chair would state that he called the attention of the Mayor to the absence of this order after the last meeting. Corroborating what Coun. Hale has said, the fact that it was not sent in was an oversight. This money will be available forthwith and the tennis courts can be used within a few months at the outside.

Coun. SMITH—Mr. President, I am very much in favor of the granting of the money for the courts, but unless the courts were to be used very soon I thought it was a pity to deprive the inhabitants about there of the opportunity to use the space otherwise this summer during the progress of the work. It seemed to me that it would be better to have the work done in the fall so that the courts could be used next year and allow this space to be used this summer.

The order was passed, yeas 8, nays 0.

PLAYGROUND IMPROVEMENTS.

The following was received:

City of Boston,
Office of the Mayor, June 26, 1911.

To the City Council:

Following out the general scheme of playground improvements recommended by the Park Commissioners in a letter of their chairman dated March 29, 1911, and transmitted to your honorable body at its meeting of April 10, 1911, I desire to recommend the transfer of the sums designated in the accompanying order from the appropriation for Reserve Fund to the appropriation for Playground Improvements specified in said order.

Respectfully,
JOHN F. FITZGERALD, Mayor.

Ordered, That under the provisions of chapter 261 of the Acts of 1893 the City Auditor be and hereby is authorized to transfer the following sums from the appropriation for Reserve Fund, to be expended under the direction of the Board of Park Commissioners, for the purposes designated below:

Franklin Field:
Grading	$10,000 00

Total	$12,750 00

Rule suspended and order passed, yeas 8, nays 0.

CLOSING OF FANEUIL HALL SQUARE.

Coun. McDONALD offered an order—That the Police Commissioner be authorized to close to travel by vehicles, except fire, police, hospital and mail wagons, on Tuesday, July 4, 1911, between the hours of 10 a. m. and 12 noon, the streets and square surrounding Faneuil Hall; and the City Messenger is hereby authorized to rope off the above-named streets and square, the expense thus incurred to be charged to the appropriation for City Council, Incidental Expenses.

Passed.

PUBLIC LANDS.

Coun. SMITH, for the Committee on Public Lands, submitted a report on communication from A. M. Johnson (referred February 13) for sale of city land—recommending the passage of the following:

Ordered, That under the provisions of chapter 122 of the Resolves of 1846 the Board of Street Commissioners be hereby authorized by the Mayor and City Council of the City of Boston, as successors of the selectmen and inhabitants of the town of Dorchester, to sell, on or before September 1, 1911, at public auction to the highest bidder, a lot of land at the northeast corner of Gibson street and Dorchester avenue, containing 5,631 square feet, more or less, and the adjoining lot containing 4,353 square feet, more or less, held in trust under the will of Christopher Gibson, the sale of this land to net the city not less than four thousand dollars ($4,000); and that all moneys received for said land be paid to the City Treasurer, to be held as part of the Gibson School Fund.

The report was accepted and the question came on the passage of the order.

Coun. CURLEY—Mr. President, I would ask the chairman of the Committee on Public Lands, through you, what use is made of this land at the present time, if any?

Coun. SMITH—Mr. President, there is no use made of the land, although there has been some dumping there, which is not allowed. It is a corner lot, at the corner of Gibson street and Dorchester avenue. Perhaps you may remember the lot.

Coun. CURLEY—Mr. President, I will ask Mr. Smith, through you, if that could not be used for a neighborhood playground or for some such purpose?

Coun. SMITH—It is directly across the street from the Gibson Street Playground, which seems to be ample for that neighborhood.

The order was passed, yeas 8, nays 0.

The City Treasurer, after having duly approved of the same, submitted the constables' bonds of Robert N. McClellan, George H. Nason and Charles H. Reinhart.

BOND FROM MICHAEL RUSSO & SON.

Notice was received from the Metropolitan Water and Sewerage Board inclosing bond of indemnity from Michael Russo & Son to the City of Boston, given under the provisions of chapter 339 of the Acts of 1897, said bond having been filed June 27 in office of City Clerk, and deposited in City Auditor's office.

APPOINTMENT OF BOARD OF APPEAL.

The following was received:

City of Boston,
Law Department, June 27, 1911.

To the City Council of Boston:

Gentlemen,—In reply to your order of June 26 I will say that in my opinion the passage of chapter 631 of the Acts of 1910 did not operate to exempt the members of the Board of Appeal from the approval of the Civil Service Commission under sections 9 and 10 of chapter 486 of the Acts of 1909. My reason for this opinion is that the only change made by the Act of 1910 in the Act of 1907 was inserting the words, "or is absent from illness or other cause." Chapter 631 is not a new act; it simply amends chapter 550 of the Acts of 1907 by inserting a few words.

Yours truly,
THOMAS M. BABSON,
Corporation Counsel.

LOCATIONS FOR WIRES, ETC.

The following was received:

City of Boston,
Law Department, June 27, 1911.

To the City Council of Boston:

Gentlemen,—I am requested to inform your body at its next meeting what in my opinion is the effect of the passage of chapter 509 of the Acts of 1911 as to conferring upon the Mayor and City Council the right to grant locations for wires, piers, conduits, abutments, etc.

In my opinion it has no such effect. By the charter amendments of 1909 the powers and duties of the Board of Aldermen in granting such locations were transferred to the Street Commissioners. The Act of 1911 merely amends prior statutes by conferring additional powers and duties upon the Boards granting these permits and locations.

Yours truly,
THOMAS M. BABSON,
Corporation Counsel.

SALE OF CITY LAND.

The following was received:

City of Boston,
Board of Commissioners
of the Department of Parks,
June 28, 1911.

City Council, Boston, Mass.:

Gentlemen,—Herewith is a copy of a letter sent June 26 by the Park Commission to his Honor the Mayor, and a copy of the Mayor's reply, through his secretary, dated June 28,

The Statutes of 1889, chapter 274, section 3, provide that the Park Commissioners when authorized by the City Council may sell, etc., etc., with the approval of the Mayor, etc., etc., and use the proceeds in payments for any lands taken for park purposes.

The Park Commission requests authority from the City Council to sell a triangular piece of land measuring by the atlas 66,672 square feet between Chestnut Hill avenue and Commonwealth avenue, the proceeds to be spent on the purchase of other lands for park purposes within the limits provided by the act.

Yours truly,
ROBERT S. PEABODY, Chairman.

June 20, 1911.

Hon. John F. Fitzgerald,
Mayor of Boston:

Dear Sir,—On the north side of Chestnut Hill Park there is some land intervening between Evergreen Cemetery and the park land. A portion of this is occupied by Wade street and on each side of it are lots at present unoccupied. This land has been offered to the city by its owner Mrs. M. M. Cunniff. The park at present owns the whole frontage towards the reservoir and blocks the extension of Wade street. If the park possessed the land in question there is about 67,000 feet on the west side of Wade street, about 46,000 on the east side, and about 30,000 feet in the area of Wade street, or a total of about 143,000 square feet. The assessed valuation of 1910 of that portion which does not include Wade street is $26,400.

This land can probably be obtained on advantageous terms. We have, as you know, no money to expend upon this land. It is, however, provided in the Statutes of 1889, chapter 274, section 3, that the Park Commissioners when authorized by the City Council may sell, etc., with the approval of the Mayor, etc., and use the proceeds in payment for any lands taken for park purposes.

Nearly opposite the property under consideration, or rather between Chestnut Hill avenue and Commonwealth avenue, the park owns a triangular piece of land, measuring by the atlas 66,672 square feet. It is separated entirely from the park land by Commonwealth avenue and no one would suppose as they passed by that it formed any portion of the park estates. Our suggestion is that we sell this land and use such of the proceeds as may be necessary, possibly for the purchase of the land now under discussion or for any other land that the act would permit us to buy for park purposes. Will you please consider this matter and let us know if it would meet with your approval, in which case we should present the proposition to the City Council.

Yours truly,
ROBERT S. PEABODY, Chairman.

City of Boston,
Office of the Mayor, June 28, 1911.

Mr. Robert S. Peabody,
Chairman Park Commissioners,
Pine Bank, Olmsted Park, J. P.:

Dear Sir—I am directed by his Honor Mayor Fitzgerald to say that the suggestion contained in your letter of June 20, to the effect that the Park Commissioners, with the approval of the City Council and the Mayor, dispose of a tract of land now in their custody, between Chestnut Hill avenue and Commonwealth avenue, and that the proceeds be applied to the purchase of certain lots recently offered for sale by their owner, Mrs. M. M. Cunniff, or of other lots for park purposes, meets with his approval, and he believes the transaction would be an advantageous one for the city.

Yours very truly,
WILLIAM A. LEAHY, Secretary.

City of Boston,
Office of the Mayor, June 28, 1911.

Thomas M. Babson, Esq.,
Corporation Counsel, Boston, Mass.:

Dear Mr. Babson—Inclosed you will find the correspondence to be presented to the City Council from the Park Department. As I suggested in my telephone conversation, it would seem to be desirable that the Law Department should examine the letter of the chairman of the Board of Park Commissioners to make sure that the petition is legally correct, and should draw up an order which the Council, if it is so disposed, might pass at to-day's meeting. As I understand it they are to adjourn over a month and the matter is believed to be a somewhat urgent one.

Yours very truly,
WILLIAM A. LEAHY, Secretary.

Ordered, That the Board of Park Commissioners be and hereby is authorized to sell, on such terms as said Board with the approval of the Mayor may deem proper, a parcel of land in the Brighton district, so called, bounded southerly by Commonwealth avenue and northeasterly by Chestnut Hill avenue, and containing as shown on the atlas about 66,672 square feet.

The matter was declared referred to the Committee on Public Lands.

Coun. CURLEY—Mr. President, I would move reconsidcration of that reference, and if reconsideration prevails, I shall then move reference to the Executive Committee.

Reconsideration prevailed, and on motion of Coun. CURLEY the matter was referred to the Executive Committee.

HIGH PRESSURE SERVICE.

President COLLINS called up No. 1, unfinished business, viz.:

1. Ordered, That the sum of one hundred and fifty thousand dollars be and hereby is appropriated to be expended under the direction of the Commissioner of Public Works for the construction of a high pressure fire service in the City of Boston, in accordance with the provisions of chapter 312 of the Acts of 1911, and that to meet the said appropriation the City Treasurer be hereby authorized to issue, from time to time, on the request of the Mayor, bonds of the City of Boston to said amount for said purpose.

The order was given its final reading and passed, yeas 8, nays 0.

MINORS' LICENSES.

President COLLINS submitted applications of six newsboys for minors' licenses—recommending that the same be granted.

Licenses were granted on the usual conditions.

FEES FOR VAULTS AND PROJECTIONS.

Coun. KENNY—Mr. President, on the first of May, 1911, the Mayor submitted to the Council, to use his own words, "a draft of an order fixing the fees provided for in the charter for the storage and sale of gasolene, oil and other inflammable substances or explosive compounds," and also in respect to fees for——

President COLLINS—Does the Chair understand the gentleman to offer an ordinance?

Coun. KENNY—To make a motion, Mr. President.

President COLLINS—What is the gentleman's motion?

Coun. KENNY—I was going to make the motion, Mr. President, after completing my preamble.

President COLLINS—The Chair would state that there is no business before the Council unless a motion is made.

Coun. KENNY—I am making a motion.

President COLLINS—There is no motion.

Coun. KENNY—I am stating it now.

President COLLINS—Will the gentleman state his motion?

Coun. CURLEY—Mr. President, I submit a report of the Executive Committee.

Coun. KENNY—Mr. President, I move that the matter which is now pending before the Committee on Ordinances with respect to the determination of fees or charges for coal holes, vaults, bay windows and marquises be recalled from the files of the Committee on Ordinances, for the following reasons—and I was about to state those reasons for making a motion which I thought was entirely proper. On the 1st of May the Mayor submitted to the Council a draft of an ordinance with respect to the determination of these fees. That matter has been up before the committee from time to time; it has been the subject of one public hearing and of several conferences. The question has now arisen as to when this ordinance or proposed ordinance could become operative, and it seems to me, therefore, that the Council should take some action this afternoon. If the Council recalls the matter from the committee, I would then ask to have the proposed ordinance rejected, and I will then immediately resubmit it, to be referred over again to the proper committee. I simply do that in order to save any question as to the ordinance becoming effective within sixty days.

President COLLINS—The question is on Coun. Kenny's motion. The Chair wishes to state that no business is before the house unless a motion is made or an order presented, and the Chair will not entertain remarks by a member who rises and talks without a motion being before the Council. The question is on Coun. Kenny's motion to have the ordinance referred to recalled from the Committee on Ordinances.

Coun. BUCKLEY—Mr. President, I have listened to the gentleman's argument, and it seems to me that out of courtesy to the Committee on Ordinances this matter should be considered in executive session, so that we may there act upon it without having it recalled from the committee. It does not seem to me exactly right to recall a thing from a committee when we could have a meeting of the committee and bave it considered there. Tben if the committee was in favor of rejecting the ordinance it could so report to the Council. I hope the gentleman's motion will not prevail.

Coun. KENNY—Mr. President, I am merely trying to straighten out this matter and prevent its becoming effective. I understand that this is the only method we can adopt having that end in view. I took the precaution of hringing it to the attention of the chairman of the committee, and I have his consent. He is quite agreeahle to my making the motion in the Council — which is done not with any idea of slighting the Council, but in order to prevent the ordinance from becoming operative at this time. I cannot see why, under the circumstances, there sbould be any objections to the motion.

President COLLINS—Tbe Chair would ask whetber there were recommendations attached to the ordinance suhmitted.

Coun. KENNY—Mr. President, tbe Mayor suhmitted a communication, which I bave already quoted, saying: "I beg to transmit a draft of an ordinance." As I say, that may not become effective, hut in order to save any question I think we ought to take the action I suggest.

President COLLINS—If any question is raised on that point, I will rule tbat it does not become effective under that communication.

Coun. CURLEY—Mr. President, I would ask if the original recommendation of the adoption of the ordinance came from the Mayor.

Coun. KENNY—Mr. President, I so understood, under date of May 1, 1911.

Coun. CURLEY—Mr. President, I should like to ask the City Clerk, through you, if that is his understanding.

By direction of the President, the assistant City Clerk read the communication transmitting tbe ordinance referred to, as follows:

City of Boston,
Office of tbe Mayor, May 1, 1911.

To tbe City Council:

I heg to transmit a draft of an order fixing the fees provided for in the charter for the storage and sale of gasolene, oil and other inflammahle substances or explosive compounds, and for the construction and use of hay windows, marquises, vaults and coal hole openings. This draft has been prepared after careful consideration hy the Board of Street Commissioners and its form bas been approved by the Corporation Counsel.

Respectfully,
JOHN F. FITZGERALD, Mayor."

Coun. CURLEY—Mr. President, as that is read by the Clerk, I should say that was simply a message of transmittal and not an order to the City Council. I should like to ask if there is any order in connection with it.

President COLLINS—Tbere is an ordinance, but no recommendation.

Coun. CURLEY—There is no recommendation in reference to its adoption?

President COLLINS—The Chair rules there is no recommendation witb this instrument.

Coun. McDONALD—But the Mayor sent here the same kind of recommendation in connection witb the proposed consolidation ordinance that he withdrew. He asked the Corporation Counsel whetber it became operative or not within sixty days, and was told that there was a question about it, and he said, in order to satisfy himself and not get into the same kind of tangle we got into before, be would withdraw the consolidation ordinance and resubmit it. Mr. Kenny and I bave looked over that hay window and marquise ordinance, and we think it is the same kind of recommendation as in the case of the consolidation ordinance. In order not to bave it become a law and have us get into the same kind of tangle, Mr. Kenny agreed to have it killed here and then resuhmit that same ordinance to-day and let it run sixty days. Tbe Mayor will be back then, and tbat will solve the prohlem.

Coun. Kenny's motion to recall the ordinance referred to from the Committee on Ordinances prevailed.

Coun. KENNY—Mr. President, I now desire to ask the Council to reject that ordinance, and thereupon I shall resubmit the ordinance.

Coun. Kenny's motion to reject tbe ordinance was carried.

Coun. KENNY—Mr. President, I now desire to submit and place before the Council that same ordinance wbich the Clerk has in respect to this matter.

President COLLINS—The Cbair rules tbat this ordinance bas not been redrafted, and that there must be a new draft placed before the Council.

Coun. KENNY—Very well, Mr. President; I think that is all rigbt. Tbere is no barm done, as it has been rejected. At the next meeting we can submit a new draft, which I will do. I desire it understood at this time that I do not necessarily favor tbe ordinance, but in order to save the Mayor's rights and the rights of the Council in the matter, I make that suggestion. I will resuhmit, without prejudice to my own position in the matter, another draft of the same ordinance.

Coun. CURLEY—Mr. President, I desire, tbrough you, to make a parliamentary inquiry of the chairman of the Committee on Ordinances. I would like to ask when it is proposed to have a meeting of that committee to consider the amendment of the ordinance with reference to the height of firemen.

Coun. McDONALD—Mr. President, we bad a meeting the other day and had the commissioner here, hut did not have memhers enough present to act upon the matter. I notified everybody to be bere, and hecause of tbe summer weatber I did not call another meeting. We had a meeting the other day and were going to take up the height of firemen, the curfew ordinance, and this other ordinance, but we had just barely a quorum—and wben we got through we did not have a quorum and had to adjourn.

Coun. CURLEY—Mr. President, through you I should like to ask Coun. McDonald if it would be possible to bave a meeting of the Committee on Ordinances between now and the time to wbicb the Board proposes to adjourn?

Coun. McDONALD—If it is possible I will call a meeting between now and then.

EXECUTIVE COMMITTEE REPORTS.

Coun. CURLEY, for tbe Executive Committee, submitted the following:

(1) Report on petition of Boston Elevated Railway Company (referred June 26) for temporary location at corner Dover and Wasbington streets—recommending tbe passage of the following:

Ordered, Tbat the proposed location by the Boston Elevated Railway Company for a temporary elevated station at Wasbington and Dover streets, Boston, as shown on Plan No. 28207, filed with City Clerk, he and the same is hereby approved, so far as it is upon public ways or places.

Report accepted; order passed.

(2) Report on order (referred June 26) that the salary of the male assistant prohation officer of the Municipal Court of tbe Roxbury district, determined by the justice of said court, at the rate of $1,800 per annum, to begin April 20, 1911, he and the same is hereby approved—that the order ought to pass.

President COLLINS—The question is on tbe acceptance of the report and the passage of tbe order.

Coun. BUCKLEY—Mr. President, wouldn't it he possible to divide that question—to accept thc committee's report first and then put the question on the passage of tbe order?

President COLLINS—Yes.

The report was accepted and the question came on the passage of the order.

Coun. BUCKLEY—Mr. President, I move an amendment to the order, making the salary $1,500 instead of $1,800, and I do so for this reason. As a rule I do not oppose a person getting all he can for himself, hut here is a new man who is employed by the county in the Roxhury Court, and who starts in with a salary of $1,800, while the probation officers in all the other district courts in Boston get $1,500. He is only an assistant prohation officer.

Coun. HALE—Mr. President, I rise to a point of order. I do not helieve that the amendment offered by Mr. Buckley is legal. I helieve that the Council may either accept or reject the recommendation of the judge, hut may not amend it. I may not be rigbt on that, but I would like a ruling of the Chair.

President COLLINS—The Chair rules that this is a communication bearing upon the approval or disapproval of an order of the judge of the Roxbury District Court. It can be approved or disapproved, but it cannot he amended, and tbe Chair rules the point of order well taken.

Coun. BUCKLEY—Mr. President, of course under those circumstances I withdraw my amendment, but I ask the Council as things stand not to approve the order, It is not right that an assistant probation officer should start in at the rate of $1,800 a year, when the probation officers in all the other district courts of Boston get only $1,500 a year. They have also only one woman assistant, and in proportion to the number of employees in the court they do as much work if not more than is done in the Roxbury District Court. The claim will he made that this man gave up a position on the police force of the city, hut on the police force he got only $1,200 a year and worked just as long hours, and his work was more dangerous than it is at the present time. The $300 increase is to my mind a good, large sum for this man. There is already in this court an assistant prohation officer who has heen there two or three years and that man is getting only $1,500 a year, and why should a new man who is strange to the duties of a probation officer get $1,800 a year? I don't think it is right. If you pass this order here to-day you will have the prohation officers in here from every district court in Boston asking for an increase in their wages. I am favorahle to increases in wages, hut I do not helieve in starting a man in at the highest rate of wages he can possihly get. I suppose because this is $1,800 you might call it a salary, and not wages. At the same time I do not believe we are acting rightly in passing this order to-day, and I hope it will he rejected. It seems to me that $1,500 is ample. Over in Charlestown, where they do a very hig business, a man who has been there for years, who comes early every morning and on Sundays in order to place men on probation, and who also attends to the juveniles, is not being treated anything like as well, accordingly, as it is proposed to treat this man. In Roxhury there is an officer who gets $2,000 a year, a probation officer who gets $1,500 a year, and a woman. When it comes to work, as much work is being done in some of the other district courts of Boston. They compare the Roxhury Court with the Central Court. That is not right. People are hrought into the Central Court from all over the State, while in the Roxhury Court they get people practically only from Roxbury and Brookline. I suppose they think, however, because they take Brookline people that this man ought to have a larger salary. I hope the Council will reject the order, and I for one will vote against it. The amount is larger, in my opinion, than a man starting in ought to get. He got only $1,200 a year as a policeman, and I believe $1,800 a year is more than he is worth as a new man in this position.

Coun. SMITH—I quite agree with Coun. Buckley in hoping that the Council will reject the recommendation of the committee for this reason. I have always stood for standardization of salaries and wages throughout the city employ. Here we are introducing the principle of not having a standard wage even in the same department. None of these district courts pay at the beginning such a salary as it is proposed to give this man under the order, and it seems to me that we are opening the doors for requests for increases of salaries throughout the district courts. I anticipate that there will be request after request for increases of salaries, even in this same court, if we grant $1,800 to this man, and that the standard of wages will he thrown out of gear hy granting an increase of wages as large as this at the beginning of a man's service. It seems to me we should, in view of the fact that we have no standard wage or prohation officers in the district courts, start a man in where others have heen started, at a lower salary than the order calls for. I should like to see a standard wage not only in this department but for similar work in other departments. I think the city is not doing the right thing by the laboring man. If in one department it pays a certain wage for certain work and in another department a higher or lower wage for the same work, and if by such action as is proposed we are setting up different standards in the same department, there will be request after request coming in for increases throughout the courts.

Coun. HALE—Mr. President I agree with Coun. Smith in regard to the importance of having standardization of wages, but I think that is really just what we are now doing. The judge has said—and I think he gave a pretty good argument for it—that he thought a juvenile probation officer should get $2,000. He said that because the officer in the municipal court of Boston has only $1,800, at the present time it would be foolish to try to raise the salary higher than $1,800, but I think we should, hearing in mind the number of cases in the Roxbury Court, place the salary of this officer at $1,800. Then if another court comes in,—for instance, like the Charlestown Court,—I think we should determine the salary of the officer on the same hasis, the number of cases handled. If that particular probation officer handles less prohation cases than the man to whom it is now proposed to give $1,800 he should receive a smaller salary; if he handles more prohation cases, he should receive a larger salary. I think we are perfectly safe in saying that $1,800 is little enough, hecause the judges all said that the standard should be $2,000 for a probation officer working full time with as many cases as they have at Roxhury. For that reason I am in favor of this order. I think the talk ahout another man in this particular court having less pay is really more or less heside the point. In the first place, it is admitted by the judge that the other man is underpaid, and I think the judge convinced most of us that that other man should have $1,700 and not $1,500; and unless some new facts develop I should he perfectly willing to vote an increase for that man whenever the matter comes up. But the mere fact that one man is underpaid, and admittedly underpaid, is, it seems to me, no reason why we should underpay this new man. I am, therefore, ready to vote for this order now.

Coun. BUCKLEY—Mr. President, in my argument I did not claim that any man was underpaid, and I don't claim so now. I don't claim that the juvenile man in the Roxbury Court is underpaid. I said he had been there two or three years and that he was getting only $1,500, and it seemed to me the new man coming in should be satisfied to work for $1,500. They don't have such long hours. They get out in the morning and have the afternoons of their own. There are plenty of good, clean, clever, conscientious men who would make good probation officers, and who would he perfectly willing to work for even $1,200 a year, and it seems to me that $1,800 is too high.

Coun. SMITH—Mr. President, I listen with a good deal of interest to Coun. Hale's remarks ahout standardization. It seems to me that that is an excellent idea. But we have not had suhmitted to us any facts or figures in regard to the numher of prohation cases taken care of by this new officer of the Roxhury Court in comparison with others. If they want to show us that one officer is getting $1,700 and takes care of a certain numher of prohation cases, and that this man takes care of the same numher of cases and that he should, therefore, get $1,700, the amount that other officers in other district courts doing the same amount of work get that might have some bearing upon the matter. But until we get some facts, we should go slowly. We should not create false standards and only make trouhle in the other courts. It is useless to compare a district court with the central court If they suhmit to us proof that the men in the other district courts handle a less number of cases than this man will handle, that is a reason for giving this man more; hut until they do so, it seems to me we may he putting out of gear the other men's salaries.

Coun. KENNY—Mr. President, I would say to my friend on the left that this condition of affairs does exist—that the business of this court ranks next to that of the central court, the court doing the largest husiness of any of the suhurban or districts courts. We have had the judge of that court before us this afternoon and he has given us his opinion, and certainly he is the man who occupies a position which gives him the hest idea in regard to the necessity for this action. He tells us that this officer is called into service at five o'clock in the morning and frequently works until nine or ten at night. Two wrongs do not make a right, and if the other officer connected with the court is underpaid, let his case he investigated. It seems to me, inasmuch as we called the judge in here and kept him in here an hour and a half this afternoon and got that as a result of his hest judgment, he being the one who has the oversight and charge of this man and who knows what his duties are, and inasmuch as he considers that $1,500 is proper pay for the position, we are justified in adopting his recommendation. Therefore, I feel justified in voting for the order.

Coun. BUCKLEY—Mr. President, I move that further consideration of this matter be postponed until the next meeting, until we can get information from the other district courts in Boston, so that we may arrive at a standard.

Coun. Buckley's motion to assign to the next meeting was declared carried. Coun. BAL-

LANTYNE doubted the vote and asked for the yeas and nays.

The motion to assign was lost, yeas 3, nays 5.

Yeas—Coun. Buckley, Collins, Smith—3.

Nays—Coun. Ballantyne, Curley, Hale, Kenny, McDonald—5.

The question came on the passage of the order.

Coun. SMITH—Mr. President, I would like to ask—as this motion seems on the point of going through, if any of the gentlemen voting in favor of it know exactly how many probation cases are being taken care of by the probation officers in the other courts getting $1,700 a year? Mr. Kenny intimated that he had the facts and figures on the subject and that he was voting according to the facts and figures. I should like to ask him to furnish the Council with that information.

Coun. CURLEY—Mr. President, I would say for the benefit of Coun. Smith that all that information was contained in the brief submitted by the judge.

Coun. HALE—Mr. President, I would say that I don't think the inquiry by Coun. Smith has anything to do with the issue at all. We have had an expert, a trained man, who has followed this matter and who knows what this man does, come in and say to us that he is worth $2,000. I am perfectly willing to take my stand to-day, that if we grant him $1,800 we can figure out the number of cases that that man is getting and that other probation officers in different parts of the city get, and, according to whether the number is more or less, there can be a standardization. I take this position, based on what has been stated to us by an expert, the judge, that a man doing this kind of work is worth $1,800; and if a $1,700 man in Charlestown comes in and shows that he is doing the same amount of work I believe his pay should be raised to $1,800.

Coun. BUCKLEY—He is getting only $1,500.

Coun. HALE—Well, if he does the same amount of work his pay should be raised to $1,800.

Coun. KENNY—Mr. President, I respectfully commend to my friend on the left (Coun. Smith) the memorandum or brief submitted this afternoon by the judges. If the gentleman had devoted some time to the examination of the paper perhaps he would not have detained the Council as he has by asking questions. I would also state that the business of this court is the largest of any of the district courts, ranking next to the central court of Boston.

Coun. BALLANTYNE—Mr. President, I move that the vote be taken by roll call.

Coun. BUCKLEY—Mr. President, I have not had an opportunity, getting in late, to examine that paper, and I believe, from the short time the committee considered the matter, that very few of the members really know what it contains. But as Coun. Kenny knows offhand what that brief contains, I would like to ask him, through you, to give us the information so that we may understand the matter.

Coun KENNY—Mr. President, the gentleman had the same opportunity of coming before the committee and giving proper attention to the matters presented to the committee that I had. I left my office this afternoon and came here at some personal inconvenience. It was his duty to be here and get that information, and I decline to furnish the information to him. He can get it by reading the paper.

Coun. BUCKLEY—Mr. President, I don't quite like the way the gentleman from South Boston talks about inattention to committee business. I would like to tell him that I am here at committee meetings just as often as he is, and that I pay just as much attention to city business as does the gentleman from South Boston.

The order was passed, yeas 6, nays 2, Coun. Buckley and Smith voting nay.

Coun. BALLANTYNE moved a reconsideration of the vote, hoping it would not prevail; lost.

(3) Reports on message of Mayor and communications (referred June 26) relative to probation officer at Municipal Court of the Roxbury district—that the same be placed on file.

Report accepted; said message and communication placed on file.

(4) Report on message of Mayor, communications and order to transfer the sum of $13,000 from the appropriation for Reserve Fund to an appropriation for Extended Use of School Buildings, to be expended under the control of the Superintendent of Public Buildings—that the order ought not to pass, and that the Corporation Counsel's opinion be printed with report.

The Corporation Counsel's opinion is as follows:

City of Boston,
Law Department, June 27, 1911.

To the City Council of Boston:

Gentlemen,—There has been referred to me for my opinion as to its legality the following order:

"Ordered, That in accordance with the provisions of chapter 261 of the Acts of 1893 the City Auditor be and hereby is authorized, with the approval of the Mayor, to transfer the sum of thirteen thousand dollars ($13,000) from the appropriation for Reserve Fund to an appropriation for Extended Use of School Buildings, to be expended under the control of the Superintendent of Public Buildings."

In my opinion the City Council has no right under the statutes to make an appropriation of this kind, and if the transfer was made the money could not be expended for the purposes indicated in sundry papers which accompany the Mayor's recommendation.

The city has no power under the statutes to expend the money of the taxpayers for purposes not authorized by law. The only authority for towns or cities to expend money for such purposes would be that the expenditures were made for school purposes.

Since 1898 the City Council of Boston has had no authority to appropriate money for school purposes, and in the phrase "school purposes" is included by statute the care, custody and control of buildings used by the public schools, the compensation of janitors, the fixing of their compensation and duties.

In 1898 the School Committee were given the sole authority to appropriate money for school purposes. Chapter 388 of the Acts of 1909 provides that the School Committee of the City of Boston in each year may make such appropriations by items for the support of the public schools as it deems necessary. The total amount to be thus appropriated for the public schools of the city and their support in addition to the money which may be given therefor, the income collected, the balance of appropriations of years preceding such year, and the money which may be authorized by acts of the General Court, shall not exceed for the financial year ending on the thirty-first day of January in the year 1911, $3.60 upon each one thousand dollars of the valuation on which the appropriations of the City Council are based. This act and an amendment thereto provides what proportion of this $3.60 shall be appropriated solely for new school buildings, lands, yards and furnishings and for repairs and alterations of school buildings.

I am informed that the total amount which can be thus appropriated for the public schools of this city and their support, including the care, custody, etc., of school buildings, has been appropriated by the School Committee. If so, no more money can be expended until the Legislature changes this limit.

In carrying out the idea of preventing the City Council or any officer of the city except the Schoolhouse Commissioners and the representatives of the School Committee from having anything to do with the schools or school buildings, sundry statutes have been passed, and the charter amendments of 1909 were framed in accordance with the statutes and this idea.

Section 2 of chapter 486 of the Acts of 1909 contains the following: "The Mayor from time to time may make to the City Council in the form of an ordinance or loan order filed with the city clerk such recommendations other than for school purposes as he may deem to be for the welfare of the city."

Section 3 says: "All appropriations other than for school purposes to be met from taxes, revenue or any source other than loans shall originate with the mayor, who within thirty days after the beginning of the fiscal year shall submit to the City Council the annual budget of the current expenses of the city and county, and may submit thereafter supplementary budgets until such time as the tax rate for the year shall have been fixed."

Before the city charter amendments it was provided that the City Council should have authority to make appropriations of all public moneys except for the support of the public schools.

I am unable to say how the laudable object of the petitioners in the papers accompanying the recommendation of the Mayor can be carried out unless the Legislature gives authority to the City Council to appropriate money for this purpose or the School Committee makes an appropriation for the purpose either from the appropriation for school purposes or else from money contributed by persons desirous of accomplishing the objects set forth in the petition.

Another legal objection is that as under the statutes the School Committee has the care, custody and control of the school buildings, the appointment of the janitors and the fixing of their duties and compensation, the Superintendent of Public Buildings would have no more right than any other citizen to enter the school buildings, increase the compensation of the janitors and their duties or direct them when to open and close the schoolhouses during the summer.

Yours truly,
THOMAS M. BABSON,
Corporation Counsel.

Laid on the table on motion of Coun. Hale.

PROVIDENCE STREET RESTRICTIONS.

On motion of Coun. CURLEY the Council took up special assignment of order for removal of Providence street restrictions, and the order was given its first reading and passage, yeas 7, nays 1, Coun. Buckley voting nay.

THE NEXT MEETING.

Coun. KENNY—Mr. President, I move that when the Council adjourns it be to meet again at three o'clock on Friday, July 7.

Coun. CURLEY—Mr. President, I assume that the meeting a week from Friday will probably be the last meeting for about five or six weeks, and if such is the case, I would move to amend that we meet at two o'clock. There will probably be a good many matters to clean up and it may take up until a late hour. I move that as an amendment.

Coun. KENNY accepted the amendment, and it was voted that when the Council adjourned it be to meet on Friday, July 7, at two o'clock p. m.

Coun. CURLEY—Mr. President, I move that the Board now take a recess subject to the call of the Chair.

Coun. BUCKLEY—Is there any reason why we should not adjourn now, Mr. President?

President COLLINS—The Chair will state that there are several matters before the Executive Committee, but the Chair waits the pleasure of the Council. If the Council desires to go into those matters this afternoon, well and good; if not, the Chair is entirely content. The Chair is content to do as the Council sees fit.

Coun. HALE—Mr. President, I move as a substitute motion that the Board adjourn. We originally asked Mr. Sullivan to be here at four o'clock, and it was then changed to quarter past five. We have now kept him waiting for an hour and five minutes.

President COLLINS—The Chair would state that the gentleman is out of order; that the motion is not debatable.

Coun. HALE withdrew his motion to enable Coun. Ballantyne to move a general reconsideration.

GENERAL RECONSIDERATION.

Coun. BALLANTYNE moved a general reconsideration on all business transacted at the meeting, hoping that the same would not prevail.

Coun. CURLEY—Mr. President, several matters have been referred to the Executive Committee, of which some disposition might be made speedily, and we could then be prepared to act upon those matters at the next meeting of the Council. There are two or three matters in the Executive Committee that could be disposed of in five minutes. I therefore move that we take a recess subject to the call of the Chair.

Coun. Ballantyne's motion was declared lost.

Adjourned, on motion of Coun. HALE, at 6.25 p. m., to meet Friday, July 7, at 2 p. m.

CITY OF BOSTON.

Proceedings of City Council.

The Council voted, on motion of Coun. BALLANTYNE, to dispense with the reading of the records of the last meeting.

I transmit herewith a copy of an application signed by Benjamin F. Drown, a clerk in the Water Service of the Sewer and Water Division of the Department of Public Works, who is a veteran of the Civil War, to be retired under the provisions of chapter 113 of the Acts of 1911. His application has been approved in the regular form by the Commissioner of Public Works and by myself as Acting Mayor. Referred to the Executive Committee.

RETIREMENT OF JAMES M. PAGE.

The following was received:

City of Boston,
Office of the Mayor, July 5, 1911.

To the City Council:

I transmit herewith a copy of an application signed by James M. Page, an inspector in the Water Service of the Sewer and Water Division of the Department of Public Works, who is a veteran of the Civil War, to be retired under the provisions of chapter 113 of the Acts of 1911. This application has been approved in the regular form by the Commissioner of Public Works and by his Honor Mayor Fitzgerald, and in accordance with its terms I have drafted the accompanying order appropriating the necessary amount for the payment of the pension and charging it to the Reserve Fund.

Respectfully,
WALTER L. COLLINS, Acting Mayor.

Ordered, That a sum sufficient to provide a pension under the authority of chapter 113 of the Acts of 1911 to James M. Page, an inspector in the Water Service of the Sewer and Water Division of the Department of Public Works, dating from July 1, 1911, be and hereby is appropriated, and that the said appropriation be charged to the Reserve Fund.

Referred to the Executive Committee.

SEA WALL, ETC., MYSTIC PLAYGROUND.

The following was received:

City of Boston,
Office of the Mayor, July 6, 1911.

To the City Council:

The accompanying letter from the chairman of the Board of Park Commissioners sets forth the urgent need of raising the sea wall at Mystic Playground and constructing thereon a substantial iron picket fence, and records the fact, which various members of the City Council can confirm from their personal knowledge, that Mayor Fitzgerald verbally approved of an appropriation of two thousand dollars ($2,000) for this purpose. A more careful computation has raised the estimate to four thousand dollars ($4,000). As the situation is unquestionably dangerous to the children who use the playground, and the matter is therefore one that does not permit of delay, I beg to recommend the passage of the accompanying order, transferring the sum of four thousand dollars ($4,000) from the appropriation for Reserve Fund to an appropriation for Mystic Playground, Sea Wall and Fence.

Respectfully,
WALTER L. COLLINS, Acting Mayor.

City of Boston,
Board of Commissioners of the
Department of Parks,
June 28, 1911.

Hon. Walter L. Collins,
Acting Mayor of Boston:

Dear Sir,—I would call your attention to an important omission in the appropriations made on Monday by the City Council, that of $2,000 for the raising of the sea wall at Mystic Playground, on which, too, a substantial iron picket fence should be constructed. The situation is very dangerous to the many children who use the playground.

Our engineer estimated the raising of the wall at the above figure—$2,000—but I think that, including the fence, the cost will approximate $4,000, and would ask for that sum for the purpose set forth. Mayor Fitzgerald, while reading over the items in his office before the Finance Committee of the City Council, verbally approved of the appropriation of $2,000.

Yours respectfully,
ROBERT S. PEABODY, Chairman.

Ordered, That the City Auditor be and hereby is authorized to transfer the sum of four thousand dollars ($4,000) from the appropriation for Reserve Fund to an appropriation to be expended by the Board of Park Commissioners for Mystic Playground, Sea Wall and Fence.

Referred to the Executive Committee.

COURTHOUSE, ETC., EAST BOSTON.

The following was received:

City of Boston,
Office of the Mayor, July 5, 1911.

To the City Council:

Under date of June 16 his Honor Mayor Fitzgerald transmitted a communication from the Superintendent of Public Buildings calling attention to the need of sixty thousand dollars ($60,000) additional for the purchase of a site and the erection of a new building for courthouse and police station in East Boston, and recommended the passage of an order appropriating this sum. As bearing upon this subject I transmit herewith a communication from the secretary of the School Committee, notifying me that the School Committee is willing to surrender the old East Boston High Schoolhouse for this purpose on the payment of forty thousand dollars ($40,000) as soon as satisfactory accommodations have been provided for the pupils now housed in that building. If this offer is accepted the price of the site will be approximately forty thousand dollars ($40,000), and it will then be possible, from the estimates of the cost of the building, to determine with some degree of exactness the appropriation required.

Respectfully,
WALTER L. COLLINS, Acting Mayor.

Boston School Committee.
Secretary's Office, June 28, 1911.

Hon. Walter L. Collins,
Acting Mayor of Boston:

Dear Sir—I respectfully notify you of the passage of the following order at the meeting of the School Committee held on Monday, June 26, 1911:

Ordered, That his Honor the Mayor be informed that upon provision being made, satisfactory to this Board, for the housing of the school children who would otherwise be accommodated in the old East Boston High Schoolhouse, this Board is willing to surrender said school estate on the payment of $40,000, but until other and satisfactory school accommodations shall be provided the surrender of said school estate cannot be entertained.

Very truly yours,
THORNTON D. APOLLONIO, Secretary.

Referred to the Committee on Finance.

COST OF EAST BOSTON COURTHOUSE.

The following was received:

City of Boston,
Office of the Mayor, July 7, 1911.

To the City Council:

Supplementing my earlier communication transmitting a statement of the price at which the School Committee would surrender the site of the old East Boston High School to the Public Buildings Department for the new courthouse and police station, I transmit herewith a letter from the Superintendent of Public Buildings giving an estimate of the cost of the building exclusive of the site. It would appear from these data that the total cost of the improvement will be about one hundred and sixty-five thousand dollars ($165,000) if the high school site is taken.

Respectfully,
WALTER L. COLLINS, Acting Mayor.

City of Boston,
Public Buildings Department,
July 7, 1911.

Hon. Walter L. Collins,
Acting Mayor of Boston:

Dear Sir,—For your information I wish to advise you that I estimate the cost of the new building in East Boston which is to be used as a courthouse and police station will be about $125,000, exclusive of the cost of the site for the said building.

An appropriation of $105,000 was made in 1909 for this purpose, and on the 16th of June I sent a communication to his Honor Mayor Fitzgerald stating that at least an additional appropriation of $60,000 would be required.

I inclose herewith a copy of the above mentioned communication.

Yours respectfully,
M. J. FISH,
Superintendent of Public Buildings.

Referred to the Committee on Finance.

COLLECTION OF GARBAGE, NORTH END.

The following was received:

City of Boston,
Office of the Mayor, July 7, 1911.

To the City Council:

In reply to an order of the City Council, passed at its meeting June 26, "that his Honor the Mayor be requested to furnish a report from the Sanitary Department as to whether the law is being enforced in the North End of the city in regard to the collection of garbage," I beg to transmit a letter from the Commissioner of Public Works, forwarding a report from the chief clerk of his department.

Respectfully,
WALTER L. COLLINS, Acting Mayor.

City of Boston,
Public Works Department,
City Hall, July 7, 1911.

Hon. Walter L. Collins,
Acting Mayor of Boston:

Dear Sir,—Re inclosed request of the City Council, kindly note inclosed report of the chief clerk of this department relative to the collection of garbage at the North End.

Respectfully,
L. K. ROURKE,
Commissioner of Public Works.

City of Boston,
Public Works Department,
City Hall, July 6, 1911.

Mr. Louis K. Rourke,
Commissioner of Public Works:

Dear Sir,— I return herewith order of the City Council requesting report as to whether the law is being enforced in the North End of the city in regard to the collection of garbage, and submit the following:

The ordinances of the city provide that the Department of Public Works "shall remove from yards and areas, when so placed as to be easily removed, all ashes accumulated from the burning of materials for heating habitations, cooking and other domestic purposes, house dirt, house offal and all noxious and refuse substances."

The ordinances do not provide the manner nor the time in which the refuse substances shall be removed. It would seem, and, as a matter of fact, it is, entirely a question to be determined by the Commissioner of Public Works.

If the barrels are placed out by the owners collections are made in some streets twice a week and in certain other streets three times a week. When the barrels have to be taken out by the department force, collections are made once a week.

Collections are made three times a week (Monday, Wednesday and Friday) from the following streets:

North, from Richmond to Commercial; North square, Moon, Sun Court, Garden Court; Prince, from Hanover to North square; Hanover, from Prince to the ferry; Fleet; Lewis, from North to Moon; Clark, Harris, Hanover avenue, Neary court, Murray alley, Salutation, Battery, and Commercial, from North to Hanover.

Collections are made twice a week in the section bounded by Commercial, from Hanover to Washington Street North; Washington Street North, from Commercial to Cross; Cross, from Washington Street North to Hanover, and all streets running north from Hanover street between Cross and Commercial.

Respectfully,
B. C. KELLEY, Chief Clerk.

A fee or charge of not less than two dollars nor more than fifty dollars shall be paid for each license or permit issued by the Board of Street Commissioners for the construction or use of a coal hole with chute attached and connecting with the basement of a building in and under the public ways, said coal holes to be used only for the reception of fuel.

Sect. 6. Fees or charges determined or fixed as aforesaid shall be payable on the issuance of the license or permit.

Coun. KENNY—I would like to say in connection with that order that I offer it in accordance with my expressed intention at last meeting.

Referred to the Committee on Ordinances.

BATHING AT ROXBURY RESERVOIR.

Coun. SMITH offered an order—That the Commissioner of Public Works be requested, through his Honor the Mayor, to submit to the Council at his earliest convenience an estimate of the cost of transforming the reservoir at Parker Hill, Roxbury, into a suitable bathing place, with necessary shelters, etc.

Passed.

ADDITION TO L STREET BATH.

Coun. CURLEY offered an order—That the Bath Trustees be requested, through his Honor the Mayor, to submit to the City Council at their carliest convenience an estimate of the cost of an additional strip of beach at L street, 500 feet in length and of suitable depth, with cost of suitable shelters on same, bathing trunks on proposed addition to be let for one cent per pair.

Coun. CURLEY—I would say that this order was suggested by a number of the patrons at L Street Bath who contend that certain individuals rather monopolize the privilege there and that the present charge for trunks there is so excessive as to make it burdensome and expensive to persons who can ill afford it. It was felt that if an additional strip of 500 feet were provided with a nominal charge sufficient to cover the wear and tear on trunks and laundry, a charge of 1 cent per pair, that it would be possible to accommodate all at L street in such a manner as to benefit every one who patronized that particular place.

Coun. KENNY—I have no objections to that order passing on the information we have, but don't want to have it understood that in the present form I should want to vote for that.

Coun. CURLEY—I don't feel that it is necessary to say anything. I feel that if Coun. Kenny had listened when the order was read originally he would have discovered that it simply asks the Bath Commissioners as to the advisability of extending the bath. It does not involve any expenditure or any action on the part of the Board other than submitting for the consideration of the Bath Trustees the matter of whether it is essential.

Coun. KENNY—I have no objection to the order, as I have already stated. I am quite in favor of enlarging facilities there if required. The feature that I didn't quite understand was the matter about the 1 cent for trunks. I should want to think that over.

President COLLINS—The question comes on passing the order.

The order was passed.

REMOVAL OF TREES.

Coun. CURLEY offered an order—That the Park Commissioners be requested to remove two trees situated on park land near estates No. 87, 89 Callender street, Dorchester.

Passed.

BATHING AT CARSON BEACH.

Coun. CURLEY offered an order—That the Bath Trustees be requested, through his Honor the Mayor, to cause Carson Beach to be kept open for the convenience of the public until ten o'clock p. m., on such nights as the tide will serve for bathing purposes.

Passed.

PLANTING OF SHADE TREES.

Coun. CURLEY offered an order—That the Committee on Ordinances be requested to draft an amendment to the ordinances providing that when a pole is removed from any public street 50 feet wide or over, outside the business district, that a shade tree be planted in said location by the Superintendent of Public Grounds.

Passed.

SIDEWALK, BUSHNELL STREET.

President COLLINS presented a petition signed by Charles W. Beal et al., residents of Bushnell street, asking that sidewalks be laid on said street.

In connection with the above petition the President offered an order—That the Commissioner of Public Works make a sidewalk along the westerly side of Bushnell street, between number 11 and Radford lane, Ward 24, in front of the estates bordering thereon, said sidewalk to be from 3 to 10 inches above the gutter adjoining, to be from 5 to 12 feet in width and to be built of artificial stone, under the provisions of chapter 437 of the Acts of 1893.

Passed.

HEARING ORDER RESCINDED.

Coun. McDONALD offered an order—That the order passed on June 26 authorizing the Committee on Ordinances to "give a public hearing on July 11, on the extension of building limits," etc., be and the same is hereby rescinded.

Passed.

BAND CONCERTS, MOODY'S CORNER.

Coun. McDONALD offered an order—That the Music Trustees be requested, through his Honor the Mayor, to give one or more band concerts during the present summer at Moody's Corner, Dorchester.

Passed.

VACATION FOR SPANISH WAR VETERANS.

Coun. McDONALD offered an order—That the officer or hoard in charge of any department he hereby authorized to grant a vacation, without loss of pay, to all employees of the city in said department who are veterans of the Spanish War, such vacation to be co-extensive with the annual encampment of 1911 of the Spanish War Veterans.

Passed.

HOSPITAL AMBULANCE, EAST BOSTON.

Coun. McDONALD offered an order—That the City Hospital Trustees be requested to inform the City Council, at as early a date as possihle, why the East Boston Relief Station is not equipped with an amhulance, and if the trustees did not agree some time ago to provide an automohile ambulance for said hospital.

Passed.

PAYMENTS TO BAR ASSOCIATION.

Coun. KENNY moved that No. 3 he taken from the tahle, viz.:

3. Preamhles concluding with the following:

Ordered, That a committee he appointed, with full power to summons and hring hefore it the County Treasurer and City Auditor, clerks of courts, judges, officers, attorneys and agents of the Bar Association of the City of Boston, and all persons connected with, referred to and concerned in the matters of each and every item in each and every claim and bill on file in the City Auditor's office which has been paid to the Bar Association of the City of Boston, its attorneys and agents since the year 1885 to the present time; and all court records, documents, writings, vouchers, and also all records of the Bar Association of the City of Boston, to ascertain how much of all the moneys so paid on the ahove hills have been unlawfully obtained and received by the Bar Association of the City of Boston, its attorneys or agents; and if any is found to have heen unlawfully obtained, or ill-gotten, then that the Law Department he instructed to institute legal process for the recovery of the same, and that the matter be further referred to the proper departments of justice for fit action.

Indefinitely postponed, on motion of Coun. KENNY.

USE OF SCHOOL BUILDINGS.

Coun. KENNY moved that No. 4 be taken from the tahle, viz.:

4. Report of Executive Committee, ought not to pass, on order to transfer $13,000 from the Reserve Fund to an appropriation for Extended Use of School Buildings, to he expended by the Superintendent of Puhlic Buildings.

President COLLINS—The question comes on accepting the report.

Coun. HALE—I move reconsideration of the vote just passed. I shall have to plead guilty to having been asleep, as to the consequence of this.

President COLLINS—The question comes on accepting the committee's report—ought not to pass—on No. 4 on the calendar.

Coun. SMITH—Mr. President, it seems to me that if we pass this order exactly as stated here it will prejudice the cause unnecessarily. I would like to amend hy inserting the words "without prejudice," hecause it seems to me this is a very worthy ohject, and while the Corporation Counsel has advised us that in its present form it is impossihle to pass it, nevertheless it seems to me we ought not to prejudice what I think we all agree is a good cause hy the mere form of the order.

Coun. HALE—I agree fully with what Coun. Smith says, and for that reason I got up hefore. I think, however, that the best way to deal with it would he to continue to leave it on the tahle until we have a chance to consider the matter next fall. Mr. Monroe of the 1915 movement called me up this morning and asked me to use my efforts to get it laid on the tahle so that they would have time to draw an order that would he legal. I think that even if we report it hack without prejudice it will hurt the cause, and I would like to go a step further than Coun. Smith, and move as a substitute motion that it be left on the table.

President COLLINS—The question comes on Coun. Hale's motion that it lay on the table.

The Chair heing in doubt as to the result of the vote called for a rising vote, whereupon it appeared that five voted in the affirmative and two in the negative, and the motion prevailed.

NEW BUILDINGS, ETC., CITY HOSPITAL.

Coun. CURLEY offered an order—That the sum of $297,800 be appropriated, to be expended hy the Trustees of the City Hospital for new huildings, changes and additions at the South Department, and that to meet said appropriation the City Treasurer be authorized to issue, from time to time, on the request of the Mayor, bonds or certificates of indebtedness of the city to said amount.

Referred to the Committee on Finance.

Coun. CURLEY—With relation to this particular order I feel that for the henefit of the Board the various communications that have heen received either hy the Mayor or by any committee of the City Council should hecome public property. There is a communication here dated Boston, Decemher 2, 1910, addressed to Hon. John F. Fitzgerald, Mayor of the City of Boston, as follows:

"Dear Sir,—At a meeting of the Board of Trustees to-day the matter of an appropriation for the construction of buildings on the ground lately purchased from the Robert Treat Paine estate was considered.

"The constant increase in the population of the City of Boston necessarily increases the numher of infectious diseases. During the past three years the city has suffered so much from these vexatious diseases that the South Department has heen overcrowded for a portion of each year. Its normal capacity is 250 patients, hut the stress has been so great that at times this number has heen increased to 400 to the detriment of the welfare of the patients. In addition to this the city has been obliged to board out a great many patients at the Haines Hospital and other institutions during the time mentioned, which is not only dctrimental to the puhlic health but adds materially to the expense of caring for the patients over the cost to the hospital management within its sphere."

Coun. KENNY—Mr. Chairman——

President COLLINS—For what purpose do you rise?

Coun. KENNY—I would like to ask the member a question.

President COLLINS—Will the gentleman yield?

Coun. CURLEY—No, Mr. Chairman.

Coun. CURLEY resumed the reading, as follows:

"It is therefóre of the utmost importance that adequate provision should he made for the treatment of this class of diseases, and to properly take care of all applicants ill with diphtheria, scarlet fever and measles.

"It is a source of satisfaction to the trustees that Boston was the first city to estahlish a separate hospital for infectious diseases. Your Honor may possihly rememher that ahout three years ago, during your former administration, an appeal was made to you for a measles pavilion. You generously and with a full appreciation of the importance of this ward recommended the necessary sum for its erection. This measles pavilion has accomplished a great deal of good and has filled a long-felt want, for until its erection there was no place to send a patient ill with measles."

Coun. KENNY—Mr. Chairman, I rise to a point of order. My point of order is that the records which the member is reading now have already appeared in the minutes of our meetings; they are a matter of puhlic record, and he is merely inflating the records at the expense of the city by reading them here this afternoon.

President COLLINS—The Chair would like to ask the councilor who is reading whether or not he is reading an exact copy of that which has been before the Council for some time past.

Coun. CURLEY—I would say that I presume it is an exact copy and I am acting within my rights in reading it.

President COLLINS—The Chair rules that the gentleman is within his rights in reading it on a question of reconsideration of reference. I understand the gentleman is reading it with regard to the question whether the reconsideration should prevail. The Chair rules the point of order is not well taken.

Coun. CURLEY—I would say that after I have completed it and after debate has suhsided it is then my purpose to move reconsideration, which is the only course I can pursue under the rules of the City Council, which provide that any order introduced shall he referred to a committee. I feel I am acting perfectly within my rights in continuing.

President COLLINS—The Chair will rule, unless the gentleman makes a motion, that the gentleman is not properly on the floor. The Chair will entertain a motion to reconsider the reference. Until that motion is made the Chair will have to rule the gentleman out of order.

Coun. CURLEY—Do I understand that where a matter is referred by the Chair that no debate is in order?

President COLLINS—Unless on motion to reconsider a reference.

Coun. CURLEY—Then I move reconsideration of the reference to the Committee on Finance.

President COLLINS—The question comes on Coun. Curley's motion.

Coun. CURLEY—Of course, I don't desire to take up too much of the time of the Board, hut I shall hegin this communication over again and begin at the beginning.

After re-reading the portion of the communication dated December 2, 1910, previously read, Coun. CURLEY continued the reading, as follows:

"The trustees feel, therefore, that your Honor as well as the honorahle City Council will recognize the importance of enlarging the accommodations at the South Department at the earliest possihle moment. After carefully considering the matter and going over several plans that have heen suhmitted for their inspection, the trustees most respectfully ask your Honor to recommend a loan appropriation of $297,800 for new buildings, changes and additions at the South Department, approximated as follows:

Changes in east pavilion	$6,000 00
Changes in west pavilion	6,000 00
Additional story to laundry huilding	14,800 00
New six-story ward building	196,000 00
Alterations to Paine huildings	33,000 00
Connecting corridors and pipes and tunnels	20,000 00
Yard wall	8,000 00
Contingent and administrative expenses	14,000 00
	$297,800 00

"The trustees, fully appreciating your Honor's great interest in the hospital and your co-operation for the welfare and alleviation of the sick, and especially for those unfortunately stricken with contagion, ask you kindly to recommend to the honorahle Council the appropriation of the abovementioned sum.

"I have the honor to remain, on behalf of the trustees,

Respectfully yours,
A. Shuman,
President Board of Trustees."

And the date of the receipt of that communication hy the City Council does not appear upon the communication. However, it was the property of the Mayor on December 2, 1910. The first communication recorded here is under date of June 9, 1911, addressed at the City Hospital to Hon. John F. Fitzgerald, Mayor of the City of Boston, and the City Council.

"Gentlemen,—On December 2, 1910, I addressed a communication to your Honor (of which the inclosed is a copy) setting forth the increasing need of greater accommodations for the South Department, and asking for an appropriation of $297,800 for new buildings, changes and additions, as itemized therein, to which I again respectfully refer. Since that time the demand for accommodations for the care of patients ill with infectious diseases has been constantly increasing, and we have reached a point where this department is practically filled to its utmost capacity, and further accommodations are immediately needed.

"If we compare foreign cities with Boston, we shall find that in London, in Glasgow and in continental cities there are accommodations for patients ill with infectious diseases, giving each patient 1,500 cubic feet of air space for nine out of every 10,000 of the population. In Boston there are accommodations for only three out of every 10,000 of the population. The importance of this air space cannot be overestimated. The numher of cases of cross infection is very much increased when a hospital is crowded. Aside from that, patients with limited space do not do as well as where they have an ahundant supply of air space. Additional accommodations are therefore greatly needed for the care of scarlet fever patients.

"Anyone familiar with the history of infectious diseases in Boston for the past fifteen years must be convinced of the wonderful amount of good accomplished by the South Department during that time. For example, the death rate at the Boston City Hospital previous to the days of antitoxin for cases of laryngeal diphtheria was about 85 per cent.

"In all cases of diphtheria the percentage of mortality from 1895 to 1909 has been 10.70, as compared with 43.20 before the opening of the South Department. In 1894 eighteen people out of every 10,000 in Boston died from diphtheria; in 1910, two and a fraction."

Now, Mr. Chairman, on that particular point I desire to lay stress. If it is possihle to reduce the number of deaths, as has been pointed out here, from eighteen, in 1894, to two and a fraction, then I feel that this is a matter that will not permit of delay; I feel it is a loan that should he acted on speedily by the City Council; I feel it is a loan of far greater importance than the loan recently authorized by an almost unanimous vote of this body, in favor of a three hundred thousand dollar purchase for lighting devices for the lamps of the city. I feel that was something that could very well have waited since it is in an experimental stage. This is not in an experimental stage; the city has spent a considerahle sum of money for the purchase of a site for these new hospital buildings; it is something that is necessary, something that is beneficial to the entire city and all the people of the city; and in addition to that it represents a considerahle loss to the city, the present system of treating the infectious cases. They are sent to the Haines Hospital, to the hospital at Brighton, maintained by the Homœopathic Society, to the hospital at Brookline,—and treatment there in those private hospitals represents a weekly cost of ahout eleven dollars, whereas it is possihle to treat them with equal success at the City Hospital at an average of six and one-half or seven dollars.

"It is well to hear in mind that the average ratio of mortality per 10,000 of the population in Boston from scarlet fever previous to the opening of the South Department was 2.87. The average ratio of mortality from 1895 to 1909, inclusive, was 1.61, a diminution of nearly one-half."

Now, then, if the City Hospital Trustees, who have accomplished such splendid results in the matter of the treatment of infectious diseases, have found it possihle with the small equipment they have there and their limited accommodations to reduce the mortality nearly 50 per cent in the treatment of infectious diseases, and it is their recommendation that we provide funds sufficient to permit of the erection of additional huildings, then I don't feel it is a matter that will permit of delay, and it is a matter that should be acted on immediately.

"If every patient who applied for treatment could have been promptly taken into the hospital, the ratio of mortality and ratio of morbidity would have heen very much reduced."

Mr. Chairman, that speaks volumes for this particular loan. I have some children myself and any member of this Council who has children will recognize the necessity for increased accommodations at those hospitals for children who may he afflicted with infectious diseases. It is a crying need, Mr. Chairman. Take a child that to-day becomes infected in his own home. He is put in an ambulance and carted over the road to a private hospital in Brookline. The lowest possible time within which he can receive treatment at that hospital from the North End or the West End, or even from the Roxhury section of the city, is ahout one hour to one hour and a half,—and in that case in nine cases out of ten it is a reasonahlc presumption that he will succumh to the disease, whereas if the accommodations are provided at the City Hospital it is possible to provide treatment in one third of the time, and in perhaps nine cases out of ten save the lives of the people so affected.

"In the new building at the South Department it is intended to have a roof garden, in order that the children may have the benefit of open-air treatment. It is also intended to have open-air wards in the buildings already erected, which is covered by the items referring to changes in the east and west pavilions."

Now, then, Mr. Chairman, just one word with relation to that roof garden. Any person who has an opportunity on a Sunday morning or holiday to pass by the South Department, and will take time to walk around the South Department buildings on Harrison avenue, Albany street, Massachusetts avenue or Northampton street, will come away with a very depressed feeling. The streets are filled with men and women, little girls and boys, looking eagerly towards the windows of the infectious wards of the South Department, looking eagerly for an opportunity to get a wave of the hand from a little son, or daughter, or brother, or sister, who is inside that building. I think it is one of the most pathetic sights to be witnessed in Boston at any time of the year. If that roof garden could be provided where the children who are convalescing could have an opportunity to breathe God's sunshine and air, and to wave the glad hand of welcome to a mother, father, sister or brother, on the streets, it would be worth more than the entire amount that we pay for the erection of these buildings. Every person with a spark of human feeling in him realizes how great the sorrow of a mother must be whose child is committed to one of those buildings where the mortality is extremely great, the desire of the mother to see that child, to wave a fond and feeling hand to the child, and to watch for a return from the child,—and the impossibility of gratifying that desire under present conditions. Now, then, Mr. Chairman,——

"The accommodations for laundry work at the South Department must be increased, and therefore an additional story must be added to the laundry building as the laundry, being of an infectious nature, must be done on the premises.

"The alterations to the Paine buildings, the connecting corridors, pipes and tunnels and the yard wall are all items that become necessary with the additional buildings and enlargements."

Now with relation to the Paine buildings, it is proposed that the Paine buildings be used as they are. Instead of destroying those buildings and tearing them down it is proposed to connect those buildings and use them as quarters for the nurses who may treat patients confined in the infectious department.

"A second and very important reason why additional buildings should be erected is the fact that the accommodations for nurses are inadequate. It is also important that there should be separate dining rooms for nurses who have the care of the different infectious diseases."

Now in this connection I want to say that during my short stay in the hospital, of six or eight or eleven weeks,— I don't remember exactly the time,—there was no time during that period that there were less than three nurses who were under treatment and no time that there were less than six orderlies under treatment for each week for infectious diseases or for poisoning of one kind or another, from tha handling of bandages or the treatment and care of patients. It is unfair to permit nurses who are treating adult patients at the City Hospital who are afflicted with pneumonia or broken limbs or anything of that kind, to come in contact with nurses who are treating children afflicted with infectious diseases. It is impossible under those conditions to prevent contagion. The only way contagion can be prevented is by segregation of those nurses.

"In foreign hospitals and in the new hospital just erected in Philadelphia these provisions have been made."

Mr. Chairman, the chief pride of the City of Boston is in her hospital institutions, and there is no reason why we should be behind a city that is considered the slowest city in the world, with perhaps the exception of Chelsea,—the city of Philadelphia. And we find that Philadelphia is ahead of Boston in this particular.

"The treatment of infectious diseases is not a charity, in the common acceptance of the word, but it is an element of public safety, and it is as much demanded by the public as a fire department or a police department."

Now, then, Mr. Chairman, if a recommendation came in from the Police Commissioner for an additional appropriation of $250,000 for the appointment of additional police officers, because of riots and insurrections, we would not hesitate one minute about appropriating and recommending that money; when the Fire Department asks for a loan for some particular purpose there is always a majority of the Council prepared to vote for it. And surely the protection of the health of the people who are well is just as necessary, and the preservation of the health of the persons who care for persons inflicted with infectious diseases.

"It is a disgrace to any municipality to have an epidemic of an infectious disease."

Yet we had an epidemic last year, Mr. Chairman, an epidemic of such size that it was an impossibility to accommodate half of the patients at the City Hospital. The Homœopathic Hospital at Brighton was filled, a private hospital at Brookline was filled, and little children with diphtheria and scarlet fever were sent to the old smallpox hospital on Southampton street for treatment because of lack of accommodations at the South Department. And the members of the committee say we should consider and not act hastily.

"Boston should be able to control any epidemic of the three principal infectious diseases—namely, diphtheria, scarlet fever and measles.

"Within the past two or three years the City of Boston has paid to other hospitals for the treatment of patients ill with infectious diseases about $33,000."

Thirty-three thousand dollars, Mr. Chairman, would represent somewhere in the neighborhood of the interest on $832,000. Now, Mr. Chairman, the total amount asked by the City Hospital is only $297,000, and if we could save half or a quarter of that $33,000 it would be a sum sufficient to pay the bonds of $297,000.

"The average price of board at these hospitals is about $10 a week, whereas at the South Department the past year, deducting money received from paying patients and from cities and towns, it has been $3.94."

Now, then, Mr. Chairman, if we can reduce more than half in addition to protecting the health of those who are well and protecting and preserving the health of the nurses who care for these children, and if we can then treat patients at less than half what it costs in private hospitals, at a little more than a third of what it costs in private hospitals, I don't feel there is any occasion that will warrant any member of this Council voting against immediate action on this loan.

"In conclusion, the trustees, realizing the great responsibilities that rest upon them and upon the city government, most earnestly call the attention of your Honor and the honorable City Council to the crying need of these new buildings, and urgently request the earliest consideration of this loan appropriation.

"I have the honor to remain, on behalf of the trustees,

Very respectfully yours,
A. SHUMAN,
President Board of Trustees."

Now, Mr. Chairman, accompanying this is another communication dated June 12, 1911, addressed to the City Council.

"In forwarding the accompanying communication from the president of the Board of Hospital Trustees, setting forth the urgent need of greater accommodations for the South Department, and asking for an appropriation of two hundred ninety-seven thousand eight hundred dollars ($297,800), I can add little to what was said in my letter of February 17, 1911. The purchase of the Paine property logically involves the erection of additional buildings upon it, and the plan outlined in the letter of the president of the Hospital Trustees is probably as satisfactory as any that could be made. I invite your earnest attention to this subject and believe that the question is one of the most important that are now before your honorable body.

Respectfully,
JOHN F. FITZGERALD, Mayor."

Mr. Chairman, I haven't any desire to be unfair with the members of the Board or any desire to take up the time of the Board unnecessarily. I feel that the argument that is contained in that document is sufficient to warrant action by this Board. The City Hospital Trustees are made up of the most reputable citizens in this community—Mr. A. Shuman and the men associated with him—Mr. Conrad J. Rueter, Dr. Keany, or the new members of the Board, Mr. Shillaber, the treasurer of the North End Savings Bank, or Mr. Manning, all reputable men of excellent standing in this community who serve on that Board, who give up their entire time without pay, who endeavor to administer that institution in such a manner as will reflect credit on their administration and be beneficial to the city. This is their recommendation. There is no pecuniary benefit that will result to them in the event of the adoption of their recommendation, and there is no injury that will result to them in the event of its rejection by the City Council. But, Mr. Chairman, there is a direct injury that will result to the community in the event of the rejection or in the event of the failure of the Board to take immediate action. We have money that is available; we are not in a bankrupt position. We pride ourselves on our city institutions and more particularly upon our hospital department than any other, with the possible exception of our schools and our park system. Now, then, Mr. Chairman, if that is the situation and if the facts contained in that communication are as they are presented by the trustees, then I can conceive of no reason that will justify delay upon this particular proposition. If there is a good reason, Mr. Chairman, I am agreeable to delay. But as one who has been in the institution, who has had an opportunity to witness the giving up by the trustees of their valuable time on Sundays and holidays to visiting of that institution—not by one of the trustees, but by every member of the Board of Trustees, I say that there is no reason why we should refrain from what I consider our duty on this proposition in voting this loan. And I sincerely trust, Mr. Chairman, that reconsideration will prevail. It was not my intention to press this matter this afternoon. I simply desired in the session of the Finance Committee that the matter should be considered, and that we should arrive at some definite decision as to when action should be taken. I believe the excuse is that the land is not available. The land is available. It has been purchased; the money has been paid for it. It is ready to put the buildings on at the present time; and any person who will give up the time to visit the City Hospital, or who has visited it during the past five days, will find that there is not accommodation for more than perhaps nine-tenths of the people who seek treatment at the City Hospital. And the City Hospital is an institution where no person should be turned away; we should have sufficient accommodation to provide for every person who is in need of treatment, and we should not be compelled, Mr. Chairman, to send children afflicted with measles, with scarlet fever, or with diphtheria, for treatment to a hospital that is intended for the treatment of smallpox only. Why, Mr. Chairman, is it possible by any stretch of the imagination for any man to picture to himself the anguish and the agony of a mother whose child has a case of measles or of diphtheria or of scarlet fever, and who sees that child sent to a smallpox hospital for treatment, subjected to the dangerous contagion of smallpox, while being treated for the less dangerous disease of scarlet fever or measles or diphtheria? Mr. Chairman, I sincerely trust that reconsideration will prevail—that we will by our action here this afternoon show that we have confidence in the City Hospital Trustees, and that we respect the needs of the city, that we have a high regard for this institution which, in my opinion, is the best of its kind in the entire United States, if not in the entire world.

Coun. HALE—Mr. President, I have been very much impressed by the reading of these letters. I am free to confess that I never read them before. I suppose it was negligence on my part not to have read them, but I had no idea that the need for this was so immediate. I shall not vote in favor of the loan to-day because this is the first time, as I say, that I have considered the matter, but I do want to make sure by some provision that possibly you, Mr. President, can suggest, that the matter is given immediate consideration by the Council. I know for one I could not go away for the summer with an easy conscience unless we had considered this matter and taken some action—either that it was not necessary or that Mr. Shuman was right and it was necessary. And I would like to ask you, Mr. President, if you can suggest some amendment or vote whereby we can be sure that the matter can be considered in the next week, considered thoroughly by the Council, and some action taken. I think the responsibility would be too heavy on us in going away without considering the matter. If you can suggest something I would like to make that motion.

President COLLINS—The Chair would suggest that if reconsideration of reference does not prevail the order will be before the Committee on Finance; in the event of the Committee on Finance not taking it up, as it undoubtedly will, if a majority of the members of the Council see fit to have that taken up, then of course another order may be introduced at a subsequent meeting of the Council and the City Council may do as it sees fit under the circumstances.

Coun. HALE—Can you tell me when the next meeting of the City Council is going to be?

President COLLINS—The Chair will advise the councilor that during the recess I hope there will be a short conference so that we may have a meeting sometime within the next week in order to clean up our business. If that is agreeable to a majority of the members of the Council it is agreeable to the President.

Coun. HALE—Would it be in order to present a motion requesting the Committee on Finance to report on this matter before or at the next meeting of the Council——

President COLLINS—The Chair will state that that is an unusual form of procedure which the Council does not usually take unless it is absolutely necessary, unless the chairman of the Committee on Finance, after a majority of the members of the Council requested him to hold a meeting, would not do so. If an amendment of that kind is introduced in this body, the Council ordering a committee to report, the committee consisting of all the members of the Council, it would be unusual and a departure from precedent.

Coun. HALE—Mr. President, you see the position in which I am placed, that there seems to be a tendency in the Committee on Finance not to discuss this particular item. I mean an attempt was made to-day to discuss this and to get this particular letter read, and it was not allowed to be read, and I feel that it is a tremendously important thing. I mean I don't think we ought to refuse to consider this matter. A man like Mr. Shuman, whom everybody knows and respects, when he writes letters like this, recommending this thing in these strong terms, I don't think we are doing our duty by not considering it. For that reason I think that we ought to have an order of that kind passed, which I should present after this vote is taken. I shall, Mr. President, vote in favor of reconsideration to-day, and if it prevails I shall move to have this matter referred to the Executive Committee which meets always when the Council meets.

Coun. KENNY—Mr. President, it seems, from his own confession, that the senior member from Ward 11 has been asleep. He has been asleep here this afternoon and has been asleep for months, apparently, as well. This matter has been before the Council for a long time. The distinguished member of Congress sitting here as a member of this Council as well spoke to me about it sometime ago, I think within a month, and I said to him that I thoroughly believed in any action of this Council that would serve to alleviate the conditions of the hospital, and that I intended as soon as the weather was more propitious to call a meeting of the Committee on Finance and go up to the hospital and look the ground over. The facts of the matter are that the hospital, although of course deserving of our great consideration, has had very great consideration. Perhaps no other department in the government has received as much consideration in the matter of providing funds as the Boston City Hospital,—which is all right, Mr. President; I agree that whatever money has been spent there has been spent wisely and judiciously. Now there are other matters, however, pending before the Committee on Finance which must receive consideration, and it is my intention as soon as the members are here in town and can get together to call them together. I shall regret, of course, the necessity of my friend going away without perhaps being able to give this the attention he would like to give it at the eleventh hour,—and there are other members going away. Nevertheless I shall not be in favor of taking it up right away, but I do say at the proper time, namely, when we are all here in town and the weather is propitious, I intend calling a meeting of the committee and going up there and making an examination. Last summer a lot of money was spent for the hospital. I think if I recall correctly, the latter part of July the Mayor called us together and recommended that we take a certain amount of money from the taxes, which we did. Here this afternoon my friend from Ward 17 was in favor of taking the money out of the Reserve Fund. That looked pretty good to me. I believe in using up the Reserve Fund on these permanent and important improvements. I think I said at a previous meeting we only have about so much money to spend in any event. I don't believe in increasing the taxes for permanent improvements unless there is some important reason for it. But where we have the money on hand I don't believe in borrowing money therefor. I shall be in favor of using up the Reserve Fund first for permanent improvements. I think it is good financing and good judgment.

Coun. HALE—Do I understand, then, that the Chairman of the Committee on Finance is not going to call a meeting of the Committee on Finance before we adjourn for the summer to consider this matter of the City Hospital?

Coun. KENNY—Before answering that question I would like to correct a statement that the member made a few minutes ago in his remarks, when he said that this afternoon he was unable to have read those papers that have been presented here by my friend from Ward 17. If there is any other member of the Council here aside from the senior member from Ward 11 who recalls that matter in that light, who recalls that an attempt was made to read letters that were not read, I would be glad to have him say so, because that is not my recollection of it. Now, answering his question, Mr. President, I would say this, that it is not my intention at present to call a meeting of the Committee on Finance. The ex-President of the Council is about to go to Europe. He sails next week, I think. He has been in attendance here at every committee meeting and at every meeting of this Board since I have been a member here. He is about to leave for Europe on a vacation which, I think, we all agree he is entitled to, so that it is not my intention, Mr. President, to call a meeting of that committee immediately.

Coun. CURLEY—The councilor asked if there was an attempt to shut off the reading of letters. Now I feel that he should not make a statement of that character. He knows that he declared the meeting adjourned when this question was called up; that it required some little persuasion to induce him to put a motion that was regularly made for a calling of the roll, and that when that motion was finally carried it was carried by a vote of five to three; that it was then asked that the communication he read, and that the communication was not read; a portion of the communication was read; that portion sent by his Honor the Mayor, signed by himself, this communication dealing with the proposition, was not read. Now, then, Mr. Chairman, I want to say this—that it is all very well to refer to the distinguished member from Ward 11 and the distinguished congressman from Ward 17, and it is all very well to refer to the fact that somebody has got to take a trip to Europe—but, Mr. Chairman, I don't feel that an order of this character is one that should be made an occasion for levity. It doesn't matter whether a man is a member of Congress or is a distinguished member of this Board from Ward 11. He is a member of this City Council, sent here to carry out the will and the wishes of the people of this city. Now, then, Mr. Chairman, it is all very well to make a joke out of this order, take it lightly, consider it a matter for levity, but it is not at all becoming. And I want to say further, Mr. Chairman, that I don't think the time has come in this City Council, or ever will come, where a Committee on Finance, supposed to consist of the entire Board, shall consist of one member alone, and that the wishes of one member shall be the wishes of the entire Board, regardless of their own ideas on any proposition. I want to say further, Mr. Chairman, that the councilor on my right has asked the question as to how this can be acted on speedily. If the members of this Board are really desirous of carrying out the wishes of the hospital trustees, which really are the wishes of the people of the entire city, who pay the taxes that make possible our salaries, who pay the taxes that make possible the conduct of this and every other institution, who are entitled to this measure of protection,—if reconsideration obtains to-day this order can take its first reading to-day and two weeks from to-day can become a law. There is no way in which it can be done in a different manner and in a shorter period. Now, then, Mr. Chairman, I have no desire to seek any vainglory in this matter. I talked it over with the chairman of the Committee on Finance two weeks ago and at the last meeting of the Board. I brought it up in the Committee on Finance to-day, brought it up with the members individually and asked them how they felt about the matter. If the city didn't have the money to borrow for this purpose then there would be some grounds for this position. I have here the figures submitted by the auditor. I assume they are correct. He says that the borrowing capacity of the city is $2,091,983.47. If that is correct there is certainly no reason why this money which is to be expended for such work as will be in the nature of a permanent public improvement should not come out of a loan. But assuming that those figures are not correct—which I assume from the snicker on the other side of the Chamber—there is certainly sufficient money to cover the cost of this proposed public improvement. Now if that money is there we owe it to the people of the City of Boston to provide it. There is no reason why infection should be general throughout the city; no reason why underpaid nurses at the City Hospital should be exposed to that infection. Take the women who serve as nurses there. The first six months they serve without salary; the next six months they receive five dollars a month, and the next year eight dollars a month—splendid salaries. I don't care to discuss some of the customs and practices that have been put in operation there to effect economies; but if I were to discuss them, Mr. Chairman, it would make every person connected with the city government of Boston ashamed that such economies were put in operation. I won't touch on them, but they should not be permitted. Now, Mr. Chairman, this is an opportunity to provide something that should be provided, to protect the people, provide protection for the people against infection, provide against infection of the nurses, provide protection of the orderlies against infection,—those self-sacrificing persons who go there and put in their time for wages that are a disgrace, and leave them exposed to all manner of infection. That is wrong. The city needs those buildings. There is a crying need for it, and I say it is a shame and an outrage if we don't vote this money to-day and make a start. If any of the statements contained in this communication from the trustees are not as they are set forth by the trustees, any member of this Board can, within the next two weeks, visit the hospital and find out. The chairman of the Committee on Finance says after we visit the institution and find out if there is a present need of this we can consider it. You can reconsider this order to-day; you can give this loan its first reading to-day; then investigate during the two weeks; and if you find it is not as set forth then I will vote with you against it.

Coun. KENNY—I would like to ask the member a question—if he was present at a meeting of the Committee on Finance at Long Island about six weeks ago when the question was brought up for the first time as to the necessity of borrowing money for the purpose of establishing another building on that island to take the place of the Charlestown Almshouse?

Coun. CURLEY—If I felt that that question were germane to the question under consideration I would feel compelled to answer it. I am astonished that the councilor should ask a question of that character. We are discussing this particular loan and the necessity for it. I have moved reconsideration. The facts have been submitted by the Mayor and the trustees and I feel the members should vote in favor of it.

Coun. KENNY—My object in bringing that up at this time and asking the question was to show the Council that it is very doubtful if the member who has been addressing the Council this afternoon has considered in any way the Long Island conditions.

Coun. CURLEY—Mr. Chairman, I believe that the proper and the best mode of procedure is to cross a bridge when you come to it. Now the bridge of Long Island is somewhat distant from us. I didn't go on that junket to Long Island. I assume that there is a need for a loan for Long Island to provide proper accommodations for those persons who will be compelled to vacate the quarters at Charlestown. I am prepared to vote in favor of a loan for that institution any time at all; and as the distinguished councilor has so often said, I am prepared at all times to vote in favor of a loan. I am, Mr. Chairman, when I feel it is merited.

Coun. KENNY—The member who has just taken his seat has saved me the necessity of making any further reply by his last statement.

Coun. SMITH—It is with a great deal of regret that I listen to this debate which I find bordering on personalities throughout. It seems to me the Council in past meetings has been altogether too prone to enter into personalities. It does not help the debate on the question in any way that I can see. I would like to explain the reason I am not going to vote for reconsideration on ths matter—simply because there are two other matters which I consider equally important and about which I know less: One, the almshouse at Long Island, requiring $250,000; and the other, the Consumptives' Hospital. Those two matters must be considered in connection with this loan, and I am not competent to form an opinion about which one I should vote for or whether I should vote for all of them. I will say that I have given a good deal of attention to the addition to the hospital. I have had two conversations with Mr. Shillaber, and arranged at the last meeting to have Doctor McCollom here to state his case, but the Council would not take up the matter, and Doctor McCollom was not called upon. I brought up the question with Mr. Shillaber, whom I consider one of our most valued citizens; I took up the question whether the hospital could get along with $150,000 and have half the infectious ward built they now plan to have built, with an end to be added on as the city had funds. He considered that might be done and returned to the hospital saying he would try to get up plans and consult architects and find out whether that could be done. And it seems to me under our present financial burden perhaps that would be the best policy. I must consider in my personal vote which one of the three I shall favor, or whether I shall vote for all three; and also whether we have borrowing capacity sufficient to enable us to handle all three or even one of them. I consider the figures alluded to to-day as only superficial because there are a number of loans which are imperative and must be dealt with. And in figuring those up I found we had somewhere in the neighborhood of $200,000 leeway—perhaps less than that—which would not permit of this one improvement being made. I simply wished to state my personal reason for voting against reconsideration. I have not considered various matters that I consider necessary or whether they can be built out of the loans we now have before us. It seems to me everything that has been said as to the merit of this addition to the hospital is justified, but it is simply a question of degree and policy.

Coun. HALE—I agree with Coun. Smith fully about the advisability of considering loans together; in fact, I have urged that from the beginning of the year and all through last year; and if orders are put in for those other two I am perfectly willing to include those so that we can consider them. The reason I think this is more important than the almshouse. which I have considered somewhat, is due to the very effective statement made by the councilor from Ward 17, who said he thought that would not be needed this year; that had great influence with me; so I don't think that matter is so pressing as this. I think possibly the Consumptives' Hospital is, and if Coun. Smith put in a loan order for the amount required I would be glad to include that in my motion for reconsideration. As to the other objection Coun. Smith made, I also agree fully with the principles expressed by him, but I do not see their applicability here,—namely, the question whether the city has the necessary amount of money. As I stated before, I am going to vote in favor of reconsideration; I am not going to vote in favor of passing this loan order to-day because, as Coun. Smith says, I think we should consider the matter. But I don't think we should postpone it, and that will will be the result of not voting for reconsideration; it will result in postponing the consideration of this apparently very pressing matter until some time in September. I for one want to consider whether we have the money for it; also whether this should be loaned or whether part should come out of the Reserve Fund. I want to consider all those financial aspects of the matter. But I want to consider them within the next two weeks and not next September. I think it is too important a matter to put over two or three months.

Coun. CURLEY—I want to say, as I said in the Executive Committee to Coun. Smith, in relation to the Consumptives' Hospital, that I still believe it is only a question of time when the injustice of one city in the Commonwealth maintaining a magnificent tuberculosis hospital which is generally used by the persons living in other cities and towns adjacent will be considered by the state, and that that institution, as in the case of the insane hospitals, will be taken over by the state. The state should conduct the tuberculosis hospitals in the state. That principle is generally regarded as sound. Unquestionably within a year or two the state will take over the consumptives' hospitals. It will take them over just the same as the insane hospitals have been taken over. Now if $40,000 is to be expended for a children's ward I would say that is all right; but if you are going to spend $150,000 for various purposes there I would question the wisdom of it, because when the state takes over the property the allowance they charge over to wear and tear would be such as to cause a considerable loss to the city. With relation to the almshouse, as Coun. Ballantyne has pointed out, there are sufficient accommodations there at the present time, and if the $250,000 or $300,000 which Coun. Kenny speaks of, but which I am satisfied he would never vote for,—if that money were appropriated it could not be used by the trustees of that institution at the present time. Now, then, Mr. Chairman and gentlemen, the land is owned by the city where it is proposed to erect these buildings. The necessity for the buildings is apparent in the communication that we have received. I can conceive of no great injury that would result from reconsideration and favorable action upon this matter. If the question under consideration is whether this particular loan is more important than either of the other two loans, then I am willing it should stand on that basis, contending that the communication from the trustees is sufficient proof of the fact that it is more important. But I can conceive of no other argument that can be presented, and I can see no justification of the policy of turning it down, in view of the fact that it can't become a law until fourteen days after its first reading in this Board, which is ample time for any person to ascertain whether the facts contained in the communication are correct or otherwise.

Coun. HALE—Just one word more. A vote for reconsideration is not a vote in favor of this loan order; it is a vote in favor of the immediate consideration of the necessity of this loan order. A vote against reconsideration is not a vote against the loan order; it is a vote against the immediate consideration of the necessity of this loan order.

President COLLINS—The question comes on the motion of Coun. Curley, namely, to reconsider the reference of the said order to the Committee on Finance. Those in favor will signify it by saying "Yes"; those opposed, "No." It is not a vote and reconsideration does not prevail.

Coun. CURLEY—I doubt the vote and ask that the roll be called.

The roll call was taken and reconsideration of the reference was refused, yeas 3, nays 5, viz.:

Yeas—Coun. Buckley, Curley, Hale—3.

Nays—Coun. Ballantyne, Collins, Kenny, McDonald, Smith—5.

ORDINANCE REPORT.

Coun. McDONALD for the Committee on Ordinances, submitted a report on the Message of the Mayor and ordinance (referred Feb. 13) relative to children on the streets—recommending that the City Clerk communicate with the Corporation Counsel and Police Commissioner relative to the possibility of enforcing said ordinance.

Accepted.

RECESS TAKEN.

The Council voted at 5.15 o'clock p. m., on motion of Coun. KENNY, to take a recess subject to the call of the President.

The members of the Council reassembled in the Chamber and were called to order by the President at six o'clock p. m.

EXECUTIVE COMMITTEE REPORTS.

Coun. BALLANTYNE, for the Executive Committee, submitted the following:

(1) Report on message and communications (referred to-day) relative to the collection of garbage at the North End—that the same be placed on file.

Report accepted; papers placed on file.

(2) Report on communications from Park Department and order (referred June 28) relative to sale of land in Brighton district, bounded southerly by Commonwealth avenue and northeasterly by Chestnut Hill avenue—recommending reference to the Committee on Public Lands.

Report accepted; said reference ordered.

(3) Report on order (referred June 26) that in accordance with provisions of chapter 530 of the Acts of 1911 an annuity of $300 be hereby allowed and paid to Hattie Burke, widow of Patrick Burke, who was killed while in the service of the city—that the order ought to pass.

Report accepted; order passed.

(4) Report on message of Mayor, communication and order (referred to-day) transferring the sum of $4,000 for Mystic Playground, Sea Wall and Fence—that the order ought to pass.

Report accepted; order passed, yeas 7, nays 0.

(5) Report on message of Mayor and order (referred June 28) transferring the sum of $48,000 for new steamboat for Board of Health—that the order ought to pass.

Coun. HALE—I would like to say simply this, that I am voting against this appropriation not because I am not in favor of the matter, but because by voting against it the money will become available for the boat by loan which, in my opinion, is the proper way.

Coun. KENNY—When the report is accepted I am going to move that that matter lie on the table—after the report of the committee is accepted.

President COLLINS—The gentleman asks a division of the question. The question comes on accepting the committee's report.

The Chair being in doubt as to the result of the viva voce vote, a rising vote was taken, whereupon it appeared that three had voted in the affirmative and three in the negative, and it was not a vote.

Coun. McDONALD—I further doubt the vote and ask for a verification by roll call.

President COLLINS—The question comes on accepting the committee's report. The Chair will also state that the acceptance of the committee's report does not place any member of the Council as in favor of or as being opposed to the proposition. The Clerk will call the roll.

The roll call was taken and the Council refused to accept the report of the committee, yeas 3, nays 4, viz.:

Yeas—Coun. Collins, Kenny, McDonald—3.

Nays—Coun. Buckley, Curley, Hale, Smith—4.

Coun. KENNY—I move reconsideration of that vote whereby the Council voted not to accept the report of the committee, and I would ask that my motion be assigned for the next meeting.

President COLLINS—The question comes on the motion of Coun. Kenny.

Coun. SMITH—I don't quite understand the purpose of the motion. That is, as I understand it, the motion is to reconsider this last vote at the next meeting or at the present meeting?

President COLLINS—At the next meeting.

Coun. SMITH—Is that a strictly proper motion?

President COLLINS—The Chair rules that the point of order is not well taken, and that it is a proper motion.

Coun. CURLEY—I would like to say that the vote has already been taken. The Chair has not announced it.

President COLLINS—The Chair has not announced it. The Chair gave Coun. Smith an opportunity to be heard. Those in favor will say "Yes"; those opposed will say "No," and it is a vote.

Coun. HALE—I doubt the vote.

The roll call was taken and assignment of the motion to reconsider was refused, yeas 3, nays 4, viz.:

Yeas—Coun. Collins, Kenny, McDonald—3.

Nays—Coun. Buckley, Curley, Hale, Smith—4.

President COLLINS—The question now comes on reconsideration. Those in favor of reconsideration will say "Yes"; those opposed will say "No." The Chair is in doubt. As many as are in favor of reconsideration will rise.

Coun. KENNY—I ask that the vote be taken by roll call.

The roll call was taken and the motion to reconsider was lost, yeas 3, nays 4, viz.:

Yeas—Coun. Collins, Kenny, McDonald—3.

Nays—Coun. Buckley, Curley, Hale, Smith—4.

Coun. McDONALD—I would like to know what becomes of the order?

President COLLINS—The Chair will state that the order remains in the Executive Committee.

Coun. CURLEY—I was going to ask Coun. Kenny, through the Chair, if there were not some other reports from the Executive Committee? If my memory serves me right, there were other papers which he was ordered to present here.

(6) Reports on petitions for licenses to sell, rent or lease firearms at various places—that leave be granted, viz.:

J. B. Hunter & Co., 60 Summer street, Ward 6.

Giovanni Mongardi, 16 North square, Ward 6.

Pearlstein & Fredberg, 86–88 Merrimac street, Ward 8.

Pearlstein & Shear, 52 Shawmutavenue, Ward 7.

Charles Cohen, 51 Endicott street, Ward 6.

Benovitz & Sheinkopf, 150 Merrimac street, Ward 8.

Simon Miller, 60 Howard street, Ward 6.

Levine Brothers, 35 Beach street, Ward 7.

Back Bay Loan Company, 373 Columbus avenue, Ward 10.

Placid Amaru, 5 Prince street, Ward 6.

Reports severally accepted; licenses granted on the usual conditions.

GARBAGE COLLECTIONS, NORTH END.

Coun. SMITH offered an order—That the Commissioner of Public Works be requested, through his Honor the Mayor, to inform the City Council as to whether garbage is collected in the North End section of the city according to the regulations of the department.

Passed.

GENERAL RECONSIDERATION.

Coun. McDONALD—I move a general reconsideration.

Coun. HALE—Might I ask a question before that comes up, as to whether any motion has been passed as to when we shall adjourn to?

Coun. KENNY—I move that we adjourn now to meet a week from next Monday at four o'clock.

President COLLINS—The question now comes on the motion for general reconsideration by Coun. McDonald, hoping that the same will not prevail.

The motion was lost.

FREEPORT STREET BATHING BEACH.

Coun. CURLEY—Mr. Chairman, I should like to ask what became of the paper acted upon by the committee with reference to the Freeport Street Bathing Beach—whether that is still in the hands of the acting committee?

Coun. KENNY—I haven't seen the paper that is referred to. I supposed that was with the others. I handed over all the papers given to me by the Clerk of the Committees.

Coun. CURLEY—I supposed when an order was reported that it should be acted upon and should be in the hands of somebody. I presume it must be in the hands of the Clerk of Committees. If it would be in order, I would move that the City Messenger be instructed to wait upon the Clerk of Committees and bring that here.

President COLLINS—The question comes on the motion of Coun. Curley that the City Messenger be instructed to wait upon the Clerk of Committees and bring to the Council the paper with reference to the Freeport Street Bathing Beach.

Coun. McDONALD—I understood that the members agreed to allow that order to lay over until the next meeting of the Executive Committee, and the President himself told the Clerk to hold it.

Coun. KENNY—I believe there was some such suggestion.

Coun. McDONALD—The President himself told the Clerk to hold it over.

President COLLINS—If there is no objection, it was agreed at the time that the Executive Committee voted that if it were reported it should lie on the table here. So I don't think it matters very much one way or the other.

Coun. CURLEY—My desire purely is that we proceed in the conduct of our business according to regular parliamentary procedure. It is not what one member says to another member or says to the Clerk. It is what the body votes as a body. We voted to act on that paper.

President COLLINS—The Chair rules that the point of order is well taken.

Coun. HALE—My recollection of this matter is different from that of Coun. Curley. I thought instead of voting to report in favor of it we voted to put it over one week.

President COLLINS—That is purely a matter of opinion as to what the other members of the Council understood at that time. The Chair now entertains the motion of Coun. Curley that the City Messenger be requested to instruct the Clerk of Committees to bring forth the paper relating to Freeport street.

The motion was carried.

Coun. CURLEY—If it would be in order, pending the action of the City Messenger, I would like to say on this particular matter that it can't be considered in the nature of a loan as we consider loans generally speaking for permanent improvements, for this reason, that that entire section of Dorchester has a population that is equal to any of the large cities in the State, with the possible exception of Boston and Springfield, and that the city at the present time leases a beach at Dorchester.

President COLLINS—The Chair suggests that the councilor is not talking to a motion. The Chair will declare a recess.

A recess was had at 6.10 o'clock p. m.

The Council reconvened at 6.14 o'clock p. m.

President COLLINS—The Council will be in order. The Chair awaits the pleasure of the Council. Reports from the Executive Committee. The Clerk will read.

Report on the message of the Mayor on order (referred June 28) for transfer of $9,000 for purchase of shore property at Freeport street, Dorchester, and the improvement thereof as a bathing beach —that the order ought to pass.

Coun. CURLEY—In view of the fact that there is scarcely more than a quorum of the members present, I move that the order be recommitted to the Executive Committee.

The motion was carried and the order recommitted.

Coun. KENNY—I move we now adjourn to meet at three o'clock p. m., on July 17, 1911.

The motion was carried, and the Council adjourned at 6.15 o'clock p. m.

CITY OF BOSTON.

Proceedings of City Council.

Monday, July 17, 1911.

Regular meeting of the City Council, held in the Council Chamber, City Hall, at three o'clock p. m., President COLLINS in the chair. Absent—Coun. Attridge and Ballantyne.

The Council voted, on motion of Coun. KENNY, to dispense with the reading of the records of the last meeting.

INCREASE IN NUMBER OF FIREMEN.

The following was received:

City of Boston,
Office of the Mayor, July 17, 1911.

To the Honorable City Council:

I respectfully recommend the passage of the accompanying order authorizing the City Auditor to transfer the sum of $25,000 from the appropriation for Reserve Fund to the appropriation for the Fire Department, Current Expenses.

The Fire Department at present is undermanned and to this very dangerous condition attention has been sharply drawn by the recent fire in the Dorchester district. On the occasion of this fire five machines, three engines and two ladder wagons responded with a force, including officers, of twenty-three (23) men and the requisite full complement is thirty (30) men. This particular instance of undermanning is in nowise exceptional, and is a very fair display of the force permitted with the limited number of men. Some of the criticism of the handling of fires has been due to this condition of undermanning; the department as to individuals is of high efficiency.

I append hereto copies of two written communications from the Fire Commissioner to the Mayor, both dated April 11, 1911. These communications set out the condition of undermanning which obtained at that time, and this condition is far more acute at the present time through the absence of seventy men on regular and legally established vacations. The continuance of this condition must not be tolerated for a moment longer than the time required to terminate it.

As stated in these communications from the Fire Commissioner the contemplated increase in the number of firemen was demanded at that time and has since been demanded. These demands have received the approval of the Finance Commission and the National Board of Fire Underwriters after full investigation.

No person or body of authority and competency has questioned the pressing necessity of the contemplated increase. In the event of a conflagration the preventable damage to property and possibly loss of life would be immeasurable and irreparable, and in this connection any failure on the part of us who have the responsibility of caring for the city would be unpardonable.

No obstructive legal niceties without warrant in the law and which can have only the consequence of idle discussion entailing delay and a continuance of the existing highly dangerous condition, and no petty personal considerations, should be permitted to interfere with the full discharge of our duties in this dangerous situation. The provision in our charter is clear: "In the case of decease, inability, absence or resignation of the Mayor, and whenever there is a vacancy in the office from any cause, the President of the City Council, while said cause continued or until a Mayor is elected, shall perform the duties of Mayor," and so is the further provision pertaining to the absence of both the Mayor and the President of the City Council. I am convinced that the restriction of the exercises of "the powers of the Mayor only in matters not admitting of delay" does not apply in the present instance; I am very firmly convinced that this matter does not admit of delay.

Our duty is plain and our course clear, and we should move in our work with determination and dispatch.

I ask and hope that the City Council will take the requisite action to-day to pass the order herewith submitted to the end that the necessary and proper action of increasing the number of firemen by fifty, thereby conserving the property and preserving the lives of our citizens, may be taken at once.

Respectfully,
WALTER L. COLLINS, Acting Mayor.

April 11, 1911.

Hon. John F. Fitzgerald,
Mayor of Boston:

Sir,—I have the honor to request that the City Council appropriate seventy-five thousand (75,000) dollars to cover the salaries and expenses of additional firemen. The great necessity of these men is fully explained in the accompanying letter.

I desire to call your attention to the fact that the appropriation of this department, as passed by the City Council, has been reduced $68,966.45. This reduction makes it absolutely impossible for the department to enter upon any material expenditure without an additional appropriation.

Without an increase in the fire-fighting force proper fire protection for the city during the summer is very problematic. I request that this matter be brought to the attention of the City Council at once.

Very respectfully,
C. D. DALY,
Fire Commissioner.

April 11, 1911.

Hon. John F. Fitzgerald,
Mayor of Boston:

Sir,—Pursuant to my communications of this date requesting an additional appropriation for the purpose of hiring additional firemen I beg to call your attention to the condition which now exists relative to the inadequate fire service which will confront the city during the summer months.

Quoting from the report of the National Board of Fire Underwriters:

"The fire force, while nominally strong, is seriously weakened by the allowance of time off under the present arrangements; even companies in the most important districts are often reduced to four or five men in quarters during eleven out of twenty-four hours. At such times, companies responding to fires must assist one another with a loss of valuable time at the most critical stage. This is the most serious deficiency of any pertaining to the department and demands immediate attention. The number of men in each company should be increased, or at least provision made for relief men to take the places of all members on vacations, sick and special leave or details and in some cases for those on days off."

"Members are allowed two meal periods of two hours or three of one and one-quarter hours daily, one day off in five and fourteen days' annual vacation. These, with the details, sick leaves, etc., reduce the fire force during eleven and one-half hours each day to about one-half and in many instances less than one-half of the total membership."

"The following figures, taken from the chief's morning reports, show the fire force on the days when a maximum and minimum of men were on duty during two periods of one month each:

BOSTON PRINTING TRADES UNION LABEL COUNCIL

"The average force available during these two months was 636, or less than two-thirds of the department roll. During the meal periods the fire force on duty at fire stations averaged about 424. These conditions are representative for the past year. In the vacation months, May to November, the number of men in quarters during meal periods sometimes reached the following:

In 13 and 14 man engine and ladder companies,	5
In 9 and 12 man engine and ladder companies,	4
In 7 and 8 man ladder companies	3
In chemical companies	3

"An engineer or an assistant is always with each engine, but when the company is reduced to four men there is only one available for hose duty, and in a ladder company with four men present three are available for ladder work. This means, unless the ladder truck is of aerial type, that ladders over 35 feet long can be raised only with the assistance of members of other companies, and that engine companies must also have assistance in getting lines on the fire."

"The extent to which the fire force is reduced during meal hour periods in the summer was illustrated at the general alarm on August 9, 1910. The first alarm for this fire was received at 6.17 p. m. and the sixth or general alarm at 6.30 p. m. Figures compiled from the department's records show that at the time these alarms were received less than 43 per cent of the members of the fire force were in the quarters of their companies. Many men on days off, detailed and leave, responded as soon as they knew of the fire, although not required to do so."

"Distribution.—In the congested value district are stationed five engine companies, each with an engine of the first size or larger, three ladder companies, one water tower and a chemical engine; four more engine companies, three ladder trucks, a fireboat, a water tower and a chemical engine are close about its limits. At least two and frequently four engine companies are within one-half mile of any point in this district, but in the center of the area, in the vicinity of the Old State House, are many valuable buildings more than one-quarter of a mile from any company. Elsewhere in the city proper an engine company is usually within one-half mile of any point, although this distance is exceeded in some parts of the Back Bay district."

The above points out clearly the grave danger there is to the city from fire unless adequate steps are taken to increase the present force. Quoting from the communication of the Finance Commission to the City Council, dated March 22, 1911: "The present Fire Commissioner believes fifty instead of one hundred more firemen will be sufficient, and in this opinion the Finance Commission concurs."

In addition to the above investigation, which corroborates the views of this department in regard to the necessity of additional firemen, I beg to call your attention to the detailed statement of the short-handedness of this department, submitted to this office by the various district chiefs, under date of October 4:

The above clearly shows that to delay in this matter would be a grave mistake. I therefore ask that this request be brought to the attention of the City Council at the earliest possible moment.

Very respectfully,
C. D. DALY,
Fire Commissioner.

Ordered, That the City Auditor be and hereby is authorized to transfer the sum of $25,000 from the appropriation for Reserve Fund to the appropriation for Fire Department, Current Expenses, to be expended by the Fire Commissioner for the purpose of increasing the force by fifty men.

Coun. CURLEY—Mr. President, I move the suspension of the rules that the recommendation of his Honor the Acting Mayor may be placed upon its passage.

Coun. BUCKLEY—Mr. President, while I am in favor of this increase in the Boston Fire Department it seems to me that before we act on this matter we ought at least to ask the Corporation Counsel of the City of Boston whether or not it would be legal. We do not want to do anything here which may he questioned later, and while I realize that his Honor the Acting Mayor is the judge of what will or will not admit of delay, still it seems to me that out of courtesy to the Mayor of Boston the Corporation Counsel's opinion should be asked, and asked this afternoon. Then if we found that this matter could be passed this afternoon, why, we could vote on it knowing that everything would be absolutely legal. I move that this order be referred to the Executive Committee.

The PRESIDENT—The question comes on the motion of Coun. Curley that the rule be suspended. All those in favor say "Aye," those opposed "No." It is a vote.

Coun. HALE—Mr. President, I doubt the vote.

The PRESIDENT—Coun. Hale doubts the vote and asks for verification by the calling of yeas and nays. As many as are in favor of suspending the rule say "Yes," those opposed "No."

The Clerk called the roll with the following result, yeas 3; nays 4, viz.:

Yeas—Coun. Collins, Curley, McDonald—3.

Nays—Coun. Buckley, Hale, Kenny, Smith—4.

The PRESIDENT—Three having voted in the affirmative and four in the negative the motion to suspend the rule is defeated.

Coun. CURLEY—Mr. Chairman, I move a reconsideration of the vote just taken, hoping the same will prevail.

Coun. HALE—Mr. President, isn't Coun. Buckley's motion in order?

The PRESIDENT—Coun. Curley has the floor. The Chair rules that Coun. Buckley's motion when made was out of order and consequently is not entertained at this time.

Coun. CURLEY—Mr. President, in this connection I do not feel that it is necessary to set forth the conditions that obtain in the Fire Department. They must be apparent to every member of this City Council who has occasion from time to time to read the daily papers. It is no new situation that we are confronted with to-day. We are in the possession of information that we were in possession of a year ago, and even a year and a half ago. The attention of the public has heen called hoth hy public officials and hy their own observations to conditions that should not be tolerated in a city of the size of Boston. With relation to this particular incident or catastrophe, if I might use that word, that hrings the proposition more vividly to our minds, I want to say that I had occasion to witness some fire apparatus attending the fire in Dorchester, and when I made the statement in the Board some three weeks ago that it was a screaming farce to see the Fire Department on its way to a fire what I said was borne out by the facts in connection with the Dorchester fire. Engine 12 in Roxhury, one of the engines perhaps nearer than any other to the scene of the conflagration in Dorchester, proceeded up Blue Hill avenue on that particular day with one man driving the hose carriage and two newshoys with their newspapers standing on the rear of the hose carriage. And I am informed from a thoroughly reliable source that when the engine company arrived at the fire the services of the engineer were necessary to start the boiler; that the services of the driver of the engine were necessary to care for the horses, and that it requires from two to three men to make what is known as a Siamese nozzle connection; that there was hut one man to make a connection, and it was necessary to await the arrival of Ladder Company 4, which is located perhaps a quarter of a mile away from Engine 12 on Dudley street, to await the arrival of that great ladder truck, compelled to climb one hill on Dudley street and compelled to climb two hills on Blue Hill avenue, hefore there were sufficient men at the scene where the fire occurred to make proper connections and meet the situation. Every man is entitled to his own opinion with relation to the merits of the Fire Commissioner, and I do not propose to discuss that phase of the situation at the present time. He may be an exceptionally good man, or he may he an extremely poor man, but the fact remains that the conditions that ohtain in the Fire Department obtained under his predecessors; that fire apparatus has been noticed attending fires under Mr. Parker, his predecessor, and even under Mr. Wells at times, without a sufficient numher of men on the apparatus to meet the situation when they arrived at the fire. It clearly indicates to my mind one fact, and that is a fact that is known to every memher of this Board, that there are not a sufficient number of men in the Fire Department to properly handle the equipment at a fire. If that is the situation, why is there any occasion for delay? There is nothing that any man may say in executive session that cannot as well and as fittingly he said in the open Board here, and I believe that where this is a question that concerns the public, concerns the welfare of every man, woman and child in the entire City of Boston and in the surrounding suhurhs, the proper place to thrash out a matter of that character is right here in this Board. To my mind the question as to whether the Acting Mayor has the right to act in the manner that he has seen fit to act or not is not a consideration. I have had very little respect in the past for the opinions of the Corporation Counsel, and I want to say that I have not changed one particle in that particular. The opinions of the Corporation Counsel are seldom based on law, they are invariahly based on political expediency, and in all prohahility that might govern his opinion on this particular question. But this situation is governed hy a case of necessity. We recognize the necessity for additional men in the fire service. We realize that the public demand it, the public should have it, then why consider it in executive session? With relation to the proposition as to whether the Chair has the right to make a recommendation of this character, I do not feel that it is necessary to discuss the technicalities of that particular proposition. I helieve this is a situation that must be met. To my mind it suggests the situation that confronted Farragut when sailing by forts and when cautioned that the harbor was mined with torpedoes. Farragut's expression on that occasion has become an historical allusion whenever reference is made to naval heroes, wherein he said, "Damn the torpedoes! Give them four bells!" That is my opinion with relation to the opinion of the Corporation Counsel. I do not care what his opinion is. If the people of the city who pay the taxes feel that there is a necessity for an increase in the fire force,—and every man recognizes the fact that there is a necessity,—why delay, why refer to the Executive Committee? Why refer to any committee? It is apparently a universal demand. As was pointed out some three weeks ago, and I believe the reference is a matter of puhlic record, I helieve that I pointed out at the time that if similar conditions prevailed with a conflagration in Dorchester that ohtained in the case of the Chelsea fire, no human power could save the Dorchester district from complete destruction. And what is true in the case of Dorchester is true of any other section of the entire city. What we require is additional men in the Fire Department. The Press are unanimous in their demand for it. The public recognize the necessity for it. Talk with men in the Fire Department and every one of them will tell you the same thing, that there are not sufficient men to man the apparatus. If that is the condition, why the delay, why the reference to the Executive Committee? What can be said in secret session that any man is ashamed to have said here in the open session? I sincerely trust reconsideration will prevail.

Coun. HALE—Mr. President, I agree with Coun. Curley as to the demand for the fifty extra firemen, and I agree with him as to the need for the fifty extra firemen. I am convinced in my own mind that we need fifty more firemen in the Fire Department of Boston. But I do not agree with Coun. Curley in his vote on this particular matter. I think that Coun. Buckley is entirely right; that we, the City Council, should not go ahead to accomplish something which we all agree is good, in a way which may he entirely ineffectual. It is just like hucking up against a stone wall. I, for one, do not like that sort of experience. If the law is that we cannot make this appropriation in this way, what is the use of trying? I want to get the opinion of the Corporation Counsel. I think I have differed from him probahly in as many cases as Coun. Curley has, as to his legal opinion, but I want to get his reason why he thinks this is illegal, and then we can discuss this point and see whether we are trying to make fools of ourselves hy trying to do a good thing in an ineffectual way or not. I hope that this particular motion of Coun. Curley to reconsider will prevail, for this reason, that if we kill this motion of Coun. Curley hy these same votes that we just had, the result will be that the order, the transfer, will have to go into Committee on Appropriation or the Committee on Finance, and we will not he able to consider it to-day.

The PRESIDENT—The Chair will state that under the rules this order will he referred to the Executive Committee without any motion.

Coun. HALE—Do I understand, Mr. President, that Coun. Buckley's motion is now hefore the Council?

The PRESIDENT—The Chair will state that if the Council does not suspend the rules the order will he referred to the Executive Committee under the rule.

Coun. HALE—Mr. President, does the rule cover this?

The PRESIDENT—It does.

Coun. HALE—That is entirely satisfactory then. I hope that Coun. Curley's motion will not prevail, and that the order will go to the Executive Committee.

Coun. KENNY—Mr. President, I shall vote against reconsideration. I shall vote to have the matter referred to the Executive Committee. I should do that in all cases. I do not think we want to make an exception of this case. I think that as a matter of precedence and as a safeguard to future business in this Board, matters of this character should first he referred to the Executive Committee for consideration. It is not true as the councilman from Ward 17 has said that the sessions of that committee are secret. They are held in the presence of the reporters——

Coun. CURLEY—Mr. President, I should like to ask Coun. Kenny if any other persons are present at those sessions besides representatives of the Press?

Coun. KENNY—Mr President, I should say that there are many other people present from time to time in addition to members of the Press. Many members of the Press are always there, and they report the proceedings before that committee, very fully, as my friend very well knows, perhaps better than anyhody here. Therefore I shall vote against reconsideration. I hope that when the matter gets before the committee I shall then he prepared to discuss it, but I will reserve what I have to say till I get in there.

Coun. CURLEY—Mr. Chairman, I have been in attendance at meetings of the Executive Committee since the Council was organized and I confess that with the possihle exception of the Clerk of Committees and the City Messenger I have seen no great gathering there outside of newspaper men. I don't honestly feel that Coun. Kenny has. It may not he, perhaps, strictly private, hut it certainly can be dignified by the term semiprivate or quasi private. To my mind it is ahsolutely private with the exception of the newspaper men. But, however, Mr. Chairman, that is not germane to the proposition that is under discussion. I want to say, Mr. Chairman, that I am not an attorney, but I never knew two attorneys that agreed on any general proposition offhand without consulting their books,—and in all prohability some of the attorneys in the Board here would like to consult their references before they come to a decision on this proposition. I want to say, Mr. Chairman, that, with relation to the rights of the Acting Mayor, if no fire had occurred in Dorchester or any other section of the city, I would be of the same mind as Coun. Kenny, Hale and Buckley; that is to say, I would feel that there might be some question as to whether this was an emergency case. But, Mr. Chairman, the minute the fire occurred and it was demonstrated that the fire force of the city in that particular section at that particular time was insufficient to meet the situation then, Mr. Chairman, the question of the power of the Acting Mayor ceased and it became an ahsolute power. It was a case, Mr. Chairman, that would not further permit of delay. And, Mr. Chairman, it was a case that affected not only a particular section of the city hut affected the welfare of every man, woman and child in the city. And, Mr. Chairman, if the purpose of reference to the Executive Committee is that a conference may he held for the purpose of determining what constitutes an emergency case or what would be the proper interpretation to apply in the case of matters that would not permit of delay, I believe that that question can he threshed out here in the open Board. Certainly my friend here on the right, Coun. Hale, will not say that where a specific case of the need of additional men is involved and where in consequence of the lack of additional men property was destroyed and lives were placed in jeopardy, that that would not constitute a case of emergency or that that is not a situation that will not permit of delay. Now, then, Mr. Chairman, it might he likened, perhaps, to the case where an epidemic of smallpox should hreak out in this city. Would Coun. Hale or Coun. Kenny or Coun. Buckley have the temerity to stand on this floor and say that the Acting Mayor had not the power, in the absence of the regularly elected Mayor, to recommend $50,000 or a $100,000 or $200,000 to bc expended under the Board of Health for the suppression of the epidemic of smallpox and for the protection and the conservation of the health of the people of the city? Certainly not. No man would have the temerity to stand on the floor and say that a situation of that kind was one that would permit of delay. Now, Mr. Chairman, the facts are that in this city more lives have heen lost in the last twenty-five years hy fire than have been lost through the scourge of smallpox,—and yet if a smallpox epidemic hroke out in Dorchester and covered no greater area than was covered by the fire in Dorchester, this Board would not hesitate for one minute if the Board of Health stated that they required $50,000 or $100,000 to recommend that sum of money. Now, Mr. Chairman, this situation may he likened to the scourge of smallpox or some other infectious disease of a marked character, and it is a situation that will not permit of delay. Now, if that is the situation, if the only question that is to he considered in executive session is the question of splitting hairs so as to determine whether the Acting Mayor has a right to do this or has not a right to do it, I believe that this question can he threshed out here in the open Board and can be threshed out to the satisfaction of every member of the Board, and we can arrive at some definite conclusion without unreasonahle delay. Now, Mr. Chairman, that is the only argument that has heen advanced against immediate action on this proposition, that the Law Department has not rendered a decision upon it. Mr. Chairman, if a smallpox epidemic broke out and the Corporation Counsel and his able assistant,—perhaps more ahle than the Corporation Counsel himself,—were away from the city or the state, and were where it was impossible to reach them, will any man say that we should await their return before we would favor the Acting Mayor recommending an appropriation of $50,000 oi $100,000 for thc suppression of that smallpox epidemic? In other words, would we await their decision until the spread of the disease had reached such an extremity as to make it an impossibility to cope with the situation? Certainly not. Now, then, Mr. Chairman, that is the situation identically. I don't helieve that any member is against the necessity of the action. The only question apparently, in the minds of the members, is as to the advisahility of proceeding with the recommendation of his Honor the Mayor until such time as they have been properly advised by the Corporation Counsel. Now, Mr. Chairman, I have always maintained that if there is one individual that is fallible it is the Corporation Counsel, and it is just possihle that the Corporation Counsel might do as he has done many times in the past and render a decision that would not he sustained hy the courts. In the meantime the people of South Boston and of Dorchester and of Charlestown and of Brighton and the other sections of the city must await an appeal from the decision of the Corporation Counsel, if it should be adverse, until such time as the Supreme Court acts upon the appeal from the adverse decision. Now I maintain this is one matter that will not permit of delay. It demands immediate action. It is not a new case. It is not a case called to our attention to-day or yesterday or a week ago. It is a specific case, that is called to our attention, of a condition that has ohtained for two or more years in this city. We all recognize that additional men are required for the fire service of Boston, and I ask,— Have we any right to quihble as to whether the Acting Mayor has the power to make a recommendation of that character or not? Let us go ahead, vote the necessary money, protect the property and the lives of the people of the city, and then let the Corporation Counsel act; and if his action is adverse then let the courts act later and reverse his decision.

Coun. SMITH—Mr. President, my blood has run cold while Coun. Curley has been exploding his torpedoes, trumping up epidemics,—and I have wondered why such sudden need of haste, why such sudden excitement on the part of Coun. Curley. As he says, the matter has been before us over a year. There have heen reports from Commissioner Daly to the Mayor; there have been reports from the Finance Commission on this subject; why is this trumped up at this date with such apparent heat? Coun. CURLEY introduced a resolution, as he well remembers, the day before the Mayor sailed for Europe. The Executive Committee met, and in order to gain the Mayor's opinion on the matter went down to see him, and in the Mayor's office, if I remember rightly, after Coun. Attridge had stated the business of the Executive Committee in coming there, not one word was said by Coun. Curley in support of his resolution. The Mayor gave his opinion frankly and openly against any increase in the Fire Department, and Coun. Curley offered not one word in support of his resolution.

Coun. CURLEY—I should like to ask the gentleman to yield.

Coun. SMITH—In a moment. He also was prodded on the subject by me. As I sat beside Coun. Curley I nudged him and asked him why he did not say something in support of his resolution. He said to me, "It is no use." The Acting Mayor was present at that meeting and he offered no support to that resolution. Other councilors were there who were reported to be friends of the Fire Department and they offered not one word, and it was left to me to say one word in support of the Fire Department of the City of Boston, and to say that I did not agree with the Mayor, in my humble judgment, in likening our Fire Department to the fire departments of Philadelphia, New York and Chicago. I stated my opinion frankly, saying that I thought our department needed a larger amount of money because we protected a larger risk in Boston than did the departments in Philadelphia and Chicago, and I also quibbled with him on the matter of his statement of premiums by the fire companies, and also about the dividends paid by the fire insurance companies. And I frankly stated that I thought we needed an increase in the number of men. And I have said so, I believe, several times in committee meetings. Now, in the face of a serious question as to whether the Acting Mayor has the authority to send this order here, I ask the councilor—Why such apparent heat and eloquence of a sudden? Is it because the Mayor is not in the city? I am very glad now to yield to the question of the councilor.

Coun. CURLEY—I was going to ask Coun. Smith if the purpose of the visits to the Mayor's office was to secure the Mayor's opinion or to argue the question with him. I want to say, Mr. Chairman, that I had already presented the order in the Council here for an increase in the number of the members of the Fire Department,—that my purpose in going to the Mayor's office was to get his opinion on the proposition. But his opinion on it would influence me in no way, and there was no occasion for me to argue with him, because I would not be convinced, being familiar with the conditions. I simply went there, as I believe Coun. Smith would recognize, to secure his opinion on the question,—not to argue the case with him.

Coun. SMITH—If that was the only purpose in going to the Mayor's office, it was hardly necessary, as he had expressed his opinion time and time again—that he would not increase the fire-fighting force in Boston. Therefore, I think we went on a foolish errand, if we went only on that errand. It seems to me we ought to put this matter into executive session in order to hear the opinion of the Corporation Counsel, especially as the Acting Mayor has not sent down any opinion from the Corporation Counsel. If he has an opinion from the Corporation Counsel I think we might obviate taking the matter up in executive session and thresh it out here at once.

Coun. McDONALD in the chair.

Coun. HALE—Mr. President, Congressman Curley has said that the only question before us was whether we agreed with the opinion of the Corporation Counsel, in case the Corporation Counsel has given an opinion. It seems to me there is another and a very much more important and practical question which has not been brought out here yet, and that is this: I have heard this,—I don't vouch for the truth of it at all,—but I have heard that the Corporation Counsel is going to rule that the Acting Mayor has no authority to do this, to make this appropriation. I have also heard, and this is the more important part of it, that if the Corporation Counsel does make this ruling Fire Commissioner Daly is not going to appoint these men. In other words, it is not a question whether we agree with the Corporation Counsel in his possible opinion but a question whether the man who is going to make the appointment of these particular firemen agrees with the Corporation Counsel. I think it would look very foolish in this Council to pass an order appropriating money for the appointment of firemen on the ground that we think the Corporation Counsel is wrong in his opinion, or running the chances we will have to take, and then have the man at the head of the Fire Department refuse to appoint the men on the ground that the Corporation Counsel has ruled that it is illegal. Therefore I think we should have both Mr. Babson—to find out his ruling—and Daly—to find out what he is going to do.

Coun. COLLINS—I did not purpose in these proceedings to take the floor. In fact, it was not my purpose during the entire discussion this afternoon, even before we had a meeting of the Executive Committee, or subsequent thereto, to take the floor, for this particular reason, that in my capacity in which I acted in sending this message to the Council I was acting as an executive. The law says that an appropriation must emanate from the executive. I issued that appropriation and it is before you now for your consideration. Consequently, feeling that I was acting at that time as an executive, although the law justifies me in acting and voting on the proposition before the City Council, yet I did not believe it was proper to come and discuss the particular merits of the matter or my reasons for sending this in, because I thought they were sufficiently incorporated in the language of the message which I have sent to the City Council. But my friend on the right, Coun. Smith, said if I had any reasons for sending this in he thought it might be meet for me to take the floor and state those reasons. I thought in my communication I had covered my reasons fairly well, but I am willing at this time, sir, to state perhaps a little more fully my reasons for sending this to the City Council. In the first place, I wish to call the attention of this Council, through you, Mr. President, to the specific wording of the statute under which we are operating:

"Section 47. If a vacancy occurs in the office of mayor within two months prior to a regular municipal election other than an election for mayor, or within four months after any regular municipal election, the city council shall forthwith order a special election for a mayor to serve for the unexpired term, subject if the vacancy occurs in the first or second year of the mayor's term to recall under the provisions of the preceding section. If such vacancy occurs at any other time there shall be an election for mayor at the municipal election held in January next following, for the term of four years, subject to recall as aforesaid."

The following words I wish to call specifically to the City Council's attention:

"In the case of the decease, inability, absence or resignation of the mayor, and whenever there is a vacancy in the office from any cause, the president of the city council while said cause continues or until a mayor is elected shall perform the duties of mayor."

Mr. President, the Mayor of this city at present is in Europe. He is absent. Consequently that condition is fulfilled. Therefore the President of the City Council as per that section, "while said cause continues," while his absence continues "or until a mayor is elected, shall perform the duties of mayor." I wish to call to the Council's attention specifically, as I have already stated, those words, for this reason—that in all of the discussion concerning the powers of the President of the City Council I have never heard that point of view discussed, namely, that in the absence of the Mayor the President of the City Council shall perform the duties of Mayor. There is, however, a second clause here which is the commonly accepted idea on the part of a great many, and we will accept that for the time being. It is as follows:

"If he is also absent" ——

To whom does that refer—the President of the City Council or the Mayor?

"If he is also absent or unable from any cause to perform such duties they shall be performed until the mayor or president of the city council returns or is able to attend to said duties by such member of the city council as that body may elect, and until such election by the city clerk. The person upon whom such duties shall devolve shall be called 'acting mayor.'"

To whom does that refer? Does that refer to the gentleman who might be selected in the absence of the President of the City Council? I leave that to your consideration.

"The person upon whom such duties shall devolve shall be called 'acting mayor' and he shall possess the powers of mayor only in matters not admitting of delay, but shall have no power to make permanent appointments except on the decease of the mayor."

Accepting that proposition for what it is worth, and not conceding that the former is incorrect, but for the time being conceding that the only duties which I can perform are those not admitting of delay, let us take the concrete case before us. And I wish to call to your attention, Mr. President, a precedent which we established here within three weeks. I haven't heard one member of the Council dispute its validity. Less than three weeks ago it appeared that a sea wall in Ward 3 leading to the Chelsea Bridge needed repairing, or there was need of a sea wall. Accordingly in my capacity as Acting Mayor I submitted to this City Council a recommendation asking that $4,000 be transferred from the Reserve Fund to an appropriation for the Park Department to perform that work; and on that communication, which was read by the Clerk, the rules were suspended and it was passed unanimously by this Council. On what theory, on what ground, did I proceed? I proceeded on the ground that it was a matter of necessity and ought to be attended to at once. I would like to have some one point out the difference between the two propositions on principle. One was a transfer of $4,000 to the Park Department to build a sea wall on a playground, and the second one, which is before us now, is a contemplated transfer of $25,000 to be appropriated for fifty more firemen. Coun. Smith said that I was at a conference when the Mayor said something in regard to the Fire Department. That is true. I have heard the Mayor state many things on which I did not agree with him, and on that particular occasion the thing which was up for our consideration was an increase of one hundred men in the Fire Department,—and to be more accurate, we did a lot of business that day, and in that conference we discussed about one hundred different subjects. Transfer order after transfer order was sent to us and we went down to talk over those propositions, and the firemen's matter was purely incidental to our call, and not primary. I disagreed with him then, but I disagree with him more strongly now, because while I have been in this office for the last two or three weeks I have given some study to this question which pertains to the lives and property of our citizens. Now what, you may ask, is the evidence on which I have to go forward in my case? The evidence which the Assistant City Clerk read is very clear. But I wish to point out a few extracts from that letter,—and by the way, the letter is a copy of the letter on file in the Mayor's office since April, 1911, —a few extracts from that letter which may be rather pertinent to the discussion before us. The Fire Commissioner writes:

"I have the honor to request that the City Council appropriate $75,000 to cover the salaries and expenses of additional firemen. The great necessity of these men is fully explained in the accompanying letter:

"'I desire to call your attention to the fact that the appropriation of this department, as passed by the City Council, has been reduced $68,966.45. This reduction makes it absolutely impossible for the department to enter upon any material expenditure without an additional appropriation.

"'Without an increase in the fire-fighting force proper fire protection for the city during the summer is very problematic. I request that this matter be brought to the attention of the City Council at once.'"

I wish to say, at the time the Mayor spoke about the Fire Department I had no knowledge— and I don't know whether the gentleman on my right had or not—of the existence of this very important letter. It brings us down to date. And what do we find the conditions to be, accurately? We find that seventy men are absent on their vacations, seventy men less than what we had way back here in April. Then, again, we had, as submitted by one of the previous speakers, a concrete illustration in a fire in Dorchester district. I wish to say that the Fire Department, in my opinion, is as efficient as it can be under the circumstances, but it is undermanned, and for concrete illustration take the case of the Dorchester fire, when, according to the report of the Fire Commissioner to me, that apparatus was about 25 per cent undermanned. Now, Mr. President, I have shown you a precedent on which we have acted, that of the $4,000 appropriation affecting the sea wall in Charlestown. I ask whether or not anyone disagrees with me, and if I have not stated the exact facts concerning that proposition. But it may be suggested that this order may have been impelled by some reasons other than that pertaining to the public safety. I submit, sir, nothing could be farther from the truth. I have gone into this matter carefully, deliberately, and with a consciousness that for the time being at least I am serving as a temporary chief executive of 700,000 people, and as such there is absolute evidence, an absolute preponderance of evidence, to the effect that the Fire Department is grossly undermanned. There are seventy men out on vacations at present, and here you have the commissioner's letter to the Mayor in April of last year, when he says: "If this thing continues the conditions in the summer time will be very problematic." I have done what I considered my duty and I owe an apology or an excuse to no man. I have done what I believed was right by myself and the community. I believed this was necessary. And I might submit in closing that the question whether or not it admits of delay or does not admit of delay is a question of fact, and as a question of fact the members of this Council are the judges. It is not purely a legal question; it is a question as to whether or not the circumstances warrant going forward. I believe that when the property and lives of our citizens are at stake it is an urgent matter; it is a matter that does not permit of delay; consequently I have offered this order and I sincerely trust—acting as I do for the betterment of the City of Boston, in my opinion—that this order will prevail. The sentiment of the community is back of me and I believe I have done what was right by my conscience, and I will be content, no matter what result the City Council may come to.

Coun. SMITH—Mr. Chairman, I think the Council owes the Acting Mayor thanks for stating his position in this matter. I think he has made it very clear to us just what authority he is acting under or what authority he thinks he is acting under. But the exact question before this body is whether the transfer of the appropriation asked for should be referred to the Executive Committee, and the purpose of referring it to the Executive Committee is to gain information from the Corporation Counsel as to whether this matter is legal or not, and my request of the Acting Mayor was whether he had any evidence on this point,— whether the Corporation Counsel had given to him any opinion as to whether the matter came within his powers as Acting Mayor?

Coun. COLLINS—Mr. President, as I have stated, and tried to state as clearly as I could, there are two contentions here. Take the second one, that I can do things not admitting of delay. The contention is that that is a question of fact on which we must pass as jurymen.

Coun. SMITH—Mr. Chairman, I still think that in spite of the explanation given by the Acting Mayor a majority of the Council feel that they would like to get the opinion of the Corporation Counsel. I think this is only a matter of courtesy to the Mayor who is in Europe and a matter of courtesy to the Corporation Counsel. I think it is only a matter of courtesy to the majority of the Council present who desire the opinion of Mr. Babson.

Coun. COLLINS—Mr. President, may I submit the only reason why I took the floor was due to my good friend on the right, who asked me whether or not I had any reasons, and if I did have any, to come to the open Council and explain them and perhaps we might have the matter threshed out here. Otherwise I can assure him, through you, Mr. President, that I never would have taken the floor.

Coun. SMITH—In the course of the President's remarks he has cited as a precedent for his action the matter of a $4,000 transfer for the sea wall in Charlestown, and I might recall to him the fact that that action was before the Committee on Appropriations before the Mayor left for Europe, and that the same Committee on Appropriations went to the Mayor's office in a body, and that the Committee on Appropriations is a committee of the whole,—and that while with the Mayor he expressed his approval of the transfer of that $4,000, expressed it without any possibility of a doubt,—but that when the transfers were sent in in a lump, the transfers asked for by the Park Department, the one with regard to the sea wall in Charlestown was omitted,—and my personal vote, regardless of the reasons others may have had in voting on the question, my personal vote on that $4,000 was based on the fact that I knew the Mayor had agreed to it and it was simply an oversight that it had not been contained in the appropriations asked for.

Coun. COLLINS—May I ask whether or not the order which came to this Council and which was acted on by this Council was not an order emanating from me as Acting Mayor for $4,000, and that the Council suspended the rules and passed it unanimously? Let the gentleman answer that question yes or no.

Coun. SMITH—Yes. But I have tried to explain my reasons for voting in the affirmative on that question. My reason was that it emanated not in reality from the Acting Mayor, hut in reality from the Mayor who was in Europe, and because of that fact and because of the fact that it had been discussed by the Committee on Appropriations and had been discussed on a tour we made, for that reason I voted, and not, as the President would have us helieve, as a precedent on other matters. Now with regard to his silence when the increase in the Fire Department was asked for by the Executive Committee before the Mayor left for Europe, he has explained that he did not realize the importance of that increase and that the increase asked for was one hundred instead of fifty. And yet it seems to me that does not free him from the hurden of not having expressed any opinion at that conference, in view of the fact that that was the main reason why we went there and was the first matter brought up, brought up concretely by the chairman of the Executive Committee. It seems to me his ignorance, as he has stated, at that time that the Fire Department needed fifty more men is a rather poor excuse for hringing it up at the present time. Also, in answer to Coun. Curley, who said he went down simply to get the Mayor's opinion, I would like to quote Coun. Curley's own words in the Council meeting of that same day, when he said: "I have no ohjection, since the councilor is agreeable to his Honor appearing hefore the committee, to have this order presented to the Executive Committee. I believe if the Mayor does come to that committee and the facts can he pointed out to him, that he has the interests of the city sufficiently at heart to warrant his making a suitable recommendation, which I trust he will make." In other words, Coun. Curley, no matter what his idea is to-day, on that day his idea was to go before the Mayor and urge strongly with him, stating the facts, an increase in the Fire Department. And why he did not utter one word on the subject of increase when we came hefore the Mayor he has not yet explained. I stand here to-day favoring an increase in the Fire Department; I think it is vitally necessary to this city to increase the fire-fighting force, and any vote I make on the question I don't wish to have construed to the opposite effect. Yet I tell you frankly I was the only man at that conference with the Mayor in favor of increasing the fire-fighting force. Coun. Curley introduced the resolution and said not one word in its support, and other councilors sitting around here who seemed in such fevered heat to get an increase said not one word in support of that resolution. It seems to me some of us have been asleep, and I leave it for the public to judge who have been asleep and to judge why this matter is brought up in the absence of the Mayor, and why also, they are trying to push it through without any opinion hy the Corporation Counsel. It is simple courtesy to have the opinion of the Corporation Counsel and to allow the memhers of this Council to hear what the Corporation Counsel thinks,—and I think the public will judge it as a political move, if this matter is pressed in the unseemly way in which it is now heing pressed in the absence of the Mayor.

Coun. HALE—I listened with a great deal of interest to the Acting Mayor's elahorate and careful opinion as to his powers while holding such office. I want to ask him, if he is willing to answer them, two questions. In the first place, did he know that he could have passed this appropriation without coming to the City Council,—second, if so, why didn't he do it?

Coun. COLLINS—If I understand the gentleman's question right, I sent this communication to the City Council for the simple reason that it is in accordance with time-honored prccedent for the chief executive of the city, whether he is the temporary presiding officer of the city or the Mayor, to send these communications, and I respectfully ask, through you, Mr. Chairman, Coun. Hale to look at the minutes of the City Council for the many years past and see whether or not I am not proceeding in accordance with the accustomed law and order pertaining to such things.

Coun. CURLEY—Mr. Chairman, it is unfortunate that Coun. Smith on the other side of the Chamher can't quite comprehend the question that is under discussion. It is unfortunate for many reasons. It is particularly unfortunate because we are compelled to sit here and listen to the councilor glorifying himself. I feel that the most unfortunate condition in connection with this particular case is that the Council has not the power to strike off medals, because according to his own statement he certainly deserves one. I don't know whether it should be of metal or of leather, but he certainly has stated at least half a dozen times that he was the only one who had the courage to stand up for what he believed was right. Now, it is not a question of whether he had courage or whether we discussed it with the Mayor. The question, Coun. Smith, before the Council at the present time is the necessity of acting on the recommendation of the Mayor, the necessity of providing adequate fire protection. It is not a question of your courage that is a consideration here. Nobody has questioned your courage. We all recognize that you are a valorous hero and are possessed of great courage. But, Mr. Chairman, that is heside the point. The question under consideration is whether or no the people of Boston are to receive adequate fire protection. Every newspaper in Boston has advocated this proposition as advocated first hy the Boston Journal,——

Coun. SMITH—Mr. Chairman——

Coun. McDONALD—Will the gentleman yield?

Coun. CURLEY—I would he pleased to yield if he had yielded to me. Since he has not I do not care to. It was advocated first hy the Boston Journal, later by the Post, and then hy all the Boston papers, and also by those who have the hest interests of the Dorchester district at heart. And it would be advocated just as strenuously by the people of the Back Bay if the same conditions obtained in the Back Bay as obtained at the fire in Dorchester, and just as strenuously by the people of South Boston if the same unfortunate conditions ohtained there. But, Mr. Chairman, it is not a question of the needs of one particular locality or section of this city that we have before us. The question under consideration is the need of providing adequate fire protection for all the people of Boston. Now, then, Mr. Chairman, where is the necessity for referring this matter to the Executive Committee? I sincerely trust that reconsideration will prevail and that when reconsideration has prevailed the rules will he suspended, and the order will be placed upon its passage, so that the people of Boston who pay the taxes and who are entitled to adequate protection will receive that protection. Why, Mr. Chairman, you take a large concern in other cities — in many cases they maintain private fire departments of their own on their grounds, such as the General Electrie Works in Syracuse. They maintain an elahorate fire department on their own grounds, manned hy their own men, in addition to the protection furnished hy the city. And what is true in their case is true of many sections. There is no reason, Mr. Chairman, why we should not provide proper proteetion here. The people pay the taxes; they pay for fire protection; they pay for police protection; they pay for water; they pay for sewerage; they pay for schools, and they pay for all the other countless necessities that are supplied by the city; and they are entitled to adequate protection. It is not a question as to whether the Corporation Counsel will rule favorahly or adversely. It is a question of meeting the needs of the situation. We all recognize that it is an emergency case, and I believe we are all, privately at least, agreed that the Acting Mayor is acting fully within his rights—that he is meeting an emergency in the only way in which it should be met. As regards his Honor the Mayor, he is abroad. I want to say, Mr. Chairman, that I honestly believe if he had been present when that situation occurred in Dorchester that on the following day he would have recommended an increase of one hundred or fifty men, and he might have gone even a bit further. But, Mr. Chairman, we must meet this situation that confronts us, and I sincerely trust that the rules will he suspended and the order placed upon its passage.

Coun. BUCKLEY—Mr. President, this is not a question of postponing until another day the transfer from the Reserve Fund. It is simply a question of hearing this matter in the Executive Committee as the City Council has heen in the habit of doing ever since I have been a memher of that Council. And I don't think we ought to depart from the usual custom to-day. I think we ought to go into Executive Committee and thresh it out and get the Corporation Counsel's opinion as to whether or not the matter will be legal. I am in favor of this appropriation, but I want to do it as the City Council has been doing it in the past, and I am ready to vote for it to-day. But my friend Coun. Curley has stated in his argument that this condition has obtained in the City of Boston for two years. And Coun. Curley has been a member of this Board for eight years, I believe, and he certainly must have been negligent if he didn't bring this matter up before. It seems to me that the matter should have been attended to before. And why this great haste at this time? As I said, I am ready to vote on the matter to-day. But the possibility of Boston being burned up within the next three or four weeks is so remote that we don't go into that consideration at all. They talk about the Fire Department being undermanned and short-handed. But if such a condition prevailed in the Fire Department it is very funny to me they could take a baseball team to New York to play baseball. That consideration didn't enter into it. They certainly must have taken a little time off in addition to their day off. And I understand there are men detailed to the repair shop of the Fire Department. That should also be taken into consideration, and if so those men should be taken into the regular Fire Department work and mechanics should be given an opportunity in the repair shop, plumbers and mechanics and carpenters who are over thirty years of age, which is the age limit,— give those men the opportunity to go into the repair shop, and pull back into the regular engine house those firemen who are detailed in the repair shops, men who were employed by the City of Boston for the purpose of protecting lives and property. There is more to this situation than appears on the surface, and all those things ought to be taken into consideration before we act upon it, and I hope the Council will refer this matter to the Executive Committee where it can be fully and freely discussed. I am willing to discuss it right here in the open Board, but I don't believe in trying to force it down this way. You would think from some of the speakers that it was our habit to thresh everything out in the open Board, but I have stood here, and so has Mr. Curley, pleading to be heard in the open Board, and we have had seven votes against us. We want this matter heard in the Executive Committee.

Coun. SMITH—I only want to set one matter right. Coun. Curley misunderstood my application for a medal. He got it a hero medal. As a matter of fact it was only a time prize. I am very glad to accept Coun. Curley's apology for his being a month or two behind. It of course will appear queer to the public why he was so remiss when the matter has been up so long, as he himself states it has been, and it will, of course, appear to them peculiar why he did not state the great need of haste when his resolution was discussed in the meeting with the Mayor. But nevertheless we are willing to waive those matters and we simply ask him in his mad strife to gain a month whether he will permit of an hour's delay and have Corporation Counsel Babson come before us and give us his opinion on the legality of this matter. That is the only question we are considering at the present time—can he spare one hour of his valuable time to gain what he says is very cheap, the legal opinion of Corporation Counsel Babson?

Coun. HALE—The Acting Mayor in answer to my questions said, as I hoped he would, that the reason for his sending this order to the Council was on account of his respect for time-honored custom. Now the Acting Mayor knows just as well as I do that the time-honored custom in this Board and the city government is not to suspend the rules on an important matter like this but to let it go before the Executive Committee and hear everybody that knows anything about the matter. And I would like to say we ought to observe the time-honored customs and let this go before the Executive Committee and not steam-roller it through the way the Acting Mayor and his associates are trying to do to-day.

Coun. COLLINS—The gentleman in referring to time-honored customs is referring to something different from what I spoke of a few moments ago. I dare say my dear friend across the way will realize it is a different proposition on which he is talking now. I simply submitted it was a matter that did not permit of delay to justify voting for reconsideration. In my opinion it is simply a question of fact. I don't want to heap discourtesy on Mr. Babson, but I don't want his opinion on a matter that I feel is purely a matter of fact. Accordingly if the majority of the Council want to discuss this in executive session it is perfectly satisfactory to me, but I want to tell the reason why after consideration of the facts I should vote for reconsideration.

Coun. HALE—Coun. Collins has said he is satisfied with his legal opinion. He has also said he is going to vote for reconsideration, as I understand it. Now I should think that Coun. Collins would be willing to let those of us who are not so enlightened as to the law and have not made such a careful study have the benefit of the Corporation Counsel's opinion. It seems to me if he votes for reconsideration it is a direct effort to prevent us from getting this further light.

Coun. COLLINS—I am always willing to do what a majority of the members of the Council see fit to do. A majority of the members here want this matter to go to the Executive Committee, and the councilor who has just spoken knows that full well. I simply state my position as to what I believe to be right and accurate, and as far as my vote personally is concerned, even if it is the only vote, I believe, in justice to myself, I ought to do just as I am doing.

Coun. McDONALD—The question comes on reconsideration of the vote whereby the Council refused to suspend the rules.

Upon a vive voce vote the motion was declared carried, whereupon Coun. CURLEY doubted the vote and asked that the roll be called. The roll was called, and the motion was lost, yeas 3, nays 4, viz.:

Yeas—Coun. Collins, Curley, McDonald—3.

Nays—Coun. Buckley, Hale, Kenny, Smith—4.

Reconsideration was refused and the order was referred to the Executive Committee.

CHILDREN ON STREETS.

The following was received:

City of Boston,
Law Department, July 12, 1911.

To the Honorable the City Council,
City Hall, Boston:

Gentlemen,—I am requested in your name by the Assistant City Clerk for my opinion as to whether or not the proposed ordinance relative to children on streets could be enforced if adopted in its present form, and if not what are the difficulties in the way of its enforcement.

In reply I would state that the superintendent of police or a judge of one of our municipal courts could give an opinion as to the difficulties in the enforcement of the proposed ordinance which would be of some value. I have had no experience in criminal proceedings against minors for petty offences and do not know what evidence the courts would require, or what is usually done when minors below the age punishable by imprisonment are brought into court and fined for petty offences.

As I wrote to the Mayor under date of December 22, 1910, I think that the first section should be amended by inserting anotber exception substantially as follows: "or unless said cbild is traveling in the most direct course between the place of his employment or an evening school at which he is an attendant, and his home."

Without this amendment some question could be raised as to the legality of this ordinance.

The practical difficulties in enforcing the ordinance are those whicb apply to all statutes and ordinances imposing fines upon minors under fourteen years of age. The question is if they do not pay the fine or their parents do not pay it for tbem, what shall be done with them. The same question arises when the child breaks tbe Sunday law or plays baseball in the street or is guilty of a large number of petty offences.

Yours truly,
THOMAS M. BABSON,
Corporation Counsel.

Ordered, That his Honor tbe Mayor be and he is hereby authorized, in the name and behalf of the city, and in accordance with the provisions of chapter 25, section 50, of the Revised Laws of Massachusetts, to declare the rights and easements so taken in that portion of said strip of land lying to tbe east of Norfolk avenue, as shown on a plan signed by W. H. Bradley, Superintendent of Sewers, dated February, 1872, and deposited in the office of the Public Works Department, Sewer and Water Division, Sewer Service, and the sewer built therein, to be abandoned, such declaration of abandonment to be made for a nominal consideration.

On June 26 tbe foregoing order was read once and passed, yeas 7, nays 0.

The order was given its final reading and passed, yeas 7, nays 0.

SOLDIERS' RELIEF.

Coun. HALE, for tbe Committee on Soldiers' Relief, submitted a report recommending the passage of an order for the payment of aid to soldiers and sailors and their families in the City of Boston for the month of July.

Report accepted; order passed.

BINDING OF COMMITTEE RECORDS.

Coun. HALE offered an order—That the Clerk of Committees be directed to have properly transcribed and bound in convenient volumes the records of committees in his possession which have not yet been so transcribed; and that he be authorized to expend for the said purpose such sums from time to time as may be approved by the President of the City Council; the amounts so expended to be charged to the appropriation for City Council, Incidental Expenses.

Passed.

COST OF CONSTRUCTION, ETC., OF BRIDGES.

Coun. KENNY offered an order—That the Corporation Counsel be and bereby is authorized in the name of the City of Boston to apply to the Supreme Judicial Court for the appointment of commissioners under chapter 581 of the Acts of 1911 to apportion among the cities and towns and street railways the cost of construction, reconstruction and repairs of Chelsea Bridge, Meridian Street Bridge and Chelsea Street Bridge.

In connection with tbe order the Clerk read the following communication:

City of Boston,
Law Department, July 11, 1911.

Committee on Finance of the City Council,
City Hall, Boston:

Gentlemen,—Mr. Dever says that it is the desire of the Committee on Finance that the Corporation Counsel advise the committee whether it is expedient at the present time to authorize the loan of $250,000 for the reconstruction and repair of Chelsea Bridge before taking any prior action under the statute and how the rights of the city may be reserved in the matter of contribution.

In reply I would state that as the United States government has ordered that the Chelsea Bridge should be taken down unless it was reconstructed with a draw of suitable width prior to November 1, it is necessary that the loan should be voted and the contracts let at once. In my opinion the committee should report and the Council should pass the loan order immediately.

The order of the City Council authorizing me to apply to the Supreme Judicial Court for the appointment of a commission to apportion the cost can be passed at any time. There is no haste as to the appointment of a commission because the commission cannot apportion the cost until the work is done and the cost ascertained.

I have sent to Mr. Dever an order authorizing me to apply to the Supreme Court for the appointment of a commission.

Yours truly,
THOMAS M. BABSON,
Corporation Counsel.

The PRESIDENT—The question comes on the passage of the order.

The motion was carried and the order was passed.

Coun. KENNY—In view of the passage of that order and of the explanation which has been made to tbe Council by the Corporation Counsel, and inasmuch as we have already considered the matter in the Committee on Finance, in order that we may give this matter a first reading this afternoon, I move that we recall from the Committee on Finance the order for a loan of $250,000 for a temporary bridge to replace a bridge north of tbe Mystic river.

The motion was carried and the order was recalled, viz.:

Ordered, That the sum of two hundred and fifty thousand dollars ($250,000) be appropriated, to be expended by the Commissioner of Public Works, for the construction of a temporary bridge across the north channel of the Mystic river between the cities of Boston and Chelsea, said bridge to be built in conjunction with the city of Chelsea, under the statutes governing said joint construction, and to serve in place of the present structure known as "Chelsea Bridge Nortb"; and that to meet said appropriation the City Treasurer be authorized, with the approval of the Mayor, to issue bonds or certificates of indebtedness of the city to said amount.

Coun. KENNY—Before voting on the order I wish to say that I think this is a matter where the City Council should receive the congratulations of everybody for the course which this matter has pursued. In view of the action taken by the Council last year in deferring this matter we have to-day a law on the statute books which is going to compel the other municipalities to contribute for the construction of this bridge, which is to be a temporary bridge, and also the permanent bridge. And as I have said, I think it is a matter for congratulation, at least to the City Treasurer, that this has taken this course.

The PRESIDENT—The question comes on passing the order for a loan of $250,000 for a temporary bridge to replace the Chelsea Bridge North. The Clerk will call the roll.

The roll was called and the order was given its first reading and passed, yeas 7, nays 0.

SWIMMING POOL, PARKER HILL.

Coun. CURLEY presented a petition from the Parker Hill Improvement Association asking that the reservoir on Parker Hill be converted into a swimming pool.

In connection with the petition Coun. CURLEY offered an order—That the Park Commission and Bath Commission, sitting jointly, be requested to consider the advisability of establishing a swimming pool at Parker Hill and the cost of converting Parker Hill Reservoir to such use.

The order was passed.

DAY IN SEVEN, PENAL INSTITUTIONS EMPLOYEES.

Coun. CURLEY offered an order—That the Penal Institutions Commissioner be requested, through his Honor the Mayor, to grant all employees in the Institutions Department at Deer Island one day off in seven, as is now granted at the State Prison.

Coun. HALE—I think that ought to be referred to the Executive Committee. I would like to so move.

Coun. CURLEY—I have no objection to the order being so referred. I simply desire to state that a similar order was introduced about six weeks ago and was approved by the Board and that this order is identical with the one approved about six weeks ago. We have another mayor at the present time, and he may take a different view of it. That is why I introduce it now. I trust that the reference will not obtain.

The motion was carried, and the order was referred to the Executive Committee.

INVESTIGATION OF MILK PRICES, ETC.

Coun. CURLEY offered an order—That the District Attorney, through the City Council, be requested to investigate the increase in price of milk to consumers in Boston and vicinity with a view to determine if a combination exists among the milk contractors organized for the purpose of wringing unwarranted and extortionate prices from the consumers in violation of law.

The question came on the passage of the order.

Coun. CURLEY—Mr. Chairman, I would say in connection with this order that I am very strongly of the opinion that the increase in the price of milk to the general public in Boston and vicinity is entirely unwarranted; that while there was a scarcity of milk for the retail dealers during the heated spell, those engaged in the manufacture of ice cream had no difficulty whatsoever in obtaining all the milk that they desired to carry on their business. Now, then, Mr. Chairman, ice cream is a luxury, milk for infants and for general household usage is a necessity, and I believe, Mr. Chairman, that a combination does exist. I believe that the purpose of not furnishing the small dealers, the retail dealers, with the milk that was required by their customers, the general public, was part of a scheme adopted by the milk contractors for the purpose of convincing the public that there was a shortage of milk, and for the purpose of furnishing an excuse which might appear reasonable to the public for an unwarranted increase in the price of milk. I sincerely trust that the order will be approved and that the District Attorney's office will investigate, and if there is any combination of the milk contractors formed for the purpose of wringing unnecessary and unwarranted prices from the public, that those who are responsible will be prosecuted to the fullest extent of the law.

The order was passed.

DAY OFF FOR PICNICS.

Coun. BUCKLEY offered an order— That in accordance with the provisions of chapter 587 of the Acts of 1908, the officer or board in charge of each department be authorized to grant a holiday, without loss of pay, to the employees of such department or division thereof, on the day of the annual department or division picnic.

Passed.

DOUBLE TIME, BATH DEPARTMENT EMPLOYEES

Coun. McDONALD offered an order— That his Honor the Mayor be requested to instruct the Bath Trustees to allow all employees of the department working Sundays and holidays double time as part compensation for their services.

Referred to the Executive Committee on motion of Coun. HALE.

CLOSING OF STREETS.

Coun. McDONALD offered an order— That the Police Commissioner be authorized to close to travel by vehicles, except fire, police, hospital and mail wagons, Warren avenue, Berkeley, Appleton and Chandler streets, Columbus avenue, Park square, Boylston, Tremont, Bromfield, Washington, School, Beacon, Arlington streets and Columbus square on Thursday afternoon, August 10, 1911.

Coun. McDONALD—The Chair will say that that order comes within the limits of the new ordinance we just passed, in the event of its being signed, with the exception of one short block. It is a convention of Colored Elks coming here.

The order was passed, yeas 6.

SALE OF CHARLESTOWN ALMSHOUSE.

Coun. SMITH, for the Committee on Public Lands, submitted a report on the message of the Mayor, communication and order (referred June 26) for sale to the Boston Elevated Railway Company, for a sum not less than $72,000 the property in the Charlestown district known as the Charlestown Almshouse, with the land connected therewith, containing about 102,400 square feet—that the order ought to pass.

Report accepted and the question came on the passage of the order.

Coun. SMITH—This is a unanimous report by the committee who feel that the price offered by the Elevated Railway, $72,000, is a fair price. They feel this after consultation with the city real estate expert, Mr. Kiley, and after looking at the property. The property, contrary to our opinion before looking into the matter, has not any riparian rights and therefore is of no value as a dock or factory site.

The roll was called, and the order passed its first reading, yeas 6, nays 0.

TRANSFER TO DOMESTIC BUILDING, CONSUMPTIVES' HOSPITAL DEPARTMENT.

The PRESIDENT called up unfinished business, No. 5, viz.:

5. Ordered, That the City Auditor be and hereby is authorized to transfer the sum of $2,500 from the appropriation for Consumptives' Hospital Department, Completion of Second Ward, to the appropriation for Consumptives' Hospital Department, Domestic Building.

On June 26 the foregoing order was read once and passed, yeas 7, nays 0.

The order was given its final reading and passed, yeas 7, nays 0.

RELEASE OF CONDITIONS, BOYLSTON AND PROVIDENCE STREETS.

2. Ordered, That his Honor the Mayor be and hereby is authorized in the name and behalf of the city to execute an instrument satisfactory to the Law Department, whereby the city shall, so far as it may lawfully do so without affecting the legal or equitable rights of other persons, release the conditions, easements and restrictions now remaining in force, excepting, however, rights in party walls, upon certain lots on Boylston and Providence streets, heretofore conveyed by the city by deeds recorded with Suffolk Deeds as follows:

Book 512, page 121; Book 512, page 122; Book 512, page 123; Book 512, page 124; Book 512, page 125; Book 512, page 126; Book 526, page 235; Book 520, page 108; Book 525, page 286; Book 530, page 161; Book 541, page 138; Book 547, page 218; Book 547, page 218; Book 549, page 170; Book 549, page 170; Book 555, page 234; Book 558, page 281; Book 558, page 284; Book 560, page 168; Book 569, page 91; Book 569, page 105; Book 578, page 16; Book 578, page 291; Book 579, page 73; Book 583, page 248; Book 584, page 209; Book 588, page 293, Book 590, page 272; Book 590, page 273; Book 591; page 68; Book 594, page 125; Book 596, page 132; Book 597, page 53; Book 601, page 164; Book 602, page 16; Book 604, page 150; Book 605, page 58; Book 607, page 45; Book 625, page 201; Book 647, page 36; Book 703, page 177; Book 703, page 178; Book 703, page 179; Book 703, page 180; Book 710, page 79; Book 762, page 67; Book 795, page 177; Book 1826, page 394.

On June 28 the foregoing order was read once and passed, yeas 6, nays 1.

The order was given its final reading and passed, yeas 6, nays 1, Coun. BUCKLEY voting nay.

SALE OF LAND, DORCHESTER.

The President called up unfinished business, No. 3, viz.:

3. Ordered, That under the provisions of chapter 122 of the Resolves of 1846 the Board of Street Commissioners be hereby authorized by the Mayor and City Council of the City of Boston, as successors of the selectmen and inhabitants of the town of Dorchester, to sell, on or before September 1, 1911, at public auction to the highest bidder, a lot of land at the northeast corner of Gibson street and Dorchester avenue, containing 5,631 square feet, more or less, and the adjoining lot containing 4,353 square feet, more or less, held in trust under the will of Christopher Gibson, the sale of this land to net the city not less than four thousand dollars ($4,000); and that all moneys received for said land be paid to the City Treasurer, to be held as part of the Gibson School Fund.

On June 28 the foregoing order was read once and passed, yeas 8, nays 0.

Coun. SMITH—I find that Mr. Kiley did not anticipate selling the block of Gibson land before the middle or last of September, and I ask whether the date can be changed, September 1 to October 1, without delaying the order.

Coun. McDONALD—I don't think the Council have any right to make any change at this time—simply leave it on the table.

Coun. SMITH—I think it would be better to have the order take its reading regularly than try to amend it. I wanted to know if it could be done.

Coun. CURLEY—It seems the order has been read once and takes its second reading to-day and then goes ahead on its way. I would suggest that if the councilor wants delay he may lay it on the table.

The question came on passing the order.

The roll was called, and the order was given its final reading and passed, yeas 7, nays 0.

RELEASE OF RESTRICTIONS, PETERBOROUGH STREET.

The President called up unfinished business, No. 4, viz.:

4. Ordered, That the Board of Park Commissioners, with the approval of the Mayor, and by an instrument satisfactory to the Law Department, may in the name and behalf of the city modify and amend the restrictions contained in a deed given to the city by the heirs of Albert W. Nickerson, dated June 19, 1899, and recorded with Suffolk Deeds, Lib. 2622, page 104, so far as they apply to a lot of land owned by said heirs, and bounded southeasterly by Peterborough street one hundred feet, southwesterly by other land of said heirs one hundred thirty feet, northwesterly by a passageway one hundred feet, and northeasterly by land of Clara G. Brooks one hundred thirty feet, by altering or amending paragraph 2 of said restrictions, so as to permit the erection or placing upon said land of apartment houses costing not less than four thousand dollars per story for every twenty-five feet or less of frontage, and at the same rate for any greater width.

On June 26 the foregoing order was read once and passed, yeas 8, nays 0.

The order was given its final reading and passed, yeas 7, nays 0.

TRACKS AT CHARLES RIVER BASIN.

Coun. SMITH offered the following:

Whereas, The Charles River Basin is one of the most valuable assets of the City of Boston, from the financial as well as the æsthetic point of view; and

Whereas, The City of Boston has expended large sums of money in beautifying this basin and in certain improvements, particularly in the erection of the West Boston Bridge, so called, between Boston and Cambridge; and

Whereas, It is now proposed to construct tracks on said bridge for the operation of elevated trains; and

Whereas, It will be a cause of immense damage to the Charles River Basin if the operation of these trains results in excessive noise;

Resolved, That the Boston City Council recommend to the Board of Railroad Commissioners that said Board require such a construction of tracks on said bridge as will diminish, as far as practicable, the noise attending the operation of these trains.

Referred to the Executive Committee.

NEW HEALTH BOAT.

Coun. KENNY—Mr. Chairman, I would like to move to recall from the Committee on Finance the order for the loan of $48,000 for a new steamer for the Health Department to take the place of the "Vigilant." In making that motion I would like to say this to the Council—that after that loan order was placed before the Council by the Mayor on June 13 he submitted a later communication requesting us to take this money out of the Reserve Fund, practically withdrawing his loan order and recommending that this money should come from the Reserve Fund. Now, Mr. President, twenty-five years ago the "Vigilant" was built out of taxes. It was not a loan, it was built out of taxes, and this is merely an effort to construct a new boat to take the place of the "Vigilant" out of the Reserve Fund,—namely, in the same way,—and therefore it seems to me that this is an opportunity for the Council to get the money from the Reserve Fund and save the loan account so much. The Mayor in his communication to the Council a year ago, about the end of July, took occasion to recommend certain appropriations for a hospital and for a ferry, and if the members of the Council will read his letters they will see that he said at that time that it was good business methods to pay for these things, so far as we could, out of taxes. We have been all over these questions before, and threshed them out to some extent for the last week. I hope this motion will prevail and that the Council will give us a chance to bring this order before us this afternoon.

Coun. SMITH—I think the fact brought out by Coun. Kenny is important—that the "Vigilant" was originally built from appropriations and not from loans. But it should be noted that at the time the "Vigilant" was built the city faced a debt limit which was being reduced by operation of law, and that they stared in the face the fact that the City of Boston would exceed the debt limit for the succeeding year,—and as a matter of fact for the succeeding year after the "Vigilant" was built the debt limit was exceeded $2,380,000, so that the city had no option but to build the "Vigilant" out of the appropriations and not out of loans.

The question came on the motion of Coun. Kenny. The motion being declared carried, Coun. CURLEY doubted the vote and the roll was called, four voting in the negative and three in the affirmative, viz.:

Yeas—Coun. Collins, Kenny, McDonald—3.

Nays—Coun. Buckley, Curley, Hale, Smith—4.

The motion to recall the order from the Committee on Finance was lost.

REPORT ASKED FOR.

Coun. SMITH—I would like to ask for a report from the committee appointed on Governor's Island. As I understand it, Rule 24 called for a report from a special committee within three weeks.

Coun. McDONALD—The committee will be ready to report after recess.

RECESS TAKEN.

The Council voted at 5.40 o'clock p. m., on motion of President COLLINS, to take a recess subject to the call of the President.

The members of the Council reassembled in the Council Chamber and were called to order by the President at nine o'clock p. m.

W. B. Rice, 114 King street, Ward 24.

William Brummett, Centre street, corner Dorchester avenue, Ward 24.

Reports severally accepted; orders passed.

(3) Report on petition of Boston Elevated Railway Company (referred June 26) for elevated structure, platforms, station and approaches thereto at Washington and Dover streets—recommending the passage of the following:

Ordered, That the proposed location by the Boston Elevated Railway Company for an elevated structure, platforms, station and approaches thereto, at Washington and Dover streets, Boston, as shown on plan numbered 28,206, filed with the City Clerk, be and the same is hereby approved, so far as it is upon public ways or places.

The question came on passing the order, and upon a viva voce vote the order was declared passed.

Coun. SMITH—I ask for a reconsideration of the vote as I had the floor before the motion was put.

The question came on the motion for a reconsideration, and upon a viva voce vote, it was declared that reconsideration prevailed.

Coun. SMITH—I doubt the vote and ask for a verification by roll call.

President COLLINS—The Chair stated that reconsideration prevailed, just as the gentleman asked.

Coun. SMITH—I doubt the vote.

President COLLINS—As I understood the gentleman's motion it was to reconsider.

Coun. SMITH—It was. I had the floor before that motion was put.

A viva voce vote was again taken on the question of reconsideration and it was declared that reconsideration prevailed. Coun. SMITH doubted the vote and asked for a roll call, and upon the roll being called the motion for reconsideration was carried, yeas 5, nays 2, viz.:

Yeas—Coun. Buckley, Collins, Hale, Kenny, Smith—5.

Nays—Coun. Curley, McDonald—2.

Coun. SMITH—I only want to take a moment of the Council's time at this time. The location of this permanent station as asked for leaves only 3 feet of passageway on the sidewalk for the public. The rest is to be taken up by the exit of the elevated. Now all the four corners of Washington street are already taken, and if this goes through the four corners of Dover street will be taken. It seems to me in a construction of this size entailing the use of so much money the Elevated should look to the future and should allow the public more than 3 feet at that center of traffic to pass to and fro on the sidewalk. It is for this reason I am going to vote against the request. It seems to me unjust that the Elevated should grant the public only 3 feet of that sidewalk when the section is such a thoroughfare and is growing so rapidly. I think if we refuse this permit to the Elevated they would bring in some supplementary report showing how such an amount of room might be taken on the sidewalk—it might be through a building on the corner or through the present exit or exits directly back of the present ones—some way could be devised so that the public could be left more room at Dover street.

Coun. HALE—I agree with Coun. Smith on this proposition. I think it is very foolish to grant the demands of any of these big corporations where it is perfectly obvious that the interests of the community are being sacrificed. There is no getting around that in this case, because these staircases leave only 3 feet between the staircases and the buildings on Dover street on all four corners, and I think it is really an outrage when we are allowing a permanent structure like that to let one go up where the rights of the people are not protected. I think it is especially unfortunate in this case to have action taken when the member of the City Council who represents that district and was the man primarily instigating the delay is away. I think it would be grossly discourteous to Coun. Attridge to pass this at the present time. It would also be detrimental to the interests of the public at that point.

Coun. CURLEY—As I understand the proposition, Coun. Attridge voted in favor of the temporary location, and he would be in favor of the other—with relation to which proposition, Mr. Chairman, the representative of the engineering department that appeared before the committee stated that they proposed expending about $225,000 improving the L service on Dover street, so as to provide for the handling of eight or ten car trains. Their original intention was to establish an island there similar to that found at Thompson square and at Northampton and Washington streets. That was found impracticable, because of the width of both Dover street and Washington street at this point, and because, in addition to that, of the tracks crossing both Dover and Washington streets. Now, then, the proposition is to compel the company, in addition to expending $225,000 for improving the transit facilities at that point, to purchase the use of the four corners in a section of the city where property values represent many thousands of dollars. In my opinion, Mr. Chairman, to comply with the requirements demanded by Coun. Smith it would be necessary that the company pay in the neighborhood of a quarter of a million dollars for the purchase of those four corners and their use as he outlines. Now, congestion at this particular point is extremely noticeable to any person who has to travel from Dudley street to South Boston, leaving the train at Dover street. There have been at least two fatal accidents annually at this particular point for the last five years. The only way the situation can be remedied is by additional stairways. The traffic at Dover street is less than that on Washington street. It is not proposed to put additional stairs on Washington street, but it is so proposed on Dover street, and I feel, Mr. Chairman, in view of the necessity for improving our transit facilities and in view of the great expense that the company will be compelled to undergo in making the changes at Dover street, involving, as their engineer thinks, in the neighborhood of two million and a quarter, that it is unfair to ask them to expend an additional quarter of a million in providing exits within buildings at the four corners.

Coun. SMITH—I don't wish to be misunderstood. I suggested no such thing as the councilor has put in my mouth. I did not suggest that they buy all four corners. I simply suggested that we refer this back to the Elevated, telling them that we did not think they had allowed room enough for the public, and that they should draw up some alternative plans. And I trust to the ingenuity of their engineers to get at some other method there. I am making no suggestions as to what the Elevated should do, or for the spending of money. I simply say we are not justified, as representatives of the citizens of Boston, in allowing a public service corporation to make a permanent improvement looking forward to the future, and allowing the public only 3 feet on that sidewalk. It seems to me that we are not justified in that.

Coun. KENNY—Mr. President, I have examined the premises at the corner of Dover and Washington streets, and I can't see any other way out of it. It seems to me if they are going to furnish additional facilities for coming down from that structure that they must necessarily be confined to placing their staircase on Dover street. They already have four on Washington street. It is, of course, a very important matter, and the voting of this privilege by this Council to the Elevated ought to be looked upon as a very serious matter, and the Council should not, of course, pass this vote until they are satisfied that it is necessary. I would myself be very glad if I saw some way out of this. Dover street, by the way, is about as wide as Washington street at that point,—that is, the sidewalks are. I have looked the ground over and cannot myself see how they can do other than they are asking to do. But in order that each member of the Council may have a chance to investigate for himself, and awaiting the return of the member who resides in that neighborhood, it may be advisable to let this lie on the table until the next meeting and until we have an opportunity to meet with the officials. Therefore I move, Mr. President, that this matter lie on the table.

The question came on the motion of Coun. Kenny that the order lie on the table. Upon a viva voce vote the motion was declared carried, whereupon Coun. McDONALD doubted the vote, and upon a rising vote, four voting in the affirmative and two in the negative, the motion was carried.

(4) Report on order (referred to-day) that one day in seven be granted to the Penal Institutions Department employees—recommending its passage in the following new draft:

Ordered, That the Penal Institutions Commissioner be authorized, through his Honor the Mayor, to grant all employees in the Institutions Department at Deer Island one day off in seven as is now granted at the State Prison.

The question came on passing the order.

Coun. SMITH—This order as reported is inconsistent with the order just passed by the Council. The two orders—one referring to the Bath Department and the other to the Penal Institutions Department—are exactly similar in import. They both seek interference with the employees of those two departments. We have asked the opinion of Corporation Counsel Babson on that point this afternoon and he has repeated his advice of last year to the effect that that was not proper under the charter,— that we were especially barred under the charter from interfering with the employment of labor by the departments in the city. And if one of these orders fails to pass the Council the other should naturally. Of course we have the right to pass these things as any body has the right to pass them, the Chamber of Commerce, the Central Labor Union, or any other organization, but the order is not binding and it is against the spirit of the charter. Therefore, I shall vote against it, and I think the Council should be consistent and either kill both or pass both.

The question came on passing the order, and upon a viva voce vote the order was declared passed. Coun. HALE doubted the vote and a rising vote was taken, and the order was passed, four voting in the affirmative and three in the negative.

(5) Report on petition of Patrick J. O'Brien and John J. Byrne (referred to-day) for license to run power boats for conveyance of passengers on that portion of the Charles river between the town of Dedham and the city of Newton, bounded by the City of Boston—recommending the passage of the following:

Ordered, That a license be hereby granted to Patrick J. O'Brien and John J. Byrne, owners, and Patrick J. O'Brien, master, to run the power boat "Santa Maria," length over all 30 feet, beam 8 feet, for the conveyance for hire of passengers on that portion of Charles river between the town of Dedham and the city of Newton, bounded by the City of Boston. The said license to be for the term of one year and upon condition that no more than thirty passengers shall be carried at any one time, and that at least thirty life preservers shall be carried on said boat when used for the conveyance of passengers.

Ordered, That a license be hereby granted to Patrick J. O'Brien and John J. Byrne, owners, and Patrick J. O'Brien, master, to run the power boat "Pinta," length over all 30 feet, beam 8 feet, for the conveyance for hire of passengers, on that portion of the Charles river between the town of Dedham and the city of Newton, bounded by the City of Boston. The said license to be for the term of one year and upon condition that no more than thirty passengers shall be carried at any one time, and that at least thirty life preservers shall be carried on said boat when used for the conveyance of passengers.

Report accepted; orders passed.

(6) Report on message of Mayor and communication from the Bath Department (referred to-day) concerning cost of additional land, lockers, etc., at L Street Bath, South Boston—recommending reference of same to the Committee on Finance.

Report accepted; said reference ordered.

(7) Report on preambles and resolves (referred to-day) concerning the running of elevated trains on the West Boston Bridge, so called—that the order ought to pass.

Report accepted; order passed.

(8) Report on order (referred to-day) that all employees of the Bath Department working Sundays and holidays receive double time—that the order ought not to pass.

Report accepted; said order rejected.

(9) Report on message of Mayor, communications from Fire Commissioner, and order (referred to-day) that the City Auditor be and hereby is authorized to transfer the sum of $25,000 from the appropriation for Reserve Fund to the appropriation for Fire Department, Current Expenses, to be expended by the Fire Commissioner for the purpose of increasing the force by fifty men—that the order ought to pass.

The report was accepted and the question came on the passage of the order.

Coun. CURLEY—Mr. Chairman, I want to say in connection with this order that while I agree that the Corporation Counsel's opinion appears at first reading to be somewhat conclusive, the fact still remains that the fire chiefs recommend the appointment of eighty-two additional men for the Fire Department,—that the Fire Commissioner in a report submitted to the Mayor based on the recommendation of the fire chiefs recommended the appointment of fifty additional men,—that the Finance Commission after investigation concurred in the recommendation of the Fire Commissioner,—that these recommendations based on investigation were by men competent and familiar with the fire service,—that they were proof to the members of the City Council and to the public generally of the needs of the Fire Department in the matter of additional men,—that the conflagration in Dorchester only tended to emphasize the necessity for those additional men,—and that if anything that conflagration at Dorchester, backed up by the report of the fire chiefs and of the Fire Commissioner and of the recommendation of the Finance Commission, constituted to my mind a complete and an entire case and warranted the Acting Mayor in the appointment of fifty additional men. Now, Mr. Chairman, there is evidently somebody at fault in the entire proposition. I understand that the Fire Commissioner has made a statement to certain members of the Council to-day that if the City Auditor informed him that he would not approve of the payment of salaries to those men in the event of their appointment, that he would not appoint them regardless of what action might be taken by the City Council. I hesitate about venturing an opinion as to the Fire Commissioner's knowledge of fire fighting, but I do feel that the Fire Commissioner either does not know his business or those men are necessary. I want to say that I shall vote in favor of the passage of this order, believing that it is an emergency case, and that the services of the men are necessary for the protection of the public and of public property, and I trust the order will pass.

Coun. HALE—Mr. President, in this matter that is before us it seems to me two entirely different questions are involved; the first question is: Does the Fire Department need fifty more men? I think every member of the Council is agreed on that, that the Fire Department does need fifty more men. I don't think there is any dispute about that. I know I don't dispute it. The second question is: Shall we appropriate money for these fifty more men now or shall we wait three weeks and appropriate the money then or persuade the Mayor to send in an order appropriating the money at that time? On this question there seems to be a good deal of difference of opinion. I, for one, am against appropriating the money now, and for three reasons; in the first place, I consider that the appropriation of money now is illegal; in the second place, I consider that it is ineffectual because it will not accomplish its purpose; and in the third place, I consider that there is another method by which the time until the Mayor returns can be covered. I will explain these three reasons somewhat in detail. In the first place, I think——

President COLLINS—The Chair respectfully suggests that the gentleman confine himself to the order. If he has another order to offer subsequently, the discussion of that will come later.

Coun. HALE—I shall do that unquestionably. In the first place, I think it is illegal. I shall not go into the reasons for that; I shall rest squarely upon the opinion given by Corporation Counsel Babson. I understand that the Acting Mayor before he sent in this had not consulted the Corporation Counsel. The Corporation Counsel has submitted an elaborate and, in my opinion, a very able opinion on this subject, and I think that he has completely convinced me that the Acting Mayor has no authority to send in this order and that the order is therefore illegal. The second point is that the order would not accomplish its purpose. We have had a great deal of talk about how the public needs this protection, and the people on the other side have assumed that by voting for this we will accomplish this purpose. Now, we have had undisputed testimony that if we pass this order the purpose will not be accomplished. The Corporation Counsel has ruled that it is illegal. The City Auditor has stated, through Mr. Leahy, the secretary of the Mayor, that he will not approve of the salaries. The Fire Commissioner has stated that if the Corporation Counsel rules against this order and if the City Auditor, relying on the Corporation Counsel's opinion, refuses to authorize the salaries or pay the salaries, that he, the Fire Commissioner, will refuse to appoint the men. Therefore, as I said before, even if we pass this order there will be no increase in the Fire Department, and no better protection to the property of the citizens of Boston. In the third place, as I said, there is another way of protecting the people of Boston during the next month which will be covered by an order which I shall submit in case this order is not victorious.

Coun. SMITH—Mr. President, I think the Council owe Corporation Counsel Babson a vote of thanks for the able opinion he has rendered on this subject, especially in view of the fact that he was not asked by the Acting Mayor to give an opinion, and it was not until late in the afternoon that the Council called upon him for an opinion. I entirely agree with the Corporation Counsel. I was of that opinion before he rendered his report and I am more than ever of that opinion now. It seems to me that he has added many new reasons for holding that opinion. I think that the paragraph that the Acting Mayor read this afternoon in regard to the powers of the Mayor would be construed by any fair-minded citizen to mean simply that the Acting Mayor had the powers of the Mayor for appointments only in cases of great public necessity. I agree with the Corporation Counsel in that interpretation of the wording. It then comes down to a question of whether there is a great public necessity at the present time for an increase in the Fire Department. In other words, what public necessity has arisen to justify the Acting Mayor in this transfer since his Honor left town? Any reasons given for that act antedating the Mayor's leave are not in point. Necessity for these firemen has existed for several years. It was shown clearly in the fire which happened last August in the wool district, which pointed out a greater public necessity for additional firemen than did the fire in Dorchester the other day. And yet the Mayor, in spite of that fire last August, did not treat the matter as of sufficient importance to warrant a request for more firemen. Since then the Fire Commissioner has repeatedly asked for them and the Mayor has referred the matter to the Finance Commission, and they have reported on it, and yet the Mayor has not seen fit to ask us for more firemen. Consequently the burden of the shorthandedness of the Fire Department—and I think the Council agrees it is shorthanded—the burden for that condition rests upon the Mayor. It cannot be said in any sense to rest upon the Acting Mayor. And no great public calamity has arisen that would point out the necessity to any greater extent than before Mayor Fitzgerald left town. It is, therefore, hard for me to see how the Acting Mayor justifies sending down this order at the present time. And it is only by justifying it on the basis of a public calamity that we can be expected to vote for it. Now I stand here, as I have stood for several months, willing to vote for fifty additional firemen. I was ready to act, when the other members of the Council apparently were not ready to act, on an increased fire force. And I tell you to-day that I will act on this matter as soon as the Mayor puts it up to us. But I will not support an illegal act of the Acting Mayor in lieu of a legal act of the real Mayor. If his Honor feels there is any added necessity for firemen, when he returns to Boston, I will be the first man to support any request of his for additional firemen. Now, what are the actual facts? If this order is passed and these firemen are authorized they will not be appointed for a week or ten days. They will need one month's training, under the rules of the department, and the consequence will be that no firemen will be added to the department until after Mayor Fitzgerald returns to town. It therefore seems to me we are acting for reasons other than a great public necessity. I hesitate to go into these reasons, which seem to me to be really reasons other than that of public necessity. I think it is fair to say that they are political. The gentlemen who are supporting this motion, who wish to force through this addition to the Fire Department in the absence of the Mayor, upon whose shoulders rests the responsibility for the shorthandedness of the department, must either show public necessity, which they have failed to do up to date, or else they must bear the odium of knowing that this is a political act brought about at this time for political reasons.

Coun. KENNY—Mr. President, when the Mayor left Boston on the 26th of June he did not go to Philadelphia; he did not go to Chicago; he went to Europe; and he placed himself beyond the pale of the performance of his duties in the city by going to Europe. Suppose the Mayor were to remain in Europe for a year or eight months or for six months. Suppose while the Mayor was in Europe he was taken ill. Would anybody contend that the Acting Mayor would not have the right to send an order to this Board such as he has sent within the last few days on which we are now acting? Now, Mr. President, the Mayor of Boston has incapacitated himself from performing his duties. When he left the City of Boston he left the City of Boston under a certain status. He left a Fire Department here. He left a Fire Commissioner. He left a City Council and an Acting Mayor. My contention is that the status of things has changed from the time the Mayor left the city up to the time of the conflagration in Dorchester. I would admit that before that Mr. Babson was correct in his statement of the law, but much as I respect Mr. Babson's opinion,—and I have a very high regard for him both as a lawyer and a man,—much as I respect his opinion, I contend that a new condition of things arose in Dorchester and that if the Mayor himself had been in the city the day following the Dorchester conflagration he would have done probably just what the Acting Mayor has done. He would have seen the necessity that was then manifest of the increasing of the Fire Department. Now this is no reflection on the Mayor. The Acting Mayor is just as conscientious, I believe, in the performance of his duties as the Mayor was when he was here, to say the least. I believe that when the Acting Mayor determined that an emergency had arisen, that he had an exigency to meet here in Boston, he was just as conscientious in trying to meet that as the Mayor of Boston would have been had he been here. And he is the Mayor of Boston under the circumstances. His title is Acting Mayor, but the real Mayor has placed himself beyond the pale of this city where he cannot act. Last summer the mayor of New York started to go to Europe. And what happened? He was shot on the steamer in New York Harhor. He was taken to the hospital and was there for several months. New York had an acting mayor. Did anybody question during that time the right of the acting mayor of New York to perform the duties of mayor? I claim that the Mayor of Boston, by reason of his absence in Europe, has incapacitated himself from performing his duty, and that under the law it becomes the duty of the Acting Mayor, under the discretion which the law gives him, acting with reasonable discretion, having the advice of the Fire Commissioner,—as I understand he has had that advice since the conflagration in Dorchester,—to act in accordance with puhlic necessity. And I claim that there is now manifest necessity for increasing the Fire Department. I say he is strictly within his rights in sending to this Board the order which he has sent. We all realize, I think, so far as the statements made here go to show the state of mind of the various members, that there should be an increase in the numher of the members of the Fire Department. The Finance Commission took this matter up very thoroughly and investigated it and made a report that there should be at least fifty new men added, and I helieve the Mayor himself if here to-day would advocate the increase of the numhers which we hy this order have the power to provide for. Now I think it is very ungenerous for my friend on my left to make the suggestions which have heen made here this evening, questioning the intention and the good intentions of the Acting Mayor in sending in this order. I, for one, firmly helieve that the Acting Mayor is acting conscientiously, fearlessly, and he is entitled to the greatest credit for what he has done. He has had the courage of his convictions. He believes a new condition has arisen here and that it must be met, and if he will not do it, who will do it? Suppose there had been two or three fires since the Dorchester fire and it was manifest after each one that the department was undermanned? Would anyone say then that the Acting Mayor, exercising reasonable discretion, should not come in here and ask to have the force increased for the protection of lives and property? Now, Mr. President, we members of the Council have a duty to perform. Mr. Bahson has given us his opinion, it is true, but that is not altogether hinding on us. If we are in doubt about it I think we should accept Mr. Babson's opinion; hut if we are not in doubt ahout it, holding the opinion that I hold, that a new condition of things has arisen and that it becomes the duty of the Acting Mayor to meet the emergency, which he is now doing hy sending this order to the Board, I helieve the Board owes it to the City of Boston to pass this order and put it in force.

Coun. BUCKLEY—As I said in the Council this afternoon, Mr. President, I am ready to vote for this proposition to-day, and I also believe that Boston should have a larger Fire Department, but it seemed to me as a matter of courtesy that the Corporation Counsel of the City of Boston should he consulted as to the legality of the proceedings. While we have heard his very ahle opinion and while there is a doubt in my mind ahout section 47 of the city charter, referring to the President of the City Council as Acting Mayor, in case he was ahsent, and also the real Mayor if he was ahsent from the city, and as to what powers he had, I believe the Acting Mayor, if he is President of the City Council, has the powers of the Mayor under that section, because that has not heen cleared up to my mind satisfactorily. Therefore I believe we ought to pass the order this afternoon. There is no doubt in my mind hut that we need a larger Fire Department. And even although the Corporation Counsel says it is illegal and the City Auditor says he won't audit the hills, if they don't do that in case of a conflagration the responsibility is theirs, not ours. After we pass the order we have done all that we possibly can do in order to increase the Fire Department of the City of Boston. As I said in the session this afternoon, having the matter referred to the Executive Committee, I am perfectly willing to vote for the order to-night. I would have heen this afternoon if it had gone through the regular routine that all the orders of such a nature have gone through the past year. But I don't believe in suspending the rules in order to get things through, particularly when the rules have not heen suspended during the year and a half that I have heen a memher of the City Council. I believe in following the same policy that has been followed. I don't believe this order is sent in for political reasons or for political motives. I believe that the Acting Mayor really helieves, as a majority of us helieve, that the Fire Department ought to he increased; hut I think with my friend Coun. Curley that perhaps the Fire Commissioner of the City of Boston doesn't understand his duties; and if he did, with the Fire Department so short-handed as it was, I helieve that he would not have allowed the basehall team to go to New York. He may say they went there on their day off, hut they had to take more than one day to go to New York and return. And it would also he a good scheme to pull in those men who are in the repair department of the Fire Department, to make those men go into the Fire Department, and in that way enlarge the department and get the hest department in the country. Those things should be attended to. When a man has heen put to work in the Fire Department as a member of the department he ought to he working in some engine house and not working as a machinist or carpenter in the repair department. He should be compelled to live up to the rules. There should he no favors shown, hut they should he compelled to come out and work in the Fire Department houses, and with them working where they ought to be the Fire Department would he in much better condition.

Coun. KENNY—I want to add one more word to what I was saying. We must not lose sight of the fact that the Acting Mayor is not making these appointments. The appointments will be made under the law by the Fire Commissioner. We will be merely providing the ways and means for the commissioner to perform his duties as Fire Commissioner.

Coun. SMITH—Since the charter is plain to the average reader that the Acting Mayor does not have the power he is now using except in case of extreme puhlic necessity, it is necessary for the supporters of this measure to show that great public necessity, and this up to date they have absolutely failed to do. Coun. Kenny says that matters have changed since the Mayor left the city in regard to the Fire Department, but he has made no proof of that. He has brought forward no facts or figures. He has simply rested his vote on his hald assertion. It is necessary for them to show some great puhlic calamity, some great necessity for this order, and what have they shown?—the Dorchester fire. The letter which they refer to is of April 11 from Commissioner Daly and it was in the hands of the Mayor before he left the city and it caused him no feeling of dread about the fire protection of the city. He saw no reason to take action on it. He saw no reason to take action on the Fire Department of the city after the severe fire of last August, more severe than the one they are now hringing up. I hold that under the present charter it would he necessary to show a fire similar to the Chelsea fire, some great conflagration, to justify the Acting Mayor in this course. They have shown no public necessity. He could act in case of a great epidemic, or a great fire such as that of 1872, hut he cannot base his acts alone on the fire that occurred in Dorchester the other day. Twenty-three firemen responded. They helieve that thirty ought to have been there. But is that the hasis for using what the Corporation Counsel tells us is an illegal power? Now unless they do show some great puhlic necessity, I don't say that they are acting for political motives hut I say that they are throwing themselves open to the charge of voting for political purposes in supporting this order. Either they have got to show puhlic necessity or they have got to stand the odium of voting for political reasons.

Coun. McDONALD in the chair.

Coun. COLLINS—I did not purpose, Mr. President, to take the floor again to-night, were it not for an ill-advised and undoubtedly not well considered remark of the gentleman on my right when he said earlier in the night that political purposes prompted this order. I might say, through you to him, and say it advisedly and fearlessly, that what he says and what he intimates is ahsolutely without a scintilla of truth at its foundation. It is a conclusion which he has arrived at through a process singular to his own particular makeup. I introduced this order for one purpose in particular, namely, I believed it was my duty as Acting Mayor to do this because I thought that there was a constant menace to the community. And with reference to the last point which he has tried to make—he has wanted to know what that calamity was. I am going to tell him in plain language that the undermanning of the Fire Department by at least 25 per cent is, in my opinion, a constant calamity to this community. He has said a few minutes ago that perhaps political purposes prompted this action. I want to ask him, through you, if every reputable newspaper in this city was prompted by political purposes when they advocated this—the Boston Globe of this morning, the Boston Journal every day for weeks past, the Boston Traveler—are they prompted by political purposes when they say there is an absolute and crying need for these men?

Coun. SMITH—I would be glad to answer that if you make it a question.

Coun. COLLINS—I wish to state that if the gentleman has any question to ask me in ordinary parliamentary procedure I would he glad to answer it.

Coun. SMITH—I have an answer to make to his question.

Coun. COLLINS—I ask the Chairman to rule on the point of order.

Coun. McDONALD—The Chair will state that Coun. Collins has the floor.

Coun. COLLINS—I say that the constant undermanning of the Boston Fire Department is a constant daily menace to this community, and I wish, through you, sir, to thank Coun. Kenny and the other councilors here—Coun. Curley and Buckley—for looking at my motives from their proper point of view, and in that I include yourself, Mr. Chairman. Those motives were prompted by a sense of high duty after careful consideration. I did not offer this order the next day after his Honor the Mayor sailed to Europe. I waited until I helieved that the sentiment of the entire community of Boston demanded it, and even then I was not in favor of doing it unless I helieved that that sentiment was right and until after thorough investigation and after finding out that the Boston Fire Department was undermanned. And I challenge contradiction of that statement. I believed it was my duty to preserve the lives and conserve the properties of our citizens, to send in this order. The gentleman speaks of Corporation Counsel Bahson—that I never asked his opinion. Mr. President, that is true, and I want to be equally frank with this Council as I have tried to he with myself and with the community hy stating that the reason why I did not ask the Corporation Counsel his opinion was that I helieved it would he biased. After listening to the gentleman to-day and asking him a great numher of questions I am convinced that his opinion was biased. We are all men, Mr. President. Corporation Counsel Bahson holds a high position through the kindly offices of the administration, and it is not unlikely that he would try to favor the administration in his rulings. I submit that it is simply a question of fact whether or not an emergency has occurred. I asked him to try to differentiate hetween the building of a $4,000 sea wall on the Mystic Playground in Charlestown and the sending in of this appropriation order, and the only answer I could get was that the firemen proposition cost a great deal more money and that if the firemen were once on the pay roll they never could be put off. The principle was exactly the same. In each case as Acting Mayor I sent in an order asking that the money he appropriated. In the first case the Council acted upon it favorably. No suggestion was ever made at the time that political motives were behind my action. Why at this particular time? Mr. President, in closing I only wish to emphasize what I said earlier in the afternoon, that what I have done I have done with a full helief that the interests of the community, the sentiment of the community and my own common sense all concurred in this conclusion, that there was a constant emergency, and I went forward.

Coun. SMITH—Using the closing words of the previous speaker—he says that the sentiment of the community and his own common sense lead him to believe that the Fire Department is constantly undermanned. I think at least five times in his short talk he used the words "constantly undermanned." And I suppose he didit advisedlly. That is exactly the position of the whole Council on that matter. The Fire Department has been constantly undermanned for at least two years. And I have asked the gentleman twice here already why he brings in this order. What great puhlic necessity justifies him that he should ask for this transfer in the absence of the Mayor? Why did he not ask it hefore the Mayor left? I stood here willing to vote for that transfer at any time the Mayor might have sent it in. I realized that the force was undermanned, and some of the councilors here seem to have heen asleep to that fact. The circumstance that we have now awakened to the situation does not justify them in doing what the Corporation Counsel tells us is illegal. They can very well wait for the return of the Mayor. The burden is upon his shoulders. It has not heen shifted. They have not shown a great puhlic calamity such as would warrant the use of this power. Again I ask Councilor Kenny or the President to answer the question,—state what great public calamity justifies him in taking this step. Until they leave the broad general grounds using the words "constantly undermanned" and "constant menace," until they come down to something that happened since the Mayor left town, they have not shown any justification for their present act.

Coun. COLLINS—Mr. President, in answer to the gentleman, I was trying to he as specific and short as possihle. I will take just about two minutes, Mr. President. What is the specific danger? The answer is found in the letter of the Fire Commissioner.

Coun. SMITH—Mr. President, I did not ask that question.

Coun. COLLINS—The statement found in the letter of the Fire Commissioner, on April 11, is—"Without an increase in the fire-fighting force proper fire protection for the city during the summer is very prohlematic. I request that this matter he brought to the attention of the City Council at once."

We are now in the midst of the summer. According to Corporation Counsel Babson, sixty-five men are on vacation. According to information which I ohtained to-day from the Fire Commissioner, seventy men are on vacation. I believe that is a specific answer to the specific question that he asked me. Now the councilor is very strong on drawing conclusions. He says this is an illegal act——

Coun. SMITH—Mr. President, I ask for a reading of the records.

Coun. COLLINS—The question whether this is an illegal act or not is a question for the Supreme Court of Massachusetts to pass upon and not for that gentleman. Nor is the Corporation Counsel infallible on that particular question. Accordingly I submit that the constant danger, and I say the constant danger particularly applying to the present time, the time we are acting on now, the summertime, is an emergency. The Fire Department is terrihly undermanned and we have specific illustration in the Dorchester fire, and I helieve that is an adequate answer to the question.

Coun. SMITH—I am sorry to disagree with the last speaker, because his answer seems to me entirely inadequate. The fire force is greater to-day than it was last year in numhers. The letter which he quotes from the commissioner is dated April 11, hefore the Mayor left town, and I asked him specifically for some reason why he thinks the responsihility for the undermanning of the Fire Department, which has existed for two years, and which he does not deny, has suddenly shifted to his shoulders and why in his opinion there is a great public necessity at this moment, greater than there has been for two years, to shift the responsibility from the real Mayor to his own shoulders. And I say that unless he shows that, he throws himself open to the very severe charge of using the measure to bring ahout political ends.

Coun. COLLINS—The gentleman says,—what is the particular danger at present—and he says that for two years or a year—I don't know—something of that kind—that the Fire Department has heen undermanned, or intimates that. I wish to say that two wrongs never made a right. I wish to say that I am the Acting Mayor of this city at the present time, and hold myself answerahle to the citizens of Boston for the proper conduct of fires at the present and for the next four weeks, at least, in the City of Boston. I helieve mine is the responsihility, and the reason why I am acting is because I don't believe that the matter admits of delay. I hope I have heen clear to the gentleman.

Coun. CURLEY—Mr. Chairman, I have no desire to end this discussion which I enjoy greatly, witnessing the performance of the reform members on the other side of the Chamber antagonizing one another. The fact remains, Mr. Chairman, that Coun. Smith feels that there have not heen sufficient facts presented to warrant his favoring this order. Now, Mr. Chairman, it is only by the establishment of facts or by citing an illustration that we can bring the case more vividly home to Coun. Smith and perhaps induce him to vote in favor of the order. I want to point out to Coun. Smith that it was not the ability of the Fire Department to cope with the situation that made possible the suppression of the fire in the Dorchester district, but that it was the kindness of the Almighty—and that if the breeze had been blowing at fifty to sixty miles an hour on that day, entire Dorchester would have been wiped out and no power could have saved it. Now if that does not constitute an emergency, then I don't know what an emergency is. The Corporation Counsel's contention is that if there were some marked disease current in the community the Acting Mayor would then have the right to recommend a sufficient appropriation for the suppression of that disease. Well, the disease was present in the fire. The contagion was not there because of the absence of the wind. I feel it is drawing a pretty fine line. Knowing the Mayor of Boston, John F. Fitzgerald, as I do, and knowing how close he usually is to the common pulse, I am satisfied that if he had been at home in Boston after the Dorchester fire that he would readily recommend the appointment of fifty to one hundred additional men. Now as regards the matter of playing politics, personally I feel that playing politics, so far as the mayoralty is concerned, is a pretty long distant game, and that there won't be any occasion for playing practical politics for about two years and a half more,—and it is a question whether the Acting Mayor will have the inclination to court defeat two years and a half from now or take a chance of victory; but the fact remains that it is unfair to accuse him of playing politics because the natural course for a man to pursue who has a legal mind such as is possessed by the Acting Mayor, after the Corporation Counsel's opinion, would be to support the contention of the Corporation Counsel, if he were playing politics. But if he were really desirous of serving the best interests of the people of Boston, he would stick to his original position, and that is what he is doing. And I don't feel he is playing politics in doing it. I feel he is doing just what the Mayor would do if he were at home. He is doing just what will conserve the best interests of the people of Boston. Now the Corporation Counsel's opinion is based upon figures obtained by him. The figures obtained by him are no better than the figures in the possession of the members of the City Council; they are all derived from the same source. It is a question of his opinion as against the opinion of a majority of the members of the Council, as against the opinion of the united Press of Boston, and against the opinion of the public generally in Boston. And I contend, Mr. Chairman, that even though his opinion is adverse to the position that may be taken by a majority of the members of the City Council, that he is in no sense infallible and that the Supreme Court may overrule his contention in the event of a majority of the members of this Board voting in favor of this proposition. Now, then, the proposition resolves itself into the question of what constitutes an emergency. The fire chiefs made a recommendation, and they really have some knowledge of fighting fires. I personally believe that Mr. Daly's knowledge of fighting fires is confined to a perusal of "Little Gretchen, the Match Girl," or some similarly varied experience of that kind. I don't believe he knows anything about fighting fires. But I do believe the fire chiefs know something about fighting fires, and their opinion is that eighty-two additional men are required in the Fire Department. The opinion of the Finance Commission is that at least fifty men are required. And a recommendation of the Fire Commissioner favors the appointment of fifty additional men. Now, I believe that if the Mayor were at home he would insist on the appointment of fifty or a hundred men. I believe we have a duty to perform regardless of the opinion of the Corporation Counsel in this particular instance, and that is to carry out the will and the wish of the people of Boston,—the taxpayers who send us here,—not to bother over little quibbles over technicalities as to what constitutes an emergency and what doesn't.

Coun. SMITH—I wish to thank Coun. Curley for at last answering the question I have been asking—what great public necessity has arisen since the Mayor left town to justify this illegal act? He has said that it was rather a negative necessity; it was the fact that the wind did not blow fifty miles an hour at the Dorchester fire. If every time the wind does not blow fifty miles an hour the Acting Mayor of this city is to take upon himself some power which the charter gives to the real Mayor, I think we will have many of these scenes re-enacted here. He goes on to say that if the wind had blown fifty miles an hour no force could have stopped all Dorchester going up in smoke. In other words, he would favor a changing of the building laws as the great public necessity before the Council at present, and not an increase in the Fire Department. And I agree with him that no power could have stopped that if there had been a wind fifty miles an hour. But that has nothing to do with the increase of the Fire Department. It has more to do with changing the building laws, and unfortunately even the Acting Mayor cannot change the building laws. I believe the Legislature has turned down a recommendation of the Mayor to that effect this year. But that, gentlemen, is the only suggestion thus far in all the talk that has gone on this afternoon and evening as to the great public necessity that permits the Acting Mayor to do this unusual act—the fact that the wind did not blow fifty miles an hour.

Coun. CURLEY—I might call the gentleman's attention, if he will yield, to several others that were pointed out—one in particular—a recommendation of the fire chiefs who, as I say, understand their business. They recommend eighty-two additional men.

Coun. SMITH—I am sorry to correct the gentleman, but that recommendation was made April 11. I have asked for some great calamity happening since the Mayor left this town. That was made April 11 when the Mayor was here, and he takes full responsibility for going away and leaving that matter unattended to.

Coun. CURLEY—That is just one thing I have pointed out. Then there is the communication of April 11 by Mr. Daly in which he says that without an increase in the fire-fighting forces proper fire protection for the city during the summer is very problematical. That is an additional reason, if one is necessary. The report of the Finance Commission is a third reason, if one is necessary.

Coun. SMITH—May I suggest that the report of the Finance Commission was made even before April 11, some months ago, and that the Mayor takes the responsibility of not having acted on that. I am asking for a great public necessity which has arisen since the Mayor left town.

Coun. CURLEY—Now, Mr. Chairman, this report was made on April 11, that the fire-fighting force was not proper fire protection for the city during the summer, and since that report seventy men have gone on vacation. Well, now, if it was not proper fire protection for the city when there were seventy additional men surely you will not contend that the service was improved by the absence of seventy additional men. Now, then, Mr. Chairman, on this particular point, just a step further—an additional reason for the emergency that does exist is the fact that according to eye-witnesses there were not sufficient men at the fire in Dorchester to handle the apparatus properly. I have it on the word of a member of Ladder 4 that no stream was turned on by Engine 12 at the fire until such time as Ladder 4 arrived on the scene, perhaps fifteen minutes after the arrival of the engine company. Now, then, the safety of the public depends not only upon the efficiency of the department but it depends upon the speediness with which the department arrives at the scene of action. Now, Mr. Chairman, if the apparatus upon its arrival at the scene of action has not sufficient men to handle it, it might just as well stay in the engine house as go to the scene of the fire. The conflagration in Dorchester was not really a question of a fifty or sixty mile breeze. If the apparatus had arrived in season and been properly manned and equipped it could have met the situation and overcome it, but with the start that the fire received previous to the arrival and after the arrival of such apparatus as arrived on the scene early, if a fifty-mile breeze had been in progress it would have wiped out Dorchester. But if the apparatus had responded promptly and been properly manned when it arrived at the scene of action the fire could have been suppressed speedily. And after all that is the whole secret of fire fighting, to get on the scene quickly, to act quickly, to act judiciously and intelligently. And what they needed was additional men and additional apparatus. I believe sufficient reason has been advanced to warrant action in favoring this order.

Coun. HALE—It seems to me we have lost sight of the most important point in the whole discussion. What we want, as I said in the beginning, is to get fifty new firemen to protect the property and the lives of the citizens of Boston. There are two methods of attempting that. One is the method which the majority of this Council is trying to adopt and which, according to the undisputed facts, will not get us to tbe goal we desire. It may have the effect of shifting the responsibility from our shoulders to those of somebody else, but it will not result in getting fifty extra firemen and it will not result in any increase to the protection of the property and lives of the citizens of Boston. There is no blinking that. The road you are trying to go upon is blocked absolutely and finally, so what is the use of all this talk about trying to protect the citizens of Boston or the property of tbe citizens of Boston? The arguments must be either blind or insincere because those facts have not been disputed. We have been told definitely that the firemen will not be appointed even if we pass this order. There is another route to the same goal, namely, extra firemen during this summer, a matter upon whicb I can't speak now because it is out of order under this order, but which is covered by an order whicb I will introduce later.

Coun. SMITH—Coun. Hale has pointed out one reason for doubting the sincerity of the members in voting on this question. There is one other reason for doubting the sincerity of the members in voting on this question, the reason involved in a question I asked earlier in the day,—why the Council has not taken this strong, fervent, tremendously active stand before the Mayor left town. That has not been answered by any one of the councilors present, and it seems to me, in view of the fact that they have not shown any great public necessity tbat has arisen since the Mayor left town and have not shown why they were not active when the Mayor was in town, the public will undoubtedly draw the conclusion that there is politics in bringing this measure up at the present time.

Coun. KENNY—The member on my left here seems to have great apprehension about what the public will do. They will draw this conclusion or that conclusion. It seems to me he is very much more apprehensive of the public than the other members. He is cbarging other members with playing politics. Then he goes on and speaks about the apprehension he has of the public. He is striking pretty near home, Mr. President, when he talks about the public and what he thinks and what the public may think of him. I sbould commend him to some reflection along those lines. Stop thinking about the public and think about the business of tbis Board. Do your duty. Stand up like men and do it. Never mind the public. They will take care of themselves. Now, Mr. President, I am going to make a statement that I did not intend to make. A week ago last Sunday night I was coming through Brighton and turned into the Aberdeen district, and I saw a fire. The car I was riding in reached the fire quickly after the first engine and before the arrival of the second engine. Now I had it from authority tbat I can quote that it was seven minutes before the hose was turned on that fire—and right in our presence we saw a building burned down to the ground. I called that to the attention of the Fire Commissioner that very night. Now these gentlemen who are proclaiming what the public will think better consider what their duty in the matter is. I am tired, as one member of this Board, of listening to this haranguing about what the public may think. I think the Council has a duty to perform here. I have sufficient confidence in tbe Mayor to believe that if the Mayor were here be would do exactly what the Acting Mayor is doing to-night. He would call upon the Council to pass this order. We are not making these appointments. We are simply putting into the hands of the Fire Commissioner the power to make the appointments. It is for him to make the appointments and not for the Acting Mayor to make them.

Coun. SMITH—In answer to the last speaker I would say that as long as I am a member of this body I shall always be jealous of the honor of the City Council of Boston, and when I think that the City Council is doing a foolish act I shall unhesitatingly stand up here and say so. With the present advice of the Corporation Counsel and with the plain wording of the charter, and more than that, with the spirit of the charter which we know so well here, which is to centralize authority in the Mayor, I feel that I am justified in speaking of what the public will say of the action of this Council to-night. Furthermore I wish to thank Coun. Kenney for the additional evidence he has brought to bear on this question. He has cited one definite fact where he thinks the Fire Department since the Mayor left town has brought about a condition of affairs that is a grave public calamity and calls for unusual action on the part of the Acting Mayor. But he has failed to connect that up with the undermanning of the department. He said the stream was not turned on for seven minutes. Evidently tbe apparatus was there in time. Can he give us the facts? Would he be willing to give us the facts proving that the delay occurred becauso of lack of men at that special fire? That would be a point well taken. It would be the only point brought up here to-night which shows that a change has come about since the Mayor left town. And even then he would have to prove that that fire was different in particulars from fires which had existed in the last year or two—different, for example, from the fire in the wool district last year, which the underwriters said came within an ace of being a great fire similar to that of 1872, getting entirely beyond the control of the department. He will have to show that men were lacking at the Brighton fire and that they were lacking in greater numbers than before the Mayor left town.

Coun. KENNY—I would like also to say this, and I think I have already referred to tbe matter, that I have every respect for the integrity and the intelligence and the ability of the Corporation Counsel, but I don't understand the law to be that we must accept his decision. We must accept it so far as we can avail ourselves of it, so far as it helps us and assists us in coming to a decision, but we must ourselves vote and be responsible for our votes. Tbe Corporation Counsel is not responsible for them. He does not vote for me. I have got to bc responsible for my vote, and use such intelligence as I have in determining what line of action I shall pursue. Now, so far as his opinion is germane to the question, to that extent I have a right to use it and be guided by it if I desire, if it assists me. If I cannot reach his conclusion it is my duty to follow my own conscience and opinion, as I am doing in this matter, and I think I am discharging my obligations to tbe Council and citizens of Boston.

The question came on passing the order. On a viva voce vote the order was declared passed, whereupon Coun. HALE doubted the vote and asked for a verification by roll call. The roll was called, and the order was declared passed, yeas 5, nays 2, viz:

Yeas—Coun. Buckley, Collins, Curley, Kenny, McDonald—5.

Nays—Coun. Hale and Smith—2.

Coun. HALE—A point of order. I bclieve it requires six votes to transfer——

President COLLINS—The Chair rules that under the statutes of 1893 the City of Boston may, by concurrent vote of the City Council, at any time witbin two years, under chapter 261 of the Acts of 1893, after an appropriation has becn duly made by the city government, transfer such appropriation, and it requires a two-thirds vote of the City Council approved by the yea and nay vote of two-thirds of the members of each branch thereof. The Chair rules that this City Council is composed of one branch and that thc point of order is not well taken.

Coun. HALE—I protest at the ruling and ask to have my protest recorded.

ADDITIONAL FIREMEN.

The following was received:

City of Boston,
Law Department, July 17, 1911.

To the Honorable the City Council:

Gentlemen,—My attention has been called to the fact that the Acting Mayor has sent to your honorable body a communication recommending a transfer from the Reserve Fund to the Fire Department for the purpose of employing fifty additional firemen.

In my opinion such transfer and such employment would not be legal. The city charter says that: "No transfer of any part of the money thus appropriated shall be made except within the department or in accordance with and after the written recommendation of the mayor to the city council approved by the yea and nay vote of two-thirds of the members."

Section 12 of chapter 3 of the Revised Ordinances says in substance that every officer in charge of a department shall employ and fix the compensation of all suhordinates in his department and that hefore any increase shall he made in the compensation of any subordinate or in the numher of subordinates a report thereof shall he sent to the mayor and no such increase shall take effect until approved hy the mayor in a writing filed with the city auditor.

I do not understand that such report has heen made hy the Fire Commissioner but my ohjection is a deeper one, to wit,—that the matter is one which must receive the approval of the Mayor.

Before the charter amendments of 1909 the chairman of the board of aldermen or president of the common council acting as mayor had more authority than the acting mayor has under the present charter. The former provision was that the chairman of the hoard of aldermen shall act as mayor. This gave acting mayors in Boston more authority than was possessed hy acting mayors in any city in the state. (See Ryan v. Boston, 204 Mass. 457.)

As this power has heen abused hy acting mayors the city charter amendments of 1909 provided: "That the person upon whom such duties shall devolve shall he called acting mayor and he shall possess the powers of mayor only in matters not admitting of delay." To use the language of the Supreme Court, "He shall have the powers of the mayor only in matters requiring immediate action."

The action proposed does not contemplate the hiring of fifty men for a few week or a year, it contemplates the employment of fifty additional firemen who under the statutes must he retained unless discharges for cause and the proposed action necessitates an additional charge upon the City of Boston of at least $60,000 a year for an indefinite period.

If something had occurred since the departure of the Mayor for Europe which required the presence of additional men in the Fire Department that emergency could he met hy the Fire Commissioner by suspending the giving of vacations during the next three weeks which would add at once a force of sixty men. The only result of that action would he that firemen who otherwise would have their vacations in July or August would take them in September, hut there has heen no change in the conditions of the Fire Department during the absence of the Mayor, and, as I am informed, practically no change in the condition of the Fire Department during the past year. If the Fire Department is undermanned to-day it was undermanned a year ago.

By the reports there were seemingly 13 fire districts in 1910 and 47 fire engines; in 1911 there were 14 districts and 47 fire engines. April 30, 1910, there were 986 employees; April 30, 1911, 1,009 employees. A year ago there were 893 regular firemen, now there are 925, being an increase of 32 firemen in the year. I am informed that of these additional firemen 14 are employed on the new firehoat, 4 in the fire-alarm service, and 6 on the new chemical engine.

The appropriation for the Fire Department for the fiscal year ending February 1, 1911, was $1,550,000, for the year ending February 1, 1912, $1,600,000. It will he seen, therefore, that the Fire Department has more money and more firemen and as many or more men to a fire engine than it had a year ago. If the engines are undermanned to-day they have heen undermanned for some years hut no mayor has recommended an increase.

It appears probable that the growth of certain sections of the city call for additional fire protection. If so, there should he additional fire houses and additional apparatus as well as additional firemen. The whole subject is one that not only admits of delay hut requires it. The commissioner should make a report to the Mayor and City Council of the actual conditions in his department, what new engines or stations are required and where, so that the Mayor elected by the people and the City Council can know the exact conditions of the Fire Department and what, if anything, is needed in the way of additional appropriations.

Yours truly,

THOMAS M. BABSON,
Corporation Counsel.

Placed on file.

APPEAL FROM RULING.

President COLLINS—Motion, orders and resolutions. The Chair wishes to state that the reason for his ruling on the order passed 5 to 2 was due to his having learned of this for the first time to-night and looked up the law in the present city charter.

Coun. HALE—I move an appeal from the ruling of the Chair on that matter.

President COLLINS—The motion is not in order. Motions, orders and resolutions.

Coun. HALE—I appeal from that ruling.

President COLLINS—Motions, orders and resolutions. Coun. McDonald offers a committee report.

USE OF GOVERNOR'S ISLAND.

Coun. McDONALD offered the following:

The Special Committee on Use of Governor's Island, to which was referred, February 20 and June 13, communications from the Mayor and from the War Department relating to the use of Governor's Island, Boston Harbor, hy the City of Boston, having considered the subject, respectfully ask for further time so as to submit a plan for the use of said island by the city.

The committee is heartily in favor of the taking of this island for park and playground purposes, and with the cooperation of the Park Commissioners it helieves it will shortly be ahle to suhmit to the City Council, and to the War Department of the United States, a final report upon this suhject.

Report accepted, and further time granted.

SALE OF CITY LAND.

Coun. SMITH, for the Committee on Puhlic Lands, suhmitted a report on communications from Park Commissioners and order (referred June 28), recommending passage in following new draft, viz.:

Ordered, That the Board of Park Commissioners he and herehy is authorized to sell on such terms as said Board with the approval of the Mayor may deem proper, a parcel of land in the Brighton district, so called, bounded southerly hy Commonwealth avenue, and northeasterly by Chestnut Hill avenue, and containing as shown on the atlas about 66,672 square feet, said land to be sold for not less than 70 cents per square foot per lot.

The question came on accepting the report and passing the order.

Coun. KENNY—I would like to move to amend that order. I do not pretend to have any very superior opinion or knowledge as to the value of land in Brighton, but I am amazed at the suggestion there that that land be sold for seventy cents a foot. It is, perhaps, the most desirahle huilding location in the Aberdeen district, fronting on Commonwealth avenue, and near the Chestnut Hill Reservoir. I went out yesterday afternoon and looked over the land, and it seems to me that the city should get more than that for it. I understand, of course, that we are dealing now only with the sale of the land itself. We are not taking up the question of acquiring additional lands. That is a matter for the Park Department. But in the sale of this particular lot the sale recommended here at seventy cents a foot seems to me altogether too low for that land, If I am to have any opinion at all as to the va lue of land, I should suppose that land was worth $1.25 or $1.50 a foot. Therefore, Mr. President, I would move that that matter also lie on the tahle until we can ascertain further the value of the land. I have no ohjection, Mr. President, to this land heing sold if in the opinion of the Park Department it is deemed a wise and prudent thing to do. That land, as a matter of fact, is used every day now hy the children in that locality for tennis and croquet. It is a beautiful piece of land. Nevertheless there are other places for the children to play. The people living in that vicinity are rich in respect to having playgrounds and outdoor places to enjoy, but that particular piece of land to my mind ought to hring more than the amount stated in that order. I should not ohject to its being sold if the Park Department feel it ought to he sold. It is really, of course, not a part of the Park Department system, But I should like a further opportunity to examine into it.

Coun. SMITH—As chairman of the Committee on Public Lands I should like to justify the action of the committee in placing seventy cents as the upset price. It was on the opinion of the city expert, Mr. Kiley, that the land would hring sixty cents, if sold, that we took that action. So that we have increased that one-sixth. And it seemed to me that was a fair upset price. But if the Council feel that the land is worth more—and it is a desirahle piece of land—I should he willing to have it lie on the table or have any other action taken. But that is the reason that the committee put seventy cents a foot on the land as the upset price, hecause Mr. Kiley, the real estate expert, told us it would bring ahout sixty.

Coun. BUCKLEY—Mr. Chairman,——

President COLLINS—Really this motion is not debatahle. I have given some latitude, however. You may go on, Coun. Buckley.

The question came on the motion of Coun. Kenny that the report lay on the tahle. On a viva voce vote the Chair heing in doubt called for a rising vote, and four voted in the affirmative and three in the negative, the motion to lay on the tahle heing carried.

Coun. CURLEY—I move a reconsideration of the vote just taken, hoping the same will prevail. And on the question of reconsideration I feel it is rather unfair for a member to move to lay it on the table after he has dehated a question and so shut off everybody else from discussing the merits of the proposition. As I understand it an upset price figure means the land can't be sold helow that figure, but there is nothing to prevent its being sold at a figure many times greater. I would say I was present when Mr. Smith talked with Mr. Kiley over the 'phone in relation to this matter, and Mr. Kiley said land in that neighborhood was selling at fifty cents a foot, and that this land was assessed at seventy-five cents a foot, hut he didn't think it would bring over seventy. Now, the recommendation has been made hy the Park Commission without a recommendation to the Committee on Public Lands as to an upset price. The Committee on Puhlic Lands adopted an upset price at a figure one-sixth heyond the price placed on the land hy Mr. Kiley. If Coun. Kenny feels that the upset price should be the valuation, I think he can amend the order and make it seventy-five cents. The matter has not heen acted on hastily by the committee. The matter has heen before the Council several weeks. It has been recommended hy the Park Commission, who acted unanimously. I trust that reconsideration will ohtain. I don't feel it is the desire of any member of the committee to take an undue or unfair advantage of any other memher or of the city itself in the matter, and I am perfectly willing to go any distance with them.

Coun. BUCKLEY—Mr. President, in company with Coun. Smith I visited this place and we saw the piece of land which the city desires to sell and which his Honor the Mayor recommends that the city sell. It is a heautiful piece of property, just as Mr. Smith says. Neither one of us knew the value of property in that section of the city, nor do we know now, outside of what Mr. Kiley, the real cstate expert of the City of Boston, states. We hoth want to get just as much as the city can get for that land. We have no interest outside of the fact that we want the City of Boston to get all it possibly can for the piece of land out there. I was not opposed to having this matter go over, hut in view of the fact that in all prohability we won't meet again for some considerable time, and as so many of the memhers of the City Council are going to he away, it seems to me we ought to act on this matter to-night. The Park Commissioners don't have to sell that piece of property for a price way helow its value. They can get for it absolutely what it is worth. We say they can't sell below a certain figure. We don't tell them how high they can go; and it seems to me with men such as compose the Park Commission of the City of Boston, with Mr. Peabody as the chairman, that the City of Boston will surely get a square deal. I don't know the gentleman whose land it is proposed to swap that land for. I never met him. Mr. Smith and I wanted to do ahsolutely what is right and that is what we are going to do. But it seems to me in all fairness, in order that the matter may be disposed of at once, we ought to act here to-day and not wait until the members have returned from their vacations. We won't be able to get so many memhers here again for a considerable time. It seems to me we ought to act to-day, and I know Mr. Kenny will be willing to act to-day rather than wait until fall.

Coun. KENNY—I am not intending to have the report of the committee rejected. I don't think that should he the view we should take of it. And the members here who have been out to Brighton and seen the land, if they have formed any opinion as to its value they have not disclosed it to this Council. I would like them to say to the Council what, in their opinion, that land is worth. They probahly made some investigation.

Coun. SMITH—Mr. President, as chairman of that committee I frankly admit that the committee have formed very little estimation of the value of that land. We are depending very largely upon Mr. Kiley's estimate. With the vicinity of Oak square perhaps the committee is more familiar. The city has there bought land for an engine house for thirty-five cents a foot, with a car line in the immediate neighborhood of the square. A Catholic institution hought at the top of the hill, just heyond the square, a tract of land at fifteen cents a foot. Of course this is some distance from that and has the advantage of overlooking the pond, and it is a triangular lot at the intersection of two streets. It seems to me the expert's opinion of the matter is a just one, hut I don't set up as an expert on land in that part of the city. That is why I concurred with Coun. Kenny in laying the matter on the tahle. I don't want to have any criticism as to the sale of lands hy the city come hack to this committee.

Coun. KENNY—I shall he agreeahle to assenting to a reconsideration, providing the order may he amended so that the land shall be sold at public auction and the upset price shall he seventy-five cents a foot.

The question came on reconsideration. The motion was carried. The question then camc on passing the order as amended hy Coun. Kenny. The amendment was read by the Clerk as follows: "Said land to be sold at public auction at a price not less than seventy-five cents per square foot per lot."

The amendment was adopted. The question then came on passing the order as amended, and the roll was called, and the order was passed, yeas 7, nays 0.

NEXT MEETING OF THE COUNCIL.

Coun. CURLEY—I move you, sir, that when the Council adjourns, it adjourn to meet on Monday, August 21, at 3 p. m.

Coun. KENNY—As an amendment to that motion I move that when the Council adjourns it adjourn to meet at call of the President.

The question came on the amendment of Coun. Kenny. On a viva voce vote the amendment was declared carried, whereupon Coun. Curley doubted the vote and asked for a verification by roll call. The roll was called and it appeared that three voted in the affirmative and four in the negative, and the motion did not prevail. The question then came on the motion of Coun. Curley.

President COLLINS—The Chair will say that when the Mayor went away he thought if we had a meeting some days before that for the tax levy we could get the tax levy settled.

Coun. KENNY—I would move another amendment, if it is in order, that we adjourn to meet on the 21st of August unless sooner called together hy the Chair.

Coun. CURLEY—As I understand it, Mr. Chairman, the real Mayor intends to return to Boston the 10th of August, and he has the power to call a special meeting.

The question came on the amendment of Coun. Kenny that when the Council adjourns it adjourn to meet on August 21 unless called together sooner by the Chair. Upon a viva voce vote the Chair, heing in douht, called for a rising vote, whereupon it appeared that two voted in the affirmative and four in the negative, and the amendment did not prevail. The question then came on the motion of Coun. Curley that when the Council adjourns it adjourn to meet on August 21, at 3 p. m. The motion was carried.

LOAN FOR MERIDIAN STREET BRIDGE.

The following was received:

City of Boston,
Office of the Mayor, August 16, 1911.

To the City Council:

At its meeting of June 13, 1911, your honorable body rejected, without prejudice, a loan order appropriating sixty-three thousand dollars ($63,000) additional for the Meridian Street Bridge. Since then the Acting Secretary of War, under date of July 20, has transmitted an instrument approving plans for a bridge substantially in accordance with the findings anticipated by the Engineer of the Bridge and Ferry Division of the Department of Public Works, in his letter of April 14, transmitted with my message of that date. The letter of the Acting Secretary of War, with a copy of the instrument referred to and the plan, is attached hereto for your information. It seems necessary, if the estimates of the department engineers are correct, that the loan order previously rejected should now be passed in order that work may be begun upon the structure in accordance with the plans as approved.

I therefore recommend once more the passage of the loan order originally recommended to your honorable body at its meeting of April 14 and subsequently rejected without prejudice.

Respectfully,
JOHN F. FITZGERALD, Mayor.

War Department,
Washington, July 20, 1911.

Sir,—Referring to your application of 15th ultimo, I transmit herewith, for retention, an instrument approving the map of location and plans of a bridge, to be reconstructed by the City of Boston across Chelsea creek, at Meridian street, Boston, Mass., subject to the conditions set forth in said instrument.

Very respectfully,
ROBERT SHAW OLIVER,
Acting Secretary of War.

(Annexed were plans of bridge, etc.)

Ordered, That the sum of sixty-three thousand dollars ($63,000) be and hereby is appropriated, to be expended by the Commissioner of Public Works in the reconstruction of the Meridian Street Bridge; and that to meet the said appropriation the City Treasurer be authorized to issue from time to time, on the request of the Mayor, bonds or certificates of indebtedness of the city to said amount.

Referred to the Committee on Finance.

BATHING PLACE, PARKER HILL.

The following was received:

City of Boston,
Office of the Mayor, August 7, 1911.

To the City Council:

I beg to transmit a communication from the Commissioner of Public Works, referring to the request of the City Council for an estimate of the cost of transforming Parker Hill Reservoir into a suitable bathing place, with necessary shelters, etc. This request was referred to the Commissioner of July 12, in compliance with an order of the City Council passed at its meeting of July 7, and returned herewith.

Respectfully,
WALTER L. COLLINS, Acting Mayor.

City of Boston,
Public Works Department,
Boston, August 2, 1911.

Mr. L. K. Rourke,
Commissioner of Public Works:

Dear Sir,— I return you herewith the request of the City Council for an estimate of the cost of transforming the reservoir at Parker Hill into a suitable bathing place, with necessary shelters. etc.

This was investigated by Mr. Frederick I. Winslow, Engineer of Extension, who reports that to build the necessary shelters, with lockers for both sexes, steps down to the bottom of the reservoir, and to fill bottom to a slight depth with gravel, would cost about $1,500, the idea being to draw down the water to a depth of about four feet above the bottom of the reservoir.

Respectfully,
E. S. Dow,
Acting Division Engineer
Sewer and Water Division.

Referred to the Executive Committee.

IMPROVEMENTS ON PARKS.

The following was received:

City of Boston,
Office of the Mayor, August 22, 1911.

To the City Council:

Under date of August 21, 1911, the chairman of the Board of Park Commissioners has addressed to me a communication requesting that appropriations be made from the income of the Parkman Fund for the following purposes:

Charlesbank, completion of improvements	$600 00
Further repairs upon fence on sea wall,	600 00
Castle Island, new water supply, four-inch pipe	3,000 00
Franklin Park, bears' dens, bird cage, sewer and water supply for Zoological Garden	20,000 00

I recommend that the accompanying order, appropriating the total of these items, amounting to twenty-four thousand two hundred dollars ($24,200), from the income of the Parkman Fund, be passed by your honorable body. The City Treasurer informs me that the available income of the Parkman Fund is forty-four thousand three hundred seventy-one dollars and twelve cents ($44,371.12).

Your attention is called to a passage on page four of the accompanying letter from Chairman Peabody, in which he sets forth the need of these appropriations.

Respectfully,
JOHN F. FITZGERALD, Mayor.

City of Boston,
Board of Commissioners of the
Department of Parks,
Office at Pine Bank, Olmsted Park,
Jamaica Plain, Mass., August 21, 1911.

Hon. John F. Fitzgerald,
Mayor of Boston:

Dear Sir,— In accordance with your request I mention herewith the matters relating to the park which need your attention.

An appropriation of $60,000 is in the hands of the Park Commission to be expended on the playground in the Parker Hill district. We ask that this be made to read so that it can be expended for playground purposes in Ward 19. An appropriation of $40,000 has been asked for to be expended for playground purposes in Ward 19. We ask that this sum be appropriated. If these two sums are placed at our disposal for playground purposes in Ward 19 we think that we can make purchases which will meet with general satisfaction.

It has been proposed that the reservoir lot be turned over to the park for playground purposes. As we wrote you on June 23, 1911, we should be glad to receive the reservoir lot and develop it for play and recreation and park purposes if the Council will appropriate the sum of money for its development. Mr. Kiley says that the engineer's office reckoned that $15,000 would be needed to grade it, and to finish it thoroughly we ought to have an appropriation in excess of that sum.

The Park Commission holds an appropriation of $25,000 to expend for playground purposes in Ward 7. We have been unable to purchase for that money what seemed to us a suitable playground. Some years ago an appropriation was made for a playground in Ward 7 or 9. The playground was bought in Ward 9 and the auditor rules that the balance not spent cannot be expended on the Ward 7 or another playground. We ask that the balance of the appropriation be transferred so that we may add it to the appropriation for the Ward 7 playground and so that we may spend it in that manner. With this added to our existing appropriation we see the way to make a proper purchase.

I would report that the Park Commission has done its part as regards the Ward 16 Playground on Dacia street and the matter is now in the hands of the Street Commission to conclude the business.

As to the appropriation for a playground in Ward 20 I would report that we have advertised for bids but before taking action we have decided to confer at greater length with you regarding this matter.

Among the transfers from the reserve fund approved by you June 26, 1911, one reads "Savin Hill Playground Improvements ,$3,500." Our request was for Savin Hill Park, loam, planting and steps, $3,500. The latter is much needed to finish the improvements that have been undertaken at Savin Hill Park, and the sum would be very small to accomplish an improvement that would be worth while on the playground. We therefore ask that the appropriation be changed so as to read for the purpose for which we asked it, namely, Savin Hill Park, loam, planting and steps, $3,500.

If the Council or your Honor desire to improve matters at the Savin Hill Playground we request that you give us a substantial appropriation, $10,000 or $15,000, and thereby permit us to purchase some more beach which has lately been offered to us and renew the sand on the beach which alone would cost $1,000.

In our request for works of construction and improvement we suggested a play shelter on Copp's Hill Terrace at a cost of $28,400. In our judgment this is a very desirable improvement because it would provide in a most sightly place and for this resonable sum a building of two stories which would practically equal in value a new small playground in that district. If the Council cannot see its way to appropriate $28,400 for this shelter we ask that at least they give us, to make some changes to give increased accommodation, the sum of $5,000.

The center of Billings Field is marshy. We have tried to fill it with the ashes from the neighborhood but never get enough of it to complete the job. We should like to finish the field which is otherwise so attractive, and ask for this purpose $1,000.

We should also like to get funds to advance the following work:

Rogers Park, planting and grading, $1,500; Dorchester Park, water supply and fountains, $750.

From the Parkman Fund we should like to ask for the following appropriations:

Castle Island, new water supply, 4-inch pipe, across the bridge, to take the place of a 2-inch pipe now worn out, $3,000.

In carrying out the improvements in Charlesbank we have found it necessary to go slightly beyond the appropriation from the Parkman Fund and to make this up we ask for $600; and to further repair the fence on the seawall $600; or a total of $1,200.

The Park Commission is now building the bears' dens and the bird cage and the main sewer and water supply at the Zoo. Beyond the appropriations already made we shall need to thoroughly complete these the sum of about $20,000.

We are anxious to start on building the winter bird house which is adjoining the large flying cage at the Zoo and for this purpose shall need an appropriation of $75,000.

Yours truly,
ROBERT S. PEABONY,
Chairman.

Ordered, That the following sums be and hereby are appropriated from the income of the Parkman Fund for the present year, to be expended under the direction of the Board of Park Commissioners:

Charlesbank, completion of improvements	$600 00
Further repairs upon fence on seawall	600 00
Castle Island, new water supply, 4-inch pipe	3,000 00
Franklin Park, bears' dens, bird cage, sewer and water supply for zoological garden	20,000 00

Referred to the Committee on Parkman Fund.

PARKS AND SQUARES IMPROVEMENTS, ETC.

The following was received:

City of Boston,
Office of the Mayor, August 22, 1911.

To the City Council:

The accompanying communication from the Superintendent of Public Grounds, addressed to Secretary William A. Leahy, indicates the needs of various parks and squares under his jurisdiction, which come under the provisions of the will of the late George Francis Parkman, and which may be improved from the income of the fund bequeathed by him to the city for this purpose. While the entire cost of these improvements, estimated by him at eighty-two thousand one hundred seventy-five dollars ($82,175), is in excess of the present resources of the Parkman Fund, it seems to me that certain items such as convenience stations at Franklin square, Meeting House Hill, Madison park, and Washington park, and the bubble fountains in various parks, might well be provided at the present time.

I recommend, therefore, the passage of the accompanying order, appropriating fifteen thousand dollars ($15,000), from the income of the Parkman Fund for the present year, to be expended under the direction of the Superintendent of Public Grounds for convenience stations, bubble fountains, and other improvements in the public parks and squares.

Respectfully,
JOHN F. FITZGERALN, Mayor.

City of Boston,
Public Grounds Department,
Dorchester, March 7, 1911.

Mr. William Leahy,
Mayor's Office, Boston, Mass.:

Dear Sir,—In answer to your letter of inquiry concerning the renovation and improvement of public grounds in the several sections of the city (the cost of same to be paid from the Parkman Fund) I would state that there is a great apparent need in the majority of these districts for general improvements, particularly in the following-named parks and squares. West Roxbury District:

Soldiers' Monument Lot.—Cleaning and repointing, $235; bubble fountain, $125.

We have not included Orchard Park, Roxbury district, in our list, as the city government has for some time considered the advisability of enlarging its territory, and again the matter of establishing a playground there has been discussed. Until such time as the matter is definitely settled we must refrain from submitting estimates in regard to its improvement.

In conclusion, I would strongly recommend that an appropriation be set aside from the Parkman Fund for the undertaking of this work. Although we thoroughly appreciate the urgent need of attention to these improvements on the various squares, it would be impossible for us to carry on the work from our general appropriation as its amount will not admit of extra expenditures aside from our regular work.

There are a number of other public grounds, proportionately in need of renovation, which we have not included, as they are not covered by the Parkman bequest, not being in existence in this department in the year 1887.

Respectfully submitted,
D. H. Sullivan,
Superintendent.

These improvements total $82,175.

Ordered, That the sum of fifteen thousand dollars ($15,000) be and hereby is appropriated from the income of the Parkman Fund for the present year, to be expended under the direction of the Superintendent of Public Grounds for convenience stations, bubble fountains, and other improvements in the public parks and squares.

Referred to the Committee on Parkman Fund.

SAVIN HILL PARK IMPROVEMENTS.

The following was received:

City of Boston,
Office of the Mayor, August 22, 1911.

To the City Council:

At its meeting of June 26, 1911, an order was passed by your honorable body, on my recommendation, transferring the sum of three thousand five hundred dollars ($3,500) from the appropriation for Reserve Fund to an appropriation for Savin Hill Playground, Improvements. I am informed that the appropriation was really desired for loam, planting and steps at Savin Hill Park and that the appropriation for the playground will be of comparatively little value.

I recommend, therefore, the passage of the accompanying order, transferring the sum of three thousand five hundred dollars ($3,500) from the appropriation for Savin Hill Playground, Improvements, to an appropriation for Savin Hill Park, Improvements.

Respectfully,
John F. Fitzgerald, Mayor.

Ordered, That under the provisions of chapter 261 of the Acts of 1893, the City Auditor be and hereby is authorized to transfer the sum of threef thousand five hundred dollars ($3,500) from the appropriation for Savin Hill Playground, Improvements, to an appropriation for Savin Hill Park, Improvements.

Referred to the Executive Committee.

CONDITION OF "VIGILANT."

The following was received:

City of Boston,
Office of the Mayor, August 17, 1911.

To the City Council:

Your attention is called to the accompanying letter from the Finance Commission, with the report of its engineer attached thereto, also a copy of my communication of August 16, in reply to the letter of the commission. The report of the expert who will examine the condition of the "Vigilant," as promised in my communication, will be forwarded to your honorable body as soon as it is received.

Respectfully,
John F. Fitzgerald, Mayor.

Boston Finance Commission,
410–416 Tremont Building,
Boston, August 16, 1911.

Hon. John F. Fitzgerald, Mayor:

Sir,—A loan order of $48,000 for the purchase of a new steamer to replace the steamer "Vigilant," now used by the Health Department, became effective on August 13 last, owing to the failure of the City Council to act upon the loan order within the sixty days after it was filed, as required by section 2 of chapter 486 of the Acts of 1909.

As shown by the annexed copy of a report to the Finance Commission made by Mr. Guy C. Emerson, there seems to be considerable doubt as to the necessity of a new boat. At all events a more thorough examination of the boat should be made before the city is finally committed to the proposed expenditure.

The Finance Commission respectfully suggests that you cause such an examination to be made before authorizing the issuance of the loan.

Respectfullty submitted,
The Finance Commission,
by John A. Sullivan,
Chairman.

August 7, 1911.

Hon. John A. Sullivan,
Chairman Finance Commission:

Dear Sir,—I beg leave to submit the following information regarding the Health Department steamer "Vigilant" and its present condition:

Since the consideration of the need of the department for a new boat by the Finance Commission at its meeting on August 4, I have made a personal examination of the boat, so far as possible. I have interviewed the captain and engineer and had the various defects of the boat pointed out by them. I have interviewed among others a representative of the firm who built the boat, the foreman who had charge of the original construction and the recent repairs, and the United States Inspectors of Hulls and Steam Boilers.

The concensus of opinion seems to be that the boat is in excellent condition for a boat of its age.

The "Vigilant" was built in 1886 at East Boston and is now in its twenty-sixth year. During the early part of the life of the boat its duties were very light and it was used practically as a yacht. The quarantine work was maintained only during a few weeks in the summer season and the heaviest duty of the boat was in towing the bath houses to their positions in the spring and returning them to storage in the fall. For the last few years quarantine has been maintained during the entire year and the dutics of the boat have been somewhat greater. Nevertheless the duties of the boat have always been light as compared with those of the average towboat, and the boat has been maintained in excellent condition and large sums have been expended in repairs.

To show that the boat need not of necessity be unseaworthy on account of age, I submit to you the following list of wooden steamboats doing business in Boston Harbor and along the coast, selected at random, together with the dates upon which they were built:

"Mary O'Riorden," 1863; "William E Clary," 1864; "Emily," 1871; "Samuel Little" (the boat that preceded the "Vigilant" for quarantine service), 1872; *"Governor Andrew," 1874; "Peter B. Bradlee," 1877; "General Lincoln," 1878; "William Sprague," 1880; "Fanny Lenox," 1880; "Leader," 1881; "Penobscot," 1882; "City of Gloucester," 1883.

This list could be greatly extended if necessary.

The above list of boats does not however prove that the "Vigilant" may not be in the bad condition claimed. During the recent examination a number of planks were removed from the boat amidships and a small amount near the bow. All decayed material discovered was renewed. No borings were made below the water line at any other portions of the hull to determine if additional rotten wood existed. This is a comparatively easy test and certainly should have been done if suspicion of weakness existed.

The captain and the engineer told me that in their opinion there are certain decayed parts near the bow and stern of the boat. They also showed me leaky places around the waterways of the boat, a sill of the deck-house that was slightly decayed, the condenser of the engine that was leaking slightly and a small decayed place around the shaft tunnel at the stern of the boat. None of the defects pointed out were serious and their repair would be a small expense. Repairs to the condenser would probably be the largest item, and this will have to be done whether a new boat is authorized or not, so it should be omitted from the argument that a new boat is needed.

The absence of knees, commented upon by Messrs. Fay and Raymond, does not seem to be a serious matter. The "Vigilant" is a very narrow boat and the space amidships is nearly all taken up by the boiler and engine. The space between the deck-house and the side of the boat is so narrow that it is doubtful if the addition of knees would materially strengthen the boat. The deck beams in the amidship section are omitted on account of the space occupied by the engine and boiler. If knees are considered necessary, they can be easily inserted at a small expense at any time. My conclusions in the matter are as follows:

(1) No adequate examination by a competent disinterested board of survey has yet been made.

(2) No thorough and adequate examination of the boat has been made by any board or individual.

(3) The conclusion that a new boat is necessary is not justified by the superficial examination already made.

(4) It seems reasonably certain that, admitting that the boat is in the worst condition claimed, it could be repaired and put in first-class condition for perhaps fifteen years' service for an expenditure not exceeding $8,000, and the chances are that a considerably smaller sum will suffice.

On account of the above I am of the opinion that the commission would be amply justified in recommending the rejection of the proposed loan at the present time and making an additional recommendation that a thorough examination be made of the boat by a competent and disinterested board of survey.

Respectfully submitted,
GUY C. EMERSON,
Consulting Engineer.

City of Boston,
Office of the Mayor, August 16, 1911.

The Boston Finance Commission,
Tremont Building, Boston, Mass.

Gentlemen,—I beg to acknowledge the receipt of your communication of August 16, notifying me that the loan order recommended by me at the meeting of the City Council, held June 14, 1911, and providing the sum of forty-eight thousand dollars ($48,000) for the purchase of a new steamer to replace the steamer "Vigilant," became effective on August 13, 1911, owing to the failure of the City Council to act upon it, and annexing a copy of a report made to your commission by Mr. Guy C. Emerson, which opposes the building of a new steamer.

Your commission seems to have overlooked my subsequent message of June 26, 1911, which substituted a transfer order for the original loan order and operated as a withdrawal of the latter. This transfer order is now before the City Council, and your letter, with Mr. Emerson's report, will be transmitted to that body for its information. I desire, however, to correct the statement made by Mr. Emerson to the effect that "no thorough and adequate examination of the boat has been made by any board or individual.". Mr. Frederic H. Fay, Division Engineer of the Bridge and Ferry Division of the Department of Public Works, examined the boat thoroughly on May 26, 1911, and his report was attached to my original message to the City Council. A perusal of his letter will indicate the care with which Mr. Fay inspected the boat, but in order that there may be no question about the expenditure of so considerable a sum I shall have another examination made by a competent person not connected with any city department.

Yours very truly,
JOHN F. FITZGERALD, Mayor.

Referred to the Executive Committee.

FIRE PROTECTION FOR CITY.

The following was received:

City of Boston,
Office of the Mayor, August 21, 1911.

To the City Council:

I beg to transmit a communication from the Fire Commissioner containing a reply to the order of your honorable body passed at the meeting of July 17, and covering the questions "What sections of the city are in need of fire protection, the character of apparatus necessary, and the number of men required to safeguard the interests of the public."

Respectfully,
JOHN F. FITZGERALD, Mayor.

City of Boston,
Headquarters Fire Department,
Boston, August 17, 1911.

His Honor the Mayor and the Honorable City Council:

Gentlemen,—Pursuant to an order passed by the City Council July 17 calling upon the Fire Commissioner to report through the Mayor concerning additional protection required to safeguard the interests of the city against fire, I have the honor to recommend the following:

RECOMMENDATIONS.

Building Limits.

That the building limits of the City of Boston be extended to include the entire city.

The manifest duty of the city government is to put an end to tinder-box construction. The danger of a sweeping conflagration in the suburbs, which may leave thousands homeless, should not be increased. The extension of the building limits is of incalculable importance and should not be delayed. Attached is a communication recommending the extension of the building limits to the entire city.

Motor Apparatus.

That a proper sum be made available at once for the purchase of motor apparatus. Such a sum will enable the department to change all chemical engines, all chief's buggies, certain administration wagons, hose wagons and ladder trucks to motor vehicles. Fast service of this character in our suburbs will do much toward reducing the fire risk. A more extended report on motor apparatus is attached.

PREVIOUSLY RECOMMENDED.

This office has already recommended and renews its recommendation for fifty additional firemen. Certain measures for fire protection on Parker Hill have been promulgated. The department is proceeding with plans for better fire protection in the vicinity of Oak square.

CONCLUSION.

If the above recommendations are carried out, in my opinion the several localities where fire protection should be improved will be benefited. Dorchester and West Roxbury will benefit particularly by an extension of the building limits, and by the adoption of motor apparatus. The steps recommended will insure such reasonable safety from fire as is possible under the present condition of buildings. This department has asked for no more funds than is believed to be necessary.

* This boat was recently destroyed by fire.

With respect to per unit cost comparisons between leading cities I desire to draw your attention to the following:

Per Capita Cost in Various Cities.

I attach hereto a statement showing that there can be no true per capita comparison of fire department costs between the leading cities of the country without proper allowance being made for differences due to methods of accounting, the distribution of the local population, topography, and the fire risk to he guarded against. In effect this statement shows that the Boston Fire Department is maintained at a very reasonable figure.

Favorable action should be taken on the above recommendations immediately in order to provide properly for the public safety.

Very respectfully,

Charles D. Daly,
Fire Commissioner.

(Three inclosures: 1. Building limits; 2. Motor apparatus; 3. Per capita costs of fire departments.)

Building Limits.

The area in which only buildings of the first or second class, i. e., brick buildings, may be built, was last defined by the ordinance of 1892. Under this ordinance, Boston, with a total area of forty-two square miles, set aside approximately 10 per cent of that area, 4.2 square miles, as a section in which only brick buildings might he built.

Since the passage of this ordinance the population and the developed land of the city have made great advances. In the outlying sections of the city has this been particularly the case. Dorchester, Wards 20 and 24, in the last ten years has increased in population over 50 per cent, the total valuation of new buildings has increased 24 per cent, and the miles of accepted streets 12 per cent. Approximately the same statistics are true of West Roxbury, Ward 23, and Brighton, Ward 25. The population of these latter sections has increased approximately 30 per cent, and the assessed valuation of new buildings over 35 per cent. Roughly speaking, the population and valuation of the outlying sections of this city in the last ten years have both shown an increase of 30 per cent. Throughout the entire city this increase has been 20 per cent.

The character of the construction that has gone on throughout the city, outside the building limits, has been such as to cause grave concern to those interested in fire protection. It is needless to more than mention the vast areas of tinder-box buildings that the law has permitted. It is undeniable that at the present time we could have, due to this building policy, a conflagration in certain sections of this city akin to that which took place in Chelsea.

To reduce theis conflagration risk there is one paramount step which should be taken. The construction of wooden buildings should be stopped. Just as soon as the entire city is included within the building limits so soon will the City Council have placed this city on an intelligent hasis as far as fire protection is concerned.

Strengthening the Fire Department is no more important than the vast results obtainable by an extension of the building limits.

There are certain sections of the city which all parties agree should be included within the building limits. I think it is a fair statement to say that few will oppose the extension of the limits to Charlestown, most of East Boston, South Boston, and all of the city proper as far as Heath street, Columbus avenue, Seaver street and Columbia road. I think it is fair that the City Council should accept this area as the minimum which should be included in the building limits.

It is the belief of many that the entire city should be at once incorporated within the building limits, and this department earnestly recommends that the City Council take such action.

I desire to point out that the building limits of Boston include 4.2 square miles, whereas those of New York include 20 square miles, Philadelphia, 68 square miles, Baltimore, 15.2 square miles, Chicago, 50 square miles, St. Louis, 31 square miles. These figures need no comment.

Finally you will recall that as previously stated the outlying sections of the city have grown in population and valuation at the rate of not less than 30 per cent in ten years, whereas the building limits, the one great feature making for fire protection, have received no attention since 1892. Here again is a fact which requires no comment. It is manifest to any thinking person that the city government should continue a policy of extending the building limits in accordance with the growth of new buildings and new population.

Note.— Attached are certain tables which I recommend to the attention of the Council.

1. A table showing the fire limit areas of the largest cities of the country.
2. A table showing the increase of population, valuation, and new streets in Dorchester, West Roxbury and Brighton.
3. A table showing the increase of population, valuation and streets throughout the entire city.

Motor Apparatus.

This department has made a careful study of changing its horse-drawn apparatus to that of motor driven type. The present equipment of the Boston Fire Department has proven up to date an efficient fire stop for both down town and out of town fires. Any replacement of this apparatus necessitates changing from sure protection to untried apparatus whose efficiency under trying conditions may prove problematic. When it is considered that the value of the property protected is $1,400,000,000, and the number of people served is approximately 1,000,000 the seriousness of any change from present satisfactory conditions can be fully realized. No large city has as yet adopted any material amount of motor apparatus. Small cities, where the conflagration risk is neglected, and economy is the essential item, are its chief exponents. It has therefore been considered wise to recommend only such motor apparatus as has been tried and proven efficient under all conditions. After a complete investigation the following is recommended:

Recommendations.

It is recommended that approximately $200,000 be expended by this department for motor apparatus. If this sum is considered excessive the first three subsidiary recommendations involving the sum of $100,000 should he adopted. It is suggested that this sum might properly he transferred from the reserve.

The recommendations are:

First.— The replacement of all district chiefs' buggies and the huggies of the superintendent of repairs and the superintendent of fire alarm by automobile runabouts. This involves fifteen horses and huggies.

Second.— The replacement of the present two-horse wrecking wagon and the two-horse supply wagons of the Fire Alarm Branch and the Repair Division by automobile combination wagons which will be duplicates of the chemical hose wagons and will constitute reliefs for the same. This will involve three wagons and six horses.

Third.— The replacement of the entire chemical engine equipment by automobile chemical hose wagons. This involves ten chemical engines and twenty horses.

Fourth.— The replacement of thirteen ordinary hose wagons by automobile chemical hose wagons of sufficient capacity to service the high pressure system in future years if necessary. This involves thirteen wagons and twenty-six horses.

Fifth.— The replacement of four out of town ladder trucks by the same number of automobile ladder trucks. This involves four ladder trucks and twelve horses.

Sixth.— The replacement of two chemical engines by automobile ladder trucks. This involves two chemical engines and four horses.

Cost of Exchange.

This entire replacement involves the sale of eighty-three horses, twelve chemical engines, sixteen wagons, four trucks, and eighty-three harnesses. Computed at the following prices, which could no doubt be obtained in exchange for new apparatus, the following amount would be received:

Horses, 83 at $150	$12,450
Chemical engines, 12 at $500	6,000
Wagons, 16 at $100	1,600
Buggies, 15 at $50	750
Harnesses, 83 at $5	415
Ladder trucks, 4 at $500	2,000
	$23,215

The necessary equipment to replace this apparatus would cost:

Combination hose wagons, 26 at $5,000,	$130,000
Ladder trucks, 6 at $5,500.....	33,000
Runabouts, 15 at $1,750.....	26,250
	$189,250
	23,215
	$166,035

In order that the purchasing authority may have proper leeway for changes in plans, additions thereto, and changes in prices it would seem best to recommend that approximately $200,000 be made available for the carrying out of these recommendations.

Difference in Maintenance Expenditures.

To maintain one horse one year in the Boston Fire Department costs $250. This figure has been obtained by taking the approximate average expenditure for the maintenance of horses for the last five years. These expenditures are made up of bills for the following: Hay, grain, straw, shoeing, purchase and exchange of horses, harnesses and repairs, horse hire, attendants at hospital, medicines, etc.

There is considerable difficulty in estimating what would be the maintenance costs of motor equipment in this department. The maintenance costs of smaller cities and towns, in my opinion, are not reliable. They are based on smaller service mileage such as is not comparable with the work in Boston. Moreover, manufacturers of motor apparatus make many important repairs without cost at this time. It is reasonable to expect that later these repairs will not be free and will be numerous.

The cost of Motor Chemical 13 for this department for one year has been $338. This includes an expenditure of $100 for spare tires.

In my opinion the maintenance expenditures of motor chemical apparatus would not exceed $500, or the maintenance expenditures for horse-drawn apparatus. It is possible that the charges would be somewhat less than $500, but considering the increase in repairs as the car depreciates, the heavy cost of repairs resulting from accidents, and the high cost of maintenance of pleasure cars, and the uncertainty with respect to depreciation, I do not feel that it would be safe to estimate any material and sure saving in maintenance over horse-drawn apparatus. At the same time motor apparatus could unquestionably be maintained for not more than $500 per piece and there would probably be some saving.

It is not out of the question that this saving would amount to not less than $50 per horse, or $100 per team. In the case of the larger plan this would amount to $4,150 per year, or the interest on about $103,750 at 4 per cent. In the case of the smaller plan a saving of $100 per team would amount to $2,250 per year, or the interest on about $56,000.

It is apparent that the services of drivers, who are paid $1,200 per year, would be available with motor apparatus.

Gain in Efficiency.

First.—The speed of horses responding to an alarm is from 12 to 15 miles an hour under the best conditions. The automobile will cover more than twice this distance in the same time if necessary.

Second.—It can cover a long distance with the same speed as short ones.

Third.—It is back in quarters quicker than horses and ready to respond to another alarm.

Fourth.—The services of the driver of an automobile are available, which is not so with the driver of horses.

Dorchester, with its large area of wooden buildings, and West Roxbury, rapidly building up in the same manner, needs just such fire service as automobile chemical hose wagons can give. Their speed will enable them in the case of single fires to reach the fires quicker and extinguish it in its incipiency. In the case of larger fires they will be enabled to cover long distances at great speed, which will be necessary when flying sparks travel from roof to roof.

Application of the New Equipment.

The plans of this department contemplate the installation of motor apparatus in the following houses:

First.—Ten chemical engine companies.
Second.—Fifteen chief's buggies.
Third.—Three administration wagons.
Fourth.—Six out of town ladder trucks, to wit.: Ladders 27, 25, 16 and 6, and ladder trucks in place of Chemical Engines 5 and 6.
Fifth.—The installation of automobile hose tenders in the quarters of Engines 16, 17, 18, 19, 20, 28, 29, 30, 34, 37, 41, 45 and 46.

These wagons are to be built of a sufficient capacity to carry 1,000 feet of 3-inch hose, thereby making them available for service as high pressure wagons in the down-town district, if so desired in later years.

Smaller Plan.

If the sum of approximately $200,000 is considered beyond the means of the city for the present, I earnestly recommend that so much of the recommendations as involves the change of horse-drawn chief's buggies and chemical engines to motor driven be adopted. The smaller plan includes the first three recommendations with the exception that there will be twelve chemicals. The figures involved are:

Sale of present equipment:

Horses, 45 at $150.....	$6,750
Harnesses, 45 at $5.....	225
Buggies, 15 at $50.....	750
Wagons, 3 at $100.....	300
Chemical engines, 12 at $500.....	6,000
	$14,025

Cost of new equipment:

Runabouts, 15 at $1,750.....	$26,250
Chemical engines, 15 at $5,000.....	75,000
	$101,250

The differenee in maintenance, possible saving of $2,250 per year.

Estimated net sum for smaller plan, $100,000.

Not Recommended.

It has not seemed wise to recommend the purchase of gasolene pumping engines for the following reasons:

First.—It has not yet been proven that the gasolene pumping engine can maintain a capacity of seven hundred gallons per minute for a material length of time.

Second.—The purchase of these engines up to date have been in the nature of experiments. Boston, with its heavy fire risk, cannot afford to experiment in any large degree with the most important part of its equipment, the pumping engine.

Third.—No large city has as yet done more than buy an experimental gasolene engine.

Fourth.—It is very questionable as to whether a motor-drawn steam boiler, such as in service in New York, may not prove a more satisfactory type than the single piece gasolene pumping engine and hose cart.

It is possible that later a gasolene driven engine may be perfected that will pump with reliability over 700 gallons and which will also carry 1,000 feet of hose and ten men. For the present I am of the opinion that there is no such engine. Should it be developed, the economies possible will not be lessened by the adoption of these recommendations.

In my opinion the city should not proceed beyond the purchase of a single experimental engine which could be made from department funds.

On similar grounds no purchase of motor water towers or heavy ladder trucks should be made. Up to date there has been but one motor water tower in existence in this country, and that but a very short time. There are very few heavy motor ladder trucks. Considering the supreme necessity of maintaining the efficiency of these fire-fighting machines, as well as the pumping engines, it seems wise to delay any action with respect to this apparatus for the present.

Conclusion.

I desire to call your attention to the fact that this department has recommended only such equipment as has heen tried and proven reliable. The proposed increase in efficiency will apply to a great extent to Dorchester and West Roxhury. These sections of the city will greatly benefit hy fast-moving chemical wagons. The recommendations have involved a sum of money which might justly he expended from the reserve if it is proposed to maintain the Fire Department of the city on an up-to-date hasis.

Per Capita Cost Comparison of Fire Departments.

The difference in the per capita cost of fire departments in the various leading cities of the country may be considered under four heads.

First.—The difference due to the variations in accounting.

Second.—The difference due to the distribution of the local population.

Third.—The difference in the first risk to be guarded against.

Fourth.—The difference due to topography.

The Difference Due to Variations in Accounting.

In the City of Boston it is customary to charge all the expenses arising from pensions, fire alarm service, and many permanent improvements, to the Fire Department appropriation, and thus to the per capita cost. This rule does not prevail in many other large cities,

For instance in the city of New York the receipts from foreign fire insurance taxes, special permits, licenses, etc., are credited to the relief and pension fund, and there is only a nominal charge to the fire department appropriation for pensions.

The expenses of the fire alarm in the cities of Chicago, Philadelphia, San Francisco and Washington are charged to a department of electricity; in the City of Boston this is charged to the Fire Department appropriation.

In the City of Boston it is customary to make permanent improvements out of the Fire Department appropriation. Houses are remodeled and additions are made to quarters which are charged to the Boston appropriation. Further it is customary to charge all apparatus to the Boston appropriation. In New York and Chicago the new apparatus is charged to separate loans. In New York there is a separate appropriation made for permanent improvements. I am also informed that new hose and horses are paid for from corporate loans. In Chicago, San Francisco, Philadelphia and Washington the fire alarm service is supported from funds other than those of the fire department.

Thus it would seem that there can be no fair comparison of expenses without a uniform method of accounting. This does not exist and therefore any comparison of the per capita cost is bound to be unjust until proper allowance is made.

The Difference Due to the Distribution of the Local Population.

The City of Boston, comprising some forty-two square miles, includes the mercantile district of the metropolitan area. The population inhabiting the metropolitan area, some 1,500,000, is henefited by the fire service rendered by the City of Boston to their mercantile estahlishments without tax. Moreover, the protection maintained by Boston is relied upon hy contiguous cities as available in case of conflagrations. Therefore it results that the benefits derived from the fire service in the immediate city extend throughout the metropolitan area.

I have statistics showing the cost of fire protection in the various cities and towns in the metropolitan district. The ratio of this cost to the metropolitan population shows a per capita cost of $1.88. This figure is the true per capita cost throughout the metropolitan area, and because of the distribution of the population and property it is not correct to consider Boston's per capita cost independently of this figure. On the other hand, if this figure is taken as an index of the cost of fire protection, it will he found to compare favorably with other American cities.

I desire to point out that the metropolitan per capita for fire protection of $1.88 compares very favorably with the metropolitan per capita for police protection of $2.20. I desire further to point out that the per capita cost of fire protection and police protection in the immediate city area is $2.41 as against $3.09. The high cost of providing for the puhlic safety is due not only to the fact that the public safety is well provided for, but also to the fact that the immediate city serves the metropolitan population and property.

The Difference in the Fire Risk to be Guarded Against.

The firerisk in the City of Boston is one of the heaviest in the world. The down-town district is covered with old second-class buildings. Structural conditions, occupancies and other conditions tending to produce a high conflagration hazard occur most noticeably in that section between Boylston and Merrimac streets, which consists of large area hlocks, with crowded and poorly accessible interiors. There are other areas ahout the district in which conditions are had and block fires are liable to occur. The narrow streets are of very little value in preventing the spread of fire. The prevailing direction of the winds subjects that portion of the district east of Washington street to exposure from fire in the more probable conflagration breeding section.

The conflagration risk outside the city proper is notorious. Charlestown is an admirahle example of condtions that afford the elements of a conflagration. On one side of the district is a row of hay and grain sheds; in the center are long rows of wooden buildings; and on the other side the lumber yards make excellent food for the start or finish of a second Chelsea. Fire protection of the highest order is an absolute necessity.

Conditions in Dorchester have been well descrihed as those of a lumber camp. Tinder-box construction prevails in wholesale quantities. This section faces a conflagration which some day will leave thousands of people homeless.

No such risks exist in the other leading cities of the country. This is due partly to their wise provisions with respect to the building limits. I call your attention to the following tahle with respect to these limits in the leading cities of the country.

TABLE OF BUILDING LIMIT AREAS IN THE LEADING CITIES OF THE COUNTRY.

City.	Population, 1910.	Area, Square Miles.	Fire Limits, Square Miles.
Pittshurgh (entire)	588,905	40.67	8.61
Old City		37.67	5.78 (1909)
Baltimore	588,485	31.65	15.2 (1909)
Boston	670,585	42.07
		Land 38.5	4.02 (1905)
Philadelphia	1,549,008	129.58	68.0 (1905)
New York	2,410,250	21.93	*
Cincinnati	364,463	43.55	5.0 (1909)
Chicago	2,185,283	190.64	50.30 (1905)
St. Louis	687,029	61.37	31.45 (1905)

* Manhattan. Practically the entire area of the borough, 20 square miles.

Due to the fact that the fire risk in this city is heavier than in any of the other large cities it is necessary to maintain a stronger fire department.

DIFFERENCE DUE TO TOPOGRAPHY.

Boston is divided into five sections; four of these divisions are caused by extensive waterways. These sections are East Boston, South Boston, Charlestown, Brighton and the city proper. Owing to congestion at the bridges and ferries leading to these various sections, and the fact that the apparatus all comes from the same general direction, it would be impossible to concentrate quickly and properly a large amount of apparatus in case of a big fire. Therefore we must maintain independently strong protection for each of these separate sections mentioned. On account of this comparative isolation, it is also necessary to be cautious about depleting these districts of apparatus in case a large fire should occur in another section. Therefore it results that these districts, instead of being able to rely to a certain extent upon apparatus in contiguous districts, must be defended independently by their own apparatus and men, and a certain large percentage of this defence must be maintained at all times. This necessitates more apparatus and more men than would be necessary if we did not possess these independent sections.

CONCLUSION.

I desire to call your attention to the following table of ratios between fire department appropriations and total assessed valuations. You will see from this table that the City of Boston compares favorably with other cities of the country. This table shows Boston to be operated the fourth cheapest of the thirteen cities stated.

CITY.	Total Appropriation for Fire Department.	Assessed Valuation.	Ratio, 1–100 of 1 Per Cent.
New York	$8,153,542 40	$7,416,837,499	11.0
Chicago	3,001,158 99	2,524,699,600	11.5
St. Louis	1,104,823 49	855,872,300	12.9
Boston	1,582,390 36	1,393,765,432	11.3
Cleveland	902,420 00	875,000,000	10.3
Detroit	1,023,249 86	337,335,980	29.7
Buffalo	904,877 00	312,276,240	29.0
San Francisco	1,262,432 00	515,420,089	24.5
Milwaukee	720,000 00	247,573,150	29.6
New Orleans	424,832 00	230,840,937	18.4
Baltimore	1,582,289 40	698,135,168	22.7
Cincinnati	829,096 00	250,283,550	33.1
Washington	683,230 00	323,956,753	21.1

I desire, further, to call your attention to the following table showing the percentage of the general tax of the city which is used for the fire department appropriation. This table is an excellent one as far as statistics go, and again you will see that the City of Boston compares very favorably.

PERCENTAGE OF THE GENERAL TAX USED FOR THE MAINTENANCE OF THE FIRE DEPARTMENT.

(This table shows Boston to spend for fire protection relatively less of its general tax than seven out of ten leading cities tabulated.)

New York	04.2
Chicago	12.5
St. Louis	07.1
Boston	06.3
Buffalo	13.2
San Francisco	13.9
Milwaukee	09.5
New Orleans	14.5
Cincinnati	12.0
St. Paul	10.8

I desire, further, to point out that the administration of the Fire Department is being conducted as economically now as it was six years ago at the end of Commissioner Russell's term of office. The cost per fireman, exclusive of salaries and pensions, for the year 1910–11 was $302.92, and for the year 1904–05, the cost per fireman, exclusive of salaries and pensions, was $313.52. This figure includes repairs, maintenance, fire alarm service, etc., and is obtained by dividing the sum of the bills of the department by the number of department members.

Due to the heavy fire risk and the topography of the city it is necessary to maintain a strong fire department. Due to the local distribution of population and property the services of the department extend throughout the metropolitan area. These conditions, as well as variations in accounting, make a per capita comparison with other cities unjust unless proper allowance is made.

Referred to the Executive Committee.

PLAYGROUND, PARKER HILL.

The following was received:

City of Boston,
Office of the Mayor, August 22, 1911.

To the City Council:

Under date of June 26, 1911, I addressed a communication to your honorable body, recommending an appropriation of forty thousand dollars ($40,000) for Playground Accommodations in Ward 19. The chairman of the Board of Park Commissioners requests, in the accompanying letter addressed to Acting Mayor Collins, that the title of the original appropriation of sixty thousand dollars ($60,000) for a playground in the Parker Hill district be altered so that in case the second appropriation is made the two may be regarded as one sum and divided in accordance with the needs of the district, and not arbitrarily in accordance with the figures given in the separate appropriations. The request of the chairman seems to me a reasonable one, and I recommend the passage of the accompanying order, transferring the appropriation for Playground, Parker Hill, to an appropriation for Playground Accommodations, Ward 19.

Respectfully,
JOHN F. FITZGERALD, Mayor.

City of Boston,
Board of Commissioners of the
Department of Parks,
July 6, 1911.

Hon. Walter L. Collins,
Acting Mayor of Boston:

Dear Sir,—The Park Commission ask if you will request the City Council to so change the appropriation already made for $60,000 for a playground in the Parker Hill district that the money can be used together with the appropriation of $40,000 now under your consideration for the purchase of a playground in Ward 19.

Very truly yours,
ROBERT S. PEABODY, Chairman.

Ordered, That under the provisions of chapter 261 of the Acts of 1893 the City Auditor be and hereby is authorized to transfer the sum of sixty thousand dollars from the appropriation for Playground, Parker Hill, to an appropriation for Playground Accommodations, Ward 19.

Referred to the Executive Committee.

IMPROVEMENT OF GOVERNOR'S ISLAND.

The following was received:

City of Boston,
Office of the Mayor, August 22, 1911.

To the City Council:

At the meeting of your honorable body held July 17, 1911, the Special Committee on Use of Governor's Island reported itself as being "heartily in favor of the taking of this island for park and playground purposes." In my opinion the planting of the island with trees, the development of a portion of it as a playground, and the provision of facilities for access to it ought not to be delayed any longer. The communications from Major General Grant, referred to your honorable body at its meetings of February 20, 1911, and June 13, 1911, indicate an attitude of expectancy, if not impatience, on the part of the national authorities, owing to what they may not unreasonably regard as the procrastination of the City of Boston.

I recommend, therefore, the passage of the accompanying order, accepting the permission granted in the joint resolution of the Houses of Congress and approved June 5, 1902, as a preliminary to the passage of a special appropriation of twenty-eight thousand two hundred and twenty-five dollars ($28,225) to be expended by the Board of Park Commissioners for the improvement of the island.

Respectfully,
JOHN F. FITZGERALD, Mayor.

Ordered, That the following resolution be accepted and that his Honor the Mayor be authorized to notify the Major-General Commanding, Department of the East, of the intention of the city government of Boston to take advantage of the permission granted therein:

"Resolved by the Senate and House of Representatives of the United States of America in Congress assembled, that the Secretary of War is hereby authorized to permit the City of Boston, in the State of Massachusetts, to improve and beautify Governor's Island, or a portion thereof, situated in said city and belonging to the United States, in connection with the mooring berths to be built adjoining said island, and to make such excavations and fillings and erect and maintain such structures as may be considered proper for the purpose; all upon plans to be previously approved by the Secretary of War: provided, that the permission given pursuant to this resolution shall not pass any right or title in said island, but shall be revocable at will by the Secretary of War, and the ownership of said island shall remain entirely in the United States, and it shall be subject to such uses for military or other purposes as the Secretary of War may at any time direct."

LIGHTING OF PLAYGROUNDS.

The following was received:

City of Boston,
Office of the Mayor, August 16, 1911.

To the City Council:

I beg to transmit the accompanying statement from the Secretary of the Board of Park Commissioners, in reply to a request forwarded in compliance with your order passed at the meeting of June 26, to the effect that "the Park Commissioners be requested to furnish an estimate of what it would cost to properly light the various playgrounds, with special reference to Columbus Avenue and William Eustis Playgrounds and the Charlesbank, and whether the same could be done out of their present appropriation."

Respectfully,
JOHN F. FITZGERALD, Mayor.

City of Boston,
Board of Commissioners of the
Department of Parks,
Jamaica Plain, Mass., August 11, 1911.

Hon. Walter L. Collins,
Acting Mayor of Boston:

Dear Sir—The Board has received the accompanying order of the City Council, requesting the Park Commissioners to furnish an estimate of what it would cost to properly light the various playgrounds, with special reference to Columbus Avenue and William Eustis Playgrounds and the Charlesbank, and whether the same could be done out of their present appropriation, and I am directed to say, in reply, that the Edison Company will install one arc lamp on Camden street, opposite Roosevelt street, and place three arc lamps on the streets bordering William Eustis Playground, without expense to the city, so that the installation will cost this department nothing. The cost of maintaining these lights will come under the Department of Public Works.

The Charlesbank is already very well lighted, except the girls' gymnasium and playground, which are closed at night, and are so well fenced in that there appears to be no need of any lamps there.

Yours respectfully,
GEORGE F. CLARKE, Secretary.

EXHIBIT AT CHICAGO.

The following was received:

City of Boston,
Office of the Mayor, August 17, 1911.

To the City Council:

The accompanying letter from the temporary secretary of the Art Commission suggests an appropriation of three hundred fifty dollars ($350) for an exhibit at the Chicago International Municipal Congress and Exposition, September 18 to 30, inclusive. As only seven hundred six dollars and eighty cents ($706.80) of the appropriation of fifteen hundred dollars ($1,500), made earlier in the year for the exhibit sent to the Philadelphia Town Planning Exhibition, was expended, the expenditure suggested by the Art Commission would be merely the reappropriation of a part of a sum previously applied to a similar purpose. I recommend, therefore, the passage of the accompanying order, appropriating the sum of three hundred fifty dollars ($350) for an exhibit at the Chicago International Municipal Congress and Exposition, and providing that it be charged to the Reserve Fund.

Respectfully,
JOHN F. FITZGERALD, Mayor.

City of Boston,
Art Commission, August 16, 1911.

Hon. John F. Fitzgerald,
Mayor of Boston:

Dear Sir,—We would like to have an appropriation of $350 for the purpose of making an exhibit to the Chicago International and Municipal Congress at Chicago, September 18 to 30, inclusive. The same collection is to be from material which was sent to Philadelphia City Planning Exhibition in May and June, with any possible additions that may be made by the commissioner.

Respectfully submitted,
ALEXANDER STEINERT,
Temporary Secretary of the City of Boston Art Commission.

Ordered, That to meet the expenses of an exhibit at the International Municipal Congress and Exposition at Chicago, September 18 to 30, 1911, the sum of three hundred and fifty dollars ($350) be and hereby is appropriated, to be expended by the Art Commission under the direction of the Mayor, and charged to the appropriation for Reserve Fund.

HOSPITAL AMBULANCE, EAST BOSTON.

The following was received:

City of Boston,
Office of the Mayor, August 21, 1911.

To the City Council:

In compliance with your order passed at the meeting of July 7, "That the City Hospital Trustees be requested to inform the City Council, at as early a date as possible, why the East Boston Relief Station is not equipped with an ambulance, and if the trustees did not agree some time ago to provide an automobile ambulance for said hospital," I beg to transmit the reply from the president of the Board of Hospital Trustees.

Respectfully,
JOHN F. FITZGERALD, Mayor.

The Boston City Hospital,
Boston, July 14, 1911.

Hon. Walter L. Collins,
Acting Mayor of Boston:

Dear Sir,—At a meeting of the Board of Trustees to-day, July 14, an order of the City Council was presented, "That the City Hospital Trustees be requested to inform the City Council, at as early a date as possible, why the East Boston Relief Station is not equipped with an ambulance, and if the trustees did not agree some time ago to provide an automobile ambulance for said hospital."

In reply, I have to say that on August 4, 1910, a letter was addressed to his Honor Mayor Fitzgerald, regarding this matter, which letter is on file at the Mayor's office. The conditions have not changed since that letter was written. To install the ambulance at East Boston will require one or more chauffeurs, at an expenditure of a large sum of money. The number of ambulance cases since the opening of the East Boston Relief Station on October 15, 1908, to July 30, 1910, was 705. The police ambulance has done this work in a satisfactory manner, and is always ready to respond at short notice. If there should be a casualty of a severe nature at East Boston, three or four ambulances from the City Hospital would be sent there immediately.

In view of the foregoing facts, the trustees do not feel justified, on their own responsibility, in placing in commission this ambulance for the exclusive use of the East Boston Branch where the demand is so light, and thus depriving the hospital of its service.

The ambulance was ordered against the advice of the trustees, because it was insisted upon that the demand justified the establishment of this service. The foregoing record shows that about one case a day covered the demand for ambulance service, and surely this is not a justification for an outlay of over $3,000 a year, when the needs are being met as well as they are at the present time by the police. Furthermore, the ambulance in question is now being used in the East Boston service in conveying patients from the East Boston Relief Station or from their homes to the Boston City Hospital.

The trustees desire to assure your Honor that the East Boston Relief Station has and will have at all times the best attention, both as to its efficiency and its service.

I have the honor to be, on behalf of the trustees,

Respectfully yours,
A. SHUMAN,
President Board of Trustees.

TRANSFER FOR FOURTH STREET BRIDGE.

The following was received:

City of Boston,
Office of the Mayor, August 18, 1911.

To the City Council:

In accordance with the recommendation of the Commissioner of Public Works, as contained in the letter attached hereto, I beg to recommend the passage of the accompanying order, transferring the sum of five thousand dollars ($5,000) from the appropriation for Chelsea Bridge North, and the sum of two thousand dollars ($2,000) from the appropriation for Albany Street Bridge to a special appropriation for West Fourth Street Bridge.

Respectfully,
JOHN F. FITZGERALD, Mayor.

City of Boston,
Public Works Department,
August 16, 1911.

To the Honorable the Mayor:

It has been found necessary to replank, this year, the whole of the West Fourth Street Bridge, an extensive job, costing about $7,000, which was not provided for in the regular maintenance appropriation of this department. The work will be done in cooperation with the New York, New Haven & Hartford Railroad Company which is responsible for the maintenance of the timber stringers and the ironwork of the bridge and whose officials find it necessary at this time to renew all of the stringers in the bridge on account of the decay of the old stringers. To meet the cost of this work I respectfully request that the following transfers, amounting to $7,000, be made:

From Chelsea Bridge North	$5,000
From Albany Street Bridge, reconstruction	2,000
	$7,000

Respectfully,
L. K. ROURKE,
Commissioner of Public Works.

Ordered, That in accordance with the provisions of chapter 261 of the Acts of 1893, the City Auditor be and hereby is authorized to transfer the sum of five thousand dollars ($5,000) from the appropriation for Chelsea Bridge North, and two thousand dollars ($2,000) from the appropriation for Albany Street Bridge to a special appropriation, to be expended under the direction of the Commissioner of Public Works for West Fourth Street Bridge.

Referred to the Executive Committee.

APPROPRIATION FOR INFERIOR COURT COMMISSION.

The following was received:

City of Boston,
Office of the Mayor, August 16, 1911.

To the City Council:

The accompanying letter from the chairman of the Commission on the Inferior Courts of the County of Suffolk, with the certified copy of chapter 79 of the Resolves of the General Court of 1911 attached thereto, seems to make imperative an appropriation of two thousand five hundred dollars ($2,500) for the expenses of this commission.

I wish to recommend, therefore, the passage of the accompanying order, transferring this amount from the appropriation for Reserve Fund to the appropriation for County of Suffolk, Miscellaneous Expenses.

Respectfully,
JOHN F. FITZGERALD, Mayor.

Commission of the Inferior Courts of the County of Suffolk,
Courthouse, Boston, July 27, 1911.

Hon. John F. Fitzgerald,
Mayor of Boston:

Your Honor,—Under chapter 79 of the Resolves passed by the Legislature at its present sitting, a certified copy of which is herewith inclosed, a Commission on the Inferior Courts of the County of Suffolk has been appointed by his Excellency the Governor. Of this commission I have been designated chairman. The resolve provides that the commission "may expend in carrying out the provisions of this resolve a sum not exceeding $2,500, to be paid by the County of Suffolk."

On behalf of the commission I respectfully ask your Honor, at your earliest convenience, to take such steps as are necessary to make the appropriation available.

Respectfully yours,
WILFRED BOLSTER, Chairman.

Ordered, That in accordance with the provisions of chapter 261 of the Acts of 1893, the City Auditor be and hereby is authorized, with the approval of the Mayor, to transfer the sum of two thousand five hundred dollars ($2,500) from the appropriation for Reserve Fund to the appropriation for County of Suffolk, Miscellaneous Expenses, in order to pay the expenses of the Commission on the Inferior Courts of Suffolk County.

Referred to the Committee on County Accounts.

INVITATION TO CITY COUNCIL.

The following was received:

City of Boston,
Office of the Mayor, August 22, 1911.

To the City Council:

I take pleasure in transmitting the accompanying invitation from the Old Guard of the Gate City Guard of Atlanta, Ga., to the members of the City Council, asking them to participate in the dedication of a monument commemorating their "Mission of Peace" to the eastern states after the Civil War. The ceremonies will be held on the 9th, 10th and 11th of October, 1911, and the invitation, which bears the signatures of the Governor of Georgia and the Mayor of Atlanta, as well as representative citizens of that city, seems very worthy of careful consideration and such response as your sense of the proprieties of this occasion may dictate.

Respectfully,
JOHN F. FITZGERALD, Mayor.

(Annexed was invitation referred to.)

Referred to the Executive Committee.

BAND CONCERTS, DORCHESTER.

The following was received:

City of Boston,
Office of the Mayor, August 21, 1911.

To the City Council:

I beg to transmit a communication from the secretary of the Music Department, replying to an order passed by your honorable body at its meeting of July 7, to the effect "that the Music Trustees be requested, through his Honor the Mayor, to give one or more band concerts during the present summer at Moody's corner, Dorchester."

Respectfully,
JOHN F. FITZGERALD, Mayor.

City of Boston, Music Department,
Office of the Trustees, August 21, 1911.

Hon. John F. Fitzgerald,
Mayor of Boston:

Dear Sir,—I beg to notify you that the petition signed by citizens in the vicinity of Moody's corner, Dorchester, and the subsequent order passed by the City Council on July 7, 1911, a copy of which is attached herewith, "that the Music Trustees be requested, through his Honor the Mayor, to give one or more band concerts during the present summer at Moody's corner, Dorchester" has been referred to the trustees, and I am instructed to say that owing to the condition of our finances we will find it impossible at this time to meet the request.

During the season nine concerts will be given at Franklin Park and nine evening concerts in the various centrally located sections of Dorchester. Together with the five concerts given on Dorchester Day the total number of concerts given the Dorchester district will total twenty-three. Owing to the extra expense to this department on Dorchester Day and the decrease in the annual appropriation, we have found it impossible to meet several of these requests during the present season which have been granted in the past.

The petition will be kept on file and a concert may be arranged for at this location next season.

Very truly yours,
WALTER L. FINIGAN, Secretary.

TRANSFER FOR MYSTIC AVENUE BRIDGE.

The following was received:

City of Boston,
Office of the Mayor, August 21, 1911.

To the City Council:

I beg to transmit the accompanying letter from the Commissioner of Public Works, requesting that a special appropriation be made amounting to six thousand seven hundred twenty dollars and seventeen cents ($6,720.17) for Mystic Avenue Bridge. As the commissioner explains, this is the proportion which the City of Boston must pay for rebuilding this bridge in accordance with the report of a special commission, dated July 9, 1909. The decision of the Railroad Commissioners, ordering alterations and the rebuilding of the bridge, dated March 16, 1909, and the report of the apportionment commission which determined that Boston should pay 10 per cent of the cost, are attached hereto for your information. I recommend the passage of the accompanying order.

Respectfully,
JOHN F. FITZGERALD, Mayor.

City of Boston,
Public Works Department,
August 16, 1911.

To the Honorable the Mayor:

I respectfully request that a special appropriation be made, amounting to $6,720.17, for Mystic Avenue Bridge. This is the proportion of the City of Boston for rebuilding Mystic Avenue Bridge from Boston to Somerville, in accordance with report of special commission, dated July 9, 1909, being 10 per cent of the entire cost. As this is an extraordinary expense for which no provision was made at the time the annual appropriations were made, the above special appropriation is asked for.

Respectfully,
L. K. ROURKE,
Commissioner of Public Works.

(The communication from the Railroad Commissioners was annexed.)

Ordered, That in accordance with the provisions of chapter 261 of the Acts of 1893, the City Auditor be and hereby is authorized to transfer the sum of six thousand seven hundred and twenty dollars and seventeen cents ($6,720.17), to be expended under the direction of the Commissioner of Public Works for Mystic Avenue Bridge.

Referred to the Executive Committee.

TRANSFER FOR DOVER STREET BRIDGE.

The following was received:

City of Boston,
Office of the Mayor, August 21, 1911.

To the City Council:

I beg to transmit a communication from the Commissioner of Public Works, with a letter from the division engineer of the Bridge and Ferry Division appended, requesting that the sum of two thousand three hundred twenty dollars and sixty-two cents ($2,320.62) be transferred from the appropriation for Albany Street Bridge, and the sum of two thousand five hundred dollars ($2,500) from the appropriation for Summer Street Bridge to the appropriation for Dover Street Bridge. As the division engineer explains, these balances can well be spared from the objects to which they were originally applied and are needed to meet certain unexpected contingencies in the work of the Dover Street Bridge. I recommend the passage of the accompanying order.

Respectfully,
JOHN F. FITZGERALD, Mayor.

City of Boston,
Public Works Department,
August 19, 1911.

To the Honorable the Mayor:

I respectfully call your attention to the attached letter of Division Engineer Fay regarding the Dover Street Bridge, and would respectfully request that the transfers asked for be granted.

Respectfully,
L. K. ROURKE,
Commissioner of Public Works.

City of Boston,
Public Works Department,
Bridge and Ferry Division,
August 18, 1911.

Mr. L. K. Rourke,
Commissioner of Public Works:

Dear Sir,—In the progress of the repair work at Dover Street Bridge it has been found necessary to do certain work not provided for by the special appropriation, namely, to provide an entire new floor to the draw span, to repair the concrete draw pier which has been damaged by the action of sea water, and to make extensive repairs to the roadway gates, the cost of this additional work being approximately $4,800.

I respectfully request that the sum of $2,320,62 be transferred from the appropriation for the Albany Street Bridge and the sum of $2,500 transferred from the appropriation for the Summer Street Bridge to the appropriation for the Dover Street Bridge to cover the cost of this additional work.

In explanation of these transfers, I would say that I have already requested the transfer of $2,000 from the Albany Street Bridge appropriation to the special appropriation for the West Fourth Street Bridge and the sum named above is the balance of the Albany Street Bridge appropriation. In making the repairs at Summer Street Bridge it has been found possible to effect a saving of, approximately, $2,500 by making certain changes in the design of that structure so that this sum can be spared from that appropriation.

Respectfully,
FRENERIC H. FAY,
Division Engineer.

Ordered, That under the provisions of chapter 261 of the Acts of 1893 the City Auditor be and hereby is authorized to transfer the sum of two thousand three hundred and twenty dollars and sixty-two cents ($2,320.62) from the appropriation for Albany Street Bridge and the sum of two thousand five hundred dollars ($2,500) from the appropriation for Summer Street Bridge to the appropriation for Dover Street Bridge.

Referred to the Executive Committee.

REMOVAL OF PARK WALL.

The following was received:

City of Boston,
Office of the Mayor, August 21, 1911.

To the City Council:

In compliance with your order passed at the meeting of June 26, "That the Park Commissioners be requested to report upon the advisability of removing the wall now bounding Franklin Park on Seaver street, and also whether the Boston Elevated Railroad would bear the expense," I beg to transmit the communication received from the chairman of the Board of Park Commissioners.

Respectfully,
JOHN F. FITZGERALD, Mayor.

City of Boston,
Board of Commissioners of the
Department of Parks,
Jamaica Plain, Mass., July 17, 1911.

Hon. Walter L. Collins,
Acting Mayor of Boston:

Dear Sir,—The Park Commission herewith returns an order from the City Council relating to a wall on Seaver street. I would say that the commission is decidedly of the opinion that it is against the interests of the park that this wall should be removed. We have no means of knowing whether the Boston Elevated Railroad would bear the expense.

Yours truly,
ROBERT S. PEABODY, Chairman.

Referred to the Executive Committee.

FILLING IN OF RESERVOIR.

The following was received:

City of Boston,
Office of the Mayor, July 22, 1911.

To the City Council:

In compliance with the order passed by your honorable body at its meeting June 26, 1911, to the effect "That the Commissioner of Public Works, through his Honor the Mayor, report as to the cost of filling the reservoir in East Boston, situated at Brooks and White streets, known as 'Eagle Hill Reservoir,' in a suitable manner for playground or park purposes," I beg to append a statement received from the Commissioner of Public Works informing me that "Until the metropolitan 30-inch main recently laid through Marginal street, etc., southwesterly to Chelsea street, is extended to the junction of Broadway and Williams street, it is not considered safe to abandon the 'Eagle Hill Reservoir,'" and giving the estimate required in case this abandonment should ultimately be made and the reservoir leveled to grade.

Respectfully,
JOHN F. FITZGERALD, Mayor.

City of Boston,
Public Works Department,
July 20, 1911.

To the Honorable the Acting Mayor:

In accordance with inclosed order of the City Council, dated June 26, 1911, requesting an estimate of the cost of filling the reservoir at East Boston, known as "Eagle Hill Reservoir," situated at Brooks and White streets, you are respectfully informed that until the metropolitan 30-inch main recently laid through Marginal street, etc., southwesterly to Chelsea street, is extended to the junction of Broadway and Williams street, it is not considered safe to abandon the "Eagle Hill Reservoir."

The estimated cost of grading this reservoir is as follows:

118,000 cubic yards of filling at 80 cents, $94,400.

Respectfully,
L. K. ROURKE,
Commissioner of Public Works.

APPROPRIATION FOR PENSIONS.

The following was received:

City of Boston,
Office of the Mayor, August 17, 1911.

To the City Council:

Acting under a ruling of the City Auditor, I have recommended the passage of a series of orders appropriating sums sufficient to provide pensions, under the authority of chapter 113 of the Acts of 1911, for individual employees in the Water Service of the Sewer and Water Division of the Department of Public Works, and charging these amounts to the Reserve Fund.

Other applications for retirement under this act have been filed by laborers in that service, and have been approved by the Commissioner of Public Works and myself. To obviate the inconvenience of a separate order in each case, I have drafted the accompanying general order, which provides that these pensions shall be charged in all instances to the Reserve Fund, and recommend its passage by your honorable body.

Respectfully,
JOHN F. FITZGERALD, Mayor.

Ordered, That a sum sufficient to provide pensions under the authority of chapter 113 of the Acts of 1911 for such employees of the Water Service of the Sewer and Water Division of the Department of Public Works as may be entitled to them be and hereby is appropriated, and that the said appropriation be charged to the Reserve Fund.

FIRE PROTECTION.

The following was received:

Boston Finance Commission,
410–416 Tremont Building,
Boston, August 16, 1911.

To the Honorable the Mayor and City Council:

Gentlemen,—The Finance Commission respectfully submits the following report upon the subject of fire protection in the City of Boston:

I. Existing Conditions.

The bulk of Boston's large business is conducted in a section of the city where the fire hazard is very large. The streets in the business district are so narrow as to be of little value as barriers against fire; and many of the buildings are old, with little or no fireproof material in their construction, and without proper facilities for access by the Fire Department. Fires in this district are almost invariably attended with serious losses. A conflagration would be certain to cause tremendous financial loss, and might cause a temporary paralysis of business during which the entire community would suffer.

In many residential sections of the city entire streets present a solid front of dwellings made of what has been properly styled "tinder box" construction. Dorchester is the most conspicuous example, but similar conditions are found in the other residential sections. There are exceptional fire hazards in East Boston and Charlestown, due partly to dwelling houses of this type, partly to the presence of factories, lumber yards, railroad sheds and wharves, and partly to the fact that apparatus sent from other parts of the city to give relief may be delayed on the bridges or ferries over which most of the assistance to the local fire companies must come.

The large area outside of "the building limits" in Boston, that is, outside the limits within which the erection of wooden buildings is prohibited by law, adds greatly to the fire risk. Figures submitted by the Fire Commissioner show that in the seven cities of the United States which have the largest population the percentage of the area of the building limits to the total city area is the lowest in Boston. The area within the building limits in Pittsburg is over one-fifth of the total area, in Chicago it is over one-fourth, in Baltimore nearly one-half, in St. Louis and Philadelphia over one-half, and in New York practically the whole area is included within the building limits. In Boston, however, less than one-tenth of the total area is within the building limits. All things considered, Boston's fire risk is one of the heaviest in the large cities of the United States.

The Fire Department is entirely capable of handling ordinary fires. It has sufficient apparatus of its kind, and it is kept in good condition. It is generally admitted that the firemen are well equipped physically and mentally and that the officers are experienced and able. The Fire Commissioner is conducting the affairs of the department intelligently and faithfully.

The department, however, is not as well equipped as it should be for dealing with extraordinary fires. Any such fire, under existing circumstances and with unfavorable weather conditions, might result in a disastrous conflagration. In order to deal promptly and effectively with the larger and more dangerous fires, the department should have in every company a sufficient quota of men available for immediate duty and an adequate equipment of the best modern fire apparatus. In these two essentials the department is lacking and to this is due largely the lack of sufficient protection against fire in Boston.

II. Recognized Need of Better Protection.

That Boston needs better fire protection is not a new discovery; it has been known for a long time by the city authorities, by insurance officials and by the citizens generally. A year ago the Mayor, vividly impressed with the lessons of the Albany street fire, called the attention of the Chamber of Commerce and of the Finance Commission to the lack of sufficient fire protection, and invited these bodies to investigate and report on several phases of the situation; at about the same time he also appointed a special commission to study the defects in the building laws, with the intention of submitting a bill remedying such defects to the incoming Legislature; and these various bodies made the requested investigations and reports.

The Fire Commissioner and the local and national boards of fire underwriters fully recognized the need of better protection against fire, and made certain definite recommendations for improvement. The citizens generally recognized the need of decreasing the fire hazard and of increasing the efficiency of the Fire Department; and their views were reflected in the columns of the newspapers, which appreciated the existing dangers and joined in the general demand for their abatement.

One of the greatest needs, according to the underwriters, the Fire Commissioner, and all persons familiar with conditions in the Fire Department, was the appointment of additional firemen. The Fire Commissioner on April 11, 1911, wrote to the Mayor requesting an appropriation of $75,000 to cover the salaries and expenditures of additional firemen. In this letter the commissioner quoted a report of the National Board of Fire Underwriters on the Fire Department of the City of Boston as follows:

"The fire force, while nominally strong, is seriously weakened by the allowance of time off under the present arrangements; even companies in the most important districts are often reduced to four or five men in quarters during eleven out of twenty-four hours. At such times, companies responding to fires must assist one another, with a loss of valuable time at the most critical stage. This is the most serious deficiency of any pertaining to the department and demands immediate attention. The number of men in each company should be increased, or at least provision made for relief men to take the places of all members on vacation, sick and special leave or details and in some cases for those on days off.

"Members are allowed two meal periods of two hours or three of one and one-quarter hours daily, one day off in five and fourteen days' annual vacation. These with the details, sick leaves, etc., reduce the fire force during eleven and one-half hours each day to about one-half and in many instances less than one-half of the total membership."

The Fire Commissioner also shows in the same letter that in vacation months, May to November, engine and ladder companies requiring thirteen and fourteen men sometimes have only five; companies requiring nine or twelve men sometimes have only four; and companies requiring seven and eight sometimes have only three men. (See minutes of City Council, 1911, pages 271, 272.)

The Finance Commission on March 22, 1911, recommended the appointment of fifty additional firemen, the number which the Fire Commissioner then estimated to be absolutely necessary; and since that time practically nothing has occurred to lessen the necessity for the recommended increase in the force.

III. Failure to Improve Conditions.

Notwithstanding the recognized need for improvement, and the various recommendations made as a result of the investigations requested by the Mayor, practically nothing has been accomplished in the last year except the authorization of a high pressure water service, which is to be installed in the business district. When this service is completed it will greatly strengthen the city's fire-fighting facilities, but it does not help the present situation in the slightest degree. The Legislature defeated the attempt to strengthen the building laws, the department force has not been increased as requested, and the situation is practically the same as it was a year ago when the Mayor called public attention to the pressing need of greater protection against fire.

IV. The Causes of the Shortage of Firemen.

Though the failure to increase the number of firemen in the past year was due to the non-action of the present Mayor and City Council, the primary cause of the shortage was due to the action of previous city governments. As pointed out in the report of the National Board of Fire Underwriters, the allowances for time off and for meal hours has greatly weakened the department force. Prior to December, 1905, such allowances were governed by the department regulations and were controlled by the head of the department; but in that year control of the allowances for time off, and in 1909 control of the allowances for meal hours, was taken away from the Fire Commissioner and both matters were regulated by ordinance.

Politics was the moving cause of both these transfers of the Fire Commissioner's power to regulate the hours of labor in his department, and of the resulting shortage of firemen available for duty. Thus, as a result of the bidding for firemen's votes by rival candidates for the Democratic nomination for Mayor in the fall of 1905, the firemen were given by ordinance one day off in five instead of one day off in eight as previously given under the regulations of the department. (See Ordinances of 1905, chapter 4.) This action was taken against the Fire Commissioner's protest that the force would be reduced below the actual needs of the service. Likewise, in the desire to secure the political support of the firemen, the 1909 ordinance was passed, requiring that the members should be allowed for meals each day "either three periods of one hour and fifteen minutes each, or two periods of two hours each." This ordinance superseded the department's regulation giving the members an hour for each of three meals a day. (Ordinances of 1909, chapter 11.) This second instance of mischievous meddling with the internal affairs of the department was opposed by the Fire Commissioner, as shown by the following letter:

Headquarters Fire Department.
Boston, December 26, 1908.

John T. Priest, Esq., City Clerk,
City Hall, Boston:

Dear Sir,—In reply to your letter of December 22, stating that the Board of Aldermen requests my opinion in regard to the inclosed ordinance, I am opposed to such an ordinance, which I believe would impair the efficiency of this department, and, in my opinion, is not essential to the welfare of the men.

Yours very truly,
S. D. Parker, Commissioner.

The ordinance was vetoed by Mayor Hibbard, but was passed by the City Council over his veto.

V. Remedies for Existing Defects.

1. There is urgent need for amending the building laws and for extending the area of the present building limits, and an effort should be made to procure suitable legislation in these particulars.

2. There is an obvious need of increasing the fire fighting facilities of the department, so as to get more men and more apparatus more quickly to a fire than is at present possible. In fire fighting, as in war, success often turns upon getting the largest force in the quickest time to a given point. The Finance Commission believes that the appointment of fifty additional firemen would afford some relief for the present situation; but it thinks this is not all that is required. Means must be provided which will enable the men to get to the fire quicker than is possible with horse-drawn apparatus such as is now used in the department. At the request of the Finance Commission, the Fire Commissioner has made a study of the relative cost and efficiency of horse-drawn and motor apparatus, and has submitted a report with his recommendations, a copy of which is hereto annexed. He recommends that the department be authorized to expend $200,000 for the purchase of the following motor apparatus:

First.—Fifteen automobile runabouts to replace fifteen horses and fifteen buggies now used by the districts chiefs, the superintendent of repairs and the superintendent of the fire-alarm branch.

Second.—Three automobile combination wagons to replace six horses, one wrecking wagon and the two supply wagons of the fire-alarm branch and the repair division.

Third.—Ten automobile chemical hose wagons to replace twenty horses and ten chemical engines.

Fourth.—Thirteen automobile chemical hose wagons (of sufficient capacity to "service" the high system in future years if necessary) to replace twenty-six horses and thirteen ordinary hose wagons.

Fifth.—Four automobile ladder trucks to replace twelve horses and four out-of-town ladder trucks.

Sixth.—Two automobile ladder trucks to replace four horses and two chemical engines.

The amount recommended by the Fire Commissioner ($200,000) is about $34,000 more than his present estimate of the cost of the new motor apparatus minus the amount which would be received in exchange for the old equipment; but he believes that it would be better to make an appropriation of $200,000, so as to leave sufficient margin for differences between his estimates and prices that might be offered and also for changes in or additions to his plans. As the estimated net cost is $166,035, the Finance Commission, however, believes that if $175,000 be appropriated a sufficient margin will be afforded.

The plan would involve a large capital expenditure which could be justified only by a large increase in the efficiency of the department. The Fire Commissioner believes the expenditure would be justified by the large gains in efficiency. These gains he sets forth as follows:

First.— The speed of horses responding to an alarm is from twelve to fifteen miles an hour under the best conditions. The automobile will cover more than twice this distance in the same time if necessary.

Second.— It can cover a long distance with the same speed as short ones. This is impossible with horses.

Third.— It is back in quarters quicker than horses and ready to respond to another alarm.

Fourth.— The services of the driver of an automobile are available, which is not so with the driver of horses.

The Fire Commissioner does not include in the prospective purchase of motor apparatus gasolene pumping engines, motor water towers or heavy motor ladder trucks, but confines his recommendations to such apparatus as seem to him clearly to have passed the experimental stage and to have demonstrated its utility in actual service. He is also certain that his plans can be executed without difficulty in regard to the housing and repair of the new apparatus, or the storage of gasolene, the department's resources being sufficient, in his opinion, to provide for these details; and he expects no difficulty in training the present drivers of horses to run the automobile apparatus.

The saving in maintenance resulting from the substitution of motor for horse-drawn apparatus would be at least as much as the Fire Commissioner estimated in his report to the Finance Commission, dated August 8, 1911, namely, at the rate of $50 for one-horse apparatus and $100 for two-horse apparatus, and probably would be more, as the Fire Commissioner's estimate does not include the cost of repairs of horse-drawn apparatus. Against the saving in maintenance, however, there should be set off the larger capital charges of motor apparatus, distributed over the years of the life of such apparatus, as it costs considerably more than horse-drawn apparatus. If motor apparatus were to be substituted for new horse-drawn apparatus, the total annual increase in expenses would not, in the opinion of the Finance Commission, exceed $20,000, and probably would not exceed $15,000; but the horse-drawn apparatus is not new, and much of it would soon have to be replaced at all events, therefore the above estimates of increased expenditures should be somewhat reduced. Assuming, however, that the increase may be as high as $20,000 a year, the Finance Commission believes it would be entirely justified by results. The department could utilize for service at fires the forty-seven drivers of the new motor apparatus, whereas the service at fires of the drivers of horse-drawn apparatus is forbidden by the department rule requiring such drivers to stand by their horses, and is in fact seldom utilized. This additional service alone would seem to justify the proposed increase in expenses; but when the greatly increased efficiency of the department as a whole is considered, the Finance Commission thinks there can be no doubt whatever of the wisdom of the proposed change.

3. The Fire Commissioner should have greater control over his department than he has at present. He should not be hampered by the political activity of the firemen's organization, exercised either in the Legislature, in the City Council, or with the Mayor; nor by the inelasticity of such ordinances as regulate the time off or the meal hours of the firemen. These ordinances should be repealed so as to restore his authority to regulate the internal affairs of his own department.

The Finance Commission recommends:

1. A renewal of the efforts to secure legislation amending the building laws and extending the building limits.

2. That the Mayor and City Auditor, acting under section 3 of chapter 486 of the Acts of 1909, transfer from the Reserve Fund to the appropriation for the Fire Department the sum of $193,000 to be used for the following purposes, viz.: $18,000 for the salaries for the remainder of the present fiscal year of fifty additional firemen, and $175,000 for the purchase of the motor apparatus recommended by the Fire Commissioner; or that the Mayor and City Council appropriate from the Reserve Fund, or from taxes, the sum of $193,000 for the said purposes. It has been customary to provide fire apparatus out of taxes instead of by loans, and the established practice should be followed in this instance. The fact that the apparatus is of the motor instead of the horse-drawn kind furnishes no reason for changing the established financial policy in this respect.

3. Chapter 4 of the Ordinances of 1905 and chapter 11 of the Ordinances of 1909, which regulate the time off and meal hours, respectively, of the firemen, should be repealed, so as to restore the Fire Commissioner's authority over this department.

Respectfully submitted,
THE FINANCE COMMISSION,
by JOHN A. SULLIVAN,
Chairman.

APPENDIX.

REPORT OF THE FIRE COMMISSIONER TO THE FINANCE COMMISSION.

City of Boston,
Headquarters Fire Department.
August 8, 1911.

Re Motor Apparatus.

Finance Commission,
Tremont Building, Boston, Mass.:

Gentlemen,—This department has made a careful study of changing its horse-drawn apparatus to that of motor-driven type. The present equipment of the Boston Fire Department has proven up to date an efficient fire stop for both down town and out of town fires. Any replacement of this apparatus necessitates changing from sure protection to untried apparatus whose efficiency under trying conditions may prove problematic. When it is considered that the value of the property protected is $1,400,000,000 and the number of people served is approximately 1,000,000 the seriousness of any change from present satisfactory conditions can be fully realized. No large city has as yet adopted any material amount of motor apparatus. Small cities, where the conflagration risk is neglected and economy is the essential item, are its chief exponents. It has therefore been considered wise to recommend only such motor apparatus as has been tried and proven efficient under all conditions. After a complete investigation the following is recommended:

Recommendations.

It is recommended that $200,000 be expended by this department for motor apparatus. If this sum is considered excessive the first three subsidiary recommendations involving the sum of $100,000 should be adopted. It is suggested that this sum might properly be transferred from the reserve.

The recommendations are:

First.—The replacement of all district chief's buggies and the buggies of the Superintendent of Repairs and the Superintendent of Fire Alarm by automobile runabouts. This involves fifteen horses and buggies.

Second.—The replacement of the present two-horse wrecking wagon and the two two-horse supply wagons of the Fire-Alarm Branch and the Repair Division by automobile combination wagons which will be duplicates of the chemical hose wagons and will constitute reliefs for the same. This will involve three wagons and six horses.

Third.—The replacement of the entire chemical engine equipment by automobile chemical hose wagons. This involves ten chemical engines and twenty horses.

Fourth.—The replacement of thirteen ordinary hose wagons by automobile chemical hose wagons of sufficient capacity to service the high pressure system in future years if necessary. This involves thirteen wagons and twenty-six horses.

Fifth.—The replacement of four out of town ladder trucks by the same number of automobile ladder trucks. This involves four ladder trucks and twelve horses.

Sixth.—The replacement of two chemical engines by automobile ladder trucks. This involves two chemical engines and four horses.

Cost of Exchange.

This entire replacement involves the sale of eighty-three horses, eighty-three harnesses, twelve chemical engines, fifteen buggies, sixteen wagons and four ladder trucks. Computed at the following prices, which could no doubt be obtained in exchange for new apparatus, the following amount would be received:

Horses, 83 at $150	$12,450
Chemical engines, 12 at $500	6,000
Wagons, 16 at $100	1,600
Buggies, 15 at $50	750
Harnesses, 83 at $5	415
Ladder trucks, 4 at $500	2,000
	$23,215

The necessary equipment to replace this apparatus would cost:

Combination hose wagons, 26 at $5,000,	$130,000
Ladder trucks, 6 at $5,500	33,000
Runabouts, 15 at $1,750	26,250
	$189,250
	23,215
	$166,035

In order that the purchasing authority may have proper leeway for changes in plans, additions thereto and changes in prices, it would seem best to recommend that $200,000 he made availahle for the carrying out of these recommendations.

Difference in Maintenance Expenditures.

To maintain one horse one year in the Boston Fire Department costs $250. This figure has been obtained by taking the approximate average expenditure for the maintenance of horses for the last five years. These expenditures are made up of bills for the following: Hay, grain, straw, shoeing, purchase and exchange of horses, harnesses and repairs, horse hire, attendants at hospital, medicines, etc.

There is considerahle difficulty in estimating what would he the maintenance costs of motor equipment in this department. The maintenance costs of smaller cities and towns, in my opinion, are not reliahle. They are based on smaller service mileage such as is not comparahle with the work in Boston. Moreover, the manufacturers of motor apparatus make many important repairs without cost at this time. It is reasonahle to expect that later these repairs will not be free and will be more numerous.

The cost of Motor Chemical 13 of this department for one year has heen $338. This includes an expenditure of $100 for spare tires.

In my opinion the maintenance expenditures of motor chemical apparatus would not exceed $500, or the maintenance expenditure for horse-drawn apparatus. It is possible that the charges would he somewhat less than $500, hut considering the increase in repairs as the car depreciates, the heavy cost of repairs resulting from accidents, and the high cost of maintenance of pleasure cars, and the uncertainty with respect to depreciation, I do not feel that it would he safe to estimate any material and sure saving in maintenance over horse-drawn apparatus. At the same time motor apparatus could unquestionahly he maintained for not more than $500 per piece, and there would probably be some saving.

It is not out of the question that this saving would amount to not less than $50 per horse, or $100 per team. In the case of the larger plan this would amount to $4,150 per year, or the interest on ahout $104,000 at 4 per cent. In the case of the smaller plan a saving of $100 per team would amount to $2,250 per year, or the interest on ahout $56,000.

It is apparent that the services of drivers, who are paid $1,200 per year, would be available with motor apparatus.

Gain in Efficiency.

First.—The speed of horses responding to an alarm is from twelve to fifteen miles an hour under the best conditions. The automohile will cover more than twice this distance in the same time if necessary.

Second.—It can cover a long distance with the same speed as short ones. This is impossihle with horses.

Third.—It is back in quarters quicker than horses and ready to respond to another alarm.

Fourth.—The services of the driver of an automohile are availahle, which is not so with the driver of horses.

Dorchester, with its large area of wooden huildings, and West Roxbury, rapidly huilding up in the same manner, needs just such fire service as automobile chemical hose wagons can give. Their speed will enahle them in the case of single fires to reach the fires quicker and extinguish it in its incipiency. In the case of larger fires they will be enahled to cover long distances at great speed, which will he necessary when flying sparks travel from roof to roof.

Application of the New Equipment.

The plans of this department contemplate the installation of motor apparatus in the following houses:

First.—Ten chemical engine companies.

Second.—Fifteen chiefs' buggies.

Third.—Three administration wagons.

Fourth.—Six out of town ladder trucks, to wit, Ladders 27, 25, 16 and 6, and ladder trucks in place of chemical engines 5 and 6.

Fifth.—The installation of automobile hose tenders in the quarters of Engines 16, 17, 18, 19, 20, 28, 29, 30, 34, 37, 41, 45 and 46.

These wagons are to be huilt of a sufficient capacity to carry 1,000 feet of 3-inch hose, therehy making them available for service as high pressure wagons in the down town district if so desired in later years.

Smaller Plan.

If the sum of $200,000, is considered heyond the means of the city for the present, I earnestly recommend that so much of the recommendations as involves the charge of horse-drawn chiefs' huggies and chemical engines to motor driven be adopted. The smaller plan includes the first three recommendations with the exception that there will be twelve chemicals. The figures involved are:

Sale of present equipment:
Horses, 45 at $150	$6,750
Harnesses, 45 at $5	225
Buggies, 15 at $50	750
Wagons, 3 at $100	300
Chemical engines, 12 at $500	6,000
	$14,025

Cost of new equipment:
Runabouts, 15 at $1,750	$26,250
Chemical engines, 15 at $5,000	75,000
	$101,250

The difference in maintenance: Possible saving of $2,250 per year.

Estimated net sum for smaller plan, $100,000.

Not Recommended.

It has not seemed wise to recommend the purchase of gasolene pumping engines for the following reasons:

First.—It has not yet been proven that the gasolene pumping engine can maintain a capacity of 700 gallons per minute for a material length of time.

Second.—Purchases of these engines up to date have been in the nature of experiments. Boston, with its heavy fire risk, cannot afford to experiment in any large degree with the most important part of its equipment, the pumping engine.

Third.—No large city has as yet done more than buy an experimental gasolene engine.

Fourth.—It is very questionable as to whether a motor-drawn steam hoiler, such as is in service in New York, may not prove a more satisfactory type than the single piece gasolene pumping engine and hose cart.

It is possible that later a gasolene-driven engine may he perfected that will pump with reliahility over 700 gallons and which will also carry 1,000 feet of hose and ten men. For the present I am of the opinion that there is no such engine. Should it he developed, the economies possible will not be lessened by the adoption of these recommendations.

In my opinion the city should not proceed heyond the purchase of a single experimental engine which could be made from department funds.

On similar grounds no purchase of motor water towers or heavy ladder trucks should be made. Up to date there has been hut one motor water tower in existence in this country, and that hut a very short time. There are very few heavy motor ladder trucks. Considering the supreme necessity of maintaining the efficiency of these fire-fighting machines, as well as the pumping engines, it seems wise to delay any action with respect to this apparatus for the present.

Conclusion.

I desire to call your attention to the fact that this department has recommended only such equipment as has heen tried and proven reliable. The proposed increase in efficiency will apply to a great extent to Dorchester and West Roxbury. These sections of the city will greatly henefit by fast moving chemical wagons. The recommendations have involved a sum of money which might justly be expended from the reserve if it is proposed to maintain the Fire Department of the city on an up-to-date basis.

Very respectfully,
CHARLES D. DALY,
Fire Commissioner.

Referred to the Executive Committee.

INVESTIGATION OF CITY CLERK DEPARTMENT.

The following was received:

Boston Finance Commission,
410–413 Tremont Building,
July 24, 1911.

To the Honorable the Mayor and City Council:

Gentlemen,—The Finance Commission respectfully submits the following report upon the City Clerk Department.

The department performs various duties prescribed by statute or ordinance, the principal ones being the attendanee upon the City Council and the recording of its proceedings and the filing and recording of mortgages of personal property and other instruments.

The former Finance Commission, under date of July 14, 1908, made a report upon the department, and recommended reorganization on a basis calculated to reduce the expenditures to not exceeding $40,000 a year. The average annual expenditures for the ten years preceding the year 1908–09 had been $51,370, but partly as a result of the commission's report the expenditures for the last three years have been reduced to $46,591.51, $42,900.22 and $44,279.77, respectively, or an average of $44,590.50 a year.

The failure to reduce expenditures to the extent recommended by the former commission is due to the fact that politics has always had and still has a large influence in the affairs of the department, causing an increase in the number and compensation of employees far beyond the actual needs of the service. Though the department is entitled to commendation for abolishing overtime payments and for reducing the total expenditures, it is entitled to little credit for reductions in the pay roll. The pay roll reductions have been few in number and small in amount. They have been made along the lines of least resistance, only one resignation having been called for by the City Clerk, the other reductions having been due to voluntary resignation or death. Of the five employees of the department who have ceased to be connected with it since the date of the former commission's report, only one was removed; three resigned to get married and one died.

The present Finance Commission caused the department to be re-examined by Gunn, Richards & Co., expert accountants, who have completed their investigation and have filed a report with the Finance Commission under date of December 28, 1910. They recommended changes which would reduce the expenditures of the department to not exceeding $30,000 a year. The recommendations were based upon a study of the duties of the department and of the work performed by the various employees, as compared with similar work performed by city clerk departments in other cities of Massachusetts and by the Registry of Deeds in Suffolk County. As a result of the Finance Commission's examination both of the experts and of their report and of the officials of the department, the commission recommends that the following changes be made, believing that they are both reasonable and practicable.

I. City Clerk, Assistant City Clerk, and One Clerical Assistant.

	Present Salary.	Salary Recommended.
City Clerk	$5,000	$4,000
Assistant City Clerk	3,800	2,500
Clerical assistant	1,200	1,100

The office of City Clerk is an important and dignified one and involves considerable responsibility, but the duties are not arduous and the services would be well compensated by an annual salary of $4,000.

The salary of the Assistant City Clerk is also in excess of the necessities of the case. Equally valuable services are rendered by the Assistant Registrar of Deeds of Suffolk County for an annual salary of $2,500. Even under existing political conditions $2,500 is all that the city should pay. The services of the present Assistant City Clerk are actually worth more, as he is performing the duties of the City Clerk as well as his own, but when normal conditions are restored the salary of the Assistant City Clerk should be reduced to $2,500 a year.

The $1,200 salary received by the woman clerk who does typewriting for the City Clerk and Assistant City Clerk, and who also files and indexes the city contracts, is excessive. The number of city contracts filed and indexed averages only about four a day, and this work, like the other work performed by the clerk in question, is of a simple character. An annual salary of $1,100, the amount which was paid prior to October 1, 1909, is sufficient. It is more than should be paid if the length of this clerk's service were not taken into account.

The three reductions thus recommended would effect an annual saving of $2,400, without causing any change in the system established in the office or impairing its efficiency.

II. Record Clerk and Assistant.

	Present Salary.	Salary Recommended.
Record clerk	$2,300	$1,800
One woman clerk	1,200	1,100
	$3,500	$2,900

The record clerk has charge of the work of recording and indexing the proceedings of the City Council and receives an annual salary of $2,300. The woman clerk who assists him makes a current index of the City Council records on cards, and from these the record clerk makes a consolidated index at the end of the year. The Council meets once a week on an average, and the total number of pages of its proceedings is about 800; therefore only about three pages a day are indexed. The record clerk and his assistant also do some work in connection with the drawing of jurors, and the assistant has also a few other minor duties. In the opinion of the commission a full day is not required for the performance of this work, and the compensation which these two clerks receive is much larger than either the amount or the character of the work requires. A salary of $1,800 would be ample compensation for the record clerk, and a salary of $1,100 would be sufficient for his assistant. The latter received $1,100 prior to October 1, 1909, and this amount would give full recognition to the value and length of her service.

These changes would save $600 a year.

III. Reorganization of Other Work in the Department.

A further saving of $12,088 a year can be effected as follows:

A. By making reductions in the number and compensation of clerks employed in receiving, indexing and recording instruments, and by changing the existing system in certain particulars.

B. By using the mails in collecting fees instead of employing a messenger to collect, and by hiring less expensive messenger service for posting civil service notices and for delivering papers to departments.

A. Receiving, Indexing and Recording Instruments.

1. Receiving and Indexing. The experts report that for five years ending January 31, 1910, an average of 11,552 instruments, comprising mortgages and related instruments, assignments of wages, married women's certificates, liens on vessels, assignments for the benefit of creditors, descriptions of trade utensils, and business certificates, were filed annually in the City Clerk Department, and were attended to hy six clerks, whose salaries amounted to $7,300 a year, the average cost per instrument being about sixty-three cents. In the Suffolk County Registry of Deeds there were about 47,000 instruments entered and indexed last year, exclusive of the Land Court registrations, and the average cost per instrument was about fifteen cents, or less than one-fourth of the cost at the City Clerk Department. In the following tahle this work and its cost to the two departments are compared:

City Clerk Department.

No.	Salary.
1 Entry clerk	$1,400
1 Index clerk	1,800
1 Index clerk	1,100
1 Index clerk	1,000
1 Index clerk	800
1 Information clerk	1,200
6	$7,300
Average number instruments	11,552
Average cost per instrument	$0.63

Suffolk Registry of Deeds.

No.	Salary.
1 Entry clerk	$1,040
1 Entry clerk	936
2 Clerks, paging indices, $780 each	1,560
2 Clerks paging entry hooks (part time),	1,300
3 Index clerks, $780 each	2,340
9	$7,176
Number of instruments (1910)	47,331
Average cost per instrument	0.15\frac{16}{100}$

The transfer of one clerk to the work of preparing a consolidated index will reduce the cost in the present year from $7,300 to $6,300, and the cost per instrument to 55 cents, which, however, will still be three and one-half times as much as the cost at the Registry of Deeds. If this clerk is not retired when the consolidated index is finished, hut is permitted to resume her former duties, the cost will again be 63 cents per instrument.

The compensation paid to employees ef the Suffolk County Registry of Deeds for the work in question is sufficient in the opinion of the Finance Commission, and there can be no just defence for the continuance of the vastly more expensive system which is maintained at the City Clerk Department.

2. Recording.—The recording of instruments at the City Clerk Department is also excessively costly. The work of copying instruments in the record book, comparing records with the original, and making corrections and marginal references, is performed by ten clerks, whose salaries amount to $11,500 a year.

Nine of the ten are employed in connection with the recording of mortgages and one is employed in connection with the entering or recording of other instruments. Two of the ten employees, one rated as a hookkeeper, the other as a clerk, each receiving $1,800 a year, are engaged principally in connection with recording, though they have other duties which occupy a comparatively small portion of their time. At the Registry of Deeds the copying is done on a piecework hasis and other hranches of the work are performed hy clerks at regular salaries. The cost of the work is far less at the Registry than at the City Clerk Department, as the salaries which are paid by the latter are higher and none of the husiness is on a piecework hasis. The experts employed by the commission made a study of the cost of recording mortgages and related instruments at the City Clerk Department for the twenty-four weeks from June 17 to Decemher 1, 1910, this period heing the one in which the cost has been lowest in recent years, and compared the cost with the estimated cost of doing the same amount of work at the Registry of Deeds. The comparison shows that the cost at the City Clerk Department was ahout two and three-fourths times as great as the cost would be at the Registry of Deeds.

In the opinion of the commission the maintenance of the present costly system of recording at the City Clerk Department is wholly without justification.

B. Messenger Service.

The four messengers, so-called, employed in the City Clerk Department were all appointed outside of civil service prior to the date when messengers were placed under the civil service rules. These appointments, like many others in the department, were of a political character and the compensation is in excess of the actual value of the service rendered. One of the messengers receives $1,200 a year. He is a custodian of records which are kept in the vault in the basement. His duties are of the simplest character and would he well compensated hy a salary of $900 a year.

Another messenger who receives $1,200 a year is employed principally in answering inquiries at the door and in the preparation of hunters' licenses, of which there are ahout four per day on the average. The latter work could easily be attended to by the Assistant City Clerk or some other employee in the office; and there seems to he no reason why the inquiries could not he answered by the assistant, or some other clerk, thus making the position of the messenger in question unnecessary.

The third messenger receives $1,200 a year and is engaged principally in posting notices issued hy the Civil Service Commission, which are required to he posted in each ward of the city, and in delivering the renewals of licenses for the storage and sale of explosives. In the city of Worcester the posting of civil service notices is performed by an outside messenger at a cost of $0.25 per hour. If outside messenger service were employed for this work in Boston, it could he performed for $200 a year, according to the liheral estimate of the experts employed by the Finance Commission. The other work of the messenger could he dispensed with if the department would notify the licensees that the papers were ready for delivery and could be received upon payment for the same at City Hall. By the adoption of these simple expedients the service of this messenger would become wholly superfluous, and $1,000 a year could he saved.

The fourth messenger is employed principally in carrying papers and other messages from the City Clerk Department to other city departments, and in collecting fees for papers which have previously heen left to he recorded. There is no reason why persons who leave papers for recording should not he required to call at City Hall and pay for the recording when the amount of the fee has been ascertained, or send payment hy mail. That is the practice of the Registry of Deeds, and so far as known of city clerk departments elsewhere. If that practice is estahlished there will be no necessity for retaining the services of this messenger. A boy should he employed in his place at $6 a week and thus $688 a year could be saved.

If the following recommendations are adopted, an annual saving of approximately $15,088 can he effected: and in this event an annual appropriation of $30,000 will he ample.

The commission recommends:

1. That the ordinances he amended so as to fix the salaries of the City Clerk and Assistant City Clerk at $4,000 and $2,500 a year, respectively, and that the salary of the woman clerk who assists the City Clerk and files and indexes city contracts be reduced to $1,100 a year, thus saving $2,400 a year.

2. That the salaries of the record clerk and of his assistant he reduced to $1,800 and $1,100, respectively, thus saving $600 a year.

3. That the salary of the clerk who issues notices of hearings on pole locations he reduced from $1,000 to $800 a year.

4. That the work of receiving, indexing and recording instruments be reorganized, as outlined below, so as to reduce the cost to approximately the cost at the Registry of Deeds.

(a.) The salary of the chief clerk of the mortgage department should be reduced from $2,000 to $1,800, which would be a liberal allowance, equal to the salary paid the second Assistant Registrar of Deeds for work which is similar in kind but much greater in amount.

(b.) Index books should be kept where the public could obtain information without being obliged to consult the information clerk or to rely upon the accuracy of the information thus given. The information clerk would thus become unnecessary and $1,200 a year could he saved.

(c.) The salaries of one male clerk and two women clerks, who work on the indexes and receive $1,800, $1,100 and $1,000, respectively, should be reduced to $1,000, $800 and $800, respectively, thus saving $1,300 a year.

(d.) The salary of the entry clerk should be reduced from $1,400 to $1,200, saving $200 a year.

(e.) The recording of mortgages and other related instruments, including the copying, comparing, correcting and making of marginal references, should be placed upon the same basis as at the Registry of Deeds. By establishing the piecework system at the rates paid in the Registry of Deeds a saving estimated by the experts at $3,600 a year could he effected.

(f.) One clerk, rated as bookkeeper, who now receives $1,800 a year and who is principally occupied in comparing papers with an assistant who receives $1,000 a year, should he retired and the salary of the assistant reduced $100, thus saving $1,900 a year. The copyists should assist the remaining comparer in the same manner in which the copyists assist the comparers at the Registry of Deeds.

(g.) The clerk who is now in charge of the assignments of wages, married women's certificates and liens on vessels, which duties in connection with his other clerical work do not occupy his entire time, should he given the additional duties of keeping the hooks and answering inquiries now attended to by one of the messengers. His salary should be reduced from $1,800 to $1,500 a year.

5. The salary of the messenger who has charge of the vaults should be reduced from $1,200 to $900 a year.

The other three messengers should he retired and outside messenger service and extra use of the mails he resorted to, as previously outlined, and a messenger boy be employed at $6 a week. These changes would result in a saving of $3,188 a year over the present messenger cost.

A copy of the report of the experts is hereto annexed.

Respectfully submitted,
THE FINANCE COMMISSION,
by JOHN A. SULLIVAN,
Chairman.

CLERK HIRE.

Communications were received from the Register of Deeds in accordance with the provisions of chapter 22, section 33, of the Revised Laws, certifying that persons had been employed in his office, commencing June 26 to July 24, and that work had been performed to the amount of $3,184.67; also, that persons had been employed from July 24 to August 21, and that work had been performed to the amount of $3,200.41.

ADDITIONAL FIREMEN.

President COLLINS offered the following:

Whereas, The Boston Fire Department is seriously undermanned and said undermanning presents a condition of constant peril to the citizens; and

Whereas, Said dangerous condition was pointed out in a letter of April 10, 1911, by the Fire Commissioner to his Honor the Mayor, in which said commissioner stated " to delay in this matter would be a grave mistake;" and

Whereas, The conclusion of said letter, in which said commissioner calls for more men, was based on his own investigation, the investigation and findings of the National Board of Fire Underwriters, the reports of the district chiefs of the fourteen fire districts of the city and the recommendation of the Boston Finance Commission; and

Whereas, Recently said commissioner has made another report in which again he calls attention to the undermanned condition of the said department: and

Whereas, The Finance Commission has in a report within a few days emphasized its former recommendation; and

Whereas, Any further investigation on the question of undermanning by a commission is unwise and fraught with unnecessary delay and grave danger to the lives and property of the citizens, be it therefore

Resolved, That his Honor the Mayor he requested to consider at once the advisability of requesting the City Auditor to make the necessary transfer from the appropriation for the Reserve Fund under section 3 of the Charter Amendments of 1909, or send to the City Council an order calling for the transfer of sufficient funds for the purpose of adding fifty more men to the fire force of the city.

Coun. COLLINS—Mr. President, about a month ago, when I was Acting Mayor, I sent to this City Council an order asking that there be added to the fire force of the city fifty men, on the ground that I believed that a great emergency existed owing to the fact that the Fire Department was badly undermanned. That conclusion of mine in my order was supported by a letter of the Fire Commissioner to his Honor the Mayor, dated April 10, 1911, which letter is referred to in the resolutions which are now before this Council. After deliberation the Council at that time passed, by a vote of five to two, the order which at that time I sent in. Much discussion arose by reason of that order, mainly on this question: Whether or not I, as Acting Mayor, had a right to send in this order, and whether or not it admitted of delay. The question then was whether or not the order of mine admitted of delay. There was no serious question or argument made at that time that the men were not needed. In fact, we had the report of the Fire Commissioner, which was based on the report of the National Board of Fire Underwriters, the report of the Boston Finance Commission submitted to this Council in March of the past year, and besides that we had an overwhelming sentiment in favor of this proposition on behalf of the public, led by the Press, not only in the news columns but through the editorial columns. Particularly was this so in the cases of the Boston Journal, Globe, Herald and Traveler; and no paper in the City of Boston took an adverse stand to the need of more firemen at that time. His Honor the Mayor has returned, and now the legal questions or difficulties which were encountered perhaps by some, particularly by Corporation Counsel Babson, that the matter did admit of delay, cannot now be raised. The question presents itself, whether or not the addition of fifty more men is needed at this time. I submit, Mr. President, that conditions have not changed; and, in fact, since I presented that order we have had two or three fires in this city which were it not due to the kindness of Providence might have resulted in pronounced conflagrations. I refer particularly to the fire in the Charlestown district, and I have a picture now in my hand, which I shall be pleased to show any member of the Council, which shows the Boston Fire Department in operation at that time. It will he noticed in this picture that boys are helping the firemen to turn on the hose and fix the hose, and boys on the roof. That is a graphic and simple illustration of what the situation is and what it might be if a great fire occurred. Accordingly, I think it is proper at this time that the Council should again take an affirmative stand on this most important question. Yesterday I spoke to his Honor the Mayor concerning this proposition, and I said I believed that before the City of Boston should devote any money to the things which were of an æsthetic nature it would be preferable to devote them to a life-saving department like the Fire Department. His Honor the Mayor said that he had taken a position on that matter; the responsibility was his. That is true, but I think, as one of the legislative branch of this government, that it is appropriate at this time that we should again call his Honor's attention to the serious undermanning of the Boston Fire Department. Therefore I have introduced this resolution. Since the order I presented as Acting Mayor there has come another report from the Fire Commissioner, re-emphasizing the fact that more men are needed. The Finance Commission has sent in two or three reports to the Mayor, emphasizing the situation. I submit that nothing has changed since I sent the order to this Council over a month ago. Things are in a deplorable state in that department. I think the subject has taken somewhat of a different turn by reason of the recommendations which contemplate the addition of new apparatus to the department, and the question which was raised a month ago, to wit, the undermanning, has in a measure been eclipsed. I believe, however, that the first and most important thing for us to do is to man the Fire Department in accordance with the advice of the experts. It was submitted by his Honor the Mayor in an early communication that "well-meaning amateurs" could not solve this question by simply adding more men to the Fire Department. I submit that the Fire Commissioner is his own appointee; I submit that the National Board of Fire Underwriters are acknowledged experts; I submit that the Boston Finance Commission has gone into the matter thoroughly. I have yet to hear one voice from any expert that more men were not needed. The issue is still before us whether or not more men are needed for the Fire Department. I have drafted this resolution in order to comply with any technicality raised by the Corporation Counsel or others. I have followed the draft of the resolution offered by Coun. Attridge last year, and which he had drawn after a conference with the Corporation Counsel. I believe these resolutions are proper and hence I submit them. I trust that at this time the City Council will pass them unanimously.

The CHAIR—The question comes on the passage of the resolutions.

Coun. HALE—Mr. President, in regard to this order, I would like to say that I am very heartily in favor of it. When the matter came up during the absence of Mayor Fitzgerald I opposed the order for $50,000, and I stated at that time my reasons. Those were, first, that the order was illegal; in other words, that the Acting Mayor had no power to send the appropriation in; and in the second place, that the order would have no effect because the City Auditor refused to transfer the money and because he told us that he would refuse to transfer the money. Both of those reasons have proved correct. The Corporation Counsel has ruled that the transfer was illegal; the City Auditor refused to transfer the money. The order was just about as valuable as a piece of waste paper. I am now in favor of the $50,000, because I think that the Fire Department is undermanned and needs fifty more men, as I stated in the debate during the absence of Mayor Fitzgerald. I therefore take great pleasure in voting in favor of Coun. Collins' resolution.

Coun. COLLINS—I wish to state at this time that I have no feeling one way or the other on how anybody may have voted on my order when I was Acting Mayor. I will say this: That if the conditions in the future were as in my opinion they appeared to be at the time I was Acting Mayor, I would do exactly as I did before; I would have sent the order in and put it up to the Corporation Counsel and the City Auditor. I do not believe that after I had gone that far and pressed the matter to the limit that I would be justified in appearing to be drastic. Accordingly I allowed it to go and be carried by the overwhelming sentiment of the community. I knew full well, irrespective of what this commission may report or may not report, that more men will be added to the Fire Department. I believe that additional apparatus will be secured. It is in line with up-to-date advancement in all the large cities, particularly New York. I wish to reiterate I have no apology to offer, no excuses to anybody, for offering that order while I was Acting Mayor. I would do under the circumstances exactly the same thing again.

Coun. SMITH—Mr. President, it gives me great pleasure to vote for this resolution. In doing so I would like to ask that the commissioner be requested to give us his facts and figures on the cost of the Fire Department. It seems to me that the only valid argument made against the increase of the Fire Department is on the cost of the department as compared with the other departments of the country. I understand Commissioner Daly has made a report which puts those figures in an entirely different light. It seems to me the Council ought to have the benefit of those figures.

Coun. COLLINS—I would respectfully ask that when the vote be taken that it be taken by verification, by calling of the yeas and nays.

The resolution was passed, yeas 7, nays 0.

PENSION FOR FIREMEN.

Coun. CURLEY offered an order—That chapter 738 of the Acts of 1911 as approved July 19, 1911, be and the same is hereby accepted by the City Council.

Coun. CURLEY—Mr. President, in view of the manner in which this special act is drawn that is adopted by the Legislature July 19, 1911, and which provides not only for acceptance by the City Council of the City of Boston but also the approval of the Mayor and of the Fire Commissioner, I would most respectfully move the suspension of the rules and that the order be placed upon its passage. I might say that the order provides that the City of Boston is hereby authorized to pay John J. Carney of that city, a former member of the Fire Department, an annual pension equal to one-half of the compensation received by him at the time of his retirement, the said Carney having been retired on account of illness contracted while in the exercise of his duty as a said fireman. Carney became a member of the Fire Department, and after some months contracted pneumonia, which later developed into tuberculosis. The probability is that he will not live a great while. He is receiving treatment at a sanitorium at the present time. I do not feel we would be doing anything unusual or improper in suspending the rules. I move that the rules be suspended so that the order may be placed upon its passage.

The rule was suspended and the order was passed.

MONEY FOR VARIOUS IMPROVEMENTS.

The following was received:

City of Boston,
Office of the Mayor, August 22, 1911.

To the City Council:

I beg to recommend the passage of the accompanying orders appropriating the sums designated therein for improvements which, in my judgment, are much needed in the various sections of the city. Many of them have been repeatedly asked for, either by heads of departments or by civic organizations through their representatives at the district meetings, and the present time seems to me a propitious one for providing for them out of the tax levy.

It is generally agreed that a tax rate of $16.40 or thereabouts is not unreasonable for a city like Boston. This rate is in fact lower than that of nearly all the cities of the Commonwealth. The alternative is either to borrow the money for these improvements or to do without conveniences and even necessities of prime importance. I am aware that a certain prestige might be gained by lowering the tax rate this year, but prefer to recommend these appropriations and trust the Council will agree with me that they are advisable.

In addition to the items specified I have recommended the appropriation of three hundred thousand dollars ($300,000) for the Reserve Fund. This is to provide for certain improvements, the appropriations for which cannot be passed without two readings and an interval of fourteen days. Among these are a much needed detention building for immigrants at Gallop's Island, the cost of which is estimated at sixty thousand dollars ($60,000); a municipal building in Ward 7, to cost seventy-five thousand dollars ($75,000); a playground in Ward 2, to cost seventy-five thousand dollars ($75,000); a branch library in East Boston, to cost fifty thousand dollars ($50,000); a branch library in Charlestown, for which thirty thousand dollars ($30,000) additional is needed; additional playground accommodations in Ward 19, to cost forty thousand dollars ($40,000); a playground in North Brighton, to cost fifteen thousand dollars ($15,000), and additions and improvements to Savin Hill Playground, to cost twenty thousand dollars ($20,000). Some of these appropriations have already been recommended by me. The aggregate of the appropriations herein recommended is five hundred and fifty thousand eight hundred and fifty dollars ($550,850).

The unexpended balance of the Reserve Fund on August 1, 1911, was four hundred fifty-nine thousand three hundred and forty-nine dollars and ninety-eight cents ($459,349.98). This with the additional appropriation recommended is sufficient to provide the various improvements specified above and still leave an ample remainder for any contingencies that may arise in the Fire Department.

Respectfully,
JOHN F. FITZGERALD, Mayor.

TROPHY FOR YACHT RACE.

The following was received:

City of Boston,
Office of the Mayor, August 22, 1911.

To the City Council:

The accompanying letter from the secretary of the regatta committee of the Mosquito Fleet Yacht Club affords what seems to me an admirable opportunity of disposing of the cup offered by the city last spring for a yacht race between Boston and Bermuda. Owing to the lack of entries this race was abandoned, but the cup still remains in our possession and would be an excellent trophy for the race proposed to and around Boston lightship. I recommend the passage of the accompanying order authorizing me to award the cup as a prize for the winning yacht in the proposed race.

Respectfully,
JOHN F. FITZGERALD, Mayor.

Mosquito Fleet Yacht Club,
South Boston, Mass., August 18, 1911.

Hon. John F. Fitzgerald,
Mayor of Boston:

Sir,—The Mosquito Fleet Yacht Club respectfully presents a proposition to run a yacht race for the Bermuda Cup on Labor Day, September 4.

If the proposition is accepted we will give an open race of about twenty-five miles, probably to and around Boston lightship, and offer prize money to the amount of $75 in addition to the cup. Race to be handicap and open to all yachts enrolled in the Inter-Club and Massachusetts Yacht Racing Associations or eligible to the classes selected from these associations.

Very respectfully,
THE MOSQUITO FLEET YACHT CLUB,
by FRANCIS G. BONN,
Secretary of Regatta Committee.

Ordered, That the silver cup offered by an order of the City Council passed at its meeting March 22, 1911, for a Boston to Bermuda Yacht Race, be awarded at the discretion of his Honor the Mayor to the winner of an open race to and around Boston lightship, to be conducted under the auspices of the Mosquito Fleet Yacht Club.

The order was passed.

MONEY FOR STREET IMPROVEMENTS.

The following was received:

City of Boston,
Office of the Mayor, August 22, 1911.

To the City Council:

I beg to recommend the passage of one of the accompanying orders, providing the sum of one hundred seventy-five thousand dollars ($175,000), for street improvements, either by loan or by transfer from the Reserve Fund. An opportunity is afforded by the taking down of houses on Beacon street to continue Arlington street to the Charles River Basin, and it seems to me that the funds necessary to carry out so desirable an improvement ought to be available if the Board of Street Commissioners should vote to carry on the work.

Respectfully,
JOHN F. FITZGERALD, Mayor.

Ordered, That the sum of one hundred and seventy-five thousand (175,000) dollars be and hereby is appropriated for Highways, Making of, under the provisions of chapter 393 of the Acts of 1906, and that to meet said appropriation the City Treasurer be authorized to issue, from time to time, on the request of the Mayor, bonds or certificates of indebtedness of the city to said amount.

Coun. McDONALD in the chair.

Coun. HALE—I think, in order to find out just how the Council stands in regard to the two orders, we ought to vote first on one and then on the other. Therefore I would like to move, first, that the rules be suspended, if that be necessary, and that the loan order be put upon its passage. If that is defeated I should like to have the privilege of calling up the other order. I find that it is not necessary to suspend the rules. The motion can be put upon its passage first.

Coun. COLLINS—I move reference of the loan order, as a substitute motion, to the Committee on Finance.

Coun. CURLEY—There seems to be a doubt in the minds of a great many. Mr. Chairman, if the disposition of the majority is to refer it to the Committee on Finance, I recognize the futility of attempting to defeat that motion. Personally I feel that this is a most necessary improvement, and I realize that every member of this Board feels likewise. The Columbia road boulevard, with the Marine Park, practically terminates at Castle Island. If this matter that is proposed is carried through, with the latter proposed improvements, that Pleasant street be widened, that it would make a connection with the esplanade on the Charles river, and I feel that the city could purchase this property more advantageously at the present time, before construction work has been completed, than it could by waiting until a later time. I feel in fact a good many thousand dollars might be saved by the city by immediate action on this matter, but in view of the fact that the majority of the Council feel that it should be referred to the Committee on Finance, I recognize the futility of discussing it.

The motion to refer was declared lost.

President COLLINS doubted the vote and asked for the yeas and nays, and the motion to refer was lost, yeas 1, nays 6, President Collins voting yea.

Coun. CURLEY—I personally feel that since a majority have voted against reference to the Committee on Finance, of six to one, that we might discuss the order briefly. I want to say that if the various objections, or possible objections, that have been raised to the passage of this order prove to he as the objectors feel they will be, that I am prepared to vote against this proposition on its final passage; but I recognize, Mr. Chairman, that there is a strong possihility that if the owners of this property, who represent the largest hanking house in the city, Lee, Higginson & Co.—that if they are approached they might have sufficient puhlic spirit to warrant their turning this property over to the city without an unreasonahle profit to themselves, whereas, on the other hand, if negotiations are delayed indefinitely, as they probahly would he, there is a possihility that they may he compelled to ask much more for the property than it can he purchased for at the present time. I feel, in fairness to all concerned, that the record of the City Council would not suffer, and certainly the city would not suffer, if immediate action were had on this order, hecause it is the first reading at this time. I will say that I would vote against it at the second reading in event of the contentions of those raising ohjections to it to-day being sustained.

Coun. COLLINS—I moved that this be referred to the Committee on Finance for two reasons. The first was this: That if this were not referred to the Committee on Finance then the question would come directly on whether or not we would he willing to horrow money for this purpose at this time. As it stands, we have seven or eight hundred thousand dollars in the Reserve Fund, and it scems to me had financial judgment to borrow money and pay between 3 and 4 per cent for it, if we have money on hand which prohahly is only drawing 2 per cent. For that reason I moved reference to the Committee on Finance. If that were carried then the question would come directly, whether or not the second order of the Mayor's which is before the body, namely, whether or not this money that would come from the tax levy should be had. Now, since the question is not directly before us as to the appropriation, I am constrained to talk to the loan. It seems to me poor judgment, even if it were a loan or an appropriation, for this City Council to take an affirmative stand on a matter of such magnitude, ranging from $150,000 to $200,000, as far as we can guess. There is no estimate here as to how much it would cost. You may say all the city government is entitled to do is to give 25 per cent over the assessed value during the last three years, but, Mr. President, the owners of that land have the right to refuse that and go to trial with the jury as to how much they have been damaged. In fact, I know from my conversation with the other members of the Council that they will save damage by starting this appropriation forthwith. As everybody who has had much experience in building operations knows, the contracts having all heen let, the architects' fees will have to he paid. If the matter is postponed for a week or two until we can have definite plans, it is time for us to act. I will take this stand: I shall vote against the loan even if it were the most necessary improvement, where we have $800,000 on hand. I shall vote against the appropriation order to-day because I do not believe we have sufficient data. It is a case of putting the cart before the horse. I do not think we ought to do it. If we take this step in this case, no matter how meritorious it might be, I think it would establish a precedent for doing so in future cases. I think it is a very had precedent. It may he said if the appropriation order prevails another meeting takes place two weeks from to-day. I wish to say that the city charter provides in the case of sales of land that the second reading shall be at least fourteen days from the first reading. I wish also to call your attention to this fact, that this is the first case, as far as the authorities know around here at the City Hall, where this sort of thing of an appropriation from a tax levy for an extension of a street has been had. The people who would do the work in regard to the taking are the Street Commissioners. If perchance only one reading is necessary, it may he argued that you can rescind your action. That may not follow if the Mayor sees his way clear to sign it forthwith. Accordingly, I belive on general principles it is bad judgment to take the initial step at this time. This is a question of some size and should receive mature consideration. It was first hrought professionally to my attention to-day. After looking into the needs of the other sections of the city, of all parts of Boston, I helieve the proposition should be passed on. I shall vote for it at the next meeting, hut it will he only after mature and thorough consideration. The question of street improvements is a big one in Boston. There is Norfolk street in Dorchester, Faneuil street in Brighton, and countless other streets. The proposition before us is an excellent one from an esthetic point of view, and if I helieved the money can he well afforded, as I have already stated, I shall he in favor of it, but at this time to vote in the affirmative would he hasty and ill-advisable. Accordingly, I shall vote at this time "No."

Coun. HALE—In regard to the question whether we shall take the money out of a loan or an appropriation, I shall not go into my reasons for favoring the loan. I do favor it as you all know, because I believe that permanent appropriations should come out of a loan. There are certain exceptions, namely, where a loan is practically for current expenses, such as extending a new street that you have already expended $300,000 for, and in the sewers and other annual loans. I think possihly in those cases we could justifiably take it out of the tax levy. All other improvements I believe should come out of loans. This past year we have passed certain loans for such expenses, which, as I have just said, might possihly justifiahly come out of the tax levy. For that reason I shall be willing to vote for this appropriation, which I think ought to come out of a loan, and also that I have already voted for certain of these other improvements which should have come out of loans, so as to balance up; in other words, to meet the money that we have taken out of loans which possibly we should have taken out of appropriations, namely, the sewers and the highways. For that reason I should he willing, in case this loan is defeated, to take this money out of the tax levy.

Coun. McDONALD—Mr. President, when I voted "No" a little while ago the councilor on my right told me it would he referred to the Executive Committee. It is needless for me or anybody here to discuss why we are not going to vote to issue loans when we have money to pay the bill. We have discussed that here time and time again. I am satisfied to vote to-day to take this money out of the tax levy. Two weeks from now, if I do not think it is just the proper thing and if the city, as the gentleman on my right has said, is not getting the equivalent for its money, I shall vote against it. I do not propose for it as a loan order. I won't vote for it as a loan order. I am satisfied to-day to take it out of the tax levy. If I am not satisfied two weeks from now that it is the proper thing, I shall vote against it.

The vote on the passage of the order was yeas 4, nays 3, and the order was declared rejected (six votes being required for passage).

Yeas—Coun. Buckley, Curley, Hale, Smith—4.
Nays—Attridge, Collins, McDonald—3.

The Council took up the alternative order, accompanying the message, viz.:

Ordered, That under the provisions of chapter 261 of the Acts of 1893, the City Auditor he and herehy is authorized to transfer the sum of one hundred seventy-five thousand dollars ($175,000) from the appropriation for Reserve Fund to the appropriation for Highways, Making of.

Coun. HALE—I move that this he put upon its passage. All I wanted to say was this, that I have not made up my mind definitely, and I do not believe any other memher of the Council has, whether this particular improvement is the most important one for which to spend the reserve. I want this distinctly understood, as far as I am concerned, and I think as far as anybody here who votes in favor of doing this to-day, we can save great expense to the city in case we do decide to vote affirmatively on this.

Coun. SMITH—This improvement was passed upon five years ago by the Metropolitan Improvement Board. The architects of Boston are unanimous in favor of it. It connects the Puhlic Garden and the Common with the Esplanade. The Esplanade is not sufficiently used at present. There is no douht this is a puhlic benefit. At the same time, there is no doubt that the money should come hy loans. At the present time I am going to vote for those coming out of a loan hecause I believe we can save money. It is a case of necessity. If the huilding goes on we will have to pay for the huildings as well as the land. I helieve strictly in principle this should come out of a loan.

Coun. ATTRIDGE—I shall vote in favor of this appropriation order to-day, hut hy doing so I do not intend to bind myself to vote for it upon its second reading two weeks from to-day. I vote "Yes" to-day simply out of courtesy to the two gentlemen from Ward 11, the two previous speakers, because of the fact that they desire to stop building operations in order to make an investigation as to the ultimate cost to the city. At the present time these members of the Council do not know what damage the city might sustain if this land was taken by reason of contracts which might have been let for the erection of the buildings upon this land. There is some question in my mind as to whether this improvement is the most necessary improvement in the city at the present time. There is some question in my mind as to whether the money could not be spent to better advantage in other sections of the city. I have in mind one particular avenue in Boston—one particular street—which should be fixed, namely, Norfolk street, in Dorchester. There has been great agitation for a few years past in regard to the city laying that out and widening it. To-day we have buildings in Boston—we have some fire stations in Boston, and some police stations which should be replaced by new buildings. There is some question in my mind at this time as to whether this improvement—this connecting link, as Coun. Curley says, between this roadway that leads from City Point over to the Back Bay—should be done at this particular time, or as to whether some other improvement is more necessary. Out of courtesy to the two gentlemen from Ward 11, I vote "Yes" to-day for the appropriation, reserving the right to vote against it when it comes upon its passage at the second reading two weeks from to-day.

The order was passed, yeas 6, nays 1, President Collins voting nay.

Report accepted; order and resolution passed.

(15) Report on message of Mayor, communication and order (referred to-day), that $60,000 be transferred to an appropriation for playground accommodations, Ward 19—that the order ought to pass.

Coun. SMITH—Mr. President, I feel bound to vote against this order hecause I do not care to have the $60,000 transferred to any place in Ward 19 and hecause there is a tail hitched to it carrying $40,000 additional. It does not necessitate our appropriating or horrowing $40,000 additional, but that $40,000 is mentioned in this order. It seems to me I would commit myself to $40,000 additional for playgrounds in Ward 19 if I voted in favor of this. Therefore I am going to vote against it.

Coun. CURLEY—I do not believe it is necessary to discuss this matter at any length. It has heen discussed in the committee hearing to-day. I do not feel that anyhody objects to $40,000 additional to provide a proper sum for playgrounds in Ward 19. Parker Hill is in Ward 19. Some three years ago the sum of $60,000 was appropriated in the form of a loan for a playground at that particular place. The Park Commissioners have held many meetings, and the citizens of that district have heen invited to those meetings. There was such a diversity of opinion as to where the playground should be located that the Park Commission—so I have heen informed hy Commissioner Prendergast, who asked me to call in his office in relation to the matter—he informed me that it was an impossibility for them to provide proper playgrounds there in spite of the fact that they had given the matter three years of study. He informed me that the playground at the top of Parker Hill did not represent the wishes of the people there, but he helieved it would be possihle for them to work out a playground proposition provided that they could have sufficient funds. I should think the elementary step would he to change the order so that it might read, "Ward 19 Playground," rather than "Playground at Parker Hill." That is the purpose of the order. It does not carry any additional money with it at this time unless the order for additional money is presented by the City Council. If Coun. Smith has an opportunity to talk with Commissioner Prendergast, or any of the memhers of the Park Commission, I feel that he will he just as eager to vote for the additional money that is necessary as any memher of the Council.

Coun. SMITH—If the order read simply the transfer of this to any section in Ward 19——

Coun. HALE—For a question of information, does not the order read that way?

The PRESIDENT—The Clerk will read the order.

The Clerk read the order.

Coun. SMITH—I shall amend my wording to say "the letter accompanying this by the Park Commission." You understand we are to appropriate $40,000 additional in order to enahle them to purchase a site somewhere else than Parker Hill. Their order was hased on the additional $40,000 which thcy supposed we would pass. If the citizens of Ward 19 are up in arms and cannot agree on where they want their playground, it is a shame. It is also a shame that the Park Commissioners cannot decide after all their investigations. There are several locations, I see in looking over the hill, where it is possihle to have the playground. If they cannot decide upon one of these sites it is regrettable. Nevertheless it is not the reason for us to appropriate $40,000. That is what I feel I personally am hinding myself to do hy this order. It is hardly necessary to go into this detail, as I feel the votes are against me.

Coun. CURLEY—Mr. President, I cannot conceive where Coun. Smith gets imbued with the idea that he is committed to an additional $40,000 hy the passage of this order. I do not helieve that he is. Personally I feel that the people of Ward 19 are entitled to a playground. It is unfortunate that they could not agree on a site at some time within the last three years rather than he deprived of the henefits and advantages of a playground for that length of time. Now, then, after three years of public hearings, puhlic agitation and puhlic meetings, the people who are to benefit by the playground, the people of Ward 19, give an expression of their ideas. In accordance with the expressed wish of the people of Ward 19, this communication is received. I do not see how we can do other than act on this communication, because those who have heard all the evidence of Ward 19 for three years have taken this action on the matter.

Coun. HALE—If the vote—the way Coun. Smith feels—does bind me to vote for the additional $40,000, I shall vote against it hecause I have not made up my mind yet that they can get a playground for $60,000, as I understand this allows the commissioners to get a site anywhere in Ward 19, instead of limiting them to one particular site.

Coun. SMITH—May I request that the Clerk read the accompanying letter.

The Clerk read the letter.

Coun. SMITH—It seems to me queer that the Park Commissioners have asked for this change in the wording to "$60,000 for the playground in Ward 19," hecause they anticipated having $40,000 to expend for the same purpose. It seems to me if I vote to change the wording of this in accordance with the request by the Park Commissioners that I am indirectly pledging myself to the $40,000 which they will need to purchase outside the Parker Hill district. I might say that last spring I requested of the Puhlic Works Department an estimate of how much it would cost to make the reservoir at the top of Parker Hill over into a bathing pool. That estimate has come down to us to-day. It will cost $1,500. I have talked to the Mayor, and it is probable that he will send that request down to us some time this fall. If that is so they will have at the top of Parker Hill a very large space for a bathing pool—a very large space of no use to the Water Department—and large facilities for lockers and that sort of thing; so that they will really have a playground on the top of Parker Hill which can be used for skating in the winter and bathing in the summer. There is an additional appropriation, in fact, for bathing purposes in Ward 19. If outside of the Parker Hill district they spend this $60,000, it seems to me a very ample provision for them. I do not care personally to vote for the $40,000 additional. It seems to me by next year they will have a swimming pool on the top of Parker Hill and a $60,000 playground outside of the Parker Hill district. I personally feel that is sufficient for Ward 19.

Report accepted; order passed, yeas 6, nays 1, Coun. Smith voting nay.

CHELSEA BRIDGE.

President COLLINS called up No. 1, unfinished business, viz.:

1. Ordered, That the sum of two hundred fifty thousand dollars ($250,000) be appropriated, to be expended by the Commissioner of Public Works, for the construction of a temporary bridge across the north channel of the Mystic river, between the cities of Boston and Chelsea, said bridge to be built in conjunction with the city of Chelsea, under the statutes governing said joint construction, and to serve in place of the present structure, known as "Chelsea Bridge North," and that to meet said appropriation the City Treasurer be authorized, with the approval of the Mayor, to issue bonds or certificates of indebtedness of the city to said amount.

On July 17 tbe foregoing order was read once and passed, yeas 7, nays 0.

The order was given its final reading and passed, yeas 7, nays 0.

SALE OF LAND.

President COLLINS called up No. 2, unfinished business, viz.:

2. Ordered, That the Board of Park Commissioners be and hereby is authorized to sell, on such terms as said Board, with theapproval of the Mayor, may deem proper, a parcel of land in the Brighton district, so called, bounded southerly by Commonwealth avenue and northeasterly by Chestnut Hill avenue, and containing as shown on the atlas about 66,672 square feet, said land to be sold at public auction for not less than 75 cents per square foot per lot.

On July 17 the foregoing order was read once and passed, yeas 7, nays 0.

Coun. CURLEY—Coun. Smith informs me, and also Mr. Kiley informed the committee when this matter was under consideration, that land in the vicinity of this particular place was worth about 50 or 60 cents a foot, and he thought 60 cents would be a fairly representative price. I would accordingly move that this matter be laid on the table at this time so that the Committee on Public Improvements may have an opportunity to ascertain the value of the land.

The order was laid on the table.

COUNTY ACCOUNTS.

Coun. CURLEY, for the Commlttec on County Accounts, submitted the following:

(1) Reports on pay roll of Register of Deeds (referred to-day), amounting to $3,184.67, from June 26 to July 24—that the same be approved.

Report accepted; pay roll approved and ordered paid.

(2) Report on pay roll of Register of Deeds from July 24 to August 21 (referred to-day), amounting to $3,200.41—that the same be approved.

Report accepted; pay roll approved and ordered paid.

(3) Report on message of Mayor and order (referred to-day) for transfer of $2,500 for expense of Commission on Inferior Courts—that the order ought to pass.

Report accepted; order passed, yeas 7, nays 0.

RED LIGHTS, FIRE-ALARM BOXES.

Coun. CURLEY offered an order—That the Fire Commissioner be requested, through his Honor tbe Mayor, to make the necessary arrangements to designate each of the fire-alarm boxes in the streets of the city by a red light, and to have displayed in a prominent position at each box a printed form of instructions for giving an alarm.

Coun. CURLEY—I would say in this connection that the matter was called to my attention by a lieutenant in the Fire Department, who stated that the average person ringing in an alarm simply pulls thc handle, and when he hears the bell inside ring be labors under the impression that he has done all he is called upon to do. As a matter of fact, it is necessary to pull down the hook. On a great many boxes be informs me that there are no printed instructions. He states that a number of serious fires of late have been due to the fact that those turning in the alarm have labored under the impression that when they had opened the door they had given the alarm. I feel that it is possible to adopt some system of door, whereby the connection might be made by opening the door in the center of the regular door, and when the handle is turned it will ring the alarm. In case it is impossible to do that, it is possible at least to place a red light over each fire-alarm box and to give sufficient publicity to the method of ringing in an alarm to have the public thoroughly informed as to the necessary thing to do to ring in the alarm.

Passed.

NEXT MEETING.

Coun. HALE moved that when the Council adjourn it be to meet on Monday, September 11, at 2 p. m.

The motion was carried.

GENERAL RECONSIDERATION.

Coun. CURLEY moved a general reconsideration, hoping the same would not prevail. Lost.

SALE OF CHARLESTOWN ALMSHOUSE.

Thc President called up No. 3, unfinished business, viz.:

3. Ordered, That the Boston Infirmary Trustees bc and hereby are authorized, with the approval of the Mayor, to sell to the Boston Elevated Railway Company for a sum not less than seventy-two thousand dollars ($72,000) the property in the Charlestown district known as the Charlestown Almshouse, with the land connected thcrewith, containing about 102,400 square feet, and upon such sale his Honor the Mayor is hereby authorized, in the name and behalf of the city, to execute a deed satisfactory to the Law Department, conveying said premises to said company for a consideration not less than seventy-two thousand dollars ($72,000), to be determined by said trustees and approved as aforesaid.

On July 17 the foregoing order was read once and passed, yeas 6, nays 0.

The order was again passed, yeas 6, nays 0, Coun. BUCKLEY not voting.

Later in thc session Coun. BUCKLEY said: Mr. President, when No. 3 was votcd on I did not vote. I should like to move reconsideration of the vote whereby that was passed. The only reason I have in mind is this: I noticc on the calendar there are 102,000 feet of land in that property to be sold for $72,000. I did not know before just how many square feet there were. It seems to me that property ought to be assessed at a higher valuation than that.

Coun. CURLEY—Mr. President, I rise to a point of order that general reconsidcration of all orders and motions and business transacted at this meeting having obtained, no second reconsideration is necessary.

The PRESIDENT—The Chair rules that the point of order is well taken.

Coun. BUCKLEY—I tried to get the Chair's recognition when the vote was being put.

Coun. Buckley was then given unanimous consent to speak.

Coun. BUCKLEY—I do not want to speak if it does not do any good. It is simply a case where I do not think it is exactly right to rush that thing through in view of the fact that there are 102,000 feet of land there.

A motion to adjourn by Coun. CURLEY was declared lost, whereupon the vote was doubted, and on the call of yeas and nays the vote was 4 yeas and 3 nays.

Coun. HALE—I move that we rescind the vote by which we passed No. 3 on the calendar.

(Carried unanimously.)

Coun. BUCKLEY—Mr. President, I move that No. 3 lay on the table until the next meeting.

(The Chair declared the vote carried, whereupon Coun. CURLEY doubted the vote, and on the call of the yeas and nays there were 4 yeas and 2 nays.)

Coun. SMITH—I move reconsideration of that vote and ask for three minutes intermission.

The PRESIDENT—The Chair will grant Coun. Smith his request.

A recess was taken and the meeting called to order by the President at 5.53.

Coun. SMITH—I would like to withdraw my motion for reconsideration. The member from Charlestown has said that by the next meeting he would be prepared to act finally on this subject.

The PRESIDENT—If there is no objection, the motion is withdrawn.

Adjourned at 5.55 p. m., on motion of Coun. HALE, to meet on Monday, September 11, at 2 p. m.

CITY OF BOSTON.

Proceedings of City Council.

Monday, September 11, 1911.

Regular meeting of the City Council, held in the Council Chamber, City Hall, at two o'clock p. m., President COLLINS in the chair. Absent—Coun. Hale.

The Council voted, on motion of Coun. ATTRIDGE, that the reading of the records of the last meeting be dispensed with.

HEARING AT TWO O'CLOCK.

1. On application of the directors of the association for the formation of the Boston & Eastern Electric Railroad Company asking that the route of said railroad within the limits of the City of Boston be fixed as shown on plan accompanying said application.

A number of people appeared for and against the application. Those appearing against it were mainly East Boston residents, who did not object to the granting of the application, but who wished it understood that there should be three or more stations established in East Boston. The East Boston people so appearing were Ex-Alderman Thomas J. Giblin, William T. Carlisle, Fred G. Trask, D. C. Trainor, George B. James, representing the East Boston Land Company, Ex-Representative Bernard F. Hanrahan and Representatives Brophy and Prendergast. While some of the speakers announced preferences for the location of stations, they did not think that their opinions should necessarily be binding, but that the matter should be left to the proper authorities—it being understood, however, that there should be three or four stations in East Boston. A vote of the East Boston representatives taken on the matter first showed twenty-two in favor of three stations and three (Messrs. Hanrahan, Brophy and Prendergast) in favor of four; and a second vote was unanimous in favor of four stations.

Some question was raised by Coun. Smith as to whether the people of East Boston were not paying an undue share of the expense of travel in the tunnel as compared with the amount to be paid by people in other cities and towns, but Mr. John H. Bickford, representing the company as an engineer, stated that he had tried to arrive at figures that would be fair to all portions of the community and would at the same time give a fair return to the road.

Judge Edward L. Logan represented the company and stated briefly the reasons for the application, as set forth under the terms of the statutes, and he called upon Mr. Bickford to make a statement as to the proposed route. Mr. Bickford did so, as follows:

The tracks are supposed to start a little southeasterly of the line of Congress street, where it enters Post Office square, being a subway at that point, and continuing in a subway under Liberty square and Water street under private property, between Broad street and India square, under India square to Central street and under Central street, crossing under Atlantic avenue; then under a portion of Central Wharf to the harbor, and under the harbor to a point northwesterly of land which was originally occupied by the Boston & Maine Railroad, or, we will say, a little south of the South Ferry, coming under a portion of the slip that is there,—under a portion of the land itself; then crossing under Marginal street, under Webster street, under Sumner street, under Maverick street, going intermediate between those streets under some private property crossing under the right of way of the Boston & Albany Railroad, continuing to a point where the tunnel emerges, which is about at Decatur street, and then continuing across under Porter street, and then on to the unoccupied land that there is there in East Boston, parallel to Orleans street,—about 250 feet southerly of Orleans street,—continuing parallel until we get to Neptune road, or avenue, whichever it is called,—going under Neptune road, and then through private property between that and Bennington street; then under Bennington street and through private property between that and Saratoga street, and then under Saratoga street and under private property between Saratoga street and Pope street; then under Pope street and through private property under Curtis street; and then through private property southerly of the old right of way of the Boston & Maine Railroad to Breed's Island, crossing the Boston & Maine Railroad property at Breed's Island. That is substantially the route in Boston.

Mr. Charles A. Williams, representing himself as a property owner, raised a question as to whether the tunnel would go under certain property. Judge Logan said that that was a matter that would be settled under the wording of the Acts.

Coun. CURLEY—Will the width of the tunnel exceed the width of the street along this portion that the gentleman refers to,— the width that is asked for by the company?

Mr. LOGAN—That is an engineering question.

Coun. CURLEY—No matter what kind of a question it is, I would like an answer to it.

Mr. BICKFORD—With the exception of under Water street just east of India square, to Congress street, it would not be wider than the street. From that point to Congress street it is wider than Water street, for the reason that we have got to have ample room for a subway station, with exits and entrances. And I have no objection to saying now for Mr. Williams that it would be necessary to take an easement under some property on the southerly side of Water street.

President COLLINS—Are you able to describe specifically just what property and how much?

Mr. BICKFORD—It is not given here on the plans in detail. I would not at this moment.

Mr. Robert Homans thought that under the statutes the City Council had no control over the location of the subway, but merely on the route above ground, and Judge Logan said he thought that was so.

After some questions by Coun. Attridge as to the probable desirable locations for stations in East Boston, upon which there seemed to be a slight difference of opinion, the President announced that the matter would be taken under advisement, and later in the meeting it was taken up and referred to the Executive Committee.

NEW HEALTH BOAT.

The following was received:

City of Boston,
Office of the Mayor, September 11, 1911.

To the City Council:

I transmit herewith a report made to me by Mr. James Donald, naval architect, upon the condition of the steamer "Vigilant." An order transferring $48,000 from the Reserve Fund to a special appropriation to be expended in constructing a new boat to take the place of the "Vigilant" is now pending before your Executive Committee and in view of the importance of this matter I recommend the speedy passage of this order.

Respectfully,
JOHN F. FITZGERALD, Mayor.

City of Boston,
Public Works Department,
August 28, 1911.

To the Honorable the Mayor:

In regard to the steamer "Vigilant," I send herewith a report of James Donald, naval architect, relative to the same; also a communication from Division Engineer Fay.

Respectfully,
L. K. ROURKE,
Commissioner of Public Works.

City of Boston,
Public Works Department,
Bridge and Ferry Division, August 26, 1911.

Mr. L. K. Rourke,
Commissioner of Public Works:

Dear Sir,— Having been requested by Mr. William A. Leahy, Mayor's Secretary, to engage a competent naval architect to make an examination and report upon the Health Department steamer "Vigilant," I have been able to secure the services of Mr. James Donald, who, after examination of the boat, has made a report, which I forward herewith.

Mr. Donald is in consulting practice as naval architect at 17 Victoria street, Westminster, London, England. At present he is at the Fore River Shipbuilding Company's plant at Quincy, as representative of the New York Shipbuilding Company, in connection with the building of the two Argentine battleships. Prior to his engaging in consulting practice in London he was for a number of years the naval architect of the New York Shipbuilding Company of Camden, N. J., one of the largest of the American shipyards; and he has also had several years experience as naval architect of both wooden and steel ships on the Pacific Coast.

Mr. Donald has a wide professional experience covering a period of about twenty-five years, and I believe the city is fortunate in being able to secure the services of this expert.

Respectfully,
FREDERIC H. FAY,
Division Engineer.

James Donald, Naval Architect,
66 Chestnut Strect, Boston, Mass.,
August 25, 1911.

("Vigilant.")

Hon. John F. Fitzgerald,
Mayor of Boston:

Sir,— Please find herewith report on condition of steamer "Vigilant," and recommendations in connection with the same.

Yours respectfully,
JAMES DONALD.

Naval Architect,

SCREW STEAMER "VIGILANT."

This vessel is employed in Boston Harbor for the Quarantine Department:

Inspection.

Vessel was inspected by J. Donald on the 21st and 22d of August, 1911, at Long Wharf, Boston, on trip to meet S. S. "Winifredian" and return, and at Atlantic Works, East Boston.

Hull.

Outside planking on starboard side, about 2 feet below upper rubbing piece, and close to stem, a piece was removed and the remainder of the plank removed was found to be decayed and could be taken off with one's fingers. The timbers or frames were found to be rotten and could be all removed without using any workman's tools.

Outside planking on starboard side, immediately below the upper rubbing piece, and about 3 feet below, forward of deck house, a piece was removed uncovering two timbers or frames. Planking was found to be in moderate condition. One frame exposed was completely rotten and crumbled when touched; the other frame in good condition, but showed beginning of decay.

Outside planking on starboard side, two strakes below upper rubbing piece, and about 5 feet from after end of counter, a piece was removed. The planking was found to be in moderate condition, the timbers or frames were found to be soft and rotten and could be removed by hand without the use of tools. In the lazarette abaft the engine room on the port side a piece of inside ceiling was removed. The frames were in good condition but there were signs of leaking as the inside of outside planking was wet.

Bulwarks.

The bulwarks amidships show considerable working, openings appearing at the butts and in deck covering board when vessel touches the wharf or any other vessel slightly. This happens in way of engine and boiler room where there are no through deck beams. Round the stern the bulwarks have evidently been repaired and fastened to the old deck covering board and no knees or brackets fitted. If the bulwarks at this part come in contact with a dock or a vessel in a seaway, the whole bulwark here is liable to be entirely moved from position.

Deck planking is in very bad condition and requires renewing. The deck amidships, abreast boiler room, has sunk about 3 inches or the amount of the camber; this is undoubtedly owing to the want of support at opening for machinery. Beams at this part show considerable working at deck house coaming. All beams, except three, are bolted to covering board without knees.

Deck house deck coaming is in bad condition, and has only a depth of 1 inch at doorways instead of about 4 inches, so as to prevent any water washing on deck and entering the various rooms in the deck house.

Towing bitts aft require to be strengthened if towing is ever contemplated.

Engine and Boiler Rooms.

Engine and condenser were built twenty-five years ago and require overhauling, especially the condenser at the joints. Piping requires renewing in some places. To make a good repair the deck and deckhouse would require to be opened up so as to get at the condenser.

In way of the water tanks on the lower side, the inside sheathing is very rotten and has a plate covering fitted. The water tanks have never been moved from their original position (twenty-five years ago) and it is very certain that the unexposed woodwork at back of tanks is rotten, owing to lack of air and attention. The tanks are rusted through.

The shaft log across after end of engine room is rotten in way of shafting and should be removed, and if this is done very great expense would be incurred.

The boiler is twelve years old and is now too close to the wood bulkheads, according to the latest regulations. There is great liability to fire through the proximity to woodwork. It was not possible to examine the woodwork underneath the boiler, but there is no doubt that considerable decay would be found owing to the water that drains to this part and the great heat from the boiler.

The steel sheathing inside the coal bunkers requires renewal.

Boilers require patching and stay bolts examined and repaired.

Accommodation.

There are below the deck, forward of the machinery, two rooms — the forward one being occupied by the captain. The clear headroom or distance from top of deck to underside of beams is 5 feet 9 inches; this, as in all rooms, should not be less than 7 feet. According to the United States Navigation Law, 2d of March, 1895, each member of the crew should have 12 square feet clear deck space or 72 cubic feet, and their quarters should be properly lighted, drained and ventilated, under penalty of a fine. It is true that this does not legally apply to this vessel as she was built prior to the passing of this law, but surely the City of Boston would see to it that their employees who make their home on the vessel should be cared for according to the latest practice.

The United States Navigation Law as regards steerage passengers calls for 21 square feet of clear deck area and if the light and air to their quarters is less than 3 square feet for every 100 square feet of clear deck area, then every steerage passenger is required to have 30 square feet of clear deck area.

In the room on the "Vigilant" for the captain, the clear deck area is 14 square feet, and the cubical capacity is 77 cubic feet. This room is, therefore, slightly larger than that required by law but it is not properly lighted and ventilated as required by law, as there are only two 4-inch diameter fixed sidelights and two small fixed deck lights; the iron deck scuttle that has been fitted is useless as it would be dangerous to have an uncovered opening on deck — any one being liable to step into same and also because of the rain or sea water washing over into the room. It is only of use as an exit in case of emergency. It therefore is reasonable to apply the steerage passenger requirement of 30 square feet deck area and this the present room is far short of.

In the room located between the captain's room and the machinery there are three persons. The headroom here is also too small, being only 5 feet 6 inches in the clear. The deck room in this room is 15 square feet per person and the same objection arises as in the captain's room, as the only ventilation is through the hatch for exit and this opens into the dining room on the deck above and has no direct ventilation owing to the galley stove and the doors in the dining room.

On the port side, immediately before the machinery, there is a room for one member of the crew with no ventilation whatever. The clear deck area is only 10.25 square feet and the capacity 56.37 cubic feet against the lawful requirement of 12 square feet and 72 cubic feet. There is no sidelight to this room and light is obtained through one small deck light.

The sleeping births in all above rooms are too close to the beams—in one case being only 12 inches clear from top of bed to underside of beams.

Abaft the engine room there is a lazarette where two men are expected to sleep. It would be more truthfully called a store room. The clear headroom of this place is 4 feet 9 inches and each man has 9 square feet or 42.75 cubic feet instead of the legal 12 square feet and 72 cubic feet. The ventilation is through a flash scuttle.

The ventilation of these rooms was recorded and the temperature of the forward rooms was actually 86 degrees Fahrenheit, while the outside temperature was 78 degrees Fahrenheit.

The temperature of the engine room was at the same time 117½ degrees Fahrenheit.

From the above actual conditions it is clearly seen that the living quarters for the seven members of the crew are altogether inadequate and not conducive to the health or efficiency of the men.

It was noted that the bulkhead between the fireroom and the forward accommodation had a door in it. This tended to increase the temperature in the forward living quarters and there was no door in the bulkhead between the engine room and the lazarette, making the latter unbearable for living in.

Safety.

The forward bulkhead is the only solid bulkhead in the vessel as there is a non-watertight door in the amidship one and an opening in the after one. In the event of the hull being pierced, through collision or otherwise, at any part abaft the forward bulkhead the vessel would fill up and certainly sink.

The freeboard of the vessel or the distance from the top of the deck to the water is only 15 inches when the vessel has her crew on board and two tons of coal. With her full complement of 100 passengers, crew, and full load of coal in bunkers, this freeboard would be reduced to about 9 inches. With the vessel loaded and in a light sea the waves would flood the deck through the deck scuppers. As the coal scuttles are located at the lowest depth of the vessel and, therefore, nearest the water, and as they are practically flush with the deck, the water is liable to find its way into the coal bunkers and cause sinking of the vessel. The question of the freeboard of this vessel is a serious one and unless great care is taken, serious trouble will happen.

Service Engaged In.

There is a cabin at the after end of the deck house for the transport of sick people and is not suitably fitted for same. An independent room should be arranged as a dispensary and doctors' office.

Reasons for Replacing "Vigilant."

Very bad structural condition.

Continual expensive repairs needed to hull and machinery. It would not be advisable to try and put this vessel into good condition, because as the framing and topsides were opened up and repaired, more deterioration would be found. The deck would require to be taken out and renewed to get at the machinery. In fact, the complete upper works would require to be opened up and more expense caused than the value of the vessel; at the same time the vessel would not be improved as regards accommodation or safety.

Obsolete and uninhabitable accommodation for crew.

Danger from want of efficient bulkheads.

Danger from freeboard.

Unsuitability for quarantine service.

Recommendations.

This vessel should be replaced by an up-to-date vessel of larger dimensions. The depth should be sufficient to give a minimum freeboard of 2 feet; this together with a good sheer would insure sufficient headroom for the sleeping quarters below. The captain's room could be located abaft the wheelhouse on the top of the deckhouse, and the remainder of the quarters are located forward below.

Three solid bulkheads should be fitted.

The ventilation should be carefully arranged by means of cowl ventilators, and the machinery space should have good headroom in the deckhouse with large skylight and large windows to open on sides of deckhouse.

In the after end of deckhouse there should be a large room fitted with cots for patients; also a combined dispensary and doctors' office with long sofa, and a toilet.

CONDITIONS AT CITY HOSPITAL.

The following was received:

City of Boston,
Office of the Mayor, September 11, 1911.

To the City Council:

I transmit herewith a communication from the president of the Board of Trustees of the City Hospital, outlining the conditions prevailing at the South Department of the Hospital. I have already transmitted to your body two communications covering this same subject and there is now pending before your Committee on Finance a draft of loan order appropriating two hundred ninety-seven thousand eight hundred dollars ($297,800).

This is a matter which should receive the earnest attention of your honorable body and I trust that the consideration of it will not be further delayed.

Respectfully,
JOHN F. FITZGERALD, Mayor.

The Boston City Hospital,
Boston, September 7, 1911.

Hon. John F. Fitzgerald,
Mayor of Boston:

Dear Sir,—At the meeting of the Board of Trustees beld on Thursday, the 24th ult., the question of the urgent need of the enlargement of the South Department was again considered, and tbe president was requested to address his Honor the Mayor on the subject. May I therefore say tbat while this need has been made so manifest by tbe trustees in various communications, I beg to further indicate the necessity for prompt action to relieve the pressure from these contagious wards.

Tbe wards are practically overcrowded every winter, and even then all the cases are not accommodated as previously explained. This means poor air, whicb is very unfavorable in the acute infectious diseases, close contact of too many children and great effect on cross infection, and difficulty in securing proper care of tbe patients.

The hospital has been lately publicly criticised for want of better facilities in this direction. Tbere is no room available when an epidemic occurs, so that delay, inconvenience and expense are occasioned before the cases are cared for, with increased danger to the public.

The isolation facilities are very deficient and insufficient. Mixed cases are common, scarlet fever and measles or measles and whooping cough and any combination of two or more infectious diseases, and these cannot be as well cared for with safety as they should be. In doubtful cases, sucb as occur where the diagnosis can be made only after watching the course for a time, no proper facilities are available in Boston. These cases are not infrequently housemaids, men servants, waitresses and others who have no home here and no friends, and are so situated as to be a source of danger to others, as well as suffering for lack of proper care themselves.

Tbe old wards also need certain alterations, with a view to improving the bospital work of infectious disease treatment. Open air wards, gown rooms, and better wasbing facilities for the hands are needed so as to avoid carrying disease from one ward to another. Witb the exception of adding room for measles, wbicb your Honor recommended under your former administration, no important change has been made in tbe South Department since it was built, nearly sixteen years ago. The trustees desire most earnestly, therefore, to again call your Honor's attention and that of the Honorable City Council to the immediate great need of additional accommodations for this most important branch of tbe City Hospital which is so necessary for safeguarding the public health, and again urgently request an early consideration of the loan appropriation asked for in letter of June 9, addressed to your Honor, of wbich I inclose herewith a copy.

I have the bonor to remain, on bchalf of the trustees,

Very respectfully yours,
A. SHUMAN,
President Board of Trustees.

Boston, June 9, 1911.

Hon. John F. Fitzgerald,
Mayor of the City of Boston, and tbe Honorable City Council:

Gentlemen,—On December 2, 1910, I addressed a communication to your Honor (of whicb the inclosed is a copy) setting forth the increasing need of greater accommodations for the South Department, and asking for an appropriation of $297,800 for new buildings, changes and additions as itemized tberein, to which I again respectfully refer. Since that time the demand for accommodations for the care of patients ill with infectious diseases bas been constantly increasing, and we bave reached a point wbere this department is practically filled to its utmost capacity, and further accommodations are immediately needed.

If we compare foreign cities with Boston, we sball find that in London, in Glasgow, and in continental cities, tbere are accommodations for patients ill with infectious diseases, giving each patient 1,500 cubic feet of air space for nine out of every 10,000 of the population. In Boston there are accommodations for only three out of every 10,000 of the population. The importance of this air space cannot be overestimated. The number of cases of cross infection is very much increased when a hospital is crowded. Aside from that, patients with limited space do not do as well as where they have an abundant supply of air space. Additional accommodations are therefore greatly needed for the care of scarlet fever patients.

Anyone familiar with the history of infectious diseases in Boston for the past fifteen years must be convinced of the wonderful amount of good accomplished by tbe South Department during that time. For example, the death rate at the Boston City Hospital previous to the days of antitoxin, for cases of laryngeal diphtheria, was about 85 per cent.

In all cases of diphtberia the percentage of mortality from 1895 to 1909 bas been 10.70, as compared with 43.20 before the opening of the South Department. In 1894 eigbteen people out of every 10,000 in Boston died from diphtheria; in 1910, two and a fraction.

It is well to bear in mind that the average ratio of mortality per 10,000 of tbe population in Boston from scarlet fever previous to tbe opening of the South Department was 2.87. Tbe average ratio of mortality from 1895 to 1909, inclusive, was 1.61, a diminution of nearly one-balf. If every patient who applied for treatment could have been promptly taken into the bospital, the ratio of mortality and ratio of morbidity would bave been very much reduced.

In the new building at the South Department it is intended to have a roof garden, in order that tbe cbildren may have tbe benefit of open air treatment. It is also intended to bave open air wards in the buildings already erected, which is covered by the items referring to changes in East and West Pavilions.

The accommodations for laundry work at tbe South Department must be increased, and tberefore an additional story must be added to the laundry building, as the laundry, being of an infectious nature, must be done on the premises.

The alterations to tbe Paine buildings, tbe connecting corridors, pipes and tunnels, and the yard wall, are all items that become necessary with the additional buildings and enlargements.

A second and very important reason wby additional buildings should be erected is the fact that the accommodations for nurses are inadequate. It is also important that tbere should be separate dining rooms for nurses wbo have the care of the different infectious diseases. In foreign bospitals, and in tbe new bospital just erected in Philadelpbia, these provisions have been made.

The treatment of infectious diseases is not a charity, in the common acceptation of the word, but it is an element of public safety, and it is as mucb demanded by the public as a Fire Department or a Police Department. It is a disgrace to any municipality to bave an epidemic of an infectious disease. Boston should be able to control any epidemic of the three principal infectious diseases, namely, diphtheria, scarlet fever and measles.

Within the past two or three years the City of Boston has paid to other hospitals for the treatment of patients ill with infectious diseases about $33,000. The average price of board at these hospitals is about $10 a week, whereas at the South Department the past year, deducting money received from paying patients and from cities and towns, it has been $3.94.

In conclusion, the trustees, realizing tbe great responsibilities that rest upon them and upon tbe city government, most earnestly call the attention of your Honor and the Honorable City Council to the crying need of tbese new buildings, and urgently request the earliest consideration of this loan appropriation.

I bave the bonor to remain, on behalf of the trustees,

Very respectfully yours,
A. SHUMAN,
President Board of Trustees.

The Boston City Hospital,
Boston, December 2, 1910.

Hon. John F. Fitzgerald,
Mayor of Boston:

Dear Sir,—At a meeting of the Board of Trustees to-day the matter of an appropriation for the construction of buildings on the ground lately purchased from the Robert Treat Paine estate was considered.

The constant increase in the population of the City of Boston necessarily increases the number of infectious diseases. During the past three years the city has suffered so much from these vexatious diseases that the South Department has been overcrowded for a portion of each year. Its normal capacity is 250 patients, but the stress has been so great that at times this number has been increased to 400 to the detriment of the welfare of the patients. In addition to this the city has been obliged to board out a great many patients at the Haynes Hospital and other institutions during the time mentioned, which is not only detrimental to the public health, but adds materially to the expense of caring for the patients over the cost to the hospital management within its sphere.

It is therefore of the utmost importance that adequate provision should be made for the treatment of this class of diseases, and to properly take care of all applicants ill with diphtheria, scarlet fever and measles.

It is a source of satisfaction to the trustees that Boston was the first city to establish a separate hospital for infectious diseases. Your Honor may possibly remember that about three years ago, during your former administration, an appeal was made to you for a measles pavilion. You generously and with a full appreciation of the importance of this ward recommended the necessary sum for its erection. This measles pavilion has accomplished a great deal of good and has filled a long felt want, for until its erection there was no place to send a patient ill with measles.

The trustees feel, therefore, that your Honor, as well as the Honorable City Council, will recognize the importance of enlarging the accommodations at the South Department at the earliest possible moment. After carefully considering the matter, and going over several plans that have been submitted for their inspection, the trustees most respectfully ask your Honor to recommend a loan appropriation of $297,800 for new buildings, changes and additions at the South Department, approximated as follows:

Changes in east pavilion	$6,000 00
Changes in west pavilion	6,000 00
Additional story to laundry building	14,800 00
New six story ward building	196,000 00
Alterations to Paine buildings	33,000 00
Connecting corridors, and pipes and tunnels	20,000 00
Yard wall	8,000 00
Contingent and administrative expenses	14,000 00
	$297,800 00

The trustees, fully appreciating your Honor's great interest in the hospital, and your cooperation for the welfare and alleviation of the sick, and especially for those unfortunately stricken with contagion, ask you kindly to recommend to the Honorable Council the appropriation of the above mentioned sum.

I have the honor to remain, on behalf of the trustees,

Respectfully yours,
A. Shuman,
President Board of Trustees.

COST OF LIBRARY BUILDING, EAST BOSTON.

The following was received:

City of Boston,
Office of the Mayor, September 11, 1911.

To the City Council:

I transmit herewith a communication from the Superintendent of Public Buildings, containing a reply to your order requesting an estimate of the cost of the proposed library building in East Boston.

Respectfully,
John F. Fitzgerald, Mayor.

City of Boston,
Office of Public Buildings Department,
September 9, 1911.

Hon. John F. Fitzgerald,
Mayor of Boston:

Dear Sir,— Replying to the inclosed order of the City Council in relation to proposed library building in the East Boston district, I wish to advise you that I estimate the cost of site, building and equipment to be ninety-six thousand (96,000) dollars.

I have conferred with the Library Trustees in relation to the size of building desired and have concluded that approximately ten thousand (10,000) square feet will be necessary for a site.

The building should be two stories high above the basement, which would provide a lecture room, boiler room and storage room in the basement, a children's reading room and reference room on the street floor, a reading room for adults and stack-room on the second floor.

The items of this estimate are based on the following:

Cost of site, estimated	$18,000 00
Cost of building, including architect's fee	73,000 00
Library furnishings	5,000 00
	$96,000 00

Yours respectfully,
M. J. Fish,
Superintendent of Public Buildings.

QUARTERS FOR FIREBOAT CREW.

The following was received:

City of Boston,
Office of the Mayor, September 11, 1911.

To the City Council:

I transmit herewith a communication from the Fire Commissioner, setting forth the need for providing permanent quarters for the fireboat crew at Northern avenue. For the yearly saving which would result from establishing these quarters at the Northern Avenue Bridge, and the fact that this location would undoubtedly promote the efficiency of the service, prompts me to recommend the passage of the accompanying loan order, appropriating thirty-five thousand dollars ($35,000) to be devoted to this purpose.

Respectfully,
John F. Fitzgerald, Mayor.

City of Boston,
Fire Department, September 1, 1911.

Hon. John F. Fitzgerald,
Mayor of Boston:

Sir,—I have the honor to request that the City Council appropriate thirty-five thousand dollars ($35,000) for the erection of a pier and fireboat quarters at Northern avenue.

This department has three fireboats; one is located at the North End paving dock and services the northern end of the harbor; the second is located adjacent to the South Ferry on the East Boston side and services the central portion of the harbor; the third fireboat, Engine 44, has been located for some years in temporary quarters as the fireboat located on the East Boston side. Furthermore, the quarters occupied by the crew are almost uninhabitable. For these quarters and dockage the city has, for many years, paid an annual rental of four thousand (4,000) dollars.

By moving this station from Central Wharf to Northern Avenue Bridge there will be effected a better distribution of the boats. There will be a boat at the northern extremity of the harbor, one in the central portion, and another in the southern extremity. Furthermore, the pier and quarters can be erected at this more desirable location for a sum not exceeding thirty-five thousand (35,000) dollars, the interest on which constitutes about one-third the sum now paid in rental expenses. The change would effect a saving of more than $2,000 a year, or the interest at market rates on $65,000. Moreover, it will supply habitable quarters for the crew of the boat, a matter of no small concern when the inadequate provisions now maintained are considered.

This department has had plans for the dock prepared by the Ferry Division of the Public Works Department. An estimate of the cost of the installation of the dock has been made. The permission of the Harbor and Land Commission of the State of Massachusetts, as well as that of the War Department of the Federal Government, has been obtained.

Very respectfully,
CHARLES D. DALY,
Fire Commissioner.

Ordered, That the sum of thirty-five thousand dollars ($35,000) be and hereby is appropriated, to be expended by the Fire Commissioner for the purpose of erecting a pier and fireboat quarters at Northern avenue; and that to meet said appropriation the City Treasurer be authorized to issue from time to time, with the approval of the Mayor, bonds or certificates of indebtedness of the city to said amount.

Referred to the Committee on Finance.

RELEASE OF EASEMENTS, DORCHESTER.

The following was received:

City of Boston,
Office of the Mayor, September 9, 1911.

To the City Council:

I transmit herewith a communication from the Commissioner of Public Works, and a notice from that official to your body, to the effect that the rights acquired by the city on April 22, 1890, to certain lands situated between Park street and Neponset avenue, Dorchester, for the purpose of continuing and extending the improved sewerage system of the City of Boston, are no longer required for public purposes.

I therefore recommend that the accompanying preambles and order abandoning the easements be adopted by your honorable body.

Whereas, The Commissioner of Public Works, now having charge of said parcels of land, has notified the City Council that a portion of one of these parcels of land and the easement therein is no longer required for public purposes, it is hereby Ordered, That his Honor the Mayor be and he is hereby authorized in the name and behalf of the city and in accordance with the provisions of chapter 25, section 50, of the Revised Laws of Massachusetts, to declare the rights and easements so taken in the following described parcel of land to be abandoned, said declaration of abandonment to be made for a nominal consideration, namely, a parcel of land as shown on a plan marked "City of Boston, Improved Sewerage, Dorchester Intercepting Sewer, Land Plan," dated April, 1892, signed by William Jackson, City Engineer, and deposited in the office of the Public Works Department, Sewer Service, marked "K-95, Sheet No. 5A," bounded and described as follows:

ACCEPTANCE OF SUBWAY ACT.

The following was received:

City of Boston,
Office of the Mayor, September 9, 1911.

To the City Council:

I transmit herewith a draft of order accepting the provisions of chapter 741 of the acts of the current year, entitled "An Act Relative to Electric Railway Transportation Facilities in the City of Boston and Its Vicinity." In my opinion this legislation is of the utmost importance to the City of Boston and as the City Council is compelled under the act to accept it fifteen days after the stockholders of the West End Street Railway Company have voted to sell its holdings to the Boston Elevated Railway Company, consideration of the matter should not be further postponed. The stockholders passed the necessary vote on the 6th instant and the time limitation for acceptance by your body is before the 22d instant. When this legislation becomes a finality the city will be assured of additional subway construction to the west and to the south of the city as well as to several of the railroad and business centers. There are many other features of importance to the citizens contained in this act, and I earnestly recommend the adoption of the accompanying order by your honorable body at the earliest possible date.

Respectfully,
JOHN F. FITZGERALD, Mayor.

Whereas, The West End Street Railway Company at a meeting of the stockholders specially called for the purpose, to vote upon the question whether or not it shall sell its property, privileges and franchises to the Boston Elevated Railway Company, as provided in chapter 741 of the Acts of the year 1911, voted in favor of such sale, and the Boston Elevated Railway Company at a meeting of stockholders specially called for the purpose, to vote upon the question whether said company shall so purchase the property, privileges and franchises of the said West End Street Railway as provided in said chapter, voted in favor of such purchase, it is

Voted, That the City Council of the City of Boston hereby accept the provisions of chapter 741 of the Acts of the year 1911, entitled "An Act Relative to Electric Railway Transportation Facilities in the City of Boston and its Vicinity," and that a certificate of his acceptance, approved by the Mayor, be filed in the office of the Secretary of the Commonwealth.

Referred to the Executive Committee.

LABORERS' RETIREMENT BOARD.

The following was received:

City of Boston,
Office of the Mayor, September 11, 1911.

To the City Council:

Chapter 413 of the acts of the Massachusetts Legislature for the current year, entitled "An Act Relative to a Retirement Fund for Laborers Employed by the City of Boston," provides for the establishment of a retirement board for laborers in the municipal service. Section 3 of this act stipulates that its provision shall become effective on the first day of March of the year following its acceptance by the City Council and as there are many studies to be made and a considerable amount of clerical work to be done, I believe it would be for the best interests of the service if the matter were considered by your body forthwith. I therefore append a draft of order accepting the provisions of the said act and recommend its adoption by your honorable body.

Respectfully,
JOHN F. FITZGERALD, Mayor.

Section 1. There shall be a retirement board for the laborers employed by the City of Boston consisting of the mayor, the auditor and the treasurer of the city, who shall discharge the duties hereby imposed upon them without additional compensation.

Sect. 2. Any laborer employed by the City of Boston who has reached the age of sixty years and who has been in the service of the city for a period of not less than twenty-five years, and who is physically incapacitated, shall, at his request and with the approval of the retirement board above provided for, be retired from service, and shall receive for the remainder of his life an annual pension equal to one-half of the compensation which he received during the last year of his service for the city. It shall be the duty of the said board so to retire any laborer in the service of the city who has reached the age of seventy years and has served the city for a period of not less than twenty-five years.

Sect. 3. This act shall take effect on the first day of March of the year following its acceptance by the City Council of the City of Boston.

Ordered, That chapter 413 of the Acts of the Massachusetts Legislature for 1911, entitled "An Act Relative to a Retirement Fund for Laborers Employed by the City of Boston," be, and hereby is, accepted by the City Council of Boston.

Referred to the Executive Committee.

BATH HOUSE, CHARLESTOWN.

The following was received:

City of Boston,
Office of the Mayor, September 9, 1911.

To the City Council:

In 1907 a loan appropriation of $30,000 was made for Bath House, Charlestown, to be expended under the direction of the Bath Trustees. Within the past few months the question of bathing facilities in the Charlestown district has been given careful consideration. The officials of the city have concluded that it would be advisable to reconstruct the Ward 3 wardroom building for this purpose and to expend the appropriation referred to above therefor. This structure is in charge of the Superintendent of Public Buildings, and it would be advisable to empower this official to proceed with the work at once. I therefore recommend the passage of the accompanying order.

Respectfully,
JOHN F. FITZGERALD, Mayor.

September 1, 1911.

Hon. John F. Fitzgerald,
Mayor of Boston:

Dear Sir,— Replying to the inclosed order of the City Council in relation to cost of proposed municipal building in Ward 7, I wish to advise you that I estimate the said cost to be ninety thousand (90,000) dollars, the same to include site, building and equipment.

The site should contain about 7,500 square feet of land, the building to cover the whole of same with the exception of a proper set back from the sidewalk line. Building to be two stories high above the basement. Basement to contain shower baths, swimming pool and steam plant. The first floor might be used for library purposes and the second or top floor as a gymnasium or as an assembly hall as occasion required.

The items of this estimate are based on the following:

Cost of site	$30,000 00
Cost of building	55,000 00
Seats for assembly hall	550 00
Gymnasium apparatus	1,450 00
Library furnishings	3,000 00

The proper removal and preservation of the portico must be taken in hand immediately and it is therefore necessary to provide funds with which to carry out this work.

Respectfully,
JOHN F. FITZGERALD, Mayor.

ARLINGTON STREET EXTENSION.

The following was received:

City of Boston,
Office of the Mayor, September 11, 1911.

To the City Council:

I suhmit herewith a report made to me by Mr. John C. Kiley, real estate expert attached to this office, relating to the proposed Arlington street extension, from Beacon street to the Charles River Emhankment. According to Mr. Kiley's figures, if the city is to undertake this improvement alonc it will cost $365,000. If the city should take 95 and 96 Beacon street and hold thcse properties for the future extension of Arlington street by the Metropolitan Park Commissioners, it will he necessary to appropriate but $207,000 at the prescnt time, which amount would he paid hack to the city treasury in the event of the improvement being made hy the Metropolitan Park Commission.

Up to date the Metropolitan Park Commission has expended some eighteen millions of dollars in improvements, and, although Boston has been assessed for the major portion of the initial expenditures, and for the larger part of the maintenance charges, the city itself has received hut very little direct benefit therefrom. This commission has control of over 10,295 acres in metropolitan park reservations and parkways, only 525.75 acres of which are within the limits of the City of Boston — some 5 per cent. Of the 31.6 miles of roadways under its control only one and one-half miles are within our limits. These figures indicate thc inequitahle character of its holdings and should he a strong argument to use hefore the Legislature of 1912 for the purpose of obtaining the necessary legislation authorizing the Metropolitan Park Commission to bear the expense of the Arlington street improvement.

It secms to me, therefore, in view of the fact that the city now has the opportunity, with the expenditure of about one-half the total cost of the improvement, to providc for this extension, that it would be wise to appropriate the desired amount.

Respectfully,
JOHN F. FITZGERALD, Mayor.

City of Boston,
Office of the Mayor,
Real Estate Appraiser,
Septemher 11, 1911.

Hon. John F. Fitzgerald,
Mayor of Boston:

Dear Sir,— Pursuant to your request I have studied the cost of thc proposed Arlington street extension from Beacon street to the Charles River Emhankment, and can make the following report:

Together with Mr. O'Callaghan, secretary to the Street Commissioners, I have estimated that the necessary real estate to make this extension would cost..... $305,000 00

There would be special damages as follows:

No. 95 Beacon street, to pay for material and lahor to date, depreciation of material ordered hut not to be used on account of cancellation of contract; contractor's profit and architect's fees.....	$35,000 00
No. 96 Beacon street, to pay for material and lahor to date, depreciation of material ordered hut not to he used on account of cancellation of contract; contractor's profit and architect's fees.....	25,000 00
Total.....	$365,000 00

To take Nos. 95 and 96 Beacon street (on which premises the old buildings have heen removed and new ones are heing erected), and hold them for the future extension of Arlington street hy the city or by the Metropolitan Park Commission, it would cost as follows:

No. 95 Beacon street, and rear lot on Back street and the Charles River Embankment controlled by the same owner.

Cost of real estate.....	$80,000 00
Special damages, as above.....	35,000 00
No. 96 Beacon street, cost of real estate.....	67,000 00
Special damages.....	25,000 00
	$207,000 00

In connection with the latter proposition I think it well to refer to the report of the Joint Board on Metropolitan Improvements Commission, 1911, in which they mention that the cost of the Arlington street extension should fall logically within the lines of metropolitan work.

The following is quoted from their report: "The first suggestion is the ohvious one of a hetter approach to the driveway along the easterly side of the embankment and the hasin. That driveway, forming a junction with Charles strect and Camhridge Bridge at its northerly end, extends to Back street, which is the street in the rear of the row of houses fronting on Beacon street, and there connects on a curve with Otter street. Otter street is a narrow way, only the length of a single house lot, which opens into Beacon street at a point a few houses west of Arlington street; it is inadequate, ohscure and indirect as an approach to the driveway and connection with the principal streets of the city. It seems to the Joint Board that a better way ought to he provided in hetter alignment with the driveway and Arlington street to give direct and dignified approach, with views of the emhankment and of the Common and Puhlic Garden, not only from Beacon street and Boylston street, which are the finest radial highways of the city, hut also from Commonwealth avenue, which is the only parkway from the center of the city to the Boston Park System and the metropolitan park system west and south of Boston. Such a connection would seem to find a precedent in park approaches provided for other parks and reservations of the metropolitan park system, and to fall logically within the lines of metropolitan work and expenditures already entered into."

Respectfully yours,
JOHN C. KILEY.

Referred to the Executive Committee.

WIDENING OF UNION PARK STREET.

The following was received:

City of Boston,
Office of the Mayor, September 11, 1911.

To the City Council:

I heg to recommend for passage the accompanying loan order for $75,000, for the widening of Union Park street, between Washington street and Harrison avenue. Union Park street is an important highway extending from Tremont street to Harrison avenue and this portion hetween Washington street and Harrison avenue is narrow and congested. I have assurances from most of the abutting owners that they will pay any reasonable assessments to carry out this improvement.

Respectfully,
JOHN F. FITZGERALD, Mayor.

Ordered, That the sum of $75,000 be appropriated to be expended by the Board of Street Commissioners for the widening of Union Park street, between Washington street and Harrison avenue, and that the City Treasurer be authorized to issue, from time to time, on the request of the Mayor, bonds or certificates of indebtedness of the city to said amount.

Referred to the Committee on Finance.

WIDENING OF NORFOLK STREET.

Coun. SMITH offered the following:

Resolved, That his Honor the Mayor be requested to recommend to the City Council an order transferring $100,000 from the Reserve Fund to an appropriation for the widening of Norfolk street, Dorchester.

The resolution was referred by the President to the Executive Committee.

Coun. SMITH—Mr. President, I have brought this matter up at this time, hoping the resolution will pass and that the Mayor will give it consideration, because at the present time we have a Reserve Fund of $750,000 and are considering several improvements in the city. It seems to me, in view of the fact that Norfolk street has been forgotten among these improvements, that it ought to be considered with the rest. This year no money has been spent on highways with the exception of the customary $300,000. It seems to me that the extension and improvement of highways is one of the main subjects before the city at the present time and that this resolution to the Mayor would have its effect in bringing about some appropriation for Norfolk street, and bring it about at a time when we are considering general improvements throughout the city. In comparison with libraries and ward buildings, it seems to me that Norfolk street should have the call. To my mind it is more important than is a second library building this year. In saying that I am speaking of something to which I have given a great deal of consideration. I have been on the Committee on Branch Libraries, have visited all of them throughout the city, and I earnestly hope that East Boston shall have a branch library, a new one, in the near future. At the same time, I believe one branch library a year is enough for the city to build. In comparison I believe that Norfolk street is more important. I realize that $100,000 will not complete the job on Norfolk street, but it will make a considerable beginning, the total amount estimated for the work being $260,000. I think in comparison with a Ward 7 municipal building that Norfolk street is more important. Much as I wish to see such a building in Ward 7, much as I think it is needed, it seems to me that Norfolk street is more of a necessity. Ward 7 is lucky in having several settlements where the children are pretty well taken care of. In comparison with a Charlestown library it seems to me that Norfolk street is much more important, as in my opinion East Boston should come first in the matter of libraries. I can think of no single considerable improvement so important in this city as the widening and straightening of Norfolk street, and I hope sincerely that the Mayor will consider it in connection with the improvements about town at a time when we have ample funds to take it up, and do it in a business-like way. I think if the matter is put up to the Mayor by the Council it will have due effect with him, and I sincerely trust that the resolution will go through.

Coun. ATTRIDGE—Mr. President, I first desire to ask if it is in order for me to speak on this order that has been presented after you have made the reference?

President COLLINS—If no objection is made, the Chair will put the question on the passage of the resolution.

Coun. ATTRIDGE—Mr. President, I quite agree with the gentleman on the other side of the Chamber that the fixing up of Norfolk street is a necessity. There are many things which the City of Boston can do to-day with the money which is in the Reserve Fund. I stated at the last meeting of the Council, when I set forth my reasons for voting in favor of the appropriation of $175,000 from the Reserve Fund to the appropriation for the taking of land and buildings on Beacon street in order to make a continuation of Arlington street to connect with the esplanade, that I voted for that appropriation simply out of courtesy to the two gentlemen who sit in this Council from Ward 11. I stated that I did not vote for that appropriation because I believed it was the most necessary improvement in the city at the present time, but that I voted in favor of it in order to give those two gentlemen a chance to make an investigation as to the cost of making that new street to connect Arlington street, Back street and the esplanade. I stated at the last meeting that I believed Norfolk street was one of the streets of the city which should be attended to. In my opinion it is the street above all streets which should be attended to; and to-day, if it comes to a question of a vote on the $175,000 for the extension of Arlington street to the esplanade, I intend to vote against it. I stand here to-day and favor this order which has been presented by the gentleman from Ward 11, on the other side of the Chamber, and if the city could spare the money, I think it would be good policy to spend this year the $260,000 for the laying out and widening of Norfolk street. The widening of Norfolk street has been advocated surely for the last half dozen years. For the past six years the City Council of Boston has known that Norfolk street should be attended to. The matter came up in the Councils of 1907, 1908, 1909 and 1910, and here it is with us again. Nothing has been done, but still something should be done by the city. This is a thoroughfare of the city, and in my opinion, should be properly fixed by the city. It is not a matter of artistic improvement; it is a necessary improvement, as distinguished from the artistic improvement that is contemplated at Arlington street. The Boston Herald has advocated that improvement at Arlington street, and I may also say that the Boston Herald during the month of May urged the need of better streets in various sections of our city. The Boston Herald, under date of May 17, said that Brighton needed better streets; under date of May 12 the Boston Herald said that Norfolk street was so narrow that car and team drivers feared to pass through and that the demand for the widening of the street has gained strength. It stated that the cost of the work was estimated, as the gentleman on the other side of the Chamber has said, at $260,000, but that the annual amount appropriated for the care of all streets, for the laying out of new streets in our city, was $300,000. I believe that Norfolk street should be laid out. I believe that the city should this year, if it could be spared, spend the $260,000 for the laying out of this street; and I, for one, would be willing to see his Honor the Mayor, and ask if he would send to this Council an order transferring from the Reserve Fund money to put this street, this thoroughfare of our city, in proper condition. I hope that the resolution will pass.

The resolution was adopted.

PRICE OF MILK.

The following was received:

Commonwealth of Massachusetts,
District Attorney Suffolk District,
Boston, August 22, 1911.

To the City Council,
City of Boston, Mass.:

In accordance with the order of the City Council, dated July 17, 1911, requesting me "to investigate the increase in the price of milk to consumers in Boston and vicinity, with a view to determine if a combination exists among the milk contractors organized for the purpose of wringing unwarranted and extortionate prices from the consumers in violation of law," I have caused such an investigation to be made.

In common with many, I felt that the milk producers would not be found to be responsible for the increased price, and yet, in view of the tremendous importance of the question to the people, I felt justified in sending special agents to the producers in this state, Vermont and New York.

I have also had the testimony of all persons from whom it seemed possible to obtain evidence, including the milk contractors and others, but I have been unable to secure any evidence of combination among the milk producers, or milk contractors, to increase the price of milk, nor any evidence that the recent increase in the price of milk to consumers in Boston and vicinity is the result of the criminal act of any person or persons.

MINORS' LICENSES.

President COLLINS submitted reports on petitions recommending that minors' licenses be granted to thirty-eight newsboys, three bootblacks and two vendors.

Reports severally accepted; licenses granted on the usual conditions.

PERAMBULATION OF BOUNDARY LINES.

President COLLINS offered an order—That two members of this Council, together with the City Clerk and Commissioner of Public Works, or their duly authorized substitutes, be and they hereby are appointed, in behalf of the City Council, to perambulate the boundary lines and to examine the bound marks between Boston and the adjacent cities and towns of Revere, Everett, Somerville, Newton, Brookline, Dedham and Hyde Park, to report descriptions of the same for record, and to cause bound marks to be erected or renewed wherever necessary; the expense incurred under the authority of this order, if any, to be charged to the appropriation for City Council, Incidental Expenses.

Passed.

SIDEWALK, ST. WILLIAM'S CHURCH.

President COLLINS offered an order—That the Commissioner of Public Works make a sidewalk along Dorchester avenue in front of St. William's Church, Ward 16, said sidewalk to be from 3 to 10 inches above the gutter adjoining, to be from 5 to 12 feet in width, and to be built of artificial stone, under the provisions of chapter 437 of the Acts of 1893.

Passed.

SEWERAGE WORKS, CHARLES RIVER BASIN.

Coun. KENNY offered an order—That, in addition to the three hundred and ninety-five thousand dollars ($395,000) heretofore appropriated, the sum of five thousand dollars be appropriated for the construction of sewerage works within the watershed of the Charles River Basin, under the provisions of chapter 485 of the Acts of 1907 and chapter 612 of the Acts of 1911, and that to meet said appropriation the City Treasurer be authorized to issue, from time to time, on the request of the Mayor, bonds of the City of Boston to said amount for said purpose.

Coun. KENNY—Mr. President, I am going to ask that that order take its passage now. In contemplation of the passage of the act itself the Council, upon the recommendation of the Mayor, passed a loan order of $395,000. The act itself, however, provides for $400,000, and in order to make it conform with the legislation this year, I offer that order at this time and ask that it go upon its passage.

The order was given its first reading and passage, yeas 8, nays 0.

USE OF SCHOOL HALLS.

Coun. McDONALD offered an order—That chapter 367 of the Acts of 1911, entitled "An Act Relative to the Use of School Halls for other than School Purposes," be and the same hereby is accepted.

CLOSING OF STREETS, COLUMBUS DAY.

Coun. ATTRIDGE offered an order—That the Police Commissioner be hereby authorized to close to travel by vehicles, except fire, police, hospital and mail wagons, on Thursday, October 12, such streets as may be necessary for the formation and parade of the Columbus Day marchers on said day, and the City Messenger is hereby authorized to rope off such streets as the Police Commissioner may require, the expense to be charged to the appropriation for City Council, Incidental Expenses.

Passed.

RETIREMENT OF LABORERS.

Coun. ATTRIDGE offered an order—That his Honor the Mayor be requested to furnish to the City Council information from the heads of departments concerning the operation of the provisions of chapter 413, Acts of 1911, entitled "An Act Relative to the Retirement Fund for Laborers Employed by the City of Boston," with the number of men in the various departments who are effected by the provisions of said act, and any other information as may be pertinent to the question.

Coun. ATTRIDGE—Mr. President, I introduced this order simply for the purpose of securing for the Council any information which the Mayor may have from his heads of departments in reference to the operation of the act which calls for the retirement of laborers under certain conditions. On May 8 of this year the Council passed an order that the heads of departments, through his Honor the Mayor, be requested to report to the City Council the number of laborers who in their opinion would be affected by the provision of chapter 413 of the Acts of 1911, entitled "An Act Relative to the Retirement Fund for Laborers Employed by the City of Boston." I thought that possibly by this time the Mayor may have received some information from the heads of the various departments in regard to the number of men affected by the act as in regard to the operation of the Act, and this order is simply put in to-day to secure whatever information the Mayor may have received.

The order was passed.

PAYMENT TO MRS. CHESWELL.

Coun. CURLEY offered an order—That chapter 288 of the Acts of 1911, entitled "An Act to Authorize the City of Boston to Pay a Sum of Money to the Widow of William T. Cheswell," be and the same hereby is accepted, and that, under the provisions of the aforesaid act, the sum of three thousand dollars be allowed and paid to Millie B. Cheswell, widow of William T. Cheswell, late a chief of the Fire Department, who died from injuries received while in the performance of his dutics; said sum to be charged to the appropriation for Reserve Fund.

Referred to the Executive Committee.

APPOINTMENT OF FIRE COMMISSIONER.

Coun. CURLEY offered the following:

Resolved, That his Honor the Mayor be requested to appoint a Fire Commissioner for the City of Boston who has a knowledge of the duties of his position, and who has had sufficient executive experience to render him competent to act with judgment and discretion in the discharge of his duties.

Coun. CURLEY—Mr. President, in connection with this resolution I desire to state, from my observation and from conversation with officers and men in the Fire Department, that there is a serious menace to the discipline and the good order of the Fire Department should the present incumbent of the office of Fire Commissioner be permitted to continue in that capacity. I feel that his extreme youthfulness, his lack of executive experience, the fact that he never held any responsible position previous to holding this extremely responsible one ——

Coun. KENNY—Mr. President, I rise to a point of order, that the matter under discussion is not one with which this Council has a right to deal under the charter.

President COLLINS—The Chair rules that the order before the Council interferes with the executive and administrative function of the government, and therefore is contrary to the city charter. The Chair, therefore, rules the order out of order.

Coun. CURLEY—Mr. President, I presume, the Chair having made a ruling, that the only way in which I can present facts that are of vital importance to the City of Boston is by drafting an order along similar lines that will be acceptable and that will not be ruled out.

RECESS TAKEN.

The Council voted, at 4.38 o'clock p. m., on motion of Coun. BALLANTYNE, to take a recess subject to the call of the Chairman.

The members of the Council reassembled in the Council Chamber and were called to order by the President at 6.30 o'clock p. m.

The report was accepted, and the question came on the passage of the order.

Coun. SMITH—Mr. President, I voted against this matter in Executive Committee for this reason, and this reason only, that, so far as I know, we have no plans or specifications showing just how that money is to be spent. While that may not be the custom,—and I know it has not been the custom in regard to such appropriations,—and while I think this money is undoubtedly needed in Charlestown for this purpose, nevertheless I want to start now asking for specifications in regard to such matters as these. I think the Council has made a great mistake in the past in not knowing more definitely what it has appropriated money for. We have appropriated money for such purposes as the rebuilding of Curtis Hall, for the East Boston Courthouse, the Ward 8 Bath House and other things, on generalities, without knowing definitely how the money was to be spent, without having any concrete knowledge of what we were voting for. This seems to me unnecessary. We should adopt an entirely different plan. Formerly we did have a city architect, and if we had such a person now we might refer to him for plans and specifications and to find out whether certain work could be done with the money asked for. At the present time we might very well refer such matters to the Finance Commission, and let them out of their appropriation hire such expert opinion as they might need, for our guidance; because in the cases I have cited we have been asked for supplementary amounts of money, and we don't know yet whether they have got the necessary amount. In some cases the amounts have run more than twice over the original amount asked for, without any change or increase in the building. Therefore, it seems to me only logical that we should ask for—and we can do nothing but ask, we cannot demand or insist upon—plans and specifications showing how the money is to be spent. I don't know of any better place to begin than with the present appropriation. I am, therefore, going to vote against it, not because I think it is unnecessary, but simply because in voting for it I would be voting in the dark.

Coun. CURLEY—Mr. President, I would ask the gentleman if he ever knew of a case where a private individual was putting up a building where it was possible for him to tell in exact dollars and cents the amount that it would be necessary to expend?

Coun. SMITH—Of course, that question is not intended to have a real answer.

Coun. CURLEY—It certainly is.

Coun. SMITH—Nevertheless, I am very glad to say that no individual would feel that he was justified in spending money as we have spent it on Curtis Hall. If an individual could not estimate nearer to the final cost of the building than has been done in the case of Curtis Hall, I think he would very soon find himself out of business.

Coun. CURLEY—Mr. President, I have no desire to discuss the question. The gentlemen from Charlestown are fully competent to discuss it. But there has not been a publication of the City Record since it has been started that has not contained either a certain sum for addition on any building or a certain rebate to the city on a certain building advertised. And it is so with private contracts every day. Nobody can compute in exact dollars and cents the amount to be spent on certain work. Curtis Hall is, of course, an exceptional case. I know of no other exceptional case but Curtis Hall.

Coun. McDONALD—Mr. President, I am not going to discuss this proposition at length here to-night because of the fact that the matter has been before the Council last year and twice this year already. Some ten years ago there was $15,000 appropriated for an all-the-year-around bath and gymnasium in Charlestown. I think Alderman Quigley asked for an estimate of the cost of an all-the-year-around bath and gymnasium in Charlestown, with some one hundred lockers and fifty showers, and they gave him an estimate of $30,000. Fifteen thousand more was appropriated, and in 1907 they merged both appropriations, making an appropriation of $30,000. They have not attempted to spend the money yet because of the fact that a colored company was transferred over there in the first two months of Mayor Hibbard's administration and they took up the place intended for this all-the-year-around bath. They could not get them out of there, the state authorities said, until some other suitable place was provided for them, and they were not transferred until this year. In the meantime Charlestown has not been able to use this money. There is no doubt that something should be done in this matter at once, even if it costs a little more. We cannot recall now just how much it will cost, but we have got something to start with. Let us get the thing started, get the plans and estimates made and the building under way. Nothing can be done unless we start, and we want the all-the-year-around bath and gymnasium started. Certainly nothing can be done until the thing is started. The gentleman did not ask in executive committee for estimate and plans in connection with the extension of Arlington street. He told the Council here two weeks ago that that would cost only $175,000, not more than that, and the real estate expert says to-day that it will cost $400,000. He was satisfied to vote for that because he thought it would cost $175,000, when it will actually cost $400,000. There is not going to be any money stolen in connection with the construction of this all-the-year-around bath. The estimate was given by the Bath Trustees some four years ago. If we get this money the Public Buildings Department can start, and if we need more money later on it can probably be obtained—and it will be money well spent, because the people over there need such a place badly.

Coun. SMITH—Mr. President, I do not intend, as I said in my opening remarks, to enter into any discussion of the merits of this question. I have every reason to believe that a bath house is needed in Charlestown. I simply say that I do not care to vote any more money than I have already voted for buildings to be constructed under one department or another—especially under the Public Buildings Department of this city—without having some more definite means of knowing how much the buildings are ultimately going to cost or how much the repairs and changes in building are ultimately to cost. I do not, of course, expect or ask that anybody shall estimate within a few dollars of the final cost of an improvement or a building, but it is reasonable to ask that they let us know in advance nearer than twice the original appropriations or in some cases even more than twice the original appropriation. While we might very well be willing to rebuild such a building as Curtis Hall or to build such a building as is contemplated for a courthouse in East Boston or a bath house for Ward 8, if the amount were to be the sum originally asked for, we very likely would not think of it if the sum were twice as large. That is, the improvements would not warrant the expenditure of twice as large a sum. The Arlington street extension has been referred to by the last speaker. That, I think, is a very good example. We passed to its first reading the $175,000 appropriation, and I want to stand here publicly and go on record as saying that, if that is going to cost $400,000, as the last speaker thought, I shall not vote for it. Furthermore, I would say, in opposition to what he has said,—that I voted for it regardless of what it would cost,—that the very figures he has quoted are the figures given by the real estate expert of the city, which I personally asked for the very day the appropriation came up. I did not intend then to vote blindly on that matter regardless of the cost, and I do not now. Taking the Arlington street extension, it is simply a question of how much we are going to get for our money, and if it costs too much it ought not to be done, in fairness to other parts of the city. That is directly in point with what I have been saying in regard to public buildings. When we vote certain sums of money and the work finally costs twice as much as the original sum voted, we are not acting intelligently, comparing the cost of that improvement with the cost of other improvements in the city. While I have no doubt that the Charlestown bath house is needed, and while I have no doubt that the money would be wisely spent, I think it is time that we stopped appropriating money until we have some more definite idea of what we are getting for our money. This is only a test case. I hope it will not be taken personally; I hope it will not be taken as showing any ill feeling toward Charlestown or toward the improvement under consideration. I hope it will simply be taken as I said, that I want more definite information before I vote for money to be spent for the Building Department or for building improvements in the city.

Coun. BUCKLEY—Mr. President, all that the order calls for, as I understand it, is that the money be spent by the Superintendent of Public Buildings, so that the city can begin work on that Charlestown bath house, which is much needed. If we delay, it only means putting off the work so much longer, and it is absolutely necessary. It seems to me the people in that congested section of the city ought to have that bath house finished as soon as possible. I know that Coun. Smith wants the bath house over there and I know also he is perfectly willing that this thing should go through to-day. He is fighting for a principle that he believes is right. At the same time, the people of Charlestown ought not to suffer because of that. He cites Curtis Hall and other improvements that have taken place. It does not seem to me that we in Charlestown ought to suffer because of what has happened in other places. Over there in Charlestown the money that will be spent for this purpose will be spent wisely, for a good all-the-year-around bath house and gymnasium. No matter if it does cost a few hundred or thousand dollars extra, so long as the people benefit the money will be well and wisely spent. I know he will withdraw his objection to-day and will vote to pass this order.

The order was passed, yeas 7, nay 1, Coun. SMITH voting nay.

CONFIRMATION OF APPOINTMENTS.

President COLLINS called up Nos. 2 and 3, unfinished business, viz.:

2. Action on appointments submitted by the Mayor, August 22, of Fred G. Trask and Robert H. Walsh to be Constables for the term ending April 30, 1912.

3. Action on appointments submitted by the Mayor, August 22, viz.: Charles H. Gelpke, to be a Gauger of Liquid Measures; Walter N. Fogarty and Francis C. Powell, to be Weighers of Coal; Henry H. Walters, Fred Kitson, William A. Podolski, William H. Drake and William L. Woods to be Weighers of Coal, Measurers of Wood and Bark, Measurers of Grain, Weighers of Boilers and Heavy Machinery and Weighers of Beef; all for the term ending April 30, 1912.

The question came on confirmation. Committee, Coun. Curley and Ballantyne. Whole number of ballots cast 8, yeas 8, and the several appointments were confirmed.

PLAYGROUND ACCOMMODATIONS, WARD 19.

President COLLINS called up No. 4, unfinished business, viz.:

4. Ordered, That under the provisions of chapter 261 of the Acts of 1893, the City Auditor be and hereby is authorized to transfer the sum of sixty thousand dollars from the appropriation for Playground, Parker Hill, to an appropriation for Playground Accommodations, Ward 19.

On August 22 the foregoing order was read once and passed, yeas 6, nays 0.

The question came on the final reading and passage of the order.

Coun. BUCKLEY—Mr. President, I am sorry I was not in my place when this matter came up, but since this order was passed two weeks ago several people from Ward 19 have come to see me on the ground that this money was originally appropriated for the Parker Hill section of that ward. I don't know just where Parker Hill is,—that is, how hard it is for people in the ward to get there,—and I don't know just how hard it is for the people of the Parker Hill section to get to wherever the playground is to be. But it seems to me, in view of the feeling of the people of that section, that this might be put over for a week or so, in order that we might have those people tell just what they really want. If it is for the benefit of the entire ward I am willing to vote for it to-day, but it seems to me that the people of the Parker Hill section, if there are many children there, ought to be considered, as this was passed originally for this section. However, if the order comes to a vote to-day I shall vote for it.

Coun. CURLEY—Mr. President, I will explain for the benefit of Coun. Buckley that Mr. Prendergast of the Park Commission asked me to call one day about two weeks ago in connection with this matter. He said that they had held three public hearings, that the loan had been authorized about three years ago and that they were unable to agree on any site. It was felt that it was necessary to spend $100,000 in Ward 19 to provide the necessary playground and that the first step in the work was a change in the wording of this appropriation, so that it would be an appropriation for Playground, Ward 19, rather than an appropriation for Playground, Parker Hill. If the Council passes this the Mayor is ready to recommend the appropriation of an additional $40,000, making $100,000 for proper playground facilities for Ward 19. As I say, they have had a number of public hearings, and in their opinion this is the only way in which the proposition can be worked out satisfactorily to all concerned.

The order was given its final reading and passage, yeas 7, nay 1, Coun. SMITH voting nay.

Coun. BALLANTYNE in the chair.

HIGHWAY APPROPRIATION.

Chairman BALLANTYNE called up No. 5, unfinished business, viz.:

5. Ordered, That under the provisions of chapter 261 of the Acts of 1893, the City Auditor be and hereby is authorized to transfer the sum of one hundred seventy-five thousand dollars ($175,000) from the appropriation for Reserve Fund to the appropriation for Highways, Making of.

On August 22 the foregoing order was read once and passed, yeas 6, nays 0.

The question came on the final reading and passage of the order.

Coun. COLLINS—Mr. President, at the last meeting of the Council I voted against this proposition on the ground that I did not know what the cost would be, that I could only see at that time that it might be a benefit from an esthetic point of view. Since that time we have had figures here from the real estate expert of the Mayor and also from some attorney of the property owners, that the expenditure will amount to over $400,000. If that is so, it seems to me an outrageous amount to ask for, particularly if the place will not be greatly benefited even from the esthetic point of view. Since that time I have concluded from my observations that there would not be a great benefit from that point of view. Therefore, I have come to the conclusion, after three weeks, that we ought to take a firm and decided stand on the proposition and defeat it. At that time I also said: "The question of street improvements is a big one in Boston. There is Norfolk street in Dorchester, Faneuil street in Brighton, and countless other streets. The proposition before us is an excellent one from an esthetic point of view, and if I believed the money can be well afforded, as I have already stated, I shall be in favor of it, but at this time to vote in the affirmative would be hasty and ill-advisable. Accordingly, I shall vote at this time 'No.'" Since that time I have looked into the matter and it strikes me that the action of this Council at this time should be decisive, that we would vote, absolutely "No" on this proposition. If it is defeated I shall introduce two orders, one providing $150,000 for Norfolk street, an improvement which has been sought for many years, and the other for Faneuil street. As is well known by Coun. Curley, as a member of the old Board of Aldermen, and possibly by others, I think during the Hibbard administration an order for $150,000 for Norfolk street came within one vote of passing the Board. Now with a Reserve Fund of $800,000 I think that is an admirable improvement to make, one that ought to be put through as speedily as possible. Therefore, if this order is defeated at this time I shall introduce an order for $150,000 for Norfolk street, Dorchester, and $50,000 for Faneuil street, Brighton.

Coun. SMITH—Mr. President, I am rather surprised that this has come up. We discussed this matter at some length in the Executive Committee and considered it in connection with the possible closing of Otter and Beaver streets. As the maps will show, Otter street is now the terminus of the drive on the esplanade and Beaver street is within three houses of the proposed extension of Arlington street. So each one of these two small alleyways, as they exist at present, would be within three houses of the proposed extension, and one of them is the terminus of the drive on the esplanade. Therefore, those two streets should be taken into consideration in connection with any proposed extension of Arlington street. It is perfectly in point to consider them, and in executive session we did consider them. Those two streets differ from ordinary streets in this respect, that they are owned in fee by the City of Boston. The only reason why we cannot close those streets legally is because they were sold with rights of way to the abutting owners. It is not definitely settled in my mind, although it may be in the minds of some other members of the Council, that we can close those streets and sell the fee that the city owns there. If we can, we can sell three house lots of good size in a most desirable location, and that would offset the cost of the property we would be obliged to take to extend Arlington street. In other words, the cost of that improvement would be comparatively small, one thing about offsetting the other.

It seems to me, when there is such an opportunity, that it is worth investigating and that we ought to ask the Law Department as to the legal side of such a possibility. I think we ought to do it not only to satisfy ourselves on this point, but to satisfy the numberless people in the City of Boston who are interested in this extension. As was quoted in the executive meeting, the joint board of metropolitan improvement has gone on record in its report for 1911 as saying that the present approach to the esplanade is inadequate, obscure and indirect, and they have recommended that the metropolitan park system bear the expense of a connection by an extension of Arlington street with the Public Garden and Common. We have a tremendous park investment in the Garden and in the Common; we have an investment of approximately $4,000,000 in the basin and its surroundings. It seems absurd, when those two great park tracts of land are within 150 or 200 feet of each other, that the citizens of Boston should not connect them with an adequate park connection. Consider how it would he if we had the Fenway absolutely unconnected with Commonwealth avenue or had the Arhoretum absolutely unconnected with Franklin Park except hy a roundahout hack street. Do you think that would he wise? Is it any more wise not to connect the Puhlic Garden and the Common with an investment on the esplanade of approximately $4,000,000? I tell you right here that the esplanade and the hody of water it touches are as important to us as Franklin Park, every hit,—in fact, ten times more important, because it is ten times as availahle to the slums of the city. Let us do all we can to make the esplanade as availahle as possihle to the West and South Ends and to the South Cove. If we ill-advisedly block the interests of the poor people of the city so that they cannot get to this esplanade, we are doing a great injury. The poor people enjoy a hoat ride or a walk in the open air along the water front, such as would be afforded here, much more than the people of the Back Bay or of Dorchester and Jamaica Plain could enjoy them, because the poor people in the congested ends of the city do not have the outdoor opportunities that some of these other people have. If those people are to be cut off from this improvement which has cost the City of Boston $4,000,000 simply because the Council of the city refuses to grant a modest request of the Mayor to appropriate $175,000, on the ground that the proposed improvement is to cost much more than that, we ought to be ashamed, unless such information is thoroughly grounded. Such information may be thoroughly grounded, but I say, so long as we have the possihility of making this improvement at a small cost, hy closing Otter and Beaver streets and selling the three house lots already referred to, we should not act hastily. We should not act in opposition to this proposed improvement until we are thoroughly informed, learning from the Law Department whether or not those streets can he closed. Some of the legal members of the Board are entirely of the opinion, without any reservation, that such cannot he done. If such is the case, they have nothing to lose hy waiting until the legal department of the city verifies that opinion. In fact, they are strengthening their position, because values there are constantly growing and the cost to the city is constantly growing. Therefore, the arguments in their favor are constantly growing. Consequently there can he no harm to them to have the question put up to the Law Department. We are constantly putting questions up to the Finance Commission—which, when all is said and done, is nothing but a department of the City. Why not use the Law Department. and get some information about this matter? It is a peculiar coincidence that these two streets are owned hy the city in fee, and the possihility that these lots can he sold and set off against the expense of the Arlington street extension is something that should certainly he thrashed out. I am not making this request personally. I personally would like to know, however, what the real cost of this extension is to he. I think we should know the real cost, that otherwise we cannot vote intelligently on the suhject. The last speaker said he was going to vote against the order because the cost was to he $400,000, or in the neighhorhood of that. If we could sell these lots and reduce the cost to $100,000 or $200,000, his opinion might very well change. So long as there is a possihility of that happening it seems to me every member should he willing to have the Law Department thrash it out. Not only that, hut it seems to me the citizens of Boston living in the West and South Ends and in the South Cove have a right to have us settle the matter authoritatively. And it seems to me the people who have an esthetic interest in the city and who would like to see an extension of Arlington street the other way, to connect with Castle square, have a right to have the matter thrashed out. Let us thrash out every possihility, and until we are satisfied that this improvement will cost more than memhers of the Board think it should, we are not doing our duty hy the voters of the city in defeating this order.

Coun. COLLINS—Mr. President, the question before us is the appropriation of $175,000 for this purpose for the second and last time. We first voted upon the matter three weeks ago. As the gentleman well knows, if we now change the amount of money to he appropriated it will require action at two separate meetings just the same. So it will he a new proposition, something to he passed upon all over again. The Mayor's message, which he sends to the Council to-day, perhaps involves the closing up of a couple of other streets. But that is a different proposition. The Law Department can report on that and we can act on that. If we take this up in two weeks' time we are taking up an old matter that we discussed and acted upon three weeks ago. In other words, we will have to have two separate meetings for any piece of legislation on this proposition, whether we appropriate $207,000, as the Mayor says, or $175,000. It seems to me that our duty is clear, that we ought to dispose of this matter to-day. Again, referring to the gentleman's language, I know of no slums in the City of Boston in the South, North or West Ends or the South Cove. There are no slums in this city, in my opinion. The original proposition here, which we have once acted upon, was to extend this street at a cost of $175,000 which the Mayor thought at the time would he sufficient. At that time I asked for specifications. I have not received any as yet. But the Mayor's expert now says that the improvement will cost $400,000, and the attorneys for the property owners say so also. That is a different question. I do not helieve the City of Boston has reached a stage where it can spend that amount of money for that purpose. As for the poor people of the North, South and West Ends, they can get there just as well whether or not Arlington street is extended. What they need is a beautification of the hasin itself. The people of the North and West Ends get there hy way of Beacon Hill now, over hy the State House, and they do not need this way that has been referred to, and the people of the South End can get there through other streets. The more logical thing would be the widening of the esplanade. But, he that as it may, I take the floor particularly to-day owing to the fact that Coun. Hale, who is at present in New Hampshire, wrote me a letter, which I have in my possession, stating that if he were here he would vote against this proposition, and he sets forth a numher of reasons. At two o'clock to-day I received a call on the telephone downstairs in the old aldermanic chamher from Coun. Hale, and he asked me to offer this letter, have the Clerk read it and have it incorporated in the minutes. For that reason particularly I have taken the floor. It seems to me we ought to defeat this proposition now. If a new proposition is put forth in the future, we can act upon it; but our duty is plain in regard to the proposition referred to us hy the Mayor two weeks ago. It seems to me it is our duty to kill it and to kill it now. I offer the letter from Coun. Hale to the City Council and ask that it he read and incorporated in the minutes.

The letter from Coun. Hale, read hy Coun. COLLINS in part and then ordered spread upon the records, was in full as follows:

Dublin, N. H.,
September 9, 1911.

Walter L. Collins, Esq.,
President City Council, Boston:

Dear Sir,—At our last meeting I voted for a transfer of $175,000 for the extension of Arlington street to the new embankment. I did so, as did Coun. Attridge, on the express understanding that the vote was not on the merits of the transfer,—a question which I was at that time not able to answer,—but was for the sole purpose of enahling the city to make a hetter hargain for the property when there were no huildings on the land, in case upon further investigation the project should seem a wise one. It was for this purpose that I used every effort to obtain the six votes necessary to pass the transfer on its first reading at our last meeting.

I understand that the transfer will come up for its second and final reading on Monday next. Since our last meeting I have given the matter careful consideration and have made up my mind on the merits of the transfer. As I shall be unable to attend our meeting on Monday, I am sending you my views on the suhject, which I shall he glad to have placed upon the records. I feel it my duty to take this step hecause I live in and am familiar with the neighborhood of the proposed extension.

In my opinion it would he unwise for the city to spend this $175,000 on this extension; if I were at our meeting on Monday I should vote "No" on the transfer. My reasons for this opinion are as follows:

First.—The amount, $175,000, is inadequate: The two vacant lots themselves could not be acquired for any less than $150,000. These two lots would not he wide enough, since they are not as wide as Arlington street and since the extension, in order to be effective, ought to be wider than the street. The building to the east of the vacant lots would have to be taken, at a minimum cost of $60,000. After the extension reaches Back street there are two alternative courses for it to pursue: (1) continue straight ahead to the embankment; (2) curve to the west so as to avoid the Union Boat Club. If the first alternative is adopted, three lots between Back street and Chestnut street assessed at $71,000 in all will have to be taken; and perhaps lots to the north of Chestnut street. The minimum cost of land taking under this alternative would be $281,000; and to this would have to be added the cost of the extension itself and possible damages resulting from the interference with rights of way over Back street. If the second alternative is adopted, the Beacon street house to the west of the vacant lots will have to be taken at a minimum cost of $70,000 and one lot on Back street assessed at $6,000. The minimum cost of land-taking under this plan would be $286,000. Thus in any case the cost to the city will exceed $300,000. Even if the Metropolitan Park assessed the cost later, the city would be obliged to pay 60 per cent of at least $300,000 or at least $180,000. And there is absolutely no assurance or evidence that the Commission will act in this manner. My figures throughout have been conservative, i. e., the city would in all probability have to pay much greater sums.

Second.—The extension may result in injury to the Public Garden. The cold winds from the basin which now cause so much trouble to foot passengers on Beacon street crossing Berkeley and other side streets, will sweep through the opening on to the Public Garden and will make a portion at least of the garden uninhabitable for small children during the winter. It has been suggested that these winds might even change the vegetation of the garden.

Third.—The extension will result in injury to the embankment. The extension will be used mainly by automobiles and will result in a great increase in the number now using the embankment. This will interfere seriously with the safety and the health of the women and children of the crowded sections of the West and North ends who use the embankment in increasing numbers as a recreation ground. The dust from the automobiles and the danger of accidents will decrease the use of the embankment for this purpose.

Fourth.—The extension is not needed for traffic reasons. No heavy teaming can be done on it, as the regulation of the Park Commission wisely forbid it. Foot passengers and light carriages have a satisfactory entrance on to the embankment now through any of the side streets from Massachusetts avenue to Otter street. There is practically no traffic of that kind coming along Arlington street that could not equally well come along Berkeley or Charles streets. The only traffic which will really benefit by the extension will be the automobiles which now go down Commonwealth avenue and across Arlington street. As I have already stated, I think it should be the policy of the city to discourage rather than encourage the further use of the embankment by automobiles.

Fifth.—The extension will not popularize or "open up" the embankment. In the first place, the increase in automobiles will, as already shown, result in making the embankment less attractive to the women and children of the crowded sections of the city. Nor will the extension render the embankment easier of access to the people of the crowded sections. The people of the West and North ends would naturally, and do, enter the embankment from Cambridge street or over Beacon Hill. From the South End and Ward 7 the natural route to the embankment would be either from Park square over Charles, or over Berkeley street. Both these streets furnish direct thoroughfares. From South Boston the "Harvard square City point" electrics furnish a rapid and direct means of transportation. From Dorchester and Roxbury there are direct lines of cars through Charles street. In other words the embankment is at present connected with every part of the city. The extension of Arlington street would in no way help. Money spent on the basin or the embankment itself is what is needed in order to popularize that neighborhood; not money spent in furnishing new means of access. Even assuming that $175,000 is adequate for the extension—and it is not adequate,—interest on that sum at 3½ per cent is over $6,000. Six thousand dollars a year spent on the basin itself in the way of extra concerts, water sports, fireworks, etc., would do far more to popularize the basin than would this extension.

For these reasons I am strongly opposed to the extension. The only valid argument in its favor is that it will serve as a beautiful connecting link between the Common, the Public Garden and the embankment. This argument is far outweighed, in my opinion, by the ones given above against the extension. This is especially true when the really vital needs of other parts of the city are considered: The Charlestown Police Station, the municipal building in Wards 7 and 9, the new Consumptives' Hospital, the Almshouse, and many more. I do not think that we should be justified in spending even $175,000 on this questionable improvement at the sacrifice of any of these other improvements.

I sincerely hope that the transfer of $175,000 for the extension of Arlington street will not be made.

Respectfully yours,
MATTHEW HALE.

Coun. CURLEY moved that the order be laid on the table. The motion was declared carried. Coun. COLLINS doubted the vote and asked for the yeas and nays.

The motion to lay on the table was lost, yeas 4, nays 4.

Yeas—Coun. Buckley, Curley, McDonald, Smith—4.

Nays—Coun. Attridge, Ballantyne, Collins, Kenny—4.

Coun. CURLEY—Mr. President, I move a reconsideration of the vote just taken, hoping that the same will prevail, and if that motion is carried I shall move that further consideration of the matter be assigned for two weeks. I shall do that for this reason, that I feel it is just possible that we may receive a report from the Metropolitan Commission and it might be of some value in determining what we shall do on this proposition.

Chairman BALLANTYNE—The question is on reconsideration.

Coun. CURLEY—Mr. President, I appreciate that and that is what I am discussing. Personally I feel inclined at the present time to vote against the proposition, but if we can obtain information that we should be in possession of before voting upon the matter I believe we should do so. That is the contention that is raised upon every measure.

Coun. KENNY—Mr. President——

Coun. CURLEY—Mr. President, I have not yielded to Coun. Kenny or anybody else, and I have this floor. I want to say, Mr. President——

Coun. KENNY—Mr. President, I rise to a point of order, that you cannot reconsider the preceding vote, because there was no vote. I ask for a ruling.

Chairman BALLANTYNE—The point is not well taken.

Coun. CURLEY—Mr. President, to continue on the question of reconsideration, I suppose it is rather an unfortunate feature of the proceedings of this Board that a person has the privilege of talking. That apparently seems wrong to the gentleman on the other side of the Chamber when other members have the floor. But if I were a legal light I would try to use some judgment before rising to points of order that would not reflect any credit on a person demented. To continuc on this proposition, I want to say that it is just barely possible that the Metropolitan Commission may submit a report.

Coun. KENNY—Mr. President, I would like to ask the gentleman a question.

Coun. CURLEY—Mr. President, speaking on the question of reconsideration I want to say it is just possible that we may receive information that may be of value to us in determining our course. At the present time if a vote is taken I shall vote against this proposition. Personally I believe that no great injury would result if we delayed action two or three weeks, and in the event of reconsideration I am agreeable to making a motion that the matter be assigned for two weeks. I don't think we should kill the thing in cold blood before knowing the facts—at least that is the argument raised against every proposition that I attempt to force through here or in executive session, and if that argument is used in regard to measures that I advocate I don't see why it should not apply to other measures. I think it is sound. Upon every proposition that I have ever advanced somebody else has raised that question, asking for delay in order to get information, and if that holds good in such cases I don't see why it should not hold good here.

Reconsideration on the motion to lay on the table was declared lost. Coun. CURLEY doubted the vote and asked for yeas and nays.

Reconsideration was lost, yeas 3, nays 5:

Yeas—Coun. Buckley, Curley, Smith—3.

Nays—Coun. Attridge, Ballantyne, Collins, Kenny, McDonald—5.

The question came on the passage of the order.

Coun. SMITH—Mr. President, I would like to move an amendment to the order—that the matter be referred to the Law Department for its opinion as to whether Otter and Beaver streets, which the city owns in fee, can be sold by the city, the price to be offset against the price of extending Arlington street. It seems to me consistent in view of the fact that we have taken the same action on the $207,000 asked by the Mayor. The difference is only a difference in amount. If that other matter was referred to the Law Department, there can be no argument against referring this to the Law Department, unless some members wait to prejudice the matter in the eyes of the public by simply refusing the $175,000 at this time. If that is not their position they certainly cannot properly refuse to put this before the Law Department when they have already voted to refer the $207,000 item to the Law Department.

Coun. KENNY—Mr. President, I shall take but a few minutes of the Council's time, as the hour is late. Yesterday afternoon I took occasion to go over to the esplanade and examine the premises that are the subject of discussion here. I walked from Beacon street through Otter street and on the roadway or boulevard that runs to the corner of Charles and Cambridge streets. I think I spent thirty or forty minutes on that boulevard. At that time two automobiles passed over it. As I have already stated, I am not going to take the time of the Council to discuss this matter, because my sentiments have already been very fairly expressed in the remarks made by the President of the Council. It seems to me that Otter street answers every purpose which the extension of Arlington street would consummate. It is such a short distance, but a few feet from Arlington street; it is the natural entrance to the esplanade when you get there. I don't know of any great reason why you should want to connect Arlington street with that portion of the esplanade. When you get there you simply have an avenue that leads out to Charles street, and that is the end of it. There is no connecting link there that goes to advance or make more valuable the park system. There is a perfect connection now on Otter street. I will admit that possibly the owners of property abutting on that part of the esplanade that runs from the end of Otter street to the bridge might possibly be benefited, because they would have another entrance on to Beacon street; but aside from that, as a matter of public necessity, I don't think this is of any importance at all. For that reason I shall vote against it in all forms and all phases.

Coun. SMITH—Mr. President, of course I am not going to enter into the merits of the question now, as this is not the time to do it. All we are asking is to have the Law Department settle one little point in regard to Otter and Beaver streets. I am not going to enter into the merits of the question. Of course, there is just one thing to be said when the gentleman speaks of being thirty minutes in that locality——

Coun. KENNY—Forty minutes.

Coun. SMITH—Well, I will grant him the benefit of the full time, forty minutes. Certainly a man who is there forty minutes is not as able to judge of the necessity of that extension as is the Joint Board of Metropolitan Improvements, which has gone on record as saying that Arlington street should be extended. But I will let that pass, not arguing at this time the question whether it should or should not be extended. The main point here now is as to the cost. I don't think the councilors here, if it did not cost anything, would object to doing it. All I am asking is that the Law Department shall have submitted to them the question of whether we can sell the land in those streets. If so, it may cost the city nothing—in which case it would be absurd not to do it. We have already voted in executive meeting to refer a proposed appropriation of $207,000 to the legal department and can any gentleman stand up here and tell me that there is any difference between that and the question under discussion—whether we shall appropriate $175,000. It is merely a difference as to amount, and a small difference in amount at that. There is no difference in principle, and if one is put up to the Law Department, there is no reason why the other should not be. It is certainly a fair request. I am not asking this for myself. I think it is a matter for which every member should be glad to vote. What Coun. Curley says is absolutely so. We vote down many requests in this Board because we don't think we have full information at hand. We have done so already this afternoon in regard to the workmen's compensation act. We have done so on this very question, in another phase, and why should we not do so here now on this question of the amount that will be necessary. We want all the facts. When a newspaper in Boston sees fit to print a whole page in regard to this matter and come out editorially on it in a different issue, isn't it up to us to act as intelligently as possible? Are we going to act violently, on prejudice? There is undoubtedly some prejudice in this matter. I don't want to enter into personalities with any member of the Council but undoubtedly there is prejudice in this matter. We ought to act as intelligently as we can, getting all the information we can. We ought not to act on a thirty or forty minute inspection; and I ask that this matter be referred, as we have referred the $207,000 matter, to the Law Department.

Coun. KENNY—Mr. President, I beg to assure my friend that I have no prejudice against him or any other member in connection with this matter, not the slightest. I went there as one familiar with the surroundings already. I am no stranger to that part of the city, and I knew about the conditions before I went there. I went there to see the houses being torn down. I knew the other conditions. I see no reason why we should destroy valuable property in order to connect Arlington street with the esplanade when there is already a connection by Otter street and the roadway into Otter street, as good a connection as this street would be. To be sure, there is not a continuous direct connection, but you are only diverted a very few feet and then you are right in the esplanade. There is one thing that Coun. Hale speaks of which perhaps the members may not have heard, because my friend from Ward 17 (Coun. Curley), with his usual desire to expedite the transaction of business here, had the reading of the latter part of the letter omitted. But Coun. Hale did make a very good point in one of his reasons when he stated that Beacon street is a protection in its present condition to the Public Garden. As a matter of fact Beacon street, the water side, is a protection to the Public Garden, and if you open up a broad channel to the north, it stands to reason that in the winter and spring time you are going to have cold winds sweeping across the Public Garden, and undoubtedly there might be injury to the flowers as well as discomfort to the people. My friend Curley, I see, is laughing at that argument, but it seems to me that it may be a very good one. However that may be, this proposition is not a good one to my mind. I spent forty minutes there, if the gentleman will permit a slight amendment, not thirty minutes, and saw only two automobiles passing over that section. That esplanade is just as much open to the public now as it ever will be, even with the so-called extension of Arlington street. I desire also to associate myself with our president in deploring the use here of the word "slums." I don't see quite what the word "slums" has to do in this debate. There are no slums in Boston. There are poor people, but they are not in slums, and they have just the same opportunity now to go over there and see the Charles River Basin without the destruction of this property as they would have with the widening and extension in there of Arlington street.

Coun. Smith's motion to refer to the Law Department, with a request to make a report on the legal question in regard to Otter and Beaver streets, was declared lost. Coun. SMITH doubted the vote and asked for the yeas and nays. The motion was lost, yeas 3, nays 5.

Yeas—Coun. Buckley, Curley, Smith—3.

Nays—Coun. Attridge, Ballantyne, Collins, Kenny, McDonald—5.

The question came on the passage of the order.

Coun. SMITH—Mr. President, I would like to offer an amendment to this, calling for a special assignment one week from to-day and a hearing before the meeting of the Council.

Coun. COLLINS—Mr. President, I hope the same will not prevail, because nothing can be gained thereby. He will have his day in court in the future when the Law Department reports on the order of the Mayor that is to be reported upon, referred by the Executive Committee. Nothing at all will he gained hy what he suggests. I would like to quote three lines from Coun. Hale's letter, in which he refers, not to $400,000 or $207,000, but to $175,000:

"In my opinion it would be unwise for the city to spend this $175,000 on this extension. If I were at our meeting on Monday I should vote 'No' on the transfer. My reasons for this opinion are as follows: First, the amount, $175,000, is inadequate."

And then he goes on to show why, as already read.

Coun. SMITH—Mr. President, it is a hold statement indeed to make that nothing can he gained by a puhlic hearing on a subject on which some members of the Council admit that they are not satisfied on all the points connected with it. When I recall the hearings that have heen granted this year, and some of the trivial suhjects that have been the occasions for those hearings, it strikes me as a peculiar thing when we are considering the extension of a street, one of the streets intended to be an artery in this city, when we consider the indorsement of this proposed extension by the Metropolitan Improvement Commission, when architects in this city have come out openly in favor of it, when one of the newspapers has taken it up actively, when there is a considerahle element in the community demanding its serious treatment, I say it is a grave statement to make that we can have no further light on the subject, and the man who makes it is very bold indeed when he says he knows all that is to he known ahout the special suhject. In asking for a puhlic hearing I feel that I am asking for a chance for certain memhers of the community to express themselves before this hoard, and to enlighten us on certain points that we may not appreciate at the present time, and I think it is only fair to a large portion of the community to ask for that hearing.

Coun. COLLINS—Mr. President, the gentleman is in error when he says I say that I can see no good to be gained hy a public hearing. I only say that he can have a public hearing on this question in the future, but in my opinion the Council will not permit him at this time to save this $175,000 proposition to he voted on in the future, in the next two or three weeks. We are going to defeat this, I helieve, and I believe we ought to do so.

The motion to assign and have a hearing was declared lost. Coun. SMITH doubted the vote and asked for the yeas and nays. The motion was lost, yeas 3, nays 5.

Yeas—Coun. Buckley, Curley, Smith—3.

Nays—Coun. Attridge, Ballantyne, Collins, Kenny, McDonald—5.

The question came on the passage of the order.

Coun. ATTRIDGE—Mr. President, at the last meeting of the Council, on August 22, I voted in favor of the appropriation of $175,000 out of courtesy to the two gentlemen from Ward 11. I stated that I reserved the right to vote against the appropriation when it came before us for a second reading, and to-day I stand ready to vote against the appropriation of $175,000 for this extension of Arlington street. I shall vote against it because I helieve the extension is a luxury, is not an ahsolute necessity, and the failure to provide this luxury, what I term a sort of court entrance to the esplanade, will not seriously inconvenience many people, while failure on the part of the city government to provide necessary improvements in other sections of the city will seriously inconvenience many people. The esplanade as it is to-day, in my opinion, is easy of access. I have visited the esplanade many times and I know from personal knowledge, beginning with Otter street and going up to Massachusetts avenue, that it is easy to reach. A number of our wide thoroughfares run into the esplanade; so I do not think this improvement is needed for the people of the South End or other sections of the city in order to easily reach the esplanade. That can be done now. Two years ago the City Council went throughout the city on its peramhulating tour, and at that time the people of the city in various sections told the Mayor and City Council ahout necessary improvements; and there are, in my opinion, to-day, improvements in this city which are not luxuries, but which are actual necessities and which should be attended to hefore we expend the city's money for an artistic, esthetic improvement. I hold in my hand here a list of requests for local improvements. A memher of the Council has but to look through that list and he will see any numher of improvements that are desired and are actually necessary in our city. Some memhers of the Council to-day have already spoken ahout Norfolk street in the Dorchester district. That, in my opinion, is more important to the people of the entire city than this artistic improvement. We have police stations in the city for which the money of the city could he well used to replace them with new huildings, and the same is the case with the fire stations of the city. I say that this is not a necessary improvement. The Bath Trustees in their last report stated that an urgent improvement in Brighton was the erection of a suitahle bath house so that the people of that district might have proper hathing facilities, hut that district of the city is not the only one which lacks those facilities at the present time. As the gentleman on the other side of the Chamher has already stated, one of the newspapers of the city has come out in favor of this proposition. Yesterday it had a full page in reference to this avenue from Castle square to the Charles river; and that same paper which is advocating the expenditure of the city's money for an artistic improvement in a way criticised the Mayor of the city in an editorial on August 21. The editorial is headed "The Mayor's Folly," and the important part of it says:

"The modern city needs real protection against the possibilities of conflagration much more than it does those artistic improvements which his Honor, in a happy and care free way, has recommended to the people of Boston on his return from a triumphal tour of the capitals of the Old World. Let him give the city what it needs and stop this fiddling!"

And this same paper which has criticised the Mayor of the city for recommending these artistic improvements itself comes out in favor of what I term an artistic improvement. This same paper published a series of articles in regard to the need of hetter streets in various sections of the city, and during the month of May that paper contained many articles in reference to street problems in Dorchester, West Roxhury and Brighton. In another editorial in the same paper it tells ahout our neglect of the suburbs in the matter of highways and says that reasonable street conditions must be provided if Boston intends properly to develop its outlying wards. There are other improvements, in my opinion, for which the money of the city could he used to hetter advantage. The Boston Journal had an editorial yesterday showing the way in which some of the city's money could be used in a much hetter way than for this artistic, esthetic improvement, this court entrance, as I call it. There are streets in the suburhs that should be paved, streets that should be laid out and accepted, and that same paper has stated that the city could use ten million dollars in the suburhs for laying out the streets. Laying out streets is an ahsolute necessity, and I do not believe that this improvement is an ahsolute necessity. If the memhers of the Council have no ohjection, I should like to have printed in the minutes two letters which I have received in regard to this so-called improvement, two letters which in their tenor state that "there are so many vital improvements to be made in Boston that it seems a pity to waste the city's limited resources on this costly scheme of douhtful henefit. The spirit which urges it is fine. But in the case of this so-called improvement it seems misdirected." If the memhers of the Council have no ohjection I would like to have these two letters printed in the report.

Chairman BALLANTYNE—If there is no objection that will he done.

Coun. ATTRIDGE—And for those reasons I shall vote against the appropriation.

Chairman BALLANTYNE—If there is no ohjection the letters will he printed in the record.

The letters referred to were as follows:

Boston, September 7, 1911.

John J. Attridge, Esq.,
30 Pemherton Square, Boston:

Dear Mr. Attridge,—As you know, I represent Mrs. Motley, Mrs. Burnham and Mr. Croshy, the owners respectively of 97, 96 and 95 Beacon street. Nos. 96 and 95 were torn down a while ago and new houses are now in process of construction on those two lots. No. 95 has cost Mr. Croshy hetween $70,000 and $75,000, I believe. This is without taking into consideration the liahilities he has already incurred on his new house, and which must amount to somewhere hetween $10,000 and $20,000 of actual cash which he must pay in any event. Beyond this, if his estate were taken he would be liable to all the contractors and subcontractors for the loss of their contracts. I should think it would cost the city at least $100,000 to take his property.

The situation in regard to Mrs. Burnham's estate is substantially the same, except that her property originally cost her some $10,000 or $15,000 less than Mr. Croshy's estate cost him.

If you are to continue Arlington street straight you must take besides the Croshy and Burnham estates a house of a Miss Matthews, No. 94, worth prohably $75,000, the Union Boat Cluh House, which must he worth $80,000 or $90,000, two stables on Back street and a little lot adjoining the stables. The total expense of this would he over $350,000 and prohahly would amount to $400,000.

If Arlington street is carried through on a curve, so that the Union Boat Club property is not touched, the city would have to take, heside the Croshy and Burnham properties, those of Mrs. Motley at No. 97 and of Mr. Pickman at 98. Both Nos. 97 and 98 are houses which have been fixed over with all modern conveniences, and very considerable sums have heen spent on them. The total cost of these four houses would he considerably over $300,000.

If you should carry Arlington street through straight you might have a handsome street. If you carry it through on a curve it seems to me that you get no henefit from your improvement at all, except a slightly easier way of reaching the embankment from the Puhlic Garden.

In either case you will have a street which cannot be used for teaming and which, as far as other driving is concerned, leads nowhere in particular at the northern end. You will also have a street flanked at Beacon street hy two gateposts in the shape of a couple of houses left standing at the sides of Otter and Beaver streets. They will not be ohjects of heauty.

Will the new street increase the use of the Charles River Emhankment? It seems to me that it would not one iota. The emhankment is perfectly accessihle now from the South End by way of Massachusetts avenue, Dartmouth and Berkeley streets, straight, wide thoroughfares. It is also accessihle hy Charles street. It is hut a step to the embankment from the Public Garden hy way of Otter street. I cannot conceive of any crowds heing hrought to the emhankment hecause people could see it from the Puhlic Garden, and yet it is seriously argued that this continuation of Arlington street would be worth $300,000 to the city.

If I were a memher of the City Council I should greatly prefer to spend the same amount of money for puhlic facilities in the more densely populated portions of the city.

Yours truly,
ROBERT HOMANS.

Robert P. Bellows, Architect,
8 Beacon Street,
Boston, September 7, 1911.

John J. Attridge, Esq.,
No. 118 Malden Street,
Boston, Mass.:

Dear Sir,—The order before the City Council for $175,000 to continue Arlington street to the hasin was evidently submitted hastily and without thorough consideration. At first glance the idea is alluring. But in studying the matter more carefully you will find that there are serious objections, financial, practical and artistic.

I trust I am not taking up too much of your time in going into this more fully.

The finnacial ohjection is that the sum named is entirely inadequate and the city would later be involved in much greater expenditures to complete a job of douhtful value. If you will examine the inclosed sketch on which the assessed values of the various properties are marked, you will readily see this. The sum of $175,000 is not nearly enough to get anything hut a tortuous makeshift connection.

There is no practical reason for the proposed cut unless the roadway along the emhankment, which is now a parkway for pleasure vehicles only, is opened to heavy traffic. This would work much harm to the emhankment as a pleasure resort. For the lighter forms of traffic Otter street is sufficient. It seems a needless waste of money to parallel it so closely by another street; and Beacon street, in wintry weather, is hleak enough as it is without added openings along its north side.

From a purely artistic standpoint the continuation of Arlington street to the basin has little to recommend it. Unless a vast amount of property is condemned it would make the northerly vista of Arlington street a squalid row of stahles instead of a handsome line of residences. At its hest the new street would he hut a patched over short cut, not the magnificent gateway to the basin many imagine. When the basin itself is made more attractive, people will flock there readily enough.

There are so many vital improvements to be made in Boston that it seems a pity to waste the city's limited resources on this costly scheme of doubtful henefit. The spirit which urges it is fine, hut in the case of this so-called improvement it seems misdirected.

Yours sincerely,
ROBERT P. BELLOWS.

Coun. SMITH—Mr. President, this improvement has been termed artistic throughout the dehate. I make no attempt to change that name. Let it go as an artistic improvement alone. I have not undertaken to dehate the merits of the question, hut simply the question of how much it is going to cost and whether the cost is warranted. We don't know how much it will cost until we find out if we can sell those two small streets. For that reason I am going to vote "yes," and for that reason alone, on the question of passing the order. It is not on the question whether this is an artistic or a useful improvement. My position is simply that we don't know the full facts as to what it will cost.

The order failed of passage, yeas 3, nays 5.

Yeas—Coun. Buckley, Curley, Smith—3.

Nays—Coun. Attridge, Ballantyne, Collins, Kenny, McDonald—5.

THE NEXT MEETING.

Coun. KENNY—Mr. President, I move that when we adjourn this evening it be to meet on Monday next at four o'clock. The meeting on Monday next will he a short one, and I think there can he no objection to that.

Coun. BUCKLEY—Mr. President, we have a regular hour for meeting and it seems to me we should not change that hour. I am willing to accommodate memhers of the Council all I can, but I notice that they are never willing to accommodate me. Therefore I hope we will meet at our regular time and not at four o'clock.

Coun. KENNY—Mr. President, I made the suggestion for the benefit of the entire Council. I suppose the gentleman desires to give some time to his own matters, and I thought it would he better for us all to meet at four o'clock. If we can come here at four o'clock and have a short meeting we will save practically half a day and it will he a henefit to all of us. It is not easy for some of the memhers to get to City Hall at three o'clock. I think it is a queer attitude for the gentleman from Charlestown to take. It shows a little feeling, which apparently he has not got over yet. I regret that any memher should take the floor and assume that position. I think the fact that a member should do so is, to say the least, a proper suhject for criticism. I shall insist on my motion that we meet at four o'clock and desire to have it put to a vote.

Coun. CURLEY—Mr. President, I would say also that no member has the privilege of an opinion of his own as to the hour to which the Board shall adjourn. He has no right to such an opinion; he is not entitled to it; it is not the privilege of a memher of the Board.

Coun. BUCKLEY—Mr. President, we all have a right——

Coun. KENNY—Mr. President, I move the previous question.

Coun. BUCKLEY—Mr. President, I have not yielded the floor, and I did not interrupt the gentleman from South Boston.

Chairman BALLANTYNE—Coun. Buckley will proceed.

Coun. BUCKLEY—Mr. President, I do not helieve in changing the regular meeting hour of the Board. It seems to me that we ought to meet at three o'clock, and I hope we will not vote to change the hour, hecause we want to get through early, particularly at this time of the year when the evenings are short. We would like to have a little time to ourselves. If we don't get here until four o'clock, judging hy the flood of oratory we have had this afternoon, we will not get through until one o'clock the next morning, and we ought to be able to get through by midnight anyway if we come here at three. So I hope Mr. Kenny's motion will not prevail.

Coun. Kenny's motion was declared lost.

Coun. KENNY—Mr. President, I ask for a verification of the vote hy roll call.

Coun. CURLEY—I rise to a point of order.

Chairman BALLANTYNE—The Chair will entertain no motion or point or order until the doubt has been solved.

Coun. Kenny's motion, that when the Board adjourns it he to meet on Monday, Septemher 18, at four o'clock p. m., was declared lost, yeas 1, nays 7, Coun. Kenny voting yea.

ACCEPTANCE OF CHAPTER 738, ACTS OF 1911.

Coun. CURLEY offered the following:

Whereas, Thc City Council upon August 22, 1911, passed an order accepting chapter 738 of the Acts of 1911;

And whereas, the City Council is of the opinion that the acceptance of this act was just and meritorious;

Be it resolved, That in the opinion of the City Council the Fire Commissioner should approve the same.

Coun. CURLEY—Mr. President, this resolution relates to the case of a young man named Carney, a memher of the Fire Department, and it is just one other example of the lack of executive ahility so destructive of discipline in a well-organized fire fighting force that is heing displayed every day hy the present incumbent of the office of Fire Commissioner. I sent for the young man yesterday and also consulted physicians in regard to his physical condition, and was informed that at best he could not live more than two months. He made the following statement:

"I entered the Boston Fire Department Novemher 26, 1909, as a memher of Ladder Company 10, and on the evening of Decemher 21 I responded to an alarm from Box 522 at ahout 8.30 p. m. for a fire in a house on Forbes street, Jamaica Plain. I received a wetting at this fire which wet me completely to the skin. I was detailed at same fire hy Lieutenant Flanagan of Ladder 10 to remain at this fire in my wet clothes until 12.30 a. m. next morning. I then returned to the Fire House and I noticed a slight cough. This cough gradually got worse despite treatment until January 14, 1910, when I was relieved of duty hy the chief. I was treated and my sickness was hronchial-pneumonia. I returned to duty ahout the middle of Fehruary and was ohliged to quit work again in four days on account of a relapse. I then returned to duty ahout March 5, 1910, and was told to report for drill school the last of March, 1910. I reported at drill school and attended ahout thirteen days, when I ohtained a leave of absence on advice of the drill master. This leave of ahsence commenced April 26 and continued until June 9, 1910, without pay. I reported hack June 9, and continued to work until June 26, 1910, when I was ordered off duty hy Dr. Sprague, the department doctor. I reported to Dr. Sprague many times and wanted to return to work, hut was told I hetter stay off a little while longer each time. Ahout the end of Fehruary Commissioner Daly sent for me and told me he was going to discharge me on account of tuherculosis. I told him that Dr. Sprague passed me O. K. and I filed a statement of my first sickness, and he told me that as I had tuherculosis I could not stay in the department. He also said it was too had, hut he could not do anything to help me. He sent me a letter from the Fire Department stating on March 1, 1911, I would he dropped from the department on account of my physical disahility, signed hy Mr. Underhill, his secretary."

Now, Mr. President,——

Coun. KENNY—Mr. President, I rise to a point of order.

Coun. CURLEY—Mr. President, I have not yielded the floor.

Coun. KENNY—Mr. President, I rise to a point of order, and I have a right to hreak in, interfere and interrupt the speaker to raise the point of order I now make. I am very much surprised that the memher of Congress, my plural friend from Ward 17, does not understand that. My point of order is that this matter has already heen adjudicated on hy the Council, that they have acted under the statute, and that it is not open for revision at this time under this resolution.

Chairman BALLANTYNE—I think the resolution is perfectly in order. It is simply a question of the opinion of the Council.

Coun. CURLEY—Mr. President, in the opinion of any intelligent person I should say it was. Rule 28 of the Civil Service Rules provides as follows:

"Every original appointment and employment for permanent service in the first division shall be for the provisionary period of six months——

Coun. KENNY—Mr. President, I will ask if the memher is not attempting under cover to make an attack on the integrity of the Fire Commissioner, and if that is not his intention in rising.

Coun. CURLEY—Mr. President, I have not yielded to anyhody.

"Every original appointment and employment for permanent service in the first division shall he for the probationary period of six months; at the end of which time the probationer shall he regarded as holding office or employment under the Civil Service Law and Rules, unless the appointing officer at or hefore the expiration of said period discharges the person appointed and notifies the commission to that effect."

In other words, Rule 28 of the Civil Service Rules provides that it is within the right of the Fire Commissioner to discharge a man during the probationary period. The discharge, which was in writing and which was mailed to this man by the Fire Commissioner, was mailed on March 1, 1911, the man entering the department November 26, 1909. That is, one year and nearly four months after he entered the department he was notified that he was discharged. As I have stated before, I have no desire to take up the time of this Council at great length. This is simply another instance of the incapacity of the Fire Commissioner. The ruling of the Fire Commissioner that men who are permanently physically disabled in consequence of injuries received at a fire should not receive a two-thirds pension—which was allowed under the hest Fire Commissioner Boston ever had, Fire Commissioner Russell—is doing more to undermine the efficiency of the department than can be done by any other method. We have heard no great outcry about the need of additional fire protection under previous Fire Commissioners. In fact, the Finance Commission agreed with the verdict given hy Fire Commissioner Parker with relation to the condition of the Fire Department no later than three years ago, and while Fire Commissioner Parker was in no sense the efficient man that Fire Commissioner Russell was as Fire Commissioner of Boston, still he protected the lives and property of the people of Boston. But in this case you have a man at the head of the department who has not the intelligence to act with proper discretion in the discharge of these important matters in the department, a little hreeches martinet, whose executive experience consisted in acting as clerk at $18 a week for some hrokerage house. The Fire Commissionership is a position that requires a big, ahle, competent man, and I helieve the sooner the public of Boston realize the condition of that department—and it is not hearsay, it is a matter of common knowledge and general gossip among the officers and men of the department that what we need in Boston more than additional firemen is a competent Fire Commissioner—the hetter.

Coun. KENNY—Mr. President, it is nothing new for us to sit here and hear the reputations and characters of men traduced by the member. I have heen a memher of this Council more than a year and I can recall several occasions when my friend from Ward 17 has risen here and taken advantage of his position as a member of the Council for the purpose of slandering men and their reputations. I helieve that Fire Commissioner Daly has earned the indorsement and respect of every man, woman and child in Boston. I think he has proven himself to he a competent and valuahle official. I think he has reflected credit on the city and has done his work faithfully, conscientiously and well. I think he has not suhmitted to the importunities of some people, and I think his force of character and the fact that he has stood up and discharged his duty conscientiously is one reason why he has heen assailed here. I, for one, wish to object to that sort of thing.

Coun. CURLEY—Mr. President, I wish to correct the gentleman. I have never been to Mr. Daly's office in my life to ask for any favor.

Coun. KENNY—Mr. President, I did not accuse the member from Ward 17 with having been to Mr. Daly's office.

Coun. CURLEY—Mr. President, I want to say that he did accuse the gentleman from Ward 17 of being refused favors by Mr. Daly, and I will not allow you to lie out of it. You have done it before.

Coun. KENNY—Mr. President, I again accuse the gentleman from Ward 17 of having taken advantage of his position as a member of this Board to slander the reputation of honest men. I can accuse him of that, and I do it; and he is doing that this afternoon. He may not have been to Mr. Daly. I did not say he had been. But I repeat that Mr. Daly has not been subservient to interests that have wanted to control the department and destroy its discipline. He has been a conscientious official, who has had the manhood to stand up and tell the people of Boston the truth in regard to the department and who has had the courage to manage it ably and well. He has done his duty to the people and to the city, and he is now assailed by the gentleman from Ward 17. Mr. President, I move the indefinite postponement of that resolution.

The resolution was indefinitely postponed, yeas 5, nays 3.

NORFOLK STREET WIDENING.

President COLLINS offered an order—That his Honor the Mayor be requested to consider the advisability of at once recommending to the City Council an order for the transfer of $150,000 from the Reserve Fund to an appropriation for the widening of Norfolk street, Dorchester.

Coun. COLLINS—Mr. President, when I first came to the city government, a year ago last January, my associate, Mr. Brand, representing the same part of Boston that I do, was very strong on this proposition. A year before that, and years before that as I have already stated, attempts were made to secure this appropriation. When I came to the city government I investigated the matter. Mr. Emerson was then Superintendent of Streets. He told me it was absolutely necessary. So did Deputy Superintendent Sullivan, who was his assistant and had charge of the highways at the time. He considered it a very necessary improvement. I understand that all bodies that have investigated the proposition, including the Finance Commission, say that the street ought to be widened. As I have already stated, it failed by one vote two years ago. This order contemplates an expenditure of $150,000 for the widening of Norfolk street, and I hope his Honor the Mayor will see his way clear to sending to us an appropriation order covering it, since we now have $800,000 in the Reserve Fund. I ask, Mr. President, that the order be passed.

Coun. SMITH—Mr. President, I am heartily in sympathy with this. We have already passed an order this afternoon asking the Mayor to send to us an appropriation of $100,000, from the Reserve Fund. It strikes me that it would be a duplication to pass two resolutions in one afternoon, showing that we are a little bit intense on the subject, although I don't think that can be doubted after the expression of opinion by almost every member of the Board. If the Board desires to pass a second resolution the same afternoon on the same subject, personally I shall be very glad to vote for it. But the afternoon is getting late and I don't think we care to duplicate work.

Coun. COLLINS—Mr. President, I don't think this is a duplicating of work. This is for $150,000 for the widening from Codman street to Dorr's Bridge. There is no duplication.

The order was passed.

FANEUIL STREET WIDENING.

President COLLINS offered an order—That his Honor the Mayor be requested to recommend to the City Council a transfer from the Reserve Fund of a sum of $50,000, said amount to be used for the widening of Faneuil street, Ward 25.

Coun. COLLINS—Mr. President, the widening of Faneuil street is a thing that has been agitated for years by residents of Brighton. I heard Street Commissioner Gallivan say that when he was first elected Street Commissioner, years ago, they were demanding it, and they have been demanding it ever since. Therefore, considering it a meritorious improvement, I offer the order.

The order was passed.

LAYING OUT OF HOLIDAY STREET.

Coun. ATTRIDGE offered an order—That the Board of Street Commissioners be requested to lay out and maintain as a public way Holiday street, from Geneva avenue to Bowdoin street, Dorchester.

Passed.

BAND CONCERT, WARD 9.

Coun. ATTRIDGE offered an order—That the Music Commission be requested to furnish a band concert at Harrison avenue and Gloucester place on the evening of October 11.

Passed.

ACCEPTANCE OF RETIREMENT ACT.

Coun. CURLEY offered an order—That chapter 413 of the Massachusetts Legislature for 1911, entitled "An Act Relative to a Retirement Fund for Laborers employed by the City of Boston," be, and hereby is, accepted by the City Council of Boston.

Coun. CURLEY—Mr. President, I don't feel that there is any debate necessary on this question. Therefore I simply ask that when the vote is taken it be by roll call.

Coun. ATTRIDGE—Mr. President, I desire to know what is the text of the act that the order has reference to?

Coun. CURLEY—Mr. President, it provides for the retirement of veterans or persons employed by the city twenty-five years who have arrived at the age of sixty or seventy years.

Coun. ATTRIDGE—Mr. President, if this is the act in reference to the pensioning of laborers of the City of Boston I desire to say that I favor and have favored the acceptance of that act by the City Council. In fact, I introduced an order to that effect. Shortly after I introduced that order and it was referred to the executive committee I also, in justice to the members of this Council, introduced two other orders, one asking the Finance Commission, which is a part of our city government, to report to us as to the operation of the act. I also introduced an order, which was passed by this Council, that his Honor the Mayor inform the Council through his heads of departments as to the operation of the act, as to the number of men who might be affected by the act. I also introduced another order, from which I have heard nothing, calling upon the Corporation Counsel to submit an opinion in regard to the designation "laborer." Nothing has been heard by this Council from the Corporation Counsel, from the Mayor or his heads of departments, or from the Finance Commission. I was very much interested in this act and I am to-day. I appeared before the Legislative Committee at the suggestion of my friend on this side of the Chamber, the gentleman from Ward 17, and advocated the passage of an act for the pensioning of aged and infirm city laborers. I have somewhat chafed at the delay of the Corporation Counsel, the Finance Commission, the Mayor and his heads of departments, because of the fact that we have heard no word from them. This morning I called at the office of the Finance Commission, and asked Mr. Sullivan when the report would be ready for the City Council, and he gave me to understand that a report would be ready within at least two weeks. He said that the commission was busy and had been exceedingly busy upon other important work. This afternoon I introduced an order calling upon his Honor the Mayor to submit to this Council for its information what information he had received from his heads of departments in regard to the operation of this act, for I believe he sent a circular letter to the heads of the various departments asking them for information in regard to its operation. I stand to-day, as I did some months ago, in favor of the acceptance of this act for the pensioning of aged and infirm day laborers of the City of Boston, but I think that it would be better policy for this Council to at least wait until it has received some word from the heads of departments. the Corporation Counsel and the Finance Commission. I cannot believe that any great harm will he done to the case of the day laborers hy reason of a wait of two or even three weeks. I think that we have plenty of time this year in which to accept this act. As I say, I stand ready to vote in favor of the acceptance of the act, hut I helieve, in view of all the facts, that this Council should wait. To-day, as I stated previously, I inquired of the chairman of the Finance Commission, and by an order of this Council inquired of his Honor the Mayor for information in reference to this particular act. I trust that the gentleman on this side of the Chamher will not attempt to force the acceptance of this act through to-day, in justice to all the memhers of the Council—I don't say in justice particularly to myself, for my views are well known and are recorded in the minutes of the City Council. I appeared also hefore the Legislative Committee and advocated this very act, and it was at the suggestion of the gentleman on this side of the Chamher that I appeared hefore the Legislative Committee, hecause I thought it was a worthy piece of legislation. I thought it was a worthy act, and I helieved it was hut justice to the laborers that the city should provide for them in their old age. But I think it is a little indiscreet on the part of the gentleman on this side of the Chamber to try to force this act through to-day, and I trust that he will not do so.

Coun. KENNY—Mr. President, this is rather a singular act on the part of my friend from Ward 17. This afternoon—I am going to tell the story as it has not heen brought out yet—this matter was all thrashed out in the Executive Committee. We all, or most of us, I think, stated that we expected when the time came to assent to this legislation. I am not pinning any medals, leather or otherwise, on myself, hut I think I was the one who advocated this legislation in the first instance. But, he that as it may, I do not propose to be shooed into voting for this this afternoon hecause the gentleman gets up here at the eleventh hour and tries to force us to go on record. I propose when the time comes—unless I change my mind, and I always shall reserve the right to change my mind—to vote to accept the act, unless something unforeseen comes up. But I do not propose to he chased into doing it hy the gentleman from Ward 17. This afternoon we voted—and there were eight of us in there—to let this matter stand over for two weeks, ohtaining in the meantime from the Mayor such evidence and such literature as he had to offer and from the Finance Commission, a hranch of the municipal government, such information as they desire to offer, taking all the papers and coming in here in two weeks and voting on the proposition. We passed that vote in executive session; and now, knowing that this is one of those questions that some people regard as political and feeling that we would not dare at this time to offend anyhody, especially the laboring men, hy voting to reject this proposition or even to postpone it, our friend here brings in an order overruling the action of the Board this afternoon, so that we may be put on record to-night before we go home. I move, Mr. President, that this resolution he assigned to two weeks from to-day.

Coun. CURLEY—Mr. President, I haven't any desire to take up the time of the Board with consideration of the question of assignment. It is perfectly natural and proper for the gentleman to impugn my motives on this proposition. That is what I usually expect and receive from him—what one would naturally expect from a broad gauge man. I want to say in relation to this proposition that it was considered by this City Council in May, about four months ago, referred to the Finance Commission ahout that time, and that it has heen under consideration hy them up to the present time. What their attitude may he on the proposition is immaterial to me; what the attitude of the Mayor may he on the proposition is immaterial to me. At the present time I am in possession of certain information myself. I know that pensions are paid men who have heen in the Police Department a certain numher of years; that pensions are paid men who have been in the fire service a certain numher of years; that this is the first honest and logical attempt that has been made in the history of this city to provide a pension for city lahorers; that the act was put through the Legislature without the assistance of any attorney and without the expenditure of a single dollar of anyhody's money; that the act has heen put through this City Council up to the present stage without the expenditure of a single dollar; that so far as I know it is the first time in the history of pension legislation of a similar character, affecting a large force in the city or state service, that a corruption fund has not heen necessary in connection with it, and that the present status of this pension legislation is due to Representative Brennan of Ward 17 and myself. I want to give due credit to Coun. Attridge and to Coun. Buckley, who appeared in favor of this proposition. I simply desire the same rights and privileges, except in less degree, accorded to lahorers in the city service that is now accorded to men in the fire and police service. What additional information do you need to vote on this proposition? It provides that men who have heen in the city service twenty-five years and who have arrived at the age of sixty may, if they see fit to ask for it, be retired on half pay for the remainder of their lives; that men who have arrived at the age of scventy and who have worked as lahorers may after twenty-five years of service compulsorily be retired on half pay for the remainder of their lives. It was thought that the Board having charge of the retirement might consist of the Mayor, the Auditor and the City Treasurer, serving without pay. It is a plain, simple proposition for an honest, reasonahle and fair retirement of city lahorers. Now, what information do you desire?

President COLLINS in the chair.

Coun. KENNY—Mr. President, does the gentleman ask me a question? I understand that the Mayor desires to suhmit additional facts; I understand that the Finance Commission desires to suhmit additional facts. I say that this hody is entitled, hefore passing on this question, to all the evidence of every kind and nature that every department wishes to suhmit; that in the meantime the matter itself is not in jeopardy. I believe we should wait until we hear from the Mayor and the Finance Commission and that our action in doing so is not due to any adverse position to the Finance Commission, hut rather to a recognition of fair dealings between men when they desire to transact puhlic business.

Coun. CURLEY—Mr. President, I have no desire to criticise what may he termed fair or unfair rulings or dealings. I don't think it is necessary. I simply desire to state that, even if the Finance Commission does make a return of information on this subject, or if the Mayor does so, it does not affect the status of the proposition. It is a legislative enactment. Any change that is to he made or can be made can only he made hy enactment of the Legislature at its next scssion. We have no right to change a legislative enactment and the Council ought to he familiar with that fact. The plain, simple, unvarnished proposition is, Do we wish to extend to the city lahorers the same privilege that is now enjoyed hy the men in the fire and police departments of the city? If we do, I say let us accept the act.

Coun. BALLANTYNE—Mr. President, I wish to say just a word in favor of the motion to assign for two weeks. I don't yield to any memher of the Council in my loyalty to the lahoring men of Boston, and I think I have been as active as most in the hringing about of this pension act. I am as heartily in favor of it to-day as anyone here. But I helieve when this City Council asks the Finance Commission to report on any matter hefore it it should receive some sort of reply. If the Finance Commission has been late in furnishing that reply and a sccond request has had to he made of them, I think we should allow a couple of weeks more to them to furnish that reply. The Mayor has also heen asked to furnish what information he has at hand in regard to the matter. I understand hy the new charter the Mayor is supposed to make replies to any request in regard to any department of the City of Boston, and I hope we will give the Mayor two weeks more to make that reply. If it were a mätter affecting the lahoring man to-morrow this would receive my vote at oncc, hut as I understand it this act does not go into effect until March, so a delay of two weeks will do no harm to any laborers in the employ of the city. So far as I know now, no matter what the report of the Finance Commission may he or that from his Honor the Mayor I shall vote for the adoption of this act, but I do want these two weeks' delay. That is my only reason for voting against the adoption of the act to-night.

Coun. BUCKLEY—Mr. President, it seems funny that the members of the Council should ask for two weeks' delay on this proposition when a while ago they were unwilling to grant a week or two weeks on Arlington street. It seems to me this matter could be decided here this afternoon. We have been waiting since May to have the act accepted. Mr. Attridge and myself appeared before the legislative committee on this proposition and of course both he and I are in favor of it, and it seems that he ought to be ready and willing to vote here this afternoon. As Coun. Curley says, it is a matter that we only have to accept. After that our duty is done. Last year when the other pension act for the laborers was up, the members of the Council said that that was only a fair pension bill, that they be retired on half pay. All we ask to-day is that the members keep their word of a year ago and vote for this matter. I hope it will not be specially assigned for two weeks, but that the act will be accepted here to-day.

The motion to assign for two weeks was carried by a rising vote, four to two. Coun. CURLEY doubted the vote and asked for the yeas and nays. The matter was assigned for two weeks, yeas 5, nays 2.

Yeas—Coun. Attridge, Ballantyne, Collins, Kenny, Smith—5.

PURCHASE OF STANDPIPE PROPERTY.

The following was received:

City of Boston,
Office of the Mayor, September 15, 1911.

To the City Council:

I beg to transmit for the consideration of your honorable body the accompanying letter from Mr. George F. Wentworth, who recommends that the city purchase the Helping Hand Home property at the corner of Beech Glen street and Fort avenue, adjoining Highland Park. Mr. Wentworth believes that the addition to the park is a desirable one and that the property can be obtained on specially favorable terms at the present time.

Yours very truly,
JOHN F. FITZGERALD, Mayor.

George F. Wentworth,
Real Estate, Insurance, Auctioneer,
18 Tremont Street,
August 21, 1911.

Hon. John F. Fitzgerald,
Mayor of Boston:

Dear Sir,—Now that you are at home I trust that you can see your way clear to look into the matter of purchasing the Helping Hand Home property on corner of Beech Glen street and Fort avenue, adjoining Highland Park, otherwise known as the "Standpipe." The owners are a little anxious to get rid of same and a good trade can be made before anyone else could get it. I have been expecting to hear from you or whoever has charge in the matter. Others have been looking it over but now is the chance for the city if ever.

Yours truly,
GEORGE F. WENTWORTH.

Referred to the Committee on Public Lands.

PLAYGROUND, ROXBURY CROSSING.

The following was received:

City of Boston,
Office of the Mayor, September 18, 1911.

To the City Council:

In my message of April 3, addressed to your honorable body, I expressed the opinion that a second playground should be provided in the district about Roxbury Crossing in addition to the one for which an appropriation had already been made, and stated that I should be in favor of the expenditure of any reasonable sum which would be required for this purpose. On June 26 I recommended an additional appropriation of forty thousand dollars ($40,000). The order was referred to the Committee on Finance, which still has it under consideration. In the meantime a third communication was addressed to your honorable body, accompanied by an order providing for a change of title in the original order appropriating sixty thousand dollars ($60,000) for a playground in Parker Hill, so that in case the second appropriation order were passed the two amounts might be merged for a playground or playgrounds in Ward 19. This change of title met with the approval of the City Council and the order effecting it was passed at your meeting of September 11. Recently, under date of September 15, I received a letter from the chairman pro tem of the Board of Park Commissioners, stating that the sixty thousand dollars ($60,000) is "too small a sum to buy a real playground such as the people demand in that closely settled district," and expressing once more the opinion that a larger appropriation would be needed.

As the passage of the order changing the title of the original appropriation would seem to imply the acceptance of this view by the City Council I would once more urge upon your honorable body the need of immediate action so that steps may be taken to begin the work and end the long and vexatious delay connected with this improvement.

Respectfully,
JOHN F. FITZGERALD, Mayor.

MEMORIAL TO GEORGE T. ANGELL.

The following was received:

City of Boston,
Office of the Mayor, September 18, 1911.

To the City Council:

In transmitting the accompanying letter from the president of the Massachusetts Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Animals I desire to express my complete acquiescence with his view that an appropriation of two thousand dollars ($2,000) for the erection of a fountain to the late George T. Angell would be an appropriate recognition of his services by the community in which he lived.

Mr. Angell's place in the city was a unique one. Born in moderate circumstances he worked his way through Dartmouth College and took up the profession of law in Boston. After practising twenty-three years he had acquired a small fortune and devoted himself for the remainder of his life to the cause with which his name is associated. His publication "Our Dumb Animals" has been the means of not only alleviating the lot of the domesticated animals and disseminating a love for the living creatures who are our fellow denizens upon earth, but also of promoting, especially among children, a more gentle habit of mind and the refinement that goes with the cultivation of this virtue. Strangers have often noticed the tameness of the squirrels and pigeons on the Common, and have accepted it as an indication of the humane spirit of the people of Boston. No small share of the improvement in this respect is due to the labors of Mr. Angell, and the fountain which it is proposed to erect in Post Office square, partly from the contributions of the public school children and partly from an appropriation of the public money, would be a well-deserved tribute to his memory.

As Doctor Rowley notes in his letter, the poles of the Edison Electric Light Company and the Boston Elevated Railway Company can be combined in one pillar rising from the middle of the fountain, and the result will be a decorative focus or center in the square where now the view is greeted by a collection of unrelated though useful objects. Such a public improvement is well worth the slight expense involved, and I recommend the passage of the order which I have drafted, transferring the sum of two thousand dollars ($2,000) from the Reserve Fund to a special appropriation for a memorial fountain in Post Office square, to be expended under the direction of the Commissioner of Public Works with the approval of the Art Commission.

Respectfully,
JOHN F. FITZGERALD, Mayor.

The Massachusetts Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Animals,
Boston, August 17, 1911.

Hon. John F. Fitzgerald,
Mayor of Boston:

My dear Mr. Mayor,— Let me state as briefly as I can, in accordance with your very kind suggestion made aboard the steamer, what the fountain situation is:

Some years ago the children of the public schools raised $647.77 for an Angell memorial fountain. There has been given for a similar purpose $864.12 which could be added to it, making a total of $1,511.89.

Our hope has been that this Angell memorial fountain might be erected in the busy Post Office square where hundreds of horses are watered every day and where now there is an old and inadequate one. We find after long interviews with the Edison Electric Light Company and the Boston Elevated Railway and an architect, that a beautiful fountain satisfactory to these two corporations, whose wire attachments must be taken into consideration, will cost from $3,000 to $3,500 complete. Do you think it possible that the City of Boston, for whom Mr. Angell really did so much, could be induced to appropriate say $2,000 toward the erection of this fountain. It seems to me that our citizens would very gladly see such an appropriation made, if there are any funds that could be used for this purpose.

With reference to other locations. After a conversation with our agents, they tell me that on Columbus avenue, near the old Providence depot, there is an antique stone trough which should be replaced by a modern sanitary fountain; also that the old stone trough at the corner of Beacon and Charles streets should be changed for a proper, modern fountain; that there should be one on Charles street near the Jail; and that the one watering station in Boston where we at present are watering the most horses is on Congress street near Farnsworth street. They say that a fountain is greatly needed there.

I cannot tell you how deeply I appreciate your interest in our work and how grateful I am for what you have already done for us.

Most devoutly hoping that you will be able to do what I know is in your heart in the way of securing the money of which we were speaking, believe me, with very kind regards,

Sincerely yours,
FRANCIS H. ROWLEY,
President.

Ordered, That under the provisions of chapter 261 of the Acts of 1893 the City Auditor be and hereby is authorized to transfer the sum of two thousand dollars ($2,000) from the appropriation for Reserve Fund to an appropriation to be expended under the direction of the Commissioner of Public Works with the approval of the Art Commission for a memorial fountain in Post Office square.

Referred to the Executive Committee.

WIDENING OF PROVIDENCE STREET.

The following was received:

City of Boston,
Office of the Mayor, September 15, 1911.

To the City Council:

At its meeting of July 1 your honorable body passed an order authorizing me to release the conditions, easements and restrictions now in force upon certain lots on Boylston and Providence streets which were specified in the order. This transaction was a part of the movement for the development of the Park square property, and the plans of this development, as you have been made aware, involve the widening of Providence street to a width of one hundred feet and the elevation of the grade from a point near Park square in the direction of Berkeley street. The accompanying letter from the secretary of the Board of Street Commissioners expresses the opinion that this elevation is desirable and estimates the cost of the change of grade under the present width of Providence street as about twenty-five thousand dollars ($25,000).

I recommend that the accompanying loan order, appropriating twenty-five thousand dollars ($25,000) for this purpose, be passed and trust that the City Council will not delay action upon a matter which has already been the subject of several postponements.

Respectfully,
JOHN F. FITZGERALD, Mayor.

City of Boston,
Street Laying-Out Department,
September 15, 1911.

Hon. John F. Fitzgerald,
Mayor of Boston:

Dear Sir,—The Board of Street Commissioners understands that practically all of the abutting property owners on Providence street have signed releases exempting the city from liability for damages that may be caused by the proposed change of grade of the street. As you know, the plans for the development of the Park square land, which was formerly occupied by the Boston & Providence Railroad, call for the widening of Providence street by the addition to it of 60 feet from the railroad land, making it a 100-foot street from Columbus avenue to the proposed Arlington street extension.

It is the intention of the present owners of the Park square land to release to the city this addition of 60 feet, providing that the city will revise the grade of Providence street and construct the same to meet the grade which they have established and which has been approved by the proper municipal authorities as the correct grade for the street.

The proposition is a fair and equitable one, but before the city can do anything to help in the development of the Park square land a special appropriation for the work of construction will be necessary.

The changing of the grade of Providence street will necessitate also a change in the grade of Church street, between Providence street and Boylston street.

To construct both Providence street and Church street at the grade proposed will involve an expenditure of about $25,000, and the Board begs to suggest that a loan for this amount be authorized.

Very truly yours,
J. J. O'CALLAGHAN,
Secretary.

Ordered, That under the provisions of chapter 393 of the Acts of 1906 the sum of twenty-five thousand dollars ($25,000) additional be and hereby is appropriated for Highways, Making of, and that to meet said appropriation the City Treasurer be authorized to issue, from time to time, on the request of the Mayor, bonds or certificate of indebtedness of the city to said amount.

Referred to the Committee on Finance.

BATH HOUSE, FORT POINT CHANNEL.

The following was received:

City of Boston,
Office of the Mayor, September 15, 1911.

To the City Council:

The accompanying communication from Mr. J. E. Coyle, secretary of the United Improvement Council of Dorchester, offers a suggestion which seems to me to possess considerable merit. A bath house in the vicinity of the South Station would undoubtedly be used by the large working population of that district and would be as well patronized, at least during the day, as the floating bath houses in other sections. A statement from the secretary of the Bath Trustees, which is appended hereto, estimates the cost of a floating bath house as approximately six thousand dollars ($6,000), and I recommend the passage of the accompanying order which transfers this amount from the Reserve Fund to a special appropriation for a bath house in Fort Point channel.

Respectfully,
JOHN F. FITZGERALD, Mayor.

United Improvement Council of Dorchester,
Dorchester, August 16, 1911.

Hon. John F. Fitzgerald,
Mayor of Boston:

Dear Sir,—Will you please give a little of your valuable time to the inspection of the water front in the rear of the South Station, with the idea of placing a bath house there?

We have had a very hot summer up to the present time and all bathing facilities have been taxed to their full capacity. The North End of the city has one at Charlestown and another at Chelsea Bridge, while the South End has none.

Many men would greatly appreciate a chance for a bath during their noon hours. Many coming in on the railroads, especially employees, would be glad of a chance to bathe. Many clerks and workers in nearby buildings would more than appreciate it.

They would be for men only except at certain hours when boys might use them, but only boys who are employed or had to work for a living.

Yours truly,
J. E. COYLE, Secretary.

City of Boston,
Bath Department,
September 1, 1911.

Hon. John F. Fitzgerald,
Mayor of Boston:

My dear Sir,—In reply to a communication transmitted to this office from J. E. Coyle, secretary of the United Improvement Council of Dorchester, as to the advisability of locating a floating bath house in the neighborhood of the South Station, I beg to report that I have investigated the matter, and find that there are several locations in which a bath house could be placed if money were appropriated to construct the same. All the floating bath houses of the Bath Department are now located at fixed sites, and we have no extra one to meet this demand.

The house could be located at the Summer Street Extension Bridge, on either side of the bridge, or at the Congress Street Bridge, close to Jordan Marsh storehouse.

The cost of building a floating bath house is approximately $6,000, and if you desire to ask a special appropriation for this matter we should be pleased to start in upon the construction of it as soon as possible in the fall in order that it could be ready for next spring.

Very truly yours,
HUGH C. MCGRATH,
Secretary Bath Trustees.

Ordered, That under the provisions of chapter 261 of the Acts of 1893 the City Auditor be and hereby is authorized to transfer the sum of six thousand dollars ($6,000) from the appropriation for Reserve Fund to an appropriation, to be expended under the direction of the Bath Trustees, for a Floating Bath House, Fort Point Channel.

PROTEST AGAINST SALE OF LAND, BRIGHTON.

The following was received:

Boston, September 18, 1911.

To the City Clerk of the City of Boston:

My dear Sir—As the owner of a piece of property on Chestnut Hill avenue, Brighton, directly across the street from that parcel of land now owned by the city, and which I understand is to be sold, I hereby desire to enter my protest against the sale of said property, and I should be pleased to be notified of any matters which may come before the Mayor or City Council in regard to the sale thereof.

Yours very truly,
HERBERT A. WILSON,
Trustee under the will of George A. Wilson.
6 Beacon Street, Room 1019.

Coun. SMITH—Mr. President, I think this would be an opportune time to call up No. 3, if that meets with the President's approval. I would like to ask to have it recommitted to the Committee on Public Lands.

President COLLINS—With unanimous consent No. 3 will be taken from the table.

No. 3 was as follows:

3. Ordered, That the Board of Park Commissioners be and hereby is authorized to sell, on such terms as said Board, with the approval of the Mayor, may deem proper, a parcel of land in the Brighton district, so called, bounded southerly by Commonwealth avenue and northeasterly by Chestnut Hill avenue, and containing as shown on the atlas about 66,672 square feet, said land to be sold at public auction for not less than 75 cents per square foot per lot.

On July 17 the foregoing order was read once and passed, yeas 7, nays 0.

No. 3 was recommitted to Committee on Public Lands.

The communication from Herbert A. Wilson was also referred to the Committee on Public Lands.

Coun. SMITH—Mr. President, I want to introduce in this connection protests signed by thirty-one, or approximately thirty-one, residents of that neighborhood in connection with that matter.

(Coun. SMITH here introduced a protest of the residents referred to against sale of the lot on Commonwealth avenue, corner of Chestnut Hill avenue, Ward 25.)

The protest was referred to the Committee on Public Lands.

Coun. SMITH moved a reconsideration of reference of the above papers to the Committee on Public Lands, trusting that it would not prevail. Lost.

EXECUTIVE COMMITTEE REPORTS.

Coun. ATTRIDGE, for the Executive Committee, submitted the following:

(1) Report on message of Mayor and estimate (referred September 11), concerning extension of Arlington street to Charles River Embankment—that message, estimate and opinion of Corporation Counsel (which was obtained by City Council) be printed in the minutes of the City Council and placed on file.

The opinion of the Corporation Counsel is as follows:

City of Boston,
Law Department, September 18, 1911.

To the Honorable the City Council,
City Hall, Boston:

Gentlemen,—The Clerk of Committees under date of the 14th of September requests for your honorable body my opinion as to the right of the city to sell its fee in Otter and Beacon streets. I presume that "Beacon" is a typographical error for Beaver street and that the inquiry is as to whether the city has such a title in Otter and Beaver streets that it could sell its rights in said streets for any considerable sum of money.

In reply I would state that Otter and Beaver streets were laid out by the Roxbury Mill Corporation as private streets in 1847, and the lots between Beaver and Otter streets were granted the free use forever of Otter, Beaver and River streets.

In 1857 Otter and Beaver streets were laid out as public streets of the City of Boston on condition that the Roxbury Mill Corporation release to the city its rights in said streets and in pursuance to that agreement the Roxbury Mill Corporation deeded to the city the fee of said streets. This conveyance gave to the city the fee in Otter street but not in Beaver street, as in 1847 the Mill Corporation had deeded the deed of said street to the abutters by deeds which bounding on said street conveyed by operation of law the fee.

To recapitulate, the city owns the fee in Otter street subject to private rights of way in the estates between Beaver and Otter streets and does not own the fee in Beaver street.

Before anything could be done in the way of selling the city's rights in these two streets they both would have to be discontinued by the Street Commissioners and damages paid to the abutters for such discontinuance. After the discontinuance Beaver street would become a private way in which the city would have no interest. The city would own the fee of Otter street subject to certain private rights of way.

In my opinion, owing to the existence of these private rights of way, the city's fee in Otter street could not be sold for anything more than a nominal sum, as the party buying would have to acquire the private rights of way from the owners of the whole block. The net result would be that the city would be out whatever sum it had paid in damages to the abutters for the discontinuance of Otter and Beaver streets.

Yours truly,
THOMAS M. BABSON,
Corporation Counsel.

Report accepted, communications, etc., ordered printed and placed on file.

ACCEPTANCE OF CHAPTER 741, ACTS OF 1911.

President COLLINS called up No. 1, special assignment, viz.:

1. Whereas, The West End Street Railway Company at a meeting of the stockholders specially called for the purpose, to vote upon the question whether or not it shall sell its property, privileges and franchises to the Boston Elevated Railway Company, as provided in chapter 740 of the Acts of the year 1911, voted in favor of such sale, and the Boston Elevated Railway Company at a meeting of stockholders specially called for the purpose, to vote upon the question whether said company shall so purchase the property, privileges and franchises of the said West End Street Railway as provided in said chapter, voted in favor of such purchase; it is

Voted, That the City Council of the City of Boston hereby accept the provisions of chapter 741 of the Acts of the year 1911, entitled "An Act Relative to Electric Railway Transportation Facilities in the City of Boston and its Vicinity," and that a certificate of this acceptance, approved by the Mayor, be filed in the office of the Secretary of the Commonwealth.

The act was accepted, yeas 8, nays 0.

PAYMENT TO MRS. CHESWELL.

President COLLINS called up No. 2, special assignment, viz.:

2. Ordered, That chapter 288 of the Acts of 1911, entitled "An Act to Authorize the City of Boston to Pay a Sum of Money to the Widow of William T. Cheswell," be and the same hereby is accepted, and that under the provisions of the aforesaid act the sum of three thousand dollars be allowed and paid to Millie B. Cheswell, widow of William T. Cheswell, late a chief of the Fire Department, who died from injuries received while in the performance of his duties, said sum to be charged to the appropriation for Reserve Fund.

The order was passed, yeas 8, nays 0.

APPROVAL OF RAILWAY LOCATION.

The Council voted, on motion of Coun. McDONALD, to take No. 6 from the table, viz.:

6. Ordered, That the proposed location by the Boston Elevated Railway Company for an elevated structure, platforms, station and approaches thereto at Washington and Dover streets, Boston, as shown on plan numbered 28206, filed with the City Clerk, be and the same is hereby approved, so far as it is upon public ways or places.

The question came on the passage of the order.

Coun. SMITH—Mr. President, I would like to have some of the members of the Council who are in favor of ratifying these plans tell us how they reconcile themselves to leaving only 3 feet for the public on one of the most congested corners of the City of Boston?

Coun. CURLEY—Mr. President, that subject matter was gone over at two previous meetings of the Council here, I supposed, to the entire satisfaction of Coun. Smith. The question is, whether the people of South Boston and the South End who used the approaches to and from the elevated structure at Dover street are to be compelled to undergo the possibility of loss of life and limb because of the present condition that exists there during rush hours. The only other proposition that has heen advanced is one that is in the nature of a black-jacking proposition, if that term might he applied, compelling the road to purchase the four huildings on the four corners of Dover and Washington streets. On a proposition of this character, as I view it, the only two matters to be considered are, one, the inconvenience to a portion of the public, and the other, the henefit that will result to a portion of the puhlic. I feel in this case that the henefits resulting to the traveling puhlic will far outweigh the inconvenience that will result to people using Dover street at the present time. Washington street at this time is perhaps used fifty times as much as Dover street, and yet there are approaches on Washington street at the present time and there are no approaches on Dover street. I feel that if we are to encourage rapid transit and at the same time protect the lives and limbs of persons using the elevated structure, there is no way out of it except to adopt this plan or compel the road to purchase the property referred to at an exorbitant figure.

Coun. McDONALD—Mr. President, I don't know why it is nccessary, as the councilor from Ward 11 says, that those who favor this proposition should tell him or anyhody else why we reconcile ourselves to the fact that there will he, as he says, only 3 square feet of space on the sidewalk after the structure is huilt. This matter has been before us for five months and the same argument has been hrought up whenever anyhody has called it up with the idea of giving the Boston Elevated a chance to go ahead and huild a temporary and afterwards a permanent structure on Dover street. The people are asking for this; they want it; they want hetter accommodations. The Elevated road is satisfied to spend $350,000 to build a new station there. They can leave the structure as it is, allowing people to get in and out the hest way they can, but they would like to go ahead and furnish the accommodations that would he covered by this new plan. The same argument that has been offered to-day against this was advanced when the hearing was held and it has heen advanced at every meeting since that time when a memher asks that this be taken up and passed. I should like to know what good reason there is why we should not give the Elevated permission to huild a structure there that will accommodate the people at Dover street. The people want a hetter station and the Elevated will have to spend at least $350,000 to give them a hetter station. The only other argument advanced so far is that there is only 3 feet space left hy the exit and entrance that they intend to put on Dover street. That same condition prevails now on Washington street. People are not kicking ahout the 3 feet of space there, but they do want hetter accommodations, better exits and hetter means of getting to the structure. The Elevated is now willing to give them a hetter station and the only argument advanced is that there will he only 3 feet of space left at Dover street. I think it is pretty near time that we acted on this matter. It has heen lying in the Executive Committee four months and has been on the calendar six weeks. It is time that we passed or rejected it so that the Elevated may know whether they can or cannot build the structure there that the peoplc are asking for.

Coun. SMITH—Mr. President, I am very glad to see the councilor coming to the support of the Elevated, because I feel that the Elevated is often a very much ahused corporation. I sympathize heartily with the effort to give the people of the South End hetter transit facilities, and I know that this is along that line. The proposed change in the station at Dover street contemplates putting the tracks in the middle of the streets and putting the elevated structure for the station at each side, widening the present structure so that it will come close to the walls of the adjoining property. In other words, the structure will shut out more light and air than it does now. That is something to he horne in mind. At Dudley street that may be all very well, but it might be a very serious thing to cut off more light and air at Dover and Washington streets. It is very true that additional facilities may be necessary on account of the traffic there, but it seems to me we might very well consider the effect on abutting owners of shutting off more light and air, having an additional structure of this kind with four more entrances and exits than now exist. In other words, at Dover and Washington streets there are four corners, and there are at present exits and entrances on each of those corners, making eight in all. A large part of the sidewalk on Washington street is now taken up with these exits and entrances, leaving a very narrow space on that very narrow thoroughfare, and it is now proposed to add these other structures and take up all this space on Dover street near that corner. We all know that there are so many surface cars already passing there that it is dangerous to force people out onto the street. If we force people out on the sidewalk into the street to a greater extent than at present it may be a very serious matter. We have to consider not only the lines up Washington street and across through Dover street hut also the lines turning from Dover street into Washington street and vice versa. The puhlic ought not to he forced unnecessarily to go into the middle of the street. I take it that we are not here so much to conserve the rights of the Elevated as we are to conserve the rights of the puhlic. We are an elective hody, representing the public, and I stand here to-day and sav that I don't think the public is properly represented hy us when we grant the right to a public corporation to ohstruct puhlic sidewalks to such an extent that only 3 feet of space is left for puhlic travel. I ask the gentlemen who support the measure to justify their action in allowing a private corporation to monopolize the sidewalk leaving only 3 feet for the public. Now I don't ask that the station he held up to such an extent that the Elevated cannot huild a station. All I ask is that we request the Elevated to suhmit an alternative plan of exits and entrances. I am not an engineer and this Board is not sitting as a hody of engineers. We are not suggesting to the Elevated what plans it shall adopt, not taking the place of engineers. We are only here to protect the public and, if we can, try to have more than 3 feet provided for sidewalk purposes, so as not to ohstruct puhlic travel. I think I am as much in favor of the Elevated and want to help along transit facilities in Boston as much as any member of the Council, hut I cannot hring myself to vote for the affirmative of this proposition without having it looked into further. The corner of Dover and Washington streets is a growing corner in Boston. We are planning in this Council south and north arteries so as to connect South Boston and the South Cove with other parts of Boston, notably Park square, and yet we are sitting here and voting on a matter that will mean, in connection with such an artery, only 3 feet on the sidewalk for the puhlic at that place. It seems to me that we might put an additional exit or entrance underneath the present one on Washington street. Instead of having one stairway right down we might as well have two, one behind the other, leaving sufficient room for the public on the sidewalk. I can think of half a dozen ways in which the thing might he worked out. All I ask is that this matter be turned back to the committee with a request that alternative plans be submitted.

Coun. KENNY—Mr. President, I cannot agree with the memher on my left. Early last summer we had a hearing on this matter and we had hefore us the officials of the Elevated Railroad. We had their plans and their engineers here to inform us as to the conditions prevailing at this point. I do not agree for one, and perhaps I have as much knowledge of conditions there as the other memhers sitting here, that it would be wise to place an additional servitude on Washington street. I think Washington street is now incumbered sufficiently hy the Elevated Railroad. At the same time we all realize that conditions there have grown to a point where the husiness of the puhlic and the railroads cannot he facilitated with the accommodations that they have there. They have to have additional exits to let the puhlic down from that structure. I do not quite see the point of my friend on the left here when he says that this is going to darken Washington street. Washington street at that point intersects Dover street. There are no houses at the point where the station will he constructed. That will he on Dover street. Dover street is not as important a street as Washington street; it is far from it. Dover street might very well take the entire incumhrance, if such a thing were possihle, and relieve Washington street. I for one should not for a moment, with the facts I now have, consent to any additional stairways heing placed on Washington street. Furthermore, I am afraid we might he misled hy what my friend has said when he says the corners of Dover and Washington streets will he suhjected to the inconvenience of this limited area of hut 3 feet hecause of the structure. I do not understand that the stairs are coming to the corner. They are going to extend down Dover street perhaps 25 or 30 feet from the corner. Furthermore, it seems to me it will be a great henefit to the traveling public coming from the structure, coming from South Boston, who now have to cross the street diagonally whichever way they are going to take a car or make a transfer. Under this arrangement when you come down from the structure you will be landed where you desire to take a car. I have no desire to push this through. It has heen standing for some months. Perhaps this is not the hest solution. If there is anything hetter I shall he glad to he ar it. But I think on the whole this is a fair solution of the prohlem, and I don't think we are justified in holding it up any longer.

Coun. ATTRIDGE—Mr. President, if the gentleman from Ward 11 on the other side of the Chamher desires more time in order that the Boston Elevated Railway Company may submit alternative plans of entrances and exits at Washington and Dover streets, I for one, as a memher of this Council and coming from that particular district, would he willing to vote to recommit this report to the Executive Committee with a request that the Elevated officials appear before that committee and suhmit, if possihle, an alternative plan. As I rememher it, the engineers who appeared before stated that this was ahout the hest plan to relieve the congestion at that particular point. Of course, we can rest assured that congestion will he relieved somewhat hecause of the fact that under the new arrangement there will he four more entrances and exits than there are at present—these entrances and exits to be on Dover street, thus relieving the congestion from Washington street. I do not want to he charged to-day by any memher of the Council with trying to jam any piece of legislation through this Council. It cannot he said of me that I am extremely friendly to the Elevated; my record in this Council, I think, proves that I am not. But if this gentleman from Ward 11 on the other side of the Chamber desires more time and really wishes the Elevated officials to suhmit an alternative plan, I for one would he in favor of voting to recommit this to the Executive Committee.

Coun. SMITH—Mr. President, that was exactly what I had in mind—that we recommit this with the request that the Elevated suhmit some alternative plans. I did not intend to suggest any plan or hlack-jack them in any way, hut I do think we are here hargaining with the puhlic as our backers. The Elevated is here bargaining with its stockholders as its hackers. Of course, the officials of the Elevated naturally wish to take as much of the puhlic street as they can get and put through the plan that costs them the least. As representing the public we can very well say to the Elevated that we are in favor of a station and additional transit facilities there, hut that we desire them to take less of the sidewalk, and perhaps they would submit an alternative plan taking less of the sidewalk, even though that plan would cost them a little more money. That is all I had in mind when this matter came up on July 17, and in proof of that I will read what I said at that time:

"I think if we refuse this permit to the Elevated they would bring in some supplementary report showing how such an amount of room might he taken on the sidewalk—it might he through a huilding on the corner or through the present exit or exits directly hack of the present ones. Some way could he devised so that the puhlic could be left on Dover street."

That was my attitude then and that is my attitude now—that, as representing the puhlic, it is really our duty to ask the Elevated to submit plans which will take up less of the puhlic sidewalk. That seems to me a moderate request on our part. If we allow them to carry through the plans they suggest in the first place, without action of that sort, we are not properly representing the puhlic who elected us.

Coun. ATTRIDGE—Mr. President, I move you, sir, that this No. 6 he recommitted to the Executive Committee and that that committee request the Boston Elevated Railway officials to submit an alternative plan of entrances and exits to the Executive Committee within two weeks. I think that would he fair to all concerned—to every memher of this Council, to the citizens and to the Boston Elevated Railway Company—and I trust that the motion will prevail.

Coun. CURLEY—Mr. President, as I recall it, when the engineers of the company were hefore the City Council these very questions were thrashed out and they said that their original plan was an island at Dover street similar to what now obtains at Northampton and Washington streets, but that the width of the street and an examination into the amount of traffic at that particular point convinced them that such a course was neither wise nor expedient; that the only alternative plan they could consider was one wherehy they would be compelled to purchase the four corners at Dover and Washington streets. I think Coun. Smith will recall that statement being made at the hearing. Now what is to be gained by this procedure. We simply delay action and the safety and welfare of the puhlic is in danger during the time that we delay. If I felt that anything might he gained by it that would be another question. But as one views the proposition, considering the narrowness of the street at this point and the congestion from the stairways already existing, also the fact that there is less traffic on Dover street than on Washington street, and that the width of Washington street at this point is such as to make it impossihle to so change the surface tracks as to make a track in the center of the street, it would seem that the only alternative plan that might be suggested is one that would possibly mean the purchase of the four great properties at the corner of Dover and Washington streets and a great deal of delay. I sincerely trust that the motion will not prevail.

Coun. KENNY—Mr. President, I am going to make this suggestion. As I understand it now the motion is that the railroad company he requested to suhmit an alternative plan. Now there may he no alternative plan. It may he that this is the only solution of the problem, and if you call upon them to suhmit something that cannot he suhmitted, are you not placing the Council practically in an improper attitude toward the matter? I am perfectly willing under all circumstances to recommit the matter with instructions to report hack in two weeks, hut not necessarily to ask for an alternative plan. Let the committee decide whether there should he one or not, hut do not determine that there shall be one submitted when one may not exist and cannot exist. If the gentleman is willing to amend his motion in that way I am willing to vote for it.

Coun. ATTRIDGE—Mr. President, that could he remedied easily by inserting after the words "an alternative plan" the words "if any is feasihle."

Coun. Attridge's proposed amendment was adopted, and the matter was recommitted to the Executive Committee with the request to report within two weeks, and during that time to invite the petitioner to set forth any alternative plans, if such alternative plans are feasihle, the motion being carried by a rising vote of 6 to 2.

ABATEMENT OF ASSESSMENT.

Coun. CURLEY offered an order—That in accordance with the provisions of chapter 415 of the Acts of 1911 the Board of Street Commissioners be and hereby are authorized to ahate such proportion, not exceeding 20 per cent, of any assessment for a hetterment made on account of the laying out of Columbia road from Franklin Park in Dorchester to Marine Park in South Boston, as said Board shall deem just and expedient; and the City Treasurer is hereby authorized to repay such proportion of any such assessment which has heen paid into the treasury of the city as said Board of Street Commissioners shall approve, the expense thus incurred to be charged to the appropriation for Park Department.

Coun. CURLEY—Mr. President, this is an act to relieve certain property owners along Columhia road. It is an act adopted by the Legislature of the present year, and until such time as the City Council authorizes the Street Commission to act they have no authority in the premises, in so far as their action applies to those who have already paid their assessment into the city treasury. Those who have refused to pay during the past three years are, of course, in a different position, but those who have paid can only receive their money back by the adoption of this act by the City Council.

President COLLINS—The matter will be referred to the Executive Committee under the rules.

Coun. KENNY—Mr. President, I was going to move, if in order, that a copy of the act be printed in the record, so that when the matter comes up at the next meeting we will have it before us.

Coun. CURLEY—The matter, having been passed by the Legislature, has been presented to us and is before us.

Coun. KENNY—Well, when it is reported back I will have time enough to have the act printed in the record.

INVESTIGATION OF BUILDING DEPARTMENT.

Coun. CURLEY offered an order—That his Honor the Mayor be requested to investigate the conduct of the Building Department, as per charges of Local Union No. 175 of the United Association of Journeymen Plumbers, Gas Fitters, Steam Fitters, Steam Fitters' helpers, hereto annexed.

The order was read for the information of Coun. Kenny.

Coun. CURLEY—Mr. President, I most respectfully ask that the charges be read.

The charges were read, as follows:

Local Union No. 175,
September 16, 1911.

Dear Sir,—Local 175, representing the gas fitting trades in the City of Boston, decide to enter protest relative to the violation of the gas fitting laws. We are in possession of facts and proofs ,which we can submit to you, and ask for an investigation. Men and boys unlicensed are performing gas work.

Complaints too numerous to mention have been lodged with the Building Department.

Men are now engaged in the contracting of gas work as masters, employing nonlicensed and incompetent labor (contrary to law) and are covered on permits by masters holding papers.

We can produce facts to substantiate our charges and will when called upon appear.

Our body asks you in justice and the interest of fair play and good government to look into this matter and call the Council's attention to same at meeting on September 18. We have three cases, positively backed up, which at present will bear looking into.

Boston Plumbing Company, Portland street, job on Hemenway street, at head of Astor street. Nonlicensed men and boys engaged on this work.

Mr. Levine, Astor street, job now on.

Mr. Burger of Chelsea, the foremost violator, at present doing large fixture job in Dorchester.

These are but a few of the violators.

Trusting that we may read of this in some way and some good result from same, we remain,

Yours respectfully,
Local 175, U. A. A. F. L.,
per A. Mason,
Recording Secretary.

24 Dana Street, Roxbury.

The question came on the passage of the order.

Coun. CURLEY—Mr. President, I have no desire to take up the time of the Council with a discussion of this proposition. I presented an order calling attention to the failure of the Building Department to properly safeguard the interests of persons who reside in Boston some four months ago, and I am informed that during the interval the Gas Fitters' Union and the Plumbers' Union have brought specific cases to the attention of the Building Department but without satisfaction. As I understand it, under the charter the Mayor has a right to order an investigation if facts are presented. This order calls upon the Mayor to make that investigation and the facts are submitted in connection with the order. I believe, in the interests of the public of Boston at large, that the order should be adopted and that the original investigation should be made by his Honor the Mayor, and I believe that if the Building Department knowingly or without knowledge permits violations of this character by its inspectors—and I don't say it does—that situation should be corrected. I want to reiterate what I said at the time when this matter was under consideration some three months ago, that I am firmly of the belief that Mr. Everett, the Building Commissioner, is an absolutely honest man, but that he does not know what takes place in his department.

The order was passed.

EIGHT HOURS FOR AMBULANCE DRIVERS.

Coun. CURLEY offered an order—That the City Hospital Trustees, through his Honor the Mayor, inform the City Council what additional sum of money is necessary to place the ambulance drivers employed at City Hospital upon an eight-hour basis.

Passed.

SIDEWALK ORDERS.

President COLLINS offered an order—That the Commissioner of Public Works make a sidewalk along both sides of Ashmont street, between Washington street and Dorchester avenue, Ward 24, in front of the estates bordering said sidewalk, to be from 3 to 10 inches above the gutter adjoining, to be from 5 to 12 feet in width, and to be built of artificial stone, with granite edgestone, under the provisions of chapter 437 of the Acts of 1893.

Referred to the Executive Committee.

President COLLINS offered an order—That the Commissioner of Public Works make a sidewalk along 123 Washington street, Ward 20, and extending four houses beyond said estate, in front of the estates bordering thereon, said sidewalk to be from 3 to 10 inches above the gutter adjoining, to be from 5 to 12 feet in width, and to be built of artificial stone, under the provisions of chapter 437 of the Acts of 1893.

Passed.

Coun. CURLEY offered an order—That the Commissioner of Public Works make a sidewalk along 113-115 Williams street and on the Plainfield street side of said estate, said sidewalk to be from 3 to 10 inches above the gutter adjoining, to be from 5 to 12 feet in width, and to be built of artificial stone, under the provisions of chapter 437 of the Acts of 1893.

Passed.

SOLDIERS' RELIEF.

Coun. BUCKLEY, for the Committee on Soldiers' Relief, submitted a report recommending the passage of an order for the payment of aid to soldiers and sailors and their families in the City of Boston for the month of September.

Report accepted; order passed.

CALL FOR ORDINANCE REPORTS.

Coun. SMITH—Mr. President, I would like to make a motion that the Council take from the Committee on Ordinances two ordinances which have been resting there for what seems to me to be an undue length of time, one referring to the height of firemen and the other to the building limits. The reason why I ask this is that ordinance relating to building limits was referred to the Committee on Ordinances April 3 of this year, the ordinance relative to the height of firemen April 24 of this year, and on May 24 of this year a public hearing was held. It seems to me those two matters have been in committee long enough, and in view of the fire hazard in this city, in view of the present need of attending to matters relating to the Fire Department, I believe we should at once take up and dispose of these questions. If there is any good objection to dealing with these matters within six months of their having been brought in, I should like to have the chairman of the Committee on Ordinances state it. If he can bring such arguments to our attention, I shall appreciate them.

President COLLINS suggested that the questions should be divided, and Coun. SMITH said he would first call for the matter relating to the height of firemen.

Coun. CURLEY—Mr. President, before making a motion to lay this motion on the table, I should like to ask the chairman of the Committee on Ordinances when he proposes to call a meeting of the Committee on Ordinances to consider these matters, if he can inform that body.

Coun. McDONALD—Mr. President, I have called four or five meetings of the Committee on Ordinances within the prescribed time mentioned by the gentleman from Ward 11. He was present at all the meetings. We attempted to get a vote on the height of firemen at each one of the meetings, and I think he was one of the gentlemen not ready to vote on it. I am satisfied to call a meeting at any time.

Coun. CURLEY—Mr. President, do I understand Coun. McDonald to infer or to wish us to infer that Coun. Smith had not been instructed how to vote? (Laughter.)

Coun. McDONALD—Yes, he was not prepared. I don't know whether he had received his instructions, but he was not prepared to vote.

Coun. CURLEY—Mr. President, Coun. McDonald has not answered my question. My question was, when he would call a meeting of the Committee on Ordinances. Would he call it within a week?

Coun. McDONALD—I will try to call it before the next meeting of the Council, Mr. President.

Coun. CURLEY—Mr. President, in view of the statement made by the chairman of the Committee on Ordinances, I feel that it would be very discourteous on the part of the Board to adopt the motion proposed by Coun. Smith. Accordingly, I move that Coun. Smith's motion lie on the table.

Coun. SMITH—Mr. President——

President COLLINS—The Chair rules that there is no debate allowed on the question of laying on the table.

Coun. SMITH—Mr. President, I do not intend to debate that question. I simply want to correct a misstatement of fact.

President COLLINS—The Chair cannot entertain any debate on the motion to lay on the table.

The motion to lay on the table was declared carried. Coun. Smith doubted the vote and asked for the yeas and nays.

The motion to lay on the table was carried, yeas 7, nays 1, Coun. Smith voting nay.

Coun. SMITH—Mr. President, I move a reconsideration of the vote just taken, and I would like to say that, instead of there having been several meetings of the Committee on Ordinances called, there has been to my knowledge—and I have been in town all summer attending to business—but one meeting of the committee called since the matters were taken up on the dates I have mentioned. At that committee meeting I was present and the chairman suggested that we put over until fall consideration of the extension of the fire limit, although the committee as a committee had gone out with Fire Commissioner Daly and had gone about the bounds proposed by him as the new fire limit. Not only that, but the matter of the height of firemen was not taken up. The chairman of the committee, according to my memory, said he did not think it proper to take it up at the present time as so few of the committee were present. But, speaking for myself, I was then and am now entirely ready to act on both these propositions. Regardless of that I am perfectly willing to wait for a committee meeting, if it is going to be called within the next two weeks. The purpose of my motion here to-day will have been achieved if the chairman of that committee will call a meeting within two weeks. It seems to me rather unbusinesslike and unwise to allow the matter to drag along indefinitely, with the public temper on the question. We have had three meetings in the fall since the Council came back and as yet no call has gone out for a meeting of the Committee on Ordinances. If we can have assurances from the chairman that such a call will be issued within two weeks, I shall be perfectly satisfied. I thought there might be one other reason for asking for this. Coun. McDonald may have been put in an embarrassing position. He is chairman of the committee, and as such has a right to call it. In view of his vote last Monday asking that a new Fire Commissioner be appointed by his Honor the Mayor, some people about town might say that Mr. McDonald in his animosity towards the present Fire Commissioner was holding up certain improvements in the Fire Department as chairman of the committee, and it might be embarrassing to Mr. McDonald. I trust that he will give assurance of calling a meeting within two weeks.

Coun. McDONALD—Mr. President, the gentleman from Ward 11 has got his wires crossed when he says that because of my vote asking the Mayor of Boston to appoint another Fire Commissioner I may not be in the good graces of the present Fire Commissioner. One of the reasons why I have not called a meeting within the last two or three weeks——

Coun. SMITH—Mr. President, I simply said that certain people about town might say that there was some animosity. I did not state that I believed the councilor was in the bad graces of the Fire Commissioner, and I did not wish to imply so.

Coun. McDONALD—Mr. President, he said somebody about town, and of course he would not have to throw bricks very far. The Fire Commissioner within the last two or three days said he was going to take a trip out West and asked that action be postponed until he came back. I had called a meeting five or six weeks ago and we acted on the ordinance relative to the fire limit, voting to have a public hearing, and the Chamber of Commerce through its secretary and the secretary of the Real Estate Exchange asked me to call off that public hearing, and to wait until after the fifteenth of September, when they would be ready to attend the public hearing, and they would let me know. I told the councilor in executive session the desires of the Chamber of Commerce and the Real Estate Exchange, and I told Commissioner Daly on Friday morning that we would wait until he came back, as he wished to appear before the committee, and that then I would call a meeting of the Committee on Ordinances and have an order introduced into the Council for a public hearing in fourteen days, as prescribed by law. The gentleman possibly has been talking to somebody who has not rightly informed him of the situation. It was not because of my desire to call off anything that the meeting was postponed. We talked the matter over in executive session and it was decided to call off a certain meeting in July, having it postponed until further notice, because the Real Estate Exchange and the Chamber of Commerce desired the meeting postponed until they had a chance to appear before the public meeting in relation to it.

Coun. SMITH—Mr. President, I am glad the gentleman has cleared the matter up and that there will be speedy action on both those questions. I trust that he will not take the thing in a personal way. I assure him that there is nothing personal in my request. Simply viewing the matter as one that should be acted on, as most of us do view it, we wish to have action taken at the earliest possible day. I shall, however, be glad to withdraw my motion if the chairman of the committee will on his part assure us that he will call a meeting within two weeks.

Coun. McDONALD—Mr. President, just one more word. I am glad to see the gentleman from Ward 11 viewing the needs of the city Fire Department and the service of the department as he now does, because a little while ago he thought the department was in good condition and didn't need extra firemen or improvement in the service.

Coun. SMITH—Mr. President, may I ask the Council to wait until my statements on this subject can be read from the record? Perhaps that is the best way to disprove the statement the gentleman has just made.

Coun. McDONALD—As far as that is concerned, I will read them myself when I have time.

Coun. SMITH—I would ask the courtesy of the Council waiting a few moments until my statement in regard to the Fire Department may be read. If the Council does not care to grant that courtesy, very well.

President COLLINS—The Chair rules that that question is not before the Council. If the Council wishes by unanimous consent to postpone its proceedings it may do so, but the Chair is constrained to rule that the only matter before the Council is the question of reconsidering the vote to lay this matter on the table.

Coun. SMITH—Mr. President, in the debate here certain statements have been made as to the way I have voted or felt or was inclined toward the increase of firemen. I don't think members of the Council need any enlightenment on that subject, in spite of the false statement just made by Coun. McDonald. My attitude was shown at the meeting which we held with the Mayor before he left for Europe. At the time we discussed the subject of the increase of firemen it was reported in a letter that some of the papers printed immediately following the Mayor's return, and it was shown by my vote on the subject as soon as the matter was sent down to us by the Mayor, how I felt. If the Council, however, does not care to allow my remarks to be read from the minutes, I am perfectly satisfied to take this method of refuting the statements made hy the gentleman.

President COLLINS—The Chair will state that after the motion hefore us is disposed of, the gentleman's motion can be entertained.

Coun. KENNY—Mr. President, I would suggest that he might refer to the numher of the page of the record, and then it can he read at some other time. The reprinting is going to cost the city some money and I don't see why it should he read. If he will refer to the numher of the page it can be read.

Reconsideration was declared lost. Coun. SMITH doubted the vote and asked for the yeas and nays. Reconsideration was lost, yeas 1, nays 7; Coun Smith voting yea.

SALE OF CHARLESTOWN ALMSHOUSE PROPERTY.

Coun. CURLEY moved to take from the table No. 4, viz.:

4. Ordered, That the Boston Infirmary Trustees be and hereby are authorized, with the approval of the Mayor, to sell to the Boston Elevated Railway Company for a sum not less than seventy-two thousand dollars ($72,000) the property in the Charlestown district known as the Charlestown Almshouse, with the land connected therewith, containing ahout 102,400 square feet, and upon such sale his Honor the Mayor is hereby authorized, in the name and behalf of the city, to execute a deed satisfactory to the Law Department, conveying said premises to said company for a consideration not less than seventy-two thousand dollars ($72,000) to be determined by said trustees and approved as aforesaid.

On July 17 the foregoing order was read once and passed, yeas 6, nays 0.

The motion to take from the tahle was declared lost by a rising vote, 3 to 3. Coun. CURLEY doubted the vote and asked for the yeas and nays, and the motion to take from the table was lost, yeas 3, nays 5:

Yeas—Coun. Attridge, Curley, McDonald—3.

Nays—Coun. Ballantyne, Buckley, Collins, Kenny, Smith—5.

REPAIR OF GEORGE STREET.

Coun. CURLEY offered an order—That the Commissioner of Public Works, through his Honor the Mayor, he requested to place in condition suitable for puhlic travel George street, from Gerard to Magazine street, Ward 17.

Passed.

GENERAL RECONSIDERATION.

Coun. BALLANTYNE moved a general reconsideration on all husiness transacted at the meeting, hoping that the same would not prevail. Lost.

ADJOURNMENT.

Coun. BALLANTYNE moved that the Council adjourn, to meet on Monday, October 2, at 3 p. m.

Coun. CURLEY—Mr. President, if in order, I would like to ask a question of the chairman of the Committee on Finance, hefore that question is taken. I would like to ask the chairman of the Committee on Finance when he proposes to call a meeting of the committee.

Coun. KENNY—I have no definite date in mind, Mr. President.

Coun. CURLEY—Mr. President, I would ask if there is a possihility of his calling it in the next two weeks or two months.

Coun. KENNY—Mr. President, I had no intention of calling a meeting immediately. There are pending a number of recommendations hy the Mayor which, hefore the date of expiration of time, no doubt the committee will he called upon to consider. I have those matters in mind, and I have no douht in due course a meeting will he held. But just when I cannot tell.

Coun. CURLEY—Mr. President, my purpose in asking the question was to secure information with relation to the recommendation for a loan for the City Hospital. I feel that it is of sufficient importance to warrant a meeting of the Committee on Finance. The proposition should he acted upon one way or the other, and I think we should know when there is a possihility of that committee meeting being called. The city has purchased the site for a new hranch of the South Department for infectious diseases. In case of an epidemic at any time we are liahle to have cramped conditions there so that we will have to hire outside quarters. I think we should take some action.

Coun. KENNY—Mr. President, the gentleman now asking the question stated to me early in the summer that he would he willing to vote an appropriation for the construction of the new South Department as contemplated out of the taxes or rather out of the Reserve Fund. I would like to ask him if he is still inclined to do so.

Coun. CURLEY—Mr. President, I have no ohjection to answering that question, hut my question has not heen answered yet—as to when that committee is going to meet, when you are going to call them together.

President COLLINS—The Chair will state that this debate is suhject to the unanimous consent of the Council. The question is on Coun. Ballantyne's motion that we now adjourn to meet again on Monday, Octoher 2, at 3 p. m.

Adjourned at 5.04 p. m., to meet on Monday, Octoher 2, at 3 p. m.

MONEY FOR BATH DEPARTMENT.

The following was received:

City of Boston,
Office of the Mayor, October 2, 1911.

To the City Council:

I transmit herewith a communication from the chairman of the Board of Bath Trustees, requesting an additional appropriation of eight thousand nine hundred and eighty dollars and seventy-five cents ($8,980.75) for the Bath Department. He states that owing to the purchase of extra supplies the appropriation voted by your honorable body at the beginning of the year has been greatly diminished and it will be necessary to have this additional sum in order to carry on the important work of the department.

I recommend the passage of the accompanying order transferring the sum of nine thousand dollars ($9,000) from the appropriation for Reserve Fund to the appropriation for Bath Department.

Respectfully,
JOHN F. FITZGERALD, Mayor.

—

City of Boston,
Bath Department, October 2, 1911.

Hon. John F. Fitzgerald,
Mayor of Boston:

My dear Sir,— I respectfully request an additional appropriation of $8,980.75 for the Bath Department. This additional appropriation has become necessary owing to the extra demands made on the department during the past season as regards additional forces at L street and other houses, and the extraordinary demands that were made on us during the extreme hot spell the first few weeks in July, when, as suggested by you, the department spared no expense in caring for the public. Owing also to the fact that this year, for the first time, trunks were worn at L street, the sum of $3,195 was expended for the purchase of same. Also the trustees purchased $1,760 worth of towels and $2,665.80 worth of bathing suits for the department. The wearing of tights at L street increased the work in the laundry, which made it necessary, as a consequence, to increase our force at that place.

The original appropriation of $186,000 has proved inadequate owing to the reasons stated above, and in addition, also, to the fact that we open on the 2d of October two new houses, one at Paris street, East Boston, and the other in Curtis Hall, Jamaica Plain.

I transmit herewith an itemized account of the amounts necessary for conducting the department for the balance of the year:

East Boston Gymnasium, from October 1 to January 31:
Salaries	$3,892 29
Gymnastic instructors	733 00
Maintenance	1,383 33
Curtis Hall, from November 1 to January 31:
Salaries	1,769 13
Gymnastic instructors	733 00
Maintenance	50 00
Swimming instructors, from November 1 to January 31	420 00
	$8,980 75

Respectfully submitted,
RICHARD M. WALSH,
Chairman Bath Trustees.

Ordered, That under the provisions of chapter 261 of the Acts of 1893 the City Auditor be and hereby is authorized to transfer the sum of nine thousand dollars ($9,000) from the appropriation for Reserve Fund to the appropriation for Bath Department.

Referred to the Executive Committee.

HOSPITAL FOR TUBERCULAR CHILDREN.

The following was received:

City of Boston,
Office of the Mayor, September 29, 1911.

To the City Council:

I beg to transmit the accompanying letter from the chairman of the Consumptives' Hospital Department, urging an appropriation of fifty thousand dollars ($50,000) for the erection of a hospital to contain fifty beds for children with demonstrable tuberculosis.

Respectfully,
JOHN F. FITZGERALD, Mayor.

Consumptives' Hospital,
September 18, 1911.

Hon. John F. Fitzgerald,
Mayor of Boston:

Dear Sir,—At a meeting of the Trustees of the Boston Consumptives' Hospital held on September 15, 1911, I was directed to call the attention of your Honor to a letter from this Board to yourself dated May 25, 1911, requesting an appropriation for $50,000 for the erection of a hospital to contain fifty (50) beds for children with demonstrable tuberculosis, and $80,000 for another concrete building similar to the two concrete buildings now erected at Mattapan, making a total of $130,000. The request for an appropriation for a children's hospital was first made in September, 1909. The Board directs me to say that the need for a children's hospital particularly is pressing and immediate, and continued progress along the lines which have put Boston in the lead among the cities of the world in fighting tuberculosis will require that this appropriation be made forthwith.

Trusting that this will meet with your approval, I am,

Respectfully yours,
EDWARD F. MCSWEENEY, Chairman.

Referred to the Committee on Finance.

IMPROVEMENTS ON BOSTON COMMON.

The following was received:

City of Boston,
Office of the Mayor, September 29, 1911.

To the City Council:

I have carefully considered the request made in the accompanying letter from the Superintendent of Public Grounds and desire to recommend an appropriation of twenty-five thousand dollars ($25,000) from the Parkman Fund for the purposes indicated by him. There are at the present time about seventy thousand dollars ($70,000) available from this fund and by the end of the present calendar year it is expected that some twenty-two thousand dollars ($22,000) more will be added to the income. I have already recommended an appropriation of fifteen thousand dollars ($15,000) to be expended under the direction of the Superintendent of Public Grounds for bubble fountains, convenience stations and other improvements, and four appropriations, totaling twenty-four thousand two hundred dollars ($24,200) to be expended by the Board of Park Commissioners for improvements at Charlesbank, Castle Island and Franklin Field. These, with the appropriation now recommended, would take sixty-four thousand two hundred dollars ($64,200), a sum which falls within the income now available, and will leave nearly thirty thousand dollars ($30,000) at the end of the calendar year for other purposes. I trust that all the income will be appropriated, as there are many legitimate purposes to which it may be applied and no particular advantage in leaving a remainder at the end of the year to be added to the principal.

Respectfully,
JOHN F. FITZGERALD, Mayor.

City of Boston,
Public Grounds Department,
September 22, 1911.

Hon. John F. Fitzgerald,
Mayor of Boston:

Dear Sir,—For your information I wish to state that upon payment of the contracts now let and those anticipated in the immediate future in connection with the improvements on Boston Common, under the Parkman Fund, the small surplus of about $3,000 will then be available for future work.

With such an amount we cannot hope to undertake our contemplated work along present defined lines for the coming fall. Under these circumstances I wish to strongly recommend to your consideration the advisability of further appropriation for the continuance of these studied improvements.

Reference to our former letters of March 7, May 20 and June 7 will show the necessity for such additional money.

It is to be regretted if this work must cease at the present stage when everything is progressing so satisfactorily, and, in my estimation, it would be a serious drawback for future undertakings if for lack of additional appropriation we cannot continue under the present well organized system.

I trust this matter will receive favorable consideration.

Respectfully yours,
D. H. SULLIVAN, Superintendent.

Ordered, That the sum of twenty-five thousand dollars ($25,000) be and hereby is appropriated from the income of the Parkman Fund, to be expended under the direction of the Superintendent of Public Grounds for Soil Renovation and General Improvements on Boston Common.

President COLLINS—If there is no objection the order will be referred to the Committee on Parkman Fund.

Coun. CURLEY—Mr. President, I would move a suspension of the rules that the order may have a reading at this time. As I understand it, there are some fifty men employed in the Park Department who have been suspended within the last week because of lack of appropriation. Everyone realizes that renovation work can be performed to better advantage at this season of the year than later, when frost is in the ground. An equal number of men have been suspended in the Public Grounds Department, where work might be done on trees, directly connected with renovation. I feel that a saving can be effected by having work done at this season rather than having it delayed until frost is in the ground. I believe we should act immediately, and I sincerely trust that the rule will be suspended and that we will act at this time.

President COLLINS—The Chair would remind the Council that but one reading is necessary on this order, that it is a departmental matter under the Department of Public Grounds. Unless the rule is suspended, it should be referred to the Parkman Fund Committee, or it could be referred to the Executive Committee.

Coun. CURLEY—Mr. President, I move a suspension of the rules that the order may be placed on its passage.

Coun. KENNY—Mr. President, it seems to me that reference to the Parkman Fund Committee is the proper reference. I have already decided, as a member of that committee, to have a meeting called this week for the purpose of making an inspection in connection with these various recommendations, and I should certainly oppose any action this afternoon that would involve putting this order in force to-day. The Committee on Parkman Fund will meet this week and will be prepared to make a report next Monday on these various matters.

Coun. CURLEY—Mr. President, the fact remains that the gentleman directly in charge of the expenditure of this money, the Superintendent of Public Grounds, has made the request of his Honor the Mayor, and the Mayor has seen fit to make the recommendation that men whose services have been satisfactory in the Public Grounds Department, and who have been under suspension some little time, because of lack of appropriation, may continue those services. Of course, a delay of a week or two until such time as the Committee on Parkman Fund may have an opportunity to consider this proposition will not affect the members of the Council a particle, but it will affect the men under suspension, who are eager to go back to work, and in addition to that it will result in having this work put into effect from one to two weeks earlier than would otherwise he the case. If, as I understand it, the work can he performed with greater economy and with hetter advantage to tbe city at this time rather than from one to two weeks later, I see no great harm that can result from acting on the proposition at once. I would respectfully ask that the Assistant City Clerk be requested to read the communication once more, so that if there is any particular point in connection with the communication to which ohjection can he raised or any valid argument that can he advanced in favor of a further delay, it may be threshed out.

The communication from the Mayor and the accompanying order were read.

Coun. KENNY—Mr. President, this is really a matter of administration of the Parkman Fund. It is not primarily for the Mayor to decide how this money shall be spent, it is rather for the Council, suhject, of course, to the Mayor's approval. It seems to me that this admonition or notice should have come to the Council earlier. We have from time to time expended money on Boston Common for what they call the renovation of the soil, and there are other things for which this money must be spent. This is a matter of administration. It may he that after consultation we cannot feel that we should spend this $25,000 at this time for this purpose. I object seriously to having the matter come to the Council in this way and having it rushed through. Therefore I hope the rule will not he suspended. The committee is going to meet this week, is going to take up this and other matters, will very likely go around and see some of these places, and I think this is a matter that should be left to the committee to make a report upon, say next week. I think we can have a report here, say next Monday.

Coun. CURLEY—Mr. President, I dislike very much to take up the time of the Council with general discussion of this proposition. The fact remains that the bulk of the Parkman Fund that has been expended, apart from that for the Zoo and Aquarium, has been for improvements on Boston Common. If this $25,000 is necessary for the renovation of the soil and the completion of that particular work hegun about a year ago, and if at the end of the fiscal year any balance tbat remains unexpended of the interest that accrued during the year reverts back and cannot be available this year, I feel that no serious danger would result from acting on the proposition to-day. Of course, I suppose the chairman of the committee desires an opportunity to look into and examine this matter for himself. But the fact remains that something should he done in this matter. If the work can he done to hetter advantage at this time of year than later when the frost is in the ground, I helieve it should he done.

Coun. SMITH—Mr. President, I would ask Coun. Curley if he knows when the present contracts expire?

Coun. CURLEY—I would say that I don't know about the present contracts.

The motion to suspend the rule was declared lost hy a rising vote, 4 to 4. Coun. CURLEY douhted the vote and asked for tbe yeas and nays. The Council refused to suspend the rules, yeas 4, nays 4:

Yeas—Coun. Attridge, Buckley, Curley, McDonald—4.

Nays—Coun. Collins, Hale, Kenny, Smith—4.

President COLLINS—The order will he referred to the Committee on Parkman Fund.

PRINTING OF PROBATE INDEXES.

The following was received:

City of Boston,
Office of the Mayor, Octoher 2, 1911.

To the City Council:

I heg to transmit herewith a communication from the Register of Prohate, requesting an appropriation of four thousand five hundred (4,500) dollars for the purpose of printing in one volume 100 copies of the present Volumes 1 and 2 of the Probate Indexes from 1894 to 1910.

The reasons given in this letter seem to me to he satisfactory and I recommend that, after your honorahle hody, sitting as County Commissioners, has authorized the Register of Probate to print these volumes, the appended order transferring the sum stipulated from the Reserve Fund to the appropriation for County of Suffolk, Prohate Court, he passed.

Respectfully,
JOHN F. FITZGERALD, Mayor.

Probate Court and Court of Insolvency,
Boston, Mass., September 29, 1911.

Hon. John F. Fitzgerald, Mayor of Boston, and the City Council of tbe City of Boston, as such, and as they are County Commissioners of the County of Suffolk:

Dear Sirs,—The indexes of cases entered in the Registry of Probate from 1894 to 1910 are made up of four written volumes of approximately 700 pages each. The hulk of these volumes is such, and their use hy the public so continuous, that they cannot possihly last more than, say, three years. To rewrite tbem would take the entire time of two clerks for at least two years. A consolidated index of all cases from 1636 to 1894 was printed several years ago. I have caused to he rewritten the first two volumes of the series from 1894 to 1910 that the same may he printed and the index put in an enduring form. Upon the printing of the present Volumes 1 and 2 of the indexes from 1894 to 1910, the present Volumes 3 and 4 of this series will he rewritten and authority requested for printing the same. I have requested the Municipal Printing Department to furnish me an estimate of the cost of printing 100 copies of the first two volumes of the series in one volume, and have received a reply to the effect that the cost would he $4,027.50. I helieve that this is a reasonahle figure, and I respectfully request that authority be granted to print said index and that an appropriation of $4,500 he made hy transfer from the Reserve Fund for the purpose of printing 100 volumes of what will he Volume 1, now Volumes 1 and 2, of the Probate Indexes from 1894 to 1910.

Yours very respectfully,
ARTHUR W. DOLAN, Register.

Ordered, Tbat in accordance with the provisions of chapter 261 of the Acts of 1893 tbe City Auditor he and hereby is authorized to transfer the sum of four thousand five hundred (4,500) dollars from the appropriation for Reserve Fund to the appropriation for County of Suffolk, Prohate Court.

The communication and order were declared referred to the Executive Committee.

Coun. CURLEY—Mr. President, in connection with the communication from his Honor the Mayor I desire to present this order:

Ordered, That the Register of Probate within and for our County of Suffolk he and he hereby is authorized to cause to he printed the first two volumes of the Prohate Index for said County of Suffolk from 1894 to 1910, said two volumes to he consolidated and printed as one volume.

Coun. CURLEY—Mr. President, I most respectfully move reconsideration of reference of the transfer order to the Executive Committee, that the same may be acted on at this time, and when acted on I shall move the adoption of the order.

Reconsideration of reference to the Executive Committee prevailed.

On motion of Coun. CURLEY, the recommendation and order suhmitted by the Mayor were adopted, yeas 8, nays 0.

Coun. CURLEY'S order was passed, yeas 8, nays 0.

WIDENING OF NORFOLK STREET.

The following was received:

City of Boston,
Office of the Mayor, September 29, 1911.

To the City Council:

I have received the order passed by your honorahle hody at its meeting of September 11, 1911, that I be requested to consider the advisability of at once recommending the transfer of one hundred and fifty thousand dollars ($150,000) from the Reserve Fund to an appropriation for the widening of Norfolk street, Dorchester; also a resolve of similar tenor requesting the transfer of one hundred thousand dollars ($100,000) for the same purpose.

The secretary of the Street Laying-Out Department, in a communication which is appended hereto, has transmitted estimates of the cost of widening this street to a width of 60 feet from Washington street to the bridge at Corbet street, to Morton street, to Walk Hill street, and to Blue Hill avenue. The estimates are $150,000, $200,000, $250,000 and $265,000, respectively. As the stretch from Washington street to Corbet street bears the largest amount of traffic it seems to me that this part should receive attention first. I recommend, therefore, the passage of the appended loan order appropriating one hundred and fifty thousand dollars ($150,000) for the widening of Norfolk street.

Respectfully,
JOHN F. FITZGERALD, Mayor.

—

City of Boston,
Street Laying-Out Department,
September 25, 1911.

Hon. John F. Fitzgerald,
Mayor of Boston:

Dear Sir,—Complying with your suggestion of a few days ago the Board of Street Commissioners has had estimates prepared of the cost of widening Norfolk street, Dorchester, for its whole length and for various parts thereof, according to the amount of money available.

For $265,000 the street could he widened to 60 feet from Washington street to Blue Hill avenue.

For $250,000 it could he widened to 60 feet from Washington street to Walk Hill street.

For $200,000 it could he widened to 60 feet from Washington street to Morton street.

For $150,000 it could be widened to 60 fect from Washington street to the bridge at Corhet street.

In none of these estimates is sewerage work included.

Very truly yours,
J. J. O'CALLAGHAN, Secretary.

Ordered, That the sum of one hundred and fifty thousand dollars ($150,000) be and hereby is appropriated, to be expended under the direction of the Board of Street Commissioners for widening of Norfolk street, and that to meet said appropriation the City Treasurer be authorized to issue bonds or certificates of indebtedness of the City of Boston to said amount.

Referred to the Committee on Finance.

WIDENING OF UNION PARK STREET.

The following was received:

City of Boston,
Office of the Mayor, October 2, 1911.

To the City Council:

At the meeting of your honorable body held September 11, 1911, a loan order was recommended by me for seventy-five thousand dollars ($75,000) for the widening of Union Park street, between Washington street and Harrison avenue. I need not reiterate here the arguments for this improvement which have been set forth hy me in two messages. It has heen brought to my attention that owing to the comparative smallness of the amount involved some memhers of your honorable body prefer to have this hrought before them in the form of a transfer from the Reserve Fund. The Reserve Fund on October 1 amounted to nearly three-quarters of a million dollars and could, in my opinion, be reduced by this moderate amount without prejudice to any important public interest. I desire to recommend therefore the passage of the accompanying order transferring the sum of seventy-five thousand dollars ($75,000) from the appropriation for Reserve Fund to an appropriation for the widening of Union Park street, to be expended under the direction of the Board of Street Commissioners.

Respectfully,
JOHN F. FITZGERALD, Mayor.

Ordered, That under the provisions of chapter 261 of the Acts of 1893 the City Auditor be and hereby is authorized to transfer the sum of seventy-five thousand dollars ($75,000) from the appropriation for Reserve Fund to an appropriation for the widening of Union Park street, to he expended under the direction of the Board of Street Commissioners.

The order was declared referred to the Executive Committee.

Coun. CURLEY—Mr. President, I move a reconsideration of the reference and if the motion prevails I shall move a suspension of the rules that the order may take a reading at this time. The mean width of Union Park street is some 70 to 80 feet long its entire length, with the exception of that portion between Washington street and Harrison avenue, and I feel that the character of the property that is to-day on Union Park street on one side—the side which will in all probability be widened—is such that it would be wisdom on the part of the city to act upon this matter at once. There is no telling when real estate speculators may get in there and put up a different character of buildings than are to he found there at the present time, mostly ramshackle wooden affairs. As I understand it, the parties most interested in the Cathedral at that point have made arrangements with the owners of property that would be affected by the widening—if I am correctly informed—and they are agreeable to joining with the city in the matter of this public improvement, to the end that the city will not be compelled to pay unjust or unfair prices for any property that may be taken in consequence of the widening. There is no valid reason—none that suggests itself to me—why the edifice of this particular denomination should not have as good surroundings as are to-day found in the vicinity of the leading church of another denomination on Copley square; and, in view of the fact that this section of the city is bound to develop eventually, the possibility is always present that expensive buildings may be constructed there at some time in the future, and if the widening then takes place it will cost the city a great deal more than it would be compelled to pay at the present time. In view of the additional fact that those persons interested in adding to the æsthetic value of the property at that particular point are agreeahle to so handling that part of the proposition that the city will not be compelled to pay unfair or unwarranted prices for the takings that may be made, I sincerely hope that reconsideration will prevail, that the rule will be suspended and the order placed on its passage.

Coun. ATTRIDGE—Mr. President, this matter of the improving of Union Park street from Harrison avenue to Washington street is just as dear to me as it is to the gentleman from Ward 17 (Coun. Curley). I believe personally that something should he done, and done quickly, in regard to improving this section of our city. That is the district in which I reside. I think I know the conditions which exist in the South End, but at all times I have not tried to further the interests of my own section of the city to the detriment of the interests of the rest of the city. I favor the widening of Union Park street from Harrison avenue to Washington street. I believe it is necessary irrespective of the fact that the Finance Commission has sent a report to the Mayor and the City Council in reference to it, said report in a way stating that it was not a necessary improvement. My opinion, differing from that of the Finance Commission, is that it is a necessary improvement, and my opinion is backed up by the statement of the Street Commissioners that it is a necessary improvement. I desire to see the money appropriated for the widening of this street at this particular point, but I want in this Council to be fair to every member of the Council. I don't want to take an unfair advantage of any memher to-day, which I believe I might do if I wished by urging suspension of the rule. Of course, I am not reflecting on the gentleman on this side of the Chamber, but I believe that this should bc referred to the Executive Committee so as to give all the memhers of the Council a chance to look into the matter.

Coun. CURLEY—Mr. President, may I ask the gentleman to yield for a question?

Coun. ATTRIDGE—Yes.

Coun. CURLEY—I would ask the gentleman it it is not a fact that a similar order, or one calling for a loan of $75,000, has heen hefore the Committee on Finance for the hetter part of a year?

Coun. ATTRIDGE—It is true that an order has been hefore a committee of the City Council. I myself introduced an order in this City Council in regard to this particular improvement, but I understand that there are some members of this Council who dcsire to go to the South End section of the city and to look over the district. I can name two memhers of this Council who desire to inspect that street at this time. I went with the members of the Council when they made the trip through the city, I think about a year ago, with the Mayor. All the members did not go with the Mayor through Union Park street. I was one of the memhers who did. I don't want to be unfair. I want every memher of the Council to have a chance to go into that section of the city.

Coun. CURLEY—Mr. President, I would like to ask the gentleman a question. I would like to ask, in relation to those two particular gentlemen who have not visited this particular section, if in his opinion they are not as well informed with relation to the surroundings as any member of this Council, with the possible exception of himself?

Coun. ATTRIDGE—Mr. President, I cannot answer that question as to whether they are as well informed as to the conditions as myself. I feel that I am well informed of the conditions there, but simply because I am well informed I do not take it for granted that the other members of the Council are well informed. I trust in fairness to the members of the Council that the gentleman from Ward 17 will be fair and that he will allow this order to go to the Executive Committee to-day. I have no doubt as to the final result. That is, I feel that when these members of the Council inspect that particular district they will agree with me that the widening of this street is a necessary improvement, not only from the æsthetic hut from the useful viewpoint. I trust that the gentleman from Ward 17 will withdraw his motion to reconsider and will allow the order to go to the Executive Committee.

Coun. CURLEY—Mr. President, if I felt that it was necessary that any member of the Council should have an opportunity to visit this particular point, or if I felt that there was any member of the Council who was not familiar with the conditions there, I would he willing to withdraw; but in view of the fact that everybody is familiar with the surroundings and conditions there, I see no reason why I should withdraw my motion for reconsideration of the reference. I feel on this matter, as I have felt on some other matters, that the members of the Council are not altogether guided hy their own opinions as to what is right and just in the matter, hut desire to he governed by the recommendation or viewpoint of some other person. I accordingly shall insist on my motion.

Coun. KENNY—Mr. President, let us assume for a moment that this is a very meritorious proposition. Even so, why should we take it up the very first day the order comes in and passes to its first reading? It is unprecedented, it is absurd, it is ludicrous on the face of it, that we should take a proposition involving $75,000 and start it on its way to becoming a law within ten minutes after it gets to us. I think my friend from Ward 9 (Coun. Attridge) has stated what is exactly so, that this is a matter that should be referred to the committee and, after due and proper consideration, should he reported hack here like any other matter. $75,000! What is $75,000? I trust that the motion to reconsider will not prevail.

Coun. CURLEY—Mr. President, the gentleman's position on this matter suggests to my mind a story told of Chauncy Depew when visiting Scotland—and I say this without any intent to slight my friend on the other side of the Chamber. He had not visited Scotland before for five years, and as the ship was pulling in to the dock it was apparent that there was something ridiculous, ludicrous, amusing, affecting the men on the dock. They all hegan to laugh. Mr. Depew's friend said to him, "See all those men on the dock laughing. I wonder what it is all ahout?" "Oh," said Mr. Depew, "I was over here ahout five years ago and told a joke, and they just see the point." Now, if this were the first time that the matter was up for consideration by this Board I feel perhaps that my position would he an extreme one to take upon it, hut the fact is that it is not the first time that it has heen up. It has heen up for a number of years; it has heen hefore the committee of which the gentleman on the other side of the Chamher is chairman for some six or seven months; the Finance Commission has investigated into the merits of the proposition, and have made a recommendation which in all prohability has heen read hy every memher of the Council. So in no sense is it a new proposition. It may perhaps he an old proposition with a new suit of clothes, but it is an old proposition, the widening of Union Park street. The only question that calls for a difference of opinion here is whether it shall be widened out of the Reserve Fund or shall he taken up under an order referred to the Committee on Finance and provided for by loan. I tried to agree with my friend on the other side of the Chamher on the merits of a proposition appropriating $296,000 for the City Hospital. He was perfectly willing to favor the proposition if it came out of the Reserve Fund, but did not helieve it should come out of a loan. Now, here is a proposition that should just appeal to him. It will come out of the Reserve Fund, and I cannot understand why he takes an opposite position on this matter to the position he has so consistently pursued from the beginning. The fact remains that, if what my friend on the left says is true, it is a meritorious proposition. He has no douht that it will he finally considered favorably by the Council. Why delay? Why not dispose of it now? If it is meritorious and we are to pass it eventually, why not consider it now and dispose of it? That is sound reasoning, at least from my viewpoint, and I helieve it hears out the argument of the gentleman himself.

Coun. ATTRIDGE—Mr. President, if the gentleman will yield for a moment, would the gentleman allow memhers of the Board time to visit the district and inspect the property to be taken, if some members have not had an opportunity up to the present time to do so and have not done so?

Coun. CURLEY—Mr. President, I have no desire to prevent any memher ohtaining proper information hefore voting upon any matter. I don't helieve there is a memher of this Board who is not posted in regard to this matter. That is my position. If I felt that there was any memher of the Board who was not familiar with the surroundings there I would be perfectly agreeable to further delay. But I am quite sure that my friend on the other side of the Chamber is as familiar with the locality as I am. The councilor on my right says he has visited it, the councilor on my left has visited it, and Coun. Attridge lives in the district. I have frequented the district some lately, perhaps to my own disadvantage; Coun. McDonald is familiar with the district; Coun. Ballantyne has huilt houses in that particular section; and Coun. Smith, of course, heing a real estate hroker, is familiar with conditions all over the city. Coun. Collins, I believe, was christened in that particular parish. So every memher of the Board, as far as that goes, is familiar with the situation, and I don't see what is to be gained by further delay upon the proposition. We are all familiar with it. We all recognize the fact that it is a meritorious proposition, that it is a matter which, both from the æsthetic and the useful standpoint, has a great dcal of merit. We also recognize the fact that there is a possihility that construction of a different character from that which ohtains there at the present time may come into vogue, and that a few years from now, instead of having this improvement for $75,000, the city may he compelled to spend $300,000 or $400,000. We are also familiar with the fact that the same condition obtains with reference to this street widening as obtains in relation to the widening of Dorchester street—that certain strong, honest, puhlic-spirited characters have interposed themselves into the matter of the street widening, so that the city shall not be obliged to spend one dollar more than is honestly necessary. We all know that these conditions obtain at the present time and that this is not a case where the city is to he fleeced out of any money, hut that the city's rights are to he protected and that the rights of an element in the community deserving of consideration are to he considered as well. I think, all things considered, that the city would henefit hy immediate action on the proposition, and I trust that we will have such action.

Coun. KENNY—Mr. President, the gentleman who has just taken his seat constructs a straw character of some kind and immediately proceeds to knock him down. I have not stated or undertaken to suggest how anybody was going to vote on the proposition, or whether according to my idea it should come out of loan or appropriation. I have studiously avoided anything of the sort. Still, in such cases, as all of us know, the gentleman does not hesitate to use such language as would lead one not knowing the facts to infer that I was opposing the proposition. I have said nothing ahout the proposition, except that it should he treated as a husiness matter, with a proper regard that decency requires; that this Council ought not to take a recommendation for the appropriation of $75,000 and pass upon it within ten or fifteen minutes after it comes in here. I think this is a matter that should take its course properly, should he referred to a committee and taken up calmly and impassionately, examined into and reported upon hy this Board. That is all I have argued for.

Coun. HALE—Mr. President, my friend from Ward 17 in his speech said that I had been to that neighborhood as often as he had.

Coun. CURLEY—No, I said you had heen there.

Coun. HALE—I would like to have the stenographer read what you said. (The stenographer referred to his notes.)

Coun. HALE—I think you will find on closer examination that he said I had been in that neighborhood as often as he had. Coun. Curley I suppose, like his great predecessor in the town of Washington, George Washington, cannot tell a lie. I have been there once, making a hurried visit. Therefore Coun. Curley has been there but once, making a hurried visit. I don't think anybody who has been there once hurriedly can vote intelligently upon the matter. Therefore I think Coun. Curley on his own admission is not competent to vote upon this matter yet. I think we all ought to have time to look into it further and find out just what the situation is, as Coun. Kenny says. I don't know whether I shall vote for or against it, but I want an opportunity to examine into the matter carefully and find out.

The motion to reconsider the reference was declared lost. Coun. CURLEY doubted the vote and asked for the yeas and nays. The motion was lost, yeas 2, nays 7, Coun. Buckley and Curley voting yea.

The order stood referred to the Executive Committee.

PLEASANT STREET WIDENING.

The following was received:

City of Boston,
Office of the Mayor, September 29, 1911.

To the City Council:

I transmit herewith a petition signed by many leading merchants and representatives of business houses, asking that the city accept chapter 591 of the Acts of 1911, a copy of which is attached herewith, which provides for the widening of Pleasant street from Washington street to Eliot street at Park square. This measure seems to me to make possible one of the most important street improvements that have been urged in recent years. With Pleasant street, now a narrow and crooked thoroughfare, widened to a width of 60 feet, easy connections could be made between South Boston and the business district through the subway, as well as with the West End, Cambridge and the Back Bay. It is one of those street improvements which seem predestined and as the buildings along the route are now old and the damages to be paid would in consequence be comparatively light, there is little wisdom in postponing it to a time when the benefits will be no greater or more obvious, while the cost will certainly be increased.

In bringing before your honorable body this important act of the Legislature I feel it my duty to notify you that a small parcel of real estate which would be taken in the course of the improvement is owned by one of my brothers. I have considered this feature carefully but the profit, if any, to a member of my family is so small and the improvement is so necessary that I do not feel that such a personal consideration should deter me from following what seems to be the plain path of duty. The improvement is one of wide and far-reaching influence upon the prosperity of the city. It involves the careful consideration of many financial factors and I recommend that your honorable body take up the study of the question with a view to appropriate action at the proper time.

Respectfully,
JOHN F. FITZGERALD, Mayor.

(A copy of chapter 591 of the Acts of 1911 was transmitted with the message.)

(Petitions for the widening of Pleasant street were also annexed, the same being signed by many people.)

Ordered printed and referred to the Executive Committee.

Hon. John F. Fitzgerald,

(See City Document No. 155 of 1910, a copy of which is inclosed.) This report seems to be as good an estimate as can be made at this time.

The order was given its final reading and passed, yeas 9, nays 0.

PUBLIC LANDS.

Coun. SMITH, for the Committee on Puhlic Lands, submitted a report on report and order, protests, etc. (referred September 18), concerning sale of land on Commonwealth avenue, corner Chestnut Hill avenue, Ward 25, by the Park Department—that the order ought not to pass and that the papers be placed on file.

The question came on accepting the report and rejecting the order.

Coun. SMITH—Mr. President, this order has given the Committee on Public Lands some thought. We have all of us, I think, heen out there twice, and the matter has been carefully considered. The land in question was hought hy the city in 1866. In 1896 it was transferred to the Park Department, at the time the reservoir was made at Chestnut Hill and Commonwealth avenue was extended. This cut-off hy Commonwealth avenue lies at the corner of Commonwealth avenue and Chestnut Hill avenue. It is not apparently a part of the Park Department's property. Anyhody going out to that neighhorhood would be in douht whether it belonged to the park or was simply a building lot that was vacant. When I first took the matter up personally I was very much in favor of selling it, especially as the Park Department had requested it and we in the Council here are apt to agree in the recommendations of any department, it heing an administrative matter. But we held a hearing on the matter and some thirty property owners in the vicinity appeared and brought forward certain reasons why it ought not to he sold. There were several reasons, hut the one that appealed to me most was the fact that the adjoining property had heen taxed more because it was adjoining park property. The City of Boston had been receiving an increased amount of money for some years from the surrounding property. While we all know that the Park Department may make a recommendation that land he occupied hy the city for park purposes, nevertheless no precedent exists in the Park Department for selling land, and certain gentlemen were induced by that fact to huild houses adjoining this piece of land. They built expensive houses; they located them near to the houndary, off the center of their own land and near the boundary of this park land. They faced them in such a way as to get a view of the reservoir and the surrounding park, and the city really, through its past action in regard to parks and this piece of land, induced them to huild in that manner. The city is getting taxes on a greater amount of property than it otherwise would get, on that account. It seems to me, under these circumstances, while the Park Department may not have any particular use for this land while it is cut off from the rest of the park, nevertheless the city is hound to recognize a certain moral duty and keep this land for future purposes. My attitude is not to keep it indefinitely. The surrounding property owners have put restrictions on their land which expire in 1925. When those restrictions expire it seems to me that the city would he free to sell. If the property owners do not look beyond 1925 for their own pieces of land, certainly they could not have been influenced heyond that time in regard to the surrounding land. In making this recommendation, as chairman of the committee, I personally hope the matter will be hrought up in 1925. The Park Department then will feel free to deal with the matter as it sees fit. But at the present time I feel that we owe a duty to the people there not to disturb this land.

On motion of Coun. BUCKLEY further consideration of the matter was assigned to the next meeting.

ORDINANCES.

Coun. McDONALD, for the Committee on Ordinances, submitted a report on proposed ordinance (referred April 24) concerning the height of memhers of the Fire Department—recommending the passage of the ordinance in the following new draft:

City of Boston.

In the Year Nineteen Hundred and Eleven.

An Ordinance Concerning Memhers of the Fire Department.

Be it ordained by the City Council of Boston, as follows:

Any person five feet six inches or more in height nd weighing not less than one hundred and thirty pounds shall be eligible for appointment as a member of the Fire Department of the City of Boston, provided that such person meets the other requirements necessary for such appointment.

The question came on accepting the report.

Coun. KENNY—Mr. President, I move that that report be recommitted to the Committee on Ordinances and that they be directed to obtain from the Corporation Counsel an opinion as to whether or not it is necessary for this Council to accept the provisions of that act.

Coun. CURLEY—Mr. President, I trust that that motion will not prevail. The question of the adoption of an order along the lines outlined in the statute enactment of this year has been hefore the Committee on Ordinances for several months. At no time during that period was the question of consulting the Corporation Counsel thought of by any member, or at least suggested by any member. Apparently the only reason for delay is the desire to afford an opportunity for those men who by the will of the Almighty are less than 5 feet 7 in height to have the same opportunity as those who hy the will of the Aimighty are ahove 5 feet 7 in height. Now, it would be rather hard to contemplate what the history of civilization and the history of the world might be if the world's progress depended entirely upon men ahove 5 fect 7 inches in height. We had a visitor to this country recently who stood less than 5 feet in height — who, as a matter of fact is but 4 feet 8 in height — and who was hailed as the higgest man of his country, in spite of the fact that he was not 5 feet in height. I refer to Admiral Togo, the Japanese naval hero. We have had an ohject lesson in regard to the relative valor and capacity of tall and short men in the war between Japan and Russia. The Japanese, who rarely exceed 5 feet in height, found no difficulty in disposing of the Russians, the majority of whom are above 6 feet in height. General Grant, the greatest hero produced hy the Civil War, was not of sufficient height to hecome a memher of our Fire Department, if certain members of the City Council had the decision in the matter, and yet no man will gainsay that, although General Grant was hut 5 feet 2 inches in height, he was the greatest general of the Civil War. Napoleon Bonaparte, perhaps the greatest character in European history, was only 4 feet 10 inches in height. The present chief executive of our city is not above 5 feet 7 inches in height, and if there were a height qualification of 5 feet 10 inches for Mayor of Boston John F. Fitzgerald would not he eligihle. It is all very well to interfere with the rulings of divine providence, but I have always been led to helieve that the Civil Service Commission existed for the purpose of furnishing the various national, state and city departments with men of a high standard, and if a short man can take the examination and the necessary mental and physical tests, receiving a position upon the civil service list that places him near the top, above men taller than he is, if he is in every way eligihle for the duties of the service I helieve he is entitled to the position. If the standard referred to were in vogue during the past twenty-five or thirty years the city would he deprived of the services in the department of men who have rendered the ablest and best service. Chief Grady is less than 5 feet 5 inches in height; Keyes, I believe, is but 5 feet 6 inches. I don't feel that it would come with good grace from Coun. McDonald or myself, men who are not legal lights, or from Coun. Ballantyne, not quite a legal light, to ask an opinion of the Corporation Counsel on a matter of law that is just as plain as the A B C's in the ordinary school book. I think the law is so plain that all of us can understand it. I do not believe the purpose of the motion is to get a legal opinion hy which the board may be guided. Rather is the purpose to secure delay, that pressure may be brought on someone to perhaps get them to break away from the action that was taken in the committee. I don't want to take up the time of the Council. I only want to emphasize the fact that there are certain contingencies in which short men are more valuable than tall men. A short man, as a rule, possesses greater agility, energy, activity, and in nine cases out of ten greater courage than a tall man — and I say that although I am above 5 feet 7 inches in height myself. I say that was never more fittingly shown than in the campaign with General Grant, in the campaign of Bonaparte, in the campaign of the Japanese against the Russians. If height were the standard of fitness hy which the outcome were to be determined, the Russians would have overwhelmed the Japanese, but the Japanese, although short men, proved their worth in every critical situation in which they were placed. The largest business corporation we have here, the Boston Elevated Railway Company, makes a standard of 5 feet 4 inches for its conductors, and the height for motormen, I believe, is 5 feet 6 inches. At any rate, 5 feet 4 inches is the height standard for conductors, and if men 5 feet 4 inches in height are considered proper men hy that corporation to run that husiness, I see no reason why a man 5 feet 6 inches in height is not up to a reasonahle and fair standard for the Fire Department. I hope the ordinance as reported by the Committee on Ordinances will be adopted.

Coun. KENNY—Mr. President, it is not a question of 5 feet 6 or 5 feet 7 or 5 feet 8 at the present time, and I don't quite see what the occasion is for this long continued argument in regard to the desirahility of having men of 5 feet 5 or 7 inches in height, from the gentleman on the other side. My motion was that the matter be referred to the Corporation Counsel, that we might be advised what our legal rights are under this act. I have very serious douhts myself whether the Council should take any action along this line, and as a consequence of that I should he very content to allow it to rest in that way, allowing the matter to remain where it properly helongs, in the hands of the appointing power, in the hands of the Fire Commissioner. He is the head of the department. He has the responsihilities which go with the administration of the office. He will be either a success or otherwise according to the manner in which he runs his department, and I think this is a matter that should he left entirely under his control and within his discretion and direction. I have a very set opinion on that, and it would take some considerahle argument even from the gentleman from Ward 17 on the other side to convince me that my position is wrong—and then I don't admit that he would convince me. I hope that my motion will pass. If it does, and the Corporation Counsel rules that this is not a matter with which the City Council need necessarily involve, or trouhle itself to take up, then I shall expect the commissioner, whoever he might he now or in the years to come, to select the men he considers of the proper weight and height. I do not say that a man should he 5 feet 6 or 5 feet 7 or 5 feet 8, although as a matter of fact, taking the tables of the largest cities in the country and comparing them, I think you will find only one or two instances where the height drops below 5 feet 7 inches. In New York, St. Louis, Chicago and other large cities the requirement is either 5 feet 7 inches or ahove. I don't say the height should he 5 feet 5, 6 or 7 at this time. I do say that it is a matter that I am willing, as a memher of the Council, to leave at the discretion of the appointing power, the Fire Commissioner, the man charged with the duties and responsihilities of the department, protecting the property interests of the City of Boston. I don't think the City Council should concern itself with the question. It is a matter of executive discretion on the part of the Fire Commissioner in running and looking after his department.

Coun. ATTRIDGE—Mr. President, I desire to say that I shall oppose the motion which has heen made by the gentleman on the other side of the Chamber, that the report of the committee be recommitted with a request that the Corporation Counsel suhmit an opinion. I have in my hand a book containing the acts of 1911, and the chapter in reference to the powers of the City Council is chapter 352. There are just a little over three lines in that act. The act, in my opinion, is very plain and can be easily comprehended. It says:

'No regulations concerning the height or weight of persons who shall be eligihle to become memhers of the fire department in any city or town shall he made or enforced except by the city council of the city or by the selectmen of the town."

According to that the Fire Commissioner himself has no right under the law to make any regulations governing the height and weight of firemen. This act, passed hy this year's Legislature, gives the right to the city councils of the various cities and the hoards of selectmen of the various towns. The act is not, in my opinion, an intricate act. It is an act of but three or four lines, less than four lines, and it is very plain. It says that no regulation shall be made or enforced except by the City Council. I personally don't want to interfere with the department as conducted hy Fire Commissioner Daly. I don't want to he charged with trying to interfere with the conduct of the department. But when the Legislature says that the City Council may make the regulations in regard to the height and weight, then I, as a member of the City Council, intend to exercise that right, that privilege, that statutory right, which is given to me as one memher of the Council, to make, if I helieve it necessary, regulations governing the height and weight of men who are candidates for the Fire Department of the city. For that reason I am going to vote against recommitting this order to the committee, and later I may have something to say as to what my opinion is as to the height and weight of candidates for the Fire Department.

Coun. McDONALD—Mr. President, I sincerely trust that this ordinance will not be recommitted to the committee. I am not a lawyer as Mr. Curley says, and I don't claim to know anything about law. But I suppose the Committee on Cities when they caused this statute to he drawn up knew what they were ahout. The chairman of the committee was a lawyer, Senator Stearns of Cambridge, and the original act that they drew up standardized the height of firemen at 5 feet 5 inches. Governor Foss refused to sign it because of the fact that he did not helieve the Legislature should interfere, as he said, with the hoards of aldermen of the cities and the selectmen of the towns in this matter. He refused to sign it unless they struck out the words "five feet five inches," and allowed it to go to the city councils and the hoards of selectmen, who were to make the standard. Now, I don't care whether it is sent to the Corporation Counsel or not. That same motion was made in committee. He cannot convince me that this statute does not give us the right to make a standard of 5 feet 5 or 5 feet 6. Personally I do not favor 5 feet 6. I think 5 feet 4 is tall enough. But we compromised, hecause there are some young men whose names have heen turned down, names that have heen before the Fire Commissioner for two years. They are 5 feet 6, and he will not appoint them because of his 5 foot 7 standard, a standard that he made himself. At the last meeting, two weeks ago, I was taken to task hecause I did not call a meeting of the committee on the height of firemen and on the huilding limits. I said that I would call a meeting hefore this meeting, and I did. Now we find that they want to recommit the matter of the height of firemen back to the committee, after taking me to task in that way two weeks ago. I am not in favor of 5 feet 6, hut I am willing to vote for that as a compromise. I am in favor of a standard of 5 feet 4 or 5 feet 5, thinking that that is just as good as 5 feet 7. But this is a compromise measure, and I hope that the ordinance as reported will he adopted and the standard set.

Coun. KENNY—Mr. President, my idea this afternoon was to get the opinion of the Corporation Counsel and not the opinions of some memhers of the committee. It is true that the statute says the Council may have the right, hut it doesn't say it shall exercise the right, and that is what I want to get at. I merely make this as a reply to the memher from Ward 9, not intending to take the time of the Council.

Coun. BALLANTYNE—Mr. President, I would like to say just a word in support of the motion made by Coun. Kenny. I am not a legal light, as Coun. Curley has said.

Coun. CURLEY—Almost, I said.

Coun. BALLANTYNE—But I can read this act, and I interpret it about the same as my friend Attridge on the other side—that the City Council has a right to make a regulation as to the height of firemen. The question that I would like the Corporation Counsel to decide, as stated by Coun. Kenny, is as to what effect it would have if this Council took no action whatever. If I read this act aright, if I understand it correctly, Fire Commissioner Daly to-day has no right to reject any man on account of height or weight. The act reads:

"No regulations concerning the height or weight of persons who shall he eligihle to become memhers of the Fire Department in any city or town shall he made or enforced except by the city council of the city or by the selectmen of the town."

If this City Council fails to make any regulation then there is no regulation, and for that reason the Fire Commissioner has no right to reject any man on these two points, height and weight. So, taking the case of a man 5 feet 4 or 5 feet 5 inches in height, going hefore the Fire Commissioner and being rejected on account of his height or weight, the Fire Commissioner is violating that law, and

I want the Corporation Counsel to give us his opinion as to whether we are compelled to make this regulation or not. If we are not compelled to make a regulation, I am in favor of leaving the matter in the hands of the Fire Commissioner and letting him select the men, and then by that law he has no right to discriminate as to height and weight of the men.

Coun. BUCKLEY—Mr. President, I dislike to take up the time of the Council talking on this matter, but I am rather surprised that Coun. Ballantyne should speak in favor of the motion, in view of the fact that in the committee he opposed it, and it was he himself who suggested 5 feet 6. It may seem that the Fire Commissioner is violating the law at the present time, but, as a matter of fact, if a man does come down there under 5 feet 7 inches in height he is rejected by the Fire Commissioner as not fit to serve in the Boston Fire Department. If the Fire Commissioner has a right to do that he certainly avails himself of that right, and to-day a young man under 5 feet 5 cannot serve in the Boston Fire Department. It seems to me the act is plain enough without having to send to the Corporation Counsel for his opinion. We sent to him before on a matter relative to the Boston Fire Department—as to whether or not we should put on fifty additional firemen—and then Coun. Kenny, after listening to his advice, totally ignored it and voted against the advice of the Corporation Counsel. I myself did the same thing. I don't believe we want the advice of the Corporation Counsel in this matter. We are sent here by the people of Boston to do what we think is right, and in matters where the law is so obscure that we want advice we are supposed to send for him and act on the advice he gives to us, believing it is right. But in this matter we are acting within our rights and the law is perfectly plain. We ought not to delay the matter, but should vote in favor of this order to-day and in favor of accepting the act.

Coun. BALLANTYNE—Mr. President, I would like to just correct my brother on the other side. He says he is very much surprised that I should support a motion of this kind. I think that Coun. Buckley was present at the meeting of the Executive Committee when I offered the motion, and Coun. Kenny advocated the passage of the motion in committee. So I don't think the councilor should be much surprised at my advocating the motion here.

Coun. BUCKLEY—I was not present at any meeting of the Executive Committee.

Coun. BALLANTYNE—I mean the Committee on Ordinances. I beg pardon.

Coun. BUCKLEY—I was present this afternoon at a meeting of the Committee on Ordinances, and Coun. Ballantyne did offer a motion, but as I remember it it was not the exact motion offered here. But Coun. Kenny very kindly put the words in Coun. Ballantyne's mouth and made the same sort of motion for him in that committee.

Coun. BALLANTYNE—Mr. President, I think Coun. Buckley ought to withdraw that statement. I made the motion, and it seemed that Coun. Buckley could not quite understand the motion I made, and Coun. Kenny tried to explain it to him.

Coun. KENNY—Mr. President, I, too, would like to correct a statement made by the member from Charlestown. He says that I totally ignored —I think those are the words, totally ignored—the opinion of the Corporation Counsel. That is not a true statement of the facts. I gave the opinion of the Corporation Counsel the utmost respect and the consideration I thought it was entitled to—and I thought it was entitled to great consideration.

Coun. BUCKLEY—Mr. President, I would like to inform the councilor that we sent for the Corporation Counsel at that particular time to know what our rights were, and after he explained what our rights were in the matter he voted directly contrary to his opinion, as the records will show.

Coun. KENNY—That is true. That I admit. But when the gentleman says that I totally ignored his opinion he is stating something that is not true. I say again that I have the utmost respect for the Corporation Counsel and his opinion. So far as I can do so I endeavor to agree with him. I found myself unable to do so in that case and I concluded that I would stand on my own opinion. But I never for a moment have ignored or shown the slightest sign of disrespect for the Corporation Counsel.

Coun. SMITH—Mr. President, as so often happens here we are descending into personalities and getting into an argument that seems to me rather beside the point. It only illustrates what I have so often said before and now repeat, that we should do most of our discussing of matters of public interest in the open Council, because we have an example here of how one man says he said one thing and another man says he said another, and there is no way to settle it because it is not reported and there are no stenographic notes to check it up. It seems to me it is a good deal better to do our talking here. As a matter of fact, I think I have the deciding vote in this matter, and I am very glad to support this amendment for this reason and only for this reason. One of the councilors desires to have an opinion of the Corporation Counsel on one point——

Coun. CURLEY—Is the gentleman aware that Coun. Hale has changed his mind since he talked with him last? Perhaps the gentleman has not the deciding vote.

Coun. SMITH—Mr. President, I was simply judging from the vote as taken in committee, which again may be fallacious. The fact remains that I am voting in support of this amendment for one reason only, and that is in deference to one of the councilors who desires the opinion of the Corporation Counsel on a certain point. I myself have no doubt whatever that Coun. Attridge is right in his reading of the act. There is no doubt in my mind that we have a right to act in the matter as we see fit. There is no question about the matter in my mind and no need of referring it to the Corporation Counsel, as I see it. But I am willing to refer it, out of deference to another councilor, and I hope the same deference will be shown to me when I ask it. I trust that I will not be met in the future as I have been in the past when I have made requests of that sort and when the same etiquette has not been shown to me. I think this is a case where I have pushed harder than anybody else. I asked for a report of the committee two weeks ago, asked the chairman of the Committee on Ordinances to call a meeting and have the matter brought up. I think I was the one who forced it to the front, without throwing bouquets at myself. But in deference to one of the councilors who desires a legal point settled, a point that seems perfectly plain to me, I will vote for the amendment. I hope, however, that the matter will be taken up and settled speedily. As so often happens I find myself at odds with the Council, because I am opposed to delay. I have been consistently opposed to putting over action on important matters that should be acted upon. But in this case I am very glad, as a matter of etiquette, to vote for the amendment.

Coun. CURLEY—Mr. President, it is very unfortunate that the legal lights on the other side of the Chamber cannot agree on the matter of the law involved in the proposition. I feel myself that the law is entirely clear and that we should not have any unnecessary delay in the matter. The fact remains that when the Committee on Ordinances met the majority were in favor of a 5 foot 6 standard, and as soon as they came into the Board, as my friend from Ward 11 on the other side of the Chamber says, the situation is changed, so that instead of being the minority champion in the Committee on Ordinances he becomes the majority champion here, and, as he says, has the deciding vote on the proposition. He objects to delay in the matter of legislation in the City Council here, and yet he sets himself up as a party to further delay. If you want to avoid further delay, Brother Smith, vote down the motion to refer to the Corporation Counsel and vote in favor of the 5 foot 6 ordinance to-day. You and Coun. Kenny and Coun. Ballantyne and everybody else have sufficient common sense to know that there isn't any knotty problem of law involved here, that the act is so plain that it is possible for me or any other layman to understand it. It is simple, does not take up more than three lines. There is no intricacy, no hidden meaning. It is just simply a plain proposition. You know that we have a right to do it. Of course, there is nothing that compels us to do it, but until such time as we do it the head of the Fire Department, with the Civil Service Commission, can appoint men of whatever height and weight he wishes, provided they agree with him on it. This simply straightens the matter out. While personally I would rather see the limit 5 feet 4 than 5 feet 6, still that is the height agreed on in the committee and is a fair, reasonable height, and I think we should pass the order in that way. The only purpose to be served by reference to the Corporation Counsel is the purpose of additional delay. There will be no change in mind here, no additional vote. You have your minds made up to-day, and why not act on the matter now? I trust that the proposition will not be referred.

Coun. SMITH—Mr. President, the councilor who has just spoken has credited me with the motto "Do it now!" That bas been my motto consistently throughout tbe year, and I am only waiving it now out of deference to one of tbe members of this Board. I would like to have the same deference shown to me in like cases later.

Coun. CURLEY—It will not be.

Coun. SMITH—Vell, I have no doubt it will not be, and I would like to cite an instance where it was not, three weeks ago, or possibly two weeks ago, in this Board.

President COLLINS—The question comes——

Coun. SMITH—I am explaining my vote on this motion.

President COLLINS—On what motion?

Coun. SMITH—The motion before us.

President COLLINS—You can explain your vote but you cannot go into irrelative orders and other debates. If we do that we will never get tbrough.

Coun. SMITH—Thank you. I am voting in favor of this amendment out of deference to Coun. Ballantyne, who desires more information on a point wbich to most of the Council is absolutely plain. A like occasion arose tbree weeks ago in regard to Otter street. There was a doubt whether the city could sell land on Otter street, and I asked the Council to delay action until we had a chance to ask the Corporation Counsel an exactly similar question to tbe one now before us. The Council voted me down by a vote of 6 to 3, I think it was. I was simply asking delay until the Corporation Counsel could pass in the matter of selling land on Otter street; and, as it turned out, when we did ask the Corporation Counsel under guise of another motion we found that we did have the right to sell land on Otter street, and that the city could offset tbat against the extension of Arlington street. I simply cite that as an instance, not with any idea of heaping coals of fire on other people's heads. I am simply voting on this matter as I do out of courtesy to Coun. Ballantyne.

Coun. HALE—Mr. President, I am very much amused at the way we are voting here to-day. Assuming that the view of Coun. Ballantyne—almost a lawyer, as Coun. Curley says—is correct, I understand that if we don't take any action, don't pass a 5 foot 6, 5 foot 5, 5 foot 4 or 5 foot 10 regulation in regard to the height of firemen, the Fire Commissioner is unable to reject a man on account of his height or weight. Is that the point?

Coun. BALLANTYNE—My point is that the Fire Commissioner has been violating the law ever since the passage of this act by refusing to accept men because of their height or weight.

Coun. HALE—That is exactly what I thought was tbe gentleman's position. Assuming that that is true, I want to say that I agree very strongly with Coun. Ballantyne in his legal opinion. We have this situation. Tbe councilor from Ward 9, the councilor from Charlestown and the councilor from Ward 17, wbom I have always thought of as champions of small firemen, are here in favor of a motion which will make ineligible any man below 5 feet 6. Coun. McDonald has been the champion of the 5 foot 4 men, and he is here to-day in favor of action which will make them ineligible to membership in the Boston Fire Department. I tbink that is a very amusing situation.

Coun. McDONALD—Mr. President, I don't suppose that needs any reply, but just in passing I want to say that it doesn't make any difference how I vote to-day—that wbether the Corporation Counsel decides that we do not have to take any action or not, the Fire Commissioner will have to appoint the men, will have to decide, and that nobody under 5 feet 7 will be appointed by Mr. Daly. That has been his policy since the act was adopted and will be his policy, no matter what the Corporation Counsel says. So far as I am concerned I don't care what he says, because I wouldn't take his opinion anyway. I think I am able to do my own voting and am able to put a proper interpretation on that statute, and I am going to vote for a 5 foot 6 standard because of the fact that we did not have the votes—to use the words of that eminent statesman from Ward 12—to make the standard 5 feet 5 or 5 feet 4. Therefore we accepted the 5 foot 6 standard. But it does not make any difference whether we recommit it to the committee or not, as far as getting an opinion of the Corporation Counsel is concerned; that opinion will make no difference to Mr. Daly. The Corporation Counsel may send down an opinion twenty different ways, and it will take twenty other corporation counsels to interpret it after be sends it to us. I trust, whether this is recommitted or not, that the members of the Council will vote as to the standard of firemen, that is, the height of firemen, and not recommit this to the Corporation Counsel for his opinion.

Coun. SMITH—Mr. President, of course I am very sympathetic witb Coun. McDonald in this matter of delay. I hate to see this delay, and I trust that if the Corporation Counsel gives an opinion and it is sent down to us, to Mr. McDonald's committee, he will have a meeting of the committee and discuss it and act upon it at the earliest possible time. I trust that there may be no misunderstanding about that and that this matter may be acted upon at the earliest possible moment.

Coun. Kenny's motion, that the report and ordinance be recommitted to the Committee on Ordinances with instructions to obtain the opinion of the Corporation Counsel as to wbether or not it is necessary that such an ordinance should be passed, and the effect of the failure of the City Council to pass any ordinance, was declared carried by a rising vote, 5 to 4.

Coun. CURLEY doubted the vote and asked for the yeas and nays, and the motion was carried, yeas 5, nays 4:

Yeas—Coun. Ballantyne, Collins, Hale, Kenny, Smith—5. Nays—Coun. Attridge, Buckley, Curley, McDonald—4.

DISPOSAL OF GARBAGE.

Coun. McDONALD offered an order—That the Commissioner of Public Works be requested, through his Honor the Mayor, to inform the City Council what action has been taken by him, if any, concerning the disposal of garbage.

Coun. McDONALD offered an order—That the Committee on Ordinances give a public hearing on Tuesday, October 17, at two o'clock p. m., on the proposed ordinance establishing tbe building limits, and that due notice of the same be published in the daily papers.

SALE OF ALMSHOUSE PROPERTY.

Coun. CURLEY moved No. 5 be taken from the table, viz.:

5. Ordered, That the Boston Infirmary Trustees be and hereby are authorized, with the approval of the Mayor, to sell to the Boston Elevated Railway Company for a sum not less than seventy-two thousand dollars ($72,000) the property in the Charlestown district known as the Charlestown Almshouse, with the land connected therewith, containing about 102,400 square feet, and upon such sale his Honor the Mayor is hereby authorized, in the name and behalf of tbe city, to execute a deed satisfactory to the Law Department, conveying said premises to said company for a consideration not less than seventy-two thousand dollars ($72,000), to be determined by said trustees and approved as aforesaid.

On July 17 the foregoing order was read once and passed, yeas 6, nays 0.

Coun. SMITH—Mr. President, as chairman of the Committee on Public Lands I would like to make this statement. I asked at the last meeting of the Council that this matter be postponed, for this reason, and this reason only, that in connection with the Commonwealth avenue land sale there was great difference of opinion as to the value of the land.

President COLLINS—The Chair would state to Coun. Smith that when this matter is taken from the table, if the motion prevails, it will be in order to debate it, but that until that motion prevails debate is out of order.

The motion to take from the table was lost by a rising vote, 3 to 4.

ACCEPTANCE OF BICKNELL AVENUE.

Coun. CURLEY offered an order—That the Board of Street Commissioners be requested to accept and lay out as a public street Bicknell avenue, Ward 18.

Passed.

AMENDMENTS TO REVISED LAWS.

The following was received:

City of Boston,
Office of the Mayor, October 9, 1911.

To the City Council:

For the reasons given in the letter of the Corporation Counsel written under date of October 9, 1911. which is attached hereto, I beg to recommend the passage of the accompanying ordinance which amends certain sections of chapter 47 of the Revised Laws of 1898 by striking out the words "Superintendent of Streets and Water Commissioner" and inserting in place thereof the words "Commissioner of Public Works," and by striking out the word "aldermen" and inserting in place thereof the words "Street Commissioners."

Respectfully,
JOHN F. FITZGERALD, Mayor.

October 9, 1911.

Hon. John F. Fitzgerald,
Mayor of Boston:

Dear Sir,—Some difficulties have arisen in court concerning the enforcement of the prohibitions and penalties contained in chapter 47 of the Revised Ordinances on account of the fact that said chapter has not been changed to conform to the charter amendment giving the street commissioners jurisdiction over constructions in the streets, and the ordinance creating the Department of Public Works. Although the objections are somewhat fanciful, in my opinion, owing to section 7 of chapter 219 of the Revised Laws, yet it is plain that the chapter should be amended.

I inclose draft of an ordinance making the necessary changes.

Yours respectfully,
THOMAS M. BABSON,
Corporation Counsel.

To the City Council:

In reply to the order passed by your honorable body at its meeting of September 18, to the effect that "his Honor the Mayor be requested to investigate the conduct of the Building Department as per charges of Local Union No. 175 of the U. A. Journeymen Plumbers, Gas Fitters, Steam Fitters, and Steam Fitters' Helpers, hereto annexed," I beg to inclose a letter received from the Building Commissioner in reply to a communication from my secretary, together with copies of a second communication to the Building Commissioner and a letter to the Boston Finance Commission, referring the subject to that body for attention.

City of Boston,
Office of the Mayor, October 4, 1911.

Boston Finance Commission:

Gentlemen,—The City Council at its meeting of September 18 passed the following order:

"That his Honor the Mayor be requested to investigate the conduct of the Building Department as per charges of Local Union No. 175 of U. A., Journeymen Plumbers, Gas Fitters, Steam Fitters and Steam Fitters' Helpers, hereto annexed."

The letter referred to, which is inclosed herewith, was forwarded by me, through my secretary, to the Building Commissioner, who has made a report, a copy of which is inclosed. The subject seems to me one which may require a more complete investigation than that which the Building Commissioner has been able to make, and I respectfully ask your commission to include it among the matters of public interest to which you are giving attention.

Yours very truly,
JOHN F. FITZGERALD, Mayor.

City of Boston,

Dear Sir,—Your letter of September 28, addressed to his Honor Mayor Fitzgerald, has been received, and I am directed to say that his Honor would like a specific report from you upon the conditions described at particular premises in the letter of A. Mason, Recording Secretary of Local 175, U. A., A. F. of L. His Honor has directed me to forward this communication and the request of the City Council for an investigation of the Building Department to the Boston Finance Commission for action by that body.

City of Boston,
Building Department, September 28, 1911.

Hon. John F. Fitzgerald,
Mayor of Boston:

Sir,—I am in receipt of a letter from Mr. William A. Leahy, accompanied by an order of the City Council and a communication from Local Union No. 175 of the United Association of Journeymen Plumbers, Gas Fitters, Steam Fitters and Steam Fitters' Helpers.

I have had several personal interviews with representatives of this organization and expressed to them a willingness and desire on the part of this department to suppress illegal work of the kind complained of.

We have visited places where it was said work was being done by unlicensed men or boys, but have been unable to find them at work, even when taking the precaution to send inspectors from other divisions than the gas division that the inspector might not be recognized.

TRADES UNION LABEL COUNCIL BOSTON MASS

Under date of September 18, 1911, I wrote the recording secretary of Local Union No. 175, in reply to a communication from him, the following letter:

City of Boston,
Building Department, September 28, 1911.
Mr. A. Mason, Recording Secretary,
Local Union No. 175,
24 Dana street, Roxbury:

Dear Sir,—Yours of September 16, is at hand. This department will undertake the prosecution of any person violating the law by working at gasfitting without a license upon the presentation of sufficient evidence. We have found it difficult to secure the evidence needed in several cases reported to us.

Yours respectfully,
ARTHUR G. EVERETT,
Building Commissioner.

I think it quite probable that, because the members of this department are well known, our efforts to secure evidence of illegal work have been fruitless, and I shall be glad to undertake the prosecution of any person performing work in violation of law when evidence that will lead to conviction is placed in my possession.

Yours respectfully,
ARTHUR G. EVERETT,
Building Commissioner.

DISPOSAL OF GARBAGE.

The following was received:

City of Boston,
Office of the Mayor, October 9, 1911.

To the City Council:

In reply to your request conveyed by me to the Commissioner of Public Works that he inform the City Council "what action has been taken by him, if any, concerning the disposal of garbage," I transmit herewith his report on the question, dated October 9, 1911.

Respectfully,
JOHN F. FITZGERALD, Mayor.

City of Boston,
Public Works Department,
City Hall, October 9, 1911.

Hon. John F. Fitzgerald,
Mayor of Boston:

With regard to the attached order of the City Council, requesting the Commissioner of Public Works, through his Honor the Mayor, to inform the City Council what action has been taken by him, if any, concerning the disposal of garbage, I respectfully submit the following information:

In response to an invitation by the Superintendent of Streets to submit proposals for removing refuse, which were opened on October 17, 1910, one bid only was received, that of J. F. Beedle. This bid was rejected. (See City Document No. 52, 1911.) Later, the Boston Disposal Company was organized and submitted a proposal for removal of refuse. This proposal was submitted to the City Council by the Mayor under date of March 13, 1911. (See City Record, issue of March 25.) This proposal was not accepted. On April 24, 1911, on invitation of the Commissioner of Public Works, advertised in the City Record, ten bids were submitted for the disposal of refuse collected by the Public Works Department, with the exception of the West Roxbury and East Boston districts, for a term of ten years from January 1, 1912. The bidders submitted their own proposals, together with proposed methods of disposal. After analysis and comparison all the bids were rejected. (See Document 82, 1911.) In a communication to the City Council, dated December 15, 1910, the Mayor asked for an appropriation of $75,000 for an incinerator in Brighton. (City Council Records, 1910, page 396.) The Faneuil Improvement Society offered objections to the erection of an incinerator in Brighton. (See City Council Records, 1910, page 411.) The City Council at its final meeting, January 30, 1912, referred the request for an appropriation to the next City Council, and so far as this department is informed, no action has been taken by the present Council on the subject referred. I would again request that this appropriation be granted, and that we be allowed to proceed with the construction of an incinerator to take care of the refuse of the Brighton district.

After several conferences with his Honor the Mayor, the members of the Finance Commission and members of the Chamber of Commerce, specifications have been drawn up for the disposal of refuse for the term of ten years. All of the above parties seemed to agree that in order to place the competition on an equitable basis, the city should designate and furnish the site where the final disposal plant should be built. With this end in view the Surveying Division of the Street Commissioners office is making a survey of Spectacle Island, with a view of taking the necessary land for a site by eminent domain, provided such site is found to be suitable.

Very respectfully,
L. K. ROURKE,
Commissioner of Public Works.

Referred to the Executive Committee.

PLAYGROUND, FOREST HILLS.

The following was received:

City of Boston,
Office of the Mayor, October 9, 1911.

To the City Council:

The need of a playground in the district about Forest Hills, or between Forest Hills and Jamaica Plain, where the population is growing rapidly, has been impressed upon me for some time and has been presented at the district meetings. I am advised that a suitable piece of land can be purchased for about twenty-five thousand dollars ($25,000) and recommend the passage of the accompanying order transferring this amount from the Reserve Fund to an appropriation to be expended under the direction of the Park Commissioners for a playground in Ward 23.

Respectfully,
JOHN F. FITZGERALD, Mayor.

Ordered, That under the provisions of chapter 261 of the Acts of 1893 the City Auditor be and hereby is authorized to transfer the sum of twenty-five thousand dollars ($25,000) from the appropriation for Reserve Fund to an appropriation to be expended under the direction of the Park Commissioners for Playground, Ward 23.

Referred to the Executive Committee.

USE OF SCHOOL BUILDINGS.

The following was received:

City of Boston,
Office of the Mayor, October 9, 1911.

To the City Council:

In the order of business for your meeting of October 9, 1911, I find the following:

"5. Report of Executive Committee, ought not to pass the order to transfer $13,000 from the Reserve Fund to an appropriation for extended use of school buildings, to be expended by the Superintendent of Public Buildings."

This report, I presume, takes exception to the form of the order rather than to its substance. I do not believe that the City Council desires to set itself in opposition to the movement for the extended use of school buildings but prefer to assume that, like myself, it is searching for a way to overcome the technical obstacles which have arisen. Such a solution seems to be presented by the accompanying ordinance creating a department for extending and supervising the use of school buildings within the City of Boston, and I desire to submit this ordinance and the order transferring thirteen thousand dollars ($13,000) from the Reserve Fund to the department when created for consideration by your honorable body.

This action will at least focus attention upon a problem which seems to be ignored by those whose proper function, in my opinion, it is to arrange such matters. The original question was referred by me to the Finance Commission and by that body to the School Committee, which reported that it had no funds for the purpose. I then, in a letter of April 8, asked the Finance Commission to answer specifically whether as the result of their investigation of the finances of the School Department they would agree with the conclusion of the School Board. No answer was received to this inquiry and the report upon the school finances, which has just been printed, contains only a passing allusion to the subject. It is too important and is too extensively favored by civic organizations and public-spirited citizens to be slighted in this manner and the ordinance and order which are hereby submitted for consideration at least offer one way of accomplishing the results desired.

Respectfully,
JOHN F. FITZGERALD, Mayor.

Ordinance creating a department for extending and supervising the use of school buildings within the City of Boston.

Be it ordained that there is hereby created within and for the City of Boston a department for the purposes hereinafter indicated, to be known as the "Department for Extending the Use of School Buildings Within the City of Boston"; that the said department shall consist of three persons, one of whom at least shall be a woman, who shall serve each for a term of one year and who shall be appointed by the Mayor.

This department shall have power to negotiate with the School Committee a lease or leases of school buildings during school vacations and for such days and parts of days as the public schools are not in session, and this department shall have the further power to issue permits for the use of such leased school buildings for meetings of the people for general education, recreational and public purposes. Said meetings shall be under the direction and supervision of the said department, and subject to such regulations as it may make to govern the same.

The members of the said department shall serve without salary, but shall have the expenditure of whatever sums of money may be appropriated in any one year for the purpose aforesaid, and so long as any amount of said appropriation shall remain unexpended, shall report to the City Council of the said City of Boston in writing, monthly, showing the way and manner in which any sum from the said appropriation has been expended and what balance, if any, remains unexpended.

Ordered, That in accordance with the provisions of chapter 261 of the Acts of 1893, the City Auditor be and hereby is authorized, with the approval of the Mayor, to transfer the sum of thirteen thousand dollars ($13,000) from the appropriation for Reserve Fund to an appropriation for the Department for Extending the Use of School Buildings Within the City of Boston.

Referred to the Committee on Ordinances.

CONSOLIDATION OF DEPARTMENTS.

Public Recreation League of Boston,
October 2, 1911.

The City Council,
City Hall, Boston, Mass.:

Gentlemen,—Inclosed is a copy of a communication sent to his Honor the Mayor under date of September 27.

Very truly yours,
E. B. MERO, Secretary.

Public Recreation League of Boston,
September 27, 1911.

Hon. John F. Fitzgerald,
Mayor of Boston:

Dear Sir,—The Public Recreation League of Boston at a meeting September 13 took the following action after discussion of the proposed consolidation of departments, and the ordinance now before the City Council to create a Park and Recreation Department.

"Voted,—That the Public Recreation League of Boston is in favor of a consolidation of departments having to do with public recreation, namely, the Park, Public Grounds, Bath and Music Departments of the City of Boston;

"That, while not at this time approving or disapproving any particular plan for such a consolidation, the League disapproves any specification or designation of occupation that would limit the membership of the commission in charge of such a department to members of particular professions;

"That the League recommends that such a department be in charge of a man or men whose general executive ability to handle large matters has been proved, in order that the department may be conducted on the broad and progressive lines necessary to the proper administration of Boston's municipal recreation facilities, with the aid of such subordinate experts as may be desirable.

"Voted,—That all appointments under the proposed consolidated Park and Recreation Department ordinance should, in the opinion of this League, be under Civil Service regulations or laws.'

The Public Recreation League of Boston is convinced that the time has come for ensuring a radical change in the policy of administering its parks, playgrounds, gymnasiums, water facilities and all the various means for recreation. The League desires to be of all possible assistance to public officials and other agencies interested in such improvements.

Section 1 of the proposed ordinance lays special emphasis upon the material side of park maintenance. The League believes this is but one feature of park administration, and that it is not the most important part at present in Boston. It is a question worth serious consideration whether it is a matter of more money to be appropriated, or whether it is largely a matter of a new policy that will put the human service in the foreground, reducing to a minimum if necessary expenditures of money for material improvements until the people are invited more effectively than now to make greater use of the various recreation facilities in the parks and elsewhere.

These facilities now cost the city for maintenance from $1,500,000 to $2,000,000 a year. It is, we believe, time to pause and note whether the people of the city are getting sufficient returns from this great outlay. You, as Mayor of Boston, have lately emphasized this point with reference to the Charles River Reservation. It is equally applicable to the other parks and public grounds, as well as to the playgrounds, the gymnasiums, the waterfront and the numerous other opportunities now only partially developed. And there are desirable methods for providing this sort of municipal activity for the people's benefit untried and scarcely known in Boston, although operated with official and popular sanction in other cities of this country and in Europe.

The Public Recreation League of Boston is fully aware of this city's initiative in establishing municipal gymnasiums, baths, parks and playgrounds, and the League does not overlook the good service being given, even under the present arrangement of multiplied divisions of authority. It believes, however, that a centralization of the work of the four departments named, under the general direction of men having the point of view of service to all the people, should bring the entire recreation service up to the standard of its present best features.

We hope you and the City Council will make possible a Park and Recreation Department that will enable Boston to resume its proper place as leader and example to other cities along these lines. If there is any way in which we can be of service, we are ready to cooperate as seems desirable.

Very respectfully,
E. B. MERO, Secretary.

(5) Report on message of Mayor, communication and order (referred October 2) for $25,000 for renovation of soil, etc., on Boston Common—that the order ought to pass.

Report accepted, order passed, yeas 9, nays 0.

(6) Report on message of Mayor, communications and order appropriating the following sums from the income of the Parkman Fund for the present year, to be expended under the direction of the Board of Park Commissioners — that the order ought to pass, viz.:

Charlesbank, completion of improvements	$600 00
Further repairs upon fence on sea wall	600 00
Castle Island, new water supply, 4-inch pipe	3,000 00
Franklin Park, bears' dens, bird cage, sewer and water supply for zoological garden	20,000 00

The PRESIDENT—The Chair will state that under the provisions of the Parkman will only such parks can benefit under the income of the Parkman Fund as were in existence at the time of the execution of the will. There seems to be some doubt as to whether or not Castle Island could benefit under this restriction. For that reason the Chair will divide the order and put the Castle Island item separately.

The order, with the exception of the item for Castle Island, was passed, yeas 9.

The item for Castle Island was also passed, yeas 8, nays 1, Coun. Smith voting no.

Coun. SMITH—Mr. President, I move reconsideration of the vote on the Castle Island item, and in that connection I would like to ask why it would not be better to refer this to the Law Department for information. There seems to be some doubt as to whether we have a right to appropriate this money for that purpose. And in view of the fact that there are so many calls on the fund and that we have committed ourselves to a large expenditure on the zoo and aquarium, an expenditure the size of which we do not yet know, it seems to me it would be wise to move slowly on these matters where the legal question is doubtful. There will be no harm likely to result. There is no immediate necessity for it. We haven't got to lay this pipe next week or even the week after. It would be better to go slow and do what we have a right to do.

Coun. KENNY—I don't see any objection to our passing the item and then if it develops that Castle Island does not come within the provisions of the Parkman will then this action will not be operative. If it does, the matter will go forward. Therefore I see no reason for not letting it go as already voted.

Coun. SMITH — May I ask Coun. Kenny whether there is any immediate necessity for this,— whether it is necessary to pass it to-day before we know our legal rights? That is, must the work be done in the immediate future?

Coun. KENNY—I don't believe it is a matter of vital necessity that it should be passed to-day any more than as to the other items in that report. The committee assume this was one of the parks that came within the will. It is a recommendation of the Mayor and the work ought to be done. It is a very meritorious thing. If the Board has not the right to do it this vote does not become effective. I have no objection to the item lying on the table one week until such time as the Corporation Counsel may be interviewed, if that would satisfy the member.

Coun. SMITH—Mr. President, I think that would do. Of course, I don't want to ask for this opinion from the Corporation Counsel as a personal favor. I would rather that the Council as a body should ask for his opinion, because it would have more weight. Therefore, rather than have it lie on the table for a week and have me personally ask for an opinion I would rather have the vote reconsidered and the Council ask for the opinion.

Coun. KENNY—In view of the fact that the question has been raised it is only fair that it should be examined into, and therefore I should have no objection to the matter being looked into and assigned for one week.

The question came on Coun. Smith's motion to reconsider. Upon a viva voce vote the result was doubted, and upon a rising vote it appeared that four were in the affirmative and three in the negative, and the motion to reconsider the vote on the Castle Island item was declared carried.

On motion of Coun. KENNY further consideration of the item was assigned for one week.

Coun. SMITH moved that the matter be referred to the Corporation Counsel for his opinion as to the legality of using Parkman Fund money for the purpose in question.

The motion was carried.

CONFIRMATION OF APPOINTMENTS.

President COLLINS called up No. 1, unfinished business, viz.:

1. Action on appointments submitted by the Mayor October 2 of Olaf Bensen, Walter G. Conant, Miss Agnes F. Farrington and James R. Taylor to be Weighers of Coal for the term ending April 30, 1912.

The question came on confirmation. Committee, Coun. Curley and McDonald. Whole number of ballots cast 7, yeas 7, and the several appointments were confirmed.

SALE OF ALMSHOUSE PROPERTY.

The Council voted, on motion of Coun. McDONALD, to take No. 4 from the table, viz.:

4. Ordered, That the Boston Infirmary Trustees be and hereby are authorized, with the approval of the Mayor, to sell to the Boston Elevated Railway Company for a sum not less than seventy-two thousand dollars ($72,000) the property in the Charlestown district known as the Charlestown Almshouse, with the land connected therewith, containing about 102,400 square feet, and upon such sale his Honor the Mayor is hereby authorized, in the name and behalf of the city, to execute a deed satisfactory to the Law Department, conveying said premises to said company for a consideration not less than seventy-two thousand dollars ($72,000), to be determined by said trustees and approved as aforesaid.

On July 17 the foregoing order was read once and passed, yeas 6, nays 0.

Coun. BUCKLEY—Mr. Chairman, when this matter was first up for discussion I opposed the passage of the order in order that I might look into the valuations of property in that particular part of Charlestown. Since then I have talked with a man who, although not a real estate expert, understands values in Charlestown, all over the district, and he said that the price for that particular place was all right. But he also said that if it could be arranged that the place across the street from where the almshouse stands, where they grow their vegetables and other property, could be taken, that he thought the Elevated also ought to take that. But he believed that the land near the property where the almshouse itself stands would not be of much use to the city after the almshouse property was taken and that they would have some trouble in disposing of it. Now I suppose that is impossible. Still, at the same time, it seems to me that if public service corporations are at all public spirited they ought to take the entire property under such circumstances. But I am not going to oppose that to-day in view of the fact that I have also found out that the Boston Elevated Railway could take land of the City of Boston by eminent domain as in the case of land of a private individual. I thought there might be a difference. But inasmuch as they could take it anyway, I don't propose to oppose it to-day, in view of the fact that it is a fair price. But the Elevated ought to take the other piece of property also.

Coun. SMITH—As chairman of the Committee on Public Lands I opposed this last time and asked that it be put over, simply on the ground that I did not feel that the price of $72,000 was a fair price. During the week I have consulted a real estate expert who assures me that the price is a fair price,—and that being the second expert we have had on the subject, it seems to me we are perfectly safe in going ahead, and there is this advantage,—if we pass it here rather than allow the Elevated to take it by eminent domain the Elevated is free to develop the property and use it for business purposes, which they are not free to do if they take it by eminent domain. Therefore, it seems to me best to pass it to-day inasmuch as it permits the Elevated to improve the property.

President COLLINS—As the Council will note, on July 17 the foregoing order was read once and passed, yeas 6, nays 0. The question comes to-day on its final reading.

The order was given its final reading and passed, yeas 8, nays 0.

COLUMBUS DAY PARADE.

Coun. BALLANTYNE offered an order—That the Fire Commissioner be hereby authorized to grant leave of absence, without loss of pay, to all employees of his department who are members of the Knights of Columbus and who wish to parade on Columbus Day, October 12, 1911.

Passed.

INFORMATION CONCERNING RETIREMENT OF LABORERS.

Coun. CURLEY—Mr. President, I should like to ask the chairman of the Committee on Finance when we might expect a report on No. 3 on the calendar.

(No. 3 on the calendar was an order calling for the acceptance of chapter 413, Acts of 1911, concerning Retirement Fund for city laborers.)

Coun. KENNY—Mr. President, I am not in possession of any information which would authorize me to answer that question other than that I have heard a communication read here this afternoon stating there was some intention on the part of the Finance Commission to take that up this week.

Coun. CURLEY—Thank you very much. I will ask the Clerk if he for information will read that communication.

The Clerk read the communication which had been sent in by the Finance Commission.

(See earlier in the session.)

ACT CONCERNING HOURS OF WORK.

Coun. CURLEY offered an order—That his Honor the Mayor be requested to call the attention of the Fire Commissioner to chapter 494, Acts of 1911, and to ask if said act is not violated in his department.

Passed.

Coun. CURLEY offered an order—That his Honor the Mayor be requested to call the attention of the Hospital Trustees to chapter 494, Acts of 1911.

Passed.

USE OF SCHOOL BUILDINGS.

The Council voted, on motion of Coun. HALE, to take No. 5 on the calendar from the table.

5. Report of Executive Committee, ought not to pass on order to transfer $13,000 from the Reserve Fund to an appropriation for Extended Use of School Buildings, to be expended by the Superintendent of Public Buildings.

Coun. HALE—I would like to move that this be referred to the Committee on Ordinances with the other matters which came in to-day relative to the same subject.

The motion prevailed.

SALE OF PARK LAND, BRIGHTON.

Coun. BALLANTYNE called up special assignment No. 2, viz.:

2. Report of the Committee on Public Lands, ought not to pass on the order authorizing the sale by the Park Commissioners of a parcel of land in Brighton, bounded southerly by Commonwealth avenue and northeasterly by Chestnut Hill avenue.

Coun. CURLEY—At this time I would most respectfully move a further assignment of this order for one week. I have talked with some of the residents of Brighton within the past week and they are of opinion that it might be possible to secure a sufficient sum of money that the Park Commission requires to complete the circle in the vicinity of the reservoir, and they desire to confer so that they may see whether it would be possible to continue the ownership for the public of this playground on Commonwealth avenue and Chestnut Hill avenue and at the same time to purchase the land that is necessary to complete the park system in the vicinity of the reservoir. I respectfully move an assignment of one week.

Coun. SMITH—I would like to ask Coun. Curley to repeat his reason. We put this matter over for one week, and of course he knows I don't like unnecessarily to delay things. I understand there is to be a sum of money raised to purchase land to complete the park about the reservoir. Of course, that has nothing to do with the land on Commonwealth avenue in question.

Coun. CURLEY—There isn't anybody in this Council that should be more familiar with this than the chairman of the Committee on Public Lands. The purpose of this originally was to permit the Park Department to secure sufficient funds to purchase the necessary lands to complete the park circle in the vicinity of the reservoir. The residents of the Brighton and Aberdeen section object to the sale of this land, which is used sometimes as a playground. In consequence of that objection I presume the Committee on Public Lands reported that it ought not to pass. Some residents of Brighton within the past week have asked me to have the order assigned for one week in order that they might have an opportunity to wait on the Park Commission with a view to having a transfer made of an amount sufficient to purchase the land to complete the circle at the reservoir and permit the Park Department to retain control of this plot of land here at Aberdeen.

Coun. SMITH—Then, if I gather the idea, there would be no harm in putting this order through, as reported by the Committee on Public Lands, because that keeps the land at Commonwealth avenue in the hands of the Park Department.

Coun. CURLEY—It is immaterial whether it goes through or not, but it was their desire that the matter be held in abeyance until such time as they could ascertain if it were possible to secure that triangle. In compliance with that request I have made this request.

Coun. SMITH—As chairman of the Committee on Public Lands I am very glad to favor this matter of putting over action for one week. I must say, however, that it is not because that I understand any good can come to the movement in Brighton to buy the land about the Reservoir. That is a matter entirely separate from this. But as a matter of courtesy I am perfectly willing to give in if it is going to assist the residents of Brighton in interviewing the Mayor about purchasing the land around the Reservoir. I cannot but say that that is a very different matter than this order refers to. But I am very glad to yield.

Coun. CURLEY—If the gentleman on the other side of the Chamber feels that way he should vote against the assignment. I do not desire any courtesy in this matter. I simply present the request of the people of this section. If you don't see fit to honor it that is all right.

The question came on the motion of Coun. Curley for an assignment of one week. The motion being declared carried, it was doubted by Coun. BALLANTYNE, and a verification by roll call requested. Upon roll call, 7 voted in the affirmative and 2 in the negative, Coun. Smith and Ballantyne voting "nay."

REQUEST FOR INFORMATION.

Coun. CURLEY—Mr. President, I should like to ask the chairman of the Executive Committee when his committee may consider the appropriation for the widening of Union Park street.

Coun. ATTRIDGE—Mr. President, at the last meeting one week ago to-day a motion was made by the councilor from South Boston (Kenny) that this matter be laid upon the table for two weeks in order to give the members of the Council an opportunity to see the district. The two weeks will have elapsed next Monday, and I expect that at that time all of the members of the Council will have seen the district and that the Executive Committee will be ready to act upon the order.

Coun. CURLEY—Mr. President, I believe that Coun. Attridge is unconsciously in error. I asked the Clerk to look over the records and the Clerk informed me that the motion was that the matter be assigned to the next meeting—of course, the next meeting being to-day. But as the Executive Committee have met to-day I take it for granted that some action will be taken on it at the next meeting of the Council.

Coun. ATTRIDGE—Mr. President, my recollection of the action of the Executive Committee was and is that the motion was made by the councilor from South Boston that the motion was made to lay the matter on the table for two weeks, which would be next Monday, for action by the Council, and I think the other members of the committee who are present will bear me out that I am correct.

Coun. KENNY—That is my recollection as well.

Coun. CURLEY—The City Council records read that the motion was referred to the Executive Committee, there being no time set upon it, so that that would naturally come up to-day.

Coun. ATTRIDGE—The gentleman on this side of the Chamber of course is in error. When orders are referred to the Executive Committee, no time is specified as to when that committee will act. When that order reached the Executive Committee last Monday, the Executive Committee, on the motion of the gentleman from South Boston, laid the matter on the table for two weeks in order to give the members a chance to see the district. The two weeks will be up next Monday, and I expect that the Executive Committee will then take the matter up, when all the members of the Council will have had the chance to look over the district.

Coun. HALE moved a general reconsideration, hoping the same would not prevail, and the motion was carried.

Coun. SMITH—Would it not be more pertinent to ask Coun. Curley to ask when the matter will be taken up in the Finance Committee, as I understand the money must originate from the Finance Committee, the matter being in there now.

President COLLINS—The Chair will state that there is no motion before the Council.

MOTION TO ADJOURN.

Coun. HALE moved to adjourn.

Coun. SMITH—Will Coun. Hale withdraw his motion?

Coun. HALE—I will yield to a question, but I will not yield to further discussion of this matter, because I think it is simply a waste of time.

Coun. SMITH—It is another matter.

Coun. HALE—If Coun. Smith has something on some other subject which is of importance, like an order, I am perfectly willing to yield.

President COLLINS—That can only be done with general consent, because on the motion to adjourn no debate is in order. By general consent Coun. Smith is permitted to ask a question.

Coun. SMITH—The question I would like to ask, Mr. President, is that the councilor at the head of the Finance Committee can inform us, when there is to be a meeting of that committee, the last meeting having been July 7, and there having been——

Coun. CURLEY—I object to that question being asked. I asked that question a week ago myself.

President COLLINS—The question comes on the motion to adjourn.

Coun. SMITH—Was I granted the right to ask this question? I was granted unanimous right to ask this question.

President COLLINS—I understand Coun. Curley objected. That is not unanimous consent. Do I understand the gentleman still continues with his objection?

Coun. CURLEY—I withdraw the objection if he asks the question of the chairman of the Committee on Finance, but he should not ask me.

Coun. SMITH—If I may be permitted to ask the chairman of the Committee on Finance, as I originally intended, about when there is to be another meeting, the last meeting having been held on July 7, and there being before this committee several important matters such as the Ward 19 playground, four bills in regard to the South Department of the hospital, two in regard to the Consumptives' Hospital, three in regard to Norfolk street widening, one in regard to the Almshouse in Long Island, and one or more in regard to Ward 7 building, additional land for the L Street Bath,——

President COLLINS—The Council permitted only a question. I understand the councilor is making a statement.

Coun. SMITH—I am asking a question as to when the next meeting of the Finance Committee will be held, there being before the committee the following subjects,——

President COLLINS—The Chair rules that is an explanation of your question.

No reply having been made to the question asked by Coun. Smith, question came on the motion to adjourn. On a viva voce vote the motion to adjourn was declared carried, the result was doubted by Coun. Buckley, and upon verification by roll call, 1 voted in the affirmative and 7 in the negative, and the motion was declared lost.

Coun. ATTRIDGE—I ask unanimous consent to make a short statement.

Unanimous consent was granted.

Coun. ATTRIDGE—In regard to the matter about which the gentleman on this side of the Chamber inquired—that is, the Union Park street order, which was before the Executive Committee, I have here the order which was referred to that committee and the memorandum of the Clerk of the Committee, Mr. Dever, and his memorandum is that on October 2 this order was laid on the table for two weeks, thus verifying what I said in regard to it.

Coun. SMITH—May I have unanimous consent to ask another question?

Unanimous consent was granted.

Coun. SMITH—Perhaps I was wrong in asking consent for another question. I wish to reiterate the first and give Coun. Kenny the opportunity to answer if he cares to. That is, we have these important matters before the committee, there having been no meeting since July 7. It seems to me perhaps the Finance Committee would care to have a meeting. Otherwise, it might be construed that they were holding up certain matters,—if they didn't have a meeting and discuss them, at least.

Coun. HALE—I move that the chairman of the Committee on Finance have the privilege of answering Coun. Smith's question.

President COLLINS—The Chair rules the motion out of order.

Coun. KENNY—There is an order pending before the Committee on Finance which will become effective on the 20th of October. The next meeting of this Council is a week from to-day so that I naturally expected to call a meeting in order to report on that, at least.

Coun. CURLEY—Mr. President, in relation to the statement regarding the question whether Union Park street, if I might be permitted to make a statement——

Coun. HALE—I object.

Coun. CURLEY—I rise to a question of privilege. My question of privilege is that through an error both Coun. Attridge and myself have been placed in a false light regarding Union Park street.

President COLLINS—The Chair rules that Coun. Curley has the floor on his question of privilege.

Coun. CURLEY—My statement, Mr. President, was that the matter of disposition of the question of appropriation of $75,000 for Union Park street had not been assigned for two weeks. By being assigned for two weeks I mean action by the open Board on the question of assignment; and I consulted the Clerk with relation to that particular proposition. The Clerk informed me that it had been assigned for no definite time other than the next meeting. Coun. Attridge is informed by the Clerk of Committees that in the Executive Committee's session it was assigned for two weeks, and I believe that is so, and if I have unconsciously misstated his position I desire to take it back.

On motion of Coun. BALLANTYNE the Council adjourned at 4.56, to meet on Monday, October 10, 1911.

Building Department, October 10, 1911.

Hon. John F. Fitzgerald,
Mayor of Boston:

Sir,—I am in receipt of a letter from Mr. William A. Leahy saying that you would like a specific report upon conditions described at particular premises, in the letter of A. Mason, Recording Secretary of Local 175, U. A., A. F. of L.

Mr. Blasser, an inspector in this department, reports to me that no unlicensed men or boys are employed by the Boston Plumbing Company at the job on Hemenway street mentioned in the letter from Mr. Mason. At 27 Astor street the same firm are employing one unlicensed man, a warrant for whose arrest will be applied for to-day.

We have found no work being done by Mr. Berger where unlicensed men or boys are employed. Our inspector, Mr. Blasser, found no unlicensed men or boys working on the jobs being done by Mr. Levine on Astor street.

Yours respectfully,
ARTHUR G. EVERETT,
Building Commissioner.

TRANSFER FOR L STREET BATH.

The following was received:

City of Boston,
Office of the Mayor, October 13, 1911.

To the City Council:

In compliance with the request of the chairman of the Bath Trustees, that the appropriation for handball court and shower baths, L Street Bath House, amounting to twenty-five hundred (2,500) dollars, be transferred to the appropriation for L Street Bath Additions, etc., I recommend the passage of the accompanying order making the transfer as requested.

Respectfully,
JOHN F. FITZGERALD, Mayor.

—

City of Boston,
Bath Department, October 11, 1911.

Hon. John F. Fitzgerald,
Mayor of Boston:

My dear Sir,— I desire to ask your cooperation for the transfer of a loan of $2,500 which has been authorized by the City Council, subsequent to the completion of the L street addition and alteration, for the construction of a handball court and shower baths at L street, to the General Fund for Improvements at this bath house.

The items for which this special loan was authorized have already been executed under the alterations and additions which were made last spring, but the several matters which we had under contemplation at that time, and which were absolutely necessary, could not be made, owing to the lack of sufficient money remaining from the special appropriation of $35,000. This transfer is requested with the purpose in view of constructing a shelter and playground at the women's and children's side of the L Street Bath, and other improvements, which improvements, as stated, could not be made previously, and which we now are desirous of completing before the opening of next season.

Trusting that this will receive your immediate attention, I am,

Very truly yours,
RICHARD M. WALSH,
Chairman Bath Trustees.

Ordered, That the City Auditor be and hereby is authorized to transfer the appropriation for handball court and shower baths, L Street Bath House, to the appropriation for L Street Bath Additions, etc.

OLD COURT HOUSE PORTICO.

The following was received:

City of Boston,
Office of the Mayor, October 13, 1911.

To the City Council:

In compliance with an order passed by your honorable body September 23, 1911, requesting an opinion from the Art Commission as to the disposal of the portico of the Old Court House, I transmit herewith a communication from the chairman of that commission.

Respectfully,
JOHN F. FITZGERALD, Mayor.

Art Commission, October 10, 1911.

Hon. John F. Fitzgerald,
Mayor of Boston:

Dear Sir,—In answer to an order of the City Council of September 23, 1911, requesting the Art Commission, through his Honor the Mayor, to send the City Council an opinion as to the disposal of the portico of the Old Court House, I beg to report to your Honor as follows:

This commission has considered the sketch plans for a shelter at Governor's Island, prepared by Mr. Edward T. P. Graham. This commission approves this design in general, with modifications in detail.

This commission also approves such a commanding site as that proposed on Governor's Island, if Governor's Island can be sufficiently developed and made sufficiently accessible.

The above approval of design and site has been reached without reference to economic considerations, which this commission has not studied.

This commission begs further to suggest that your Honor's special committee consider also some other such site commanding the harbor as Marine Park in South Boston.

Yours respectfully,
THOMAS ALLEN, Chairman.

Referred to the Committee on Governor's Island.

TRANSFER FOR HEALTH DEPARTMENT.

The following was received:

City of Boston,
Office of the Mayor, October 11, 1911.

To the City Council:

I transmit herewith a statement from the chairman of the Board of Health, requesting that the sum of twenty-three thousand four hundred and forty-two dollars ($23,442) be added to the appropriation for the Health Department in order to meet the expenditures incurred during the summer in the inspection of large numbers of immigrants suspected of including cholera patients or cholera carriers, as well as for certain repairs upon the wharf at Gallop's Island. These expenditures seem to me to have been necessary and the repairs upon the wharf are required in the interest of safety for persons using it. I recommend, therefore, the passage of the accompanying order, transferring the sum specified from the appropriation for Reserve Fund to the appropriation for Health Department.

Respectfully,
JOHN F. FITZGERALD, Mayor.

Health Department, October 9, 1911.

Hon. John F. Fitzgerald,
Mayor of Boston:

Dear Sir,—The Board of Health begs to inform his Honor the Mayor that, in order to comply with new orders from the Treasury Department at Washington, for the protection of the port of Boston against the passing of cases of cholera and cholera carriers, it became necessary to greatly enlarge the facilities at quarantine for the reception, examination and care of very much larger numbers of immigrants arriving from cholera infected ports and places, all of which had to be met in a great hurry. The expenditures amounted to $21,942.67 and were not provided for in our appropriation.

The Board finds, through an examination and estimate by the Commissioner of Public Works, that the wharf at Gallop's Island must have immediate replanking and piling to an extent of $1,500, to make it safe for use. This item of expense was also unforeseen and unprepared for in the annual budget.

The Board would respectfully recommend that, by transfer or such other method as may seem to his Honor best, the sum of $23,442 be made available to the Board of Health, to prevent a deficit of said amount at the close of the fiscal year.

Very truly yours,
S. H. DURGIN, Chairman.

To the City Council:

I transmit herewith for consideration by the Committee on Claims a letter from the Fire Commissioner, together with a schedule, presenting the claims of several members of the department for losses in the repair shop fire of August 9, 1910.

Fire Department, October 5, 1911.

Hon. John F. Fitzgerald,
Mayor of Boston:

Sir,—I have the honor to inclose herewith a schedule of claims filed by the members of the Repair Division of this department for personal property destroyed at the fire August 9, 1910. A small number of similar claims were paid by vote of the City Council, and with the approval of your Honor. At the time the first claims were paid the present claims had not been made.

Inasmuch as the city government saw fit to pay the previous claims, I submit this list for such action as your Honor and the Council may see fit to take.

After investigation of the matter I find the loss was as stated, and I believe this list includes all probable claims.

If the city government decides to pay these claims, funds should be provided, as such payment was not estimated in the Fire Department appropriation.

Very respectfully,
CHARLES D. DALY,
Fire Commissioner.

BAND CONCERT, SOUTH END.

The following was received:

To the City Council:

In reply to your order passed at the meeting of September 11, 1911, that the Music Commission be requested to furnish a band concert at Harrison avenue and Gloucester place on the evening of October 11, I transmit herewith a communication from the secretary of the Music Commission, which states that owing to the small financial balance left with which to conduct the winter concerts it will be impossible to meet the request of the City Council.

City of Boston,

Hon. John F. Fitzgerald,
Mayor of Boston:

Sir,—I have been instructed by the Music Trustees to notify you that owing to the small financial balance left unexpended with which to conduct our winter concerts it will be impossible to meet the request of the City Council to give a band concert on the evening of October 11, 1911, at Harrison avenue and Gloucester place, Ward 9. The trustees would be in favor of this order if financial conditions allowed.

MUNICIPAL BUILDING, WARD 7.

The following was received:

City of Boston,
Office of the Mayor, October 10, 1911.

To the City Council:

At a meeting of the City Council held September 11, 1911, I transmitted a communication from the Superintendent of Public Buildings furnishing an estimate of the cost of the proposed municipal building for Ward 7. This building was to occupy about 7,500 square feet of land and to be two stories high above the basement. It was to contain shower baths, swimming pool, branch library, and gymnasium or assembly hall, as might be determined later. The estimated cost was ninety thousand dollars ($90,000). I desire to recommend the passage of the accompanying order transferring this amount from the Reserve Fund to an appropriation to be expended under the direction of the Superintendent of Public Buildings for a municipal building in Ward 7.

Respectfully,
JOHN F. FITZGERALD, Mayor.

Ordered, That in accordance with the provisions of chapter 261 of the Acts of 1893 the City Auditor be and hereby is authorized to transfer the sum of ninety thousand dollars ($90,000) from the appropriation for Reserve Fund to an appropriation to be expended under the direction of the Superintendent of Public Buildings for Municipal Building, Ward 7.

Referred to the Executive Committee.

MECHANICAL STOKERS, ETC., FOR HOSPITAL.

The following was received:

City of Boston,
Office of the Mayor, October 16, 1911.

To the City Council:

For the reasons given in the accompanying letter of the president of the Board of Hospital Trustees, I recommend the passage of the accompanying order appropriating seventeen thousand (17,000) dollars from the Reserve Fund for the installation of mechanical stokers, and for the purchase of two automobile ambulances.

Respectfully,
JOHN F. FITZGERALD, Mayor.

The Boston City Hospital,
Boston, October 14, 1911.

Hon. John F. Fitzgerald,
Mayor of Boston:

Dear Sir,—Referring to our interview for the welfare of the Boston City Hospital, and agreeably to understanding that it is important that the furnaces of the hospital should be equipped with mechanical stokers, I beg further to say:

First. The law regarding the smoke nuisance is to be very rigidly enforced the coming year. With soft coal it is impossible without these mechanical stokers to conform to the law.

Second. There will be a diminution in the expense of heating the hospital of fully $5,000 a year, as estimated by our engineer and confirmed by Densmore & LeClear, engineers and architects, whose letter I herewith inclose.

Your Honor also understands the necessity for the immediate purchase of two auto ambulances on account of the unsatisfactory condition of our horse ambulances and the consequent inefficiency of the service.

The above items will require a transfer from the Reserve Fund as set forth below. As Densmore & LeClear estimate the expense of installing the mechanical stokers will be from $10,000 to $12,000, a transfer of $11,000 will probably cover the.

amount required for this purpose. The total amount necessary therefore for this transfer is as follows:

For mechanical stokers.....	$11,000 00
For two ambulances.....	6,000 00
	$17,000 00

Your Honor's permission is also asked, for the good of the service, to invite bids for both items, instead of advertising to the public at large.

If you will kindly give this your immediate attention you will greatly benefit the hospital and by so doing again receive the appreciation of the trustees. Kindly inform me as soon as the transfer is made so that we may proceed with the work.

I have the honor to be, on behalf of the trustees,

Respectfully yours,
A. SHUMAN,
President Board of Trustees.

A. Shuman, President,
Boston City Hospital, Boston, Mass.:

Dear Sir,—It is our opinion that the mechanical stoker is now so well perfected, and in successfull operation in so many plants, that its use should be considered in the hospital boiler plant for the following reasons:

1. The mechanical stoker is the only practical solution of the smoke problem, and in order to comply with the requirements of the City of Boston stokers are necessary at the hospital. It is important that plants operated by the City of Boston should set the best example possible with regard to smoke.

2. The mechanical stoker requires less labor than hand firing and is more efficient in burning of coal. The saving in labor and coal should in the Boston City Hospital plant amount to about $5,000 a year.

We estimate that the cost of the stoker and its installation under the new water tube boilers in this plant would cost from $10,000 to $12,000.

Very truly yours,
DENSMORE & LECLEAR.

Ordered, That in accordance with the provisions of chapter 261 of the Acts of 1893, the City Auditor be and hereby is authorized to transfer the sum of seventeen thousand (17,000) dollars from the appropriation for Reserve Fund to an appropriation to be expended under the direction of the Hospital Trustees for the following purposes:

For mechanical stokers.....	$11,000 00
For two automobile ambulances.....	6,000 00
Total.....	$17,000 00

INVESTIGATION OF RETIREMENT SYSTEM.

The following was received:

Boston Finance Commission,
410–416 Tremont Building,
Boston, October 11, 1911.

To the Honorable the Mayor and City Council:

Gentlemen,—On May 15, 1911, the Mayor transmitted to the Finance Commission, with a request for investigation and report the following order of the City Council:

Ordered, That the Finance Commission be requested, through his Honor the Mayor, to report to the City Council as to the advisability of accepting chapter 619 of the Acts of the year 1910; as amended by chapter 338 of the Acts of 1911, entitled "An Act Relative to Retirement Systems for the Payment of Annuities and Pensions for Employees of Cities and Towns;" also, to report to the City Council on the following:

(a.) The cost of the system to the city in actual pecuniary outlay.

(b.) Its effect on the service in removing aged employees, who by their example tend to retard the efficiency of younger and more active men.

(c.) The positive gain resulting from the substitution of younger and stronger men for the retired veterans.

(d.) The net gain or loss to the city as a whole, measured first, in terms of pecuniary outlay; and secondly, in terms of efficiency.

The commission respectfully submits herewith its report upon the two acts in question.

Respectfully submitted,
THE FINANCE COMMISSION,
by JOHN A. SULLIVAN,
Chairman.

REPORT ON THE ADVISABILITY OF ACCEPTING CHAPTER 619 OF THE ACTS OF 1910, AS AMENDED BY CHAPTER 338 OF THE ACTS OF 1911.

This statute was passed in the year 1910 (Acts of 1910, chapter 619) and according to its terms was referred to the cities and towns in the Commonwealth for acceptance or rejection by the city councils or boards of selectmen of such cities or towns, the act if accepted by a city council to be submitted to the voters of the city at the next municipal election, or if accepted by the selectmen of a town to be submitted to the voters of the town at its next town meeting.

On December 10, 1910, and again on December 17 of the same year, the Finance Commission called the attention of the City Council of Boston to certain defects in the act which, in the opinion of the commission, warranted its rejection. The statements of the commission were disputed at the time in two communications, dated December 13, 1910, and December 20, 1910, respectively, by the secretary of the State Commission on Old Age Pensions which framed the original draft of the act, his opinion being that the act, though admittedly defective, was defective only in minor particulars, which could easily be remedied at the next session of the Legislature. These statements by the Finance Commission and by the secretary of the Commission on Old Age Pensions, together with a copy of the act, were printed in a pamphlet entitled "Communications on the Civil Pension Act," issued shortly after.

The act was not accepted by any city or town in the Commonwealth; and at the following session of the Legislature (1911) a number of amendments were made to remedy defects which had been pointed out by the commission in its communications to the Boston City Council. (See pamphlet above referred to, and Acts of 1911, chapter 338, copies of which are hereto annexed; Finance Commission's Reports, Vol. VI., pages 221–230, inclusive; and another article by the secretary of the Commission on Old Age Pensions printed in the City Record of October 7, 1911, pages 792, 793.)

The more important of these amendments are as follows:

1. More effective provisions have been made for the retirement of employees of the city.

(a.) By providing for the payment of an annuity, and a pension based upon subsequent service, to a member who is retired without his consent at the age of sixty years after fifteen years' continuous service. The original act failed to make provision for such a case.

(b.) By providing that an employee, not a member of the association, who had reached the age of fifty-five years on the date when the retirement system was established, may be retired at any time and paid a pension equivalent to the minimum payment provided in the act. The original act made no provision for such a case.

2. The provisions for the election of the second member of the Board of Retirement have been amended so that they are now workable; thereby making the retirement system itself possible of operation. It was impossible of operation under the original act.

3. Provision has been made for consulting the wishes of the head of a department with respect to the retirement of an employee who is a member of the retirement association and who has reached the age of sixty years after fifteen years' continuous service; and also in the case of a member of the retirement association who has had thirty-five years' continuous service irrespective of his age. Such employees could be retired under the original act without the recommendation of the head of the department in which they were employed; but cannot be under the amended act without such recommendation.

4. Any unexpended balance of the money appropriated by the city for the administration of the system must be returned to the City Treasurer under the amended act, whereas under the original act such unexpended balance might have been credited to a fund for the benefit of the members of the association.

5. The claims of members of the Board of Retirement for reimbursement for any expense or loss of salary or wages incurred through service on the Board, the appointment of clerical or other assistants by the Board. and the making of by-laws and regulations not inconsistent with the act, are all made subject to the approval of the City Council under the amended act; whereas all these matters were within the sole power of the Board of Retirement under the original act.

Certain provisions of the original act which were criticised by the Finance Commission still, however, remain. Thus, an employee discharged for misconduct would not lose his right to a pension if reinstated within a year. This provision violates the principles of all pension acts based upon honorable service. As stated by the Finance Commission in its report to the City Council, under date of December 10, 1910:

"One discharged for such cause should not be reinstated at all. This provision would operate to the city's detriment. The sentimental considerations arising out of the employee's previous service and payments to the retirement fund, reinforced by political influence, would make it difficult to discharge an offending employee in the first instance,— or, if discharged, to refuse him reinstatement within the year. It would make the claim of the incompetent or insubordinate employee to continue in the service even more like a vested right than it now is — the exact opposite of the effect a well-drawn pension act should have." (Finance Commission Reports, Vol. VI., p. 224.)

The act is still open to the criticism that, notwithstanding the fact that the public has been given the impression that it provides substantially equal contributions by the city and by its employees, the city will be required to pay the entire expense of the administration of the system which is estimated at $25,000 a year. Moreover, it is still open to the weightier objection that the Retirement Board, which is given large powers of control over the retirement of employees, the fixing of the percentages of wages or salary, and the classification of annuitants and pensioners under the act, may lead to the formation of a political machine which would exercise great influence over thousands of city employees. Such an act should be administered by a Board entirely nonpolitical in its character and beyond the reach of political influences. Under this act the City Treasurer, by virtue of his office, becomes a member of the Board, the members of the association elect one of their number a second member of the Board, and these two members of the Board elect a third member, thus making it probable that the personal or the political influences of the representatives of the city administration for the time being, and the city employees as well, would be regarded as superior to the financial interests of the city.

In the opinion of the Finance Commission these defects in the act are sufficient to warrant its rejection by the City Council; but even if all of these defects had been remedied by the last Legislature the commission would still be of the opinion that the act would ultimately operate to the financial detriment of the city. The reasons for this opinion are as follows:

1. Retirement of Efficient Employees.

As applied to the City of Boston the act provides a means by which all city officials and employees (except those whom existing pension laws affect, such as firemen, policemen and school teachers, and also except officials elected by popular vote) may retire voluntarily from the city's service, or be retired without their consent, with an annual allowance in the form of a pension or annuity or both. The act applies alike to the head of a department who receives $9,000 a year and to the lowest paid employee in the service of the city. Highly paid officials may retire after thirty-five years of service in full possession of their powers and still receive a pension from the city even though they subsequently enter private employment or business and receive large salaries or profits therefrom. The amount of the pension in such cases would not be large, but added to the expected profits or salary in private employment or business, might easily furnish sufficient inducement for the retirement of officials entirely capable of serving the city for many more years. It is manifest injustice to compel the city to pay a pension upon retirement to a highly paid official who has the necessary physical and mental ability to render further service to the city; yet the act would permit this to be done. Under the act the question of retirement does not depend upon the physical or mental incapacity of the employee but rather upon the question of the length of his service. Many persons entirely fit for further service might be retired at various ages ranging between fifty and sixty. In this respect the act seems to the Finance Commission to be wholly without justification.

2. Clerks and Employees Above the Grade of Clerks.

The compensation of the city's clerical force is now far in excess of that paid by the state or by private employers. If a pension system were adopted every laborer, artisan, mechanic and clerk privately employed and residing in the city, as well as all tradesmen, merchants, manufacturers, and business men, would have to bear the burden of an additional tax in order to give a further privilege to an already privileged class. In this connection, the attention of the City Council is respectfully invited to the following statement in the commission's report to the Legislature under date of January 20, 1911:

"The clerks employed by the city are far more favorably treated than clerks in private employ. The latter, as a rule, work a greater number of hours, perform much more work in an equal number of hours, and receive less pay than clerks in the city's employ. Moreover, clerks employed by the city are retained without regard to the city's financial condition, whereas clerks in private employ are always subject to the risk, and frequently to the loss, of employment, due to the vicissitudes of industrial and commercial life. The clerks of the city are also paid much more than the clerks employed by the Federal government or by the Commonwealth." (Finance Commission Reports, Vol. VI., pages 13, 14.)

Further material for study is found in the reports of the Finance Commission respecting the number, salary and efficiency of the clerical forces of the city. Attention is particularly called to the following reports: Vol. I., pages 340-345; Vol. II., page 201; Vol. VI., pages 13, 36.

To impose fresh taxes upon the entire community in order to pension employees above the grade of clerks, including the professional men in the service, and the heads of departments, would be even more unreasonable. If the highly paid employees of the city have been improvident, and consequently have not at the end of their long service acquired a competency, the fault is their own and not that of the taxpayers of the city.

A general pension for municipal employees has, in the past, been urged upon grounds of sympathy for the poor city workers. Such a view wholly neglects the even greater sympathy due the even poorer workers not in city employ, whom it is now proposed to tax in order to favor still further their already comparatively favored brothers. The advocates of the act have taken the position that this line of argument "begs the question," inasmuch as it rests on the assumption that the effect of the act will be to increase the city's expenses—and hence the taxes—on labor account. It is true that the argument of injustice depends in part upon the increased expense on labor account which may be caused by the act, but the Finance Commission thinks it shows herein strong grounds for believing that such an increase would in fact result from the adoption of a general pension scheme.

3. Conditions of Public Employment in Boston.

The conditions of public employment in Boston should be attentively studied before it is assumed that the city is under any obligation to provide its employees with pensions.

It has been the practice in Boston upon each change of administration to make relatively few removals, except of heads of departments, but to make additions to the labor and clerical forces so as to provide places for the supporters of the party that was successful in the election. An enormous pay roll is the result of these accumulations, with their accompanying unwarrantable increases in salaries, and a large part of the heavy expenditures and debt of the city is due to the appropriations and loans which have been passed to provide salaries and wages for this army of employees. In the execution by day labor of the work for which such loans provided the city has sustained losses of millions of dollars. These losses were caused principally by the inefficiency of the city's forces, an inefficiency due largely to politics, as has been pointed out frequently in the reports of both the former and the present Finance Commissions and the experts employed by them. To liken such conditions to the entirely different conditions in private employ which justify private pension systems would involve a serious fallacy.

4. The Ultimate Cost of the Pension System.

The advocates of a general pension scheme lay special emphasis on the need of relieving municipalities of the expense of superannuated employees. The Finance Commission believes, however, that the acceptance of the pending act would ultimately cause the City of Boston heavy financial loss. The contributory system would soon be attacked as a hardship upon the employees, especially upon laborers and mechanics. The city employees would demand, and by political pressure would probably obtain, increases in wages equal to their contributions to the retirement fund. This accomplished, the next step would be the elimination of the contributory feature of the system. Thus finally the city would bear the entire expense of both the pension system and the increased wages of its beneficiaries. Meanwhile, as employees were retired, new and unnecessary appointments would be made for political reasons, the size of the city's force would be undiminished, and the total expenses of the city would be increased far beyond any possible gain from increased efficiency due to the retirement of the superannuated.

It may be argued that the city can avoid these dangers as well as a private employer could who establishes a private pension system for his employees. But experience has abundantly proved that public control and management is far less efficient than that of private employers. Private pensions are paid by an employer out of his private purse and are at all times under his control. He can increase or reduce or withdraw them at will; public pensions, however, are paid by the entire community and it gives less attention to its affairs than private employers do to theirs. The public pension system once established will never be withdrawn and its beneficiaries, and not the community as a whole, will largely if not entirely control its operation.

5. No American Precedent for the Act.

Finally, there is no reason why Boston should be the first municipality in the United States to try the experiment involved in a general pension act. According to the report of the Commission on Old Age Pensions, dated January 15, 1910, no American state has adopted any general system of old age pensions or insurance (see House Document 1400 of 1910, page 78), and the Finance Commission knows of no precedent for the pending act so far as American cities are concerned. Moreover, though the cities and towns of this Commonwealth have had opportunity to adopt the act since its passage on June 14, 1910, none of them have accepted it up to the present time.

Answers to the Specific Questions of the City Council.

Having stated the reasons for its objection to the passage of the general act, the Finance Commission herewith submits its answers to the specific questions of the City Council.

(a.) The Cost of the System to the City in Actual Pecuniary Outlay.

This question cannot be answered as the cost cannot be determined until the Board of Retirement decides upon the percentage of the salaries or wages which various classes of members of the retirement association shall contribute to the retirement fund. Under the act the Retirement Board has the power to fix the percentage of the salaries and wages to be paid by members at from 1 to 5 per cent, to classify employees for that purpose, and to establish different rates of contribution for different classes. Before the percentages are fixed and the classification of employees is completed it will be impossible to determine what the pecuniary outlay to the city would be in any given year, even if the entire number of persons to be affected by the act were known, which also is impossible to estimate beforehand. A special committee, consisting of the secretary of the State Commission on Old Age Pensions, the City Treasurer and the City Auditor, estimated the cost of the system in the first year of its operation under the Act of 1910, on the basis of 1 per cent payments by city employees, at $119,958.41. (See City Record, December 10, 1910, pages 907, 908.) This estimate rested upon certain assumptions, some of which were admittedly arbitrary. The estimate is doubtless as accurate as any that could be obtained, but because of its uncertain bases, the Finance Commission is unable to state how much reliance should be placed upon it.

(b.) Its Effect on the Service in Removing Aged Employees who by Their Example Tend to Retard the Efficiency of Younger and More Active Men.

If only the incapacitated were removed and efficient employees were always appointed in their places this would have the effect of increasing the efficiency of the city's forces. Past experience, however, affords sufficient ground for the assumption that inefficient employees would be removed for political reasons only to make places for others, abler perhaps, but no more efficient in fact. Moreover, if the many employees who were not then and never had been needed should be retired under the terms of the act, and their places filled by younger employees, the net result would be only a loss to the city of the amount of pension paid to the retired employee, as full wages would be paid to the new but unnecessary employee. In other words, the city would still have a superfluous employee to whom it would pay full wages, besides being obliged to pay a pension to the former employee.

(c.) The Positive Gain Resulting from the Substitution of Younger and Stronger Men for the Retired Veterans.

There would be positive gains resulting from the retirement of veterans for whom there was work which they could not perform. There would be a financial loss, however, in the event of the retirement of veterans for whom there was little or no work if their places were filled by younger employees for whom there would be practically no work.

(d.) The Net Gain or Loss to the City as a Whole Measured First in Terms of Pecuniary Outlay; and Secondly in Terms of Efficiency.

As to this no statement can be made which is susceptible of proof, as the result will depend wholly upon the manner in which the system is administered. In the opinion of the commission, unless political conditions change materially, there would be an actual financial loss and no corresponding gain in efficiency.

Conclusions.

The conclusions of the commission briefly stated are as follows:

1. The General Pension Act as originally passed was defective and unworkable.

2. The act has since been amended in several particulars and has been thereby materially strengthened.

3. The act still contains several defects, however, which are of such a serious character as to warrant its rejection by the City Council.

4. The commission, for reasons already set forth, is opposed to a general pension scheme for all employees of the city.

The commission, therefore, recommends the rejection by the City Council of the General Pension Act (chapter 619 of the Acts of 1910 as amended by chapter 338 of the Acts of 1911).

The commission still has the Laborers' Pension Act (chapter 413 of the Acts of 1911) under consideration, and expects to report upon the same within a week or two. The commission, therefore, respectfully suggests that the Council delay action upon the Laborers' Pension Act, as nothing will be lost by such delay, inasmuch as the act, according to its terms, cannot become effective before the first day of March, 1912.

INFORMATION CONCERNING PARKMAN FUND.

The following was received:

City of Boston,
Law Department, October 13, 1911.

To the Honorable the City Council:

Gentlemen,— I am informed by the City Clerk that the City Council has under consideration an order appropriating $3,000 from the income from the Parkman Fund for the following item: "Castle Island, New Water Supply, 4-inch pipe," and that the Council would like my opinion as to whether or not under the provisions of the will of Mr. Parkman the money can be legally appropriated for this purpose from the income of the Parkman Fund.

In my opinion the money cannot be legally appropriated for this purpose from the income of the Parkman Fund. In my opinion Castle Island, the fee of which belongs to the United States government, is not a park within the meaning of the Parkman will. In addition to this reason is the fatal objection that Mr. Parkman provided in his will that the income of the fund should be expended for the maintenance and improvement of the Common and parks existing at the time the codicil was made, which was January 12, 1887. The custody of Castle Island was not given to the city by the United States government, according to the Auditor's reports, until 1890. The fact that it has been placed in charge of the Park Department, connected by a bridge with the Marine Park and used as a part of that park does not make it a park of the City of Boston existing in January, 1887.

Yours truly,
THOMAS M. BABSON,
Corporation Counsel.

The communication was declared referred to the Executive Committee.

Coun. KENNY—Mr. President, if there is no objection I shall be very glad, as it refers to the same subject, to call up No. 3 and ask that it be indefinitely postponed.

The Council voted to take up No. 3, special assignment, as follows:

3. Order appropriating from the income of the Parkman Fund the sum of $3,000 for Castle Island, New Water Supply, 4-inch pipe.

Coun. KENNY—Mr. President, I now move that No. 3 be indefinitely postponed, in view of the opinion of the Corporation Counsel.

The Council voted to postpone No. 3.

The communication from the Corporation Counsel was placed on file.

CONFIRMATION OF APPOINTMENT.

President COLLINS took No. 2, unfinished business, from the calendar, viz.:

2. Raymond C. Dinsmore, to be a Weigher of Coal for the term ending April 30, 1912.

The question came on confirmation. Committee—Coun. Ballantyne and Hale. Whole number of ballots cast 7, yeas 7, and the appointment was confirmed.

MINORS' LICENSES.

President COLLINS submitted reports on petitions for minors' licenses for eight newsboys, one bootblack and one vendor—recommending that licenses be granted.

Reports accepted; licenses granted on the usual conditions.

BRANCH LIBRARIES.

Coun. ATTRIDGE, for the Committee on Branch Libraries, submitted the following:

(1) Reports on messages and orders—recommending reference of same to the Committee on Finance, viz.:

Message and order (referred May 22) transferring appropriations for Branch Library, Charlestown, Estate, and Branch Library Charlestown, Alteration and Completion, to an appropriation for a Branch Library, Charlestown.

Message and order (referred June 26) transferring the sum of $30,000 from the appropriation for Reserve Fund to an appropriation for Branch Library, Charlestown.

Reports accepted; said references ordered.

(2) Report on message and communication (referred September 11) giving estimate of cost of Branch Library, East Boston—that the same be placed on file.

Report accepted; said papers placed on file.

(3) Report on message of Mayor and order (referred May 31) relative to library at North Bennet street—that no further action is necessary.

Accepted.

SOLDIERS' RELIEF.

Coun. HALE, for the Committee on Soldiers' Relief, submitted a report recommending the passage of an order for the payment of aid to soldiers and sailors and their families in the City of Boston for the month of October.

Report accepted; order passed.

NOTICE OF STATE ELECTION.

Coun. HALE offered an order—That the City Clerk be and is hereby directed to give notice, by advertising the same as required by law, that meetings of the citizens of this city qualified to vote for state officers will be held at the several polling places designated for the purpose by the Board of Election Commissioners, on Tuesday, the seventh day of November next, for the election of Governor, Lieutenant-Governor, Secretary of the Commonwealth, Treasurer and Receiver General, Auditor of Accounts, Attorney General, Register of Deeds, Clerk of the Supreme Judicial Court for the County of Suffolk, Clerk of the Superior Court for Civil Business, Clerk of the Superior Court for Criminal Business, Councilors, Senators and Representatives in the General Court as follows: one Representative in Ward 7, three in Wards 4 and 5 (said wards constituting one district), three each in Wards 20 and 24, and two each in the remaining wards. Also to give in their votes "Yes" or "No" in answer to the following questions:

Shall the proposed amendment to the Constitution, increasing the power of the Legislature to authorize the taking of land and property for highways or streets, be approved and ratified?

Shall the proposed amendment to the Constitution authorizing the use of voting machines at all elections, be approved and ratified?

Shall an act passed by the Legislature of the Commonwealth in the year nineteen hundred and eleven, entitled "An Act to Annex the Town of Hyde Park to the City of Boston" be accepted?

Shall there be an election for Mayor at the next municipal election?

The polls at said meetings will be opened at six o'clock a. m., and closed at four o'clock p. m.

Passed.

PLAYGROUND, JAMAICA PLAIN.

Coun. BALLANTYNE offered an order—That the Superintendent of Public Grounds be authorized to hire for playground purposes during the current year the Goodwin estate on Carolina avenue, Jamaica Plain, and to pay therefor the sum of $1 and the taxes assessed on said estate for the present year, the amount so paid to be charged to the appropriation for Public Grounds Department.

The question came on the passage of the order.

Coun. SMITH—Mr. President, this matter is new to me. I wonder if Coun. Ballantyne would care to explain it.

Coun. BALLANTYNE—Mr. President, I would say that this is an order that has been passed the last two or three years. It simply abates the taxes on a playground that has been used by the city for several years. It is an order that has been passed in this Council for the last two years to my certain knowledge.

The order was passed.

MERIDIAN STREET BRIDGE.

Coun. KENNY, for the Committee on Finance, submitted a report on the message of Mayor, communications and order (referred August 22) for loan of $63,000 for the reconstruction of the Meridian Street Bridge—that the order ought to pass.

The question came on accepting the report and passing the order.

Coun. KENNY—Mr. President, in submitting that report for the Committee on Finance, I desire to say that, under chapter 581 of the Acts of 1911, the city of Chelsea and the towns of Winthrop and Revere are now called upon to bear their proper share of the construction and maintenance of this bridge as well as the other bridges set forth in that act, including the Chelsea North Bridge. I think it is a matter for congratulation to the City Council that the matter has taken this course, and that the time has now come when action may be taken by the city under chapter 581. A commission is to be appointed, if it has not already been appointed, by the Supreme Court for the purpose of apportioning the various amounts which each municipality will be called upon to pay.

The order was given its first reading and passage, yeas 8, nays 0, the second reading to be had not less than two weeks from to-day.

NEW POLICE STATION, SOUTH BOSTON.

Coun. KENNY offered an order that his Honor the Mayor be requested to ascertain through the proper department and advise this Council the probable cost of a new station for the Police Department, South Division, in South Boston.

Passed.

FINANCE REPORT ASKED FOR.

Coun. SMITH offered an order—That the Committee on Finance report at the next meeting of the City Council on all matters which have been pending before said committee for three weeks or more, or ask for an extension of time to consider such matters.

Coun. SMITH—Mr. President, in offering this order I do so in no spirit of hostility, but simply in the effort to expedite matters and in the effort to have the Council, after having formulated an opinion as to what improvements the city should have at the present time, take some action, bearing in mind the amount of money in the treasury and the borrowing capacity. It seems to me, in view of the number of matters that are pressing, the large number of matters before the committee, that this Council should act as the board of any corporation would act, that we should get together and decide what we favor and what we do not favor and be in a position to meet the Mayor and confer with him, in order to get some improvements through. The last meeting of the Committee on Finance was held to-day. Previous to that the last meeting was held July 7. At to-day's meeting the order was that the meeting was called for one special purpose, and only one special matter was taken up. It is unfortunate, it seems to me, to have meetings on the day when the Council is to meet, and I offer this order hoping that an extension of time will be asked for or that a meeting will be called on some day other than a Council meeting day, so that the Council can discuss the matter in a broad way and get down to facts and to action.

The order was declared referred to the Committee on Finance.

Coun. CURLEY—Mr. President, I would ask Coun. Smith if he has any idea as to the number of papers before the Committee on Finance at the present time?

Coun. SMITH—Mr. President, I think a list has been made up by the Clerk of Committees, and I took the trouble to foot that list up. There are eighty-two papers before the Committee on Finance. Of course, it is only fair to say that some of those are not active.

Coun. CURLEY—Mr. President, I would at this time move to amend the order as submitted by Coun. Smith by striking out that portion which provides for an extension of time.

President COLLINS—The Chair rules that the order has been referred to the Committee on Finance. The only motion that the Chair can entertain at this time is a motion to reconsider.

Coun. CURLEY—Mr. President, I most respectfully move to reconsider. In view of the statement made by Coun. Smith I believe it is about time to get down to business, and I trust that reconsideration will prevail.

Coun. BALLANTYNE—Mr. President, I shall have to vote against the motion to reconsider, for the reason that we had a meeting of the Committee on Finance to-day and it was arranged and agreed by all those present that a conference would be held between now and the next meeting of the Council, that all matters pending before the committee would be discussed and that if the committee thought it desirable the Mayor would be called into conference with us. In view of the agreement that has been made in the committee to-day I shall vote against reconsideration.

Coun. HALE—Mr. President, I think it a rather surprising thing that this motion of Coun. Smith's should have to be made, and I think it more surprising that any member of the Council should object to it, because I find in looking through the rules that the chairman of the Committee on Finance has been violating the rules for some time.

Rule 24 says: "Committees to which any matter is especially referred shall report within three weeks or ask for further time." The chairman of the Committee on Finance has not reported the things referred to the Committee on Finance within three weeks and has not asked for further time, and I should like to indorse what Coun. Smith has said, that no business organization could act in the way the Committee on Finance has acted—in the sense of not acting at all. We have large sums of money which we either ought to spend or ought not to spend. We have been asked to spend large sums of money for the benefit of the city, and not once this year have we had a general, satisfactory discussion of what improvements we should make and what improvements we should not make. No large railroad, no large corporation of any kind, would think of not holding directors' meetings frequently, when occasion arose, to decide what improvements should be made. Yet that is exactly the course that the chairman of the Committee on Finance has taken. I wish, for one, to go on record very strongly as opposed to that policy.

President COLLINS—The question is on Coun. Curley's motion that reference be reconsidered.

Coun. SMITH—Mr. President, may I rise to a point of information? Was the order referred to the committee before I spoke?

President COLLINS—Referred to committee by the President after the gentleman spoke.

Coun. SMITH—After I spoke?

President COLLINS—Yes.

Reconsideration of the reference was lost by a rising vote, 4 to 4.

ADDITIONAL SCHOOL, DWIGHT DISTRICT.

Coun. ATTRIDGE offered an order—That the School Committee be requested, through his Honor the Mayor, to consider and report on the advisability of establishing a schoolhouse of the grammar grade in the Dwight District.

Passed.

TREE PLANTING, DORCHESTER.

Coun. ATTRIDGE offered an order—That the Superintendent of Public Grounds be requested, through his Honor the Mayor, to plant suitable trees in Mt. Vernon street, Dorchester.

Passed.

HOME FOR INFIRMARY INMATES.

Coun. BUCKLEY offered an order—That his Honor the Mayor be requested to furnish a home on the mainland for the aged inmates of the Charlestown Almshouse when said almshouse is discontinued, and that the aged married inmates be granted the same treatment as they now enjoy.

Coun. BUCKLEY—Mr. President, at the time that the Charlestown Almshouse was established by the city of Charlestown the intention was, and it always has been carried out, that aged couples would be taken there and that they would not be separated during the day. That is, they could see each other during the day at all times. Of course, at night they were separated, one part being reserved for the men and one for the women. This does not necessitate any financial expense, or any expense on the part of the city, because I understand that out in the West Roxbury district, at the Parental Home, there is a cottage large enough and suitable for those aged people who have been in the Charlestown Almshouse for years. There is also, I understand, a building on Marcella street, a part of the Marcella Street Home, where those old people can be taken. Of course, in addition to the aged married couples there are other aged people now inmates of the Charlestown Almshouse. This does not include the young people who are in the Charlestown Almshouse but simply the aged people. I hope that the Council will pass the order without referring it to any committee, as it does not necessitate any expense on the part of the city. It is simply an order in the interests of humanity.

Coun. KENNY—Mr. President, I don't think we ought to pass that order without proper consideration. How about those now down on Long Island? There are a number there who might consider this discrimination. Why isn't it discrimination in favor of one set as against the other? It seems to me we must consider the question whether we are giving special privileges to some as against others, privileges to those to whom the gentleman's order refers that those now on the island cannot enjoy. I would like to hear the gentleman further on that matter.

Coun. BUCKLEY—Mr. President, I had not thought of that matter. The only thought that came to my mind was this, that these people have been in Charlestown for years and have enjoyed all these privileges. This almshouse came to the City of Boston when Charlestown was annexed, and the people who are now on Long Island would not undergo the same hardship that these people in the Charlestown Almshouse would undergo if they were transferred to Long Island and had to live according to the rules established there. These people in Charlestown are not inmates of that asylum because of their own improvidence. It is simply the fortunes of fate, or whatever you might call it. It seems to me we might very well pass this order. It is not such a hardship to go directly to Long Island as it is to go from this institution, where they have been for so many years, and I hope the gentleman will withdraw his objection. This is not for all time. It is simply until the old inmates of the almshouse now there will die out. That is all that is asked for, and I think it is only fair. I was talking with Miss Morris of the institution to-day, and she very strongly favors this action. She says the inmates there are crying and are broken hearted because they are afraid they will have to be separated after all these years.

Coun. KENNY—Mr. President, I have every sympathy with what has been said; nevertheless, I should expect if the Mayor took notice of the resolution and carried it into effect that it would create a very delicate situation. There would be people on Long Island who would feel that under the circumstances they might very well be brought to Boston and transferred to this other place that the councilor refers to. I would be glad, however, as a member of the Council to give further reflection and consideration to this matter, and such consideration can be given if the matter should lie on the table for a week or until the next meeting. But if it comes up now I feel that I shall have to vote against it.

Coun. BUCKLEY—Mr. President, even if the old people now on Long Island were transferred to the mainland, I don't think it would be such a hard proposition for the City of Boston to find the necessary funds to support them in the city proper, in view of the fact that the city already has buildings not in use which could be used. There are the buildings of the Marcella Street Home, an old institution. I understand a number of buildings there are not in use, and it seems to me they could be taken. If they are not in use now they never will be in the future, because it is such an old institution. Of course the Parental School at West Roxbury later on may be in use, I understand that perfectly; but it seems to me that the old poor people who are not to blame themselves for being the inmates of this institution must be taken care of, and I don't think it is really doing any injustice for the City of Boston to provide a suitable place for them during their closing days. A great many people in this Charlestown Almshouse have been wealthy and have given of their time and energy to the upbuilding of the City of Boston, and the city has profited by it; and now that they are unfortunate in their old age it seems to me that we might very well pass this order. Personally I am in favor of making things as easy as possible for them, as I know Coun. Kenny is. I understand perfectly his position, which is a just one. But I know he would not be opposed to an order, and neither would I, to have those old people from the Long Island Almshouse transferred to the mainland—that is, if they were not sent there because of their being improvident themselves. I hope he will withdraw his objection, not asking to have this laid over for a week, but that we may have a vote upon it at this time. It does not say that the Mayor must furnish these accommodations, but simply asks that the Mayor furnish them if possible. I am willing to amend by putting in the words "if possible."

Coun. KENNY—Mr. President, my only point is one of discrimination. I should be very glad indeed if it would add to the comfort of the poor people now on Long Island to have them brought to Boston. That is not my point. I am willing, wherever they shall be, that they shall be comfortable, and I am willing to vote money for that purpose. It is not that I want to keep the people now at Long Island there, either. That is not my point at all. I am afraid of discrimination, one against the other. As I say, I am very glad to do anything that can reasonably be done to add to the comfort of these poor people, to furnish conveniences and to bring them to places where they will have the most comfort. But if we are going to proceed to extend the buildings on Long Island with a view to taking care there of these inmates of the Almshouse at Charlestown, I think we ought to do it intelligently, not expending money unless we know it is going to be used for certain specific purposes, and intelligently used. As I say, I am not really at a point where I wish to antagonize this at all. I think it ought to lie on the table for a week, giving us an opportunity to look it over. If I then see my way clear to vote for it I shall be glad to do so, but I cannot do so this afternoon.

Coun. BUCKLEY—Mr. President, of course I am not trying to discriminate in favor of the residents of the Charlestown Almshouse, because I am in thorough sympathy with all poor people, as I know Coun. Kenny is. I know that he looks at the matter from one standpoint and I from the other. But, in view of the fact that he wants to look into the matter and wishes it laid over for that purpose to the next meeting, I am perfectly satisfied with that action. Therefore, I move that it be put over to the next meeting.

The order was assigned to the next meeting of the Council.

COMMITTEE ON FINANCE PAPERS.

Coun. CURLEY offered an order—That in accordance with Rule 24 of City Council Rules all papers in possession of the Committee on Finance for a longer period than three weeks be returned to the City Council and placed upon the calendar for consideration.

President COLLINS—If there is no objection, the order will be referred to the Committee on Finance.

Coun. CURLEY—Mr. President, this order is introduced with a view of having those matters that are before the committee considered some time this year. Page 2 of the calendar to-day is laden with loan orders that have been recommended and that date from October 20, and run as far as December 8. I feel that if what Coun. Smith says is true, that there are in excess of eighty matters before the Committee on Finance, it is about time for this Council to consider some of those propositions. I did not attend the meeting of the Committee on Finance to-day, because I object, as a member of the committee, to a meeting of the committee being called by the chairman to consider only such matters as in the opinion of the chairman should be considered by the committee. I consider the chairman of no more importance on that committee than any other member of the committee, regardless of what he thinks himself with relation to his standing as a member of the committee. He is only one-ninth of the committee, the same as any other member, and I feel that every other man on the committee is just as competent to pass on the merits of any loan before the committee as the chairman. While he may feel that he has a perfect right to call that meeting for the consideration of one item, I want to say that I differ from him. The committee meetings should be called for the purpose of considering all matters in the hands of the committee, and for no other purpose. I have attended a number of meetings of the Committee on Finance this year. and the proceedings there, if conducted in the old days of the city government or Board of Aldermen, would be featured in every newspaper in town. Members of the committee assemble and an agreement is usually entered into—either entered into or implied—before the committee sits down, as to what matters shall be considered and acted upon and what matters shall not be considered and acted upon; and after such matters as are impliedly agreed upon have been considered a motion to adjourn is made, and a minority of the committee are denied an opportunity to discuss and consider certain matters in which they are personally interested. Personally I would like to see some consideration given by the Committee on Finance to the loan recommended by the City Hospital, some $297,000. It is really an institution chief among those institutions in which we take great pride in our city. For the last two or three years it has been seriously handicapped because of lack of accommodation. Some $70,000 was appropriated recently for the purchase of land at the corner of Massachusetts avenue and Harrison avenue, to be used as an addition to the South Department of the Boston City Hospital, and although that land has been available for that purpose now upwards of three months, still no move has been made by the Committee on Finance to recommend a loan sufficient to cover the construction of buildings on that site. I feel that that is one item that stands out prominently among the items that should be considered by the City Council of Boston. I feel that the public would approve of some action being taken on that particular proposition. As I stated to the chairman of the committee recently, personally I would vote in favor of taking it out of the Reserve Fund or any other place in order to have speedy action, because I believe it is a meritorious proposition and one that should be acted upon at the present time. That is only one of the many matters before that committee that should be considered, and I sincerely trust that this order will pass.

President COLLINS—The order is referred to the Committee on Finance.

Coun. KENNY—Mr. President, I was going to say a word or two in reply to the member.

President COLLINS—Does the gentleman move reconsideration?

Coun. KENNY—No, Mr. President.

Coun. HALE—Mr. President, I move reconsideration of the reference.

Coun. KENNY—I do not ask reconsideration.

President COLLINS—Coun. Hale moves reconsideration.

Reconsideration of the reference was lost by a rising vote, 4 to 4.

TRANSPORTATION OF PRISONERS FROM BRIGHTON.

Coun. ATTRIDGE offered an order—That the Committee on Prisons be requested to investigate the methods of transportation of prisoners from Brighton Courthouse to Deer Island boat and to Charles Street Jail.

Coun. ATTRIDGE—Mr. President, on Wednesday, August 9, a woman appeared before Justice Barnard of the Brighton District Court for the commission of a slight offence. The woman was fined $15, and, being unable to pay the fine, was sent to Charles Street Jail. The woman told me personally that she was taken from the Brighton Police Station, No. 14, on the seat of a van. She stated that the men who had been convicted that morning and who were sentenced to the jail or to the House of Correction were put in the interior of the van and that she was compelled to ride through the streets of Boston from Brighton to Charles Street Jail on the seat of the conveyance, between two men, one the driver of the conveyance and the other, I understand, Mr. B. Franklin Sanborn, the probation officer of the court. I think this is a matter which should be investigated by the Committee on Prisons. I believe that is the proper committee to investigate it. If the authorities of the Brighton Court have not a proper conveyance in which to properly and decently carry men and women from the Brighton Courthouse to the jail and the House of Correction, I say let the officials of that court appear before our Committee on Appropriations at the beginning of next year and ask for a suitable appropriation for a proper means of conveyance, so that people can be carried decently to the various places of detention. I have looked up the minutes taken by the official stenographer for the last two years of our meetings of the Committee on Appropriations, and I could not find that official from the Brighton Court appeared before our Committee on Appropriations and asked money for this purpose. I say there should be a proper conveyance for the carrying of prisoners from Brighton to the city proper, and I say it is a shame and a disgrace to the city to allow any woman to be conveyed in this manner. The woman told me that not only was she humiliated to the extent of riding on the seat of that conveyance, but that when the carriage was drawn up before the gate of the Charles Street Jail one of the men in a loud voice called out three times, "Gate! Gate! Gate!" thus attracting attention to this woman on the seat with these two men. I protest as a member of the Council against such transportation of prisoners, he they men or women, and I trust that the Committee on Prisons will investigate the matter. I have here a copy of a bill which has been filed in the auditor's office under date of August 15, with the stamp of the Auditing Department, and under the date of August 9, the date on which this occurred, I find that there were seven persons sent either to the jail or the House of Correction from Brighton, one woman and six men. I think it is a disgrace that this woman should be humiliated as she was, being compelled to ride on the outside of such a conveyance. I trust that the Committee on Prisons will give this matter serious attention and consideration and will make recommendations, if necessary, to this Council for an appropriation for a proper and suitahle conveyance.

The order was referred to the Committee on Prisons.

AMENDMENT TO COUNCIL RULES.

Coun. SMITH offered an order—That the rules of the City Council are hereby amended hy striking out Rule 24.

President COLLINS—The order will be referred to the Committee on Rules.

Coun. SMITH—Mr. President, in offering this order, I do so presuming that the rule which we have twice acted upon this afternoon is ohsolete. Coming into this body this year for the first time I read carefully the rules. I have taken seriously the rules, as they hit my own committee. In the Committee on Public Lands I have seriously tried to keep up with all matters that have heen referred to the committee, and the same may be said of the Committee on Finance. I presume from the attitude of the Council that that rule is not to be taken seriously. I presume if a committee does not see fit to meet within three weeks and pass on an order referred to it——

Coun. KENNY—Mr. President, I would like to inquire what husincss is pending hefore the body?

President COLLINS—The Chair would rule that no husiness at present is pending hefore the Council.

Coun. CURLEY—Mr. President, I move reconsideration of the reference, and I will yield the floor to Coun. Smith, who desires to discuss the proposition.

Coun. SMITH—Mr. President, if I may be permitted to repeat, I heg to say that I have taken my duties in committees seriously this year, and that this rule has twice heen made ohsolete this afternoon. If that is the attitude of this hody, it would appear that the rule is unnecessary. I presume the chairman of the committee is under no ohligation to keep up with the business that comes hefore the committee. That rule definitely states that within three weeks his committee can either act on the matter hefore it, or come hefore this Council and have a continuance of time. The fact that it has not heen deemed necessary to even ask for a continuance of time, and the fact that we have this afternoon twice voted to do away with this rule in effect, leads me to ask that we do away with it in fact, and that it be stricken from the rules of the hody. I trust that if this is not done the chairmen of all committees will be expected to act promptly or else he called to account by this body. I stand here as chairman of two committees and gladly ask and welcome from this Council any criticism of my committee work. I ask them to take me to task, to call me to order under this Rule 24, in connection with matters referred to my committees. The majority of us in this Council were elected upon the recommendation and with the help of the Good Government Association of this city. That association is avowedly organized to let in the light upon city politics, to illuminate the records of men running for office, and, after they are elected, to keep track of their votes and to make clear to the voters of the city just exactly what is pending at City Hall. In so far as we do not perform our duty under our rules, in so far as we do not act with proper expedition, and in an open way in connection with the legislation of this Council, just so far are we running counter to the avowed purpose of the Good Government Association, and just so far we will be running counter to good government, in my opinion. I desire to set aside this rule or else to make it an active, working rule of this body.

Coun. HALE—Mr. President, I hope that the motion to reconsider the reference will be carried, and I hope seriously before voting that each memher will consider what he is voting upon. Coun. Smith is simply asking that action be taken to show whether this Rule 24 means anything or not. Those supporting this order are not asking anything else. It is not a question whether these orders should go on the calendar or not. I hope before the memhers of the Council exercise their rights and proceed to vote upon this order they will consider just what they are voting upon. This is a matter that should be considered very carefully, as the action we shall take will determine whether the Council believes in this rule or not.

The Council voted to reconsider the reference by a rising vote, 6 to 1, and the question came on the passage of the order.

Coun. KENNY—Mr. President, I trust that the order will be rejected. I have heen quite willing this afternoon to let certain statements go by the hoard here, for I saw no special ohject to be gained by discussing them. The gentleman from Ward 17 (Coun. Curley), as I recall it, spoke about the meetings of the Committee on Finance, stating that if it was understood just what was taking place there they would he featured in the public prints. I suppose that is true of all meetings that the member from Ward 17 attends, whether meetings of the Committee on Finance or meetings in the South End or Roxbury. Now, I am prepared to discuss these financial questions when it shall be proper or necessary. I am prepared to discuss them this afternoon But we agreed ahout two o'clock, or quarter past two, that before the next meeting of the Council we would have a conference in reference to these improvements. Nobody has challenged the statement made here that there are eighty-two matters pending before the committee. Who says that there are? Who will say so on his own responsibility? The memher from Ward 17 says that somebody says, "Somebody told me so." Does he know anything ahout it? There have been many meetings of the Committee on Finance at which he has not heen present, meetings which have taken place when he has heen in Washington or traveling between Boston and Washington. What does he know ahout it when he talks ahout there heing eighty-two matters in the committee? I would like to ask him what he knows ahout it? I am quite willing at the proper time—and I think the proper time is coming in accordance with our agreement this afternoon—to discuss those matters. Almost $800,000 is lying in the Reserve Fund. My position and the position of other memhers of this Council has heen that that money should be spent for permanent improvements before we talk ahout horrowing money. But that is a question to be discussed by and by.

Coun. HALE—Mr. President, I rise to a point of order, that what the gentleman is saying is not relative to the suhject on which he is supposed to be speaking.

President COLLINS—The question is on the passage of the order. Gentlemen addressing the hody will please confine themselves to the order hefore the Council.

Coun. KENNY—Mr. President, I am quite willing to discuss any matters when they are before the meeting properly. Until then I am content to say that I shall vote against this order.

Coun. CURLEY—Mr. President, I do not feel that any defence of my position is necessary. I suppose there may have heen two meetings of the Committee on Finance that I have not attended this year. I don't know of more than two meetings. But I felt that it did not make any material difference whether I attended the meetings or not. I don't take back anything I have said with relation to the conduct of those meetings. The meetings were framed up. Everything acted upon in committee had heen agreed upon previous to the meeting, and the chairman of the committee knows it and everybody present knows it. In relation to the matters before the committee, there has heen a general discussion here, and I asked a memher of the Council who had investigated the matter for himself as to the numher of matters hefore the committee. I asked him in open hoard and he made a statement on the authority of the Clerk of Committees, who has charge of the committee papers. I suppose he was lying, too.

President COLLINS—The question comes on the passage or rejection of the order.

Coun. SMITH—Mr. President, I hope that this order will he clearly understood. We are not voting at the present time whether we shall take matters from the Finance Committee or not. We are simply voting on the question as to whether this hody cares to continue a rule that has been on the hooks since the Council was formed, which calls for a report within three weeks or provides that the committee shall request additional time from the Council. I think that rule an excellent rule. I am loath to vote for the order I have introduced, but in view of the fact that this Council has twice this afternoon stated by its vote that that rule is a nullity, that it amounts to nothing, I think this order is in point. Either one thing or another must be done hy this Council. Either it must amend its rules or live within them. Rule 24 clearly says that a committee shall report within three weeks or ask for further time, and I have introduced an order here this afternoon asking that the Finance Committee, which has not met since July 7 until this afternoon, and which then only considered one matter, either act on the matters before it or else ask for an extension of time on those matters. That is a perfectly fair request. I should have welcomed the same request from any memher of the Council in relation to the Committee on Puhlic Lands, of which I happen to he chairman. I have abided by that rule and have taken it seriously, and why should not other chairmen take it seriously? If it has any effect, if it is of any avail, why not live up to it? If not, why not strike it out altogether? If we are not going to act under the rule, let us do away with the rule.

Coun. HALE—Mr. President, I would like simply to say that in my opinion this amendment, taking this Rule 24 out of our rules, ought of course to be defeated; that it is a very good rule; that we have had it on the hooks all the time, and to-day is the first time I have seen it openly violated. I hope it will he realized that if a member votes against the order to take out this rule, he is voting in favor of the provisions of the rule from the heginning of the year—to have a committee report on a matter hefore it in three weeks or ask for further time; and that if he votes for this order he is in favor of letting committees keep matters just as long as they like.

The order was declared rejected. Coun. CURLEY douhted the vote and asked for the yeas and nays. The order was rejected, yeas 0, nays 9.

ELEVATED STATION, BROADWAY.

Coun. ATTRIDGE offered an order—That the Boston Elevated Railway Company be requested, through his Honor the Mayor, to consider the advisahility of erecting an elevated station at Broadway and Washington street.

Passed.

FINANCE COMMITTEE REPORTS.

Coun. SMITH offered an order—That the Finance Committee report on matters that have heen hefore it three weeks at the next meeting or ask for an extension of time.

President COLLINS—The order will be referred to the Committee on Finance.

Coun. SMITH—Mr. President, in view of the vote just taken, keeping Rule 24 active, it seems to me we are now in a position to take up the order that we originally passed upon this afternoon. That order asked that the Finance Committee——

Coun. HALE—Mr. President, I move reconsideration of the reference to the committee, and will then yield the floor to Coun. Smith.

The question came on reconsideration of the reference.

Coun. SMITH—Mr. President, in view of the action we have just taken on Rule 24, namely, that we desire to keep this rule as one of the active rules of the Council, that we desire to have committees report within three weeks or else ask for an extension of time—I have introduced the order that the Chair has just read. That calls for the Finance Committee to make a report on matters that have been hefore it for three weeks or else ask for an extension of time. It is useless for particular committees of this Council to he expected to act under that rule, if other committees are not expected to do so. There has heen some discussion as to whether the Finance Committee really has a congestion of business before it. I have stated that there were eighty-two matters hefore that committee, and in support of that statement I have looked over four typewritten sheets that the Clerk of Committees has favored me with, giving a statement of the papers before the Finance Committee. Many of the matters have been passed upon, hecause the Finance Committee dallied with them so long that they were passed upon otherwise. That is noticeahly true of the $300,000 for sewers, which we did not take up and pass upon in the Finance Committee until at last the Council had to pass an order for $295,000. It is also true of the order in regard to the hospital. It is true of the order in regard to Norfolk street. It is true of many matters. It is true of the Meridian Street Bridge, which was not passed to-day until the last minute. It is true, as Coun. Curley has said, of a large numbers of matters on the second sheet of our calendar to-day. As a matter of fact, I helieve there are hefore the Committee on Finance three orders and one message referring to Norfolk street alone, two orders referring to Union Park street, one order and six messages referring to the hospital, and two more referring to the Consumptives' Hospital. I claim that that is congestion of business. I claim that I, personally, would not he justified in allowing, if I could avoid it, a committee with which I had anything to do to act in that way. I do not think it is a proper handling of the city's business. We are a Board of nine, elected hy the people of Boston, who thought we were going to treat the city's business as the business of any corporation would he treated. They thought we were going to sit as a Board of Directors and act on the business of the citizens of Boston. That was their understanding, and here we are with matters coming hefore us, which we put into committees, where they are huried, where we do not even act upon them as our rules provides that we shall. We have not discussed matters properly in the Committee on Finance, and I defy the chairman of that committee to state an instance where we have had a good, hroad, general discussion of matters pending before the committee. It seems to me there is no sense in our creating rules if we do not endeavor to live up to them. We have had seven meetings of the Committee on Finance this year. To-day we had a meeting, and underneath the call was written, "To consider the Meridian Street Bridge." That call was sent out after Coun. Kenny had in open Board last week said that there would be a meeting of the committee. As I rememher it, at the time—I am open to correction—he made no proviso that the meeting would he called to consider the Meridian Street Bridge, a comparatively unimportant matter, that would have gone through anyway. Of these seven meetings of the Finance Committee two others were called on the same day that the Council met. Now, it is a fact that we cannot meet in committee just hefore a Council meeting and take a hroad, general view of the finances of the city. We ought to have a whole afternoon to consider the objects before us, getting together as a Board and discussing them and getting the assistance of the views of the different memhers. I would certainly welcome an opportunity to sit down and discuss the matters brought hefore us in a fair-minded way, so that we might come to some intelligent conclusion. If we did that we would he in a position to go to the Chief Executive of the city and ask that he get together with us and pass certain matters. But we have had no such meetings. As I say, three of the seven meetings have been held just prior to meetings of the Board. At none of the meetings has there been opportunity for proper discussion. I am not trying to he personal. It strikes me that our duty as councilors of the City of Boston requires that we give some time and thought to the consideration of important matters coming hefore us, that we are to act as judges in regard to the business of the city and in regard to its financial condition, and that we should sit down and discuss things in a broad, fair-minded way, arriving at some result—not endeavoring to postpone matters of great public importance indefinitely. Now, as we have said that Rule 24 shall stay in effect, as we have heen unanimous in wishing that rule to apply to our committees, why not apply it at once to the Committee on Finance?

Coun. KENNY—Mr. President, there is one thing in which I agree with my friend who has just taken his seat. When he says that he needs the assistance of other members of the committee I think he has stated the situation with great accuracy. I think he does need the assistance of other memhers of the committee, not only on financial matters hut on other matters.

Coun. HALE—Mr. President, I move that that be stricken from the record as unparliamentary and having nothing to do with the subject before us.

Coun. SMITH—Mr. President, I would ask that it be kept in the record.

President COLLINS—Coun. Kenny bas the floor. Does he yield the floor?

Coun. KENNY—He does not, Mr. President.

Coun. HALE—Mr. President, I rise to a point of order, that the remark is out of order and should be stricken from the record.

President COLLINS—If there is no objection, it will be stricken from the record.

Coun. CURLEY—I object, Mr. President.

Coun. KENNY—And I also object, Mr. President.

President COLLINS—Objection having bcen made, it stands on the record.

Coun. KENNY—Mr. President, the gentleman has arisen and has undertaken to criticise the Committee on Finance in a very broad manner, and he has not hesitated to do so on personal lines. He has mentioned names here in violation of the proper rules of this body, and his senior, the other member from Ward 11, is very prompt to come to his assistance when I take occasion to remind the Council and him that I think he does need the assistance of the Council on this pending matter and on other matters. I repeat those words, and I stand on them. I think the member's financial policy and that of the other member from Ward 11 reflect no credit on the Council of this year. I want that to stand on the record.

Coun. HALE—Mr. President——

Coun. KENNY—Mr. President, when I have finished the gentleman will be entitled to the floor, but I don't think I should be required to submit to any further interruption. Here, on four pages, the gentleman would lead us to believe there are set forth eighty-two matters that are before the Committee on Finance and that should be attended to. Why, some of these go away back to 1910 — a lot of lame ducks that have died a natural death, many of them, some of them being kicked out of the Committee on Finance.

Coun. SMITH—Mr. President——

Coun. KENNY—Mr. President, I am talking now.

Coun. SMITH—Will the gentleman yield?

Coun. KENNY—No, not now, Mr. President.

President COLLINS—Coun. Kenny has the floor.

Coun. KENNY—Mr. President, we are told that there are eighty-two matters. Many of these matters date back to 1910. The first matter is dated February 7, 1910. They are in large part matters tbat have been passed upon in one way or another, and some of them, as I say, kicked out of the committee and rejected by this Board. Some of them are referred to two or three different times,—and yet members come in here and try to represent that the Committee on Finance has eighty-two matters pending before it. I have not added up tbese papers, but I will stake my reputation, whatever it may be worth, on the fact that there are not eighty-two matters pending before that committee—and that is a statement of fact that I want verified. I wish to have it verified. I remember last summer, when we bad a meeting of the Committee on Finance, when my friends, the senior and junior members from Ward 11, bad no hesitation in tying up the business of that committee and holding matters in the committee that rightfully belonged before this body. Had it not been for the interference of the Mayor, the $40,000 for the "Vigilant" would have been a loan to-day, an obligation of the city. Then there was tbe additional $60,000 given to East Boston, when some of us thought that they should get along with less on the police station and courthouse. Tbere were some of us who thought that that matter ought to be reported back for discussion, but the two gentlemen from Ward 11, the two financiers of this Board, voted to bold it in the committee. As far as the Meridian Street Bridge is concerned, the gentleman apparently regards that as a matter of trifling importance, but if it had not been for tbe policy of the Board the legislation would not have been enacted and the city of Chelsea would not have been called upon to pay a proportion of the cost of the building and maintenance of that bridge. These are trivial matters, forsooth, and a member of this Board is not allowed to get up and state the facts without tbe member from Ward 11 challenging the truth and accuracy of his statement. I sincerely trust that this order will not prevail.

Coun. SMITH—Mr. President, I always welcome a discussion based on facts. I have stated—and I will leave it to the stenograpber—that there were eigbty-two papers before the Committee on Finance. I did not say there were eighty-two matters. I was very careful in my statement in regard to that matter. I beg leave to submit a list, if the Council will pardon my reading it. This is a list of the papers pending before the Committee on Finance, unless the Clerk is wrong. The matters of 1910 and of this year are specified:

Of course my facts may he wrong; of course the Clerk of Committee's facts may he wrong. But those are the facts as he has presented them to me. Those are the papers hefore the Finance Committee. Those are eighty-two papers, if my footing up is correct. Those I deem to he an undigested mass of husiness which it is improper for a committee to keep before it under Rule 24, which we have to-day insisted on keeping as a rule of this Council. Either that rule should be stricken from the hooks or the rule should he made operative and the Finance Committee should take up this great mass of matters before it. I don't wish to be personal, and for that reason I requested that any personal remarks made hy Coun. Kenny should he kept on the records of the meeting. It has heen my purpose all through the year to avoid personalities. I don't think we have gained anything by indulging in personalities in this Council. We were elected to deal with the city's husiness as the board of a corporation—not to hicker or squahhle but to deal with the business of the citizens in a hroad and intelligent way. We have never heen ahle to deal with the finances of the city in a broad way because of the attitude of the committee; and for that reason I am simply asking that we have those matters hrought before the body as a whole, or else that the committee ask for an extension of time. In view of the rule that the committee is acting under, I think that is a perfectly legitimate request. As I have said, I have attempted to live under that rule myself as a memher of the Puhlic Lands Committee, and I think it is no more than fair to ask the chairman of the Committee on Finance to deal with matters before that committee in the same way. Speaking for the Committee on Public Lands, I welcome and shall be glad at any time to receive instructions. I am glad this afternoon to have received instructions—although perhaps I have not profited hy the personalities that Coun. Kenny has indulged in. I sincerely hope this order will go through.

Coun. KENNY—Mr. President, the papers read here to-day are copies of papers which I had printed last week. I went to the Clerk of Committees or his assistant and requested him to prepare a list of these papers. Now all the talk ahout these matters comes from the fact that the gentleman has come into possession of the copy of a paper which I had prepared last week for the use of the committee. I am going to correct him in one or two respects, as usual. I said here last Monday that I would call a meeting of this committee—that is, the Committee on Finance—in order that we might take up the Meridian street matter at least. Now it is well known that when a meeting of the committee is called, even for a specific purpose, a majority of the committee attending the meeting may transact other husiness. I have so ruled heretofore in the Committee on Finance. I saw a necessity—or at least I thought I did—of calling a meeting for the purpose of making a report on the Meridian street matter, and I so stated in the call. Nevertheless, a majority of the committee had a right to come in and transact such husiness as they saw fit to transact. So the gentleman's suggestions ahout my modifying the call are really of no special moment at all. The fact still remains that there are a lot of matters in the committee that are dead—as I term them, lame ducks. Why, meetings of the Committee on Finance have never been frequent, and I am told that in the first administration of Mayor Hihhard there was not a single meeting of the Committee on Finance. But, hecause we are not continually heing called together for the purpose of running through matters or accepting propositions to create loans, we are either called delinquent or told that we are not attending to our duty. Why, Mr. President, you and other memhers know that if we had responded last year to requests for loans there would have heen enormous amounts expended which we might have seriously regretted. Take the matter of incinerators. My friend from Ward 11 was very anxious ahout incinerators—wanted to spend $300,000 a year ago last summer for incinerators. What is the result to-day? They don't know whether they want incinerators now. But, as I say, I helieve hy the next meeting of the Council, after we take these matters up, we will he ahle to sift out such matters as should he sifted out. and if there are some matters pending which are ohnoxious to my friend from Ward 11, old and stale matters, and he does not wish to see them there, I will vote to make him a present of them, personally. I am told this afternoon that the Mayor has considered and is ahout to send in—and prohahly has sent in to this Board—an appropriation of $35,000 for fireboat quarters and pier, Northern avenue, and $25,000 for the making of highways, taking the place of items that it had been proposed to provide for hy loan. If that is so, I helieve the Mayor is on the right track in spending money in the Reserve Fund for these permanent improvements and that too much credit cannot be given to him for that policy. That is my humhle opinion.

Coun. SMITH—Mr. President, of course the remarks of the last speaker in regard to the amount of money I have voted for in comparison with the amount ot money he has voted for, or that the majority of the Council have voted for, are entirely beside the point. He goes on the assumption that I am ready to vote for money more readily than he is or than the majority of the memhers of the Council are. But I simply ask that these various matters he run over and the total footed up, and I think you will find that I have voted for less money to he spent hy the City of Boston than he has. I rememher on that point one distinct case of a loan of $50,000 for a playground in Ward 20, and I remember that at the last meeting of the Council a matter of $3,000, through his committee, was asked for to lay a pipe to Castle Island, and I was the only one to vote against that—and today the Corporation Counsel says it is illegal to grant that. Other cases, I think, would come to his recollection if he would run down over the list. I have no doubt that I have voted for $100,000 less of appropriations this year than has Coun. Kenny. But that is entirely heside the point. The question is simply whether this Board cannot be called together in a Finance Committee meeting to discuss the needs of the City of Boston hroadly, to exchange ideas, to gain the knowledge that each memher has of the needs of the City of Boston. It is quite an undertaking to represent this whole city. I admit frankly that I don't know the needs of all the different localities, and I must say that I have been rather energetic this year in trying to get an intelligent idea of the matters coming hefore us. I welcome the suggestions of other members more intimate with different localities, and would like to see an interchange of ideas; but that sort of thing is choked off hy the fact that when a matter comes into the Board it is pigeon-holed in the Committee on Finance and that, as I have shown the situation, there are not meetings at which we can discuss matters in a hroad and intelligent way. All I am asking for—entirely aside from the personalities that Coun. Kenny is indulging in—is that he call a meeting of that committee, which he really is pledged to do under Rule 24, and that we have some general discussion of these needs of the city. Then we can get together with the Chief Executive and find out what can be agreed upon, and can get it through the Council, getting down to action instead of postponing and postponing. For that reason I hope this order will go through. I consider that it emhodies a legitimate request; and I consider, in view of the fact that Coun. Kenny has voted to keep Rule 24 as a rule of this Council, that he must necessarily agree to bring in a report on those matters before the committee at the next meeting or ask for an extension of time.

Reconsideration of the reference to the Committee on Finance was declared lost. Coun. HALE doubted the vote and asked for a rising vote. Reconsideration was lost, 4 to 5.

Coun. HALE further doubted the vote and asked for the yeas and nays.

Reconsideration of the reference to the Committee on Finance was lost, yeas 4, nays 5.

Yeas—Coun. Buckley, Curley, Hale, Smith—4.

Nays—Coun. Attridge, Ballantyne, Collins, Kenny, McDonald—5.

The order stood referred to the Committee on Finance.

FIREBOAT QUARTERS, ETC.

The following was received:

City of Boston,
Office of the Mayor, Octoher 16, 1911.

To the City Council:

I am informed that the Committee on Finance is ready to recommend appropriations for firehoat quarters and pier at Northern avenue, and for the grading of Providence street, if the form of the orders is changed so that the money may be drawn from the Reserve Fund and not ohtained by hond issue. I see no ohjection to using the Reserve Fund for this purpose in this instance, and recommend the passage of the accompanying orders appropriating the sum of thirty-five thousand (35,000) dollars for firehoat quarters and pier, Northern avenue, and adding twenty-five thousand (25,000) dollars to the appropriation for Highways, Making of. At the same time I wish to withdraw the loan orders recommended for the same objects and considered at your meeting of Septemher 11 and Septemher 18.

Respectfully,
JOHN F. FITZGERALD, Mayor.

Ordered, That in accordance with the provisions of chapter 261 of the Acts of 1893 the City Auditor be and hereby is authorized to transfer the sum of thirty-five thousand (35,000) dollars from the appropriation for Reserve Fund to an appropriation, to he expended under the direction of the Fire Commissioner, for firehoat quarters and pier, Northern avenue.

Ordered, That in accordance with the provisions of chapter 261 of the Acts of 1893 the City Auditor he and herehy is authorized to transfer the sum of twenty-five thousand dollars ($25,000) from the appropriation for Reserve Fund to the appropriation for Highways, Making of.

The order was declared referred to the Executive Committee.

Coun. CURLEY—Mr. President, for information I would like to ask the chairman of the Committee on Finance if he can inform us when the Committee on Finance decided on the policy set forth in this communication?

Coun. KENNY—Mr. President, I cannot do so.

Coun. CURLEY—Mr. President, I would like to ask what disposition has heen made of this communication.

President COLLINS—It has heen referred to the Executive Committee.

Coun. CURLEY—Mr. President, I most respectfully move reconsideration of the reference, and if that prevails I will move to lay the order on the table until we find out ahout this. I don't feel personally that anybody has a right to prejudge the way I am going to vote as a memher of the Committee on Finance, nor the way any other memher of the committee is going to vote, until we have had a chance to consider the proposition—and I have never had it hefore me for consideration as a member of that committee.

Coun. HALE—Mr. President, I hope every member will consider just the situation here before voting. I wonder if the memhers appreciate what this communication says, under date of October 16: "I am informed that the Committee on Finance is ready to recommend appropriations" for certain things. Now, the Committee on Finance has not acted officially since last July, and I would like to have an investigation made and would like to know who has heen representing the Committee on Finance, who has heen given authority to represent that committee in stating to the Mayor that the committee is ready to make certain appropriations? Even if the committee is not ready to meet and consider matters that ought to he considered, at least we need not have unauthorized representations of the position of the committee made. We should not have statements go forth as to what the committee is willing to do or is not willing to do without any authority for such statements.

Coun. KENNY—Mr. President, I sincerely hope that the reference will not be considered. I think this matter might very well be discussed in executive session.

Coun. SMITH—Mr. President, I would like to have my record go against this. I helieve it is ahsolutely unauthorized. The Finance Committee has not met since July 7. How anybody could say that the Finance Commiteee is in favor of certain things I don't see. I helieve that is high-handed. I helieve Coun. Kenny has taken upon himself altogether too much, for it is undoubtedly the chairman of the Committee on Finance who has misrepresented this thing to the Mayor. Either it is the chairman or else the chairman should vote for this reconsideration. If the chairman of a committee misrepresents to the Mayor of this city the attitude of a committee it is high time he should give some excuse to this Board.

Coun. KENNY—I merely wanted to say that I sincerely hoped that the memher from Ward 11 might not get personal.

Coun. SMITH—I think the remark is very well in point. I do hesitate to get personal, and I have tried to refrain from personalities up to the present time, although Coun. Kenny has time and time again tried to provoke me to it. I repeat now that the councilor from South Boston, Coun. Kenny, as chairman of the Committee on Finance, has misrepresented the committee to the executive of this city. He has either wilfully done it or negligently, and he owes the Council an excuse for so doing.

Coun. KENNY—Mr. President, I was not aware until now that I had heen charged with that. I await some information on that point. I didn't understand that I had heen charged with misrepresenting until now. That was the first time I had heard it. Do I understand the memher to say to the Council that I went to the Mayor and misrepresented something?

President COLLINS—Does the gentleman yield?

Coun. KENNY—Of course, I want you to answer. Mr. President, awaiting some further disclosure of this horrihle condition that has been described here, I will resume my seat.

Coun. SMITH—Mr. President, now that the gentleman is through with his remarks I would he glad to answer any questions which he puts. As I understand him he asks whether he is charged with misrepresenting the attitude of the Finance Committee to the Mayor. I say this,—as chairman of the Finance Committee he has either wilfully or negligently misrepresented the attitude of that committee to the Mayor or else he should explain why that appears in the letter.

Coun. KENNY—I don't quite see why I should explain anything in view of the charge that has heen made. I think it is up to the memher to prove that which he charges, and then let me explain. He has made a charge here which I think he should hack up. When he hrings some evidence I am prepared to offer some answer. Perhaps I don't quite understand what the memher means. He says I wilfully or negligently or with malice aforethought did something to the Mayor or at the Mayor's office, representing the Committee on Finance. Now I want to hear more about that. I am very anxious to hear more ahout it.

Coun. SMITH—Coun. Kenny wishes to hear more about it. The Mayor is under a misapprehension. He thinks the Finance Committee has met and decided on some action. Of course, many of us have wanted it to meet, the Mayor among others. He thinks the Finance Committee has met and has taken a definite attitude in regard to loans or appropriations. Now the Finance Committee has done nothing of the sort. It has not even met. The chairman of that committee has either misrepresented the attitude of that committee to the Mayor or else he should as chairman be interested to find out how the Mayor comes to be misinformed.

Coun. KENNY—Or else! Now I have misrepresented the attitude of the committee to the Mayor, "or else—." Now what is this else,—what else?

Coun. SMITH—Or else the Committee on Finance, through its chairman, should be interested to correct any misrepresentation or misapprehension on the mind of the Mayor. He is responsible for the Committee on Finance. Coun. Kenny is responsible for that committee, although the responsibility rests lightly upon his shoulders. The Mayor is under a delusion as to what the Committee on Finance's attitude is. He thinks they have had a meeting and have passed upon the financial policy of the city. They have done nothing of the sort. How did he come by that misapprehension? Either through the neglect or wilful misrepresentation of the chairman of that committee or some other means. If he came by it through some other means the chairman should take it upon himself to correct that misapprehension.

Coun. KENNY—Mr. President, it seems to me that from what has just been said the member from Ward 11 here and the Mayor must have had some conference over this. I haven't seen the Mayor at all. I haven't seen the Mayor on this matter. I did see Mr. Leahy this afternoon on my way to this meeting at half past one or quarter past one, telling Mr. Leahy I was going to attend a meeting of the Committee on Finance, and that I hoped the Mayor might do so and so. And the Mayor has responded to that hope. But as to saying that the committee had decided or were going to decide so and so, there is no justification for that, as far as I can see, and I wonder that the member doesn't go and find that out before making a charge of this almost indictable offence here before this Board.

Coun. HALE—I would like to have this read again to see whether there is any misapprehension.

Coun. KENNY—I object to that being read again. I don't think we have any misapprehension. We are all of average intelligence. We understand what that says. It is in the records now.

Coun. CURLEY—For information I should like to ask that that be read again.

President COLLINS—On a question of information the gentleman is entitled to have it read again.

Coun. KENNY—Yes. Let it be read again.

(The communication was read by the Clerk.)

Coun. KENNY—Now, Mr. President, let us not have any further misunderstanding about this. Some of the members here are very, very prompt and are apparently very anxious, by innuendo or insinuation, to suggest here that something has been said to the Mayor on behalf of the committee, which is not so. Unless I am very much mistaken one member of the committee here, the member from Ward 17— if I may state his name in order to distinguish him from the other member, Mr. Ballantyne — did call on the Mayor this afternoon and undertook to arrange a meeting between the Mayor and myself and some other members of the committee. And it was in consequence of that effort of the member from Ward 17 that we agreed, in the meeting of the Committee on Finance, to take up these matters with the Mayor at a later time, before the next meeting, and have a discussion. Now I said to the secretary of the Mayor that it seemed to me that that order for $150,000 for widening Norfolk street, if it were necessary, should come out of the Reserve Fund,—that I didn't see why Union Park street, for which an appropriation of $75,000 is proposed for the widening of the street should be taken from the Reserve Fund if we could not go further and take $150,000 for the widening of Norfolk street. Now I said that to Mr. Leahy as a member of this Council and as chairman of the Committee on Finance, intending to report to the Committee on Finance, when I met them, what the Mayor had to say on that subject. I also said to him that I thought those other items of $35,000 and $25,000 should properly come out of the Reserve Fund. Why? Because the Mayor at other times during the year has responded to the suggestions of this Council and has taken from the Reserve Fund matters which might be considered as permanent improvements. That is what took place between Mr. Leahy and myself. I didn't see the Mayor. He wasn't in his office. I should have seen him if he had been there. I am quite willing to take this up in executive session and with Mr. Leahy and state what took place. Why doesn't the member wait and not get nasty and excited and personal over this thing, as he has?

Coun. SMITH—I think I, as one member, and probably the whole Board, wish to thank Coun. Kenny for explaining this matter. He has explained just what he said to Mr. Leahy, how he didn't misrepresent the Committee on Finance, how he simply stated his personal views on these matters, and that therefore the misunderstanding must have arisen between Mr. Leahy and the Mayor. I thank Coun. Kenny for having explained the matter to us.

Reconsideration of the reference to the Executive Committee was lost.

MOTION FOR RECESS.

Coun. ATTRIDGE moved, at 4.45 o'clock p. m., to take a recess subject to the call of the President.

The motion was declared carried.

Coun. CURLEY—I most respectfully doubt the vote.

There being no objection Coun. ATTRIDGE withdrew his motion.

ACCEPTANCE OF MELVILLE ROAD.

Coun. CURLEY presented the petition of R. Mansfield, and many others, asking that Melville road be accepted and improved.

In connection with the petition Coun. CURLEY offered an order—That the Board of Street Commissioners, through his Honor the Mayor, be requested to accept and lay out Melville road, Ward 20.

The order was declared passed.

Coun. KENNY—Why shouldn't that order be referred to the Executive Committee? I don't know anything about that matter. I doubt if other members know anything about it. I move reconsideration and reference.

Coun. CURLEY—Mr. President, if the gentleman doesn't know anything about the matter he might ask that the Clerk read it again. I most respectfully at this time ask that for the information of the councilor on the other side that not only the order but the petition accompanying the order be read.

Coun. KENNY—Mr. President, I am quite willing to have the petition read, and the order. I merely stand up here declining to vote on a matter that I know nothing of at the present time. I understood the matter had been referred to the Executive Committee.

President COLLINS—The order was passed by the Council.

Coun. KENNY—I moved a reconsideration because it was declared passed. I wanted it reconsidered so that it could be referred to the Executive Committee. Then if it be proper I may vote for it. Now why should I vote for it?

(The order was read by the Clerk.)

Coun. CURLEY—Mr. President, I presume now that the member on the other side of the Chamber realizes that the order is a perfectly proper one and drawn in proper form, being merely a request of the Street Commissioners, through his Honor the Mayor, that a road that is built up throughout its entire length be accepted by the City of Boston. I presume, I say, that he will do the proper thing and withdraw his motion to reconsider.

Coun. KENNY—The gentleman is quite correct in his assumption. I do so.

The order was passed.

MORE TIME FOR FINANCE COMMITTEE.

Coun. CURLEY offered an order—That in accordance with the provisions of Rule 24 the Committee on Finance be granted one week in which to report upon matters now pending before the said Committee on Finance.

The order was declared referred to the Committee on Finance.

Coun. CURLEY—I most respectfully move reconsideration and trust that the order will be placed upon its passage to-day. I don't feel that any comment is necessary in connection with the order. It is simply a desire on my part that the Council live according to the rules under which it is supposed that the Council is governed. Rule 24 provided that where a committee fails to report on a matter within three weeks after its being referred to the committee that the committee shall ask for further time. Now the committee has not asked for further time, and purely in a spirit of generosity I ask that the committee be granted one week further. I trust reconsideration will prevail and that the order will pass.

The question came on the motion to reconsider, and upon the motion being declared lost Coun. CURLEY doubted the vote and asked for verification by roll call.

Reconsideration was lost, yeas 4, nays 5.

Yeas—Coun. Buckley, Curley, Hale, Smith—4.

Nays—Coun. Attridge, Ballantyne, Collins, Kenny, McDonald—5.

PRINTING OF FINANCE ITEMS.

Coun. HALE offered an order—That the items now before the Committee on Finance, as read by Coun. Smith, be printed as a public document.

The order was declared referred to the Committee on Finance.

Coun. HALE—I move reconsideration of this reference. I hope very much that this will be done. I think if we cannot get a chance in any other way to study the matters that are now before us that we ought to have a public document published so that we may study it at home in our chambers instead of where we ought to, in the Committee on Finance.

Coun. BALLANTYNE—I hope the motion will not prevail, for this reason. We did have a copy of this document as presented by the councilor from Ward 11 upon the records to-day. And we each of us had the assurance of the chairman of the Committee on Finance that we would each be furnished with a typewritten copy between now and the time of the meeting, so that I don't think it is necessary to put the city to this expense.

Coun. HALE—Do I understand from the chairman of the Committee on Finance that we are going to get a document covering all these items some time in the course of this week? If I understand so from him I will be very glad to withdraw this.

Coun. KENNY—I should have thought that after the statement from the member from Ward 17 that that would have been sufficient without calling for any corroboration. That is why I did not rise to corroborate it.

Reconsideration of the reference to the Committee on Finance was lost.

PAPER TAKEN FROM FINANCE COMMITTEE.

Coun. SMITH offered an order—That the order for $297,800 on the addition to the hospital be taken from the Committee on Finance.

The order was declared referred to the Committee on Finance.

Coun. SMITH—I ask for a reconsideration of the reference to the Committee on Finance. The need for an addition to the hospital is pressing. The matter has been before the Committee on Finance for some time. It has been for a time in excess of three weeks. The Council this afternoon has voted to keep Rule 24 an active rule of this body, calling for a report on a matter within three weeks or an extension of time. The Council has also voted down an extension of time to the Committee on Finance. Therefore it might be embarrassing to the Committee on Finance to know what to do. It is not acting properly in continuing these papers before it. It has no extension of time, and as this matter is pressing and as we have all formed our opinion upon it we are forced by the action of the Council this afternoon to take up this matter. As I have stated, there is one order before the Finance Committee and six messages on this hospital. There are also two orders on the Consumptives' Hospital. But the order I have put in refers only to the addition to the hospital for contagious cases. Now I am not in favor of taking matters out of the committee's hands and dealing with them in open Board hastily, without time to consult properly. I am not in favor of that. I would not introduce this order except in an extreme case. The case is extreme now because the Finance Committee has refused to act. It has called no meetings to deal with this subject. We are unable to get together as a Board. It is unfortunate. I hesitate to say it, but evidently we are unable to get together because of the attitude of the chairman of the Finance Committee and a majority of this Council. We are unable to get together as a board of a corporation to sit down and discuss these matters. The most pressing of these matters should therefore be taken up in open Council. For that reason I ask that the hospital be dealt with this afternoon. I should prefer that we should discuss it in committee, where we could deal with it in relation to other matters. But we can't get a meeting of the committee. We can't make Rule 24 operative against a majority of the committee. Therefore I have introduced an order to take this matter up at once.

The motion to reconsider the reference to the Committee on Finance was declared lost, and Coun. CURLEY doubted the vote and asked for a verification by roll call.

Reconsideration was lost, yeas 4, nays 5.

Yeas—Coun. Buckley, Curley, Hale, Smith—4.

Nays—Coun. Attridge, Ballantyne, Collins, Kenny, McDonald—5.

ADDITIONAL TIME FOR FINANCE COMMITTEE.

Coun. CURLEY offered an order—That in accordance with Rule 24 of City Council Rules the Committee on Finance be granted two weeks additional time in which to report upon matters pending before said Committee on Finance.

The order was declared referred to the Committee on Finance.

Coun. CURLEY moved reconsideration of the reference; declared lost. Coun. CURLEY doubted the vote and asked for the yeas and nays.

Reconsideration of the reference was lost, yeas 4, nays 5.

Yeas—Coun. Buckley, Curley, Hale, Smith—4.

Nays—Coun. Attridge, Ballantyne, Collins, Kenny, McDonald—5.

RETIREMENT FUND FOR LABORERS.

Coun. CURLEY called up No. 5, past assignment, viz.:

5. Ordered, That chapter 413 of the Acts of the Massachusetts Legislature for 1911, entitled "An Act Relative to a Retirement Fund for Laborers Employed by the City of Boston," be and hereby is accepted by the City Council of Boston.

Coun. KENNY—I understand that the Finance Commission desires a little further time in making a report on this matter. They have already made a report on one of the acts on which we are to pass, but they have not reported on this, and they have asked for a further extension. Therefore I move that this matter be assigned to the next meeting.

Coun. CURLEY—Mr. President, I have no desire to discuss the merits of the proposition. They are as familiar to every member of the Council as they are to myself. But I do feel, on a proposition of this character, where the Finance Commission have impliedly taken a position and where the position of the City Council is generally known,—that is to say, to be favorable,—and where the bill itself is of such a meritorious and just character as is this bill, that so far as I personally am concerned the opinion of the Finance Commission on this proposition would in no way interfere with my action, and I question greatly whether it would interfere with the action of a majority of the members of this City Council. Now this matter has, in one way or another, been before the City Council since May of this year, somewhere in the neighborhood of four months. I believe we are in possession of about all the information that is necessary for us to have in order to act on the general principle, and while I am always desirous of being courteous, still this makes about the third assignment on this particular proposition to my knowledge within the last two months. I sincerely trust that assignment will not prevail and that the matter will be considered to-day.

Coun. BALLANTYNE—I believe this is the second assignment of this proposition. Some three weeks ago, I think, it was assigned, giving the Finance Commission a little further time to report on this and other matters. And, as I understand, they have been very busy and been unable to take up this matter, but have promised to report within one week. Now I am, as the councilor on the opposite side is, entirely in favor of this bill, and will be glad to vote for it at any time, but I believe we ought to be courteous enough to give the Finance Commission one more week. For that reason I am going to vote for the assignment to one week for consideration of the Council.

The motion to assign for one week was declared carried, whereupon Coun. CURLEY doubted the vote and asked for verification by roll call.

The assignment to the next meeting was carried, yeas 7, nays 2, Coun. BUCKLEY and CURLEY voting nay.

SALE OF PARK LAND, BRIGHTON.

Coun. McDONALD called up No. 4, special assignment, viz.:

4. Report of the Committee on Public Lands, ought not to pass on the order authorizing the sale by the Park Commissioners of a parcel of land in Brighton, bounded southerly by Commonwealth avenue and northeasterly by Chestnut Hill avenue.

Coun. CURLEY—I would most respectfully move that the further consideration of No. 4 on the calendar be laid on the table until 5.30. I understand we are to have a meeting with the Park Commission at five o'clock, and it would afford an opportunity for the consideration of this proposition. And if no decision can be arrived at that is acceptable to the City Council and Park Commission it can be then disposed of.

The motion to lay upon the table further consideration of No. 4 on the calendar prevailed.

Later in the session the matter was taken from the table, on motion of Coun. BALLANTYNE, and the report was accepted and the order rejected.

MOTION TO TAKE RECESS.

Coun. BALLANTYNE moved that the Council take a recess subject to the call of the Chair; declared lost.

Coun. KENNY asked for a verification by yeas and nays.

Coun. HALE—Mr. President, I rise to a point of order, that Coun. Smith has already been recognized.

President COLLINS—The Chair has not recognized Coun. Smith. The question is on taking a recess subject to the call of the Chair.

The motion for recess was lost, yeas 1, nays 6, Coun. BALLANTYNE voting yea.

UNION PARK STREET WIDENING.

Coun. SMITH offered an order—That the order for widening Union Park street be taken from the Committee on Finance.

Coun. SMITH—Mr. President, as I understand the order for the widening of Union Park street, it was to be dealt with at to-day's meeting. It is not a matter which the Committee on Finance cared to act upon. It was simply put over till to-day so that certain members of the Council could inform themselves on the merits of the question. If I am wrong I hope I will be corrected. I stated at that time that I was perfectly willing to act at that time on Union Park street, but certain other members of the Council, I think Coun. Hale, for example, desired more time to look into the matter, and unless I am mistaken the matter was put over until to-day. Now it seems to me we have reached the time to deal with this matter regardless of whether it is before the Finance Committee or not.

Coun. KENNY—I would like to inquire from the member from Ward 11 where he got that order he has just introduced. I await an answer.

Coun. SMITH—Mr. President, it is hard to answer such an indefinite question. I hope Coun. Kenny will make it more specific.

Coun. KENNY—Mr. President, I will do so. Mr. President, isn't it a fact that he got that order from Coun. Curley, of Ward 17, within a few minutes, with a request from him to present it to the meeting.

Coun. SMITH—Mr. President, I am surprised that such a question is asked, but I am glad to answer it in the negative. I have had no communication from Coun. Curley on this subject within the last month, and I question why Coun. Kenny asked me such a question.

Coun. KENNY—The matter which is referred to in that order is now pending before the Executive Committee and that committee voted two weeks ago to take the matter up this afternoon in Executive Committee.

Coun. CURLEY—Mr. Chairman, I believe that Coun. Kenny owes me an apology. As Coun. Smith says, I have had no conversation with him during the entire day except at the distance across the Chamber, and had no intimation that he was going to introduce an order of this character. With relation to the particular order itself, the fact that there is an order for an appropriation before the Executive Committee hasn't any bearing on this particular order that is introduced by Coun. Smith, because after all there is an order No. 2 on the calendar, of the recommendations of the Mayor in effect after November 10, calling for a loan of $75,000, and if that is on the calendar then it must necessarily also be before the Committee on Finance. Coun. Kenny knows that, that the $75,000 that is before the Executive Committee is a recommendation of the Mayor in the nature of an appropriation, so that both orders and this additional order here are now before the Board for consideration.

Coun. ATTRIDGE—So that both orders might be discussed by the members of the Council this afternoon, I shall vote as one member of this Council, this order being a loan order which is now before the Committee on Finance, that it be taken from the committee, and then, if that passes I shall ask to have that loan order then referred to the Executive Committee, so that the members of the Council who desire to vote in favor of an appropriation for this improvement may do so, and those members of the Council who desire to vote in favor of a loan for this improvement may do so. For the benefit of all the members of the Council I think it would be best that the two orders, the loan order and the appropriation order, be discussed by the Executive Committee this afternoon at the same time, and therefore I shall vote in favor of this order.

Coun. KENNY—I am rather sorry to disagree with my friend from Ward 9 on this matter, but I think upon reflection he will see what the attitude of some of the members is here this afternoon. I don't believe that the attitude of my friend here on the left is in good faith. I don't believe that the gentleman who sits opposite there, from Ward 17, is acting in good faith. I question their good faith. These matters have been discussed for the last two hours. They are trying to drag in here something from the Committee on Finance. They were not anxious last July, when I undertook to bring in the report on the "Vigilant," but now their effort is to bring something in here. Now, Mr. President, this matter regarding the widening of Union Park street is coming up this afternoon before the Executive Committee, and I propose to vote in favor of it. I propose to vote to take that money as an appropriation and widen Union Park street. The gentleman who sits here knows that, I believe. Now what is their object,—what are they up to? I would again ask the member from Ward 9 to kindly reconsider his determination to vote to bring this thing in and to vote against it. I hope it will not come in from the Committee on Finance. We have this matter in concrete form before another committee, which we are going on this afternoon. Isn't that sufficient?

Coun. CURLEY—Mr. President, I also sincerely trust the gentleman from Ward 9 will reconsider the position he has taken. I think it would be highly unfortunate to have a break in the combination of five that controls matters here. It is very, very unfortunate. I hope he will reconsider. With relation to putting in loan orders, I want to say to the councilor on the other side of the Chamber that what he says is not true. I have presented no loan orders this afternoon. The loan order presented by Coun. Smith, the one for the City Hospital, and the one for the widening of Union Park street, are the only two loan orders that are before the Committee on Finance that have been brought up for consideration or discussion here. But I presented neither of those orders, nor called them up. They were both called up by Coun. Smith. So that when he says I am responsible for their being called up he is stating an untruth. Now, then, so far as this is concerned, I believe it can be acted on in the open just as well as in the committee, in executive session or the Committee on Finance, or in some other place, and I sincerely trust it will he.

Coun. ATTRIDGE—Mr. President, I desire to say that I made the statements that I did make in reference to the loan order believing that the gentleman on the other side of the Chamher who comes from Ward 11 was acting in good faith, and knowing full well his ideas in regard to taking money for permanent improvements from loans rather than from appropriations. And it was only because of the fact that I thought he was acting in good faith that I was willing, as one memher of the Council, to vote that this order would pass, and I still believe that, not, of course, casting any reflections upon the gentleman from South Boston, I still helieve that the gentleman from Ward 11 was acting in good faith. That was the only reason for my statement.

Coun. CURLEY—Mr. President, I am somewhat at a loss herc. I am rather confounded by the statements from the gentleman of Ward 9 and the gentleman from South Boston, as to what constitutes acting in good faith. Is the presumption generally with those gentlemen that the only ones that can act in good faith arc those that share the same views they have? It would appear so. I am charged with acting in had faith in presenting orders when I don't present any orders, and Coun. Smith is charged with acting in bad faith when he presents an order that in his opinion should he considered hy the Board. I should like to have explained to my satisfaction what constitutes good faith and what constitutes had faith.

The motion to reconsider the reference was declared lost. Coun. CURLEY doubted the vote and asked for a verification by roll call.

Reconsideration of the reference prevailed, yeas 5, nays 4:

Yeas—Coun. Attridge, Buckley, Curley, Hale, Smith—5.

Nays—Coun. Ballantyne, Collins, Kenny, McDonald—4.

President COLLINS—The question comes on the passage of the order.

(The order was read by the Clerk.)

Coun. KENNY—Mr. President, I now ask that that order he read so that we may vote on it. Now that it is here let us vote on it. I am prepared to vote against it.

Coun. CURLEY—I move you, sir, that the City Messenger be directed to ohtain from the Clerk of Committees the order with reference to the widening of Union Park street, and hring the same to the Chamber.

President COLLINS—This order is still before the Council. It has not heen passed. The only order before us is that which the Clerk has just read.

(The order was read by the Clerk.)

Coun. CURLEY—My purpose in making that motion is that the order may be read here. The original recommendation is an order that is in the possession of the Committee on Finance. I believe we should have that here.

President COLLINS—The Chair rules that the only order before the Council is this order. If by unanimous consent the other order is hrought forward the Chair will order it to be hrought forward. It will have to be done hy unanimous consent.

Coun. HALE—I ohject.

President COLLINS—The question comes on the passage of the order.

Coun. KENNY—May I inquire if this is a motion to recall the matter from the committee?

President COLLINS—It is not. The Chair rules that the order is what the Clerk will read.

(The order was read hy the Clerk.)

On a rising vote the motion was passed, 5 in the affirmative and 4 in the negative, and the order was recalled from the Committee on Finance.

Coun. KENNY—Mr. President, I now ask that the order he read in order that we may vote on it. It is hefore the Council as I understand it now.

Coun. BALLANTYNE—I move you, sir, that we now take a recess suhject to the call of the Chair, so that we may keep our appointment with the Mayor and the Park Commission.

Coun. CURLEY—I rise to a point of order. The Board is considering at the present time action upon a measure that is hefore the hody, and a motion for a recess cannot he had.

President COLLINS—The Chair rules that the point of order is not well taken.

Coun. CURLEY—On the question of a recess, I feel, Mr. President, that propositions of this character should be met and disposed of as they should be, and I don't think that it is fair to make a motion for a recess after we have considered one phase of this particular proposition that is now hefore us. It is only a matter of two or three minutes delay and the paper will he here. If anyhody desires to discuss it of course it may take longer—but I have assumed that everybody here is familiar with it. At the last meeting of the Council it was stated here that some two members of the Board desired further time to visit this particular location, and I assume that they have had the opportunity to visit the particular location, and consequently are prepared to act to-day. Now what is to he gained by a recess? We simply delay the proceedings upon this proposition and place ourselves in rather an unfavorahle light with regard to the consideration of this particular husiness. Now I assume that a point of order will be raised and that in consequence I will he prevented from continuing to discuss this question of a recess, hut I submit that the only fair way out of this is to go ahead and dispose of this matter one way or the other.

Coun. BALLANTYNE—Ahout twenty-two minutes ago Coun. McDonald called up No. 4 on the calendar, and the councilor on the other side asked that it he laid on the tahle until 5.30 so that the Board might adjourn to keep an appointment with the Mayor and the memhers of the Park Commission, and I made a motion at that time that we take recess at the call of the Chair in order to keep that appointment, and I noticed that the councilors on the other side, several of them, prohahly all of them, voted against that motion for a recess. Now if the councilor on the other side was fair in laying that matter on the tahle for half an hour to keep the appointment, why not take the recess now to keep the appointment, when these gentlemen have heen waiting half an hour for us?

Coun. CURLEY—If I may he permitted, it is immaterial to me what action the Board takes on No. 4 on the calendar. They can dispose of it at half past five without giving proper consideration to it if they see fit. My only purpose in asking that it be laid on the table until we had consulted with the Park Commission was that an opportunity might he continued to us to be in full possession of all the facts with relation to that proposition. It is immaterial to me what disposition is made of it.

Coun. BALLANTYNE—I did not say that the councilor was interested in No. 4 on the calendar, hut I thought he was interested in keeping an appointment with his Honor the Mayor and with the Park Commission. As I understand, a messenger has come from the City Messenger's office within the last five minutes to say that the Mayor is anxiously awaiting the memhers of the Council, and I think that we ought to be courteous enough to wait on the Mayor, especially when he has made the request.

Coun. BUCKLEY—As the matter is now in the hands of the City Clerk I hope that the councilor may withdraw his motion in order that we may pass on it at this time. I think that is the fairest proposition. Most of us know how we are going to vote. We want to he fair and square with each other and give fair play to each other. I think it is not courteous on the part of the City Council, in view of the fact that a messenger had heen dispatched for those papers, to take a recess simply because a little time is wanted to talk the matter over in executive committee. I hope the councilor will withdraw his motion.

Coun. BALLANTYNE—I want to say right here that I have not made any motion for a recess for the purpose of getting time to make up my mind how to vote on the Union Park street question. I am prepared to vote for that now. I am prepared to vote for an appropriation. That order is in the Executive Committee. I have heen prepared for some time to vote on that question. I am also prepared to vote against this loan order; and I don't care whether it comes now or in an hour from now, hut I am also anxious to keep an appointment made with his Honor the Mayor.

Coun. BUCKLEY—Then I would ask the councilor to kindly withdraw his motion in order that the matter may be disposed of now.

The motion to take a recess, suhject to the call of the Chair, was declared carried. Coun. CURLEY douhted the vote and asked for the yeas and nays.

The motion to take a recess prevailed, yeas 5, nays 4:

Yeas—Coun. Attridge, Ballantyne, Collins, Kenny, McDonald—5.

Nays—Coun. Buckley, Curley, Hale, Smith—4.

The memhers retired at 5.21 p. m. and returned and were called to order by President COLLINS at 6.35 p. m.

EXECUTIVE COMMITTEE REPORTS.

Coun. ATTRIDGE, for the Executive Committee, submitted the following:

(1) Report on petition of Frank S. Abercrombie (referred to-day) for a permit for Eleanor Foubister, under fifteen years of age, to appear at Odd Fellows Hall, 515 Tremont street, on October 26—that permit be granted.

Report accepted; permit granted on the usual conditions.

(2) Report on message of Mayor and orders that in accordance with the provisions of chapter 261 of the Acts of 1893 the City Auditor be authorized to transfer the sum of $25,000 from the appropriation for Reserve Fund to the appropriation for Highways, Making of; and order in accordance with the provisions of chapter 261 of the Acts of 1893 the City Auditor transfer the sum of $35,000 from the appropriation for Reserve Fund to an appropriation to be expended under the direction of the Fire Commissioner for Fireboat Quarters and Pier, Northern Avenue—that the orders ought to pass.

The question came on accepting the report and passing the orders.

Coun. HALE—Mr. President, I would like to say that I shall vote in favor of these orders because I find that my views that permanent improvements like this should come out of loan, and not out of appropriations, cannot prevail in the Council. I firmly believe that it is much better finance to take these out of loans and not from the Reserve Fund. I shall not go into my reasons, because the hour is too late, but I will merely say that I shall vote in favor of these orders because I think this work should be done and because I see that we have not the votes to provide the money as it should be provided. I vote for this without waiving my theory as to the principle involved.

The order for Fireboat Quarters and Pier was passed, yeas 9, nays 0.

The order for Highways, Making of, was read once and passed, yeas 9. Assigned for fourteen days for final action.

(3) Report on message of Mayor, communication and order transferring the sum of $23,442 to the appropriation for Health Department for cholera inspection expense—that the order ought to pass.

Report accepted; order passed, yeas 9, nays 0.

(4) Report on message of Mayor, communication and order that $2,500 be transferred to L Street Bath additions—that the order ought to pass.

Report accepted; order read once and passed, yeas 9, nays 0. Assigned for fourteen days for final action.

(5) Report on message of Mayor and order (referred October 2), transferring the sum of $75,000 for the widening of Union Park street, to be expended under the direction of the Street Commissioners—that the order ought to pass.

The question came on accepting the report and passing the order.

Coun. SMITH—Mr. President, regardless of whether it is to be a transfer from the Reserve Fund or a loan, I am forced to vote against this proposition because it does not seem to me that the widening of this street is at all important to the general public, as it is not a connecting link between two main thoroughfares and as it is in no way bound up with the traffic of the city. My vote will be given without any prejudice whatsoever. In the first place, I can find no precedent for helping a private owner in the development of his property; in the second place, even though the development of this property would add to the assessed value of the city so that it might be charged off in that way in the future, even then it seems to me we are not justified in helping any private owner. Therefore, regardless of whether this is a transfer from the Reserve Fund or a loan, I feel obliged to vote against it.

Coun. CURLEY—Mr. President, I do not feel that Coun. Smith has given proper consideration to the remarks that he has just uttered and which will be entered upon the records of the City Council. I don't feel that this is a case of benefiting a private owner directly. I feel that if the city were in the same position to-day that it was when this proposition was first agitated, fifteen years ago, when the property was less valuable than it is to-day and when the movement on foot at that time was one to compel the city to pay $110,000 in excess of what it is to pay to-day, it might be considered a case where not only a private owner but private individuals and bonders of land would benefit. But in this proposition one individual has the courage, the manhood and the public spirit to insist that no person exact from the city an amount in excess of the actual value of the property that is to be taken by the city. I feel that this is an improvement that is demanded in that section, an improvement that will be carried through in the same manner that the Dorchester street widening improvement was carried through, without graft, without corruption and with the best interests of the city and the public concerned; and I don't feel that any private individual is going to benefit directly by the improvement. I feel that this particular section, the seat of a religious denomination, is entitled to proper æsthetic surroundings; that those are not in evidence at the present time; that the question of private individuals benefiting by any money that has been expended for the development and improvement of Copley square has never been brought up for discussion in this body by any member, to my knowledge; and I don't think it is fair to bring it up at this time. Personally, I don't think the councilor intended that it should be brought up in that manner.

Coun. HALE—Mr. President, I am going to vote in favor of this order, and I wish to give my reasons. They are three. The first and the least important reason is that I consider that to a certain extent it will facilitate traffic. The traffic argument does not seem to me particularly important, because I don't believe there will be any great amount of traffic through that street. But it is a reason. The second reason is that it will open up a very important, although not in a strict sense a public building, and I think if we get that building opened up it will be of great benefit as far as the beauty of that part of the city is concerned and will help that neighborhood indirectly. My third, and much the most important reason, is that we have the most definite assurance of Monsignor Splaine, who came before the Executive Committee, that if this improvement, costing about $75,000, is put through, the Archbishop intends to build on the widened street a model tenement house that, according to his figures, will cost about half a million dollars. That will bring into the city directly each year about $8,000, and in that way, looking at it as a pure business proposition, would pay for the improvement in ten years; and so I shall vote for the proposition, the same as I would if it was simply John Smith in the same way; although the benefit in this case will not be measured entirely by the fact that a model tenement house costing half a million dollars will be placed there, but there will be the benefit of the good housing that will be offered to people who live in that section and the example of such a place to the whole neighborhood. Therefore, I am strongly and heartily in favor of the order from every point of view.

Coun. SMITH—Mr. President, I think very properly I should explain my first remarks, as I don't wish them misunderstood. I did not mean in the slightest degree that any individual was to profit by a single dollar from this improvement. I know of no other improvement, ever since I have been a member here, that has been cleaner, more proper or more businesslike. It is thoroughly clean and would be carried out at the minimum cost. But it does not seem to me that we are justified in widening a street not called for by the public generally. I would much sooner see this sum of money go to the widening of Pleasant street, Arlington street, Norfolk street, or any generally used public street; and it is only for that reason that I am voting against the order, not because I think a penny is being misspent. I don't think so. I think probably they will have to come and ask for more money before they get through. But it does seem to me that they are starting a precedent in this case, based on which other owners of property might ask the city's assistance. They might also intend to develop property in a very public spirited way, and yet the city as a city would not be justified in assisting in the development of the property in which they were interested. For this reason I am voting against the order.

Coun. ATTRIDGE—Mr. President, the hour is getting late and I do not desire to take up very much time of the Council. In the first place, I desire to say it is my opinion that this improvement which it is intended to carry out will not cost any more than is asked for to-day. I have the authority of the Street Commissioners that $75,000 will take care of the removal of the buildings, cost of the land, and also the making of the new street, figuring about $62,000 for the buildings and about $13,000 for the making of the widening. I think this is a clean proposition, as the gentleman on the other side of the Chamber has said; that it is a proper proposition. In my opinion it is a necessary improvement. The Finance Commission state that the street is not used much for vehicles. Why? In my opinion, because it is shaped like the neck of a bottle, and instead of going through this street from the many railroads and warehouses on Albany street, the team drivers prefer to go on a wider street, Waltham street, to the right, or Dedham street to the left. This is a through street from Albany street to Tremont street, wide from Albany to Harrison avenue, narrow from Harrison avenue to Shawmut avenue, and again wide from Shawmut avenue to Tremont street. This is a clean business proposition. My opinion is that it is a necessary improvement. Many times I have seen the carriages that have been at the church in the side alley by the church, there being no room for them on the street. Many times I believe the team drivers of that section have purposely avoided using the street, because it is shaped like the neck of a bottle. Of course, we are all of different opinions. The gentleman on the other side is entitled to his opinion, and I am entitled to mine. I think it is a necessary improvement and should be done. Mr. Hale has suggested wherein this would open up a district where model tenements can be built. The city will receive about $8,000 in taxes from this one model tenement house that is proposed. So, in the course of future years this improvement will pay for itself. For the reasons stated I am going to vote in favor of the proposition.

Coun. KENNY—Mr. President, I do not intend to take much time, but simply to add a word to what has been said. It seems to me that this is a necessary improvement. I believe the money spent for the widening of Union Park street is going to benefit the entire South End. The South End perhaps more than any other part of the city needs assistance. The elevated railroad passing through Washington street has largely arrested the development and the progress of that section of the city, and I believe the widening of this thoroughfare, which means the extension of Union Park street from Tremont street to Albany street, would mean a great deal for the South End. I am quite reconciled to voting for the order, because it is coming out of taxes.

President COLLINS—The Chair will state that when the vote is taken he will be recorded in favor of this proposition, on the ground that it proposes to devote public money to a public purpose. He believes that the improvement of this street, as has been stated, will mean the improvement of that locality. That is the prime reason for the position of the Chair in favor of the order—that the expenditure is for a public purpose,—the widening of a public thoroughfare, with the improvement that such a widening necessarily involves. Therefore, the Chair will vote in favor of the order.

The vote on the passage of the order was yeas 8, nays 1, Coun. SMITH voting nay.

President COLLINS—The ruling of the Chair would be, in cases of this kind, even though the money is taken from taxes, that it is necessary that the order shall take two readings, for this reason. Section 2 of the charter provides:

"All sales of land other than school lands, all appropriations for the purchase of land other than for school purposes, and all loans voted by the City Council shall require a vote of two-thirds of all the members of the City Council; and shall be passed only after two separate readings and by two separate votes, the second of said readings and votes to be had not less than fourteen days after the first."

It is very clear that in the widening of Union Park street land must be taken. For that reason the Chair, to be on the secure side, rules that orders of this kind shall have two readings, the second reading to be not less than two weeks from the first. The second reading of this order will come not less than two weeks from to-day.

PLAYGROUND, WARD 19.

The following was received:

City of Boston,
Office of the Mayor, October 16, 1911.

To the City Council:

I recommend the passage of the accompanying order transferring the sum of forty thousand dollars ($40,000) from the appropriation for Reserve Fund to the appropriation for Playground, Ward 19.

Respectfully,
JOHN F. FITZGERALD, Mayor.

Ordered, That under the provisions of chapter 261 of the Acts of 1893 the City Auditor be and hereby is authorized to transfer the sum of forty thousand dollars ($40,000) from the appropriation for Reserve Fund to the appropriation for Playground, Ward 19.

The communication and order were declared referred to the Executive Committee.

The reference was reconsidered, on motion of Coun. McDONALD, and Coun. BALLANTYNE moved that the order be placed on its passage.

President COLLINS—The Chair will state that for the order involving an expenditure of money, to take its passage a suspension of the rules is necessary.

Coun. SMITH—Mr. President, may I ask for information whether this would be put to a vote as the first reading or not after suspension of the rules?

President COLLINS—Yes.

Coun. SMITH—Do we have to have a vote on the measure after suspension of the rules has been granted?

President COLLINS—The Chair will state that after the suspension of the rules the order will be read and will take its first reading. As I understand it, that is the customary procedure with an order involving the acquisition of land.

The rule was suspended, and the question came on giving the order its first reading and passage.

Coun. SMITH—Mr. President, on this matter again I have no question in my mind as to whether it should be transferred from the Reserve Fund or raised by loan. That is a debatable point. I am, however, against the order, no matter from what source the money comes. I am against it for this reason. Ward 19 has $60,000, and has had for some years, to spend for playgrounds. According to the Park Commissioners they now desire to buy two pieces of land, one for a ball ground and the other for a playground for small children. Ward 19 is amply provided with playgrounds and with ball grounds at the present time. They have Marcella Street, Columbus Avenue and the Fenway Playgrounds. In the old days boys used to go two or three miles when they wanted to find a place to play ball. It is little enough to ask boys twelve years old or over to go the distance they now have to go out there to play a ball game. They don't need a playground. The little children of the district, the little tots, cannot get far away from home, and those children in Ward 19 can be taken care of with the $60,000 that they have already got, and that is all that is necessary for Ward 19 in this respect. The Park Commissioners this afternoon said that one playground, needed for the children, could be taken care of with half the amount they are now asking for, in the neighborhood of $50,000. Therefore, we don't need an additional amount for a playground for Ward 19, such as is proposed here. I consider that the City of Boston is playground-poor at the present time. We have more playgrounds than we can properly develop. That has been my attitude all the year. It was my attitude here when the Ward 20 playground matter came up, and is still my attitude. The only exception I have made is in the case of a playground for Charlestown. The fact that the city is playground-poor is shown in connection with the 1915 movement, when they found the tremendous amount of money that we had invested in playgrounds. When we consider the condition of the West End Playground, the Charlesbank, without superintendence, the run-down condition of various playgrounds in different parts of the city where money should be spent, we should realize that we should rather spend money to take care properly of playgrounds we now have than for additional playgrounds. Go over to the North End and see the condition of the playground, and you will realize that there should be a development of the present playgrounds, and that that is what is required rather than putting in additional ones. It is the same story throughout the city. With one or two exceptions the playgrounds are not properly taken care of and do not have proper people in charge of them. When we compare our playgrounds with those of Chicago, while we have a playground area greatly in excess of the area there, taking into consideration the population, they have a better condition of playgrounds there, as they do in other cities, simply because they have proper superintendence and the playgrounds are not allowed to run down at the heel You will find children playing on the street within view of a playground, and find the playground deserted simply hecause it is not made attractive and not properly developed. For that reason I am against more playgrounds in the city at the present time. I do not stand alone in that position. The City Council may feel that it is catering to public opinion in buying additional playgrounds, hut it is not carrying out the wishes of the people who originally started the playground movement in Boston. Only the other day, in conversation with Mr. Lee, he stated that there was no further need of playgrounds in Boston—and Mr. Lee was the father of the movement that has made possihle the present playgrounds in this city. Yet he states that there is no need of further playgrounds in the city, that what should he done is to improve the ones we have already, instead of adding to the numher. It seems to me perfectly clear that the boys of Ward 19 have an ample numher of places in which to play ball at Marcella street, Columbus avenue or the Fenway, and it seems to me the little tots of Ward 19 who do deserve attention can prohahly be taken care of with the $60,000 that has already been horrowed. I simply suggest—I know that this money will be horrowed, hecause the majority is against me and the land is bought—you will find one piece of land close to the Fenway, so that two ball games can go on, and will find that there is necessarily a duplication of the playgrounds of this city.

Coun. CURLEY—Mr. President, I have no desire to take up the time of the Council, and will speak for just a moment. The original $60,000 appropriation or loan was authorized three years ago. The people of that section are entitled to the same consideration as other more favorahly situated sections of the city, and the attack made by Coun. Smith on the general playground proposition is rather an unfair one. Everyone agrees that the supervision of playgrounds is not what it should he, but the question of additional playgrounds and the question of supervision of playgrounds are two separate and distinct propositions.

Coun. SMITH—Mr. President there is only one other thing I would like to say. At the time when the order came to us asking us to change the wording of the loan from Parker Hill to Ward 19, you will rememher at that time I voted against the change of wording simply hecause I said it was tied up with the proposition to ask us for $40,000 additional at a subsequent meeting. In view of the present order, that statement is thoroughly vindicated. They are now asking for $40,000, an entirely undue amount for that section, under the circumstances. I would be entirely agreeahle to a small expenditure, in connection with Parker Hill Reservoir, for a swimming pool. I introduced an order asking figures in regard to that, and would be thoroughly in favor of it. I helieve they are entitled to it. I helieve that work of that sort should take place, and I wish the Mayor would send down an order for $1,500 for that. I am thoroughly in sympathy with the hoys in the community who desire to play ball. But at the present time they are amply taken care of. I introduced an order for supervision of the Columhus Avenue Playground and proper lighting of the playground. I am thoroughly in sympathy with that. At the same time I think the small children of that neighborhood do not need $100,000 for a playground. The $60,000 they now have is ample, and I am borne out in that statement by the statement of the Park Commissioners this afternoon, when they say that they don't need to spend the $100,000 for the children of the neighhorhood, that at least half of it is for the larger boys who desire to play hall. I am in favor of provision for the little children, and helieve the amount already provided is sufficient for that purpose; but I think there are already ample accommodations for playing ball.

The order was given its first reading and passage, yeas 8, nays 1, Coun. SMITH voting nay.

The final reading and passage will take place not less than two weeks from to-day.

USE OF TOWELS.

Coun. HALE suhmitted the following:

City of Boston,

In the Year Nineteen Hundred and Eleven.

An Ordinance.

Be it ordained by the City Council of Boston, as follows:

Section 1. That no person, firm or corporation, owning, in charge of, or in control of any lavatory or washroom, except in a private residence, shall maintain in or about such lavatory or washroom any towel for common use.

The term "common use" as used in this ordinance shall he construed to mean for use hy more than one person.

Section 2. Any person, firm or corporation, violating any of the provisions of this ordinance shall be fined not less than $5 nor more than $50 for each offence.

Accompanying the ordinance was the following letter:

Scott Paper Company,
Philadelphia, Octoher 14, 1911.

Mr. James M. Curley:

Dear Sir,—At suggestion of Doctors Durgin and Mahoney of the Board of Health will you submit to city councils the inclosed ordinance.

Chicago, Kansas City, Detroit and numerous other city councils have passed same as a sanitary measure for the public welfare.

The Board of Health of our city approve same and I was told to ask you to submit it to councils.

Yours truly,
G. D. G. Bonney.

Referred to the Committee on Ordinances.

THE NEXT MEETING.

Coun. BALLANTYNE—Mr. President, I move that when this Council adjourns it be to meet two weeks from to-day at three o'clock p. m.

Coun. SMITH—Mr. President, I had imagined that the matter of the height of firemen would come up within the next week, and certainly we have the fire limit to discuss on Tuesday. It seems to me these matters that are coming up are pressing enough to demand a meeting next week. I don't see why, in the middle of a husy season, we should put off our meeting for another week.

Coun. Ballantyne's motion was declared carried. Coun. SMITH douhted the vote and asked for the yeas and nays.

The Council voted that when it adjourn it he to meet two weeks from to-day, at three o'clock p. m., yeas 7, nays 2, Coun. HALE and SMITH voting nay.

MONEY FOR SMALLER PARKS.

The following was received:

City of Boston,
Office of the Mayor, October 16, 1911.

To the City Council:

At the meeting of your honorable hody held August 22, I transmitted a letter from the Superintendent of Puhlic Grounds setting forth the needs of the smaller parks under his control and recommended the passage of an appropriation of $15,000 from the income of the Parkman Fund for convenience stations, buhhle fountains and othher improvements in the public parks and squares. As the cost of the improvements recommended hy Superintendent Sullivan far exceeded this sum, I desire now to increase the amount and to recommend an appropriation of $20,000 for this same purpose.

Respectfully,
John F. Fitzgerald, Mayor.

Ordered, That the sum of twenty thousand dollars ($20,000) be and hereby is appropriated from the income of the Parkman Fund for the present year, to he expended under the direction of the Superintendent of Puhlic Grounds for convenience stations, bubble fountains and other improvements in the puhlic parks and squares.

Referred to the Committee on Parkman Fund.

POLICING OF PLAYGROUNDS.

Coun. CURLEY offered an order—That his Honor the Mayor be requested to consider the advisability of an appropriation to provide for the proper policing of all playgrounds in the city.

Coun. CURLEY—Mr. President, I have no desire to take up the time of the Council with a discussion of this matter, but it is common knowledge that there is not protection for the younger children in the playgrounds of the city to-day and that the playgrounds are not devoted to those uses that tend to moral and social advancement and development of the people of a city. I trust that the Mayor will take the matter up with the Park Commission and take such action as will tend to proper policing of the playgrounds and protection of those who use them.

Coun. HALE—Mr. President, I would like to amend the order by adding after the word "policing" the words "and superintendence."

Coun. CURLEY—That amendment is perfectly agreeable to me, Mr. President.

The amendment was adopted and the order as amended was passed.

GENERAL RECONSIDERATION.

Coun. BALLANTYNE moved a general reconsideration on all business transacted at the meeting, hoping that the same would not prevail. Lost.

Adjourned, on motion of Coun. BALLANTYNE, at 7.07 p. m., to meet on Monday, October 30, at three o'clock p. m.

I beg to recommend the acceptance by your honorable body of chapter 367 of the Acts of 1911, entitled "An Act Relative to the Use of School Halls for Other than School Purposes."

JOHN F. FITZGERALD, Mayor.

BUILDING LIMITS.

The following was received:

Office of the Mayor, October 27, 1911.

To the City Council:

I transmit herewith a letter from Thomas F. Doherty, of the Eastern Grocery Company, requesting that an opportunity be given to the people of Dorchester to enter their protest before the ordinance is passed by the City Council, extending the building limits to the entire city. While one hearing has already been held, the matter is of great importance and I suggest that it might be satisfactory to a great many citizens if an opportunity for a full expression of opinion were granted them.

Respectfully,
JOHN F. FITZGERALD, Mayor.

Eastern Grocery Company,
274 Blue Hill Avenue,
October 26, 1911.

Hon. John F. Fitzgerald,
Mayor of Boston:

Dear Sir,—I sincerely hope the people of Dorchester may have an opportunity to enter their protest before the ordinance is passed by the City Council extending the building limits to the entire city.

No class of people more than yours and mine have enjoyed and appreciated the difference between the tenement house district of Boston and the open space, light and air from the character of buildings in the Dorchester district.

It will be far better to hear protests now than a universal condemnation which is sure to arise from all the suburban districts if this ordinance is passed.

What we need is an up-to-date Fire Department. You would find it very inconvenient to ride to the City Hall behind horses now, and it is strange that the Fire Department continues to use the old fashioned method of horse power.

Every hydrant in Dorchester has power enough to play over any building in the district, and an automobile hose cart with two or three men can get to a fire quickly within its zone and extinguish it before much damage is done.

Boston has been standing still for ten years in many ways and will continue to do so until up-to-date methods are employed.

Respectfully yours,
THOMAS F. DOHERTY.

ESTABLISHMENT OF CONVENIENCE STATIONS.

The following was received:

Office of the Mayor, October 27, 1911.

To the City Council:

I transmit herewith a communication from the secretary of the Health Department to the secretary to the Mayor, recommending that convenience stations be established at Roxbury Crossing, Dover and Washington streets, Dock square, Broadway and Dorchester street, Upham's Corner and City square, and that the present station on Flagstaff Hill be replaced by a larger one underground. The communication states that the appropriation already made for convenience stations will provide for the first five stations on this list and suggests that the remaining two, the cost of which is estimated at $22,000, be provided for from the income of the Parkman Fund.

As there may be some question, however, whether this is a proper use of the Parkman Fund, and the appropriations already recommended by me would almost exhaust the income of the fund now in the hands of the City Treasurer, I recommend the passage of the accompanying order transferring the stated amount from the Reserve Fund to a special appropriation for convenience stations at City square and at or near Park square. The improvement is an important one and I trust that speedy action will be taken by your honorable body.

Respectfully,
JOHN F. FITZGERALD, Mayor.

Ordered, That in accordance with the provisions of chapter 261 of the Acts of 1893 the City Auditor be and hereby is authorized to transfer the sum of twenty-two thousand dollars ($22,000) from the appropriation for Reserve Fund to a special appropriation to be expended under the direction of the Superintendent of Public Grounds in conjunction with the Board of Health for convenience stations at City square and at or near Park square

CHELSEA BRIDGE NORTH.

The following was received:

City of Boston,
Office of the Mayor, October 23, 1911.

To the City Council:

The accompanying letter from the Commissioner of Public Works presents what seems to be a final solution of the problem relating to the construction of a satisfactory bridge across the north channel of Mystic river between Boston and Chelsea.

According to the statements of Commissioner Rourke, for the sum of $425,000 a bridge can be constructed which will provide two waterways, each of a width of 125 feet, one of which will be located so as to utilize the present channel, while the other will be in the more desirable situation preferred by many interested parties. It is believed that the construction of a double waterway will not only serve better the navigation interests up the river by avoiding in part the currents at the present location, but will conduce to an earlier widening of the channel. It will also diminish the number of openings necessary by making it possible for two vessels to pass in opposite directions at the same time, and thus present less hindrance to traffic across the bridge. As the present steel draw span and masonry pier can form part of the permanent structure when it is built, the cost of that structure will be reduced by nearly the amount invested in the present draw. The cost of erecting a short temporary bridge on the downstream side of the present structure is included in the estimate.

While the carrying out of these plans involves an additional appropriation of $175,000, it is understood that, according to the terms of chapter 581 of the Acts of 1911, Boston will be reimbursed for such portion of the cost as may be assessed upon other municipalities, and upon railways which, in the judgment of a commission to be appointed by the Supreme Court, will receive benefit from the improvement. The initial outlay, in other words, is not final, but is subject to an abatement the exact amount of which cannot be accurately determined at the present time.

TRADES UNION LABEL COUNCIL BOSTON, MASS.

A copy of this communication has been sent to the War Department in order that an extension of the time allowed for completing the bridge may be obtained, and it is believed that there will be no difficulty in securing this postponement as well as the necessary approval of the national authorities for the proposed plan.

I would request your honorable body to give earnest and immediate attention to this subject, which has already, for one reason or another, been held in abeyance for a long time.

Respectfully,
JOHN F. FITZGERALD, Mayor.

City of Boston,
Public Works Department,
Octoher 21, 1911.

To the Honorable the Mayor:

On June 3, 1910, the Secretary of War ruled that the Chelsea Bridge across the main or north channel of Mystic river "is an unreasonable obstruction to the free navigation of the said Mystic river (which is one of the navigable waterways of the United States), on account of insufficient width of draw opening and unsatisfactory location of the draw span," and ordered that the clear width of the draw opening be increased to not less than 100 feet and as much more as might he practicable without interfering with the existing tunnel or conduit of the Metropolitan Water and Sewerage Board under the present opening.

On August 1, 1910, his Honor Mayor Fitzgerald requested the Secretary of War to approve a plan for a temporary hridge on the downstream or easterly side of the existing bridge, this temporary hridge being intended to provide for traffic over a period of fifteen or twenty years, or until such time as a bridge of permanent construction could be built on the line of the existing bridge.

The temporary bridge was to have a lift draw, with a single channel 125 feet wide in the clear, and the channel through the existing bridge was to be widened to a width of 100 feet in the clear, as much as the present tunnel of the Metropolitan Water Works will allow.

Authority to build this temporary bridge was obtained from the Secretary of War on September 3, 1910. Work was not begun upon this proposed temporary bridge in 1910 as no appropriation therefor was made. Under the law as it existed at that time a very large proportion of the cost of construction and practically the whole cost of the maintenance of Chelsea Bridge was paid by the City of Boston and the small remainder by the city of Chelsea.

The bridge is largely used by the inhabitants of other communities and hy puhlic service corporations, notably a street railway company, all of whom derive great benefit from the bridge, and it was the belief of officials of Boston that all communities and corporations benefited should justly share in the expense of construction of this bridge.

The rebuilding of the structure was delayed to enahle this city to appeal to the Legislature of 1911 for relief from its seemingly unjust burden of expense, and the time for the completion of the work, which had originally been fixed by the Secretary of War as June 30, 1911, was upon request of the city officials extended to October 31, 1911, to enable the city to seek the desired legislation.

A bill was prepared by the Corporation Counsel of Boston, and introduced into the Legislature, to authorize the City of Boston to construct, reconstruct and repair certain bridges hetween Boston and Chelsea, Winthrop and Everett (including the Chelsea Bridge), and providing that when work is done by the City of Boston upon any of the bridges named a commission may be appointed to apportion the cost upon the cities and towns and street railway corporations benefited, and empowered the City of Boston to collect from the cities, towns and street railway companies the amounts apportioned to them hy this commission.

The bill as originally drawn included the Winthrop Bridge between East Boston and Winthrop and the Malden Bridge between Boston and Everett, but before passage the hill was amended, striking out these two hridges, so the law as it stands applies to the Chelsea Bridge between Charlestown and Chelsea and the Meridian Street and Chelsea Street Bridges between East Boston and Chelsea. This act was approved June 22, 1911.

On August 24, 1911, the City Council passed a loan order appropriating $250,000 "for the construction of a temporary bridge across the north channel of the Mystic river between the cities of Boston and Chelsea, said bridge to be built in conjunction with the city of Chelsea, under the statutes governing said joint construction, and to serve in place of the present structure known as 'Chelsea Bridge North.'"

Representatives of the City of Chelsea, at legislative hearings and at conferences with Boston officials, have objected strenuously to the proposed temporary bridge at one side of the present structure, which for fifteen or twenty years would divert travel from the direct route of the existing bridge; and they especially object to being forced to contribute towards such a structure, which they claim will be an ohstruction to highway travel.

The United States Government has just completed the dredging of a channel 30 feet deep and 300 feet wide, extending a distance of more than one-half mile above the Chelsea North Bridge. This channel as already dredged would accommodate some of the largest steamers now entering this port if a proper opening through the bridge were provided. It is understood that further improvements of the channel above the bridge are in contemplation.

The navigation interests claim that the draw channel of the present bridge is not in a proper location and that it is extremely difficult to take large boats through the bridge on account of the velocity and direction of the current which at present runs counterwise to the draw channel. The navigation interests urge that a new channel be provided at midstream.

Although the Secretary of War has required that the existing channel of the Chelsea Bridge be widened, he recognizes "the unsatisfactory location of the draw span." It is apparent that the navigation interests are justified in asking for a new channel near the middle of the river, and were such a channel afforded them, the river would accommodate shipping, which could use the widened channel in the existing location only at considerable inconvenience and some danger to vessels.

The state, hy the authorization of the new dock board and the appropriation of $9,000,000 for harhor improvements, has attacked the problem of the development of this port along hroad lines, and it is felt that the city for its own good should cooperate in this movement by attacking its bridge prohlems in an equally broad way.

After an exhaustive study of the whole problem, taking account of all interests involved, the Puhlic Works Department has prepared a plan which seems to meet all objections, and to solve the problem in an economical manner satisfactory to all interests.

This plan contemplates building, on the line of the present bridge, a new large swing draw span, which will provide two waterways through the bridge, each 125 feet wide and thirty feet deep. One of these waterways is suhstantially the widening of the present waterway, and is needed in order to properly connect with the channel already dredged by the government above the hridge. The other waterway will become available for the largest steamers entering this port just as soon as the government authorities do the small amount of dredging necessary to widen the existing channel up river. Provision is to be made for the deepening of both waterways through the bridge to thirty-five feet whenever the channel up river is dredged to that depth.

The draw span is to be of steel and is to be built upon a masonry pier and both will form part of the permanent steel and masonry bridge to be built in the future.

The second or southerly waterway to be provided is exactly at the middle of the river and in such a position as will well meet the requirements of navigation. The cross currents now present in the river at each run of tide, due largely to the ohstructions of the shoals heneath the present pile bridge, will undoubtedly disappear when the dredging in connection with the proposed reconstruction is carried out.

The two waterways through the bridge will greatly aid navigation in permitting vessels to pass in opposite directions at a single operation of the draw span. By this means the numher of times the draw is to be opened will he reduced, with the result that there will also be much less interruption and delay to traffic passing over the bridge than there would he if the draw were built with a single waterway.

To care for traffic during the construction of the permanent draw a short temporary bridge will be built in the downstream side of the present structure, this bridge to be in service for the few months necessary for the construction of the permanent work.

This scheme of rebuilding utilizes the existing pile bridge as far as possible; and although the outlay at the present time is greater than that for the temporary bridge previously proposed, this plan will effect a material saving in ultimate cost when the remainder of the permanent steel and masonry bridge shall be built on this site.

The estimated cost of the proposed bridge as outlined is $425,000, which cost will be apportioned between Boston and the towns benefited. The estimated cost of the so-called temporary bridge was $325,000, $250,000 of which was to be paid by Boston.

For the reasons above cited, I would respectfully request that this subject be re-opened with the War Department and that the necessary authority and money be secured for rebuilding Chelsea North Bridge as outlined above and as per attached plan.

Respectfully,
L. K. ROURKE,
Commissioner of Public Works.

EIGHT-HOUR BASIS FOR AMBULANCE DRIVERS.

The following was received:

PROPOSED SALE OF PARKMAN BUILDING.

The following was received:

Office of the Mayor, October 20, 1911.

To the City Council:

I transmit herewith correspondence relating to the proposed sale, lease and letting without charge of the Parkman building at 33 Beacon street. The papers contain an offer of $68,000 for this estate, together with land and stable facing on Joy Street place; a request from the Boston Association for the Relief and Control of Tuberculosis, which desires to use the first floor for the sale of National Red Cross Christmas seals, transmitted by Mr. John C. Kiley, and an offer from the Society for the Preservation of New England Antiquities to take a five-year lease of the property at $1,000 a year with the privilege of renewal for ten years or more.

This activity on the part of persons and societies interested in this estate opens up the question already laid before your honorable body in my message of September 28, 1910, whether this building, which was the home of Mr. Parkman, should not be retained by the city as a memorial to perpetuate his name. No expression of opinion has ever been given by your honorable body upon this point and I feel reluctant to take steps which might involve the rehousing of some of the city departments as well as the creation of a museum or architectural memorial without obtaining your views. I submit the correspondence, therefore, in the hope that you will favor me with your counsel and trust that you will find time to report upon the advantages of the various propositions that have been made.

Respectfully,
JOHN F. FITZGERALD, Mayor.

City of Boston,
Office of the Mayor, October 18, 1911.

Hon. John F. Fitzgerald,
Mayor of Boston:

Dear Sir,—I have been offered $68,000 for the estate No. 33 Beacon street, together with the land and stable facing on Joy Street place, the same being the property formerly owned and occupied by the late George F. Parkman and now owned by the City of Boston. The total assessed valuation of the property is $70,000, of which $7,600 is on the buildings and $62,400 on the land, consisting of 3,920 feet. The last offer we had for this property was $67,000, and was refused confirmation by the City Council about a year and a half ago. Since that time the best possible figure I have been able to get is $60,000. I am very much inclined to recommend that we sell for $68,000, rather than maintain the property in its present condition. The offer is made through the firm of E. H. Eldridge & Co., and they are anxious to know at once the decision of the city.

Yours respectfully,
JOHN C. KILEY.

City of Boston,
Office of the Mayor, October 7, 1911.

Hon. John F. Fitzgerald,
Mayor of Boston:

Dear Sir,—I inclose herewith a letter from the Boston Association for the Relief and Control of Tuberculosis. They desire to use the first floor of the Parkman building, 33 Beacon street, for the sale of National Red Cross Christmas seals, having been appointed agent by that organization, the proceeds from the sale to be used in the relief and control of tuberculosis in Boston and other cities and towns of this state.

I think that if we can legally do so, it would be a great help to the association to allow them the use of this property, and it might establish a precedent that would be strong enough to have the City Council appropriate funds to take over this building as municipal property.

Will you please let me know if I may grant the request of the association.

Very truly yours,
JOHN C. KILEY.

Boston, October 5, 1911.

Mr. John C. Kiley,
18 Tremont Street, Boston:

My dear Mr. Kiley,—This association has been appointed by the National Red Cross agents for the sale of the Red Cross Christmas seals in the state of Massachusetts. The proceeds from the sale of these seals are to be used for tuberculosis work in Boston and other cities and towns of the state. We need a headquarters as our office is entirely inadequate. We have no room in our building, but city property at 33 Beacon street (Parkman estate) is very convenient to our office, and the front room on the street floor would make an excellent office for this purpose.

It will be necessary for us to have such a place for about three months, from November 1 to February 1. Would it be possible to secure, without charge, quarters at 33 Beacon street? The purpose of this organization is philanthropic, and our efforts are along the lines of preventive tuberculosis, and thus saving expense to the city.

If we can be granted this privilege it will be greatly appreciated by this association, and indirectly will benefit many others.

Yours very truly,
S. H. STONE, Secretary.

Boston, October 16, 1911.

Hon. John F. Fitzgerald,
Mayor of Boston:

Your Honor,—Agreeably to your request of October 13, I send you here a written memorandum of the request of the Society for the Preservation of New England Antiquities, with regard to the home of the late George Parkman at 33 Beacon street.

This society has set itself the public spirited task of creating for the use of the people, a museum of antiquities, particularly of such as relate to New England. In the short year and a half of its existence it has enrolled over five hundred members. It finds itself badly cramped in quarters which were never intended to be aught but temporary. It has been obliged to decline many gifts on account of lack of space in which to exhibit them. This is a distinct loss to the public, for the collections of such a society are truly public assets. Even the collection of photographs and picture postals of New England, some 800 in number and rapidly growing, cannot be properly shown.

Therefore, the society, through its officers, requests that the City of Boston so far cooperate with it as to permit it the use of the above mentioned George Parkman house, including the stable. There would be excellent precedent for allowing the society the use of a public building rent free (witness the Bostonian Society), but the society only asks to be allowed to lease the building at $1,000 per annum for five years, with privilege of renewal for ten or more years. This rental practically amounts to keeping the estate on the tax lists, for it is about what Mr. Parkman was paying in taxes. The society would maintain the building and turn it back in as good condition as it received it. The society would also maintain in the building a museum open free to the public. Moreover, it would gladly maintain in it a suitable memorial to Mr. George Parkman, a project which would undoubtedly appeal to all Bostonians.

On the other hand, tbe society would ask to be allowed to sublet such parts of the property as it could not profitably use. At the start this might be as much as two of the upper floors, but before long the society would doubtless use all. Should the rentals from subletting by any chance exceed the rental paid the city by the society, it suggests that such excess rental be divided evenly between city and society.

Should the city see fit to grant the society the above outlined lease, tbe society asks for thirty days in which to raise among its friends a guarantee fund to cover its increased expenses in these new quarters. No difficulty is anticipated in this matter.

However, should the unexpected occur and the society fail to raise the necessary guarantee fund, or should the city not wish to allow the society the lease of the entire building, then the society makes the following request:

It asks to be allowed to lease the entire second floor and stable, for the purpose of a public museum and an office and a suitable memorial to Mr. George Parkman. In consideration of the public service rendered, it asks that the rental for these premises be made very low, say $200 per annum. It asks for a five-year lease with option of renewal for ten or more years, and for as good terms with regard to heating arrangements, etc., as those which may be accorded to other tenants.

I have the honor to be,

Respectfully yours,
WILLIAM S. APPLETON.

SHELTER AT JAMAICA POND.

The following was received:

Office of the Mayor, October 25, 1911.

To the City Council:

I beg to transmit a statement from the chairman of the Board of Park Commissioners, requesting that an appropriation be made for a shelter house and boat landing at Jamaica Pond. All those who are familiar with this beautiful body of water know that the old boat landing and refreshment booth at this point, while serviceable enough perhaps in the earlier period when the spot was little used, have become entirely inadequate and should be replaced by structures which will increase rather than detract from the attractiveness of the pond. I believe that the sum of twenty thousand dollars ($20,000) might very properly be expended for this purpose and recommend the passage of the accompanying order transferring this amount from the Reserve Fund.

Respectfully,
JOHN F. FITZGERALD, Mayor.

Board of Commissioners of the
Department of Parks,
Jamaica Plain, Mass., October 23, 1911.

Hon. John F. Fitzgerald,
Mayor of Boston:

Dear Sir,—At the south end of Jamaica Pond stands a very shabby house for protection of skaters and for the sale of refreshments. The boat landing also is not worthy of this beautiful site. We have urged the need of a better building there before now, and would ask you again whether it is not possible to give us now an appropriation for this. The large number of skaters using the pond need a good place in which to get warm and for the putting on of skates. Proper toilets are also desirable and if the boating facilities are made attractive there would probably be more boating. Evidently we could expend here almost any amount of money you find it possible to give us,. considering its conspicuous position in such a finished neighborhood. We suggest that from $15,000 to $20,000 would be a sum that would produce something very useful and attractive.

Hoping you can see your way to arrange this, I remain,

Yours truly,
ROBERT S. PEABODY, Chairman.

VIOLATION OF EIGHT-HOUR LAW.

The following was received:

Office of the Mayor, October 25, 1911.

To the City Council:

In reply to an order passed at the meeting of your honorable body, held October 9, 1911, to the effect "that his Honor the Mayor be requested to call the attention of the Fire Commissioner to chapter 494 of the Acts of 1911, and to ask if said act is not violated in his department," I transmit herewith a statement on the subject from the Fire Commissioner.

Respectfully,

City of Boston,
Fire Department, October 24, 1911.

Hon. John F. Fitzgerald,
Mayor of Boston:

Sir,— Pursuant to an order received from the City Council requesting information as to whether this department is violating chapter 494 of the Acts of 1911, I have the honor to inform you that work in excess of eight hours is required in this department only when necessary for the public safety. Therefore the provisions of this act are not being violated in this department.

Very respectfully,
CHARLES D. DALY,
Fire Commissioner.

Coun. CURLEY—Mr. President, I would state that this order was presented at the request of the Firemen's Union, who contended that the men employed in the fire headquarters at Bristol street were working twelve hours a shift; and, since they are interested, I would respectfully move that the matter be referred to the Executive Committee and that the representatives of the union be invited to appear before the committee.

Coun. Curley's motion was carried.

MUNICIPAL BUILDING IN SOUTH BOSTON.

The following was received:

Office of the Mayor, October 30, 1911.

To the City Council:

A careful estimate of the cost of the new Municipal Building in South Boston shows that if the present plans are carried out the sum of $20,000 additional will be required. The plan contemplates a structure with a frontage of 100 feet, and a depth of 70 feet, 60 feet in height, with four floors. On the first floor will be a swimming pool, 90 feet by 25 feet, and twenty shower baths. The second floor will be taken up wholly with the court room and the offices connected therewith. The third floor will be devoted to a reading room of the Public Library, and a meeting room about 35 feet square, while the upper floor will be given over wholly to a large assembly hall. The plan seems to me an excellent one, and I shall be sorry to discard any of its useful features. I recommend, therefore, the passage of the accompanying loan order appropriating twenty thousand dollars ($20,000) for Municipal Building, South Boston.

Respectfully,
JOHN F. FITZGERALD, Mayor.

PORTICO OF OLD COURT HOUSE.

The following was received:

Office of the Mayor, October 30, 1911.

To the City Council:

The accompanying letter from the chairman of the special committee appointed to consider the disposition of the portico of the Old Court House requests further time for the consideration of the matter. Under the circumstances it seems to me desirable that this request should be granted. I suggest, however, that since the preservation of this fine bit of early nineteenth century architecture has interested so many citizens, and there is keen competition for it in different quarters, a hearing might be held at which architects and others would have an opportunity to express their opinions. I trust that your honorable body will take this view of the matter and will hold such a hearing perhaps in cooperation with the portico committee.

Respectfully,
JOHN F. FITZGERALD, Mayor.

20 Beacon Street,
Boston, October 30, 1911.

Hon. John F. Fitzgerald,
Mayor of Boston:

Dear Sir,—The committee appointed to consider the disposition of the portico of the Old Court House still feels that the Governor's Island site is the one best suited for it, but in case this site is not favored we would suggest as a second best position the Howe Memorial Park, South Boston.

In this event the committee recommends that it be used as the architectural feature of a monument commemorating the great services of Doctor Howe, both for the cause of human freedom and for the amelioration of the condition of the blind.

The portico, while not suitable for a gateway as has been suggested by others, is admirably adapted for use in connection with a monumental statue or group of sculpture. As such it would provide a noble monument in the park that is to commemorate Doctor Howe.

The committee, however, considering the lack of time for more careful consideration, recommends that the portico be stored, as the contract calls for, until the matter can be thoroughly studied.

Respectfully yours,
EDWARD T. P. GRAHAM.

EXTENSION OF ARLINGTON STREET.

The following was received:

Office of the Mayor, October 30, 1911.

To the City Council:

The final report of the Joint Board on Metropolitan Improvements states "That extension of Arlington street in the form of an ample highway from Castle square to the present Arlington street at Boylston street, by a widening of Ferdinand street, and extension across the vacant land formerly occupied by the Boston & Providence Railroad Station, and through the single row of estates intervening between that land and Boylston street, would be a highway of metropolitan importance and concern."

The report from the Chamber of Commerce, copies of which have been sent to the members of your honorable body, indicates the trend of opinion upon the subject of this improvement. I do not need to emphasize its importance in the development not only of the district adjoining Park square but of a wide zone extending in several directions from the site of the improvement itself.

A definite offer from the New York, New Haven & Hartford Railroad, through its representative, Mr. Laurence Minot, now makes it possible to carry out the extension of this highway at a reasonable cost. The accompanying letter from the secretary of the Street Laying-Out Department estimates the cost of extending Arlington street, from Boylston street to Providence street, at a width of 70 feet, which is the width of the street as laid out across the property of the trust, and of widening Ferdinand street, from 40 feet to 58 feet, from Columbus avenue to Castle square to be $790,000. This does not include the reconstruction of the bridge on Ferdinand street, which in any event is believed to be necessary, and the widening of it to a width in conformity with the increased width of the street, which will probably be about $60,000. As against this cost of $790,000 the New York, New Haven & Hartford Railroad will make an offset on the damages to its property on Boylston street to any amount that may be assessed up to $270,000, so that the initial outlay for the city will be $520,000. The only conditions are that the city shall take official action before January 1, 1912, and that the damages awarded for the estates at 314–318 Boylston street, purchased by the railroad in order to carry out this extension, shall equal the amount originally paid for these estates, which was $381,550. The railroad also will give to the city the portion of Arlington street which extends across its own land. This offset of $270,000 is intended to cover all betterments on the property of the railroad. It is estimated by the secretary of the Street Laying-Out Department that later benefits, which may be assessed on the estates along Boylston street within the prescribed radius from Arlington street, will amount to about $120,000.

That this street must be cut through sooner or later is a matter that does not admit of question. The only question is as to the terms which the city should make with the interested parties. The city has already given evidence of its willingness to cooperate by the appropriations for changes in the grades of Berkeley and Providence streets and, in my opinion, the offer of the railroad is sufficiently liberal to warrant an immediate appropriation. That values will increase in the neighborhood and bring back in time, through additional taxes, the full amount laid out on the improvement is apparent to all who have studied the question, and the willingness of the railroad to contribute so liberally, not only by the laying out of streets but by the acceptance upon terms that are extremely favorable to the city of so large a sum in betterment assessments, is the best proof of the influence which this improvement will have in raising values in the neighborhood.

The borrowing capacity of the city now is something over $900,000. To supplement this sum, which is large for this period of the year, there is a Reserve Fund amounting to more than six hundred thousand dollars ($600,000). I recommend, therefore, the passage of the accompanying loan order appropriating five hundred and twenty thousand dollars ($520,000) for the extension of Arlington street and the widening of Ferdinand street.

Respectfully,
JOHN F. FITZGERALD, Mayor.

Street Laying-Out Department,
October 30, 1911.

Hon. John F. Fitzgerald,
Mayor of Boston:

Dear Sir,—The Board of Street Commissioners has had an estimate made of the cost of extending Arlington street from Boylston street to Providence street, to meet the new street laid out and constructed by the New York, New Haven & Hartford Railroad from Providence street to Columbus avenue, and also for the proposed widening of Ferdinand street from Columbus avenue to Castle square.

Exclusive of reconstructing the railroad bridge on Ferdinand street, which will be necessary, the estimate is $790,000.

The Board believes that substantially one-half the cost may be assessed back on the property which lies within the assessable distance of 125 feet.

Very truly yours,
J. J. O'CALLAGHAN, Secretary.

City of Boston,
In City Council, October 30, 1911.

Ordered, That the sum of five hundred and twenty thousand dollars ($520,000) be and hereby is appropriated, to be expended by the Board of Street Commissioners for Arlington street extension and Ferdinand street widening, and that to meet this appropriation the City Treasurer be and hereby is authorized to issue bonds or certificates of the city to said amount.

Referred to the Committee on Finance.

PRESERVATION OF PARKMAN HOUSE.

The following was received:

121 Beacon Street,
Boston, October 30, 1911.

Hon. Walter L. Collins,
President of the City Council:

Dear Sir,—I beg to inclose a copy of a letter from Mr. William E. Nickerson in regard to the preservation of the Parkman house, 33 Beacon street, also a copy of my letter to the Advertiser and Globe upon the same subject, to which he refers.

In his letter Mr. Nickerson gives evidence of the feeling of the late Mr. Parkman for his home and its associations. This evidence I can corroborate from my own personal conversations with Mr. Parkman. Perhaps it would be well to draw this letter to the attention of the Council in considering the proposed sale of the property.

As I have said before, I think the city government would, under the circumstances, be fully justified in appropriating money to purchase the house as a memorial building of a practical character.

I am,

Yours very truly,
CHARLES GIBSON.

Inclosed were a copy of letter from Mr. William E. Nickerson and letter published in Boston Globe.

546–547 Tremont Building,
Boston, October 30, 1911.

To the City Council:

Gentlemen,—I am much interested in the action of your honorable body concerning the disposition of the house of the late George F. Parkman, 33 Beacon street.

I have read with much interest an article by Mr. Charles Gibson, printed in the Boston Globe on October 26, urging that it be acquired by the City of Boston for civic uses and preserved for all time as one of the monuments to those individuals and to that spirit which has distinguished this city in the past and the occasional lapse of which, as in the case of the John Hancock house, is to be so bitterly deplored. As a member of the New England Historic Genealogical Society, and deeply interested both by heredity and study in the things of the past and the preservation in the future of what should be imperishable, I sincerely urge upon your honorable body that suitable action be taken for the preservation of the Parkman house. We should hold fast to the things that we have both for our own benefit and for the city which is to come.

Very respectfully yours,
CLARENCE S. WARD.

EXTENSION OF BUILDING LIMITS.

The following was received:

United Improvement Association,
October 19, 1911.

To the President of the City Council:

Dear Sir,—In behalf of the United Improvement Association I desire to urge upon the City Council the desirability of giving further hearings upon the proposed change in the city ordinances regarding the building limits, in case the Council should seriously consider any material change in the form of the ordinance from that which has already been published.

We are not ready at the present time and shall not be ready until after the 1st of November to express the opinion of this association on the proposals of the Chamber of Commerce. It took more than a year for the Chamber of Commerce Committee to study the subject and agree upon their recommendations; it therefore seems to us that the general public should be given at least a month to consider such very important recommendations before they are enacted.

If the City Council is inclined to pass the ordinance as advertised, we do not request any delay in such action, but only in case its provisions are radically altered, as would be the case by substituting therefor the recommendations of the Chamber of Commerce.

Very truly yours,
UNITED IMPROVEMENT ASSOCIATION,
by WILLIAM C. EWING,
President.

The following was received:

You are hereby notified that the order for a loan of $63,000 for the reconstruction of Meridian Street Bridge, filed by the Mayor with the City Clerk on August 21, 1911, not having been rejected or withdrawn within sixty days after the date of said filing, was in force on October 21, 1911, as if adopted by the City Council, under the provisions of section 2 of chapter 486 of the Acts of 1909; and that, on October 23, 1911, the Mayor certified that the said loan was not, in his opinion, to meet a current expense.

Respectfully,
W. J. DOYLE, Assistant City Clerk.

RETIREMENT OF LABORERS.

The following was received:

Boston Finance Commission,
October 23, 1911.

To the Honorable the City Council:

Gentlemen,—The City Council on May 8, 1911, referred to the Finance Commission for its report and recommendation an act of the last Legislature which provides for the retirement of laborers employed by the City of Boston, and which will become effective, if accepted by the City Council, on the first day of March in the year following such acceptance. The act is as follows:

ACTS OF 1911, CHAPTER 413.

An Act Relative to a Retirement Fund for Laborers Employed by the City of Boston.

Section 1. There shall be a retirement board for the laborers employed by the City of Boston, consisting of the mayor, the auditor, and the treasurer of the city, who shall discharge the duties hereby imposed upon them without additional compensation.

Sect. 2. Any laborer employed by the city of Boston, who has reached the age of sixty years and who has been in the service of the city for a period of not less than twenty-five years, and who is physically incapacitated, shall, at his request and with the approval of the retirement board above provided for, be retired from service, and shall receive for the remainder of his life an annual pension equal to one-half of the compensation which he received during the last year of his service for the city. It shall be the duty of the said board so to retire any laborer in the service of the city who has reached the age of seventy years and has served the city for a period of not less than twenty-five years.

Sect. 3. This act shall take effect on the first day of March of the year following its acceptance by the city council of the City of Boston.

The act is intended to establish a system under which any laborer, who has reached the age of sixty years, and has been in the service of the city for not less than twenty-five years, and is physically incapacitated, may upon his request and with the approval of the Retirement Board be retired from the service of the city with a life pension equal to one-half of the compensation received by him in the last year of his service; and under which also the Retirement Board must retire with pension any laborer who has served the city for not less than twenty-five years and has reached the age of seventy years, without regard to the question whether he is or is not incapacitated for further service.

I. THE LABOR PROBLEM.

The main question which the City Council should consider is whether the act will provide the most practical and humane solution of the problem of relieving the city of the expense of carrying on the pay rolls at full wages the employees in the labor service who have become inefficient on account of age. To decide this question properly requires a knowledge of the conditions in the labor service of the city.

For many years the city departments in which most of the laborers have been employed have been administered with far less efficiency, and at much greater cost, than such departments would have been administered under the conditions which ordinarily exist in private business. For political reasons large numbers of teamsters, watchmen, and other laborers, who were not actually needed, have been employed and retained by the city. Politics has also prevented the reorganization upon an economic basis of the forces in such departments, and the maintenance of proper discipline, and in consequence the city has suffered the loss of millions of dollars. Most of these losses were caused by the wasteful methods due to politics, which prevailed in the Paving, Sewer, Sanitary and Street Cleaning Divisions of the Street Department and in the Water Department; and in every case the carrying on the pay rolls of large numbers of unnecessary or inefficient employees contributed largely to the loss. In the Water Department there were about 1,000 employees in the winter of 1899–1900, or about 350 more than in 1895, although in 1895 the city operated a distribution system and also a large supply system, while in 1899–1900 it operated only a distribution system. The work had decreased about 15 per cent, but the force had increased about 50 per cent. (Finance Commission's Reports, Vol. II., pp. 36, 37.) In one branch of the work of the Street Department alone, the operation of the city's stone crusher, the city lost nearly a million dollars in twelve years, largely on account of the supposed political necessity of maintaining the crushers in order to provide employment for city laborers. (Finance Commission's Reports, Vol. I., pp. 216–220.)

Many other illustrations of the evil results of political influence in the labor service may be found in the reports of the Finance Commission, Vol. I., pp. 131, 132, 258, 274; Vol. II., pp. 36–38, 150, 202–204, 216, 217; Vol. III., pp. 222, 304, 306, 702, 1063, 1064.

In the Street and Water Departments, which employed the bulk of the labor force, the number of employees increased from 2,931 in 1895 to 4,209 in 1907, and their compensation from $2,195,201.50 to $3,244,726; an increase in number of 1,278 and in compensation of $1,049,524.50; both increases far beyond what the increase in the work warranted.

This combined pay roll at the two departments shows the result of years of subordination of business to political considerations, during which many devices were employed to load up the pay rolls with political adherents of the party in power for the time being. The civil service law was circumvented by the employment of "emergency men" when there was no emergency and no need of such men; by the making of "provisional" appointments which afforded a political favorite a job until the time when the Civil Service Commission could hold examinations, and by the appointment of men under various ingenious designations for work which could have been performed by laborers already in the city's employ.

The year 1907, however, marked the culminating point in these abuses. Large numbers of the unnecessary employees in the Street Department were discharged in the years 1908 and 1909, as a result of the efforts of the then superintendent of streets to reduce the force. Others were eliminated as a result of the operation of the act which was passed in March, 1908 (chapter 210 of the Acts of 1908) requiring a certification of the pay rolls by the heads of departments under oath, and the approval of the Civil Service Commission. The extent of the abuses in the "emergency men" system was indicated in the report of the Civil Service Commission for the year ending September 30, 1909. The Civil Service Commission said (pp. 17, 18):

"Without question, thousand of dollars are saved to the city by the operation of the act (chapter 210 of the Acts of 1908) in keeping off the lists false 'emergency men,' and others whose employment in previous years the commission had no means of detecting with promptness. For example, from April to August, 1906 (a period when there were no snow storms), there were employed in the Street Department, weekly, from 220 to 360 'emergency laborers,' the majority of them generally five days per week; the cost to the city being frequently about $2,500 per week, or, if continued throughout the year, about $120,000 per year. This state of affairs was partially remedied by the requirement by the commission that the department should make such employments only from certified lists of men willing to take 'emergency' work, and termed 'regular extra laborers.' This reduced somewhat the number of men so employed; but since the Pay Roll Act became law, the number of such employments has been greatly lessened, so that in December, 1908, on investigation it was found that only about 120 men were employed on 'emergency' work."

The Civil Service Commission's pay roll inspector in the same report (see pages 69–71) told of the manner in which the Pay Roll Act operated to keep "students" and false "emergency men" off the Boston pay rolls:

"Another feature of the present system of pay roll inspection, and one that must commend it to every tax payer, is the aid it offers to discipline and the direct saving of vast sums of money by its tendency to keep 'students' and 'emergency men' off the pay rolls. 'Students' are men who may properly be on the pay rolls as regards Civil Service Law and Rules, i. e., they may have been properly certified and appointed; but they are improperly drawing pay from the city, because (1) not willing to work at all; (2) refusing to do work proper to their rating, since it 'might lower their standing in the community' to be seen on the streets doing even such light work as picking up paper; (3) trying to serve two or more paying masters at one and the same time (the city, as might be supposed, always drawing the shorter end of the service, if any at all). These students used to be the despair of the district foremen, who found it impossible to get rid of them because of their influence with men 'higher up,' who, I doubt not, would have been only too glad in their turn, to shake off this influence. . . . 'Emergency men' (very properly employed if in real emergencies fully provided for by Civil Service Law and Rules) were another form of abuse, by which hundreds of thousands of dollars (I speak advisedly) have been drawn from the city treasury unnecessarily, and for which service to the city has been rendered in rare cases only."

In addition to the reductions in the number of employees thus accomplished by the Superintendent of Streets and the Civil Service Commission, there have been other reductions due to death or resignation; and the labor force in the Street and Water Departments was much more efficient in the years 1908–09 and 1909–10 than it has been for several preceding years. Nevertheless the labor force was then and still is far below the efficiency of a private contractor's force. In February of 1910 several city officials gave the Finance Commission their estimates of the efficiency of city laborers, as compared with that of laborers in private employ, and these estimates are set forth as follows in Vol. VI., pp. 38, 39, of the commissioner's reports.

"The former Superintendent of the Paving Division, James H. Doyle, stated to the former Finance Commission that the employees in his department did far less work than persons in similar occupations privately employed; and that the cost of work performed by city labor was far in excess of that performed for the city by contractors. Former Chief Engineer (now Deputy Superintendent) of the Paving Division, James H. Sullivan, states that the employees in that division are much less efficient than others in private employ; and that, in fact, contractors receive twice as much labor for each $2.25 expended as the city receives from the day labor force in the Paving Division.

"Chief Engineer of the Sewer Division, Edgar S. Dorr, states that work done by the labor force of the department cost 25 to 50 per cent more than it would cost the city if done by contract. Deputy Superintendent of the Sewer Division, C. Barton Pratt, states that the force is far less efficient than labor in private employ, as shown by the fact that the cost of work performed by the department force ranges from 50 to 100 per cent above the cost of similar work done by contract.

"Deputy Superintendent of the Sanitary Division, George H. Foss, estimates the efficiency of the labor force in this division as about two-thirds of that of private contractors.

"The present Superintendent of Streets, Guy C. Emerson, estimates that the average efficiency of the labor force of the several divisions of the Street Department is 25 per cent less than that of private contractors.

"The present Water Commissioner, William E. Hannan, states that the laborers in the Water Department perform about one-half as much work a day as a contractor's force, and that a contractor receives twice as much labor for the $2 he pays as the city receives for the $2.25 it pays."

There have been further reductions since 1910 in the force of the Street Department, now merged in the Public Works Department, but the efficiency of the force is about the same as it was a year ago.

It should be noted that the inefficiency of the labor force of the city is not due entirely to the presence of men who have grown old in the service and who, by reason of their age, have become unable to perform a full day's work. Much of the inefficiency of the labor force is due to politics and the resulting lack of discipline. Many of the younger employees, though able to do a full day's work, actually perform no more work than some of the older employees. It is true, however, that the inefficiency of the labor force as a whole is caused in part by superannuated employees; and therefore the removal of such employees would be a partial solution of the problem of inefficiency in the labor force as a whole.

II. The Justification for a Laborers' Pension Act.

Though many laborers now in the city's employ have rendered faithful service, the foregoing review of the situation shows that many others have not; and therefore a Laborers' Pension Act cannot be justified on the theory that the force as a whole is now entitled to exceptionally favorable treatment. The city's laborers have been and are being dealt with very generously as compared with laborers in private employ. The day laborers receive $2.25 a day, or at least 25 cents more than the prevailing rate paid employees of private contractors, whereas the city laborers' day, though nominally eight hours as against the nine-hour day of the employees of private contractors, is actually only seven hours, as at least an hour each day is lost to the city through the existing custom of going to the city yards within, instead of before and after the day's work. Thus it appears that the rate of pay per hour of actual work for city laborers is 32$\frac{1}{7}$ cents, and for laborers in private employ 22$\frac{2}{5}$ cents per hour, an excess of about 10 cents per hour, or about 45 per cent more for the city laborers. Moreover, the city laborers are paid for days when they attend their various annual picnics, for legal holidays, and for Saturday half-holidays; also for sick leave; the total allowances for these purposes amounting to about 10$\frac{1}{2}$ per cent of the day labor pay roll. On the other hand, laborers in private employ get no payment for holidays or sick leave as a rule, but are paid only for the time they actually work. Finally, the city laborers are now, and usually have been kept on the pay rolls continuously throughout the year whether there was work for them or not, whereas laborers in private employ are frequently laid off without pay on account of lack of work or stormy weather. It has been the almost invariable custom in this city to carry upon the pay rolls during the entire year large numbers of laborers and mechanics whose services for about four months of the year could have been dispensed with. Thus, the Commissioner of Public Works stated last year to the Finance Commission that 750 employees of the then Street Department, or about one-fourth of the force, could have been laid off on the 1st of December; and the commission believes about one-fourth of the 558 employees of the Water Department could have been laid off likewise. The net result of the various differences between the conditions of labor in city and private employ is that, measured by the hours of actual service, the city laborer is paid at least 50 per cent more than the laborer in private employ. Moreover, the city laborer accomplishes much less per hour of actual service than the laborer in private employ.

The foregoing facts show that from the standpoint of the city as an employer of labor there is no justification for a Laborers' Pension Act, except the financial saving resulting from its operation. The old laborers, unless pensioned, will not be removed even though totally inefficient, in fact public sentiment would not sustain the policy of retiring such men without pension. Their wages, though larger than those of laborers in private employ, have been small in comparison with those of most other city employees; they have had little or no opportunity for advancement during their term of service, and a large proportion of them have made no provision for their old age. If retired without pension, most of them would be unable to obtain private employment or to perform work in private employ if it should be obtained for them. It must be assumed that unless retired with pension they will continue to be kept on the pay rolls at full wages; and this is in effect a very expensive pension system, already in operation, without sanction of law.

If the old and inefficient laborers in the city's employ were retired on a pension equal to half their former wages, as the pending act provides, and their places were not filled by new appointments, the city would save in the aggregate a sum equal to one-half the wages paid to all the retired laborers. If, however, the retirements were followed by new and unnecessary appointments the city would pay the full amount formerly paid as wages and half as much again for pensions. In every case of an unnecessary appointment to fill a vacancy caused by retirement, the city would pay $1.50 for every $1 it paid prior to the retirement; and its last state would be worse than its first.

III. Defects in the Pending Act.

A proper Laborers' Pension Act, faithfully carried out, would save the city a large sum every year. The pending act, however, does not meet the requirements of the situation, Its defects seem to the commission to be as follows:

1. Indefiniteness as to Beneficiaries.

In the first place it is so indefinite as to the persons who may become entitled to its benefits that it may lead to serious abuses. It provides pensions for "any laborer employed by the City of Boston who has reached the age of sixty years," and for "any laborer in the service of the city who has reached the age of seventy years," etc. Under these provisions a laborer who had previously been in the service of the city twenty-five years, but who had left the service voluntarily, or had been discharged, might be permitted to re-enter the service, not for the purpose of performing further work, but for the sole purpose of retiring with a pension a few days or weeks later. Such an attempt has already been made by some employees who were formerly in the city service, but were actually out of the service at the time when the pension act relating to veterans of the Civil War in the employ of the City of Boston went into effect. (Acts of 1911, chapter 113.)

2. Exclusion of Mechanics.

The act in terms applies to laborers, and not to mechanics, and though many persons are employed by the city as mechanics they would not, in the opinion of the commission, be entitled to the benefits of the act. These mechanics are classified by the Civil Service Commission as part of the labor force, but they are designated as mechanics, as distinguished from laborers, and as this distinction is based upon actual differences in the kinds of work performed by laborers and mechauics it would in all probability be upheld by the courts, and consequently mechanics would be debarred from retiring with a pension under the act. A considerable portion of the labor force would thus be prevented from retiring with pension. To illustrate — in the first year of the operation of the act 165 laborers in the Public Works Department would become eligible for retirement, and if mechanics were eligible thirty-three, or one-fifth of the number of laborers, could also be retired in that year. If, as the commission believes, mechanics could not be retired, discrimination between two branches of the labor force would result, which would be unfortunate for the city, as it would still leave a large part of the problem of superannuation in the labor force unsolved.

3. No Tests for Incapacity.

Under the pending act no tests are required and there is an opportunity to do injustice to the city by retiring one who is able to work, and for whom there is work; especially when there is work of a not excessively laborious nature, such as that of a watchman, custodian or stockkeeper. By placing such men in the comparatively easy positions they could be made useful to the city for a few years longer at least, and during this period the city would save the amount it would otherwise pay them as pensions if they were retired and other employees were put in their places at full wages. The city physician should make tests of the capacity of employees who are between sixty and seventy years of age and who request retirement.

4. The Service Period is Too Long.

The act provides only for laborers who have served the city not less than twenty-five years. This period is too long to be effective in dealing with the superannuated laborers, as many of them entered the city's employ so late in life that in all human probability they will not live to complete twenty-five years of service, but will linger on the pay rolls at an advanced age, and at a dead loss to the city of the wages they are paid. The advanced age at which many laborers entered the city's employ was shown by the reports of the former Finance Commission and the engineers whom it employed. It was shown that of the 1,253 laborers in the service in 1907 in the Water Department and the Sewer Division, 416, or about one-third of the force, were employed when forty years old or over, 249 when forty-five or over, and 99 when fifty years or over. (Finance Commission's Reports, Vol. I., pp. 268, 269; Vol. III., pp. 72 and 418.) Incidentally it may be noted that the facts cited show how false is the sentiment in the rhetorical phrases sometimes heard concerning "these men who have grown old in the city's service," implying that the men have given a life-time of service to the public. The fact is that while there are many old laborers working for the city, a large proportion of them were already well advanced in years when they secured their positions.

Information was furnished to the commission within the last few days by the Public Works, Public Grounds, Cemetery and Park Departments, as to the number of laborers who would be eligible for retirement under the act in the first year of its operation, and the ages and lengths of service of other laborers who would not become eligible in the same year. The information received is set forth in the table on page 411.

The first column shows 177 eligible for retirement in the first year of the operation of the act. The other four columns show that there are 185 laborers in these four departments who are either closely approaching the age when retirements would be possible under the act, or have passed the age, but who for the most part will in all probability never live to finish a twenty-five year period of service and hence never become eligible for retirement with pension under the act. Most of them will be obliged to continue at work in their advanced age with no possibility of securing a pension, while their younger fellow laborers, who entered the service earlier in life, will be able to retire with pensions.

5. No Provision for Contribution.

The pending act does not provide for contribution by the laborers. Contributions cannot of course be obtained from the employees who are eligible now and who would be retired with pension almost immediately after the act went into effect; but it should be expected from those who will remain on the city's pay rolls for a considerable length of time after the act becomes effective. As stated by the Finance Commission in its report upon the General Pension Act (chapter 619 of the Acts of 1910, as amended by chapter 338 of the Acts of 1911), a contributory feature will be attacked, but it is a necessary feature of a civil pension system for public employees and should be retained at all hazards. The city should not be required to help those who are unwilling to help themselves.

IV. A Better Act Should be Provided.

If a policy of pensioning laborers is to be adopted, it is especially important now, when for the first time in this or any other American city retirement acts for such public employees are to be tried, that legislation which will be of such far reaching importance and which will be regarded as a precedent, should be made as complete as possible at its inception and that each of its parts should be considered in its relation to the others. The pending act should be rejected, and a substitute should be submitted to the next Legislature. The object of any such act should be to save the city money now lost through payments of full wages to superannuated laborers and mechanics. To secure this object the following provisions should be contained in the act.

1. The service period should be fifteen years.
2. Mechanics in the labor force should be included as well as laborers.
3. Tests of capacity should be made of employees between sixty and seventy years of age by the city physician upon the request of the heads of departments.
4. Employees who reach seventy years of age should be retired without proof of incapacity on the filing of certificates of retirement with the City Auditor by the heads of departments.
5. There should be safeguards against the re-entry into city employ of those actually out of the service who desire to retire in a few days or weeks with a pension.
6. Heads of departments who intend to fill vacancies caused by retirement should be required to file a statement under oath with the City Auditor stating the reasons for filling such vacancies.
7. Certificates of incapacity of employees between sixty and seventy years old should be filed by the city physician with the auditor before retirements become effective.
8. The City Auditor should keep a record, open to public inspection, which would contain the essential facts in regard to retirements and the filling of vacancies caused thereby; and he should publish an annual report showing the effects of the retirement system upon the expenditures and the efficiency of the various departments.
9. There should be no Board of Retirement or Employees' Association; the City Treasurer should be able to administer the financial part of the system; and the heads of departments, aided by the city physician, should be able to administer the other part of the system.
10. There should be provision for contribution by the employees.
11. There should be a provision requiring the physical examination of laborers and mechanics who hereafter seek employment in the city's service, and prohibiting the employment of those who are physically unfit.
12. The act should become effective only upon its acceptance by the Mayor and City Council.

Conclusions.

The commission believes the pending act would not be effective in dealing with the problem of inefficiency in the labor force.

If such an act as the one suggested by the commission can be obtained, the city will be enabled to save a large sum annually, providing the system established under it is administered with proper regard for the city's financial interests. The act will not operate automatically to save the city money, and it may, through political abuses, such as the unnecessary filling of vacancies caused by retirements, operate to increase the city's expenses without materially increasing the efficiency of the labor force.

With such an act in effect, honestly administered, the deaths, resignations and retirements will in a few years reduce the labor force to a strictly maintenance basis, this force will improve in efficiency, and the construction work can then be done entirely by contract, all to the great advantage of the city.

Recommendations.

The commission commends:

1. That the pending act (chapter 413 of the Acts of 1911) be rejected by the City Council.
2. That a new Pension Act be drawn on the lines suggested herein and submitted to the next Legislature.

EXTENDED USE OF SCHOOL BUILDINGS.

The following was received:

Boston Finance Commission,
October 18, 1911.

Hon. John F. Fitzgerald,
Mayor of Boston:

Sir,—Your Honor's communication to the Finance Commission under date of October 10, 1911, calls for a statement by the commission as to whether it agrees with the conclusion of the School Committee that "however favorably inclined the School Committee might be to more extended use of school buildings it is unable to proceed further than it does at present in the direction suggested without receiving additional money from other sources than those now available for school purposes."

In the report upon the public schools submitted by the Finance Commission under date of October 7, 1911, the commission said (page 60): "There should be an even more extended use of the school buildings as soon as the necessary funds can be provided"; and on page 187 it recommended—"That the existing policy of permitting the use of school buildings for other than school purposes be extended as funds become available." Much of the report is devoted to an analysis of school expenditures, which, if studied, could lead to no other conclusion than that the authorized school appropriations are none too large, even though strictly limited to school purposes, and that it would be dangerous for the School Committee to assume the extra expense of heating, lighting and cleaning school buildings, together with other expenses resulting from the use of such huildings outside of school hours for other than school purposes. It might happen in a particular year that the School Committee could provide the money necessary for the purpose in question, hut this could not be known at the heginning of the year. Thus at the beginning of the fiscal year 1910–11 the School Committee would douhtless have heen unwilling to pledge in advance the money requested for such extra use of school buildings, though at the end of the year there was an unexpended halance of $35,093.17 to the credit of the schools which, under the law, was reappropriated for the support of the schools in the following year. This balance would not have existed, however, if it had not been for the wholly unexpected reduction in the number of pupils in the day elementary schools; and the School Committee would not have been justified in appropriating money at the heginning of the last year for the extended use of school buildings, as it could not assume at that time that the money would not be needed for the support of the schools, the maintenance of which is a duty imposed by statute upon the School Committee.

In order to frame an intelligent program, which can be carried out without danger of interruption due to shortage of funds, it must he known at the heginning of the year how much money will he availahle for the use of school huildings for other than school purposes. The Finance Commission helieves that a definite policy for such use of the school huildings should he established, that a program should be arranged at the beginning of each year, and that an appropriation should he made for that purpose.

The commission believes, however, that under existing law no satisfactory plan for the extended use of school huildings can he worked out. The present difficulties seem to the commission to be as follows:

1. The School Committee has no legal authority to appropriate any of the money now authorized for school purposes for any other purpose, however meritorious. Therefore, a considerable part of the program for the extended use of school buildings would have to be provided for out of funds other than those which the statutes now authorize the School Committee to appropriate, although other parts of the program might he carried out under the existing powers of the School Committee. Moreover, as already stated, the School Committee cannot, out of the appropriations now authorized hy law, set apart a sum for the use of school buildings for other than school purposes, without taking the risk of leaving insufficient money for the purpose for which school appropriations are authorized, to wit, the education of the pupils in the puhlic schools.

2. For some of the objects embraced in the program for the extended use of school buildings the City Council may lawfully appropriate money, hut for such other parts of the program as are included withiu the meaning of the term — school purposes — the Council could not appropriate money.

3. The program as a whole could not be carried out either by the School Committee or hy a department created by ordinance, and it would he unwise to permit part of the program to he carried out by the School Committee and another part by a department created hy ordinance and independent of the School Committee.

4. No department can be created hy ordinance which would take from the School Committee any part of its jurisdiction over school buildings, as the School Committee, under the statutes, has sole charge and custody of such buildings, and such an ordinance would therefore be in conflict with the statute and consequently void. The ordinance which was suhmitted by your Honor to the City Council under date of Octoher 9, 1911, and which is now pending in the City Council would he of no effect if passed, as it would be in conflict with the statute. (See opinion of the Corporation Counsel, Junc 27, 1911; City Council Minutes of 1911, page 257.)

The commission believes that the only practical way to insure the success of the experiment involved in the extended use of school huildings would be to securc the passage of an act hy the incoming Legislature to authorize the School Committee to appropriate not exceeding two cents upon each $1,000 of the valuation on which school appropriations are based; the sum so appropriated to be used for the extended use of school buildings under rules and regulations established by the School Committee. It would he unwise, even if it could be accomplished legally, to have a divided jurisdiction ovcr school huildings, the School Committee exercising its jurisdiction over such buildings during school hours and another department exercising similar jurisdiction for parts of days and during vacation time when the schools were not in session.

An act passed by this year's Legislature (chapter 367 of the Acts of 1911) authorizes the School Committee of any city or town which accepts the provisions of the act to grant the temporary use of halls in school buildings upon such terms and conditions and for such puhlic or educational purposes (for which no admission fee is charged) as the school committee may deem wise, provided that such use shall not in any way interfere or be inconsistent with the use of the halls for school purposes.

This act will become effective in the City of Boston when accepted hy a two-thirds vote of the City Council, if approved by the Mayor. The acceptance of this act by the City Council would settle the question of the right of the School Committee to grant the use of school halls for public purposes not educational in their nature, hut it will he necessary to get additional legislative authority to appropriate the money needed for such additional uses of school buildings.

The prohlem of providing money for the extended use of school buildings has been considered by the Cambridge School Committee, which recently declined to appropriate money out of the school funds for such purposes on the ground that it had not legal authority to make such an appropriation. The new Cambridge charter, which is to be submitted to the voters of that city at the state election in Novemher next, contains a provision under which the School Committee is authorized to appropriate the money needed to pay the expenses of puhlic meetings in the huildings and grounds under its control outside of school hours for adults as well as children. (Acts of 1911, chapter 531, section 20.) The commission believes this is the proper method of solving the problem of the extended use of school huildings.

The commission recommends:

1. That the Mayor petition the next Legislature for an act authorizing the School Committee to appropriate not exceeding two cents upon each $1,000 dollars of valuation upon which appropriations are hased, said sum to he used by the School Committee for the extended use of school huildings under rules and regulations to be established hy the School Committee.

2. That the Mayor and City Council accept chapter 367 of the Acts of 1911, authorizing the School Committee to grant the temporary use of halls in school huildings for public or educational purposes.

Respectfully submitted,

THE FINANCE COMMISSION,
hy JOHN A. SULLIVAN,
Chairman.

—

City of Boston,
Office of the Mayor, October 20, 1911.

Boston Finance Commission:

Gentlemen,—Your communication of October 18, in reply to mine of Octoher 10, concerning the extended use of school huildings, has heen carefully considered hy me.

The suggestion that steps he taken to accept on the part of the city chapter 367 of the Acts of 1911 seems to me a proper one and I shall send a message to the City Council recommending that this chapter he adopted.

In dealing with the general question whether the funds necessary to provide for the extended use of school huildings for purposes of education and recreation could he taken from the regular appropriations of the School Department without injury to its work, you say in suhstance that such an application of the regular funds would he dangerous. According to your own recommendation, namely, that the Legislature he petitioned to authorize the School Committee to appropriate two cents on each $1,000 of valuation for this purpose, the amount required for a reasonahle and comprehensive plan would he about $30,000. I am to understand, therefore, that in your opinion the School Committee out of its appropriation for 1911–1912, approximating $5,000,000, cannot spare the moderate sum of $30,000, although you admit that its balance for last year was about $35,000.

I am constrained to ask whether you have given a careful study to one feature of the school expenditures. On pages 83–86 of your report you note that in the last school year there was a decrease of 1,934 pupils in the elementary schools and 209 pupils in the evening schools, which was only partly offset by an increase of 1,071 pupils in the Latin and High schools and 73 pupils in the Normal and special schools. The decrease of 1,934 pupils in elementary schools at $24.76, which is the annual cost of instruction per pupil, would mean a saving, other things being equal, of nearly $50,000, while the increase of 1,071 pupils in the Latin and High schools at $66.82 per pupil, would mean an added expenditure of about $71,500. The net increase in expenditure thus due to the increase in the number of pupils would be something under $25,000.

Thus we have a balance of $35,000 and an increase in the appropriations due to the normal increase of valuations, which will probably exceed $100,000 each year. That is to say, the average increase of valuations for the five-year period from 1905 to 1910 was $27,000,000 and at approximately $4 per thousand this will bring in over $100,000 per year. In other words, the School Committee has a net increase of $100,000, with a balance this year of $35,000, to provide for an increase of school population involving a net expenditure of only $25,000, leaving about $110,000 clear for the general improvement of the school system. This is a large amount and, in my opinion, satisfactory reasons should be given before a body as responsible as the Boston Finance Commission should recommend additional expenditures.

One reason for the decrease in the numbers last year is not mentioned in your report. This is the building of parochial schools in different parts of the city. It is well known that several such schools have recently been erected and have drawn away thousands of public school pupils and that others are contemplated or in course of construction. I think it singular that no mention was made of this feature and would respectfully inquire whether you have taken it into account in your forecast of future needs, leading up to the last recommendation in your list that "if necessary the Legislature be asked to grant a larger appropriation for school purposes."

It is obvious that if the school population continues to decrease the need of increased appropriations is correspondingly diminished and other means might be provided for the extended use of school buildings without imposing additional burdens upon the taxpayers.

Yours respectfully,
JOHN F. FITZGERALD, Mayor.

Boston, October 25, 1911.

Hon. John F. Fitzgerald, Mayor:

Sir,—The Finance Commission has received your Honor's communication, dated October 20, 1911, concerning the extended use of school buildings. In the report of the Finance Commission on the extended use of school buildings, dated October 18, 1911, the commission pointed out that the school funds could not lawfully be used for many of the purposes included in the program for the extended use of school buildings; that is, the program could not be carried out in its entirety by the School Committee under existing law. This objection seems to the Finance Commission to be decisive of the questions raised in your Honor's communication; but, even if the school funds could lawfully be used to carry out the entire program for the extended use of school buildings, it would be dangerous for the School Committee to set aside for this purpose in the beginning of any year funds which before the end of the year might be needed for the more important duty which the law places upon the School Committee, namely, the education of the children in the public schools.

Moreover, the Finance Commission does not believe that any substantial saving could be effected if the number of pupils in the elementary schools should decrease hereafter. It is true that if the number of pupils in a particular school district should be largely reduced a saving could be effected in that district by reducing the number of teachers and the quantity of books and supplies. But no saving would be made even in that district in the fixed charges, such as the cost of administration and supervision, fuel, light and janitor's service. The decrease, however, if any occurs hereafter, will probably be fairly uniform throughout the various schools and classes in the city and. though the quota of pupils per teacher would be reduced in some instances, the decrease in the number of pupils would probably not be so great as to warrant any material reduction in the number of teachers; hence no substantial saving would be effected.

The commission, however, does not anticipate any decrease hereafter in the number of pupils in the public schools. In its report on the school system, dated October 7, 1911, page 85, the commission said:

"The decrease of about $1\frac{2}{3}$ per cent in the number of elementary school pupils and of about $\frac{1}{2}$ of 1 per cent in the number of pupils in all schools furnishes no occasion for alarm; the falling off in all probability is only a temporary one, and in future years the normal increase of previous years may be expected."

The commission in the course of its study gave careful attention to the possible effect of parochial schools upon the public school population, but omitted reference thereto, as it felt that the subject of its report was the public schools and not private schools. During the commission's study last summer the figures showed an apparent falling off in the parochial school population very similar to that in the public schools. Information which has since been received, as the result of a recent conference between representatives of the public and the parochial schools, shows, however, that there was an increase last year of 323 in the average number of pupils belonging in the parochial schools. The increase in the previous year was 198; and there was an average annual increase of 193 during the last five years. On October 1, 1910, there were 17,207 pupils enrolled in the Boston parochial schools; on October 1, 1911, 17,852 were enrolled, an increase of 645 in the total enrollment. The enrollment figures are always greater than the figures showing the average number of pupils belonging, as many pupils drop out after enrollment. It is evident therefore that the decrease of 1,934 pupils in the average number of pupils belonging in the elementary public schools is not accounted for by an increase in the same period of 645 pupils in the number enrolled in the parochial schools, or by the smaller increase in the average number belonging in the parochial schools.

The Finance Commission believes that its report of October 18, 1911, outlined a lawful and practical means of providing for the extended use of school buildings; that the way suggested by your Honor in your communication to the City Council, dated October 9, 1911, namely, to create by ordinance a new department to divide jurisdiction over school buildings with the School Committee, would be unlawful; and that your Honor's later suggestion contained in your communication to the Finance Commission under date of October 20, 1911, is impracticable.

If the valuations of the city, and consequently the amounts available for the public schools, shall hereafter increase in greater proportion than the number of public school pupils, any surplus which would thus be created could not then lawfully be used for a large part of the program for the extended use of school buildings. Moreover, if such a surplus should be created, the commission believes that it should be used to provide more teachers, to reduce the number of pupils per teacher, and by this and other methods give the children in the public schools a better education than they now receive.

THE "VIGILANT."

The following was received:

Boston Finance Commission,
Boston, October 26, 1911.

The Honorable the City Council:

Gentlemen,—In response to the request of the City Council on September 11, 1911, for a report and recommendation on the subject of the replacement of the Health Department steamer "Vigilant" by a new and larger steamer, the commission respectfully submits herewith a report made by its engineer, Mr. Guy C. Emerson, under date of September 4, 1911, which should be read in connection with his earlier report, dated August 7, 1911, and the report of James Donald, naval architect. Mr. Emerson's report of August 7 is printed in the Minutes of the City Council under date of August 22, 1911 (pages 297, 298), and Mr. Donald's report appears in said Minutes under date of September 11, 1911 (pages 326–328). In Mr. Emerson's report of September 4 it appears that he is still of the opinion that a sufficient examination has not yet been made to warrant the conclusion that a new boat is necessary. He is still of the opinion that a proper examination by an individual or board familiar with wooden steamboat construction is likely to prove that repairs not exceeding $8,000 in cost will make the boat serviceable for fifteen years longer. If it should appear, after proper examination, that an expenditure of $8,000 or less for repairs would put the boat in condition for fifteen years longer service it would be a mistake to spend $48,000 now for a new steamer.

Neither the Finance Commission nor Mr. Emerson has at any time opposed the building of a new boat if an adequate examination should prove that the "Vigilant" could not be put in good condition for future service by the expenditure of a comparatively small amount for repairs. The commission believes the amount involved is large enough to warrant the making of such an examination as Mr. Emerson recommends; and that the appropriation for a new boat should not be made until such an examination is made and the necessity for a new boat demonstrated.

Respectfully submitted,

THE FINANCE COMMISSION,

Chairman.

September 4, 1911.

Hon. John A. Sullivan,
Chairman Finance Commission:

Dear Sir,—I return herewith the letters of William A. Leahy, secretary to his Honor Mayor Fitzgerald, with the appended report on the condition of the steamer "Vigilant," by James Donald, naval inspector, at present connected with the Fore River Shipbuilding Company.

I have examined the report of Mr. Donald carefully, and find that his investigation discloses exactly the same defects and weaknesses which were outlined in my letter of August 7, except that he also specifies the necessary strengthening to the towing bitts and renewal of water tanks. These defects were pointed out to me, but were not given attention in my report as being in the nature of ordinary repairs and of slight importance. The examination made by Mr. Donald seems to have been practically the same in extent and as regards locations as previously made by Engineer Fay and his associate, except that a piece of inside ceiling was removed in one place below the water line. It is significant that in this place the timbers of the boat were found to be in good condition. No estimate of the cost of repairs has been furnished by Mr. Donald, and no figures or statements to disprove the maximum estimate of $8,000 for putting the boat in good condition, given in my report.

The statement of conditions disclosed by Mr. Donald's examination are contained on the first three pages of his report. The remaining five pages are devoted to a discussion of the deficiencies of the "Vigilant," viewed in the light of modern regulations for steam vessels, which regulations, however, do not apply to the "Vigilant," as such regulations have been enacted since the "Vigilant" was built. It does not appear that the reasons given by Mr. Donald for building a new boat, other than the structural conditions, have been previously mentioned in any of the discussions, or in the letter of Mayor Fitzgerald of June 8, transmitting documents to the City Council, together with the request for an appropriation; neither do these matters seem to be ones for expert judgment, and in regard to the same I have no comment to make.

Several articles have recently appeared in the daily press in connection with the matter that make it appear that the inspection of Mr. Donald developed conditions different from those shown by my examination and that his report is contradictory to my own. As a matter of fact you will see by reading the two reports that they disagree in no way, so far as they cover the same ground.

The intent of my report was to make it clear that, whatever was the actual structural condition of the boat, the recommendations for a new boat were not warranted by any structural condition so far shown. It does not appear that the present examination shows anything beyond what already has been shown. Neither, in my opinion, does the present examination as regards structural conditions warrant the conclusion that a new boat is necessary. The question, so far as conditions are known at present, seems to be whether it would be best to expend a comparatively small sum of money and use the present boat for a considerable term of years, with the same discomforts to the crew that they have experienced for twenty-six years past, or whether it would be advisable to spend a much larger sum to secure a larger boat with increased comforts and probably also material increase in running expenses.

While I do not pose as a naval architect, I was, for several years of my life, intimately associated with the construction and repairs of wooden shipping and am perfectly familiar with conditions and methods pertaining thereto, and my report was submitted after consultation with naval architects and shipbuilders actively engaged at the present time in the design and construction of wooden tow boats.

Respectfully submitted,

GUY C. EMERSON,
Consulting Engineer.

CONFIRMATION OF APPOINTMENTS.

Coun. BALLANTYNE called up Nos. 1 and 2, unfinished business, viz.:

2. Francis X. Malley, to be a Weigher of Coal for the term ending April 30, 1912.

The question came on confirmation. Committee—Coun. Ballantyne and Curley. Whole number of ballots cast 9, yeas 9, and the several appointments were confirmed.

HANDBALL COURT, L STREET BATH.

President COLLINS called up No. 3, unfinished business, viz.:

3. Ordered, That the City Auditor be and hereby is authorized to transfer the appropriation for Handball Court and Shower Baths, L Street Bath House, to the appropriation for L Street Bath Additions, etc.

The order was given its second and final reading and passage, yeas 9.

TRANSFER OF $25,000 FOR MAKING OF HIGHWAYS.

President COLLINS called up No. 4 on the calendar, unfinished business, viz.:

4. Ordered, That in accordance with the provisions of chapter 261 of the Acts of 1893 the City Auditor be and hereby is authorized to transfer the sum of twenty-five thousand dollars ($25,000) from the appropriation for Reserve Fund to the appropriation for Highways, Making of.

The order was given its second and final reading and passage, yeas 9.

WIDENING OF UNION PARK STREET.

President COLLINS took No. 5 from the calendar, unfinished business, viz.:

5. Ordered, That under the provisions of chapter 261 of the Acts of 1893 the City Auditor be and hereby is authorized to transfer the sum of seventy-five thousand dollars ($75,000) from the appropriation for Reserve Fund to an appropriation for the Widening of Union Park Street, to be expended under the direction of the Board of Street Commissioners.

The order was given its second and final reading and passage, yeas 8, nay 1, Coun. SMITH voting nay.

PLAYGROUND, WARD 19.

President COLLINS took up No. 6 on the calendar, unfinished business, viz.:

6. Ordered, That under the provisions of chapter 261 of the Acts of 1893 the City Auditor be and hereby is authorized to transfer the sum of forty thousand dollars ($40,000) from the appropriation for Reserve Fund to the appropriation for Playground, Ward 19.

The question came on the second and final reading and passage of the order.

Coun. SMITH—Mr. President, when this order came up for its first reading I objected on the ground that there was $60,000 available for a playground for Ward 19 at the present time and that there was no need of $40,000 additional. The Park Commissioners have told us that they could not find a location in the last three years to use the $60,000 that they already have upon. They have, therefore, intended to solve the problem by buying, instead of one playground, two playgrounds. Only one of these playgrounds is to be used for the children. The other they intend to make a ball ground out of. Now, there are available for the boys of Ward 19 three playgrounds,—Marcella Street, Columbus Avenue and the Fenway. I am credibly informed that the ball ground which the Park Commissioners intend to make is within 1,200 feet in an air line of the ball ground on the Fenway, that it is directly opposite the grounds now occupied by the Wentworth Institute where recreation facilities have been developed, so that there will be no need of an additional playground in that immediate vicinity. The location is in the smallest precinct in the ward, with only 375 voters in the precinct. It is at the extreme limit of Ward 19. It is well out of the congested district, the district immediately back of the Mission Church. It is not the district which desires a playground; it is not the district which originally asked for a playground. The movement for a playground for Ward 19 was started by the members of the St. Alpbonsus Association, members of the Mission Church. They worked hard for the $60,000 appropriation and got it, and it was then worded for the Parker Hill district, which would have benefited the district that worked for the loan. As it is working out at the present time, and as it is developing under Mr. McInerney's nursing, the playground is to be put at the extreme limits of the ward, where the Mission Church will not benefit by the appropriation. It seems to me that we are not justified in giving $40,000 additional so that Ward 19 can have two playgrounds. Members of the St. Alphonsus Association object to this strongly.

Coun. BUCKLEY—Mr. President, I object to the gentleman using the Mission Church exactly in the way he has. The Mission Church has not come in here and asked for a playground in that section of the city. It has not asked for anything. I think he ought to be more careful in the way he uses the name of the church.

Coun. SMITH—Mr. President, the St. Alpbonsus Association, members of the Mission Church, who originally worked for this appropriation, are now against having the $40,000 granted and are now against the location of the ball ground at the extreme end of Ward 19.

Coun. CURLEY—Mr. President, I would like to ask Coun. Smith how he knows they are against this additional $40,000?

Coun. SMITH—Mr. President, in addition to that I would only like to quote a remark made to Coun. Curley at the time he voted for this originally. As he left the Chamber he was told that the $40,000 was not asked for by the members of that association.

Coun. CURLEY—Mr. President, if I may be permitted, I would like to ask a question. Of course Coun. Smith is in possession of certain information, or would have us believe that he is. He says that Mr. McInerney desires the playground located in some section of the ward. I would like to know what basis he has for believing that the Park Commission will locate that in some section in which Mr. McInerney desires it located? Has he any basis for that statement? I might say, before he answers that question, so as not to place him in a wrong light, that at the request of Mr. Woods last Friday night I rang up Mr. Coakley and asked him if the Park Commission had decided where they were going to locate the playgrounds in Ward 19, and the character of the playgrounds, stating that those persons in the vicinity of Parker Hill were desirous that the larger playground be located there, with the ball field. Mr. Coakley said he had no more idea of where they would be located than had I. I told him I had no desire to know where they were to be located, that I simply desired to express the wishes of the people of the neighborhood of Parker Hill that a playground should be located there, and Mr. Coakley informed me that it was the desire of the Park Commission, so far as he knew it, to locate a playground in that section. Now Coun. Smith says that Mr. McInerney intends to have it located in another section. I would like to know what basis he has for that statement?

Coun. SMITH—At the conference we had at the last meeting with the Mayor and the Park Department they frankly stated, while they did not care to tell us where the locations were to be, that they had two locations definitely in mind. That was stated to the Council as a whole in the Mayor's office. Furthermore, I would state, as a ground for saying that Mr. McInerney has an interest in this,—while I may not care to tell all my grounds,—merely the fact that he has been buttonholing the members of the Council at the last two meetings in their own Council meetings. That is evidence enough. That is common knowledge to all. As a matter of fact, the district that needs the benefit of a playground in Ward 19 is the district back of the Mission Church, where the buildings are in a very dilapidated condition, where the schoolhouses are located; and it seems to me it would be the wise thing to buy land around a schoolhouse, although I don't care where they buy land for a playground, to increase the ground about the schoolhouse. That could be done without any greater expense than it will be to go to the extreme limits of the ward. The land opposite the Wentworth Institute, now being considered, is land now assessed for 40 cents a foot. That is almost identically the assessment of the land back of the Mission Church. The buildings back of the Mission Church would add nothing to the expense of the playground, even if they were torn down. Therefore, it seems to me only fair that the district which originally got the appropriation of $60,000 for this playground should be the district benefited by it, and that the playground should not be removed to some remote part of the ward, a part of the ward that is within 1,200 feet of the Fenway Playground, a part of the ward where real estate values are going up, while back of the Mission Church the real estate values are stationary. It seems to me they are building two playgrounds where we were only asked to build one; $60,000 is ample. It will more than pay for the playground that is demanded by the children of the ward—and those are the only persons to be considered in this matter; not the grown-up boys, who can easily go to any of the existing playgrounds, but the small children, who demand a playground. I have good authority for saying that if this matter goes through this Board it may be checked later on. The people who asked and acted in behalf of this thing originally are the people to be most considered,—the Parker Hill district, the district about the Mission Church,—and they are not asking for $40,000 additional. If we grant $40,000 additional they are not the persons to benefit by it. It seems to me a perfectly useless expense. The people of Ward 19 deserve a playground, and they will be getting it with the $60,000 they now have. They have not asked for two playgrounds, and the children of that ward don't need two playgrounds, when they are surrounded with three other playgrounds. If we are going to do anything, let us buy land back of the Mission Church, tear down the rattle-trap buildings existing at the present time, which need to be cleaned up, and have a place there. It may be wise to buy land immediately surrounding one of the schools there, enlarging the school yard to the size of a playground, making a kind of municipal center there. But we ought not to grant $40,000 additional for land at the extreme end of the ward, where land is going up in value, in the smallest precinct of the ward, within 1,200 feet of the Fenway Playground. I sincerely hope the order will not pass.

Coun. CURLEY—Mr. President, I do not desire to prolong the discussion, because the councilor is arguing on the question of the location of a playground—and, after all, we have nothing to do with the location of a playground. We simply appropriate the sum of money which, in the opinion of the Park Commission, is sufficient, necessary for playground purposes in Ward 19. I simply want to point out to Coun. Smith the fact that perhaps it is well for us that we do not know where the playground is going to be located. So far as Mr. McInerney is concerned, I will say that he never approached me with a request to vote for or against this original proposition; that it was Mr. Prendergast of the Park Commission who requested me to call on bim about a month ago and who said they couldn't do anything with the $60,000; that they required $40,000 additional to work the thing out; that the matter has been hanging fire about tbree years; tbey have had a number of hearings, public and private, and that $100,000 is necessary to carry out the plan. The fact remains that we haven't anything to do with the location of a playground; that we simply appropriate the money for playground purposes, and that the location is a function of the Park Commission, purely. Mr. Woods of the St. Alphonsus Association called on me Friday night and said that they proposed to hold a meeting in St. Alpbonsus Hall and voice the opinion of the residents of Ward 19 as to what section a playground should be located in, and they invited me out there and said he proposed to invite the Park Commission, as well as the members of the Council, out there. But even if we did go there, we would merely have an opportunity to voice our opinion, the same as any other citizen, and it would have no greater weight. The fact remains that in connection with the Mission Church there is to-day a schoolhouse which educates 2,800 children, and if we place the cost of educating each child at $100 annually, there is a contribution of $280,000 that that church makes to the City of Boston in the cause of education. If the playground were to cost $100,000, I don't think that would be an excessive amount to expend to provide a playground in that vicinity, under the circumstances,—and I don't know where the school is located. I have the figures from Mr. Woods. As far as the Park Commission is concerned, I talked witb Mr. Coakley Friday night and he told me it was necessary to place the largest playground, with the ball field, in the vicinity of the Parker Hill district, and that the other amount would be spent for a playground according to the necessities of the ward. I believe this order should go through.

Coun. HALE—Mr. President, in my opinion Ward 19 should have a playground. The Park Commission reported that $60,000 was not enough to give them a playground, and I therefore agreed to vote to increase the amount $40,000. But I agree with Coun. Smith and Curley that those whose wishes should be most considered are the ones connected with the St. Alphonsus Association and the Mission Church, under the circumstances. Coun. Smith says the Mission Church objects to this increase of $40,000 and Coun. Curley says that they are in favor of it. We ought to find out definitely what the situation is in connection with this question. If the St. Alphonsus Association, the members of the Mission Church, are opposed to the $40,000, there must be something wrong with the proposed increase in the appropriation, and I therefore would like to move that the matter be referred to the Executive Committee with instructions to get in touch with the St. Alphonsus Association and the members of the Mission Church, getting representatives down here some time in the course of the next week, so that we may find out exactly what the situation is. I would like to so move.

Coun. CURLEY—Mr. President, this matter has been passed back and forth for about three years, and I feel that it is about time for action. It is not the question of the appropriation that concerns them out there; it is the question of the location of the playground, and that is no concern of ours. That is their concern and the concern of the Park Commission. But the Park Commission cannot accede to their desires until such time as they have sufficient money to do so. We are asked to provide the money; they settle the question of location among themselves.

Coun. SMITH—Mr. President, I think, technically speaking, that Coun. Curley is right in saying that we have nothing to do with tbe location of a playground. But yet Coun. Curley goes on to argue at some length about the location of tbe playground. In other words, he destroys all the weight of his criticism. We are not voting for one playground in Ward 19 by adding this $40,000. We, by authorizing this $40,000, are helping the Park Department out of a dilemma. For three years they have been trying to find out where to put a playground in Ward 19, and they are no nearer a solution of that question to-day than they were then. Consequently they come to the Board and say, "We cannot pick out one playground that will satisfy Ward 19, and so we want $40,000, and we will then pick out two playgrounds that will satisfy botb factions." But this Board has never been asked to provide two playgrounds. While we are all agreed that there should be one playground for Ward 19, some of us, including myself, are not agreed that there should be two. If the Park Department is not competent to determine in regard to the location of the playground, they should not come to us to help them out of their dilemma. One playground for the children of Ward 19 is all that is needed at the present time, and they should have it, but there is no reason for granting $40,000 in order that they may have two playgrounds there. It seems to me very much in point to discuss the location of the playground. If they are going to grant two playgrounds, as they told us they were in the Mayor's office at the last meeting, it is an entirely different matter from discussing and providing one playground, as originally intended. If they are going to put one of the two playgrounds, as I am credibly informed, at the extreme end of the ward, near the Fenway, where there is already a good playground, I do not believe in it. I do believe there should be a playground for Ward 19, and every one of us is anxious to help out Ward 19; but we may not be equally anxious to help the Park Department out of a dilemma. They have got themselves into a tangle; let them get themselves out of the tangle. Tbe money we have already appropriated is ample. The Park Department told us at the last meeting that $50,000 was ample for one playground to meet the needs of the children of Ward 19. I asked the chairman that question myself. That is all tbat Ward 19 is asking for; that is all tbat the St. Alphonsus Association is asking for. There is ample money to grant it, and it seems absurd to give $40,000 additional.

Coun. McDONALD—Mr. President, I think the gentleman on my right here (Coun. Smith) is in possession of information that no other member of the Council possesses. I attended that meeting at the Mayor's office and I did not hear the commission say that $60,000 was ample to buy one playground, but that they desired to buy two. They said that $60,000 was not enough to buy a playground for Ward 19, that tbey had to have $40,000 more. The gentleman here, according to his remarks at the last mecting, said tbat they had playgrounds enough in Ward 19 and that he did not think they needed any more. He did not say that if they had one more playground they would have enough. He said they had ample playgrounds in Ward 19 and that they did not need any more. The members of the St. Alphonsus Association and members of the Mission Church have not come and talked with me over the situation. They have not talked with any other member that I know of. We haven't any right to say what piece of land the Park Commission should buy. They say they need more money. I think the people on Parker Hill need a playground, and if they cannot buy it for $60,000 it is up to us to give them the extra $40,000, in order to buy land for a playground. So far as I am concerned, I think the Park Commissioners are honest enough to buy land and get the proper sites for the people of Ward 19. If they do not need the whole $100,000, they will turn the rest of the money back. But I think we ougbt to give them this money and get this playground for Ward 19 that the members of the St. Alphonsus Association have been fighting for for three years. They have been to all the hearings we have ever had. They asked us for money for a playground for Ward 19, and the Park Commissioners have appeared at two public hearings in Ward 19 and told the people that they didn't have money enough, and that, unless they got more money, tbey could not establish a playground there now. We are trying to give them more money. If the gentleman is in possession of information that we have not got, he should give it to us, and I don't think he should say that anybody is interested in buying land there and come here and tell us that the Park Commissioners have decided to buy a playground at some extreme end of Ward 19 where there are playground facilities enough at the present time. How does he know? The Park Commissioners say they don't know where they are going to buy the land, and there is no other member of the Council who claims to know. The only thing I am interested in is giving the people of Ward 19 a proper playground, and I don't think they can get it for $60,000.

Coun. HALE—Mr. President, I would like to withdraw my motion to refer to the Executive Committee and move instead that the matter be assigned for one week.

President COLLINS—If there is no objection, the motion stands withdrawn.

Coun. HALE—Mr. President, this motion to postpone action for one week is not made with the slightest desire of opposing the loan, but one of the members of our Council has informed us, in the first place, that the St. Alphonsus Association is opposed to this additional $40,000, without regard to location, and in the second place, that there is some possibility of a land scheme here. I think it behooves us to wait seven days. We are all on record in favor of this, so there is no question of our playing with the thing. I believe we ought to investigate the matter, and I make that as a motion.

Coun. CURLEY—Mr. President, on the motion to assign I would say that I feel that the councilor on the other side of the Chamber has been extremely careless in a great many of his statements. I am going to vote in favor of laying this over for a week, in order to afford Coun. Smith an opportunity to present some facts at the next meeting to substantiate the statements that have been made by him to-day. I have had no conversation with Mr. McInerney, and I don't know what his position is on this proposition; but I assume, as a representative of Ward 19, that he takes an interest in that ward and is naturally desirous of seeing this appropriation passed, and that he is doing what I or any other representative would do—doing his best to secure its passage. If there is any member of this Board who feels that Mr. McInerney has solicited votes improperly upon this matter or has made any statements that are other than they should be, I believe it is up to that member to bring in the information at the next meeting. I believe that is up to Coun. Smith, and I believe it is up to Coun. Smith to bring in any information as to the position which he says is taken by the St. Alphonsus Association upon this proposition, because personally I do not feel that they have taken any position objecting to receiving an additional $40,000. I think that is purely imaginary on the part of Coun. Smith. If they have taken that position, it is the first time in my life that I have ever known it to be taken by people in any section of the city in the case of an improvement intended for their section, and I believe it is up to him to bring in information on that particular proposition. I trust that the matter will be assigned for a week, to give the councilor an opportunity to bring in something to support those statements or to apologize for having made them.

The motion to assign the matter for a week was carried.

WIDENING OF UNION PARK STREET.

President COLLINS next called up, under unfinished business, No. 7, viz.:

7. Ordered, That the sum of $75,000 be appropriated to be expended by the Board of Street Commissioners for the widening of Union Park street, between Washington street and Harrison avenue, and that the City Treasurer be authorized to issue, from time to time, on the request of the Mayor, bonds or certificates of indebtedness of the city to said amount.

President COLLINS—The Chair would state that No. 7 on the calendar has been superseded by No. 5 on the calendar. The question comes on the rejection of No. 7 on the calendar.

Coun. SMITH—Mr. President, I simply rise to a point of information. I believe on the "Vigilance" matter a loan was superseded by an appropriation. In this case it is apparently true that the same thing has happened, and I should like to simply ask for information on what ground this is being acted upon at the present time, whether it is the wording of the appropriation or what?

President COLLINS—The Chair would state that No. 7 is on the calendar of this Council, and in the opinion of the Chair, if an order is sent in by the Mayor taking money from taxes subsequent to a loan order, it does act as a virtual withdrawal. However, to save any difficulty as far as the particular matter before the Council is concerned, and to clean up the docket, in order that there may be no question, the Chair believes it is advisable for the Council to act positively and permanently on No. 7.

Coun. SMITH—That is, in your opinion, it is set aside regardless of our action?

President COLLINS—That is the opinion of the Chair.

Coun. SMITH—Regardless of the wording of the loan order or appropriation—doesn't depend on the exact wording?

President COLLINS—The Mayor has a perfect right to send in two orders on the same proposition, and if there is no intention on the part of the Mayor to withdraw the first order, both may stand and the Council will have to act on them. The Clerk has not the particular order before him at present. The Clerk will get the same and read it.

The Clerk read the orders under both Nos. 5 and 7 on the calendar.

President COLLINS—The Chair rules that No. 7 has not been positively withdrawn; and, therefore, in order to be absolutely on the secure side, the Chair rules that the Council should act on No. 7.

No. 7 was rejected.

MINORS' LICENSES.

President COLLINS submitted reports on petitions for minors' licenses for twenty-five newsboys, one bootblack and one vendor—recommending that permits be granted.

Reports severally accepted; permits granted on usual conditions.

HOT WATER APPARATUS, REGISTRY OF DEEDS.

The following was received:

City of Boston,
Office of the Mayor, October 30, 1911.

To the City Council:

At the meeting of your honorable body, held June 14, 1911, an order was passed appropriating the sum of one thousand two hundred and fifty dollars ($1,250) from the Reserve Fund for hot water apparatus in the Registry of Deeds. The suggestion was made at the time that an additional sum, amounting to four hundred dollars ($400), might be properly expended for similar apparatus in the Social Law Library. The accompanying letter from the librarian of the Social Law Library sets forth the need of this improvement, and I recommend the passage of the accompanying order transferring the sum of four hundred dollars ($400) from the appropriation for Reserve Fund to the appropriation for County of Suffolk County Buildings.

Respectfully,
JOHN F. FITZGERALD, Mayor.

Social Law Library,
October 28, 1911.

Hon. John F. Fitzgerald,
Mayor of Boston:

Sir,—I have been talking this morning with your secretary, Mr. William A. Leahy, about two matters connected with the Social Law Library, and he has asked me to lay them formally before you.

First. The Commissioners for the Enlargement of the Court House thought fit to make no provision for hot water either in the registry or in the Social Law Library. The quarters with which they provided both institutions are admirable, with this exception. Mr. W. T. A. Fitzgerald and I are both ambitious that the institutions respectively under our charge should be the best of their kind and should reflect credit on the City of Boston. Owing to the dust which necessarily accumulates upon books, and particularly in the library, owing to the wretched character of the sheep that has been used in binding for many years, and that disintegrates rapidly after three or four years' use, it is impossible to conduct our institutions to the best advantage, or even satisfactorily, without hot water, as your Honor will readily perceive. Our employees and our patrons need constantly to wash their hands, and water at the winter's temperature is not only disagreeable but almost useless for this purpose. Moreover, the water with which the rooms and appliances are cleaned must be fetched from several stories below. During the spring Mr. Fitzgerald saw or wrote to your Honor about the situation and your Honor authorized the letting of a contract for the supply of hot water to the registry. Mr. Fitzgerald, I think, mentioned the Social Law Library at the time, but prohably hecause the matter was not brought insistently to your Honor's attention no provision for hot water in the library was made. The installation of hot water in the registry is now going actively forward. I am informed that the lihrary can be connected with this system at an expense of $400 or less. The lihrary seems to stand in precisely the same situation toward the City of Boston as the registry, and its needs, owing to the hinding hefore mentioned, which has never heen used at the registry, are even grcater. I hope, then, that your Honor will feel authorized in directing that the library be connected with the work now going forward for the registry. I am told that in the estimate for the registry the cost of connection with the lihrary was put at $400 or less, and that the contract was finally let to someone who undertook to do the work at less than the estimated price.

Second. During the demolition of the Old Court House a plaster hust of Caleb Cushing was found in an unused room. It is now in Elston's shed on Court street in front of the building. The Social Law Lihrary formerly occupied quarters in the Old Court House, hut whether this hust ever helonged to the lihrary or not, I am totally unahle to say. The disposition of the hust, if no one can show ownership in it, seems to rest with your Honor. I think that the fitting place for it is in the library, and if your Honor should agree with me, we should like very much to receive it either as a gift or a loan.

If your Honor would like to talk to me ahout either of the foregoing matters, I am at any time entirely at your Honor's disposition.

Very respectfully,
EDWARD B. ADAMS,
Librarian.

City of Boston,
In City Council, Octoher 30, 1911.

(6) Report on the message and order (referred October 16) to transfer appropriations for Branch Library, Charlestown, Estate, and Branch Library, Charlestown, Alterations and Completion, to an appropriation for Branch Library, Charlestown—that the same ought to pass.

The report was accepted and the order was passed, yeas 8, nays 1, Coun. SMITH voting nay.

Coun. SMITH—Mr. President, I would like to ask a reconsideration of that vote just taken. In that connection I would like to say this, that, talking with the Library Trustees I find that they have in mind two definite lots to purchase in Charlestown, that they have estimates of a building to be placed on one of those lots; that those estimates come to $75,000 for land and building; that, therefore, this $30,000 will not be an adequate amount. In other words, the $30,000 they have already and the $30,000 voted, will make only $60,000 for a $75,000 proposition. If this reconsideration goes through I would like to have an amendment made, so that it will read $45,000, instead of $30,000. As I have said before to the Council, when we are building a building we ought to do it right. When we have specifications before us we don't want to pass a partial appropriation. It is useless to pass an item of $30,000, because later on there will be a necessity of coming in and asking for $15,000. For that reason only I am against the $30,000 item.

Coun. BUCKLEY—Mr. President, listening to the councilor on the other side of the Chamber, I am reminded of that old saying, "Beware of the Greeks bearing gifts." (Laughter.) I want to thank him, because he wants to increase this appropriation, $15,000; but the old saying, also, is that "A bird in the hand is worth two in the bush." So we had better take what we have got, and I think when we get the $30,000 additional with the $30,000 we already have, and consolidate them, what is contemplated over there can be carried out. It seems to me the matter ought to be disposed of to-day, and I think the Library Trustees will be very well able to get along with a library in Charlestown for $60,000 and that the people of Charlestown will be satisfied with a $60,000 library if we can get it. I think we ought to settle this matter to-day. It has been hanging fire so long that Charlestown wants something done. They have not had proper library accommodations, and it is time that they had them. I would also refer to the fact that the matter has been hanging in the air so long that the courthouse and police station have also been kept back; and if we can have the library moved from the City Hall building on the square we will have our new courthouse and station house in Charlestown well taken care of. I hope, therefore, that nobody will pay any attention to what Coun. Smith has said.

Coun. KENNY—Mr. President, even if reconsideration prevailed it would not be in order to consider a matter of that character, that has been referred to here. This is a transfer and it must originate with the Mayor. Therefore, that motion could not be entertained.

Coun. SMITH—Mr. President, it was well knowing that fact that I asked reconsideration, simply to state to the Council the fact, as the Library Trustees have told it to me, that this building cannot be built for $60,000. We might just as well face it now as later. I don't want any opposition to the $15,000 that they will have to ask for later on. In the case of Curtis Hall we objected to passing appropriation after appropriation, because we said the original estimate did not amount to anything like what the total came to finally. In this case we are passing $30,000, and we ought to do it knowing and realizing that later on we will have to pass $15,000 more to complete the building. Nobody can be any more keen for a library building in Charlestown than I am. I have proven that fact by voting for the North End Library. I am firmly convinced of the fact that libraries are needed in this city perhaps more than any other one improvement, with the exception of streets, and I am firmly in favor of a library for Charlestown. But I don't believe in passing these partial appropriations, and waking up later on and having to appropriate more money. In this case we are only making a partial appropriation. Seventy-five thousand dollars is needed. Thirty thousand dollars was given some years ago and $30,000 is being given now. They must of necessity come in later and ask for $15,000 more. I think we might as well face the situation now.

Coun. CURLEY—Mr. President, I was going to ask Coun. Smith what medium he had consulted. He figures out that $15,000 more will be required two or three years from now.

Coun. HALE—Mr. President, I hope reconsideration will prevail. If I may do so, I would like to ask Coun. Kenny what he said in regard to the effect of reconsideration?

Coun. KENNY—Mr. President, I shall be glad to repeat. I said if the motion to reconsider prevailed, it would not then be in order to increase the appropriation in this Board.

Coun. HALE—I knew that, Mr. President. I hope very much that reconsideration will prevail, and I think we can then undoubtedly send down and get the Mayor to send up a new appropriation for $45,000, and have the whole thing passed to-day. I am perfectly willing, if we cannot do that, to come in and vote for $30,000 now, with the understanding that we shall ask for $15,000 later; but I haven't the slightest doubt that we can pass the $45,000 to-day. I shall be very much surprised if the councilor from Charlestown opposes an additional $15,000 for Charlestown Library, provided it is needed.

President COLLINS—For the benefit of the members of the Council the Clerk will again read the order.

The Clerk read the order.

Coun. McDONALD—Mr. President, I sincerely trust that reconsideration will not prevail. I don't know what the gentleman on my right (Coun. Smith) is talking about. He gets up here and tells us that he hopes reconsideration will prevail, and that if it does he will make a motion that $15,000 be added in order to give the Library Trustees an ample amount of money. The councilor at my extreme right (Coun. Kenny) says that is not possible. Then Coun. Smith gets up and tells us that he knew that when he made the motion, that he was aware of the fact, but he told us that if the motion prevailed he would move that $15,000 be added. I don't know what medium he is consulting, either. Coun. Buckley and I have talked with the chairman of the Library Trustees and the Library Trustees themselves. They tell us they want this $30,000, want it passed to-day, want to go ahead, that they haven't bought any land and don't know what piece of land they are going to buy. Certainly they didn't know a week ago Saturday. They didn't know where they were going, but had eight or ten sites in mind. They cost all the way, I think, from $15,000 to $40,000, the chairman told us, but he didn't know what they were going to do. Now, how can the councilor tell how much it is going to cost for land and building when the trustees themselves don't know anything about a site, don't know what the land is going to cost, and so on? I don't know whether the architect has his plans finished or not, but they haven't got the land. The architect certainly hasn't got the building ready to put on the land. We are tired of waiting, over in Charlestown. We have been waiting for eight or ten years to get a branch library over there. We have $30,000 for a number of years and now come in and ask for $30,000 more, because they say they are ready to go ahead and give us a library that we need over there with that amount. The gentleman said in committee the other day that he didn't think Charlestown should get a library. He said he thought East Boston should be taken care of and later on that Charlestown possibly should be taken care of. He said he thought there was a nice lot of books over there. He didn't think we should have a library. Now he says that no member of the Council can be more keen for a library in Charlestown than he is. He tries to tell us that there will be no difficulty in the matter, that if the motion to reconsider prevails he will move that the $15,000 be added,—and he tells us that when he made that motion he knew it couldn't be done. I hope reconsideration will not prevail. I hope that $60,000 will be given to Charlestown over there for a much needed improvement. We are satisfied with the $60,000.

Coun. SMITH—Mr. President, it might seem that we were in a spiritualistic meeting, there has been so much talk of mediums. As a matter of fact, this is a very simple matter. We are trying to get $45,000 for the Charlestown Library, and the gentlemen from Charlestown are trying to have the item passed at $30,000. It is a curious position for them to be in. Now, there is no mystery connected with the fact that $45,000 should be given. I talked with Colonel Benton this morning in regard to the position of the Library Trustees. He spoke of two lots they had in mind, but he did not care to make them public. He said they had a building planned for the land, and that the building with the land would cost $75,000. That is a fact, from the Library Trustees, and I say if we are going to give a library to Charlestown, as I hope we will, we should give the entire sum, not iving it piecemeal. I believe in giving $45,000 instead of $30,000, and I cannot understand why Councilors Buckley and McDonald are opposed to it.

President COLLINS—The Chair would say that the order calls for a transfer from one appropriation to another, and will rule any further debate on this out of order. The question is on Coun. Smith's motion to reconsider.

Coun. HALE—Mr. President, I would say that all the remarks I made were made under a misapprehension as to the nature of the order, and that I would like to have all those remarks transferred to the next possible order on the subject.

Reconsideration was refused.

(7) Report on the order (referred October 16), to transfer $30,000 from the appropriation for Reserve Fund to an appropriation for branch library, Charlestown—that the same ought to pass.

The question came on the acceptance of the report and passage of the order.

Coun. SMITH—Mr. President, I would like to have the matter laid on the table until after the Executive Committee has met. I shall try to see the Mayor in the meantime and try to get the transfer set down for $45,000 instead of $30,000.

The motion to lay on the table was declared lost. Coun. SMITH doubted the vote and asked for the yeas and nays.

The motion to lay on the table was lost, yeas 3, nays 4:

Yeas—Coun. Attridge, Hale, Smith—3.

Nays—Coun. Ballantyne, Buckley, Kenny, McDonald—4.

Coun. HALE—Mr. President, I move reconsideration of the vote just taken. I am sure there must be a misunderstanding somewhere, because it is simply a question, after this expert opinion from the Library Trustees, whether we shall appropriate $45,000 or $30,000 to-day. It is not in the least a question of delay. As I understand it any one who votes against this votes against giving Charlestown an adequate sum of money for its branch library. I, for one, am certainly in favor of giving Charlestown an adequate amount for its library.

Coun. BALLANTYNE—Mr. President, I voted "no" on the laying of this order on the table for the reason that I don't feel that any time would be gained by laying this order over. Charlestown has wanted a library for a number of years. We have come now to the time when they say that $60,000 is an ample sum to provide that library; and I say the sooner they get that amount the better.

Coun. SMITH—Mr. President, may I ask Coun. Ballantyne by what authority he makes that statement, that $60,000 is adequate for a library in Charlestown?

Coun. BALLANTYNE—Mr. President, I will say that $60,000 is adequate to build a $60,000 library, and I will say that that is all that Charlestown has asked for. There is nothing to be gained even if the councilor on my right wishes to erect a $75,000 library. There is nothing to be gained by delaying this order. I say, give the people of Charlestown $60,000. When the plans are prepared if they want $15,000 more it is just as easy for them to come in and ask for the $15,000 as to try to take action that the councilor is trying to have taken here to-day. It would have to have two readings, just the same as at present. If we should reject or amend this order, the new order would require two readings just the same. If I could see anything to be gained, or that Charlestown was to get any advantage by delaying this order, I would favor the delay; but I believe this order should go through as it is to-day. Then if an additional amount is needed it can be obtained.

Coun. KENNY—Mr. President, we seem to have reached that stage in the deliberations of this Council where a member expressed surprise that other members should refrain from increasing an appropriation. I think it is a pretty sad commentary on our method of doing business when one member rises and says he cannot understand why other members refuse to increase an appropriation. They are going away beyond any argument or theory I have heard advanced in the effort to spend money when they say they cannot understand and are surprised that members should refuse to increase an appropriation. I think we ought to cut this short. Sufficient unto the day is the evil thereof. When the time comes to raise more money the proposition will come from the Mayor.

Coun. HALE—Mr. President, I suppose I was the member of the Council to whom the member from South Boston referred, because I did express surprise that any member of the Council, having heard from the head of a department after a careful investigation that a particular building would cost $75,000, and the Council of Boston having decided that such a building should be built—I did express surprise that any member of the Council would under such circumstances vote an appropriation for that building which, according to the expert, uncontroverted opinion, will be $15,000 too little to complete the building. I would like to say that I repeat that expression of surprise.

Coun. KENNY—Mr. President, that puts the gentleman from Ward 11 (Coun. Hale) in the same boat with his colleague, because as a matter of fact I was referring to what his colleague said. Now he comes forward and places himself in the same boat.

Coun. BUCKLEY—Mr. President, I am rather sorry that Coun. Hale and Smith have brought forward the argument in just the way they have, to-day. It makes it look as though Coun. McDonald and myself are voting against $15,000 extra for Charlestown, when as a matter of fact we are not. We want the library over there and want it just as quickly as we can get it. By appropriating this $30,000 to-day we can at least have the satisfaction of knowing that the work will go right ahead and knowing that we will have our library over there in a reasonable time, even though the councilor opposite says he is ready to vote $15,000 more for Charlestown. I, for one, wouldn't feel sure of his vote until after he had voted. I hope the Council will vote to pass this order to-day, without further delay. We want the library over there, and we want it as soon as we can get it.

Coun. SMITH—Mr. President, I am extremely sorry that one of my brother councilors expresses any doubt as to my truthfulness when I make a statement that I am sincerely in favor of an order and will vote for it. It seems to me that is a severe charge to make in open Council. I don't ask for an apology. It seems to me he should of his own accord apologize, however. I have stated that I would gladly vote $45,000 for a Charlestown library and he has virtually said that he did not believe me. I repeat that I will vote $45,000 for the Charlestown Library. I want to do it now. He evidently wants to vote for only $30,000. I am voting on the advice of the chairman of the library trustees who says that $75,000 is necessary. I am talking here in perfect sincerity. I am trying to get $45,000 for the Charlestown Library instead of $30,000, and a councilor serving with me here in this Board expresses a belief that I am untruthful in my statement. I sincerely hope he will show his interest in Charlestown by voting, like myself, to try to get $45,000, the necessary amount according to the trustees, and not to get a smaller amount than is necessary for the building and the lot.

Coun. HALE—Mr. President, in order to prove that my colleague and I are not insincere in this matter, I, for one, am perfectly willing to vote for the $30,000 for this library on the express understanding that we and the other members of the Council will go down to the Mayor's office this afternoon, as soon as we adjourn, and attempt to get the balance necessary. As far as technique and looks are concerned, it seems to me the best way to act is to defer action on the whole matter at the present time and go down to the Mayor's office in regard to it and try to have him submit a new order covering the whole amount necessary, $45,000. But if the other members cannot see that, I am willing to sacrifice my feeling, in regard to the proper technique, in order to get the substance of the matter, getting the $30,000, if they will agree to go down with me to the Mayor's office and try to get the $15,000 additional. I don't know whether the members are aware that there is a law on the statute books prohibiting starting in on a building, creating a debt, unless there is a sufficient amount for the building. My brother from South Boston has said that when the time comes we can provide the extra money. But if what Coun. Smith says is true—and I have no reason to doubt that it is true, as he obtained the information from Colonel Benton of the trustees—if that building is to cost with the land $75,000, under the law the building cannot be begun if we give them only $60,000. So, as far as delay is concerned, there will be no more delay if we now take action to get the $45,000 than if we passed the $30,000 and tried to get the $15,000 later. It seems to me as far as strategy is concerned, that if we try to get the $45,000 from the Mayor now we will be in a better position than if we pass the $30,000 and then later on try to get $15,000 more. As I say, however, I am willing to vote for the $30,000 on that understanding.

Coun. CURLEY—Mr. President, if Coun. Smith or Hale believe that there should be $15,000 additional for the Charlestown Library they will have an opportunity to vote for it at a later meeting if it is necessary. All that Coun. Buckley and McDonald wish to do now is to have this order for the $30,000 passed. Then afterwards, if the councilors are sincere, and if $45,000 is needed, they will have a chance to vote for the additional amount.

The motion to reconsider the vote laying on the table was lost, yeas 3, nays 6:

Yeas—Coun. Attridge, Hale, Smith—3.

Nays—Coun. Ballantyne, Buckley, Collins, Curley, Kenny, McDonald—6.

The report was accepted and the order passed, yeas 9, nays 0; and the order will take its second reading and passage not less than fourteen days from to-day.

(8) Report on the message of Mayor and order appropriating $150,000 for the widening of Norfolk street, Dorchester (referred October 2), recommending the passage of the order, although it is the opinion of the members of the City Council that the money should be taken from the Reserve Fund.

The question came on the acceptance of the report and passage of the order.

Coun. COLLINS—Mr. President, upon this improvement that the Council is about to act upon there has been much talk and discussion since I have been in the city government, and I understand for many years before. About a month ago, to be accurate, on September 11, I introduced an order that his Honor the Mayor be requested to consider the advisability of at once recommending to the City Council an order for the transfer of $150,000 from the Reserve Fund to an appropriation for the widening of Norfolk street, Dorchester. At that time the Reserve Fund was much larger than it is at present. If the present appropriations are passed, together with the $300,000 for the hospital, there will be absolutely no money left in the Reserve Fund. But, Mr. President, if I had an idea, any inkling of an idea, that the Mayor would send an order to the City Council transferring this money from the Reserve Fund I should not even at this time be in favor of this proposition. After this order was introduced in the City Council and passed unanimously, it was sent to his Honor the Mayor and he, in return, sent in an order providing the money by loan. A short time ago I called on the Mayor and asked him to send in an order transferring the sum of $150,000 from the Reserve Fund, in addition to the order which was already before him at the time. He declined at that time to do it, but said he would take it under consideration. Subsequently orders came in, one for Union Park street, one of $25,000 for Providence street, and I submit that a precedent had been established. As the members of this Council well know, within one week I asked the Mayor again to send to the City Council an order transferring this money, and he refused absolutely to do so. So this is the situation. Norfolk street, unless the money is borrowed, will have to go by the board as things look for the next year. It does not seem to me that there will be much money in the Reserve Fund for this meritorious improvement. Subsequently, by a process of elimination, the question came whether or not Norfolk street should be done, and if it should be done, how it should be done, it being within the exclusive jurisdiction of the Mayor to send in an order transferring money from the Reserve Fund — since that is an appropriation and must originate with him, and all that the Council can do is to request that it be done. It is within the exclusive jurisdiction of the Mayor to send in an order transferring money from the Reserve Fund. Since that is an appropriation and must originate with him, all the Council can do is to request that it be done. That it has done, but we were unable to procure from his Honor a message making such a transfer. About six weeks ago I voted against a loan order for a library in the North End, the place where I was born. I voted against it much to my sorrow, because I thought my position would be misunderstood. But I declined to vote for it because I believed that the Mayor was about to send in an order transferring the necessary amount from the Reserve Fund. However, my action went for nothing in that respect, as my associates saw their way clear to passing the loan order. But that is not the main reason why I have taken the floor this afternoon. It is due to the fact that there has been some question raised as to the position of the members of thc City Council and as to the advisability of this improvement. I want to say that when I came to the city government I conferred with the then Superintendent of Streets, Mr. Emerson, who agreed with me that this was the most important suburban thoroughfare that needed widcning. Deputy Superintendent Sullivan also agreed with him. All the authorities who bave gone into the question have agreed with bim. Tbe City Council which preceded this by two years — that of the last year of Mayor Hibbard's administration, and since there are four members of tbe City Council who were here then they can voucb for the truth of my remarks— came within one vote of passing over Mayor Hibbard's veto an order to widen that specific street. Every person wbo lives in that community bas had this on his mind for a great many years. But, unlike certain other parts of the city, there are not a great many improvement societies there, and the people who own their little homes have not come forward and pestered the members of tbe City Council week in and week out. But the improvement is a most meritorious one and has been needed for many years. The longer work is delayed the more it will cost; and I submit that anyone, whether it be the Mayor of Boston or anyone else, who says this improvement is not pressing and should not be done, is not talking in conformity with the facts. As a member living in that particular section of the city and baving its interests at bcart, in common with my associates, I wish to tbank tbem for their good judgment last week at the meeting of the Committee on Finance in voting unanimously to recommend this meritorious and long needed public improvement. I wisb my position thoroughly understood. It is very clear from wbat I have said that tbere is no hope of obtaining this improvement this year, and I fear for some time to come, under circumstances as tbey have developed, except by borrowing. In other words, circumstances compel borrowing or delaying this much merited and long sought for public improvement. Accordingly, I cbeerfully champion this order and trust that it will be speedily passed.

Coun. SMITH—Mr. President, as a member of the Committee on Finance I voted to concur with them in asking $150,000 by loan for the widening of Norfolk street. I did not agree, however, with the report of the Finance Committee to the effect that they regretted not being able to take this amount from the Reserve Fund. I distinctly disagree with them on that point. I believe that any permanent improvement, such as the widening of a street by obtaining additional land on eitber side, is a fit subject for a loan. That is a general proposition that will stand, no matter what the improvement may be, so long as it is a permanent improvement. The reason for that I will not burden the Council with, because I intend to ask the Finance Commission to invcstigate that subject and report to this body. But in this present case tbere is one additional reason. I believe it is wise to take it from loan because we have to-day the ability to borrow about $900,000. We have in the Reserve Fund about $725,000. We have pending before this Council in various committees matters which would take up more than $763,000. I have taken only the main items, and I shall be glad to read tbem. There are pending before this Council the following matters which would more than exhaust the Reserve Fund: $50,000 for East Boston, $90,000 for Ward 7 Municipal Building, $48,000 for the "Vigilant," $25,000 for fire station, Parker Hill; $25,000 for Ward 23 Playground, $15,000 for Ward 25 Playground, $50,000 for Ward 2 Playground, $30,000 for Charlestown Library, $300,000 for tbe City Hospital and $130,000 for the Consumptives' Hospital. That leaves out of consideration an indefinite amount which is necessary for pensions this very year and it also leaves out entirely the money which we must reserve against the contingency of paying the Cove Street Bridge damages. Therefore it seems a conservative statement to make that the Reserve Fund would be more than eaten up by the matters now pending before this Council. Probably doublc the amount of the Reserve Fund would be necessary to meet anything like the matters before this Council. It seems good business to me, therefore, to take this sum necessary for the widening of Norfolk street from a loan. That is entirely apart from my general judgment that loans are a proper way of financing permanent improvements. I am very glad to support this measure, as I believe it is needed for Dorchester. I believe it is more needed than most improvements now pending before the City Council.

Coun. HALE—Mr. President, I would say that I agree with Coun. Smith that it is proper to take the money for permanent improvements like this from loans, and that I dissent very heartily from the expression of the committee on the end of their action upon this order. I think it is a matter of congratulation to the city that the majority of its Council has learned economic and financial wisdom through local pressure for permanent improvements. This opinion placed at the end of the action upon the order, to act as a life preserver, will not be taken seriously by anyone. By their deeds shall ye know them.

Coun. CURLEY—Mr. President, I will state that I shall be very glad to see this order go through. I believe that Alderman and Councilor Brand of Dorchester was the first man to advocate this proposition and be advocated it for four or five years. Everybody recognizes the fact that it is a necessary, needed improvement. The only thing I cannot understand is why certain members, in fact almost a majority, seem to think it necessary to stand up and square themselves or to send in an opinion attached to their action on the order, squaring themselves for a vote that is properly taken. I cannot quite understand that. If a man argues and votes upon a proposition as he believes right, he should not have to stand up to square himself, because it is a loan or because of some other reason. I don't think that is necessary; I think it is childish.

The order took its first reading and passage, yeas 9, nays 0, and will come up for second reading and passage not less than two weeks from to-day.

President COLLINS in the chair.

Report accepted; said reference ordered.

RETIREMENT FUND FOR LABORERS.

On motion of Coun. CURLEY the Council took up past assignment, viz.:

9. Ordered, That chapter 413 of the Acts of the Massachusetts Legislature for 1911, entitled "An Act Relative to a Retirement Fund for Laborers Employed by the City of Boston," be and hereby is accepted by the City Council of Boston.

Coun. HALE moved reference to the Executive Committee.

Coun. CURLEY—Mr. President, with relation to reference to the Executive Committee, I suppose every member of this City Council received a report from the Finance Commission with respect to this particular proposition the early part of last week. Certainly I did and I assume that every other member of the City Council did. But if any member failed to receive it, the essential points in their report appeared in the public press, so that every member of the Council had an opportunity to determine for himself whether or not their position in this matter was a sound one. Now, then, what is to be gained by delay? It is true that the report of the Finance Commission as submitted was referred to the Executive Committee, but the fact remains that the recommendations of the Finance Commission upon this proposition are absolutely without any ring of sincerity. The Finance Commission, that has expressed itself publicly on every question, can convince no man that there is any sincerity in its position when it states that it believes a period of fifteen years is a sufficient length of time for a man to be in the employ of the city to entitle him to a pension. There is no ring of sincerity to their proposition that the bill as drawn is not sufficiently broad and that it should include mechanics, because it has been the opinion of the Finance Commission upon numerous occasions that men employed as mechanics in the city's service were paid a higher scale of wage than the city in justice to itself should pay those men. Further they recommend a contributory pension. Personally I would say that if men in the departments of the city where pensions are enjoyed at the present time were receiving the benefits of the pension and it were a contributory pension, there might be some justice in their contention, provided the men in the employ of the city received a higher scale of wages than they receive at the present time. Everyone recognizes, with the increase in the cost of living in the last ten years, that even though the men in the employ of the city were receiving $3.25 instead of $2.25 a day it would be an impossibility for any of those men, the majority of whom are married and have families, to set aside any amount of money that would serve as a protection when they arrived at the ages set forth in this pension bill, sixty or seventy years, seventy years being the compulsory period; and to ask that city laborers, come under a contributory act to the extent of having a certain sum set aside from their wages each week, to which the city would add a like or greater amount, is an unfair proposition. It is an impossibility for the average man to-day, even without a family, to live with any degree of comfort on $2.25 a day. Certainly I have no reason to believe that any member of the Finance Commission would find it possible to get along on that amount. Now, if there is any merit in the various recommendations suggested in the nature of amendments by the Finance Commission, the bill as drawn will permit of consideration of those amendments by the Legislature, provided they are sufficiently meritorious to warrant the Legislature in taking hasty action upon them. The bill as drawn does not become operative until March of the year following its acceptance. The Legislature assembles on the first or second day in January, the last day for filing bills is usually about the 25th or 30th of January, and committees can consider, report and act upon those bills in the Legislature during the month of February, or before the Pension Act becomes operative according to the provisions of this bill. In consideration of those phases of the question and in consideration of the additional proposition that a pension for city laborers was recommended some years ago by the Finance Commission, some members of the present commission at that time serving on the old commission, it seems to me action should be taken at once. I believe section 1 of the report of the Finance Commission set forth this matter somewhat in detail and says that the most serious proposition the city has to contend with is the superannuated employees who have grown old in the city's service. According to the compilation of the Finance Commission but 177 men would benefit by the passage of this act during the first year, and in each succeeding year—and they have figured for about three years—the number would not be in excess of eighty. I feel, all things considered, regardless of the lobbying that my friend on the right is doing among the members of the City Council here for reference to the Executive Committee, the matter should be acted upon here to-day. I have here, as I assume each other member of the Council has, a request from the Joint Council of City Employees' Union that immediate acceptance of this proposition by the City Council be had. I do not feel that anything can be gained by delay. The matter has not come up for consideration at any time during this year but what delay has been obtained, assignments have been made and every method that men could employ to avoid taking a stand on the proposition has been used. I assume that the same may be true of consideration of the proposition to-day. It is just possible that some member of this City Council may have something to say in favor of reference to the Executive Committee and, in order that they may be afforded an opportunity to do so while I am looking up some facts in connection with the proposition, I shall cease talking.

Coun. KENNY—Mr. President, I am going to vote in favor of referring this to the Executive Committee. I will not yield to any member of this Council in my desire to see that proper legislation is passed for the purpose of creating a pension act for the laboring man. I desire it understood and I have said so heretofore, that I am heartily in favor of a proper pension system. But I am not going to be diverted because of any suggestions here that political expediency demands that we must act. I am not going to be diverted from doing what I think is proper even under those circumstances. I think any member of this Council who will take the report of the Finance Commission which has been submitted to this Board to-day can reach but one conclusion, and that is that this act as it is at present drawn is not in such form that it should become a permanent law. The Finance Commission in the concluding lines of its report lays down certain suggestions which should be incorporated into a pension act. They are as follows:

First. "The service period should be fifteen years."

Now, Mr. President, it appears from the report itself—and if my friend had read the report more carefully perhaps he would have seen the reason for the suggestion—that a great many of the present force have entered the service of the city, although men of advanced age, within recent years. So that in their case this act never can become operative. When they have served twenty-five years in the city laboring department they will have gone way over the age of seventy years according to this report, and that is a very fair and logical reason why tbe act should be modified so as to take in those who have been employed fifteen years. For instance, you take the case of a man who has been appointed when he was fifty-five years of age. He could never have enjoyed this pension under the terms of tbe act, because when he reached seventy years he would not have been in the city force twenty-five years. He would have to continue until he bad reached the age of eigbty years, wbicb of course in itself is absurd. That is No. 1. No. 2:

"Mechanics in the labor force should be included as well as laborers."

Now I agree witb tbat proposition. Mr. President, it seems to me mechanics should be included. They are men who work by the sweat of their brows. They are men who work without receiving a more than a living wage. And tbey should be considered, just as mucb as the otbers who are indicated by the word "laborer" in tbe matter of a pension. No. 3:

"Tests of capacity should be made of employees between sixty and seventy years of age by the city physician upon tbe request of the heads of departments."

Why isn't tbat so, Mr. President? Why sbouldn't any person presenting himself for the benefits of this act be examined by a physician in order that it might be ascertained by a professional man just what bis pbysical condition migbt be found to be just at that time? No. 4:

"Employees who reach seventy years of age sbould be retired witbout proof of incapacity on the filing of certificates of retirement with tbe city auditor by tbe beads of departments."

That is, to my mind, Mr. President, not so important, because that is an amendment that might be very well introduced at some subsequent time, so that the act, as far as No. 4 goes, I do not tbink should be rejected and our acceptance should not be postponed on tbat account. No. 5:

"There should be safeguards against tbe re-entry into city employ of those actually out of the service who desire to retire in a few days or weeks with a pension."

Now I beartily concur in that proposition, Mr. President. Tbe pension roll should be a roll of bonor, and the door should not be opened to those wbo are not now in the service of tbe city to re-enter and perpetrate a fraud upon tbe treasury of the city. I believe sincerely that it is very essential that in that respect the act should be amended. No. 6:

"Heads of departments who intend to fill vacancies caused by retirement sbould be required to file a statement under oath with tbe City Auditor, stating the reasons for filling such vacancies."

I think, Mr. President, that while that is very important, that in itself would not be sufficient to postpone the acceptance of the act, althougb it is a matter of importance and should be incorporated into an amendment of this act. No. 8:

"The City Auditor should keep a record, open to public inspection, which would contain the essential facts in regard to retirements and tbe filling of vacancies caused tbereby; and he should publish an annual report sbowing the effects of the retirement system upon the expenditures and tbe efficiency of the various departments."

That is a matter also, Mr. President, that might very well be amended at a later time, but is not sufficient ground to postpone our action in my opinion. No. 9:

"There sbould be no Board of Retirement or Employees' Association; the City Treasurer should be able to administer the financial part of tbe system; and the heads of departments, aided by the city physician, should be able to administer the other part of the system."

I do not think, Mr. President, that is a matter, eitber, which should prevent the acceptance at this time, but still, I think it is one that should be very fully considered in the draft of a new act or amendment of this legislation. No. 10:

"There sbould be provision for contribution by the employees."

Mr. President, it seems to me that that should be very fully considered before it is determined to enforce a contribution from the employees. I would not let that in itself stand in the way of my voting to accept this act to-day. If I were to decide the matter now I would say tbat I would not favor a contribution from the employees. No. 11:

"There should be a provision requiring the physical examination of laborers and mechanics who hereafter seek employment in the city's service, and prohibiting the employment of those who are physically unfit."

That I heartily concur in, Mr. President. That is good business policy. That would apply to any successful business, be it the City of Boston or any private corporation. No. 12.

"The act should become effective only upon its acceptance by tbe Mayor and City Council."

That, of course, is true. I think, Mr. President, taking everything as a whole, it is much better for the laborers to have tbis act amended than it is for us to accept it at the present time and permit its operation without these other additional safeguards that should be thrown around it. I want to say I am heartily in favor of a pension for laboring men. I am not in favor of a pension for people occupying higher positions who are receiving salaries whicb correspond with and perhaps are superior to positions in other grades and walks of life. I think those men owe it to themselves to provide by their own thrift for their own future. But as far as the laboring men are concerned I am sincerely in earnest when I say there should be a pension for them. My action here should not be accepted as in opposition to the act itself. I am heartily in favor of tbe act, but I think it would be much better to refer it to the committee, get action on it in January and have it in operation in March.

Coun. CURLEY—I am very much pleased to find that Coun. Kenny takes the same view I do. He says, let us consider this and let it go into operation in March. That is wbat will happen if you accept it. For the benefit of Coun. Kenny I desire to state tbat section 11, whicb be feels is a very excellent section, is already in operation. That is part of tbe civil service law, that no man can be employed by the City of Boston as a laborer or mechanic without passing physical tests and undergoing a doctor's examination. That was adopted about six months ago. It is just possible the Finance Commission have not awakened to that fact yet. But it is true nevertheless, so that it would affect men who have come into tbe city's service afterwards. I haven't any desire to take up the time of the members of tbe Council with a general discussion of tbis proposition because I feel there should not be any discussion. I feel tbe Council should be unanimous in favor of the proposition as it is, because they have the power to amend the law any time they see fit if there are any amendments that in their opinion are just, and sbould be adopted. Now—"The service period should be fifteen years." On that proposition, Mr. President, if you adopt any fifteen-year clause in tbis case you will establish a precedent that is going to cost the city hundreds of thousands of dollars, because at tbe present time in the Police Department it is a twenty-five year period and in the Fire Department it is a like period. You establish a fifteen-year period and you establish a precedent that is going to be a tremendous expense in the future to the city, and will be difficult to overcome in the Legislature. I want to say in regard to No. 1 tbat my honest opinion is that the Finance Commission have simply put No. 1 in there as a subterfuge and that they don't believe themselves what they say—and no one else believes it. There isn't a single corporation in this country to-day having a retirement pension system that has a fifteen-year basis. The Pennsylvania Railroad is on a thirty-year basis. So is the Boston Elevated. And so it is with all the large corporations that have a retirement pension system. If a man enters the corporation at twenty-one he is retired, under tbis proposition, at thirty-six, at the prime of bis life wben he can do tbe best of his work. There is no sincerity in that, and I believe the members on tbe other side will agree that there is no sincerity in it and that it only amounts to a subterfuge.

Coun. KENNY—Mr. President——

President COLLINS—Will the gentleman yield?

Coun. CURLEY—Certainly.

Coun. KENNY—I understand the law to be in no event could an applicant for a pension receive favorable consideration unless he was sixty years of age.

Coun. CURLEY—I am talking about tbe recommendations of tbe Finance Commission in this proposition tbat the service period should be fifteen years, so that if somebody had a pull and had someone get on the list at the age of fifty-five years or forty-five years tbey would have him retired when he arrives at the age of sixty years. It is the most absurd recommendation, among many absurd recommendations, that has ever been made by the Finance Commission. Section 2:

"Mechanics in the laboring force should be included as well as laborers." Now they point out here in their report that the total number who would benefit in consequence of this proposition during the first year is a very small number—177. In the succeeding years, if the mechanics were included, the retirement fund would amount to about three times what it would amount to if only the laborers were to benefit—and certainly the laborers should benefit. Under the Hibbard administration there were a great many laborers who were compelled to go to Long Island and Tewksbury and die there, men who had given the best years of their lives to the city and who were thrown out on the streets.

"Tests of capacity should be made of employees between sixty and seventy years of age by the city physician upon the request of the heads of departments."

Now it goes on in the next section and says: "Employees who reach seventy years of age should be retired without proof of incapacity on the filing of certificates of retirement with the City Auditor by the heads of departments."

Which is exactly in line with the original bill which provides for compulsory retirement at the age of seventy years. Now as regards the tests between sixty and seventy years of age, I have one of the reports of the Finance Commission for 1908:

"The Problem of Superannuated Labor. The old age problem is very serious and difficult to deal with. There are many men who have worked faithfully for the city who can no longer do their work and yet are allowed to continue in the service at full pay. Legally the city is not permitted to grant pensions. Under no system is the pensioner ever paid more than a part of his former pay, but the superannuated city employees are practically permanent pensioners at full wages. Men who are wholly incompetent should not be continued on the pay roll. Those who can still render some service should be placed in the less responsible positions. The city is under no obligation to support those who render no service. If old age pensions are to be given, they should be granted under a carefully considered pension system, established by law, and not by subterfuge and favoritism."

Now, then, Mr. President, that is just exactly what this pension bill provides. It provides that when a man retires at sixty years of age, if he so elects, if he desires to be retired, he makes application for retirement, provided he has been twenty-five years in the employ of the city. He makes the application to the Retirement Board; the Retirement Board consider the case and then grant the retirement. He has that right if he has served twenty-five years. But when he arrives at the age of seventy years he forfeits that right and is compulsorily retired. Now then, Mr. President, take it in any working gang that you will find on any building or construction force in any section of the city, state or country, and you will find that a few old men who have passed the age where they can do a full day's work are really a menace to the organization of the working force,— that the other men govern their action and their day's work by the work that these men themselves do, and it tends to destroy the force of a working organization. It has a tendency to make those men who might do a full day's work do an extremely poor day's work, and the injury that results to the city in consequence cannot be measured except in dollars. Now, then, Section 5:

"There should be safeguards against the re-entry into city employ of those actually out of the service who desire to retire in a few days or weeks with a pension."

Now, Mr. President, the act provides that those who have worked twenty-five years, when they arrive at a certain age shall be retired—those who have arrived at the age of sixty if they so elect, and those who have arrived at the age of seventy, compulsorily. The civil service rule now provides that any man who is absent from service three days without sufficient cause shall be discharged, and that any man who fails to report for six months is discharged from the service. There are somewhere near 1,500 men on the laborers' list in the civil service, and a man, even though he has been employed previously by the city, cannot secure reinstatement, because the veterans have first preference; then those who have been previously employed in the department, and then the others, not according to their dependence, as was the rule in the past, but according to their filing of applications for re-employment in the service. Now every head of a department who has made requisition in the past four years has specifically stated, in the cases of laborers and teamsters, that he wanted men under forty years of age. They want the young and rugged men. How can an old man defeat this particular provision, as is suggested by section 5? Section 6:

"Heads of departments who intend to fill vacancies caused by retirement should be required to file a statement under oath with the City Auditor, stating the reasons for filling such vacancies."

Now, then, Mr. President, it is explicit on this point and saves a man from perjury, and saves the heads of the departments from considerable lying. A man arrives at sixty years of age and has worked twenty-five years. He desires to retire. He simply says so. When he arrives at seventy years of age he is compulsorily retired and doesn't have to lie or take any false oath. Section 7:

"Certificates of incapacity of employees between sixty and seventy years old."

And by the way, Mr. Chairman, if anybody ever looked over any of these typewritten reports that are sent out by the Finance Commission they would be satisfied there was more incapacity among the typewriters up there than in any other department in the history of this or any other department. It is impossible for them to typewrite one page and have it correct. Not only are the words misspelled but the punctuation is rotten.

"Certificates of incapacity of employees between sixty and seventy years old" — it should be "between sixty and seventy years of age"—"should be filed by the city physician with the auditor before retirements become effective."

Now, then, Mr. President, why should there be a certificate of incapacity if in section 1 of the Finance Commission's reports these old men, the superannuated employees, are a serious problem to deal with? And then go on and recommend the fifteen-year period. If a man has worked twenty-five years for the city as a laborer and arrives at the age of between sixty and seventy, everybody knows it isn't necessary for a medical examination to be made, and the report of the commission themselves bears that out. The report shows that the number seventy years old or over and not over twenty years in the service is only nineteen. My friend Coun. Kenny lays great stress upon the number of men who would suffer by the adoption of a twenty-five year period. There would only be nineteen who would suffer. The number between sixty-five and seventy-five and not over fifteen years in the service is only sixteen. So that the total is only thirty-five. And there would be only thirty-five who would suffer. They would not suffer because they would be retired. Section 8:

"The City Auditor should keep a record, open to public inspection, which would contain the essential facts in regard to retirements and the filling of vacancies caused thereby; and he should publish an annual report showing the effects of the retirement system upon the expenditures and the efficiency of the various departments."

Now, Mr. President, the City Record, which somebody publishes and nobody reads, contains all those facts. The name of every man who is appointed to a situation in the city service appears in the City Record. Every person who would be retired under the provisions of this act, his name would appear in the City Record. As regards the question of investigating the efficiency of these records in the department in consequence of the adoption of this act, that is the duty of the Finance Commission. That is what they are appointed for, to do some work that would be beneficial to the city, even though they don't do it. Section 9 provides:

"There should be no Board of Retirement or Employees' Association; the City Treasurer should be able to administer the financial part of the system, and the heads of departments, aided by the city physician, should be able to administer the other part of the system.".

Now, Mr. President, why should the city physician be called in to administer any part of the system? Do they question the honesty of the Mayor? If they do, it is the first time I ever knew them to. The Mayor, the City Auditor and the City Treasurer are the committee of three that are to serve without pay and have charge of the carrying out of the provisions of this pension system. And there is no reason why anybody else should be included. Section 10:

"There should be provision for contribution by the employees."

That is a very liberal recommendation for the Finance Commission to make. The chairman of the commission gets $5,000 a year, and I believe he honestly believes himself — nobody else agrees with him — that he is earning that $5,000,— but I still believe, Mr. Chairman, that it is impossible for a man getting $2.25 a day, with a family dependent upon him, with the conditions what they are in this country, with the price of food and the necessaries of life generally, including housing, what they are,— that it is an impossihility for a man to spare anything out of his day's wages to contribute to a pension of this character. If the Police Department had a contrihutory pension system, or the Fire Department, it might be well to insist that the poorest paid employees of the city have a contrihutory system. But when the higher paid departments don't have it, why should the poorer paid departments have it? Section 11:

"There should be a provision requiring the physical examination of lahorers and mechanics who hereafter seek employment in the city's service, and prohibiting the employment of those who are physically unfit."

That is settled by the civil service commission now. Section 12:

"The act should hecome effective only upon its acceptance by the Mayor and City Council."

And that is the way the act provides at the present time. It must he accepted by the City Council. Now, then, Mr. President, there may be some sound recommendations among those enumerated hy the Finance Commission, but if there are I am not aware which one it is. Personally I would not object to making it a twenty-year period, but that can he done in time. The hill is subject to amendment — any legislative act is— and if twenty-five years is too long, there isn't anything to prevent the City Council from passing a vote in favor of a shorter period and putting it in operation. And that is the principal ohjection that is made. On the matter of the mechanics, I don't believe the Finance Commission are sincere in their position on that proposition. I am satisfied thcy are not, because the mechanics to-day receive the highest wages in the city employ for continuous employment that is received anywhere. If there is a serious desire to pension the mechanics there isn't any difficulty in adding an amendment to that effect.

Coun. KENNY—I am not going to take the time of the Council to restate my ohjections or the points I undertook to make. They must be taken with whatever weight the Board will give them as I have stated them. If this matter is referred to the Executive Committee, I shall be prepared to either propose or vote in favor of a motion in that committee addressed to the Finance Commission, asking them to submit to this Council within two weeks a draft of such a bill as they would favor, and at the end of that time, if the bill which they may submit does not meet with our acceptance, I am willing to vote to accept this act.

Coun. ATTRIDGE—Mr. President, I shall vote against the reference of this order to the Executive Committee. I firmly believe that this act should be accepted or rejected hy the City Council to-day. The councilor on the other side of the Chamber, from Ward 17, spoke of the various delays in regard to this particular order and spoke of the various assignments. I was one member of the Council who introduced some orders to get information from the Mayor and his heads of departments and from the Finance Commission and from the Law Department. Those orders were not necessarily introduced into this Council for the purpose of delay, hut were introduced simply for the purpose of gaining information. I was one of those who asked that more time be given to the Finance Commission in order that that commission might make its report to the City Council. I asked that the Mayor and the heads of departments be given time in which to send information to the City Council which this Council asked for some months ago. In my opinion we have all the information upon this act which may be necessary to guide us to either voting in favor of the acceptance of the act or the rejection of it. I, for one, to-day will vote against sending the order to the Executive Committee, and I trust that I shall have a chance to vote in favor of the acceptance of this act by the City Council of Boston. The Finance Commission has made some recommendations to the City Council. I recognize in that hody a body which is working for the interest of the city as a whole. I recognize in this body a body that is also working in the interest of the city as a whole. And I helieve that the memhers of this Council will act honestly and fairly upon this proposition just as well as any other body connected with the city government. The Finance Commission recommended that the service period should he fifteen years. That is a question upon which honest men may differ. I helieve that the bill as drawn states a fair period of service for a lahorer of the city. No. 2: The Finance Commission says that mechanics in the labor force should be included as well as lahorers. I hold in my hand a communication from the Finance Commission to the City Council in relation to the rejection of the Civil Pension Act, which was chapter 619 of the Acts of 1910, and which was rejected upon the advice and suggestion of the Finance Commission by this Council. This communication is dated Decemher 10, 1910, and is to the Honorable the City Council, and the Finance Commission stated in that report that "The commission helieves that the only retirement system which can be justified on grounds of economy is one which would relieve the city of the loss caused by the retention of"—these words are in the statement— "day laborers," and by "day lahorers" I understand, and I think under the rules of the civil service it means, that these are the men who do the manual work, men who are lahorers in that sense of the term,—and the men who are the mechanics,— who are not the skilled artisans and who are not the men receiving more than $2.25 a day, the pay of the day lahorer. My opinion of that statement by the Finance Commission is that the commission is on record as favoring a pension for the day lahorer, and I am somewhat surprised to see the second recommendation of the commission, that mechanics should be included as well as laborers. As to No. 3, in regard to tests of capacity which should be made of employees between sixty and seventy years of age by the city physician, upon the request of the heads of departments, that is a matter which can he ordered by the Mayor, and is a matter which is not necessary to be taken to the Legislature to secure legislative action upon. I believe that this is now done with regard to the veterans who are being pensioned under chapter 113 of the Acts of 1911. In regard to No. 4, in regard to the employees who reach seventy years of age, that they should be retired without proof of incapacity, I quite agree with the gentleman on the other side of the Chamber, from South Boston, who says that he does not believe this is very important. In regard to No. 5, that there should be safeguards against the re-entry into city employ of those actually out of the service who desire to retire in a few days or weeks with a pension. I agree with the gentleman on this side of the Chamber, from Ward 17, that not many cases would arise in this city of men re-entering the service of the city after once applying and taking advantage of the pension system, in view of the fact that we have a very efficient Finance Commission on guard in this city. I don't think it would be possible, as conditions exist to-day, for men to re-enter the service of the city. In regard to No. 6, that the heads of departments who intend to fill vacancies caused hy retirement should he required to file a statement under oath with the City Auditor and state the reasons for filling such vacancies, I think again that this is a matter which could be ordered hy the Mayor, who has general control over the various heads of the various departments. And I think that if he should order them to carry out that provision that those heads of departments would ohey his order. In regard to No. 7, that certificates of incapacity of employees should be filed hy the city physician with the auditor before retirements hecome effective, this again is another matter of administration which could he ordered by the Mayor of the city. And I believe even to-day that the veterans of the city, under chapter 113, must be examined hy the city physician hefore they would be entitled to a pension. In regard to No. 6, the City Auditor keeping a record which is open to the public inspection, which would contain the essential facts in regard to the retirements, I helieve that that is another matter which could be done without reference to the General Court, which could be done by order of the Mayor. No. 9:

"There should he no Board of Retirement or Employee's Association; the City Treasurer should he able to administer the financial part of the system; and the heads of departments, aided by the city physician, should be able to administer the other parts of the system."

I, for one, believe that the Mayor of the city, who is responsible to the people of the city in a great measure for the proper administration of the city's business, should be one member of the Board of Retirement as contemplated by this act. And again, I believe that the auditor of the city, as this contemplates, should also be a member of that Board of Retirement because of his connection with and his knowledge of the finance affairs and the finance conditions of the city. In regard to No. 10, there should be provision for contribution by the employees. I again agree with the gentleman on this side of the Chamber that it would be impossible to ask these men who are receiving but a pittance, in these days of high prices, in these days of the high cost of living, to contribute anything toward this pension system. As the gentleman on this side of the Chamber has said, the members of the Police Department and the members of the Fire Department, who are receiving greater wages than the day laborers of the city, do not contribute, and I say that it would be an injustice, in my opinion a rank injustice, to ask these men, who are getting $2.25 a day to contribute to a fund for this pension retirement system. No. 11: The gentleman from Ward 17, on this side of the Chamber, has stated what is the law, and the law is a rule of the Civil Service Commission which, when those rules are accepted by the Governor's Council, have the force of statute law.

"There should be a provision requiring the physical examination of laborers and mechanics who hereafter seek employment in the city's service, and prohibiting the employment of those who are physically unfit."

I have in my hand a copy of a manual of information to applicants which is issued by the Civil Service Commission, and issued under date of January 1, 1911. And on page 7, section 4, there is a statement in regard to the labor service of the City of Boston, in regard to persons who cannot apply for work. D, page 7:

"One who is physically unable to do the work for which he applies."

And on page 9 of the same pamphlet, section 5, is contained this statement:

"The physical condition of applicants. An applicant must be strong and able-bodied. He will have to pass a physical examination and will be notified by mail to appear for this examination after he has filed his application. He will be examined without clothing, and if any disease of his heart or lungs or paralysis or any serious defects of sight or hearing are found, or if he has large veins in the legs, hernia, stiff joints, or if he has lost a finger, great toe, or limb, so as to impair his present or future usefulness, his name will not be placed upon the list."

And the word "not" appears in italics. Thus, I can see that there is no necessity to go before the Legislature and ask that provision be made requiring the physical examination of laborers. That is done to-day, and that rule of the Civil Service Commission has the force and effect of law. In regard to No. 12, the act becoming effective upon its acceptance by the City Council, that is what this act provides, that it shall become effective when accepted by the City Council of the City of Boston. Chapter 113, which was passed and approved on March 8 of this year, was the act relative to the retirement of certain veterans in the City of Boston. That act has now the force of law. It is now in operation in the city, and I understand that the Commissioner of Public Works will not place a man upon the pension roll of the city under this act, as a veteran, until that man has been examined by the city physician, and has been declared by the city physician to be physically incapacitated. That act, which was passed on March 8, for the veterans of the Civil War in the employ of the city, made no contribution by the employees, and I think it would be unfair to impose such an obligation upon the laborers of the City of Boston. And I for one hope that this act will be accepted by the City Council of Boston.

Coun. HALE—Mr. President, after listening to the discussion so far I find that everybody is so familiar with the subject that it is hardly necessary to refer the matter to the Executive Committee. I think we are all ready to vote on it now, and with unanimous consent I would be glad to withdraw my motion and then I would be glad to be allowed to speak on the merits of the question.

President COLLINS—By unanimous consent Coun. Hale will be allowed to withdraw his motion.

Coun. HALE—Mr. President, in order to state my attitude on the pension question I have got to go back into past history. In 1909, when I was one of the lawyers for the Boston & Maine Railroad, I was employed to draw a pension bill for the railroad employees. After many consultations with Mr. Brandeis and with other men who had studied the subject, we drew up a pension bill which was contributory in its nature. And we got it passed by the Legislature. That winter one of the city employees representing this Joint Council, which I see has indorsed this bill, came to me with my colleague, Alderman Timilty, and asked me to assist them in drawing up a contributory pension bill. I did so. We submitted it to the Legislature. It was drawn up along substantially parallel lines to the railroad bill. The Legislature failed to pass it that year. During the summer the Old Age Pension Commission heard all this matter, and I appeared before that commission with representatives from this Joint Council and from many city employees of other cities in the state, who all favored this contributory pension scheme. Mr. Brandeis spoke at that time, and many other people who had studied the subject; many heads of departments spoke of a contributory pension before the Old Age Pension Commission. Prof. F. Spencer Baldwin was the man in the commission who paid most serious attention to the matter and made the deepest researches. They published a report recommending a contributory pension scheme along the same lines that the railroad had adopted. That winter the Storrow-Fitzgerald campaign took place and during the campaign one of the questions that was asked of all candidates by the Joint Council of the city employees was whether or not they were in favor of this contributory pension. And they advocated that pension very strongly during that campaign. The next year the Legislature passed the bill, the Finance Commission up to that time having taken no part in the discussion and not having appeared before any committee of the Legislature advocating any kind of a pension or offering any suggestions as to the kind of a pension bill that should be drawn. That act was passed, as I said, by the Legislature. The Finance Commission then issued a report criticizing certain features of it, and the City Council rejected it last year. This last Legislature passed two pension acts, one a contributory pension based on the original lines but with the amendment suggested by the Finance Commission, and the other this act which is now here. We have both of them before us, and the question to-day is whether we shall accept this one. The Finance Commission has recommended the acceptance of neither. I am very strongly opposed to this Pension Act, not for any small questions of detail which, as Coun. Curley said, could be changed later, or are not very important, but on the fundamental proposition that a noncontributory pension is bad. I feel sure now if it were a question of re-enacting the firemen and policemen's provisions there would not be any question about it—that they would be contributory. It would be absurd to change it now when the men have gotten used to one kind. It would be very unjust and no one would favor it. But if it were coming to us as a new question I don't believe anybody who had really thought about it would hesitate to choose the contributory as against the noncontributory. It is not at all a question such as Coun. Curley has brought up, of the amount of wages a man gets. That is fallacious, because if it proves, after the pension has gone into effect and the contributions are being made, that the laborers can't afford to live on the wages they are getting, of course they should get an increase. The argument used by the Finance Commission against this being a general pension act because the clerks are getting too high pay is entirely fallacious. If their pay is too high it should be cut down. That has nothing to do with the pension question. It is a question of principle, whether you want to pauperize and subsidize the city employees or whether you want to inspire them with a feeling of esprit de corps and working with the city—which everybody who has studied the matter thinks the contributory pension will accomplish. As I said, I am extremely sorry that the Finance Commission did not take up this matter at the time the matter was pending before the Legislature. For two years this was the only bill, this contributory bill was the only bill which had a chance of getting through the Legislature. The second year it did get through. At that time this contributory pension bill was indorsed by the city employees themselves—and I certainly think that the city employees themselves are better judges wbetber tbey can afford to pay a tbing and whether they want to pay a tbing than any memher of this hody. They at tbat time were unanimous in favor of this contrihutory system, and I say it is extremely unfortunate for the city that the Finance Commission did not at that time, when these contributory bills were in tbe making, come up hefore the committee the way I did, the way Professor Baldwin did, and the way many others did, and get a bill that would not have these small defects, hut based on the fundamentally correct principle of the contrihutory pension, hecause then, a year ago, that hill would have gone through this Council without the slightest difficulty. And I say that if this hill is passed, a hill which I think is wrong in principle and which I shall vote against, that hill should be branded as the illegitimate cbild of the Finance Commission and the City Council—that they are each equally responsible for the hill.

Coun. KENNY—Inasmuch as the gentleman who has just taken his seat has withdrawn his motion that this matter be further considered in the Executive Committee, I desire to say that I have prepared an order, which I shall at the proper time offer to the Council, requesting the Finance Commission to prepare and file with the incoming Legislature amendments to meet the recommendations outlined in the report of the commission to the City Council, dated Octoher 23, 1911, with respect to chapter 413 of the Acts of 1911 relative to the Retirement Fund for laborers employed by thc City of Boston. I have concluded, Mr. President, that under all the circumstances these amendments which are outlined in the report can go forward and be offered to the Legislaturc and the act amended without seriously interfering with the act itself. I am so much in favor of a proper Lahorers' Pension Act that I shall rely upon the Finance Commission in accordance with its report going forward at the proper time and asking the Legislature to amend the present act by incorporating at least some of the recommendations which they have outlined to us, and I think therefore under all the circumstances, rather than suhject the measure itself, which is of too much importance and too serious in its consequences for such treatment, to possihle ultimate defeat, I am going to vote in favor of tbe acceptance of the act.

Coun. SMITH—Mr. President, I am going to vote against this act for two reasons: In the first place, it is a special act, for one special class. It should be a general pension act. I can't understand why this Council should turn down a general pension act, or delay it in its consideration until this came along, hecause there seems to me to be absolutely no doubt—and I think the majority of this Council have no doubt—that a general pension act, covering all city departments, is hetter than taking up special acts one after another to hit one special department after another. That is my first reason. It is rather a sad joke on the Finance Commission; and even tbis city government, that they bave turned down a pension act which would be contributory and would save money to the city,—treat all classes among the employees alike, treat them fairly and justly,without discrimination, without reference to how much pull one department had over another,—it is rather a sad joke that tbey are killing such a bill and getting into the maelstrom of special class legislation such as this is. My second reason for voting against it is this: I believe it distinctly had to have a noncontributory act. It is bad on the workingman himself to think that he should retire at a certain age just as if he went to the city poor house and be supported at the expense of the city. If his pay is not enougb to warrant bis contrihuting toward his own pension tben the City of Boston ougbt to raise bis pay. And I stand here and say that if we are not paying our laborers more than a living wage we ought to increase that pay; we ought to increase it to such an extent that they can contribute their fair share toward a pension. It is a severe criticism of the City of Boston that we are not paying sufficient wages to admit of that. It would have a bad effect, I believe, on the lahorers themselves if tbey were to accept of the generosity of the city without doing their part toward a pension in their old age. It is poor policy for the city; it is poor policy for the laboring man; it is poor policy hecause it is not a general pension act; it is poor policy because it is noncontributory. If the General Pension Act could come before me to-day as it did a wbile ago in this Council I should vote for it unhesitatingly, saying that no matter what defects the Finance Commission could point out, to my mind they were minor defects. Tbose defects could be corrected in the Legislature. Just as Coun. Kenny has suggested that the defects, to his mind, of this bill sbould be corrected in the Legislature, so the defects of the General Pension Act might have been corrected. And I would gladly vote for that General Pension Act if it should come before us to-day, reserving the right to work for certain amendments before it camc into effect; but as for voting for an act whicb dcals with one class only, I think it is perfectly ahsurd. We shall have to deal with other such acts. We bad hetter deal with them all on one hasis, group them all into one act. Living expenses are high. The average lahoring man has to pay more for the necessities of life. His wage has not risen as the wages in other classes have. He ought to receive a larger wage. The City of Boston could afford to pay a larger wage to its laborers if it was sure that all its laborers would he efficient. When this Pension Act goes into effect the older men among the lahorers will he cut off; they will he retired. Then the city organization will be more effective; the lahorers will do more when they are composed entirely of ahle-hodied men. We can afford under those circumstances to pay more wages. We will get more work for the same money although we are paying more wages. This is well illustrated hy Commissioner Rourke's statement that under the Pension Act for Veterans be would he glad to retire his men and put in their places half that numher of men, and he would save money by so doing. He could get the same labor accomplished at a saving to the city. So if we paid more to our day lahorers and were sure at the same time that under a pension act we were getting efficient lahor, not old man lahor, we would get more work for the same money. We could afford to pay more wagcs. Those lahorers could contrihute to their pension and the city really would he hetter off. And so I am against this partial act whicb only deals with one hody, which will necessitate other hills coming in hefore us to help out other classes,—the mechanics, for instance. I am heartily in favor of a General Pension Act with a contrihutory clause. I am distinctly against this pension act which deals with only one class and bas no contrihutory clause.

President COLLINS—The question comes on accepting No. 9 on the calendar. The Clerk will read the order.

The order was read.

Coun. BALLANTYNE—Mr. President, I ask that when the vote is taken it be by roll call.

The roll was called, and the Council voted to accept the act, yeas 7, nays 2, Coun. Hale and Smith voting nay.

Coun. CURLEY moved a reconsideration, hoping that the same would not prevail; declared lost. Coun. HALE douhted the vote and asked for the yeas and nays. Reconsideration was refused, yeas 2, nays 7, Coun. Hale and Smith voting yea.

CONSTRUCTION OF SIDEWALKS.

Coun. BALLANTYNE offered an order—That the Commissioner of Public Works make a sidewalk along hoth sides of Catherine street, hetween Bourne and Florence streets, Ward 23, in front of the estates hordering thereon; said sidewalk to he from 3 to 10 inches above the gutter adjoining, to be from 5 to 12 feet in width, and to be built of artificial stone with granite edgestone, under the provisions of chapter 437 of the Acts of 1893.

Passed.

President COLLINS offered an order—That the Commissioner of Puhlic Works make a sidewalk along hoth sides of Olney street, hetween Geneva avenue and Everton street, Ward 20, in front of the estates hordering thereon; said sidewalk to he from 3 to 10 inches ahove the gutter adjoining, to he from 5 to 12 feet in width, and to he huilt of gravel, with granite edgestone, under the provisions of chapter 437 of the Acts of 1893.

Passed.

AMENDMENTS TO CHAPTER 413.

Coun. KENNY offered an order—Tbat the Finance Commission he requested to prepare and file with the incoming Legislature amendments to meet the recommendations outlined in the report of the commission to tbe City Council, dated October 23, 1911, with respect to chapter 413 of the Acts of 1911 relative to the retirement fund for laborers employed by the City of Boston.

Passed.

CLOSING OF NORTH HARVARD STREET.

Coun. HALE submitted the following order—That the Police Commissioner be authorized to close to travel by vehicles, except fire, police, hospital and mail wagons, North Harvard street, from Western avenue to the Cambridge line, or such portion thereof as may be requested by the Harvard Athletic Association, on November 11, 18, and 25, between the hours of twelve noon and six o'clock p. m., or during such other hours as said association may require.
Passed.

QUESTIONS FOR FINANCE COMMISSION.

Coun. SMITH offered the following:
Ordered, That the Finance Commission be requested to report on the following questions:
1. What permanent improvements might properly be paid for out of borrowed money?
2. What amount has the city borrowed for such permanent improvements during each of the last ten years?
3. Based on the answer to the last question, what amount would be justified for the coming year?
4. Which departments have, strictly speaking, annually recurrent permanent improvements that do not differ greatly in amount from year to year; and what is the average cost of such permanent improvements?
5. What is the advisability of paying for the annually recurrent permanent improvements set forth in question No. 4 (such as sewers and the extension of highways) as compared with the advisability of paying for miscellaneous permanent improvements, like libraries, courthouses, etc., out of the tax levy?
6. Does the commission recommend the payment of either or both of the above classes of permanent improvements out of the tax levy; and if so, which class or classes?
7. Is it advisable to keep a margin between the amount raised by taxes each year and the amount legally possible to raise by taxes; and what is the size of such desirable margin, if any?
8. Will there be money available out of the tax levy, under existing laws, to pay for miscellaneous permanent improvements, like libraries, etc., if the city adopts the policy of paying for annually recurrent permanent improvements, like sewers and highways, out of the tax levy?
Passed.
Coun. SMITH—Throughout the year I think an honest difference of opinion has existed throughout this Board, as regards the financing of permanent improvements. It has been particularly acute this year because of the large Reserve Fund. I am sure that every member of this Board would be glad of the opinion of the Finance Commission on this subject, and simply to gain that and make it more definite I have introduced the order that has just been read. I can say that Coun. Hale agrees with me in asking for these definite instructions from the Finance Commission, and I hope the same will pass, simply to give light to our deliberations.
Coun. KENNY—May I ask to have read again just the first part of that communication?
[Part of the communication was read by the Clerk.]
President COLLINS—The question comes on passing the order.
On a viva voce vote the Chair was in doubt, and called for a rising vote, whereupon it appeared that five voted in the affirmative and one in the negative, and the order was declared passed.

ELECTION RETURNS.

Coun. McDONALD submitted the following order—That the City Messenger be directed to make the usual arrangements for receiving election returns on the days of the coming state and city elections, and that the Mayor's hearing room be opened on the evenings of said days for the announcing of said returns, the expense of the same to be charged to the appropriation for City Council, Incidental Expenses.
Passed.

INVITATION TO MR. LAWSON PURDY.

Coun. SMITH offered the following:
Resolved, That his Honor the Mayor be requested to invite Mr. Lawson Purdy of New York to address the Council, the Finance Commission and the Assessors as soon as may be conveniently arranged.
Coun. SMITH—There seems to be a desire among certain members of the Council to understand why I introduced this. Mr. Lawson Purdy is head of the Assessing Department of New York City. He is a recognized authority. I think many of us feel that the Assessing Department of this city is not perfect. There is another system which has been adopted in New York. Much the same system is followed in Omaha, Cleveland, and at least eight other Western cities, and I thought it would be enlightening to us and also to the Finance Commission and the Assessors if we could have Mr. Purdy in this city at some near date and have him tell us just what methods he follows in New York.
The order was passed by unanimous consent.

KEEPING OF LIVE FOWL.

Coun. CURLEY offered the following:

City of Boston.

In the Year Nineteen Hundred and Eleven.

An Ordinance.

Be it ordained by the City Council of Boston, as follows:
Chapter forty-seven of the Revised Ordinances of 1898 is hereby amended by striking out section five of said chapter and inserting in place thereof the following new section:
Sect. 5. No person shall keep any swine or goats, except in accordance with a permit from the board of health; and no person shall keep any live fowl on the lands or premises owned or occupied by him after having been prohibited from so doing by a written order of the board of health.
Referred to the Committee on Ordinances.

RETIREMENT ACT.

Coun. HALE offered an order—That chapter 619 of the Acts of 1910 as amended by chapter 338 of the Acts of 1911 be accepted by the City of Boston.
The order was referred to the Executive Committee.
Coun. HALE—I would like to move reconsideration of the reference. I would like to say, Mr. President, that this is a general pension system which is criticised by the Finance Commission, but which I think is entirely sound in principle,— and that the errors, if there are any errors in it, are very trifling, and I hope very much that the President will be fair-minded enough to give us a chance to vote to-day on this matter. We have all gone into this very thoroughly on both sides on both kinds of pensions, and I hope very much that the President, even if opposed to the particular measure, will give us a chance to vote to-day upon it. I hope it will be passed so that the Legislature can take its choice between the two acts. But if the majority of the Council are opposed let us at any rate vote on the acceptance of this General Pension Act to-day.
President COLLINS—The Chair will state that on account of the size of the order and what it meant he followed the usual custom, referring it to the Executive Committee. But the Chair in order to be perfectly fair in the matter will withdraw the reference, if there is no objection.
Coun. HALE—Thank you very much.
Coun. CURLEY—I object.
President COLLINS—Do I understand the councilor to object?
Coun. CURLEY—I withdraw my objection.
Coun. McDONALD—I object.
President COLLINS—Coun. McDonald objects and the reference-stands.
Coun. HALE—I moved reconsideration of the reference.
President COLLINS—The question comes on reconsideration.

Coun. SMITH—I sincerely hope reconsideration will prevail, for this reason—that a General Pension Act has been before us during this whole year. It was before this same Council, with the exception of myself, last year. They raised certain objections, largely the objections raised by the Finance Commission. The act was sent back to the Legislature and those objections were overcome by amendments, and this General Pension Act comes down to us again with the objections of this same body incorporated. All the objections that this Council last year raised have been ironed out. This Council cannot fairly stand here to-day and object to this General Pension Act on the same grounds it did last year. It has got to find new grounds. Now the Finance Commission were in favor of this General Pension Act with certain restrictions, and they named those restrictions last year, and this Council named the same restrictions. Now this Council has got to show some ingenuity and raise new objections. Otherwise the Pension Act will stand as their own Pension Act. There can't be any doubt that a General Pension Act dealing with all our departments at once is better than several special ones dealing with one department after another. The Finance Commission has recognized that time and again. In criticising this special act we voted on this afternoon they said it was defective because it did not include mechanics. There is no doubt we ought to have a General Pension Act. The only question comes on certain details. Now I sincerely hope reconsideration will prevail and that we will thrash this matter out here. If this Council is really in favor of pensions they ought to be in favor of pensions for all city employees and not for any one class only. They ought to stand here upholding the laborers of this city without reference to class. And I sincerely hope that this Pension Act will be taken up in a broad spirit. If the councilors are voting for one class, let them say so. If they are voting for pensions because they favor pensions, let them come out and say so in open board.

Coun. KENNY—I desire to respond to that invitation very promptly and say that I am against this Pension Act. I am in favor of a pension for laborers, and that has been my position for the past year, and there ought not to be any doubt about it.

Coun. SMITH—Mr. President——

President COLLINS—Will the gentleman yield?

Coun. KENNY—I will yield.

Coun. SMITH—May I ask whether Coun. Kenny is against pensions for any class except city laborers? Is he for that pension and that only?

Coun. KENNY—Yes, sir; that is correct. My position is unalterably fixed. I am against the granting of pensions, as I have already stated on the floor of this Board, to anybody other than laborers, and I have given my reasons for it. Now, Mr. President, I don't know why that statement should draw forth an exclamation of surprise from my friend on the left. It is not a matter of surprise. It has been my attitude during the entire year. This matter has been threshed out repeatedly—and I would like to say to the Council that there is not a village, town or city in the Commonwealth that has yet accepted the provisions of this Pension Act.

Coun. SMITH—Of course, this special act has only been on the books for a very short time. The one on the books last year was refused. It is no criticism of this Pension Act to say that no other town has accepted it. Boston ought to accept it first. I would be glad if Boston did accept it first. I wish Boston were the pioneer in pensions for all its city employees. It is queer we don't object to Boston being a pioneer in regard to a special class of employees. Why should we object to Boston being a pioneer as to pensions for all its employees? It is right in principle. If one of our classes of employees is getting too much pay that class ought to be reduced in pay. I sincerely hope that no member of this Council is against all the classes except laborers. I expressed surprise under my breath at that statement of Coun. Kenny, and I admit surprise now, that any member of this Board should be against the laborers of the city getting a pension, with the small exception of the day laborers. Is he against mechanics getting the pension? The Finance Commission recommended that mechanics be included with the day laborers. Is he against every clerk in the city getting a pension? I am surprised. Personally, I shouldn't think of taking that view. I sincerely trust that not one class shall be benefited by pensions by the City of Boston, but that all will be dealt with equally—that the matter may be dealt with as a general matter. And I hope reconsideration will prevail.

Coun. KENNY—Mr. President, if the gentleman had followed my remarks earlier in the afternoon with respect to the Laborers' Pension, he would have recalled or he would have known that I have already stated that I am in favor of putting in the mechanics, because I treated them as laborers, as far as the pension was concerned, as men receiving only a living wage. And those are the men whom I stood here prepared to support in the matter of a pension. We have already threshed this matter out repeatedly. It is a matter of public record here; and this Board is on record here last year as having rejected the parent of this act, so called. I am prepared now, as one member, before we take a recess or adjourn, to vote against the acceptance of this act and to vote in favor of its rejection.

President COLLINS—The Chair respectfully states that on a question of reconsideration it is unparliamentary for councilors in debate thereon to go into the merits of the question.

Coun. SMITH—I did not intend to do any injustice to Coun. Kenny in quoting his remarks, and in order not to do so I would like to repeat the question I asked him before.

President COLLINS—With unanimous consent Coun. Smith may ask the question.

Coun. SMITH—That is, he is against pensions for city employees with the exception of laborers, including mechanics. If that is a fair statement of his attitude I will allow it to stand. If not I want to do him the justice of allowing him to correct it.

The question came on reconsideration of the reference. On a rising vote, six voted in the affirmative and none in the negative and reconsideration was declared to have prevailed.

President COLLINS—The question now comes on the acceptance of the act.

Coun. HALE—I am going to say a word, Mr. President. I am in favor of this very strongly and I hope everybody that votes against this bill will realize that it is a vote, in the first place, against a bill that has been prepared with very great care and thought and recommended by the Old Age Pension Commission, by Professor Baldwin, by Mr. Louis D. Brandeis, and by a great many others who have given the matter very careful attention. In the second place, I hope that everybody will realize that a vote against this bill is, as my brother from Ward 11 says, a vote against a pension to every other man in the city except the laborers, including the mechanics. And I think everybody ought to realize it in both its aspects before they vote against the bill. I hope the bill will be carried so that the Mayor may have his choice between the two.

Coun. SMITH—I only want to drive home once more the fact that this is a vote against the employees of the city, and I think that the councilors here who vote against this bill ought to receive the thanks of every labor union in this city; every union of employees ought to realize that their friends in this body are voting against pensions for them, and at the same time are voting for pensions for one class of them, namely, the laborers. I think a man who takes that attitude in this Council is lacking in breadth of view. If he distinctly gets up here and says, "I am in favor of pensions" and makes a big to-do about it, and then when it fizzles down to a vote he is in favor of pensions for one class only, it is a pretty small attitude to take. If he is honestly in favor of pensions he is in favor of pensions for all alike and not for any one class only. It seems to me the rankest kind of class legislation, and I for one want to stand here and say that I am in favor of pensions for all the city employees and not for any one class. I can't understand how the gentlemen who have voted earlier in this session for pensions for the laborers, with possible inclusion of mechanics if they can get it through, how such gentlemen can stand here and vote against pensions for other departments of this city. And I want to say in fairness to the clerks in this city, and to other salaried employees, that I don't think as a general rule that the salaries are exorbitant. If they are doing too little work for their salaries, increase their work. Those salaries are not large as clerical salaries. It is hard work for a man with a family to live on $1,500 a year, to live and keep up the appearances he must keep up as a clerk in the city's employ. It is little enough for him to get. If he is not doing the work to earn $1,500 give him more work, but don't cut his salary down below the living point; $1,500 is little enough for any clerk to get. It is hard work to live on that with a family and keep up the appearance that a clerk has to keep up. It is easier for a day laborer to live on $1,000 for a year than for a clerk to live on $1,500, because the laborer doesn't have to keep up the same appearances. And I repeat, it is rank injustice to vote here in favor of one class in distinction from all others in the city's employ, and I hope the employees of the city will realize that fact.

Coun. KENNY—I don't want to encourage the custom that seems to be growing in this Council, of standing up and debating, and repeating and repeating and repeating what has been said. Now I, for one, am getting rather tired of that. Some of the members here—I won't be specific—advance a proposition and then they make a reply to everything that has been said, and if nothing has been said they get up and talk it over again. My position in this matter is not one that should be in doubt. I should not be interrogated by my friend here as to how I stand in this matter. It is not a matter that is in doubt. Let him read the records of this Council. Let him read the records a year ago. I stated my position then and have not changed. I am prepared now to vote against the adoption of this pension act.

The Council refused to pass the order accepting the act. Coun. HALE doubted the vote and asked for the yeas and nays. The Council refused to accept the act, yeas 2, nays 7, Coun. Hale and Smith voting yea.

Coun. KENNY moved to reconsider, hoping it would not prevail; lost.

THE NEXT MEETING.

Coun. CURLEY—Mr. President, I move that when the Council adjourns it be to meet two weeks from to-day at 3 p. m.

The motion was carried.

ROOM IN NEW CITY HALL ANNEX.

Coun. CURLEY offered an order—That his Honor the Mayor be requested to grant the Department of Massachusetts United War Veterans the use of a room in the new City Hall Annex when the same is completed, as allowed heretofore in the Old Court House.

Passed.

In connection with the above was the following letter:

Department of Massachusetts,
United Spanish War Veterans,
Charlestown, Mass., October 24, 1911.

Hon. James M. Curley:

Dear Sir,—The Department of Massachusetts United Spanish War Veterans are trying to get a room for headquarters in the new City Hall Annex and I take the liberty of asking you to help us in the matter.

We have always had a room in the Old Court House, but as that is being torn down we have had to vacate and go to Gardner, Mass., which is greatly to our inconvenience.

The Mayor has always acted favorably towards us and I am sure if you will see him he will make arrangements whereby we can have a room in the new building.

Hoping you will help us in this matter and thanking you for past favors,

I am, sir,

Very respectfully,

NEIL F. McDONALD,
Junior Vice Department Commander,
Department of Massachusetts,
United Spanish War Veterans.

10 Tremont Street, Charlestown.

ADJOURNMENT.

Coun. CURLEY—Mr. President, I move that the Council do now adjourn.

Coun. SMITH—Mr. President, is that a motion to adjourn or to take a recess?

President COLLINS—To adjourn.

Coun. SMITH—Mr. President——

President COLLINS—No debate is in order on a motion to adjourn.

The motion to adjourn was declared lost. Coun. CURLEY doubted the vote and asked for the yeas and nays.

Coun. SMITH—Mr. President, a resolution I have introduced is in the Executive Committee.

President COLLINS—No debate is in order on a motion to adjourn.

Coun. SMITH—I wish action taken on that matter before two weeks from to-day.

Coun. CURLEY—Mr. President, I doubted the vote and asked for the yeas and nays.

The motion to adjourn was carried, yeas 7, nays 2, Coun. Hale and Smith voting nay.

APPORTIONMENT OF COUNTY EXPENSES.

The following was received:

City of Boston,
Office of the Mayor, Novemher 10, 1911.

To the City Council:

Under chapter 482 of the Acts of 1911, provision is made for the appointment of a commission to consist of three disinterested persons, not residents of the County of Suffolk, who shall, after such notice and hearing as they deem sufficient, consider and report upon an adjustment and apportionment of the expenses of the county that should fairly he horne hy the municipalities of Revere, Winthrop and Chelsea. The commission is to expend such sums of money as may he necessary, and as shall be approved by the Supreme Judicial Court, and shall receive such compensation as the court may fix. The court in its decree shall apportion the expenses and compensation among the cities and towns of Suffolk County.

The accompanying order initiates action on this measure hy authorizing the Corporation Counsel to apply to the Supreme Judicial Court for the appointment of commissioners. I believe that the City of Boston has hitherto borne far more than its share of the county expenses, and that a just apportionment will result in considerahle financial relief. For this reason I recommend the passage of the accompanying order hy your honorable body.

Respectfully,
JOHN F. FITZGERALD, Mayor.

Ordered, That the Corporation Counsel he and herehy is authorized in the name of the City of Boston to apply to the Supreme Judicial Court for the appointment of commissioners under chapter 482 of the Acts of the year 1911, to consider and report upon such an adjustment and apportionment of the expenses of the County of Suffolk and the proportion thereof as should fairly be borne hy the municipalities of Chelsea, Revere and Winthrop.

Referred to the Executive Committee.

COST OF POLICE STATION, SOUTH BOSTON.

The following was received:

City of Boston,
Office of the Mayor, Novemher 10, 1911.

To the City Council:

In reply to your request, conveyed in an order passed at the meeting of Octoher 16, 1911, that I ascertain through the proper department and advise the Council of the prohahle cost of a new station for the Police Department, Sixth Division, in South Boston, I transmit herewith a statement from the Superintendent of Puhlic Buildings, which estimates the cost of a station providing accommodations for about one hundred (100) men as eighty thousand dollars ($80,000), exclusive of the cost of the site.

Respectfully,
JOHN F. FITZGERALD, Mayor.

Public Buildings Department,
November 8, 1911.

Hon. John F. Fitzgerald,
Mayor of Boston:

Dear Sir—In reply to your communication of the 24th ultimo relating to the inclosed order of the City Council requesting information as to the probahle cost of a new station for the Police Department, Sixth Division, in South Boston, I wish to advise you that I have conferred with the Police Commissioner and with the captain of the Sixth Division in South Boston as to their anticipated requirements and have thereby been enahled to arrive at a prohahle cost.

A police station in that district should provide accommodations for ahout one hundred (100) men. It should be of second-class construction and I estimate cost to be in the vicinity of eighty thousand dollars ($80,000), exclusive of cost of site.

Yours respectfully,
M. J. FISH,
Superintendent of Puhlic Buildings.

Referred to the Committee on Finance.

MORTUARY IMPROVEMENT, CITY HOSPITAL.

The following was received:

City of Boston,
Office of the Mayor, November 4, 1911.

To the City Council:

The accompanying letters from the Medical Examiner of the Southern District and the District Attorney explain the need of an additional appropriation for the improvement of the mortuary at the City Hospital. I recommend the passage of the accompanying order transferring the sum of thirteen thousand dollars ($13,000) from the appropriation for Reserve Fund to the appropriation for Hospital Department, Improvement of Mortuary.

Respectfully,
JOHN F. FITZGERALD, Mayor.

Boston, Novemher 2, 1911.

John F. Fitzgerald,
Mayor of Boston:

Your Honor,—In a previous communication to your office I called attention to conditions existing at the morgue, used jointly by the Boston City Hospital and the Southern Medical Examiner District, which needed prompt attention. I was asked at that time to take the matter up with the trustees of the Boston City Hospital and was authorized to expend a small amount of money and take other measures to meet the acute emergency existing at that time.

The permanent steps necessary in order to prevent a recurrence of these unfortunate conditions could hest he carried out in cold weather when bodies might he kept without artificial refrigeration. There has heen appropriated for the purpose of remodeling the morgue the sum of $15,000. This sum will care for the rebuilding of the columharium but will not provide for the work of the

Allied Printing Trades Union Label Council Boston Mass

Medical Examiner. The District Attorney of Suffolk County will communicate with you in reference to the necessity of adequate quarters and equipment for the Medical Examiner service if its work is to be well done. The present quarters are a makeshift and lead to a wasteful expenditure of energy and time in the doing of even routine work. There is lacking the privacy essential to medico-legal work and there is not room for the equipment which even a business office requires.

The enlargement of the columbarium without raising the building will result in cutting down the small amount of space at present available.

Mr. Edward P. Dana has been asked by the trustees of the Boston City Hospital to make rough plans for the building after consultation with Dr. John H. McCollom and myself. The result of our conference was a tentative plan for a building of two stories, enlarging the present mortuary structure and furnishing enlarged quarters and a well-isolated autopsy room for the Medical Examiner service. Mr. Dana estimates that the cost of the remodeling according to these plans will be $28,000. This expenditure I believe to be necessary and I therefore recommend that an additional sum of $13,000 be appropriated for this purpose.

Very sincerely yours,
TIMOTHY LEARY, Medical Examiner.

Boston, November 2, 1911.
Hon. John F. Fitzgerald,
Mayor of Boston:

Dear Mr. Mayor,—I believe that Medical Examiner Dr. Timothy Leary has laid before you certain suggestions relative to giving him as Medical Examiner somewhat better quarters and accommodations than he has at present.

The figures regarding the amount of business handled by him, and by that I mean the number of sudden deaths due to violence or unknown causes, are simply appalling. We all agree that the bodies of these unfortunates where an autopsy must be performed should have the most respectful care and attention. This the people demand and this I know to be the feeling of the Medical Examiner. The crowded conditions for such dead are inexcusable in our great city.

In the next place the Medical Examiner is charged with a tremendous responsibility not only in so far as detection of crime is concerned but also in reaching his conclusions regarding cause of death, which affects the families and friends of the deceased and the public morals also. He therefore should have adequate quarters for the performance of his important work. He should have privacy and should also have a well equipped laboratory, for this sort of work is an integral part of his official investigations.

I sincerely join in the request that he has made upon you and trust that you will see your way clear to grant his application regarding increased accommodations. I am sure that the people of Boston would not begrudge the necessary expense to give him adequate and satisfactory quarters.

Very truly yours,
J. C. PELLETIER,
District Attorney.

Ordered, That under the provisions of chapter 261 of the Acts of 1893 the City Auditor be and hereby is authorized to transfer the sum of thirteen thousand dollars ($13,000) from the appropriation for Reserve Fund to the appropriation for Hospital Department, Improvement of Mortuary.

Referred to the Executive Committee.

City of Boston,
Office of the Mayor, November 13, 1911.

To the City Council:

In reply to your request contained in an order passed at the meeting of your honorable body held on October 30, 1911, "that his Honor the Mayor be requested to grant the Department of Massachusetts United Spanish War Veterans the use of a room in the new City Hall Annex when the same is completed," I beg to transmit a letter from the architect of the building, which states that it is entirely feasible to grant this request, and I have ordered that in arranging the plan of the building he provide accommodations for the society designated by you.

Yours respectfully,
JOHN F. FITZGERALD, Mayor.

Respectfully yours,
EDWARD T. P. GRAHAM.

INVITATION TO LAWSON PURDY.

The following was received:

City of Boston,
Office of the Mayor, November 13, 1911.

To the City Council:

In compliance with your request contained in a resolution passed at the meeting of October 30, 1911, that "his Honor the Mayor be requested to invite Mr. Lawson Purdy of New York to address the Council, the Finance Commission and the assessors as soon as may be conveniently arranged," I inclose a copy of my letter to Mr. Purdy and his reply thereto.

Respectfully,
JOHN F. FITZGERALD, Mayor.

City of Boston,
Office of the Mayor, November 7, 1911.

Mr. Lawson Purdy,
President Department of Taxes and Assessments, New York, N. Y.:

Dear Sir,—The City Council and the Finance Commission of Boston have given attention recently to the Somers System of Real Estate Valuations, which is said to be in operation in the city of New York. It has occurred to the members of the Council that a personal conference with the assessing officials of your city would be advantageous. I write, therefore, to invite you to meet these bodies at some date when it may be convenient for you to visit Boston.

Trusting that we may be honored by your presence as our guests, and assuring you that we shall do everything possible to make the visit agreeable, I remain,

Yours very truly,
JOHN F. FITZGERALD, Mayor.

Department of Taxes and Assessments of the City of New York,
November 10, 1911.

Hon. John F. Fitzgerald,
Mayor of Boston:

Dear Sir,—I have received your letter of the 7th, and regret that my duties here are so exacting at this season that I cannot well make a visit to Boston. If you could send someone to New York we should be pleased to show him our methods, books, etc. It is incorrect to say that the Somers system is employed here. The system long in use in this city has certain points in common with the system recommended by Mr. Somers.

Yours truly,
LAWSON PUROY.

REPORT OF FIRE HAZARD COMMISSION.

The following was received:

City of Boston,
Office of the Mayor, November 13, 1911.

To the City Council:

I transmit herewith the report of the so-called Fire Hazard Commission, consisting of representatives of the Boston Chamber of Commerce, the United Improvement Association and the Central Labor Union, together with Francis M. Carroll, Esq., who was appointed by me in place of the chairman of the Finance Commission, who had declined to serve. In my opinion this report is of great value, and should be printed as a city document for circulation among those who may wish to study its conclusions and recommendations.

Respectfully,
JOHN F. FITZGERALD, Mayor.

Hon. John F. Fitzgerald, Mayor:

Sir,—This commission was appointed by you to examine into the needs of the Fire Department and to study the general subject of the fire hazard in the City of Boston. We organized on August 31 and from that time until the date of this report have devoted a large amount of time to the work.

We have inspected in detail the various functions of the Fire Department, have familiarized ourselves with its workings, have visited a numher of the apparatus houses, and have examined into the two principal auxiliary hranches of the department, the fire-alarm office and the repair shop. We have carefully studied and analyzed the reports of other investigators, and have heen in communication with recognized experts hoth here and in other cities. We have been aided hy the various reports of the National Board of Fire Underwriters and the Boston Chamher of Commerce. We also held several puhlic hearings.

One of our memhers, Mr. Decrow, representing the commission, visited the exhibition of fire apparatus recently held in Milwaukee and examined into the workings of the fire departments in that city, Chicago and Detroit. The commission as a hody visited Springfield, Mass., where every opportunity was given to witness the operation of the automohile apparatus in service there.

In making our report we have endeavored to hold to existing conditions and to realize that any corrective measures which may he adopted hy law or ordinance to reduce and prevent the hazard from inflammahle construction cannot for many years have any marked effect on Boston as it stands to-day. Fires must necessarily he of frequent occurrence and the great prohlem of to-day is to keep them as small as possible. The Chamher of Commerce of Rochester, N. Y., in a recent hooklet on fire prevention and protection printed at the top and hottom of each page the words, "Every fire is the same size at the start." These words represent very nearly the whole truth. To this it may be added with equal truth that the size after ten minutes depends on the discovery of the fire, the expedition of the discoverer in giving the alarm, the construction and contents of the huilding, the expedition of the fire department in responding and in the efficiency of its men and apparatus.

The city and its citizens have control over every one of these elements.

We have the honor to respectfully submit the following recommendations:

To Decrease the Time Between the Discovery of a Fire and the Giving of an Alarm.

(a.) The institution of a campaign of education on the location of the nearest alarm box and the method of operating same.

(b.) The suhstantial increase in the number of alarm boxes and the relocation of many of those now in service.

To Increase the Certainty of Uninterrupted Operation of the Fire-Alarm Service.

(a.) The relocation of the fire-alarm operating office in a huilding of absolute fireproof construction, free from any present or reasonably possible future exposure hazard, and the installation of the most modern and approved operating machinery and devices.

(b.) Until this is done the maintenance of an auxiliary cahle station where, in the event of disaster to the present plant, temporary operating facilities could at once be connected in, and the extension of the present department telephone circuits to an exchange of the New England Telephone and Telegraph Company.

(c.) The replacement of present overhead bare wires with either overhead or underground cahles, as the case may require.

To Hasten the Response of Apparatus to the Scene of an Alarm of Fire.

(a.) The gradual replacement of the present horse-drawn apparatus with motor-propelled apparatus.

(b.) The relocation of certain of the apparatus houses.

To Increase the Numerical Efficiency of the Fire-Fighting Force.

(a.) The redistribution of the present fire-fighting force and a closer equalization of the force on duty, so that the variation between the numher on duty day and night will he reduced.

(b.) The employment of a reserve force so that the force on duty may be always kept up to a definite standard.

(c.) The aholition of the practice of detailing memhers of the fire-fighting force for repair work or work in auxiliary hranches, whereby their services are lost to the fire-fighting force.

To Reduce the Conflagration Hazard.

(a.) The enactment of laws which shall prohihit the construction of any third-class building within a certain area of the so-called metropolitan district.

(b.) The enactment of city ordinances which shall prohihit the construction of any third-class huilding within the city limits.

(c.) The enactment of a law prohihiting the construction of any but fireproof buildings within the congested husiness district of the city.

(d.) The passage of a law requiring all second or third class huildings now existing within the congested husiness district of the city to be equipped with sprinkler service, except that houses for habitation not used in any portion for any other purpose need not he so equipped, and that hotels and lodging houses need be so equipped only in the hasement, first story and public halls, dining rooms or assemhly rooms.

To Decrease the Possibility of Fires from Carelessness or Evasion of the Laws and Ordinances.

(a.) The immediate codification of all laws and ordinances relating to the prevention of and protection from fire and the protection of human life from fire and explosives with a view to the amendment of such laws that the enforcing power shall lie in one central body.

(b.) The enactment of laws imposing fees for licenses for carrying on certain trades likely to cause fires.

REASONS AND ARGUMENTS FOR RECOMMENDATIONS.

Public Cooperation and the Notification Service.

The principal auxiliary to an efficient fire department is the prompt notification of the existence of a fire. We helieve that as a rule our department is not given the henefit of prompt notification. This results from two causes:

First.—The ignorance of the average citizen of the location of the nearest alarm box, and means of operating it, and

Second.—An insufficient number of alarm hoxes and improper location of many of those now in service.

Better cooperation on the part of the public will do much to strengthen the work of the department. It is of little use to cut down the number of seconds required for a "hitch" after an alarm is given if minutes are to be wasted by the public before the department is notified.

In Appendix I. we outline some methods that may easily be adopted to correct this weakness in the notification service.

A suhstantial relocation of the alarm boxes of the city and a substantial increase in their number, especially in the southern suburhs, is an imperative need. When many of the boxes were put in service in their present locations, some nearly forty years ago, conditions as to numher and extent of buildings were entirely different from those of to-day. Many areas have since heen huilt up for which adequate alarm service has not been provided. Many of the existing hoxes are in inconspicuous places, set in from 10 to 25 feet from the junction of intersecting streets so as to be visihle from one street only. These boxes should be located on the corner if possihle, so as to be visihle from all directions. All hoxes should also he kept conspicuous by frequent coats of hright red paint, and wherever possihle should he lamp-post hoxes.

We believe that the expense of relocation and the addition of many new hoxes would he far more than offset by the results in quicker notification service.

There are to-day in the city about forty schoolhouses which are not supplied with a fire-alarm box connected with the fire-alarm circuits. These should he installed at once. The amount of money needed for this improvement is small in comparison with the resulting protection to the thousands of children in our schoolhouses.

We therefore recommend that a sufficient appropriation be made to enahle the Fire-Alarm Branch to install one hundred new street boxes, and to relocate properly many of the existing boxes, and that a sufficient appropriation be made to enable the Schoolhouse Department to equip all schoolhouses with an auxiliarized box and auxiliary equipment of the latest type, and also to remove such of the remaining inside boxes as may properly he so removed to the outside of the buildings.

The Fire-Alarm Operating Office.

The uninterrupted operation of this department is a very vital part of the fire organization. The building in which the central office apparatus is located and in which is centered all the department's electrical means of communication is the headquarters building on Bristol street. This building is of general fireproof construction, but is wrongly placed, is on a narrow street, has an excessive exposure hazard, and contains much unnecessary woodwork. Should this building be gutted by fire the city would be entirely without fire-alarm service, all the incoming box circuits, the outgoing tapper and gong circuits and the department telephone system centering there.

A still further danger lies in the fact that all the cables of the fire alarm and telephone circuits are brought into the building at one point. Within the past year a slight fire in or near the manhole dangerously threatened to disrupt all arteries of communication.

The general set-up and construction of the operating office is out of date and seriously at fault. Some of the operating apparatus is obsolete and should be removed. Some should be replaced by more modern machinery. The defects are being remedied to a certain extent, but we believe that the plant can never be brought up to the best modern practice without a removal to another building.

We are strongly of the opinion that as soon as it is possible to do so a one-story and basement structure of absolutely fireproof construction, for the exclusive use of the fire-alarm operating service, should be built on a location where freedom from future exposure hazard is assured. The Charles street side of the Common offers an ideal location. The requirements of the public safety should override any remonstrance to placing another building on the Common. The building need not be a large one and could be of an ornamental character.

Until this is done we believe that an auxiliary cable station should be placed in the basement of the new City Hall Annex, so that in the event of disaster to the headquarters building the cables could be picked up at this auxiliary station and attached to temporary operating apparatus.

Some arrangement should be made, while present conditions exist, whereby the department telephone circuits may be immediately cut in on to one of the New England Telephone and Telegraph Company's switch boards in case of accident to the operating plant. Such an arrangement, while crude, would, with the public telephone system as a substitute for alarm boxes, afford reasonable notification service during any period of disaster.

The department telephone system itself while fairly efficient is not up to modern standards. It would gain in efficiency if equipped and maintained by the local commercial company.

Much of the wiring of alarm circuits, especially in the southern suburbs, is old. In many cases bare wires are carried on poles with high tension circuits. This condition should be remedied as soon as possible in order that a repetition of the consequences of the Christmas storm of 1909 may not recur. At that time considerable portions of Roxbury, West Roxbury and Dorchester were without fire-alarm service for many days.

The Fire-Alarm Branch should be furnished with suitable automobiles. Many of the outlying box circuits carry a large number of boxes, covering a considerable area, so that any interruption of the circuit cuts off a large section from alarm service. It is important that the department have means for quickly reaching and locating the scene of circuit troubles. As it is to-day the efficiency of this branch is reduced through the enormous amount of time taken to reach the outlying circuits. Far more time is often spent on the road than is required to make the actual repairs.

Motor-Propelled Apparatus.

Motor-propelled apparatus has reached a stage in its development where it is an assured factor in a city fire department. This is especially true as regards hose wagons and chemical engines, where the proposition is not far different from the commercial trucking field, the chief difference being in the added speed and in the construction necessary to withstand this added speed. In order that the best results may follow we do not advise that any large proportion be changed at once, but rather that the installation be made gradually.

In Appendix II. we outline a plan with reasons for the gradual installation of motor-propelled apparatus, and we advise the immediate appropriation of the money necessary to purchase and install such apparatus.

Relocation of Apparatus Houses.

Boston, outside of the city proper, is made up of cities or towns which have been annexed and many of which before annexation had fire departments of their own. Some of the houses of these departments are in use to-day. Under conditions which were in existence then, these houses were properly located. Take for example the house of Engine 19 of Mattapan. When this house was built Mattapan was a detached village considerably removed from any other center of habitation. The engine company located there did not have nearly the territory to cover which it could have covered, but still it was necessary. To-day the territory between Grove Hall and Mattapan is largely built up and Engine 19's location is now far "off center" — its circle of activity is cut almost in half by its location close to the Neponset river, the boundary line between Boston and Milton. Moved to the north about three-quarters of a mile on Blue Hill avenue, it would still be in a position to quickly reach Mattapan square, and at the same time to reach quickly the rapidly building Wellington Hill district and the territory to the south of Franklin Field. Other similar instances of "off center" locations are Engine 16 and Ladder 6 on River street at Milton Lower Mills and Engine 37 and Ladder 25 at Longwood. This latter apparatus might very profitably be moved to the southeast near the junction of Huntington avenue and Tremont street. Before any extensive repairs or alterations are made on any of these houses we advise that the question of relocation be carefully considered.

Effect of High Pressure System and Motor-Propelled Apparatus on Number of Firemen.

The effect of the installation of the high-pressure water system in the down town section on the number of firemen required presents an interesting problem, but one which in our judgment can be answered correctly only after the test of experience. We believe that it is impracticable to consider this factor in determining the necessary number of firemen for to-day and indeed for several years to come, for the decrease in the necessary number, if a decrease is possible, will be so small that it can be taken care of more or less automatically by pensions and resignations as they occur.

On the other hand we are of the opinion that the installation of motor-propelled apparatus will in the long run have a considerable effect on the number of men required. One man released from the care of his horses and thus available for actual fire duty added to some of the companies on a meal period at the present time would make the difference between efficiency and inefficiency.

We are convinced that not only will motor-propelled apparatus eventually have a very considerable effect on the number of men required, but that it will further have a considerable effect on the number of pieces of apparatus required. While there cannot be any material decrease from the present amount of apparatus for several years to come, we believe that with the growth of the city only small periodic increases should hereafter be necessary.

Size of Fire-Fighting Force.

The city is carrying on its pay rolls to-day as a nominal fire-fighting force something over nine hundred men out of a total enrollment of about 1,018 in the Fire Department. A reduction in this nominal number is caused by detachments from various companies of men for duty in the auxiliary branches, the fire-alarm service and the repair shop. The result is that the repair shop is so efficiently manned that it not only fills its auxiliary duty of keeping the apparatus in shape but finds time to build new apparatus, and the fire-alarm office has on duty a number in excess of that required in other cities where the amount of work is about the same. Various other more or less temporary details for repair work further reduce the efficient strength of the fire-fighting force. We are of the opinion that with a very few exceptions these detailed men should he returned to duty with the fire-fighting force, and that as men are required for the efficient working of the fire alarm and repair shop they should he employed as such, without drawing from the fire-fighting force.

The Fire Department should be relieved of certain duties now imposed upon it which have no connection with the fire service. Among these are the winding and the care of thirty odd public clocks, the painting of hydrants and the flushing of streets. These duties decrease the efficiency of the force.

Each engine company should have one engineer and two assistants, each competent and licensed to take charge of the engine. This would not entail any expense upon the city, as assistant engineers receive the same salary as laddermen and hosemen, while it would greatly relieve the practice of detailing men from one company to another.

The problem of efficiently manning the apparatus necessary to protect the city may he solved hy properly distributing and equalizing the present force without any suhstantial increase. Indeed, it is conceivable that 100, or even 150, men could be added to the department without making their presence conspicuous and without adding greatly to its efficiency as at present organized.

An ideal department would have an equal and constant numher of men on duty during each hour of the twenty-four. Such a result can be ohtained only hy maintaining two equal shifts. While we hold to the present system the number of men on duty at night will always surpass the numher of men on duty at meal hours during the daytime. The prohlem is to keep the apparatus efficiently manned at the time of the greatest weakness without unduly enlarging the number of men, as at present organized many of the companies are undermanned at one period and overmanned at another.

The plan we suggest involves some possible sacrifice on the part of the memhers of the department. We helieve they will cheerfully give their cooperation and willingly assume the sacrifice where the result will show such a manifest advantage to the department itself in whose welfare the men justly take the deepest pride. Indeed, with the adoption of the plan outlined it will he possible to allow each man additional time to be spent with his family without detriment to the service.

The National Board of Fire Underwriters in its last report on Boston's department made recommendations as to what it helieved to he an efficient minimum to man the various pieces of apparatus. As an alternative for the maintenance of this minimum the Board recommended that the present chemical companies he enlarged in numhers and he equipped with automohile apparatus for service as auxiliary companies.

We believe that hoth recommendations may he profitably adopted and without increasing suhstantially the present force. At present eleven and one quarter hours of each day are given over to meals. The meal periods of one and one-fourth hours each are coupled in groups so that each group consumes three and three quarter hours. By spreading the groups into five hours each, or a total of fifteen hours per day, the minimum of men on service during the meal hours will be increased so that every company will be at all times efficiently manned. The change will require the men to begin their meal periods at 6 a. m. and continue them until 9 p. m., as against the present method of heginning at 6.45 a. m. and ending at 8.30 p. m. Any inconvenience that this early hreakfast hour may cause may he minimized by a rotation of meal periods so that one group of men will go on that period for one month and another group another month, with the result that no one group will have this early hour more than one month out of every four or five. The inconvenience of the last evening period may he very properly offset without loss of efficiency by a daily change and allowing the men to remain away from quarters from 7.45 until 10.30 or 11 p. m. This would give every man one evening at home between days off.

Furthermore, the saving to the city of the salaries of extra men to do the same work will go a long way toward providing an increase to the present salary rate which has remained unchanged for nearly twenty-five years. In fact it is not inconceivahle that even with a salary increase it would be cheaper for the city when the matter of pensions is taken into account.

Coupled with the change in meal hours is the proposed change in the distrihution and character of apparatus. The proper protection of the city requires the maintenance of a large numher of apparatus units, so distrihuted that a small numher of these units can reach any point within a short time and a larger number within a reasonably short time thereafter. It is also necessary that each of these units should be manned at all times hy a force sufficient for independent action. In view of the faet that it is seldom that any considerahle numher of the units are in operation at one and the same time it is only necessary that each unit have constantly on duty the force necessary for independent action at a large majority of fires. In order to provide against the extraordinary fires certain additional units may he created, each capable in itself of either independent action, or of cooperation with and augmentation of the efficient minimum manning the other apparatus. Each of these additional units will cover a territory considerahly greater than that covered hy any of the present apparatus.

Every engine and ladder company will then be at all times efficiently manned for independent action and from six to twelve men as a minimum will in addition he availahle at every first alarm fire for either independent or auxiliary duty.

This plan includes both recommendations of the National Board of Fire Underwriters and is with the proposed changes in apparatus worked out in detail in Appendix 3.

In view of the foregoing we do not advise any increase in the numher of the present fire-fighting force other than the filling of existing vacancies and the employment of such reserve force as may be found necessary to keep filled temporary vacancies caused hy injury, sickness or special leave.

Reserve Force.

It is desirable that a reserve force be maintained against disaster that may incapacitate a large numher of men or to fill vacancies at times of vacations or illness that may lower the numbers beyond the point of efficiency.

Such reserve force may be made up from the civil service list of eligihles in a manner analogous to the practice followed by the postmaster of Boston in providing for reserves during vacations and the holiday season. From such reserve men regular men should he appointed as vacancies occur. Gains to the department follow not only in having such a force to call upon in time of need, hut from the fact that regular men may thus be drawn from those who have already had some experience as firemen. The size of such a reserve force should he determined by the Fire Commissioner after the working out of a plan such as has been tested in the post office. See Appendix 4.

Changes in Types of Apparatus.

We are of the opinion that without loss of effectiveness the present ladder companies 8 and 14 located in Fort Hill square may he comhined into one company. Each covers practically the same territory. A motor-propelled 85-foot aerial truck, equipped with proper and sufficient ground ladders, similar to the motor-propelled aerial truck at Springfield, would fulfill all the requirements of the two companies and the location of a motor-propelled comhination chemical in the same quarters would add largely to the efficiency of the in-town department. Other changes in apparatus recommended appear in Appendix 2.

Conflagration Hazard.

We can add hut little to the excellent recommendations of the Boston Chamher of Commerce report on this matter except that it is our opinion that the construction of third-class buildings should he prohihited not only within this city but also within adjacent territory in the metropolitan district. We also helieve that the conflagration hazard in the present huilt-up suhurhan sections would he minimized hy the requirement that all roofs be of some noninflammable material.

Carelessness and Evasion of the Laws.

At the present time the enforcement of laws and ordinances relating to the protection of life and property from fire and explosives is scattered through many departments of the state and city. Permits for the transportation, sale, use or storage of one kind of explosives are issued from one office, for another kind from another office, while licenses to operate under the permits come from still other offices.

In the last analysis the Fire Department is better qualified to pass on these matters and the most interested in the enforcement of laws and ordinances relating to them. We are of the opinion that all such laws and ordinances should he codified and amended to the end that the Fire Department have entire control over the permits and licenses and the making of reasonahle regulations for the transportation, sale, use or storage of explosives or highly inflammable suhstances and initiatory power in the enforcement of laws, ordinances and regulations.

Reasonahle fees may be charged for such licenses or permits and similar licenses or permits should he required for the use or operation of certain other trades likely to cause fire.

These fees and the moneys accruing from fines from violations of ordinances relating to them might well go to a pension fund for the Fire Department. New York has some such system.

The entire work of revising, redrafting, codification, fees, etc., is so great as to warrant a special commission which should draft suitahle laws.

In conclusion we wish to express our appreciation of the valuable assistance rendered the commission by the secretary, Mr. Harry A. Gilman.

Respectfully suhmitted,

November 9, 1911.

The question of the extension of the fire limits to include the whole city is now a subject of earnest, serious discussion on the part of trade unions, various commercial and other organizations, and is also being debated hefore the City Council. It involves a complete revolution of the whole building question with as sincere and earnest men in opposition to the drastic measure proposed as are found advocating the change. I cannot approve at this time the remedy proposed with the uncertainty as to the actual increased cost, which must of necessity all come upon the rent payer, without a thorough and exhaustive discussion of every phase of the matter. Until this period of hysteria has passed and the atmosphere is somewhat clearer upon this suhject, I cannot subscribe to any recommendation except one which would cover the question of noninflammable roofs.

With this single exception I am in hearty accord with the recommendations of the commission.

PLAYGROUND WARD 7.

The following was received:

City of Boston,
Office of the Mayor, November 7, 1911.

To the City Council:

At your meeting of June 26, 1911, I recommended the passage of an order transferring the unexpended halance of an appropriation for a playground in Wards 7 and 9, amounting to over $16,000, to the appropriation for a playground in Ward 7. This order, I am informed, was referred to the Finance Committee and from that committee to the Executive Committee, which now has it under consideration. The accompanying communication from the chairman of the Board of Park Commissioners requests early action on the transfer, and I respectfully urge your honorahle hody to take up the matter as soon as may be convenient and consolidate this remnant of an appropriation, which is of little value standing by itself, with the appropriation for the Ward 7 Playground, which needs this addition in order to provide a suitable site.

Yours very truly,
JOHN F. FITZGERALD, Mayor.

City of Boston,
Board of Commissioners of the
Department of Parks,
November 4, 1911.

Hon. John F. Fitzgerald,
Mayor of Boston:

Dear Sir,— You will remember that we have asked lately that an unexpended balance of about $16,000 originally appropriated to he spent in Wards 7 and 9 be so transferred that we may expend it on the purchase of playground in Ward 7. This was reviewed at a meeting that our Board had with you and the Council, and it did not seem as if anyhody ohjected, hut the transfer has not been made and our purchases have been held up in consequence. Will you kindly give it your attention and get the transfer made if it can be properly done?

Yours truly,
ROBERT S. PEABODY, Chairman.

HIRING OF GOODWIN ESTATE—VETO.

The following was received:

City of Boston,
Office of the Mayor, November 1, 1911.

To the City Council:

I return herewith, without my approval, the order passed by your honorable body at its meeting of October 16, authorizing the Superintendent of Public Grounds to hire for playground purposes during the current year the Goodwin estate on Carolina avenue, Jamaica Plain, and to pay therefor the sum of one dollar ($1) and the taxes for the present year, charging this amount to his own appropriation. The Superintendent of Public Grounds, in a communication attached hereto, gives the reasons which seem to me satisfactory for disapproving this order.

Respectfully,
JOHN F. FITZGERALD, Mayor.

—

City of Boston,
Puhlic Grounds Department,
October 18, 1911.

Hon. John F. Fitzgerald,
Mayor of Boston:

Dear Sir,—In regard to the inclosed order of the City Council, dated October 16, 1911:

"That the Superintendent of Public Grounds be authorized to hire for playground purposes during the current year the Goodwin estate on Carolina avenue, Jamaica Plain, and to pay therefor the sum of $1 and the taxes assessed on said estate for the present year, the amount so paid to he charged to the appropriation for Public Grounds Department."

I would say that while it has been the custom to pass orders of this description for many years, I think a correction should he made, as rented playgrounds should be placed under the supervision of the Department of Parks which has charge, practically, of all the city playgrounds and the proper facilities for conducting them.

Very truly yours,
D. H. SULLIVAN, Superintendent.

REPORT ON RANDIDGE FUND EXCURSIONS.

The following was received:

City of Boston,
Office of the Mayor, November 7, 1911.

To the City Council:

I transmit herewith a communication from the Penal Institutions Commissioner, inclosing a report from the official in charge of the Randidge Fund excursions during the season of 1911.

Respectfully,
JOHN F. FITZGERALD, Mayor.

City of Boston,
Penal Institutions Department,
October 1, 1911.

To His Honor the Mayor:

I transmit herewith the report of Mr. William A. Boudrot, official in charge of the Randidge Trust Fund Excursions during the season of 1911.

Respectfully yours,
FRED S. GORE, Commissioner.

City of Boston,
Penal Institutions Department,
October 1, 1911.

Hon. Fred S. Gore,
Penal Institutions Commissioner:

Sir,—I respectfully submit my report of the management of the Randidge excursions for the season of 1911.

In the early part of June last I was appointed official in charge by his Honor the Mayor, through you, and immediately started to arrange matters, in consequence of which the excursions began on Thursday, July 6.

Prior to 1909 the Penal Commissioner had charge of the Randidge excursions. In 1909 the late Mayor Hibbard was requested to place the School Committee in charge of the excursions, and after a meeting of several people interested in matters of this kind the change was made.

The director of vacation schools, who was selected to arrange for and take charge of the excursions, was obliged to abandon the Long Island picnic grounds because it was deemed inadvisable to use the Penal Institutions Department steamboat for transportation. Consequently arrangements were made whereby the use of Short Beach, Nahant, was secured and special rates for transportation on the Nahant steamboats. Seventy-two hundred eighty-six (7,286) children were provided for and $2,229.67 expended, a per capita cost of $0.306 for each child. Of the above amount $982 was paid for transportation.

In 1910 his Honor the Mayor appointed a committee of thirteen to take charge of the excursions and on June 18, 1910, they organized as the Boston Children's Outing Committee.

Because of the cost of transportation to Short Beach, Nahant, and its unsuitability as a picnic ground that place was not considered by the committee. The old picnic grounds at Long Island were unavailable for picnic purposes and finally the committee, through his Honor the Mayor, secured the use of Bumpkin Island, where the Burrage Hospital for Crippled Children is located. This establishment, which had not been in use for three years, was generously given by Mr. A. C. Burrage. The island is located in Hull Harbor, between Pemberton and Nantasket Point, the distance from Boston being about ten miles. It covers forty-eight acres of ground, the size of Boston Common, and while there are no trees on the island yet the lower part of the hospital building afforded ample protection from sun and rain.

Through your cooperation with the committee they secured the use of the steamboat "Monitor" to bring the children to and from Bumpkin Island, the preparation of food for luncheons, the erection of swings and tilting boards and labor necessary to make the island suitable for picnic use.

Thirteen thousand three hundred fifty-nine (13,359) children were cared for during the season, an average of two hundred eighty-four (284) each day. One thousand nine hundred sixty-five and $\frac{43}{100}$ (1,965.43) dollars was expended, a per capita cost of $0.147 for each child.

This year Bumpkin Island was secured again, through his Honor the Mayor. We had the use of the entire lower part of the hospital building where every facility for serving lunches, recreation rooms and sanitary accommodations were at hand. Additional water service was extended to the outside of the building so that the children could have drinking water on the playgrounds, thus keeping them from continually running in and out of the building, which had been repainted and put in perfect order. The swing posts and tilts were all painted and furnished with new hooks and bolts in order to make them safe and secure, and they were constantly in use. A ball field with regulation diamond was laid out and constructed and steps were built leading down to the bathing beach. A space for quoit games was also laid out and a double set of games provided for. These additional features were greatly enjoyed by the children.

Miss Bertha Carvel, formerly head nurse at the Burrage Hospital, was engaged to look after the needs of the children and during the season 115 cases were cared for, but I am pleased to state that no serious accident occurred.

DAILY PROGRAM.

The steamboat "Monitor" sailed daily except Sunday, at 9 a. m. and arrived at Bumpkin Island at 10.45 a. m.

Bathing from 11 a. m. until noon.

Luncheon at 12.30 p. m.

Baseball, quoits, running races and various kinds of games conducted by attendants from the time of arrival until departure from the island.

Boat left at 3.40 p. m. and arrived in Boston at 5 p. m. Sometimes the department business delayed us on our return, but usually we made schedule time.

One feature of the daily trips, appreciated very much, was the sail up and down the harbor, which consumed about three hours of the outing.

For luncheon each child was given a bag containing six cookies (assorted), two bananas, one pint of peanuts, cake of ice cream and a mug of lemonade. During the afternoon lemonade was served to the children who wanted it. Formerly ice cream was served at 2 p. m., but we found that it was better for the children to have all their refreshments at one serving, thus saving time and labor and giving the children the entire afternoon for recreation.

Forty-nine (49) outings were scheduled and four were abandoned because of rain and fog. The total number of children carried upon the excursions this year was 14,454, an average of 321 each day. One thousand seven hundred eighty-one and $\frac{35}{100}$ (1,781.35) dollars was expended, a per capita cost of $0.123 for each child.

All applications for an excursion were taken care of, although in many cases it was impossible to grant the number of tickets requested as arrangements had been made to care for only 300 children each day. From careful observation it seems to me that this situation could be easily overcome by making a change in the refreshments. I noticed that many of the children, fully 90 per cent, carried lunches, so that our serving of luncheons was unnecessary and in some instances a waste of food. By eliminating this feature of the outings twice the number of children, approximately 30,000, could be given a days' outing without any increase of cost. Ice cream and lemonade could be supplied for all and with the other features obtainable, I believe that a much larger number of the children of Boston would be benefited and enjoy a satisfactory day's pleasure.

I desire to express my thanks to all who helped to make these excursions successful. I am deeply grateful to Mr. James H. Cronin, Master of the House of Correction and his assistants for the invaluable aid rendered by his department; to Capt. Fred D. Cook and assistants of the steamboat "Monitor" for their kindness and patience; to the Bath Trustees who furnished a life guard and bathing suits; to the Police Commissioner who furnished an officer and to the Superintendent of Printing for work done in our behalf.

Yours respectfully,

WILLIAM A. BOUDROT,

Official in Charge of Randidge Excursions.

REPAIR OF MONUMENT, THOMAS PARK.

The following was received:

City of Boston,
Office of the Mayor, November 1, 1911.

To the City Council:

The report of the Superintendent of Public Grounds for 1910 contains a paragraph relating to the condition of the monument on Dorchester Heights. The superintendent states that "the monument needs a general repointing and repairing as there are many visible and long, open spaces in the mortar joints between the marble blocks." The accompanying letter from Mr. John J. Toomey, editor of the South Boston Gazette, reiterates the need of repairs on this monument, and the Superintendent of Public Grounds included in a letter of March 7, transmitted to your honorable body and read at its meeting of August 22, an estimate of three thousand dollars ($3,000) for these repairs. I recommend, therefore, the passage of the accompanying order, appropriating three thousand dollars ($3,000) from the Reserve Fund for repairing the monument on Thomas Park.

Respectfully,
JOHN F. FITZGERALD, Mayor.

The South Boston Gazette.
South Boston, October 30, 1911.

Hon. John F. Fitzgerald,
Mayor of Boston:

Dear Sir,—Some time in the latter part of September I received from your office a letter in answer to my appeal that some attention be given immediately to the Dorchester Heights Monument on Thomas Park. It was stated that you had conferred with the Superintendent of Public Grounds and in your letter I was requested to confer with Mr. Sullivan.

Superintendent Sullivan very promptly acknowledged my letter of October 6 and my detailed statement to him containing the very important needed repairs to the monument. I personally secured the services of an expert mason to look over the monument, and the report was that a great deal of repointing is necessary, which must be done well; that is, to completely fill in the crevices between the blocks of marble, and not only on the outer part; also, that there is needed a cement floor at the upper part of the monument to prevent the damage caused by the rain pouring in and down through the monument.

My attention was called by Superintendent Sullivan to his efforts to have the city government appropriate $3,000 for necessary repairs on the monument and that the whole solution of the problem depends upon the securing of a special appropriation of $3,000 to remedy all the trouble.

For the good name and honor of the City of Boston and in keeping with the written promise made to the Commonwealth of Massachusetts in 1899, "that the City of Boston will care for and maintain in good order, for all time, monument and surrounding grounds," I trust that you will give this your personal attention to the end that the monument may be put in proper condition and not to continue the butt of criticism and remarks of visitors from all sections of the country who visit Thomas Park. Personally I do not know where $3,000 could be expended, but I do know that if the work is done now, before the cold and wintry weather sets in, the expense will be many hundreds of dollars less than it will require if there is further delay and neglect until next spring.

There is imperative need of much repointing and the laying of a cement floor. That should be done now. It would much improve the interior appearance of the monument if the iron stairway and walls of the shaft were freed from the rust and dirt that has accumulated. If there is no immediate provision for this, it might wait until spring.

Respectfully yours,
JOHN J. TOOMEY.

Ordered, That under the provisions of chapter 261 of the Acts of 1893, the City Auditor be and hereby is authorized to transfer the sum of three thousand dollars ($3,000) from the Reserve Fund to an appropriation to be expended under the direction of the Superintendent of Public Grounds for Thomas Park, Repairing of Monument.

TRANSFER FOR CIVIL COURT.

The following was received:

City of Boston,
Office of the Mayor, November 13, 1911.

To the City Council:

I transmit herewith a communication from the clerk of the Superior Civil Court, requesting that the sum of three thousand dollars ($3,000) be transferred to his department for clerical services. This request requires action by the City Council and I await an order passed by your honorable body in the usual manner.

Respectfully,
JOHN F. FITZGERALD, Mayor.

Office of the Mayor, November 11, 1911.

To the City Council:

In my message to your honorable body, dated October 16, 1911, on the subject of improvements in the smaller parks, I recommended an appropriation of twenty thousand dollars ($20,000) from the income of the Parkman Fund, for convenience stations, bubble fountains and other improvements in the public parks and squares. On further consideration it seems to me that this amount should be increased by five thousand dollars ($5,000), and I beg to withdraw the earlier orders relating to this subject and substitute the accompanying order, which I recommend for passage.

Respectfully,
JOHN F. FITZGERALD, Mayor.

Ordered, That the sum of twenty-five thousand dollars ($25,000) be and hereby is appropriated from the income of the Parkman Fund for the present year, to be expended under the direction of the Superintendent of Public Grounds for convenience stations, bubble fountains and other improvements in the public parks and squares.

Coun. KENNY—Mr. President, in connection with that order from the Mayor I would like to state that the sum was increased by the Mayor from $20,000 to $25,000, in order to meet the recommendation of the Superintendent of Public Grounds in the matter of providing convenience stations in various parks that come under the Parkman Fund distribution, and I hold here in my hand a communication from the Superintendent of the Public Grounds Department, outlining just how this money is to be apportioned. I would like to have that order placed on its passage at this time, and to file this communication from the Superintendent of Public Grounds and have it put in the record.

President COLLINS—Does the Chair understand that the member moves a suspension of the rule?

Coun. KENNY—Yes ——

The rule was suspended and the question came on the passage of the order.

Coun. KENNY—And I would ask to have the communication from the Superintendent of Public Grounds printed in the record with the order.

Coun. SMITH—Mr. President, I ask as a matter of information whether these parks all come under the terms of the Parkman will?

Coun. KENNY—I so understand, Mr. President.

President COLLINS—The Chair understands that the Committee on Parkman Fund recommends that in a report, does it not?

Coun. KENNY—The committee recommended the passage of an order for $20,000 with the understanding that the Mayor should be requested to increase it to $25,000. He having done so the committee, of course, would now be in favor of the $25,000.

Coun. SMITH—Mr. President, I should like to amend the order in a way that I think will not affect it at all—that is, to have it apply to those parks on the list that come under the Parkman Fund. I understand from what Coun. Kenny says that it will not affect the order in any way.

Coun. KENNY—Mr. President, I have submitted to the Council a communication from the Public Grounds Department in which they send out their desires in the matter of this apportionment, covering specific places in various parks coming under the Parkman Fund. That was after conference with and at the request of the Committee on Parkman Fund.

Coun. SMITH—Mr. President, I would like to have the list of parks read.

The Clerk read the communication from the Superintendent of Public Grounds, as follows:

Coun. SMITH—Mr. President, I, of course, have not checked this list off at all. I presume these all come under the Parkman will, but I should be doubtful about some of them without looking the matter up. Therefore, I trust that the amendment I suggest will be incorporated in the order—that is, that the money be expended for convenience stations in parks that come under the terms of the Parkman will. The only reason why I urge this is that it is obvious that we ought not to expend Parkman money for parks that do not come under the terms of his will. I am heartily in favor of all these improvements and would vote for them, where necessary, to be made by transfer from the Reserve Fund. But it seems to me that we ought not to vote for them out of Parkman money except in places that come properly under the terms of the Parkman will.

President COLLINS—The Chair will state that the city could not and would not expend money received under the Parkman will for any other purpose and that the City Auditor would not honor the drafts. It seems to me that the amendment offered by the councilor is in the nature of surplusage, but I shall put it if the councilor urges it.

Coun. SMITH—I should urge it, Mr. President.

President COLLINS—You move as an amendment that the money be only expended on parks which were in existence at the time of the execution of Mr. Parkman's will. Is that the motion?

Coun. SMITH—It is.

Coun. KENNY—All this, Mr. President, merely involves the work of the committee. The committee very carefully took this matter up and consulted with the Superintendent of Public Grounds, and the list here represents his best judgment in the matter. He was asked to indicate or outline the places in Boston, coming under the terms of the Parkman will, that especially required attention, and he has done so. He has pointed out the places where the money, according to his best judgment, is most needed. It seems to me that it is not now quite the proper thing, in view of that fact, when the matter comes from the committee by unanimous vote, to involve it further by an amendment of this kind. Of course this money comes out of the Parkman Fund, and of course it is to be expended only in qualifying parks. Otherwise the order would have no effect.

Coun. Smith's amendment was declared rejected by a rising vote, 3 to 3, and the question came on the passage of the order as submitted.

Coun. BUCKLEY—Mr. President, I should like to ask if these appropriations, or whatever they are, contemplate convenience stations overground rather than underground?

Coun. KENNY—Mr. President, these stations would ordinarily not be underground, because an underground station costs about $14,000. We have in the Parkman Fund to-day about $35,000, and the committee thought, a great deal of the money having been spent on the Common and for the aquarium and zoo, that some money should now go to the smaller parks that have not heretofore shared in the distribution. They submitted to the Superintendent of Public Grounds a request that he indicate where $25,000 could be spent advantageously, and this all followed the communication from that department last spring, which is on file, recommending improvements in various of these parks at a cost of about $82,000. We did not have that much money, and the Mayor himself recommended that a portion of the Parkman Fund might very well be expended in this way. We thought the Superintendent of Public Grounds should outline just where the money should be spent, and that has been done. What is proposed will do very well for the time being in the places recommended, but the order does not cover sufficient money for underground stations.

Coun. BUCKLEY—Mr. President, I am not opposed to this, in fact I am in favor of it. The only objection I might raise is this: Take Winthrop square, Charlestown; that is in a very nice residential section and a number of young children go there to play. Unless there were proper supervision, somebody to take care of such a place all the time, you don't know just what might happen. With people going in and out of convenience stations, with their clothing not properly arranged, it might not be a proper thing to have children around. So far as the people of Charlestown are concerned they would be all right, but you know a lot of people from other sections go back and forth through there.

Coun. KENNY—Mr. President, I had the assurance of the superintendent that the matter of location and all such matters would be properly and carefully considered.

Coun. SMITH—Mr. President, some time ago the Parkman Fund Committee suggested the extension of a pipe to Castle Island costing $3,000. I objected on the ground that Castle Island did not come under the Parkman will. The Corporation Counsel was asked by this body to give his opinion and he upheld that stand. That is, the Corporation Counsel said that we had no right to spend that $3,000 for that purpose. I do not feel positive from what Coun. Kenny has said that we are free to spend the Parkman money in all the places he has designated, for instance, in City square, or a number of these small squares which are not parks in the strict sense of the word. I don't know. I am just asking for information whether all these places do actually come under the Parkman will. He has given his best information that they do. I am wondering just who gave him the information and whether it has been actually checked up or not, or whether it might be a case like the Castle Island case, where the Parkman Fund Committee made a slight mistake.

Coun. KENNY—Mr. President, under the law these appropriations must now originate with the Mayor. The Castle Island item was one of a number that came from the Mayor by way of recommendation. If Castle Island turned out subsequently to be not one of the qualifying parks, the money could not be spent on that park. I cannot see why the member from Ward 11 should stand up here and make the statement he has unless he has a foundation for it. If he has any such foundation, I am perfectly willing that the matter should lie on the table or be assigned, being taken up later. But he certainly has no right to make such a statement as he has unless he has some information that will warrant it. The superintendent says that these are all qualifying parks. What more does he want? I have stated that in good, clear English.

The order was passed, yeas 7, nays 0.

COURTHOUSE, ETC., CHARLESTOWN.

Office of Public Buildings Department,
November 8, 1911.

The Honorable the City Council:

Gentlemen,—In response to the request of the City Council of October 30, 1911, for a report in relation to an order that eighty thousand dollars ($80,000) be appropriated and expended for new combination courthouse and police station in Charlestown, I wish to advise you that, acting on instruction of his Honor Mayor Fitzgerald, on April 13, 1911, I made a thorough examination of the present old City Hall building which is used as a district court, police station and branch library, with Mr. James E. McLaughlin, the architect, to determine whether or not it would be advisable to reconstruct the same for suitable quarters for a combination courthouse and police station.

We both are of the opinion that it would not be practicable to reconstruct the present old building on account of the cost of same, and that it would be much more desirable to erect a new three-story building and basement of first-class construction on the present site; the basement to contain boiler room, coal pockets and storage hall; the first floor to be used for quarters for police station, cell room, etc.; the second floor to be taken up with main court room, juvenile court, offices for the judge and various court officers; the third floor to be devoted to dormitories and locker rooms.

Mr. McLaughlin made a few floor plans which would be suitable for a new building on the present site and I send you herewith blueprints of the same.

This building would cover an area of about 7,000 square feet of land and would cost in the vicinity of $127,000.

Yours respectfully,
M. J. Fish,
Superintendent of Public Buildings.

Referred to Committee on Finance.

MUNICIPAL BUILDING, WARD 7.

The Council granted Coun. Attridge unanimous consent to submit the following letters:

Boston, November 5, 1911.

John J. Attridge,
Boston City Council:

Dear Sir,—As the matter of a municipal building for Ward 7 is still before the City Council for decision, I deem it proper to offer a word in the interest of this important proposition.

My position as pastor of a church in this ward is sufficient reason for my personal interest in a matter so closely related as I believe to the moral welfare of the community.

In regard to Ward 7, its position and character both emphasize the need of an institution such as a municipal building would provide. If such buildings are to be established—as we all admit they should be—where ought they to be placed if not in the heart of the city, where we find concentrated all that makes the city what it is—its crowds, theaters, hotels, saloons and resorts, all representing in various ways its business, its attractions and its amusements, but also unfortunately its vices.

When I think of what the young people are exposed to every day and night upon our streets, I tremble for those whose houses bring them in almost hourly contact with so much that is calculated to demoralize and lead astray in a district like this, which is the common place of meeting for the idle and the vicious from all sections of the city. Anything in the line of wholesome amusement or occupation that will keep our young people off the streets should be encouraged and helped by all who have the welfare and best interests of the city at heart. Moreover, the city that elevates its citizens, protects and strengthens itself.

The cosmopolitan character of the inhabitants of Ward 7 is another reason for establishing here such an institution as a municipal building.

These various nationalities may be molded into a common American citizenship by the influence of a municipal building, and there is no better means for reaching those who are beyond the school age and those who are advanced in life.

Ward 7 and its immediate neighborhood is perhaps the most cosmopolitan district in the city.

I do not wish to trespass upon your time or patience by rehearsing various other reasons that might be given in support of the claims of Ward 7 for special consideration in this matter, but as my profession leads me naturally to the moral aspect of the question, I will content myself with calling that specially to your attention.

I beg to subscribe myself,

Very respectfully yours,
William P. McQuaid,
Pastor St. James Church.

Boston, November 10, 1911.

Hon. John J. Attridge,
118 Malden Street, Boston:

Dear Sir,— We respectfully request your consideration of the following extracts from the minutes of the last meeting of the South Cove Civic Committee, held to consider the matter of a municipal building for Ward 7, which matter is before your Executive Council.

The population of Ward 7 was 11,112 according to the State census of 1905. The population of Ward 7, as determined by the thirteenth census of the United States, 1910, is 14,913, showing an increase of 3,801 in population, an increase of about 35 per cent.

In considering the amount asked for it should be noted that in Ward 7 the city is paying at the present time $720 per year for the use of room on Broadway extension for library purposes, and is also paying $500 per year for the use of the Tyler Street Gymnasium, making a total of $1,220, which amounts to 4 per cent on $30,500.

Both of these institutions would be accommodated in the proposed municipal building.

The school population for the district which would benefit by such a building is as follows:

The population of the Quincy Grammar School (day), 631; Quincy Grammar School (evening), 450; Tyler Primary School, 246; Way Street Primary School, 119; Pierpont, primary and grammar grades, 151; Parochial School, Harvard street, 225; Andrews School, 526; (primary and kindergarten), Winthrop-Brimmer (Abraham Lincoln School), 1,761; Skinner Primary, 280; Warrenton Street Kindergarten, 50.

Statement by Mgr. William P. McQuaid:

"In regard to the future of this district, about which some people have doubts, I believe that we can be guided in this by what has happened in such cities as New York, Philadelphia and Chicago. They have grown more rapidly than Boston and have arrived at a state now in which they have had the experience that we expect to have in years to come.

"The business has surrounded and passed beyond them and still left a large population. Thirty years ago I know that it was freely prophesied with regard to certain churches in the business districts of New York and Philadelphia that they would be entirely wiped out by the inroads of business. To-day those churches are tended by about the same number of clergymen that there were twenty-five years ago.

"With regard to this district, too, twenty-five years ago I was told that this district would probably be wiped out and have no use for St. James Church, but we still have four clergymen attending to the duties of the parish and they have all they can do. Personally, I do not anticipate any sudden change and probably not for forty years to come is there any chance of this district being wiped out by business."

Statement by State Councilor John Quinn, Jr.:

"The tendency in the center of Boston is now to do away with single houses in the South Cove district, as has practically been accomplished in the North and West Ends. In those sections practically all the single houses have been reconstructed into large tenement houses, three and four and sometimes five stories high, and while that has not yet started with any degree of force at the present time, it must naturally come in the future because this ward is as near to the City Hall, to the great center of business, and the State House, as the North and West Ends are and the land is very much cheaper down here and there will be a demand for investors to purchase the small estates here and put up large dwelling houses. We are more likely to have large dwelling houses than business establishments, for the encroachments of business establishments have been very slow below Essex street during the last thirty years, and from my own personal knowledge, the people who owned houses on Hudson and Tyler streets twenty-five years ago expected at that time that business would encroach, but the property, as a matter of fact, still stands as dwelling houses, and instead of single families occupying them, now three or four families are living in the same building.

"Even though money is expended now, and after twenty-five or thirty years business does encroach, the value of the city property under those circumstances will be very much increased and would be a good investment, as have all other buildings of similar character that have been sold by the city in the past."

Statement by Mr. Frederick W. Swan, Master of the Quincy School:

1. "I desire to call the attention of the City Council to several things; first to the report of the Special Committee on Branch Libraries on May 1, 1911, City Document No. 73, page No. 4.

"Cove District, so called.

"This section of the city is served by the Broadway Extension Reading Room, which is poorly located and has very bad accommodations. The room now used will not accommodate more than sixty persons and is poorly ventilated and is subject to the noise made by the Boston Elevated Railway trains, which pass overhead nearby. The one small room serves both young and old and is very much used and frequented. This place should be abandoned as soon as possible.

"The trustees and the committee believe that a branch building is not necessary for library purposes in this district and agrees that one large, well lighted, suitable room would be sufficient for the needs of this locality, and the trustees, we understand, would not object if a large room were provided in the proposed municipal building for Ward 7."

2. "In a district so congested, and so much in need of means for presenting American ideals to an emigrant population, there are no halls where the people can congregate. There is no wardroom in the district, the former wardroom, or the room used for ward purposes, was taken two years ago to accommodate the increased school population."

3. "The School Department is planning for no diminution in the near future, which is evident from the fact that a four-room building and the Abraham Lincoln School have been erected recently, and that over $80,000 have been expended on enlarging and improving school property in the South Cove within the last three years."

4. "In the same vicinity $25,000 was recently appropriated by the City Council for a playground for the use of the children, thus showing that there is need for it in Ward 7."

Whereas we concede that it may not be advisable for the City of Boston to borrow money for such a building, we earnestly request immediate action in order that the amount desired may be drawn from the funds available at this time, which we understand amount to $500,000.

MINORS' LICENSES.

President COLLINS submitted reports on petitions recommending that minors' licenses be granted to twenty-six newsboys, one bootblack and one vendor.

Reports accepted; licenses granted on the usual conditions.

ANNOUNCEMENT OF COMMITTEE.

President COLLINS announced that Coun. Collins and Ballantyne had been appointed by him on November 10 to be members of the committee to perambulate the boundaries.

WIDENING OF NORFOLK STREET.

President COLLINS called up No. 1, unfinished business, viz.:

1. Ordered, That the sum of one hundred and fifty thousand dollars ($150,000) be and hereby is appropriated, to be expended under the direction of the Board of Street Commissioners for widening of Norfolk street, and that to meet said appropriation the City Treasurer be authorized to issue bonds or certificates of indebtedness of the City of Boston to said amount.

On October 30 the foregoing order was read once and passed, yeas 9.

The question came on the second and final reading and passage of the order.

Coun. SMITH—Mr. President, as I have stated time and time again I am heartily in favor of this matter, but there has been a difference of opinion in the Council as to whether the money for these improvements should come from appropriations or from loans. This is especially true of permanent improvements. It will be noted that this money is to be borrowed, not appropriated, and I sincerely hope that any member of this Council who believes that money should be appropriated for this purpose and not borrowed will vote accordingly to-day. I think the principle involved is one of the big underlying principles which have affected our actions here this year. I have consistently voted in favor of loans and against appropriations when I thought the improvement was a permanent improvement, and I trust that other members who have assailed me in that position with a good deal of scathing criticism will have the strength of their conviction upon this matter. They say that they have been voting as a matter of principle all along, and I hope they will do so to-day, and, if they believe this should not come from loan, that they will vote against it. As for myself, I am very glad indeed to vote in the affirmative on this matter.

The order took its second reading and final passage, yeas 9, nays 0.

BRANCH LIBRARY, CHARLESTOWN.

President COLLINS called up No. 2, unfinished business, viz.:

2. Ordered, That the City Auditor be and hereby is authorized to transfer the appropriation for Branch Library, Charlestown, Estate, and Branch Library, Charlestown, Alterations and Completion, to an appropriation for Branch Library, Charlestown.

On October 30 the foregoing order was read once and passed, yeas 8, nays 0.

Coun. BUCKLEY—Mr. President, I understand the order as it reads at the present time does not put it in the province of the Library Trustees to expend this money. That is what Colonel Benton has said. If that is so, I would like to have action on this matter postponed, in order that that oversight may be corrected.

President COLLINS—If there is no objection, the matter will lie on the table.

President COLLINS also called up unfinished business, No. 3, viz.:

3. Ordered, That under the provisions of chapter 261 of the Acts of 1893 the City Auditor be and hereby is authorized to transfer the sum of thirty thousand dollars ($30,000) from the appropriation for Reserve Fund to an appropriation for Branch Library, Charlestown.

On October 30 the foregoing order was read once and passed, yeas 9.

On motion of Coun. McDONALD, No. 3 was also laid on the table.

Later in the session the following message was received from the Mayor:

City of Boston,
Office of the Mayor, November 13, 1911.

To the City Council:

For the sake of clearness I recommend that the orders recommended hy me at your meetings of May 22 and June 26, relating respectively to the consolidation of two appropriations for a Branch Lihrary, Charlestown, Estate, and Branch Library, Charlestown, Alterations and Completion, and the addition of thirty thousand dollars ($30,000) to the original amount, be passed in the amended draft submitted herewith, which specifically states that the appropriations are to be expended by the Library Trustees.

Respectfully,
JOHN F. FITZGERALD, Mayor.

Ordered, That the City Auditor be, and hereby is, authorized to transfer the appropriations for Branch Lihrary, Charlestown, Estate, and Branch Library, Charlestown, Alterations and Completion, to an appropriation to be expended under the direction of the Library Trustees for Branch Lihrary, Charlestown.

Ordered, That under the provisions of chapter 261 of the Acts of 1893 the City Auditor he and hereby is authorized to transfer the sum of thirty thousand dollars ($30,000) from the appropriation for Reserve Fund to an appropriation to be expended under the direction of the Library Trustees for Branch Library, Charlestown.

The question came on the passage of the orders.

President COLLINS—The Chair would state that, in his opinion, in order to be absolutely on the secure side, it is wise that the orders shall take two readings. The Clerk will call the roll to ascertain whether or not the Council is in favor of passing the orders.

The orders were given their first reading and passage, yeas 9, nays 0, and will take their final reading and passage not less than two weeks from to-day.

President COLLINS called up Nos. 2 and 3, above, which had been laid on the table, and on motion of Coun. BUCKLEY the two orders, which had been laid on the table pending the receipt from the Mayor of the message submitting new orders, were indefinitely postponed.

PLAYGROUND, WARD 19.

President COLLINS called up No. 4, special assignment, viz.:

4. Ordered, That under the provisions of chapter 261 of the Acts of 1893 the City Auditor he and herehy is authorized to transfer the sum of forty thousand dollars ($40,000) from the appropriation for Reserve Fund to the appropriation for Playground, Ward 19.

On Octoher 16 the foregoing order was read once and passed, yeas 8, nays 0.

Coun. SMITH —Mr. President, I think this matter was put over until to-day so that I might gain some information that the Council wanted. I have just sent to my office for a letter that I have received, and if the matter is put over until after the meeting of the Executive Committee I will have that letter here and will read it to the Council.

On motion of Coun. CURLEY it was voted that action on No. 4 be assigned to 5.30 p. m., unless sooner reached.

Later in the session the matter was called up by Coun. McDONALD, and the question came to the final reading and passage of the order.

Coun. SMITH—Mr. President, as the one who had this postponed until to-day in order that the Council might gain more information on the subject, I wish to now reiterate what I said at the last meeting. I said then that the district in Ward 19 which had been the prime moving factor in getting the original appropriation of $60,000, under the present scheme of the Park Commissioners for getting an additional $40,000, would only suffer; that that district would then only have a small playground that would cost only $30,000 or $40,000, while the extreme end of the ward, near the Fenway, where a playground is not needed, would get the bulk of the appropriation. That I cannot helieve to he fair, and that is why I voted against the additional $40,000, and that is the reason why I voted against a change in the wording of the $60,000 loan, believing that the section of the ward that needed the playground was the section right around the Mission Church. The people of the St. Alphonsus Association are the people who got this $60,000 through originally, by hringing the matter to the attention of the city authorities, and they are the people who deserve a playground, if anyhody. They should not he crowded out with $30,000 or $40,000, while people at the extreme end of the ward get the hulk of the appropriation, especially when the people in that other section of the ward have playgrounds close by, on the Fenway and Columhus avenue. Perhaps it will be more in point for me to read a letter which I received last week from the St. Alphonsus Association:

St. Alphonsus Association,
80 Smith Strect,
Boston, Novemher 3, 1911.

Mr. Earnest E. Smith,
60 State Street, Boston, Mass.:

Dear Sir,— Your letter of November 1, in reference to the appropriation for a playground in Ward 19 received, and contents noted. In reply would say that a committee from our Association a few years ago was instrumental in ohtaining the original appropriation of $60,000 for a playground on Parker Hill, which would have heen sufficient had the location heen selected.

I understand that efforts are heing made by just one man in our ward, with the assistance of men living in other sections of Boston, to place the playground on land hounded hy Ward, Parker and Halleck streets, or in that vicinity, which is in the extreme end of the ward where there are very few children, and which is within a quarter of a mile of the playground in Ward 10. That is the Fenway Playground.

At a meeting of our Board of Government held last night, they went on record as heing opposed to any increase of the appropriation if it means locating the playground in the lower section of the ward and request that a location in the vicinity of the Mission Church be selected, where there are four schools, with the attendance of ahout 5,000 children.

Very truly yours,

JOSEPH C. WOODS, President.

It seems to me that further evidence is almost unnecessary, and I submit to this Board that in all fairness they should not have changed the wording of the original loan. I think in authorizing $40,000 more we are simply taking away from them a large part of the benefit of that playground and are really doing them an injustice.

Coun. CURLEY—Mr. President, as I stated at the last meeting it is not the purpose of this Board, or its province, to designate any particular site. It says here in this letter received by Mr. Smith:

"I understand that efforts are being made by just one man in our ward, with the assistance of men living in other sections of Boston, to place the playground on land bounded by Ward, Parker and Halleck streets, or in that vicinity, which is in the extreme end of the ward."

So far as I personally am concerned—and I believe I voice the view of every other member of the Board with the possihle exception of one—I do not feel that it is our place to select a site for the playground. That is purely the province of the Park Commission subject to the wishes of the majority of the people of Ward 19. If the impression has been conveyed to the writer of this letter that it is the purpose of this Board to designate the location of a playground in a certain portion of Ward 19, then the writer of the letter is in error. It is not in our province, even if we should so desire, to state where it should be so placed. That is the province of the Park Commission, and I helieve the Park Commissioners are desirous of locating that playground where, in the opinion of the people of Ward 19, it should be located. I don't feel that any member of this Board is justified in questioning the honesty of any member of the Park Commission or of the commission as a whole. As regards their capacity and patience, they certainly have demonstrated patience in standing up for three years against the wishes of persons who had land for sale in Ward 19 in the vicinity of Parker Hill and desired it placed there, when in the opinion of perhaps a majority of the people of Ward 19 it should he located elsewhere. I want to say that I have ahsolute confidence in the discretion and judgment of the Park Commission and feel that it is the duty of the Board to comply with their request in this matter, since that request is based on a three years' investigation and numerous public hearings.

Coun. SMITH—Mr. President, as I said at the last hearing when this matter came up, technically Coun. Curley is right,—we do not locate the playgrounds; we leave that to the Board of Park Commissioners. At the same time, in this matter the Board has actually involved itself in the location. We changed the wording of the appropriation from "Parker Hill district" to "Ward 19." In doing that we made the first step, involving ourselves in the location of the playground. At the time that was done I told the Board that it meant an additional expense of $40,000 and that it was done hecause the Park Commission could not decide on a location. We have involved this Board in a location of a playground in Ward 19, whether technically we ought to have done so or not. The original loan of $60,000 was for the Parker Hill district and this Board this year changed it to read "Ward 19." Now the people of the Mission Church section are afraid that they are going to lose the henefit of the money voted for their section of the ward. As every man in this Board knows, when we went hefore the Mayor, with the Park Commissioners present, they said they intended to huy two playgrounds and that the one for the hall ground would cost more than $50,000, would take more than half the total loan. That playground, as stated in that letter, and as I have stated to you hefore, is opposite the Wentworth Institute, near the Fenway Playground, within 1,200 feet in an air line of the Fenway Playground. I submit that the bulk of the money should not be spent in that end of the ward. While we have no right to locate this playground, I submit that we are locating it, because we have the say-so about the appropriation. They cannot go ahead and buy two playgrounds if we do not give them this additional $40,000; and if we do give it to them they are going to spend the bulk of the money at the end of the ward towards Ward 10, near the Fenway Playground, a precinct of the ward where there is a very small numher of voters, a precinct that did not move for the original loan; and I suhmit that the section of the ward that moved for the original loan will only get the leavings. They will simply get a small playground for the children. It strikes me as only fair that playgrounds should he located near schools. In the part of the ward that originally moved for this loan, there are schools with 5,000 children. A playground should be situated near those schools. The land near those schools will cost no more than near the Wentworth Institute. Not only that, hut the land near the Wentworth Institute is rising in value faster than the land around the Mission Church, and the city should take land for which there is a less demand for use, for playground purposes, rather than land that is increasing in value. The character of the property back of the Mission Church is not good, is far from good, and the tearing down of some of the old shacks will he a henefit to the neighhorhood; and to have such a playground near schools would make it useful to the children in the schools as well as to the children of the district generally. I sincerely hope that the people who originally got the $60,000 loan will be the ones who will benefit hy this playground.

Coun. HALE—Mr. President, at our last meeting, when this matter was before us, I said:

"Mr. President, in my opinion Ward 19 should have a playground. The Park Commission reported that $60,000 was not enough to give them a playground, and I therefore agreed to vote to increase the amount $40,000. But I agree with Coun. Smith and Curley that those whose wishes should be most considered are the ones connected with the St. Alphonsus Association and the Mission Church, under the circumstances. Coun. Smith says the Mission Church objects to this increase of $40,000, and Coun. Curley says that they are in favor of it. We ought to find out definitely what the situation is in connection with this question. If the St. Alphonsus Association, the members of the Mission Church, are opposed to the $40,000, there must be something wrong with the proposed increase in the appropriation, and I therefore would like to move that the matter be referred to the Executive Committee with instructions to get in touch with the St Alphonsus Association and the members of the Mission Church, getting representatives down here some time in the course of the next week, so that we may find out exactly what the situation is."

That motion was carried and Coun. Smith has got in touch with the St. Alphonsus Association and has produced a letter, which is to the effect that the St. Alphonsus Association, representing as it does the memhers of the Mission Church, is opposed to this increase. I therefore want to say that I am very heartily in favor of Coun. Smith's attitude and hope that this loan will not go through.

The order was passed, yeas 7, nays 2, Coun. HALE and SMITH voting nay.

Coun. HALE—Mr. President, I would like to move reconsideration of that action, hoping the same will prevail. I would like very much to ask the memhers of the Council to realize just what they are doing. In that letter which Coun. Smith has read, if the statements made are true,—and they come from a hody which no one would like to say is in the habit of telling lies, namely, the St. Alphonsus Association,—the money to he spent here is going to he spent in a neighborhood that does not need a playground; and I think it is disgraceful for us to sit here and vote away $40,000 of the city's money when we have the word of an association like the St. Alphonsus Association that the money is going to he wasted. I think it is criminal extravagance and a disgrace to spend the city's money in that way. I think we ought to go very slow—at any rate, put this over a week and not pass it to-day. I hope very much that the previous vote will he reconsidered.

Coun. CURLEY—Mr. President, I feel that there has heen too much stress laid upon this particular letter. It lacks any definite or direct statement upon which either my friend Hale or my friend Smith can take the position they are assuming. I feel that if either of those gentlemen will reread this letter they will realize that the position they take upon the proposition is not in keeping with the letter itself. The letter itself reads:

"At a meeting of our Board of Government held last night, they went on record as being opposed to any increase of the appropriation if it means locating the playground in the lower section of the ward."

Now, we have no means of knowing that it does mean the locating of the playground in some other section of the ward. Neither have they. They do not go on record against the additional $40,000. They say that if it means the location of the playground in the lower section of the ward they are opposed to it. They do not oppose the $40,000—in fact, want that; and if the $60,000 is not to he diverted from the section for which it was originally advocated, the neighborhood of the Mission Church, they have no objection. We have no means of knowing where the playground will be located, but are simply complying with the request of the Park Commissioners for additional funds. The letter says:

"I understand that efforts are being made," and so on.

It does not say "I know," hut "I understand." So the letter from start to finish contains no direct statement that would warrant any member of the Board in taking a different position from that which has been taken hy the majority of the Board. Certainly there is nothing sufficiently direct in the letter to justify the Board in doing other than as the majority have done.

Coun. SMITH—Mr. President, of course there is a very easy, direct and quick way of finding out where that playground is to he located, hut the Boaid has shown no desire to find out where it is to be located. If you want to find out, why not ask the Pa:k Commissioners? That question was not asked when they were in conference before the Mayor. But the Board does not care where it is to be located, and Coun. Curley has stood up here at two meetings and said that it was none of our business where it was located. Then he gets up here in a very specious way and says there is no way of knowing where it is to be located. He says: "Of course we don't want to take it away from the Mission Church, but we don't know anything ahout it." Now, if this Board really wants to know, I would offer an amendment now to the order, that it be postponed for one week, and requesting the Park Commissioners to come in and report on the matter. But such an amendment is not in order. If the Board is really serious ahout this and wants to know, the matter can very easily be put off for one week and we can visit the Mission Church section or ask questions of the Park Commissioners. But there is no desire on the part of the Board to find out what the commissioners are doing in the matter of the playground. The members were very glad to accommodate Mr. McInerney when he came down here and lobbied with different members of the Board and spoke about the original wording of the order. The original order read "Packer Hill district," and the members were glad to change that. They knew perfectly well what they were doing then. They knew that the change would carry with it a request for $40,000 more. The members of the Board are not sufficiently unintelligent so that they are not aware that the hulk of the money will be spent for a hall ground. Members unfamiliar with conditions in Ward 19 can easily find out what they are. It will take them only a few minutes to get to that section, and they will find that the vacant land is near the Fenway. I have stated — and, regardless of whether the Board considers it or not, it is a fact — that the bulk of the money will he spent hy the Park Commissioners down near the Fenway, away from the Mission Church and the majority of the residents of the ward.

Coun. KENNY—Mr. President, I would say as one member of the Board that Mr. McInerney has not huttonholed me or spoken to me in regard to the matter, nor has anybody else but the Park Commissioners, who stated the situation at the hearing in the Mayor's office. It seems to me that our duty here is quite clear. The Park Commissioners are under the law charged with the duty and responsihility of expending the money, and not the City Council. They say to the City Council that they desire $100,000 for the purpose of meeting the needs of Ward 19. It is up to the members of the City Council, if they wish to be sure of the situation, to go through Ward 19 and satisfy themselves that that is so. But, having done that, it is under the statute the duty of the Park Commissioners to determine where the money shall be spent and how much money is needed. I can very easily see great danger in the Park Commissioners giving out in advance where they intend to buy land. I suppose the very object of the charter is to prevent frauds heing perpetrated upon the city; therefore, they say that the Park Commissioners, as a board of trustees, shall be empowered to expend money where, in their opinion and judgment, it should be spent. That being the case, I don't think it is for the Council to interrogate the Park Commissioners on that point. I want to say again, so far as there being any lobhying here is concerned, that I as one member have not been interviewed by Mr. McInerney or anybody else on this matter.

Coun. BALLANTYNE—Mr. President, I would very gladly vote for reconsideration of this vote if I thought we could get any information from the Park Department in regard to the location of the playground in Ward 19. At the conference in the Mayor's office a few weeks ago I think Mr. Smith was present, but perhaps he did not hear a question that I asked. I asked the Park Commissioners if they would give us any indication of what location they had selected for the playground in Ward 19. They very promptly answered that they had six different locations in view. but that to make public any of the locations at that time would tend to raise the value of the property. For that reason they did not intend to give anyone information as to the locations of the playgrounds. I have every confidence in the Park Commissioners selecting the best sites availahle at a fair pricc for these playgrounds. If I thought for a moment that there was any one man controlling the Park Commissioners for the purpose of selling either his own or any one's else land I would be the last to stand here and vote for that appropriation. But from the talk I have had with the Park Commissioners, both in the Mayor's office and elsewhere, I am satisfied that they have not given out to any one up to the present time their intention as to the location.

Coun. SMITH—Mr. President, I simply want to ask Coun. Ballantyne if he will not tell us the conversations that he has had with the Park Commissioners aside from those in the Mayor's office, on this suhject?

Coun. BALLANTYNE—When the matter came to us first I helieve I asked Mr. Peabody if they had any plans as to the location of those playgrounds. The answer was no, but that they needed two playgrounds there and needed the extra money for them. The question was asked by me in the Mayor's office—and I think the other members of the Council will bear me out in this—if they were willing to give us any indication of the locations in Ward 19, and they stated, as I have said hefore, that they did not think it would he good policy to make these locations known at the present time, but that they had six locations in view.

Coun. Hale's motion to reconsider was declared lost. Coun. HALE douhted the vote and asked for the yeas and nays. Reconsideration was lost, yeas 2, nays 7, Coun. HALE and SMITH voting yea.

CLAIMS.

Coun. BUCKLEY, for the Committee on Claims, submitted the following:

Report accepted; orders severally passed.

(2) Report on case of William J. Wilcox et al., trustees, v. City of Boston, recommending the passage of the following:

Ordered, That in accordance with the recommendation of the Committee on Claims the Corporation Counsel be given authority to settle the suit of William J. Wilcox et al., trustees, v. City of Boston, now pending in the Superior Court, for the sum of $10,000 without interest.

The question came on accepting the report and passing the order.

Coun. SMITH—Mr. President, I would simply like to ask the chairman of that committee if he will be good enough to explain the matter, because this is a large amount.

Coun. BUCKLEY—Mr. President, I will simply give the statement as we have it from the Law Department:

"When Columbia road was laid out some land was taken from the plaintiffs for the widening of the street. After the street was constructed it left the plaintiffs with a high bank or small precipice of rock adjoining the road.

"At that time the city was making contracts for crushing rock for the highways and the Street Department desired to get the plaintiffs' ledge as a quarry. At the time of the settlement of the plaintiffs' claim for damages for land taken for the highway a contract was entered into for leasing the plaintiffs' ledge, said contract being dated March 22, 1910, and being for the term of five years. By this contract of leasing the city was to pay the plaintiffs ten cents a ton for whatever stone was taken out and the city also agreed, which was the main consideration of the contract, that it would leave the general surface of the premises not lower than the grade shown by red figures on plan attached and not higher than 3 feet above said grade, and that the city would remove and store in a convenient place for the benefit of the plaintiffs all loam or other filling removed in stripping said ledge.

"At about the time of the expiration of this lease another agreement was made, December 29, 1906, under which agreement the city was to pay 12½ cents per ton for all stone quarried and should have an extension of time of two years and three months for lowering the surface to grade and doing the other work described in the plan and agreement.

"The city for good and sufficient reasons decided not to continue these rock crushing contracts with other people and has removed its crushing apparatus from the plaintiffs' premises and has quarried no rock since 1908, but the city has not left the general surface of the premises in the condition shown by the plan.

"This suit is a suit for damages for breach of the contract, the city not having left the premises in the condition in which it agreed to leave them.

"I had Guy C. Emerson, formerly Superintendent of Streets, and for may years an engineer in the Street Department, examine the premises and he reports that it would cost the city at least $15,000 to do the work which it agreed to do under the contract. I do not think the plaintiffs are damaged as much as that, but I think $10,000 is a low settlement."

And the Committee on Claims had some letters from Mr. Emerson, which I have here, in case you want to have those read. It is simply one of those contracts, a great many of which were made during the municipal campaign of 1906, and a great many of which the city abandoned afterwards, and which they are settling up now. The Law Department has to get the approval of the Committee on Claims in order to settle them up. That is the only interest we have. This settlement is recommended by the Law Department in the usual way to the Committee on Claims.

The report was accepted and the order passed.

TRANSPORTATION OF PRISONERS.

Coun. SMITH, for the Committee on the Inspection of Prisons, submitted a report on order (referred September 11) for an investigation of the methods of transporting prisoners from Brighton Courthouse to Deer Island boat and to Charles Street Jail—that the same be referred to the Committee on County Accounts.

Report accepted; said reference ordered.

STANDING OF "MONITOR" EMPLOYEES.

Coun. SMITH offered an order that the Corporation Counsel be requested, through his Honor the Mayor, to report to the City Council at his earliest convenience his opinion as to whether or not the employees of the steamer "Monitor" are employees of the County of Suffolk or City of Boston.

Coun. SMITH—Mr. President, my reason for introducing this order is that the county officials have a pension and most classes of employees of the city do not have a pension. We having turned down the General Pension Act at the last meeting of this body, and having left a large class of the city employees without any pensions, without any provision for pensions, the question of the classification that they come under naturally becomes interesting to certain employees. There is a difference of opinion as to the officers and men on the steamer "Monitor." If they are county employees they have pensions; if city employees they do not. As a question of law pure and simple, I beg to refer it to the Corporation Counsel.

Coun. CURLEY—Mr. President, as I understand it a ruling has already been made in regard to those employees. Those who work on the "Monitor" are county employees. They are not subject to civil service rules.

Coun. SMITH—Mr. President, I would like to ask the authority for the information.

Coun. CURLEY—I have no objection to the passage of the order.

The order was passed.

LIGHTS, CLEVELAND CIRCLE.

Coun. KENNY offered an order—That the Commissioner of Public Works be requested, through his Honor the Mayor, to cause Cleveland circle, Ward 25, to be equipped with additional lights.

Passed.

RECESS TAKEN.

The Council voted, at 3.55 o'clock p. m., on motion of Coun. KENNY, to take a recess subject to the call of the President.

The members of the Council reassembled in the Council Chamber and were called to order by the President at 4.50 o'clock p. m.

Report accepted; order passed.

(6) Report on message of Mayor and order (recommitted October 30) recommending transfer of balance of appropriation for Playground, Wards 7 and 9, to the appropriation for Playground, Ward 7—that the order ought to pass.

Coun. ATTRIDGE—Mr. President, I desire to say that this is an unexpended balance of appropriation for Playground, Wards 7 and 9. There is a playground in Ward 9, costing over $300,000, and it is used mostly by the people of Ward 9. It is some distance from Ward 7. The people of Ward 7 have desired a playground for many years. Last year this City Council appropriated $25,000 by loan for the purchase of property for a small neighborhood playground. It was found that the amount was not sufficient for the purpose, and the Board of Park Commissioners have requested that the unexpended balance of the appropriation for Ward 7 and Ward 9 Playground be transferred to the appropriation for Ward 7 Playground. As the member of the Council coming from Ward 9 I think I voice the feelings and sentiments of the people of my district when I say they desire that our neighbors in Ward 7—a small ward, but a ward which is greatly congested, a ward with a great school population, and with nearly 15,000 inhabitants—should have a neighborhood playground. As the member of the Council from Ward 9, I shall vote in favor of this transfer, thus helping our neighbors in Ward 7 to have a decent playground for the use of the district.

The report was accepted and the order took its first reading and passage, yeas 9, nays 0. The question of final reading and passage will come up not less than two weeks from to-day.

Report accepted; order passed, yeas 9.

SIDEWALK, HOWARD AVENUE.

Coun. CURLEY offered an order—That the Commissioner of Public Works make a sidewalk along the easterly side of Howard avenue, between Dudley and Harlow streets, Ward 18, in front of the estates bordering thereon; said sidewalk to be from 3 to 10 inches above the gutter adjoining, to be from 5 to 12 feet in width, and to be built of brick with granite edgestones, under the provisions of chapter 437 of the Acts of 1893.

SURFACING OF STREETS, WARD 17.

Coun. CURLEY offered an order—That the Commissioner of Public Works, through his Honor the Mayor, be requested to surface either with brick, asphalt or granolithic the following streets in Ward 17: Eustis, Magazine, Adams, Yeoman, Thorndike, Zeigler, Dearborn, Fellows, Howard, George, Burrell, Shirley, Randall, Palmer, Winslow, Island, Reading, East Lenox, Webber.

Coun. CURLEY—Mr. President, I desire to say in connection with this order that the streets enumerated in this list are at present macadam streets and it appears almost an impossibility to keep them in proper and suitable condition. I took up with the Commissioner of Public Works the question of the advisability of having them laid with bitulithic, asphalt or brick paving, and he is inclined to believe that the work will be done during the coming spring or summer, and he believes it is more economical to treat the streets in that way than to continue them as macadam streets.

Coun. BALLANTYNE—Mr. President, I am heartily in favor of that order as presented by the councilor on the other side. I can say that a great many of those streets are in deplorable condition at the present time, especially Eustis and Zeigler streets, where a great amount of heavy teaming is done. I have been over those streets with the Commissioner of Public Works. I called his attention to them some time ago and have had both him and the deputy commissioner, especially on Eustis street. I have been assured, as has my brother on the other side, that some of these streets will be attended to in the spring. I sincerely hope they will give their attention to both Eustis and Zeigler streets, which very much need repairs.

The order was passed.

PAYMENT OF ELECTION OFFICERS.

Coun. McDONALD offered an order—That the City Treasurer be requested, through his Honor the Mayor, to pay election officers who served at the late state election before Thanksgiving Day.

Passed.

APPROPRIATION FOR CHILDREN'S HOSPITAL.

The following was received:

City of Boston,
Office of the Mayor, November 27, 1911.

To the City Council:

At the meeting of your honorable body, held October 2, 1911, I transmitted a letter from the chairman of the Consumptives' Hospital Department, urging an appropriation of fifty thousand dollars ($50,000) for the erection of a hospital to contain fifty beds for children with demonstrable tuberculosis. The matter was referred to the Committee on Finance, and as no report has been made I recommend the passage of the accompanying loan order, appropriating the sum required for this purpose.

Respectfully,
JOHN F. FITZGERALD, Mayor.

Ordered, That the sum of $50,000 be appropriated, to be expended by the Consumptives' Hospital Trustees for a Children's Hospital, and that the city treasurer be authorized, with the approval of the Mayor, to issue bonds or certificates of indebtedness of the city to said amount.

Referred to the Committee on Finance.

OPENING OF AQUARIUM AND ZOO.

The following was received:

City of Boston,
Office of the Mayor, November 27, 1911.

To the City Council:

I transmit herewith a communication from the chairman of the Board of Park Commissioners, containing a statement of the funds appropriated for the Aquarium and Zoological Garden, and an estimate of the amount needed in order to open these institutions on June 1, 1912. It appears that the sum of $125,000 is required, according to the Park Commissioners, before that date, in addition to the amount already appropriated. As it is desirable that the Aquarium and Zoological Garden should be opened next summer if possible, I trust that your honorable body will bear in mind the needs of these institutions, as set forth in the accompanying letter.

Respectfully,
JOHN F. FITZGERALD, Mayor.

City of Boston,
Board of Commissioners of the
Department of Parks,
November 24, 1911.

Hon. John F. Fitzgerald,
Mayor of Boston:

Dear Sir,— Inclosed herewith is a statement of the funds appropriated and the obligations entered upon for the Aquarium and Zoological Garden. Also a statement as to what money will be needed to carry out so much of the work as we have aimed to have ready for opening on June 1, 1912. At that time, as you know, we hope to have the Aquarium, the bear dens and the bird cage built and occupied and the bird house well under way so that it may receive the birds in the autumn. Also we hope to have a few yards for small hardy animals. To accomplish this we shall need to receive, as per this statement, $114,500, or, as unforeseen incidentals will occur, it will be safer to ask for $125,000 between now and next June. Will you give this your attention and if possible see that we can count upon this sum of $125,000 in installments between now and June, 1912?

Yours truly,
ROBERT S. PEABODY, Chairman.

FERDINAND STREET WIDENING.

The following was received:

City of Boston,
Office of the Mayor, November 27, 1911.

To the City Council:

It has come to my knowledge that Mr. Laurence Minot, who has represented the New York, New Haven and Hartford Railroad in its negotiations with the city in regard to the development of the Park square property, has recently acquired an estate on Piedmont street, near the junction of Ferdinand street. This parcel adjoins another previously owned by him, but it is nearer to the line of the proposed widening. The assessed valuation of the original estate is about $2,100 and that of the estate recently purchased about $1,800. Should the widening be made under the excess condemnation act, so called, both estates might be taken by the city either through purchase or by eminent domain. Should the city decide not to avail itself of the privilege accorded to it under the recent constitutional amendment both estates would be subject to betterment assessments and, on the other hand, would undoubtedly share in any increase of valuation that would result therefrom.

I have felt it my duty to lay this circumstance before you. It was not known to me when I recommended the widening of Ferdinand street, and I am unable to say that the arguments for this great public improvement, which commended themselves to my judgment two weeks ago, have lost any of their force because of the fact that a representative of the railroad may derive some benefit from the city's act.

It has been suggested that Arlington street might be extended as far as Columbus avenue and the Ferdinand street widening be treated as a distinct proposition. Unfortunately, however, the proposition of the railroad looks upon the whole improvement as a unit, and it is questionable whether it might not withdraw its offer of $270,000 in betterment assessments. The railroad virtually gives to the city two important streets constructed on its own land, Arlington street, between Providence street and Columbus avenue, and Stuart street. Besides this it widens Providence street to a width of one hundred feet and guarantees that $270,000 shall be deducted from the damages to the estates which it owns on Boylston street.

Ever since the destruction by fire of the depot of the Boston and Providence Railroad, the Park square district has been an eyesore and an obstacle to development. An opportunity is now offered to remedy this condition and failure to act at this juncture might conceivably result in an indefinite postponement of the entire scheme. The mere fact that the property is owned by a great railroad corporation should not prejudice the case but the proposition should be considered like any other, strictly upon its merits and with a view to the resulting benefit to this particular section and to the city as a whole.

Respectfully,
JOHN F. FITZGERALD, Mayor.

Referred to the Committee on Finance.

GYMNASIUM, WARD 8.

The following was received:

City of Boston,
Office of the Mayor, November 27, 1911.

To the City Council:

I transmit herewith a communication from the vice chairman of the Bath Trustees, requesting an additional appropriation of $15,000 for the remodeling of the Blossom Street Wardroom as a bath house and gymnasium. The appropriation on hand amounts to something less than $25,000, while the lowest bid on the plans approved by the department amounted to something over $35,000. The improvement is an important one and I believe that the suggestion of the Bath Trustees should be carried out. I recommend, therefore, the passage of the accompanying loan order, appropriating the sum of $15,000 additional for Gymnasium, Ward Building, Ward 8.

Respectfully,
JOHN F. FITZGERALD, Mayor.

City of Boston,
Bath Department, November 24, 1911.

Hon. John F. Fitzgerald,
Mayor of Boston:

My dear Sir,—I desire to ask your cooperation in securing an additional appropriation of $15,000 for the remodeling of the Ward 8 building into a bath house and gymnasium. The plans for this have already been drawn by Mr. Edward P. T. Graham, architect, and the lowest bids were submitted by the William Crane Company, Vassar street, Cambridge, and amounted to $35,113. The amount of the appropriation now on hand is $24,405.85. It is especially desirous to put through the plans and specifications already drawn, as the pressing needs of this community call for the plans already agreed upon.

The reason why nothing has been done towards securing this appropriation up to this time was owing to an investigation which was being conducted by the Finance Committee, relative to the specifications on plumbing. A recent communication from the Finance Commission set forth that they desire to see this building put through to a speedy completion, and as the Bath Trustees are of the same opinion, I trust that you will secure this additional appropriation of $15,000 for carrying out the work contemplated, as the people of this section of the city are especially desirous of having this building completed as soon as possible.

I trust the urgency of their appeal will merit your immediate consideration.

Very truly yours,
WILLIAM M. MURPHY,
Vice Chairman Bath Trustees.

Ordered, That the sum of $15,000 additional be appropriated, to be expended by the Bath Trustees for Gymnasium, Ward Building, Ward 8, and that to meet said appropriation the City Auditor be and hereby is authorized to issue bonds or certificates of indebtedness of the city to said amount.

Referred to the Committee on Finance.

QUARTERS IN PARKMAN HOUSE.

The following was received:

City of Boston,
Office of the Mayor, November 17, 1911.

To the City Council:

I transmit herewith a communication from the Commander of Roger Wolcott Camp, No. 23, U. S. W. V., Department of Massachusetts, requesting that if the Parkman estate is retained by the city for patriotic purposes this camp be assigned quarters in the building.

Respectfully,
JOHN F. FITZGERALD, Mayor.

Headquarters Roger Wolcott Camp No. 23,
United Spanish War Veterans,
Boston, November 17, 1911.

Hon. John F. Fitzgerald,
Mayor of Boston:

Dear Sir,—We have been informed that the "Parkman Estate" at No. 33 Beacon street is to be retained by the city for patriotic purposes. We respectfully ask that we be assigned to quarters in said building under the act of the Legislature permitting the use of public buildings at a nominal rental for Grand Army posts and camps of Spanish War Veterans.

We are the largest camp in the state and bear the name of the honored war Governor, Roger Wolcott. Trusting you will arrange a time to confer with a committee from our camp, I remain,

Respectfully,
P. JOSEPH O'LEARY, Commander.

Referred to the Committee on Parkman Fund.

IMPROVEMENTS, HIGHLAND PARK.

The following was received:

City of Boston,
Office of the Mayor, November 17, 1911.

To the City Council:

At the meeting of your honorable body held November 13, 1911, an order was passed transferring the sum of three thousand dollars ($3,000) from the Reserve Fund to a special appropriation for Thomas Park, Repairing of Monument. At the same meeting the sum of twenty-five thousand dollars ($25,000) was appropriated from the income of the Parkman Fund for convenience stations, bubble fountains, and other improvements in the public parks and squares. In the course of the debate on the latter order a schedule of proposed improvements which could be made under this appropriation was submitted by the Superintendent of Public Grounds, and the last item of the schedule, reading "Thomas Park, Repairs on Monument," was identical with the subject of the earlier appropriation made by transfer from the Reserve Fund. The schedule had not been submitted to me and I presume has absolutely no binding force, but as there happens to be another appropriation of three thousand dollars ($3,000) asked for by the Superintendent of Public Grounds, I recommend that the appropriation for Thomas Park, Repairing of Monument, be transferred to a special appropriation for Highland Park, Improvements, and have drafted an order effecting this transfer.

In the annual report of the Superintendent of Public Grounds, dated February 1, 1911, it is stated that "the Roxbury standpipe grounds remain in the same dilapidated condition which prevailed when the lot was transferred to this department some years ago, owing to the fact that no appropriation was ever made for ground improvements, although the standpipe has been thoroughly repaired, which makes the unsightly condition of the lot more apparent. The renovation of this area may be accomplished for $3,000 and again I urgently recommend it."

In my opinion the improvement is one which should be undertaken and I trust that the accompanying transfer order will be passed.

Respectfully,
JOHN F. FITZGERALD, Mayor.

Ordered, That an appropriation of three thousand dollars ($3,000) for Thomas Park, Repairing of Monument, be transferred to a special appropriation to be expended under the direction of the Superintendent of Public Grounds for Highland Park, Improvements.

Referred to the Executive Committee.

FIRE DEPARTMENT CONNECTIONS, HYDE PARK.

The following was received:

City of Boston,
Office of the Mayor, November 23, 1911.

To the City Council:

I beg to recommend the passage of the accompanying order, based on the request of the Fire Commissioner for an additional appropriation of five thousand dollars ($5,000) for the purpose of enabling the fire alarm division to make proper connections with the Hyde Park fire alarm.

Respectfully,
JOHN F. FITZGERALD, Mayor.

City of Boston,
Headquarters, Fire Department,
November 21, 1911.

Hon. John F. Fitzgerald,
Mayor of Boston:

Sir,—I have the honor to request that $5,000 additional be transferred to the appropriation of the Fire Department for the purpose of enabling the fire alarm division to make proper connections with the Hyde Park fire alarms. It is the intention of this department to use the Hyde Park system as it is at present. The work to be done at this time will allow the Hyde Park alarms to be recorded at this office, and the Boston alarms to be transmitted to the Hyde Park central station.

Very respectfully,
CHARLES D. DALY,
Fire Commissioner.

Ordered, That in accordance with the provisions of chapter 261 of the Acts of 1893, the City Auditor be and hereby is authorized to transfer the sum of five thousand dollars ($5,000) from the appropriation for Reserve Fund to the appropriation for Fire Department.

Referred to the Executive Committee.

COMMEMORATION OF WENDELL PHILLIPS.

The following was received:

City of Boston,
Office of the Mayor, November 25, 1911.

To the City Council:

As Wednesday, November 29, is the one hundredth anniversary of the birthday of Wendell Phillips, it seems to me timely to suggest to your honorable body that some attempt should be made to commemorate in a permanent way the life and works of this distinguished Bostonian. The son of our first mayor, and a graduate of the Boston Latin School and Harvard University, he dared to face in his early youth social ostracism and personal peril in the expression of his convictions. His name is immortalized with that of William Lloyd Garrison as one of the leaders of a group of New England men who stood ready to make any sacrifice that the American nation might become a nation of free men. In his later years, when the movement for the abolition of slavery had triumphed, he espoused other causes which revealed no less distinctly his liberal and philanthropic nature, such as the emancipation of women, the freedom of Ireland, the improvement of wages and conditions among what are called the laboring classes, and the reduction of the evil of intemperance. His brilliant eloquence and apostolic fervor gave him the renown, and to some extent the influence, of a missionary in those fields.

It would seem that Boston should be ready to do something for this great advocate, whose fine and brave personality is still remembered by many of the older generation, and whose influence, though he held no office, was greater than that of many who are styled statesmen. Through his superb apostrophe to the portraits in Faneuil Hall, and his connection with the attempted rescue of the fugitive slave Burns, he is identified with events that have become a part and parcel of our history. While Garrison has his statue on Commonwealth avenue, no similar public memorial exists to remind the citizens or visitors of the career of so great a man. I feel sure that the City Council will regard the subject as worthy of its attention on the eve of the centenary which is about to be observed.

Respectfully,
JOHN F. FITZGERALD, Mayor.

Referred to the Executive Committee.

ACCEPTANCE OF INVITATION.

The following was received:

City of Boston,
Office of the Mayor, November 20, 1911.

JOHN F. FITZGERALD, Mayor.

EMPLOYEES OF "MONITOR."

The following was received:

City of Boston,
Office of the Mayor, November 20, 1911.

To the City Council:

In reply to your request, contained in an order passed at the meeting of November 13, that the Corporation Counsel report to the City Council his opinion as to whether the employees of the steamer "Monitor" are employees of the County of Suffolk or of the City of Boston, I transmit herewith a statement on this subject from the Corporation Counsel.

Yours very truly,
JOHN F. FITZGERALD, Mayor.

The following was received:

City of Boston,
Law Department, November 17, 1911.

Hon. John F. Fitzgerald,
Mayor of Boston:

Dear Sir,—I am requested by the Honorable City Council, through your Honor, for my opinion as to whether or not the employees of the steamer "Monitor" are employees of the County of Suffolk or City of Boston.

Persons employed on the steamer "Monitor" are employees of the Penal Institutions Department, which is, as far as the management of the House of Correction is concerned, a county department. As far as its other duties are concerned, it is a department of the City of Boston. I am informed by the Penal Institutions Commissioner that the employees on the steamer "Monitor" are employees of the City of Boston, that their pay is not reckoned as a county expense and that they are under the civil service rules as employees of the city.

Yours respectfully,
THOMAS M. BABSON, Corporation Counsel.

Placed on file.

CLERICAL ASSISTANCE, SUPERIOR CIVIL COURT.

The following was received:

City of Boston,
Office of the Mayor, November 27, 1911.

To the City Council:

At the meeting of your honorable body held on November 13, 1911, I transmitted a communication from the clerk of the Superior Civil Court, in which he requested that three thousand dollars ($3,000) be transferred to the appropriation for the maintenance of that court, for the purpose of paying the salaries of needed extra clerks. It was my intention to specifically recommend the passage of such an appropriation, but the wording of my communication may be considered vague. I therefore recommend the passage by your honorable body of the accompanying draft of order, transferring the sum of three thousand dollars ($3,000) from the appropriation for Reserve Fund to the appropriation for Superior Court, Civil Session.

Respectfully,
JOHN F. FITZGERALD, Mayor.

Ordered, That under the provisions of chapter 261 of the Acts of 1893, the City Auditor be and hereby is authorized to transfer the sum of $3,000 from the appropriation for Reserve Fund to the appropriation for Superior Court, Civil Session.

ENGINE HOUSE, PARKER HILL.

The following was received:

City of Boston,
Headquarters Fire Department,
November 22, 1911.

To the Honorable the City Council:

Gentlemen,— Pursuant to an order with respect to an appropriation for a site for an engine house on Parker Hill, referred to this office for a report on October 30, I have the honor to report as follows:

Under date of February 17, 1911, this office recommended to the city government certain measures to be taken for the better protection of the Parker Hill district. These measures were:

"First. A road free from excessive grades upon the northern slope of the hill.

"Second. The installation of an automobile chemical hose wagon in the quarters of Engine 37.

"Third. The installation of a separate water main along Parker Hill avenue in front of the hospital property thereon, and connecting with a stationary pump in the quarters of the Robert B. Brigham Hospital."

The following action has resulted from these recommendations:

"First. The road on the northern slope of the hill is in the process of construction.

"Second. This office, under date of February 17, forwarded to the office of his Honor the Mayor requests for permission to enter into contract with the American-LaFrance Fire Engine Company for the purchase of an automobile chemical hose wagon to be installed in the quarters of Engine 37.

"Third. The Department of Public Works is in consultation with the trustees of the Robert B. Brigham Hospital with the idea of adjusting the necessary details with respect to the installation of a pump and water main on the top of the hill."

It has not been found possible to make practical arrangements with the Brigham Hospital trustees such as this department considers necessary. Therefore, it would seem desirable that a sufficient sum of money be made available for the acquisition of a site to be used for either a department house, or a location for a stationary pump, or both. There is already available for this purpose the sum of $14,972.70. If the Council cares to add to this sum the funds will be acceptable.

This office urges the immediate completion of the road up the northern slope of the hill, and as soon as the funds are available it will install motor apparatus in the adjacent houses.

Very respectfully,
CHARLES D. DALY,
Fire Commissioner.

MEMORIAL TO WENDELL PHILLIPS.

Coun. SMITH offered an order—That his Honor the Mayor be requested to confer with the Art Commissioners in regard to the erection of a suitable memorial in honor of the late Wendell Phillips.

Coun. SMITH—Mr. President, my idea in offering this order is that at this time it is especially appropriate to remember this man, who is among the greatest of Boston's citizens. He has been dead twenty-five years. Any difference of opinion that may have existed ahout him during his life has ceased. He was one of the greatest, if not the greatest, of the abolitionists, and thereby brought great credit on the City of Boston. The action which I have asked for by this body is not unprecedented. It has for a precedent most of the paintings which are now hung in Faneuil Hall, which are memorials of famous men made at the expense of the city. It has as a precedent the Collins memorial, the John Boyle O'Reilly memorial, the Farragut memorial and many others; and it seems to me that the city can do nothing more fitting at this time than to take some step towards commemorating this man. I have conferred with the Mayor about it, and, as you know, he has sent in a communication to-day. I have agreed to help him in any way I can, either in the way of getting together a committee and raising the necessary funds or in any other way; and I sincerely trust that the Council will take action without referring the order.

The order was passed.

(9) Report on report of Executive Committee (recommitted September 18) for location by the Boston Elevated Railway Company for elevated structures, platform, station and approaches thereto at Washington and Dover streets, Boston, as shown on plan numbered 28206—that the order ought to pass as originally reported.

The question came on accepting the report and passing the order.

Coun. SMITH—Mr. President, it is hardly necessary to take up the Dover Street Station, as there has already been granted to the Elevated, before the inception of this body, by the old Board of Aldermen and the Railroad Commission, the right to rebuild that station. The Elevated has sought, however, to have a new order for this same location, with a change, that the station, instead of being in the middle, an island station, shall be at the side. Some of us took the opportunity to protest against giving that new permission, because of the entrances and exits which would almost completely block the sidewalks at that important crossing. Since that original objection was made the seriousness of the situation has been brought more fully to our minds because the widening of Pleasant street has been authorized. This will undoubtedly change the cross-town cars from Dover street to Pleasant street, making the corner of Washington and Pleasant street a transfer point. The only logical reason for having an elevated station at Dover street now is that at present that is the transfer point. If, however, the transfer point is moved down to the corner of Pleasant and Washington streets, that would be the logical place for the station, especially as Pleasant street will be a wide, broad street, and especially as the trains now stop just before reaching Pleasant street almost always, especially during the rush hours; also because there is a lot of land at that very corner now owned by the Elevated road, which it is prohibited from building upon or using for any purpose except elevated purposes. That is, the road could not build there in order to let stores or apartments. It could, however, build stations on that very spot, with exits and entrances, and not blocking the sidewalk. It would, therefore, seem that there is more reason for objecting to this order at this time than there was when it was first brought up, back in the spring. I sincerely hope that the members of this body will have some concern for the public and will not take up all the space on the sidewalks at the corner of Washington and Dover streets. The Elevated plans show that only 3 feet remains for the public. Of course, they claim that their station will be larger and will accommodate the public using the elevated for that purpose. That is true, hut the part of the public using the elevated is limited compared with the part of the puhlic using the sidewalks. I sincerely hope that the convenience of the majority will prevail and that we will not grant the Elevated the use of so much sidewalk room at that point. If we were forcing upon the Elevated a large expense, it would be a different matter. But we are not doing so. They have a plot of land at the corner of Pleasant and Washington streets, and it will cost them nothing to use that. They are planning a new station. They must abolish the present station at the corner of Dover and Washington streets, it seems to me. It will cost them no more to huild a new station at the corner of Pleasant and Washington streets than it will one at the corner of Dover and Washington streets, and it is perfectly reasonable that this hody should not give them the privilege of using so much of the sidewalk as is proposed here. It is not, as when we first discussed the matter, a question of forcing them to buy so much land at the corner of Dover and Washington streets. That ceases to he the question. If we do not pass this, they must either operate under the old permit that they obtained from the Board of Aldermen and the Railroad Commissioners or consider this new proposition at the corner of Pleasant and Washington streets.

Coun. ATTRIDGE—Mr. President, this matter of new entrances and exits at Dover street has given me great concern. I have a fairly intimate knowledge of the conditions that exist in that vicinity. I know that if additional entrances and exits are placed at Dover street, on the east and west sides, pedestrians will not have mucb room on the sidewalks. I think I realize that the Boston Elevated Railway Company, if not granted this permission to-day, will not go to the expense of taking private property to benefit the puhlic for tbe purpose of making a station which will more greatly benefit the great mass of people wbo use the station at Dover and Washington streets. Personally I helieve that more station room, more exits and entrances at Dover and Washington streets are necessary. As I said the last time when this was discussed before the Council, the additional entrances and exits will improve conditions at Washington and Dover streets, although at the same time pedestrians may suffer. If it were possihle—which I do not helieve it is—I would favor the Elevated Railway Company being compelled to take private property for these stations. But I do not believe that the officials of the Elevated will do anything of the kind. I believe that if we do not grant the right to the Elevated, the Elevated will do nothing in tbis particular locality. If crowds come to Dover and Washington streets on the elevated structure I think the business men of the South End will not object, if business comes with the crowd. After thinking the matter over, knowing the attitude of the Elevated Company as expressed by its officials who appeared before the Council, my opinion is, although I may be wrong, that it is for the benefit of the people of the district to have more entrances and exits there, whether they he on private property or upon the puhlic way. I want to be fair to the puhlic and I want to be fair to the Boston Elevated Railway Company; but I do not believe it can he said that I have been extremely friendly to that company. Looking at the proposition in a broad way, I think the additional entrances and exits on Dover street are in the nature of a puhlic necessity, something that will he for the benefit of the public, although I admit that they may cause some congestion on the sidewalk.

Coun. SMITH—Mr. President, it is hardly necessary to call to the mind of the Council the fact that the Boston Elevated is perfectly free at the present time to go ahead and build a new station at Dover street. They petitioned the Board of Aldermen for that right and they received it, and they went to the Railroad Commissioners and received that right. It does not require any action of this Board to-day to give them a right to build a new station at Dover and Washington streets. They bave that right already. They have the right to put down four new entrances and exits. They would not have to change the character of their station, as granted under that old permit; hut they come to us and ask the right to change it, and it seems to me it is an opportune moment for us to object to those four entrances and exits. It is the only chance we shall have to object. It is not going to stop the Elevated from building this new station. If we should vote against this order to-day, turning down their request, they would still have a right to go ahead and huild their station as they originally planned. It is not going to hlock the new station, not going to stop the Elevated. It is simply registering our protest against what has already heen granted—these four new entrances and exits. The old Board of Aldermen, a Board to which I think no memher of this body helonged, granted that right, and this Board may very well feel differently on the subject of four entrances and exits there. You are not only going to inconvenience and incommode the foot passengers on the sidewalk, giving them only 3 feet of space at what all of us know to he one of the busiest corners in Boston, hut you are going to crowd some of the foot passengers off into the street and thereby inconvenience the traffic generally. That corner now is one of the most congested corners in Boston, with cars, trucks, teams and foot passengers. The surface cars not only run north and south, and east and west, but they are continually going from Washington street onto Dover street and vice versa, turning the corner, so that you cannot get a much worse tangle than exists at that point. It will leave only 3 feet of the sidewalk for foot passengers, and it will he necessary for them to get off into the street, into a street already crowded with cars and with trucking from South Boston to Boston. That trucking will also probahly increase in the future. I think there is an opportunity for this Board not to stop the new station, because we cannot do that, haven't it in our power, hut merely to vote against this measure as a protest against the four entrances and exits granted in connection with the new station.

Coun. KENNY—Mr. President, I would ask the gentleman at which corner he assumes that there will he but a 3-foot passageway on the sidewalk.

Coun. SMITH—According to the plans that the Elevated has submitted it is the corner now occupied by a cigar store. To be more specific, it is the corner on the South Boston side of the street, and the intown side of the street,—that is, the northeast corner. Practically the same conditions would remain on two of the other corners. That is almost the identical distance that would be left there. The only corner that would have any decent space at all would be the corner where the Grand Opera House now is. We are not passing upon the question whether the Elevated can have a station or not; we are simply entering our protest against that old plan which gives the citizens of Boston using that street only 3 feet of passageway.

Coun. HALE—Mr. President, I would like to say that I hope very much that this will not be carried to-day. I have felt all along that one of the main trouhles with our transportation in Boston is the lack of careful foresight and real study. Here we have a chance not to stop the improvement, as Coun. Smith says, because we have not the legal authority to do that, hut to enter our protest against something that everybody ten years from now will he cursing. What is the use of doing that? I think we ought to advocate, as Coun. Smith says, baving them change their station to the junction of Pleasant street and Washington street, where they will have plenty of room for a good station and where everybody will be served. I think they, as well as we, ought to look farther ahead than the immediate future. I think to have a station at the corner of Washington and Pleasant streets will in the long run be a far hetter solution of the transportation problems there; and I think we should bold this up, as far as we can, hy protesting and making them work out a careful plan. I have noticed all through the controversy that the Elevated has not taken a single step to help us out or to try to solve the prohlem. They have said that this is the only thing to be done, and I don't think we ought to he bulldozed hy them into accepting what they want in this matter. I shall vote against it.

Coun. CURLEY—Mr. President, I have been present at about every meeting of the Executive Committee when this matter has been under consideration. I am one of those who helieve that some time, and perhaps in the not very distant future, there is a possihility that the elevated structure from Castle street to Dudley street will he taken down. But we have to deal with the present situation. Neither Coun. Smith nor Hale will claim that it is possible to establish an island station, such as obtains at Monument square and at Northampton street, at the junction of Dover and Washington streets. The very fact the councilor points out, that the cars run both ways on Dover street and both ways on Washington street and turn from one street into the other, taken into consideration with the width of Washington street, shows that it is an impossibility to establish an island station there. What is true of Washington and Dover streets would be equally true, and perhaps more true, of the corner of Washington street and Broadway extension, because that is perhaps the narrowest part of Washington street, with the possible exception of the portion near Newspaper row. We have to deal with the present proposition. The number of persons who have been killed or injured because of the crowded character of traffic during certain hours of the day at this particular point is such that it calls for immediate relief.

Coun. HALE—How many? What are the statistics as to the number of people killed or injured?

Coun. CURLEY—Mr. President, I would say that there have been two cases called to my attention within the last year. If there are two that I know of, it is not unreasonable to suppose that there may be twenty times two.

Coun. HALE—Deaths?

Coun. CURLEY—Serious injuries; I will not say deaths. This is a proposition that must be dealt with, and I believe in meeting the evil that confronts us. Let the future take care of itself. The time is coming when that structure will be removed from Washington street, but just as long as the structure remains there and traffic remains heavy at this point, we have to consider the problem confronting us. It is a matter that has been hung up in committees for about seven months, and I believe it is now time to act.

Coun. SMITH—Mr. President, I hardly agree with the last speaker in the idea of letting the future take care of itself. I would rather take the matter in hand now and provide wisely for the future. I am trying to look at the matter from the standpoint of the convenience of the public, and not simply with the idea of what the Elevated wishes us to do. I don't think that the Elevated deserves much consideration in the matter. It has certainly treated this body, as representatives of the public, without much consideration, in connection with these plans, if we are to look at it from the public standpoint. If the plan goes through, the public will have only 3 feet of sidewalk space at the corner of Dover and Washington streets. That is the first thing. Now, the public is not only represented by the foot passengers on the sidewalk, but by the teamsters from South Boston to various points in the city. They will have to dodge more people and be held up, resulting in harder traffic conditions, by reason of people being crowded off the sidewalks onto the street, at the corner of Dover and Washington streets. The next point is, how the public is to benefit by holding this up? Pleasant street is to be widened, and is to be a great thoroughfare from South Boston to Boston proper. It is fair to assume that the cars now running cross town from South Boston will run through Pleasant street, instead of Dover street. Therefore, looking only about two years into the future,—which is not a very long look,—people coming from South Boston across Washington street, desiring to transfer to the elevated, will either have to go into the subway or transfer at Washington and Pleasant streets and walk up to the corner of Washington and Dover streets, getting into this new station that the Board is considering. Therefore, the public will be benefited, its convenience will be better suited, if you hold up this order, perhaps forcing the Elevated to build a station at the corner of Pleasant and Washington streets, instead of at the corner of Dover and Washington streets. Another way in which the public will be benefited, people coming down Washington street and desiring to transfer to the South Station, or coming across town to Washington street and wishing to transfer to the elevated and to get to the South Station, can do so more quickly at the corner of Pleasant and Washington streets than at the corner of Dover and Washington streets. In the next place, the public will be benefited by a station at the corner of Pleasant and Washington streets, because the Elevated can use land that is now lying idle, instead of using street space for its exits and entrances. We are not trying to force the Elevated to buy any land. It already owns land at the corner of Pleasant and Washington streets that it can use for a station. By doing so the road will probably also make quicker running time, because at present trains are held up near that point after they have already stopped at Dover and Washington streets, because of the splitting of the road, one part going off to Beach street and the other part to the North Station and Sullivan square through the tunnel. By having a station at the corner of Washington and Pleasant streets, the trains, which are now delayed there anyway, can stop there instead of at the corner of Dover and Washington streets, and thereby save time, not being held up at that point in addition to their stop. I think that is something that should appeal to the Elevated and it is certainly an important point from the standpoint of the public. We have been considering the plan of the Elevated for seven months here, as Coun. Curley says. We have given them every opportunity in the world to offer a substitute plan. They already have a plan upon which they can proceed, under the permit granted by the old Board of Aldermen and the Railroad Commission. I say that the Elevated in this matter does not need further consideration. It is the public that needs consideration. The public is not benefited by this new station at the corner of Washington and Dover streets. It would be better suited by a station at the corner of Pleasant and Washington streets, which is the more natural transfer point, and which would also save time in the running of the trains. There, also, as far as exits and entrances on the street are concerned, they would be placed on the Elevated's property. I say that the public ought to be considered in this matter and that, as representing the public, we should not pass this new order.

Coun. KENNY—Mr. President, the member who has just taken his seat has stated again that the adoption of this order would leave only 3 feet on the sidewalk for the public. Now, Mr. President, I challenge that statement. According to my minutes, which I took at the time of the hearing, and according to my recollection, at no point at any one of these four crossings is the space less than 4 feet. My recollection is that at one point it is only 4 feet, but at the other points it is 5 feet, 5 feet 6 inches, and 6 feet. The member speaks as if there were but 3 feet space at any point from the side of the staircase to the building that fronts on the street. I desire to be understood as saying that I do not agree with that statement. In the next place I don't think we ought to undertake to force upon the Elevated Railroad at this time the matter of placing the station at the corner of Broadway and Washington streets. If later on Pleasant street is to be widened and if it seems advisable to place a station there, I have no doubt that the railroad will consider the advisability of doing so. But I would maintain that Dover street was the most important point, as between the two, for a station. People coming from Roxbury, the Back Bay and the South End, come to Dover street first. That is the first avenue that extends to South Boston or that extends westerly from the South End to Roxbury. I am not a stranger to that locality. I have lived in South Boston all my life, have been up and down Dover street frequently, and have had occasion to use the street continually. I know the conditions there perhaps just as well as the member who has just taken his seat, and I say that it would be a very great error to take away from Dover street and Washington street the elevated station.

Coun. SMITH—Mr. President, of course I don't want to enter into any controversy as to just the amount of space that would be left there. I am simply quoting the counsel for the Elevated who, according to my remembrance, stated time and time again that there was only 3 feet left at one corner and an inch or two more at other corners, that there was only one corner of the four that would have a decent passageway for the public. Of course, that is a matter of record and easily verified. Perhaps Coun. Kenny does not remember that the counsel for the Elevated told us that they would have to set the steps back from the curb somewhat, thus taking up a part of the space, because of the hubs of heavy teams, which would overlap the curb 5 or 6 inches. So that cuts down the extra space. But, apart from the exact number of inches that would be left, that being a matter of record and not a point to discuss, I do not wish to be misunderstood in my position upon this matter. I am not trying to force the Elevated to buy any corner lot or to build a station at the corner of Pleasant and Washington streets. I want to point out again that the Elevated asked for a new location at Dover and Washington streets from the old Board of Aldermen and that they were granted that location. That was permitted by the Railroad Commissioners also, and if we turn this down to-day, vote against it, the Elevated can still go right ahead and build a new station there. But if you refuse to vote for this order you are simply protesting against allowing four entrances and exits, which they are allowed to put in under the old plan, but which we would thereby be registering our protest against under the proposed new plan. This simply means entering a protest. They can go ahead, of course, and build under the permit they have already received if we hold this up. But we are simply protesting. I would not claim for a moment that if we refused to grant this the road cannot go ahead and build. It can do so under the permission it has already received. But this does give us a chance to register our opinion of the thing. We are not trying to force anything on them. We are only entering a protest, and I think the protest is well grounded. If they are going to spend a quarter of a million dollars on this new station, we ought, as representatives of the people in this Council and looking out for the people's interests, to protest against their putting a quarter of a million dollar station there at Dover and Washington streets that leaves for the public only a 3-foot passageway. If they are going to build such a permanent station, we ought, looking to the future, to say that 3 feet is not enough space for the public of the city at an important point like that.

President COLLINS—The Chair will state, before voting upon this question, that every time when this matter has been before the Council for consideration the Chair has favored a postponement, his purpose being that there might be some satisfactory solution of the problem. But nothing of the sort has been forthcoming, although some months have passed. As one who uses the elevated every day and who comes in daily contact with the crowds at Dover street, as one who knows the frightfully inadequate facilities there at the present time and who believes that this plan which has been presented is the best plan practicable at that point, although at the same time realizing the bad feature of it that has been referred to, the Chair will vote in favor of the order.

The report was accepted and the order declared passed. Coun. HALE doubted the vote and asked for the yeas and nays.

The report was accepted and the order passed, yeas 6, nays 3.

Yeas—Coun. Attridge, Ballantyne, Collins, Curley, Kenny, McDonald—6.

Nays—Coun. Buckley, Hale, Smith—3.

10. Report on the message of the Mayor and order (referred October 16) for the transfer of $90,000 from the Reserve Fund to an appropriation for Municipal Building, Ward 7—that the order ought to pass.

The question came on accepting the report.

Coun. HALE—Mr. President, I would like to move — not in any spirit of opposition to this improvement, because I have already committed myself several times as in favor of it — that action upon the matter be postponed until after the meeting of the Executive Committee to-day. A certain new question has come up since our last meeting which I think renders it essential that we should delay before we pass certain of these votes,— that is, in addition to this building the playground for Ward 2 and the East Boston library,— namely, the question of the extent of the proposed expenditure for fire apparatus and equipment. The Mayor has gone over the matter very carefully with Commissioner Daly. I understand that Mr. Daly's estimate of the amount needed for changing of the fire-alarm system and various other things, purchase of hose and automobile apparatus, is between half a million and three-quarters of a million dollars. This expense of half a million or three-quarters of a million dollars is an expense that nobody can justify out of a loan, because it is not a permanent improvement, no matter whether you agree with Coun. Smith and myself that expense for permanent improvements ought to come out of loans or with the majority of the Council that they ought to come out of the tax levy. No member of this Council can advocate taking the money to be expended for such improvements as I have referred to in connection with the Fire Department out of loans. We will be faced next year, when this Fire Department question comes up, with the alternative of either increasing the tax rate between 25 and 50 cents or of having to borrow for this thing, for which we really should not borrow. It seems to me the thing to do would be to transfer $250,000 from the Reserve Fund this year for the purchase of fire apparatus and equipment. That will be only about a third of the total, but it will be a big help and may obviate the necessity of advancing the tax rate next year — a thing which we would all hesitate before doing. I have already spoken to the Mayor's office and hoped that he would have sent in by this time an appropriation or transfer covering this. He has evidently not had time to do it yet, however. I have here a resolution transferring $250,000 from the Reserve Fund for that purpose. We have heard many debates this year as to the great need of fire protection, particularly in your part of the city, Mr. Chairman, as well as in other parts of the city; and I hope very much that we will delay acting upon these other matters until we can talk over in executive session — and in the Board later if it is desired — the question of how we are going to raise this three-quarters of a million dollars for the fire service. That is the reason why I make this motion.

President COLLINS—Coun. Hale moves that this matter lie on the table.

Coun. HALE—I am ready to limit the motion so that the matter will lie on the table until we have had a committee meeting to-day and have had a chance to confer with the Mayor and with Commissioner Daly.

It was voted that action upon the transfer orders for Municipal Building, Ward 7, Branch Library, East Boston, and Ward 2 Playground be postponed until after the Executive Committee meeting.

Coun. HALE—At this time I would like to offer, so that it may go with the papers, the rough draft of a resolution, because it deals with a matter which should be discussed at the same time.

Coun. HALE offered the following:

Resolved, That the sum of $250,000 should be set aside from the Reserve Fund for the purchase of fire apparatus and equipment, and that his Honor the Mayor be requested to send in a transfer order covering the same.

President COLLINS—The resolution will be referred to the Executive Committee, under the rules.

Coun. ATTRIDGE—Mr. President, I don't think that that is in order at this time, in connection with a committee report, to introduce a resolution.

President COLLINS—If there is any objection——

Coun. HALE—Mr. President, I guess Coun. Attridge did not hear what I said. I simply asked the privilege of putting this in so that it would be considered with the papers before the Executive Committee. I don't care to have it discussed now.

Coun. ATTRIDGE—That could be done by the gentleman on this side of the Chamber calling it to the attention of the Executive Committee when the papers are before the committee.

Coun. HALE—I think it will be considered as more formally before the committee, if introduced in this way.

President COLLINS—The resolution will be referred to the Executive Committee.

(11) Report on order (referred May 15) to pay Margaret Donaghue the sum of $500, owing to her husband being killed, recommending the passage of the following:

Ordered, That chapter 171, Acts of 1911, entitled "An Act to Authorize the City of Boston to Pay a Sum of Money to the Widow of George A. Donaghue," be and the same is hereby accepted, and the sum of five hundred dollars be hereby paid to Margaret Donaghue, widow of George A. Donaghue, said sum to be charged to the Reserve Fund.

Report accepted; order passed.

(12) Report on order (referred May 22) that the Board of Street Commissioners charge a fee for all permits for use of Apple Island — recommending the passage of the order in the following new draft:

Ordered, That the Board of Street Commissioners be requested to issue permits for the use of camping sites on Apple Island, Boston Harbor, and charge a nominal fee for the same.

Report accepted; order passed.

EXPENSE OF REMOVING WALL, SEAVER STREET.

Coun. SMITH offered an order—That the Boston Elevated Railway Company be requested to state whether they would bear all or any part of the expense of removing a wall now bounding Franklin Park on Seaver street, adjoining their tracks.

Passed.

INVESTIGATION OF PLAYGROUNDS, WARD 19.

Coun. SMITH offered an order—That the Finance Commission be requested to investigate the location of the playgrounds in Ward 19.

Coun. SMITH—Mr. President, my reason for introducing this order is simply because the fears that I have expressed at the last two meetings of the Council have been borne out by the result, the Park Commissioners having decided to use almost the entire amount of money appropriated for the playgrounds in Ward 19 on Parker street, near the Wentworth Institute, at the extreme end of Ward 19. They have, however, as a kind of sop to Cerherus, planned to take a small back yard on the steep slope now occupied hy a stahle right hack of Tremont street as the only playground for a part of the ward that is more densely populated, a part of the ward that originated the $60,000 loan which we transferred, the part of the ward which really should be most considered. This little hack lot, which is good enough to play marhles in hut is hardly good for anything else, represents the remnant of the appropriation that the part of Ward 19 immediately ahout the Mission Church is to receive. The rest of it is to be spent down around the Fenway, within 1,200 feet of the Fenway Playground. It seems to me that such a disposition of the $100,000 which this hody has granted to Ward 19 should he investigated. It seems to me that prima facie there is some presumption that that money is being spent under certain persuasion which ought to he explained. If, as the St. Alphonsus Association intimated in the communication which I read at the last meeting, one man is interested in getting the money spent in that way, that man ought to he put on the rack and the reason for selecting that exact site found out in detail. There is to be a meeting of the St. Alphonsus Association to-morrow night upon this suhject, entering a strong protest against the expenditure of this money in this way, giving the kite to the Fenway end of the ward and the tail to the Mission Church end, the part of the ward where it was originally intended that the money should he spent. Father —— called me up on the 'phone to-day and asked if anything could now be done, stating that they would have a meeting to-morrow night to enter a protest. He stated also, and I think he did so without any secrecy, that two of the Park Commissioners had been out there previous to the Board's passing the $40,000 additional and had said that they favored the Mission Church getting the hulk of the money, that that was the part of the ward that should have the playground, that it was the part near the schools, a section where 5,000 children were going to the schools, and that there were no schools at all near. Naturally it would he supposed that the Park Commissioners would say that the more congested section would get the bulk of the money. And yet we now hear what they are planning to do. The Mayor himself went out there and looked over the different locations and gave the impression distinctly that the Mission Church end was the one that ought to get the hulk of the money. Therefore, I ask that this order be passed, that the Finance Commission he asked to investigate the spending of this amount of money. It seems to me there is a presumption against spending the money in this way.

Coun. HALE—Mr. President, I think unquestionahly that we ought to pass this order. Two weeks ago these facts were presented to the Council and the Council refused to consider them. The Council said, "It is none of our business where this playground is placed. We are not responsihle for it." The majority of the Council said that, and yet the memhers must have known from the evidence presented to the Council that these were to he the locations of the playground. The majority of the members simply hid behind a technicality. Now that that technicality has heen shoved to one side and we can see the injustice that is being done to the most important part of the ward, arousing a protest from the most important organization in the ward, the organization that is certainly best fitted to determine the needs of the ward in this manner, I hope the Council will do the best it can to make up for its mistake of two weeks ago, and that it will pass this order.

The question came on the passage of the order.

It was voted, on motion of Coun. CURLEY, that the vote he taken hy roll call, and the order was passed, yeas 9, nays 0.

COST OF LAYING OUT WESTERN AVENUE.

Coun. ATTRIDGE offered an order—That the Board of Street Commissioners be requested to furnish the City Council with the estimated cost of laying out and paving Western avenue from the Charles River Bridge to the Watertown line, either as a state highway or under chapter 393 of the Acts of 1906.

Coun. ATTRIDGE—Mr. President, that is under the law the Highway Act. This order is simply introduced for the purpose of finding out the estimated cost of constructing that avenue, which is a great avenue of traffic hetween Boston, Camhridge, Brighton and Watertown. In my opinion, sooner or later the work must be done, and the information received will be of some benefit, I believe, to the members of the City Council.

The order was passed.

ROPING OFF OF RANDOLPH STREET PLAYGROUND.

Coun. ATTRIDGE offered an order—That the City Messenger be authorized to rope off the Randolph Street Playground on November 30, 1911, for the annual foothall game of the Cathedral Young Men's Catholic Association, the expense attending the same to he charged to the appropriation for City Council, Incidental Expenses.

Passed.

REPRINTING OF ORDINANCES.

Coun. ATTRIDGE offered an order—That the City Clerk he instructed to have reprinted an edition of three hundred copies of Document 47 of 1909, heing the ordinances and regulations passed in the municipal year 1908, the expense to be charged to the appropriation for City Documents.

Passed.

MODERN STREET CARS.

Coun. ATTRIDGE offered an order—That the Boston Elevated Railway Company be requested, through his Honor the Mayor, to dispose of the old rolling stock now in use and equip the road with cars of a modern, up-to-date type.

Coun. ATTRIDGE—Mr. President, within the last few months many citizens have spoken to me ahout the old cars, the old rolling stock that is now in use on the surface lines in the streets of Boston. I have had some personal experience on the street cars in the city. I have seen cars on Tremont street which, in my opinion, were made-over cars, cars coming down from the old street car days and now fitted up for purposes of passenger traffic. I have seen on the Washington street line Field's Corner cars that would be a disgrace to any city, cars that held hut twelve persons on a side, the old four-wheeled cars. At the present time, or on June 30, 1911, the equipment of the Elevated is as follows: Box cars, for the surface, 20-foot hody, 282; hox cars, surface, 25-foot hody, 1,163. It is true that the Elevated has put on some new cars. The company has had huilt fifty prepayment cars, so called, which, in my opinion, are modern, up-to-date cars. This pamphlet, which is issued hy the Elevated road (referring to the fourteenth annual repoit of the directors of the road for 1911), states that fifty more of these prepayment cars have been ordered, making a total of one hundred prepayment cars. Boston is supposed to be a modern, up-to-date city, but the street cars in use in Boston do not compare favorably in appearance or in general usefulness with the street cars in many other cities in the country—or, in fact, with the cars used in many of the small cities of the country. I believe that the Elevated Railway Company could very well dispose of some of its old rolling stock, which is unfit at the present time for passenger service, in my opinion, and that it could very properly purchase more of these modern prepayment cars for the benefit of the public. I believe that this little booklet, this report of the directors of the Boston Elevated Railway Company, shows that the Elevated Company is not poor and is not in hard financial straits. This should be done for the benefit of the traveling public. I have personally heard many complaints from citizens of various sections of the city in regard to the car service in that respect.

Coun. SMITH—Mr. President, while I do not in any way wish to defend the cars of the Elevated or the Elevated Company as such, I would like to ask, for information, whether this has any binding force on the Elevated?

Coun. ATTRIDGE—Mr. President, it is just a request from the City Council of Boston, if passed, and has no binding effect. It is just a request from public servants and representatives of the citizens of Boston to the Boston Elevated Railway Company, a public service corporation.

Coun. SMITH—Mr. President, while we all may and undoubtedly do wish better cars on the elevated, before we make such a request as that we would want to know whether it was a reasonable request or not. In order to know whether we are making a reasonable request upon the Elevated, we ought to know what its financial condition is. What its financial condition is has been a mooted point in the Legislature for some years. I don't know whether Coun. Attridge has it at hand or not, but if he is prepared to show us that the Elevated can, without endangering its own financial standing, substitute new cars for old, I shall be glad to vote for such an order.

President COLLINS—The question is on the passage of the order.

Coun. SMITH—Mr. President, I would like to ask a moment's time, if Coun. Attridge wishes it, before he answers the question I have asked. He seems to be looking up some data on the subject.

A little later in the session Coun. ATTRIDGE said:

Mr. President, I have here the fourteenth annual report of the directors of the Boston Elevated Railway Company, for 1911, under date of October 31. In reply to the gentleman on the other side of the Chamber (Coun. Smith), I would say that on page 8 of this report it is stated that a dividend was paid on February 15 of this year of $598,500. That, of course, shows that the Elevated Railway Company is making some money. It is paying a dividend to the stockholders. The general balance sheet, which is on page 12 and page 13, states the assets and liabilities of the Boston Elevated Railway Company. The total assets are $46,778,107.98, and there is a surplus, after deducting liabilities, of $915,659.14—nearly a million dollars surplus. Besides that the Boston Elevated Railway has as a reserve in the treasury $3,991,314.75,—which is, of course, a protection to the company in case of damage suits,—a damage reserve, an insurance reserve, a depreciation reserve and a dividend reserve. Irrespective of that amount of money which is kept here we have $915,000 which the Elevated has as a surplus over and above all its expenses; and, at the same time, adding that to the reserves, which are kept by the company for its protection, it totals nearly four million dollars—$3,991,314.75.

Coun. SMITH—Mr. President, I think Coun. Attridge ought to be thanked for calling these figures to our attention, but really they do not help much, because we don't know yet what reserve the Elevated ought to keep, as a conservative corporation. We don't know yet what it would cost the Elevated to replace old cars with new, as Coun. Attridge has requested. It must be borne in mind that an ordinary electric corporation should set aside each year for depreciation about 22 per cent, and whether or not the Elevated is doing this would be an interesting inquiry. If the Elevated is not earning enough to do this, of course we cannot in fairness ask it to buy new coaches in place of old. Probably Coun. Attridge would be the last man to suggest that the stockholders of the Elevated should receive no dividends whatever. They are only receiving at the present time 6 per cent on their investment, and they cannot receive anything beyond that point without the City of Boston sharing in such dividends. It really seems to me that he has got into a problem which is beyond the scope of this body. I am very glad indeed to request the Elevated to do anything within reason; but, at the same time, I do not want to make an unreasonable request of them, and especially a request made, on my part at least, in ignorance. We might as well attack one corporation in town after another, requesting each of them to give better service in one respect, and possibly we would be hitting the nail on the head in some cases. But I don't think up to the present time that this request has been proven to be a fair request.

Coun. KENNY—Mr. President, I trust that this resolution will go through, for, after all, it is only a quiet way of notifying the Elevated Railroad that its stock is becoming seedy. We cannot make them do what is here requested. No matter how much we may debate the matter this afternoon or evening, it will have no positive bearing on what they may do. But this is merely one way of calling attention to the fact that their rolling stock is becoming seedy, and that we hope they will provide better rolling stock. It is merely the expression of a hope. For that reason I am going to vote for it.

Coun. HALE—Mr. President, through you I would like to ask Coun. Attridge if he has any idea as to the amount of money that has been expended by the company in putting on new cars during the last year?

Coun. ATTRIDGE—Mr. President, I don't know the amount of money which has been spent by the Elevated, but the report of the Elevated here says that the road has built fifty prepayment cars, so called.

Coun. HALE—Mr. President, I think we would probably all agree as to the essence of this order — that is, simply that we feel that the Elevated should make every effort possible, consistent with good service, to put on new cars, and if an order passes the City Council calling attention to the fact that we are not satisfied with the present situation, it would probably hurry them. I would like to suggest amending the order so as to read as follows:

"That the Boston Elevated Railway Company be requested, through his Honor the Mayor, to investigate and report to his Honor upon the practicability of disposing of the old rolling stock now in use and equipping the road with cars of a modern, up-to-date type."

Coun. ATTRIDGE—Mr. President, I have no objection to the amendment as offered by the gentleman on this side of the Chamber. I think the order as amended will serve to call to the attention of the Boston Elevated Railway Company the fact that there are many cars in the streets of Boston to-day used as passenger cars that should not be so used.

The amendment was adopted, and the order as amended was passed.

MUNICIPAL BUILDING, WARD 7.

Coun. HALE offered an order—That the sum of ninety thousand dollars ($90,000) be and hereby is appropriated to be expended under the direction of the Superintendent of Public Buildings for Municipal Building, Ward 7, and that to meet this appropriation the City Treasurer be and hereby is authorized to issue bonds or certificates of the city to said amount.

Referred to the Executive Committee.

BRANCH LIBRARY, EAST BOSTON.

Coun. HALE offered an order—That the sum of fifty thousand dollars ($50,000) be and hereby is appropriated to be expended under the direction of the Trustees of the Boston Public Library for Branch Library, East Boston, and that to meet this appropriation the City Treasurer be and hereby is authorized to issue bonds or certificates of the city to said amount.

Referred to the Executive Committee.

PLAYGROUND, WARD 2.

Coun. HALE offered an order—That the sum of fifty thousand dollars ($50,000) be and hereby is appropriated to be expended under the direction of the Park Commissioners for playground accommodations in Ward 2, and that to meet this appropriation the City Treasurer be and hereby is authorized to issue bonds or certificates of the city to said amount.

Referred to the Executive Committee.

TRACKS ON BEACON STREET.

Coun. BALLANTYNE presented a petition, signed by Charles F. Hill and others, residents of Brighton, asking that surface tracks be laid on Beacon street, from Massachusetts avenue to Charles street.

In connection with the petition Coun. BALLANTYNE offered an order—That his Honor the Mayor be requested to ask the Boston Elevated Railway Company to lay tracks on Beacon street, from Massachusetts avenue to Charles street, for the accommodation of patrons of said railway.

Passed.

FIREMEN'S MEAL HOURS.

Coun. BALLANTYNE offered the following:

Resolved, That it is the opinion of the City Council that the adoption of the recommendations of the Fire Hazard Commission to increase the so-called "periods" of meal hours for firemen from three to four would be a hardship to the members of the department.

Resolved, That in the opinion of the City Council the present system of meal hours should remain unchanged.

Coun. BALLANTYNE—Mr. President, this resolution refers to the arrangement for meal hours for the entire Fire Department. As I understand it, at the present time the meal hour period starts at 6.45 a. m., 11.45 a. m. and 4.45 p. m. That is, there are from three to four men in each company who go to breakfast at 6.45 in the morning, the same number at 8, and the same number at 9.15. Take a company with fourteen men, there are always two, and sometimes three, on days off, and if you let four men out for breakfast or dinner at a time it leaves the company very short handed. There is one period in the forenoon, between 10.30 and 11.45, when the company has its full force in hand, with the exception of the men who are having their days off, and that is the period in which the men are used to performing such duties as devolve upon them by the present regulation —such as the painting of hydrants, the carrying of messages to headquarters, salting of hydrants, and other duties that pertain to their work during that hour. If the system recommended by the Fire Hazard Commission was put into effect it would give us four periods, commencing at 6 a. m., and having the last men return from their meals at 10.15 in the evening. I think that that is a great hardship on men who make it a point to go home to their meals. Where a fireman is going home at six o'clock in the morning, his wife has to get up not later than five to have his breakfast ready for him; and then others are going home at 9.30 in the evening for their dinners. I think it would be very hard for many of these men. Besides, it would be a great hardship on these men to find time to perform these other necessary duties which I have enumerated. Either they would suffer, or the people of the district would suffer from the depleted condition of the company. I sincerely trust that the resolution will pass and that this Council will go on record as favoring these men being treated in a fair manner in the distribution of their meal hours. I have no objection to the suggestion of my brother on the right here (Coun. Hale) to have this matter referred to the Executive Committee, and I would so move.

The resolution was referred to the Executive Committee.

DISTRIBUTION OF BOOKS.

Coun. BALLANTYNE (for Coun. McDonald) offered an order—That from the balance of the edition of the volume entitled "The Consolidated Statutes Relating to the City of Boston, 1908," now in the custody of the City Messenger, one thousand copies be set aside for free distribution under the direction of the Committee on Printing, the remaining copies to be sold and accounted for as provided in the order approved November 7, 1908.

The question came on the passage of the order.

Coun. SMITH—Mr. President, I know nothing about this, whatever. I wonder if Coun. Ballantyne, in Coun. McDonald's absence, can give us any light on what is to be done with the thousand volumes.

President COLLINS—If there is no objection the Chair will refer the order to the Executive Committee.

RECESS TAKEN.

The Council voted at 4.37 o'clock p. m., on motion of Coun. KENNY, to take a recess subject to the call of the President.

The members of the Council reassembled in the Chamber and were called to order by the President at 5.40 o'clock p. m.

COUNTY ACCOUNTS.

Coun. CURLEY, for the Committee on County Accounts, submitted the following:

(1) Report on message and order (referred to-day) transferring $3,000 from the appropriation for Reserve Fund to the appropriation for Superior Court, Civil Session—that the order ought to pass.

Report accepted; order passed, yeas 9.

(2) Report on message of Mayor and communication (referred November 13) relative to additional allowance for clerical assistance in Superior Civil Court—recommending the passage of the following:

Ordered, That in addition to the amounts heretofore allowed for clerical assistance in the office of the clerk of the Superior Court for Civil Business for the County of Suffolk, for the financial year 1911–12, there be allowed the further amount of three thousand dollars; said sum to be charged to the appropriation for County of Suffolk, Superior Court, Civil Session.

Report accepted, order passed, yeas 9.

(3) Report on message of Mayor, petition of clerk of Superior Criminal Court (referred to-day), and order authorizing transfer of $1,500 from the Reserve Fund to the appropriation for Superior Court, Criminal Session— that the order ought to pass.

Report accepted; order passed, yeas 9.

(4) Report on petition of clerk of Superior Criminal Court (referred October 30) for additional allowance for clerical assistance — recommending the passage of the following:

Ordered, That in addition to the amounts heretofore allowed for clerical assistance in the office of the clerk of the Superior Court for Criminal Business for the County of Suffolk, for the financial year 1911–12, there be allowed the further amount of one thousand five hundred dollars ($1,500); said sum to be charged to the appropriation for County of Suffolk, Superior Criminal Court.

Report accepted; order passed, yeas 9.

FINANCING OF MUNICIPAL IMPROVEMENTS.

Coun. ATTRIDGE—Mr. President, I desire to move that the reports and orders from the Executive Committee for the appropriation from the Reserve Fund of $90,000 for the municipal building, Ward 7, $50,000 for branch library, East Boston, and $50,000 for playground, East Boston, with communications, be taken from the table.

Coun. HALE—Mr. President, I rise to a point of order. I don't think all the papers before the Executive Committee and passed upon to-day have been reported as yet. I think they should come up before these orders. I do not understand why the Clerk has not reported them. There are three items on which I know the committee reported "ought not to pass" that have not come in.

President COLLINS—The Executive Committee has as yet made no report.

Coun. HALE—I understand that the vote was passed.

President COLLINS—Yes, the matters were acted upon in committee to-day. The Committee on County Accounts has made a report, but the Executive Committee so far has made no report. Accordingly, the point is not well taken.

Coun. SMITH—Mr. President, I ask whether the proper procedure would not be to wait for the committee's report.

President COLLINS—When a matter is upon the tahle it is in order for the Chair to recognize a motion to take the matter from the tahle. Accordingly, the Chair is constrained to entertain the motion to take from the table, as made.

Coun. SMITH—And yet it is made by Mr. Attridge, the chairman of the Executive Committee, which committee has some reports to make here.

President COLLINS—But thus far there has been no report made from that committee, Coun. Smith.

Coun. SMITH—May I ask Coun. Attridge if he has a report to make for the Executive Committee?

Coun. ATTRIDGE—Mr. President, I desire to say through you that the Executive Committee will make its report this afternoon. There is a report to he made.

Coun. BALLANTYNE—Mr. President, I desire to say that earlier in the session the matters which the councilor has now moved he taken up were laid on the table until after the meeting of the Executive Committee, that nothing was said ahout their remaining on the table until after the report of the Executive Committee. So I trust that the matters will he taken up.

Coun. SMITH—Mr. President, may I ask Coun. Attridge a question?

President COLLINS—By unanimous consent. The Chair will rule that a motion to take from the table is not debatahle, hut that a member is allowed to address the hody by unanimous consent. The Chair hearing no ohjection, the councilor may ask a question.

Coun. SMITH—Mr. President, will Coun. Attridge, as chairman of the Executive Committee, object to stating whether there is any reason for calling up the orders he has called up, giving them precedence to his own reports of the Executive Committee?

Coun. ATTRIDGE—Mr. President, I have no reason—that is, no ulterior purpose or motive—in calling these things from the tahle. As I remember it, Mr. Hale, the gentleman on this side of the Chamher, made a motion to lay those three orders on the table until after the meeting of the Executive Committee, and at the same time he introduced a resolution having a hearing on three orders before the committee. Those matters have heen acted upon by the committee, and I think the procedure I now suggest is a fair one. I am not trying to take any advantage of any member of the Council, but I think the calling up of those three appropriation orders is a fair mode of procedure.

Coun. SMITH—Mr. President, I would like to ask the gentleman a question. If we are reversing the order, and if Coun. Attridge sees no reason for doing it, would he object to having the reports of the committee first?

Coun. McDONALD—Question!

The motion to take the reports and orders referred to from the tahle was carried by a rising vote, 7 to 2.

President COLLINS—If the Chair understands the councilor correctly, the first order that he called up was the order for the municipal building in Ward 7. That order will he taken separately.

The question came on accepting the report of the Executive Committee and passing the order appropriating from the Reserve Fund $90,000 for municipal huilding, Ward 7, reported earlier in the session.

Coun. SMITH—Mr. President, it may as well he stated in connection with this order that there is a report on a loan for this item coming before the hody, and that in dealing with one a person necessarily has to consider the other. It is unfortunate that the report of the Executive Committee could not come first, before this matter was taken up. Then the Council would have been in a position of first passing on the loan order and, as I understand the temper of the Council, killing that order, and then passing on to the appropriation. As it is now, a person must vote on the appropriation not knowing the outcome of the other order. While we are all, I think without exception, in favor of the purpose of the appropriations we may differ radically as to the method of raising the money. Personally my belief is that a new building, involving purchase of land and erection of a huilding, is the proper subject for a loan, especially when the amount of money that we can borrow is ample to cover it. In this opinion I am not alone. I do not intend, of course, to weary the Council on this matter, but will simply say that hy outside authorities the ground that I take is taken for granted. For instance, in the "Literary Digest," the last issue, there is a criticism of city finances, and no suggestion was made that all improvements should come out of taxes. It is taken for granted that cities should make new permanent improvements out of loans. Then, taking the opinions of people around town with whom I have talked, gentlemen whose names you would know if I should mention them and who are the highest authorities on city planning and financing, they are all of one mind on the idea that permanent improvements should be provided for hy loan, that they are proper subjects for the issuing of honds. We must of necessity issue serial honds in this city. We cannot have the old system that the state still uses of issuing bonds to mature at one time, with provision for a sinking fund against them. We under the law issue serial bonds. We cast on generations to come the hurden of paying their part of the improvements hy which they are benefiting. I have even gone farther than to consult local authorities on this subject and to talk with local people of prominence. I have gone as far as Washington. The President's "Commission on Economy" is unequivocally of the same opinion that I am expressing here. I have a letter in my pocket from the head of that commission. I have asked his permission to make it puhlic. I wrote the letter asking his permission Friday and have received no answer as yet. I have no douht, however, that I will have authority to bring that expression of opinion before the public, to the effect that the proper method of financing permanent improvements is hy loans. The question is, whether this year differs from other years? It is said that because the city has had a windfall of $492,000 this is an exceptional year. Quite right, it is an exceptional year; hut we have exceptional expenses to meet, and in view of those expenses there is no reason why we should digress from the ordinary rule of making permanent improvements from loans, no reason whatever. We have the Cove Street Bridge, a debt on the city which cannot be met by loan, that must he met from the tax levy. Nobody would favor borrowing money to pay damages on a bridge. We must take that out of the tax levy, and Mr. Mitchell, the auditor of the city, tells me that there is no way of judging whether that will he three-quarters of a million or a million and a half dollars. There is a contingency against which we should maintain a large amount of reserve. There is the fire apparatus. The Mayor's own commission has recommended spending three-quarters of a million dollars to purchase fire apparatus. As one, I am not in favor of buying fire apparatus hy loan; and there is a large amount of money that we ought to keep at least something of the reserve against. I want to see the apparatus of the city changed over. Such districts as Parker Hill ought to have automobile apparatus. Not only that, hut Dorchester ought to have it, in order to reach the scene of a fire quickly; and if this figure of $750,000 is anywhere near the mark, we ought to keep some money in the Reserve Fund against it. Then, there is the matter of pensions. Under the law we are ohliged to pension off the Civil War veterans. We have asked in this body time and time again some estimate of the amount that the pensions will take. Nobody would advocate taking those pensions out of loans. I don't suppose even the most radical memher of the Board on matters of high finance would advocate taking it out of loans. And yet we are faced with that amount of money, which is a douhtful quantity. We don't know whether it is going to take $100,000 or half a million dollars. There are three subjects against which we ought to maintain some rescrve. We ought to maintain some reserve against the ordinary contingencies of disaster—about $100,000 at this time of year. It seems to me we have ample use for the Reserve Fund now on hand and we should build these permanent improvements, according to all the authorities on finance, out of loans. Under these orders we are asked to build them out of appropriations. I am heartily in favor of Ward 7 having a municipal building. I think I have advocated it as much as anyhody here; and I am also heartily in favor of the other matters coming up to-day. In the matter of a playground for East Boston and a library for East Boston, my position has always been in favor of the playgrounds and certainly nobody has heen more active on this floor than I for additional hranch libraries. Yet I sincerely helieve—and I think my helief is horne out hy facts—that you are building these permanent improvements in the wrong way, that in building them out of appropriations you are dccreasing your Reserve Fund, and that you ought to huild them out of loans, because you have loan money enough available to borrow for these purposes. I hope the loan orders will he taken up in connection with this discussion of appropriations for these objects.

Coun. HALE—Mr. President, without going into a discussion of the theory that should he recognized, all I have to say on the matter is that I agree heartily with Coun. Smith, and that President Taft's commission, which has heen investigating in New York, and is now investigating the federal departments, also says that in theory permanent improvements ought to come out of loans and not out of tax levies. But, waiving the theoretical discussion, I want to point out just exactly where this action of the Council is leading, so far as I can. In City Affairs of September last the Good Government Association published quite an exposition of the attitude that the Council ought to take in regard to permanent improvements. The first step which they advocated, which they suggested and which was later indorsed and adopted hy a majority of the members of the City Council, was to take the strictly recurrent permanent improvements out of the tax rate,—those specifically mentioned by the Good Government Association being three in numbers, sewers, making of highways and schools. Everyhody who has gone into the suhject with any care at all—and I think I would include the whole Council, hecause I think we are all agreed on that particular point—would say that the permanent improvements which are strictly recurrent are the ones which ought to be first taken out of the tax rate ahead of the miscellaneous permanent improvements which are not annually recurring. I think we are all agreed on that. The Good Government Association has expressly stated that that is its opinion, I know it is Coun. Smith's and my opinion, and I presume it is the opinion of the rest of the Council. Now, we have at present $408,000 in the Reserve Fund. Next year we have the alternative of putting up the tax rate 50 cents, or of taking hack the position which we have stood for this year and which the Good Government Association has advocated. I can see no way out of that, and I do not believe any memher of the Council can see a way out of it. The sewers that we can without legislative act take out of the tax rate amount to $300,000. The Council, to maintain the attitude taken this year,—and I think the right attitude—ought to go to the Legislature and advocate changing the law in regard to separate system of drainage so that that $500,000 might come out of the tax rate. That is the policy advocated by the Good Government Association, and it has heen accepted by the Council. That would mean $800,000. That is going to result in an increase in the tax rate of over 50 cents. I have not said a word so far about this question of fire apparatus and equipment, for which Mr. Daly says $750,000 is needed, or ahout the seventy-five or one hundred additional firemen, which were so strenuously advocated earlier in the session. In other words, gentlemen, we have got to decide to-day what the action we are to take is going to mean. Certainly, if Mr. Smith's and my attitude is correct, if any improvements ought to come out of loans these improvements now proposed should. If we do not adopt the policy advocated by Mr. Smith and myself to-day we will have to decide next year between an increase of the tax rate, which means practically a $17 tax rate, or you will have to take back your position of this year; and I would hate to have the Council do either. I agree with the position you have taken this year on strictly recurrent permanent improvements, and have from the first; hut these matters now before us are entirely different. Certainly we do not want a $17 tax rate. I hope you realize that that is the alternative you are running into, and I hope you will not allow personal friction and personal desire to overcome the votes of Mr. Smith and myself; that you will not allow anything of the sort to overcome your foresight and wisdom as to what is to happen next year.

Coun. KENNY—Mr. President, it seems that every time this subject of transfer or appropriation is hrought up the special financial policy of some memhers must he aired here. As I understand it, a $16.40 tax hill this year meant ahout a million dollars surplus, more than the current needs of the city required in the way of fixed expenditures; that our tax bill of $16.40 not only paid the running expenses of the city, but left us almost or ahout a million dollars in excess of what might he used——

Coun. HALE—Mr. President, I would like to ask the gentleman a question. Will he please tell the Council how much unexpended surplus was received from the year hefore?

Coun. KENNY—At the heginning of this year there was $1,400,000 in the treasury, which remained over from last year. At the heginning of the first year of Mayor Fitzgerald's present administration he had ahout $900,000 from Mayor Hihbard's administration. Of the $1,400,000 left from last year we spent $800,000 at the heginning of the year for a new City Hall. But I say again that under the $16.40 tax bill this year we had about a million dollars more than was necessary to run the City of Boston. Now, what do we stand for? We say that this excess shall he spent for what? For suhstantial permanent improvements, and that until that money is spent we are against horrowing money. That is the position of the Council and that is the policy of the Council. We do not propose to pile up the deht of the city, which is to-day the third largest per capita debt in the country, and, including the metropolitan park deht, the largest municipal debt in the country. We say that the City of Boston, for the preservation of its securities, its credit and the good name of the city, must stop horrowing money, and that we must spend the money that the citizens are gladly contributing hy way of taxes hefore we borrow money.

Coun. HALE—Mr. President, may I ask the gentleman a question?

Coun. KENNY—No. I think the gentleman had hetter make a minute of what he wishes to ask, and when I have finished I can answer just as well. Therefore I say that that is the policy of this Council, so far as we can—to stop horrowing money, to stop piling up the deht, to stop looking for avenues of expenditure. Here is an opportunity. We have the money. Here is a chance for investments, if you please. I call them investments when they are paid for. I think the $800,000 that we spent this year for a new City Hall is the best money the city ever spent. Talk ahout borrowing money. Look at what has been done in the past. Go up School street, Tremont street, to any part of Boston, and what do you find? Streets paved out of loans. Just think of it,—the City of Boston borrowing money to pave its streets. That policy has heen arrested, that policy has been stopped in Boston; and the stopping of it is in line with the pay-as-you-go policy when you have the money, not horrowing money when you have it on hand. I say, let us judiciously and wisely spend this excess, this sum greater than is required; spend it judiciously, for the henefit of the people of Boston, and stop piling up the deht. The people of Boston are willing, so far as I am able to judge, to meet a $16.40 tax bill. I remember when we made our visitations a year ago, last winter, one gentleman in Charlestown, if I remember, Mr. O'Riorden, who got up and said, "Gentlemen, let the tax bill he what it should he. We are willing to pay our taxes, hut give us the henefit, give us some improvements." That is what we are doing. We are taking the money the citizens have suhscrihed and are spending it for the City of Boston. The action that the Council is ahout to take is, I think, in line with good finance, good common sense, good judgment. It is applying to the husiness of the citizens of Boston the same rules that we would apply to our own business; and when we do that, Mr. President, we cannot he in error.

Coun. HALE—Mr. President, as far as the $16.40 tax rate giving a million dollars extra, that is a question of fact. I simply doubt Mr. Kenny's figures. It is not a question of argument. As far as the question of horrowing is concerned, I am awfully sorry if I did not make it clear that the question before us is not now exactly what we have had in the past. The question, in my mind, is whether this year we are going to borrow for a library, a ward room and a playground, or whether next year we are going to have to borrow for fire apparatus or for sewers? It is not a question, as it was possibly at the beginning of the year when we had a larger Reserve Fund, as to the theoretical question on which Coun. Smith and I believe one thing and Coun. Kenny and the rest of the Council—with some possible exceptions—believe another thing. It is simply a question of whether we are going to borrow now for these really permanent improvements, or whether we are going to be in the position next year of having to borrow for things like paving, a practice which Coun. Kenny so ably denounces, and in that attitude nobody is more in sympathy with him than I. I hope the Council realizes that that is the question, and not the other question; that the issue before us may not be befogged, and that the Council may not this year take a stand which it will be sorry in years to come, after careful analysis of the principles involved, that it took.

Coun. SMITH—Mr. President, I think Coun. Hale has ably set forth the exact question before us—whether we should borrow now for permanent improvements, and then not be able next year to pay out of the tax levy for the annually recurring expenses, such as sewers, highways and schools? That is the exact question before us. As long as the question of theory has been raised, however, it may be necessary to say one or two more words. Nobody here, of course, is advocating the old style of loan. Any reference to loans for the paving of streets is entirely out of place, because nobody that I know of in this Council is advocating any such loan. What we are advocating is what has been advocated and accepted as a fact in all cities, that for permanent improvements you shall borrow money. In Boston we must borrow that money in a serial form, so that, instead of taking it all out of the tax rate and paying for it all in advance, and throwing all the burden on the taxpayers of one year, you are distributing that burden over the taxpayers of several years, within the life of the improvement, among the years that are benefiting, profiting by that improvement. That is the only question, as far as theory is concerned, and there is no question on that point except in this Council. Nobody outside, no other city, considers such a proposition as building a City Hall, for instance, and laying the entire burden on the taxpayers of one year. I frankly say that I regret my vote on that City Hall proposition. Why, the idea of it. Springfield and Portland, Me., to-day are building city halls, and would not think of requiring the taxpayers of one year to pay for them, when the taxpayers for a great many years to come are going to enjoy those city halls. The proposition would not even be considered or suggested; and yet the majority here believe, and I presume honestly believe, that the taxpayers of last year should be soaked $800,000 for a City Hall, which is to last perhaps for the next fifty years. That is the theory, in a nutshell. I frankly regret my vote on the City Hall matter, and do not believe it was proper financiering. Springfield builds its city hall from bonds, as does Portland, Me., and any permanent acquisition to the city, such as a playground, a new building, a new creation of capital, is a proper subject for bonded indebtedness, especially when it is regarded as a serial issue and distributed over a number of years. The reference to what we do in our private business is a good one, but I think it is wrongly stated. Any big business corporation in this country would bond a permanent improvement, because it is the cheapest method of financing that improvement. They all recognize the fact, that if they are to buy 20,000,000 acres of land or build a $100,000,000 station, the stockholders of a particular year should not be expected to bear the burden of that. You ought not to take away all the earnings of that one year from the stockholders and put them into any one permanent improvement, such as a station. No more should you take all the money from the taxpayers of one year and put it into a new City Hall. This is a perfectly simple proposition. It does not seem to me that there is a question of doubt on that point. The newspapers of Boston do not seem to have any question in regard to it. The Boston Globe comes out frankly and states that the bonding method is the correct method, and even the Herald, which started on one side and wound up on the other side, its last position being that these permanent improvements should be built out of loans. The President's commission on "Economy and Efficiency" frankly takes that attitude; the professors who write on the subject frankly take that attitude; you talk to big business men of the city and you will find that they frankly take that attitude. The only question possible is whether this year differs from other years. I have pointed out where I think it does not differ. While we had a windfall this year, and the burden on the citizens is smaller, nevertheless the things we have had to face and pay for out of appropriations have increased proportionately. We have the Cove Street Bridge hanging over us, the increased fire apparatus that is necessary. We have the pensions and we have necessary expenses under the garbage contract. I believe those are burdens which will offset the extra Reserve Fund. I certainly hope that the Council to-day can thrash this matter out and take a final stand upon it. I for one am thoroughly in favor of paying for these permanent improvements out of loans, and I am going to take this attitude on this special question. If this body sees fit to take this money from appropriations, I am going to vote against it, for this reason, that it will not affect the vote itself. You will have a majority, just the same. The improvement will be accomplished. If I thought the improvement was in danger, in spite of my belief that it is being done in the wrong manner, I would vote for it. I frankly am in favor of every one of these three improvements, and I shall vote in favor of them if there is danger of their being lost; but if the majority of this Council is so much against me that I can safely vote in opposition, I will do so, simply to register my protest against the method by which the money is being raised. I want to make that perfectly plain, that I am voting in protest against the way in which the money is being raised and not against the objects themselves.

Coun. KENNY—Mr. President, I wish simply to add one or two words to what I have already said. To hear the argument of the member who has just taken his seat you would think that the moneys that have already been spent in years past counted for nothing. In other words, we are enjoying to-day in this city, buildings, parks and other facilities which have already been paid for by the generations in the past. According to his view, there is nothing here which has been paid for by those who have preceded us, and everything we do now or hereafter must be paid for in serial form, in order to ratably or equitably apportion the expense,— forgetting that we have in Boston to-day ——

Coun. SMITH—Mr. President, I would like to say just a word—not a question, but simply a correction of the statement as to my position. I do not wish to be mis-stated, that is all, if I am allowed to explain my position. I would like to ask the gentleman if I may be allowed to explain it.

Coun. KENNY—Mr. President, I would rather have the gentleman wait until I get through. You will then have an opportunity,— forgetting that we in Boston to-day are enjoying millions of dollars' worth of property already paid for. Now, doesn't one hand wash the other? I object to having it stated on the floor of the body that this Council is against borrowing money. Of course, we must borrow money at times. If the gentleman will look at page 30 of the last auditor's monthly report, dated November 1, he will see there a list of loans, money borrowed this year, totaling almost $3,000,000. Some of these loans were fixed by statute and were compulsory. We were obliged to borrow the money. So let us be clear on this matter. Let it not go out that we are against borrowing money. There are times when we must do so. But why, in the name of common sense, when we have a million dollars more than is necessary, raised by taxation, should we not spend that money judiciously and fairly? If there is any reason, it is beyond my comprehension. The member from Ward 11 (Coun. Hale) raises some question about my figures. I think if he studies the situation he will find that my figures are about correct. We put about half a million dollars in the Reserve Fund this year and appropriated in the summer out of that something approaching $300,000 in special appropriations, which might very well be first put into the Reserve Fund. In view of the fact that I believe we are going to have $700,000 or $800,000 on hand this year, unexpended from the departments, that I have not considered at all,— and it is not entirely in view of that fact, either, but nevertheless we are likely to have that amount,— that will bring it up to over a million dollars. But I do not object to this $16.40 tax hill. I think it is a just tax bill. I think the people are prepared to pay such a tax bill. I only say, let us get out of that money all we can for the advantage of the city.

Coun. HALE—As far as the figures $700,000 or $800,000 that the gentleman has referred to are concerned, I will only say what I said about the other million, that I douht it. I have talked with the City Auditor and the Mayor, and I believe there is no idea on the part of either of them that there will he the $700,000 or $800,000 spoken of. Anyway, it is only a question of guesswork. On this matter I would like to give a little historical expression of my views. Five or ten years ago the theory at City Hall—if there was any theory at all — was that you could issue honds for anything, and honds were issued indiscriminately. As Coun. Kenny says, paving was paid for out of honds, and all kinds of current expenses were paid out of honds. Then, three or four years ago, Mr. Ernst, for the School Committee, devised what was then considered a more or less revolutionary theory — that where a permanent improvement was bound to come every single year with the growth of the city it would be good financial policy to take that kind of permanent improvement out of the tax rate. I remember that ten years before Mr. Ernst made that suggestion an article was written to that effect in one of the economic monthlies, hy Mr. Durand, now director of the United States Census, suggesting that as a possible theory. I personally am in hearty accord with that theory. That was the first step, as I said before, advocated hy the Good Government Association of this city, and in this city there are three items that come in under that, the sewers, the highways and the schools. Aside from this question, taking miscellaneous improvements, permanent improvements, like lihraries, playgrounds, city halls, and so on, as Coun. Smith has said, we think, and we helieve the majority of the people outside of this City Council think, that they should come out of bonds. But there is another side of this question which we have not touched on and that I want to touch on now. Admitting for the sake of the argument that the majority of the Council are right and that Mr. Smith and I are wrong in regard to the horrowing of money for permanent improvements, another factor comes into the situation. As you prohahly all know, the amount of money which the city can raise in any one year by taxes is limited by statute. Now, I have been over for the last six years very carefully the amount appropriated and the amount legally possihle to appropriate, and I find that that sum varies from $600,000 to $1,200,000. I think those figures are rough, hut they are approximate. The figure certainly does not exceed $1,200,000. I have stated it on the conservative side. In other words, there is a margin of a little over a million dollars which the city can take out of the tax rate or by tax levy, greater than it needs for ordinary current expenses. The increase in valuation hy which the tax limit is fixed has heen figured to just about keep up with the increase in current expenses necessary. Mayor McClellan, in a very interesting article on New York's financial condition, says he does not think it quite keeps up. The ordinary current expenses grow just a little but faster than the increased valuation. So you cannot count on anything in the way of increase of the margin that you can spend from the tax levy. Possihly you ought to allow for a little bit of decrease in the margin. But I have put it at $1,200,000. Now, how are we going to use that $1,200,000 which we can raise hy taxes? In the first place, schools, $500,000; in the second place, separate system of drainage, ahout $500,000; in the third place, sewers, $300,000. That is $1,300,000. In the fourth place, there are highways, $250,000. Those are the four items particularly emphasized by the Good Government Association in this article referred to in City Affairs. Those are the items that people like Mr. Ernst, who originated this idea, and which Mr. Durand, in his article in the "Economic Monthly," advocated. In other words, those four items that all people who are studying the subject, including the Good Government Association, agree on, will more than use up all the money we can spend out of the tax rate. Now, realize that and see what you are coming to. The first step advocated by the Good Government Association is legally impossible under the existing statute. Now, the stand taken by Mr. Smith and myself — and I don't think I am misquoting you, Mr. Smith,— is this. We helieve in taking this first step in so far as it is legal. We believe in getting at it gradually. We have on hand now, by good fortune, this $500,000, and we say this is a good opportunity to put into practice partially the first step. We cannot put the whole of it into effect, hecause it would be against the laws of Massachusetts; hut we can take the $300,000 for sewers, $250,000 for highways, and I understand that the Mayor has already made an arrangement so that the schools will come out of the tax rate. In other words, that uses up a million dollars. I think the auditor will say that we certainly ought to leave $200,000 or $300,000 of the possible money that can he appropriated for cases of emergency, where we have to raise a special amount. But, bc that as it may, we very strongly believe in taking the first step hefore we take the second. We believe if we took the whole first step in any one year there would be such an outcry from the taxpayers at the increased tax rate that the whole thing would be stopped. We helieve that you have to administer this new policy in small doses to have it swallowed hy the people. We helieve strongly in taking the first step. We believe we arc more in favor of it than you are, hecause we believe we are putting it in a way where it will stay down. I helieve firmly that if we try to take the whole of the first step this year, without making a cushion, approaching it gradually so that there will not be a reaction, there would he a revolution all over the city and we would get back much nearer to the old system of borrowing for anything. In other words, your policy of appropriating money from the tax levy for miscellaneous puhlic improvements, like a library, playground, ward building, is legally impossihle in any year except in a year where we get money like the Shaw Fund. That is a thing that I want to emphasize again and again, that the policy you people are all standing for is legally impossible in any year except in a year where we get some such windfall. It may be suggested, in a year when we do get a windfall, why not depart from our principles and our financial theory, adopting the theory you are advocating in this particular year, and that again, possibly in 1915 or 1916, another Shaw, or some other estate, may give us another amount of money, and we can put this method in practice again. It seems to me there arc two very good answers to that. The first answer Mr. Smith gave, that we have here needs of the city just exactly as crying as these needs you are advocating now, which ought not to he suhjects of loan. We have referred to this $750,000 necessary for the Fire Department, some part of which will have to be expended in order to get our fire apparatus up to modern conditions, in order to protect the people. We have facing the department the necessity of fifty extra firemen, which we are all unanimously in favor of, and which will cost $50,000 to $75,000. Then we have sewers and highways for next year, and if you should try to provide for all of these things out of the tax rate at that time, it would make the rate go up greatly. That is the first reason why I do not helieve in departing from correct financial principles in order to meet emergencies of this particular year. The second reason is one more vital. You will find, in reading the controversies upon good city government, all through the United States and in all the movements to improve conditions, tremendous stress laid upon the principle of uniform accounting. I don't think the importance of that principle can he exaggerated. You have to remember, as all these experts say, that the greatest way to get away with graft is to juggle figures. Every time when you people come in here and monkey with a financial principle—which is just what you are doing this year—you are giving more of a chance for graft. I don't think the importance of that can be overestimated. It is a tremendously important argument. To illustrate, supposing this year we had a $16.40 tax rate and next year a $17 or $18 tax rate. You come to look over the account, just like this last auditor's report for last year. There is nothing by which you can tell from that what proportion of that was spent for permanent improvements and what proportion for current expenses. Thc tax rate itself, if you adopt this way of doing things, is no register whatever of economy. The danger of not having a uniform system of accounting was very well illustrated in the last three inaugurals. Mr. Hihhard, in his last inaugural, as I remember it, talked about his tax rate of $15.90, and then goes on to explain that that $15.90 tax rate is not a real test of his economy, because he took certain things out of the tax rate that normally would come out of loans. . Mayor Fitzgerald in his first and second inaugurals states: "I have raised the tax rate to $16.40, but it really does not mean any increase in extravagance, because I have taken a part of it for permanent improvements." So you see the minute you get to the auditor's reports they signify nothing unless you have some uniform system of accounting. In other words, any executive or City Council can juggle the figures. If you don't believe me, feeling that I do not know much about it, you can refer to the last books and reports on uniform accounting, and you can see the necessity of keeping accounts straight. I cannot overestimate the importance of it or tell you how strongly I feel on that question. But we ought to have some uniform system. We ought to get together and say that we believe, for instance, in taking current expenses out of taxes; that we believe in taking the first steps toward defraying such recurrent expenses as have been referred to—such as schools, highways and possibly sewers—out of the tax rate, going as far as the taxpayers will stand it in that matter. But let us get out of this haphazard way of doing things,—for instance, taking this year a library out of the tax rate and providing perhaps next year for sewers or highways out of loans. There has been no method whatever in our procedure. Last year we took half of Curtis Hall out of loan, and this year the other half out of the tax rate. How under the name of Heaven can we get uniform accounting if we go along like that? We can't expect anything but a patchwork quilt. I believe in adopting a definite financial policy on this question of what we shall spend for out of loans and what out of the tax rate. Then I believe, having adopted such a policy, that we should stick to it, so that there will be no financial juggling of the figures in connection with the tax rates and loans in a way that we have been familiar with in the past. If we adopt a definite policy, we will be in line with the movement all over this country for uniform municipal accounting.

Coun. McDONALD—Mr. Chairman, I move that the debate close at 6.33 o'clock, unless the closing of debate is sooner reached.

(It was now 6.31 p. m.)

The motion was declared carried by a rising vote, 6 to 2.

Coun. CURLEY—Mr. President, I have listened with great attention to the presentation made by the councilor on my right, Mr. Hale, and also that made by Coun. Smith, and I wish to say that I believe they are absolutely sound on this proposition, under ordinary conditions. But, Mr. President, in this case, in my opinion, we are dealing with an extraordinary condition. A certain sum of money becomes available for use by the city that was never anticipated when the tax levy was made, and that is available for necessary purposes. Great stress is laid upon the possibility of later being compelled to borrow $250,000 or $300,000 to meet what might be called current expenses in connection with the needs of the Fire Department. That particular proposition should not give this City Council any great concern because after all perhaps the most needless appropriation that was made in the present year was the appropriation of $300,000 for the purchase of questionable lighting devices for the city's lamps, and there is a possibility that if a contingency should arise a reconsideration might be had of that vote and that money obtained for other purposes, for such purposes as have been referred to by the gentleman. I want, however, to congratulate Coun. Hale on the study he has made of the proposition and say to him that if the Shaw money were not available I would continue to vote with him on that proposition and others of a similar character. My only reason for voting as I do at the present time is that we are not dealing with an ordinary condition but with an extraordinary one that may never arise again.

Coun. SMITH—Mr. President, Coun. Kenny has said that he is sometimes in favor of borrowing money for permanent improvements. I am glad to hear that. I do not wish to be personal, but perhaps his record in the Council might or might not make it clear as to what he considers are necessary matters to borrow for. Taking up permanent improvements, first, undoubtedly a permanent improvement was the playground in Ward 20. There was no question that the majority of the Council was very glad to vote——

Coun. McDONALD—Mr. President, I rise to a point of order, that the Council passed a vote to close debate and take a vote at 6.33 p. m., and that it is now 6.35 p. m.

President COLLINS—The point is well taken.

Coun. HALE—Mr. President, I would move a reconsideration of that vote. I believe, on such an important matter as this, that certainly the majority of the Council are not in favor of trying to gag the minority.

Coun. BALLANTYNE—Mr. President, I think if my brother would move an extension of the time for five minutes it would be better than to move a reconsideration.

Reconsideration was refused by a rising vote, 3 to 4.

Coun. McDONALD—Mr. Chairman, I simply want to say that it is not a question of gagging the minority. We have listened to this argument on finance for the last eight or ten meetings. We have heard the same things over and over again. The same story has been told to us to-night that we have heard eight or ten different times, and I am sick and tired of coming here and giving my time listening to Coun. Hale and Smith reiterating arguments that they have presented to us ten times before. I think it is about time that we should take a vote upon this matter.

The order took its first reading and passage, yeas 7, nays 2, Coun. HALE and SMITH voting nay.

Coun. HALE—Mr. President, I move a reconsideration of the vote, not because there is any chance of its prevailing, but because I wish to have the usual privilege accorded to a member of the Council to finish what he wants to say.

The question came on reconsideration of the passage of the order.

Coun. SMITH—Mr. President, I only want to say on this matter of reconsideration one or two things. First, if there is a chance of this Council voting money for public improvements as Coun. Kenny has said, I wish to find out what kind of permanent improvements they will vote money for by loan. I am now in doubt, for this reason. I wish to simply refer to the votes of the Council and tell you why I am in doubt. First comes the question of the Ward 20 Playground. That is undoubtedly a permanent improvement. Mr. Kenny and a majority of the Council were very glad to vote for that out of loan. Then comes up the question of the North End Library, and that was passed finally as a loan, and Mr. Kenny and the majority of this Council strenuously fought that coming out of a loan. They thought it ought to come out of appropriations. There you have two permanent improvements, and the playground, they say, should come out of loans, and a library for the North End they say should come out of appropriations. Then we pass along and we see their economic minds working again when we come to a question of another permanent improvement. We come to the question of Norfolk street widening, and there again you have a permanent improvement. Then they switch their attitude and say that that should come from a loan, that "we will vote that that be done by loan." To be sure, one member of the Council had to explain why he voted for it, but nevertheless he did vote for that as a loan. There they started ahead and voted one way and then voted the other way. Then we come to this meeting, and, when what are undoubtedly permanent improvements are being considered, they turn to the other extreme and say, "No, they should come out of appropriations." So it is with some doubt in their minds that the members of the public and other members of this Council want to know what ought to come out of loans and what out of appropriations. Some loans have been voted for, and Mr. Kenny has stated very frankly that there are some loans that he will vote for. What are they? Where do they draw the line? They say that one playground should come out of loan and another out of appropriations, that a library should come out of appropriations, that a street widening should come out of loan, that a ward building and another library should come out of appropriations. Now, what is the line that they draw? The minority would simply like to have a definite line here. All they want to know is whether the thing is permanent or not. If it is a permanent improvement, adding to the capital of the city, it is a subject for loan, just as it would be in any man's private business or in any other city in this country. If the majority of the Board have a definite line in mind, on one side of which they say they will vote for loans and on the other side for appropriations, I think it is high time that they showed their hand and told the public generally what their attitude is. If they do not state their attitude, do not draw the line, the puhlic will say, "Ah, it makes a difference whether the matter is in their own district, whether it affects their own constituents, so to speak, or whether it is simply for some other district ahout which they are not interested and about which they do not care whether it passes or not."

Coun. KENNY—Mr. President, that is it; that is the keynote of the entire situation. "The puhlic will say this; the puhlic will say that." There is the fear, the apprehension of what the puhlic will say. It is not what is right, what the Council deems proper, but what the puhlic will say.

Coun. HALE—Mr. President, I rise to a point of order, that the gentleman is getting into his usual strain of personalities.

Coun. KENNY—Mr. President, I am not getting into my "usual strain," and that is an untruthful statement for the memher from Ward 11 to make—"my usual strain."

Coun. HALE—Mr. President, I object to that and would like to have it stricken from the minutes.

Coun. KENNY—Mr. President, I ohject to having it stricken from the minutes. I repeat those words. When he says "my usual strain" he is stating an untruth.

Coun. HALE—Mr. President, I object to that kind of language and would like to have it stricken from the minutes.

Coun. KENNY—Mr. President, I ohject to its heing stricken from the record. Now I want to say this. I want to comment for a moment or two upon the gentlemen from Ward 11. I was not impressed at all, as the gentleman from Ward 17 was, with the argument——

Coun. SMITH—Mr. President, I would like to ask a question.

Coun. KENNY—Why, certainly, you may ask a question.

Coun. SMITH—I note with some interest that you changed your address from one gentleman in Ward 11 to two gentlemen. Do you mean to include me in the untruth?

Coun. KENNY—No. I did not intend to include the member from Ward 11 on my left in that statement. I intended, however, to include him in the financial policy which the gentleman from Ward 11 was enunciating, as heing one who stood for it on the floor of this Board. I would like the attention of the Chair, if I may have it.

President COLLINS—Coun. Kenny.

Coun. KENNY—Now, Mr. President, the memher wants to know what I am willing to vote for here in the way of loans, what I have heen voting for. Where has he been all the year? Has he had his ears open? Has he had his eyes open? Let me take the auditor's report, page 30 of the last report, and there see the last loans that the Council voted for and which I voted for. I will read them for him. He very graciously arose in his place here a week or two ago and read a long list of eighty-two lame ducks pending hefore the Committee on Finance, in order to get them on the record; whereas, when the Committee on Finance met, it appeared that there were hut four or five live matters pending in the committee, and on every other matter the report was either "No action necessary" or "That it he placed on file." Still, the memher stood up here three weeks ago and read a long list of matters pending in the Committee on Finance, when only four of them were alive.

Coun. SMITH—Mr. President, I read that list at the request of Coun. Kenny,

Coun. KENNY—Now, Mr. President, I am going to read a list, quoting from page 30 of the auditor's last report:

Right to Borrow, October 31, 1911.

Right to horrow under chapter 93, Acts of 1891, as estimated February 15, 1911		$3,780,983 47
Less Loans authorized since (inside of debt limit):
March 14, 1911, New Quarters for Fireboat Crew, Boston side	$3,000 00
April 12, 1911, Land and Buildings for Schools	500,000 00
April 12, 1911, Highways, Making of	$300,000 00
May 3, 1911, Sewerage Works	250,000 00
June 2, 1911, Playground, Ward 5	80,000 00
June 2, 1911, Playground, Ward 20	50,000 00
June 6, 1911, Municipal Building, South Boston	120,000 00
June 26, 1911, Branch Library, North End	86,000 00
June 30, 1911, Street Lighting Equipment,	300,000 00
July 1, 1911, High Pressure Fire Service,	150,000 00
July 3, 1911, High School of Commerce and School Administration Building	250,000 00
July 10, 1911, Separate Systems of Drainage,	395,000 00
August 16, 1911, East Boston Courthouse and Police Station	60,000 00
August 24, 1911, Chelsea North Temporary Bridge	250,000 00
Octoher 3, 1911, Separate Systems of Drainage	5,000 00
Octoher 21, 1911, Meridian Street Bridge	63,000 00
		$2,862,000 00

That is, there is a total of $2,862,000 loans voted this year. Those are the loans we voted for. On several of those loans I undertook to take the money out of the Reserve Fund. My position has been clear, and I think it has not heen in douht. If I could have had my way, I would have applied the money we had on hand as far as possihle to the extinguishment pro tanto of loans. That is, as far as we could have eliminated loans I would have so applied it. For instance, I am against borrowing money where we have it on hand. I don't want to horrow one dollar where we have the money on hand. That is my attitude, and I think it is the attitude of the majority of the memhers of the Council. And it is common sense, good financiering, whether the members from Ward 11 agree with me or not.

Coun. SMITH—Mr. President, I tried calmly and politely to ask the majority of the Council, and especially Mr. Kenny, upon what principle he voted money, and he got up and called one of my colleagues untruthful. That is a strange answer, when I tried to ask a perfectly quiet, calm and husinesslike question.

Coun. KENNY—Mr. President, I stated explicitly and specifically that his statement that I was assuming my usual attitude, thereby insinuating that I was stating something unfair, was untruthful. I did not say that he was untruthful, hut I said that his statement was untruthful.

Coun. HALE—Mr. President, might I ask Coun. Kenny a question,—whether he means that he was not assuming his ordinary attitude as far as personalities are concerned?

Coun. KENNY—Mr. President, the gentleman's question presupposes that I was assuming an attitude such as he was referring to, which was an untruthful statement.

Coun. HALE—Mr. President, I would move to have that stricken from the records.

President COLLINS—If no ohjection is made it will he stricken from the record.

Coun. KENNY—Mr. President, I object to its being stricken from the record.

Coun. SMITH—Mr. President, I rather regret now that I yielded. It does seem to me that one of the older memhers of this Council ought to keep himself more in hand than to get up here in answer to questions that are sincerely put and call other memhers of the hody untruthful. I thought when I was interrupted this time that he certainly would not repeat that error. It ill hecomes me, one of the younger members of the hody, to get up and correct him; but when it gets to the point that he calls one of my colleagues untruthful and reiterates that, and will not allow it to be stricken from the records, certainly he is going a long way in personalities in debate and digressing a long ways from legitimate argument. I regret very much that he is taking this personal attitude in the discussion. It seems to me that he puts himself in a peculiar light before the public. I trust that he will reconsider the matter and at the end of the meeting allow his statement to he stricken from the record. Now, to resume——

President COLLINS—The Chair would state that the question is on reconsideration of the vote whereby the Council passed an order pertaining to a municipal huilding for Ward 7. The Chair would also advise members to try to keep to the question and not get into personalities.

Coun. SMITH—Mr. President, to return to the question of reconsidering the vote, I was led to helieve there might he some chance to get a statement as to what the majority of the memhers here were willing to have taken out of loans and what they were willing to have taken out of appropriations, because of Mr. Kenny's remark that he was willing to take some permanent improvements out of loans. For that reason I asked him what permanent improvements he was willing to take out of loans, and I think I was talking directly to the point. I cited examples of his votes—how he voted to take the playground for Ward 20 out of loan and a short time afterwards switched his ground and voted for an appropriation for a library in the North End, another permanent improvement, out of appropriations; that he then switched his ground again and voted for a loan to widen Norfolk street, and to-day he has switched hack again and is voting an appropriation for a ward huilding for Ward 7. You cannot blame a member of the Council for heing mystified at the principle that goes through Mr. Kenny's votes. I might say that all through these four votes we have had a large Reserve Fund. He has given the explanation that, so far as we have money, he wants to spend it without horrowing. That explanation does not hit the case, because we have had that surplus Reserve Fund all the time, and yet during the time that we have had the money in our pockets he has three times changed his attitude—first voting for a loan for Ward 20 Playground, then switching to an appropriation——

Coun. McDONALD—Mr. President, I must rise to a point of order again. The question is on appropriating $90,000 of the Reserve Fund for a municipal building for Ward 7. It is not how Coun. Kenny voted on other appropriation or loan orders which we have previously acted upon.

President COLLINS—The Chair would rule that the question is on reconsideration of the vote whereby the Council ordered to a first reading the appropriation order of $90,000 for Ward 7 municipal huilding. The Chair would reiterate that it behooves us to keep to the issue, to the question before us, and I believe the councilor's point of order is well taken. It is along the line suggested by the Chair.

Coun. SMITH—Mr. President, I am endeavoring to keep closely to the point. As I stated, I hope reconsideration will prevail, because Mr. Kenny said the majority of the Council were willing to take some permanent improvements out of loans——

Coun. KENNY—Mr. President——

President COLLINS—Does the gentleman yield?

Coun. SMITH—Mr. President, I was trying to find out what permanent improvements would be taken out of loan, hoping this would be one of them.

Coun. KENNY—Mr. President, I rise to a point of order. My point of order rclates to something which has happened here repeatedly. No memher has a right to stand in his place here and name another member during the dehate. He can refer to him either as "Councilor" or "Mr." I ask for a ruling on this point.

President COLLINS—The Chair would rule that from time immemorial, since the institution of the old Board of Aldermen, it has heen customary to refer to memhers as "Alderman so and so" or "Councilor so and so." In legislative bodics we must be governed by precedent and custom; and the Chair helieves it is, therefore, permissible for a memher of the body to refer to another as "Councilor so and so."

Coun. SMITH—Mr. President, I favored reconsideration of the action on this matter hecause of the hope which I was led to think might be a real hope—Coun. Kenny having expressed the helief that a majority of the Council would pass a vote providing for permanent improvements out of loan in special cases—that we might get something in the form of a definite statement of the principles actuating the majority in this matter. Therefore, I asked Coun. Kenny what those special cases were. I was in hopes that this might be one of those special cases that, if reconsideration prevailed, the majority might be willing to provide for out of loans; and I have been tracing back the votes and trying to find out the line that Coun. Kenny and the other memhers have laid down. Therefore, I asked the question, and he got up and did not give me much light on it,—in fact, went into personalities. I ask again, what is that line? The reason cannot he the one he gave me, hecause that was simply that when we had money he was in favor of spending it. That cannot be the real reason, because we had this money during all the four votes when he shifted his position. He first said "Loan" and then "Appropriation" and then said "Loan" and "Appropriation." Now, I hope he can enlighten me as to what the majority are willing to do on this matter—whether they will reconsider this because of some definite line or principle that they lay down.

Coun. KENNY—Mr. President, I wish to say just one or two words in reply to the gentleman who has just taken his seat. I would say that there is no member of this Board, in my opinion, during the two years that I have been here, who has laid himself open more frequently to the charge of indulging in personalities than has the memher from Ward 11 who has just taken his seat. If you will take the records of the Council, the minutes, you will see that they are teeming with his personalities. There is hardly a matter that comes before the Council that he does not discuss, sometimes four or five times. He gets up here and makes an argument, and then if nobody answers him, he argues against himself; and after he has made a long statement of his position just one or two words interruption is sufficient to hring him back to the floor with another long statement. And I say that no man here has more often overstepped the proprieties than the member from Ward 11 who just took his seat.

At 6.56 p. m. Coun. McDONALD said:

Mr. President, I move that we take a vote on the question before the body at 6.57 p. m., unless the vote is sooner reached.

Coun. HALE—Mr. President, I trust that these tactics will not prevail.

The Council voted to take a vote at 6.57 p. m., unless sooner reached, by a rising vote, 4 to 3.

Coun. HALE—Mr. President, I would like to rise to a question of personal privilege.

President COLLINS—The gentleman will state his question of personal privilege.

Coun. HALE—Mr. President, I wish to speak on something which has come before the Council recently, pertaining to myself.

President COLLINS—The gentleman will proceed.

Coun. HALE—Mr. President, I have heen in the city government for three years. During that time I have tried to do what I thought was my duty to my puhlic. During that whole three years there has been but one instance that I can remember where one member has used in regard to another member the language which has heen used hy one member of this Council to-day toward another memher of the Council. That was three years ago. The language used then was by a member from East Boston, and the memher from East Boston, after having made the statement, apologized for it in puhlic at that same meeting. I trust that something similar to that will he done in this meeting, and that the good name of this City Council will not be injured by that kind of discussion of financial principles.

Coun. KENNY—Mr. President, I also take occasion to rise to a question of privilege.

President COLLINS—A privilege relating to the standing of the gentleman who is talking?

Coun. KENNY—Yes.

President COLLINS—The gentleman is in order.

Coun. KENNY—Mr. President, there is to my mind very grave danger of this Council's losing its standing and its position hefore this community when such remarks are made and indulged in as have been made here this afternoon by the gentleman from Ward 11. That is my reply to what he has to say.

President COLLINS—The question is on reconsideration.

Coun. HALE—Mr. President, on the question of reconsideration I would like to state that I am voting in favor of reconsideration——

Coun. McDONALD—Mr. President, I object. I think the time for dehate has expired.

President COLLINS—Of course, by unanimous consent the gentleman can proceed.

Coun. McDONALD—I object.

President COLLINS—Then, the vote will be taken now.

Reconsideration was lost, yeas 2, nays 7, Coun. HALE and SMITH voting yea.

The question next came on the order transferring from the Reserve Fund $50,000 for a library in East Boston, as reported by the Executive Committee.

The report was accepted and the question came on the first reading and passage of the order.

Coun. McDONALD—Mr. President, I move (at seven o'clock p. m.) that we take a vote on this matter at 7.05, unless sooner reached.

The motion was carried by a rising vote. 7 to 2.

Coun. SMITH—Mr. President, in order to avoid any possible misunderstanding on this matter I desire to say that I have been more strongly in favor of a library for East Boston than of any one improvement this year with the possible exception of a library for the North End. I believe a library is absolutely needed in that section of the town. They have not had a library since 1872. That shows that that improvement over there has had a life of forty years. It is fair to assume that the new library for East Boston will have a probable life of equal duration. Therefore, it would seem that it is especially a subject for loan. I am forced into the position of voting against this order simply as a protest against the method by which the money is being raised. I want to repeat, on this matter as on the other, that if there were any danger of the library being lost through my vote I would not vote against it now. But there is no such danger, and, as the library is assured, I vote as I do simply as a protest against the way in which it is being built.

Coun. HALE—And I wish to say, Mr. President, that I also am going to vote against this, although I am heartily in favor of these improvements, simply as a protest against the way in which the money is being raised to pay for the improvements.

The order took its first reading and passage, yeas 7, nays 2, Coun. HALE and SMITH voting nay.

The order will take its second reading not less than two weeks from to-day.

The question next came on the order, reported by the Executive Committee, transferring from the Reserve Fund $50,000 for playground, Ward 2.

The report was accepted, and the question came on the passage of the order.

Coun. SMITH—Mr. President, I do not want to take up the time of the Council unnecessarily. I will simply say on this, as on the two previous matters, that I am voting in opposition, not because I am against the merits of the question, because I heartily believe that there should be a playground in Ward 2, but simply because I don't think the method by which the money is being raised is the most economical or a proper method, so far as the city is concerned. I don't think it is businesslike. I think it is against all custom. The matter is undoubtedly a permanent improvement and should be paid for by loan.

Coun. HALE—Mr. President, I would simply say what Coun. Smith has said on this matter, that I am heartily in favor of the improvement but am obliged to vote against it as a protest, because of the way in which the money is being raised to pay for the improvement.

The order was given its first reading and passage, yeas 7, nays 2, Coun. HALE and SMITH voting nay.

The order will take its second reading not less than two weeks from to-day.

DISPOSAL OF REFUSE.

The following was received:

City of Boston,
Public Works Department,
December 12, 1911.

To the Honorable the Mayor and the City Council:

On Decemher 5, 1911, hids were opened for the disposal of a part of the city refuse for a period of ten years. Four bids were received, the two lowest of which are favorahle hids from the city's standpoint. The two lowest hids are the Boston Disposal Company, $1,443,738, and the Boston Development and Sanitary Company, $1,432,000. I have accepted the hid of the Boston Development and Sanitary Company as the lowest hid, and transmit the same herewith for your approval and that of the City Council, in accordance with the provisions of section 6 of chapter 486 of the Acts of 1909. Attached herewith are the plans and communications in connection with the same.

I also forward for your information the hids, communications and plans of the Boston Disposal Company, which is the second lowest hidder.

Respectfully,
L. K. ROURKE,
Commissioner of Puhlic Works.

Communication and inclosures referred to the Executive Committee.

RECESS.

On motion of Coun. KENNY the Council voted, at 3.10 p. m., to take a recess, subject to the call of the Chair.

The memhers reassembled in the Chamher and were called to order by President COLLINS at 3.31 p. m.

EXECUTIVE COMMITTEE REPORT.

Coun. ATTRIDGE, for the Executive Committee, submitted a report on communication from Commissioner of Public Works (referred to-day) concerning bids for disposal of part of city refuse for a period of ten years, and notifying the City Council of acceptance hy him of hid of Boston Development and Sanitary Company—recommending the passage of the following:

Ordered, That a puhlic hearing he given by the City Council on Wednesday, December 27, 1911, at seven thirty o'clock p. m., on the bid accepted hy the Commissioner of Puhlic Works of the Boston Development and Sanitary Company for the disposal of garhage and refuse for a period of ten years, and that the City Clerk he directed to give seven days' notice of said hearing in the City Record and daily newspapers the expense of said hearing and notice to be charged to the appropriation for City Council, Incidental Expenses.

Report accepted, order passed.

PRINTING OF GARBAGE PAPERS.

Coun. ATTRIDGE offered an order—That all bids and papers relative to contracts for the disposal of refuse suhmitted to the Commissioner of Puhlic Works he printed as a puhlic document.

Coun. BUCKLEY—Mr. President, if I understand that order it includes all bids, whether or not they were mentioned hy the superintendent to us?

President COLLINS—The Chair will state that this order refers to those hids and papers relative to contracts for the disposition of garhage as submitted to the Commissioner of Puhlic Works.

Coun. ATTRIDGE—Mr. President, the order should read, to have printed all the hids which have heen submitted to the Commissioner of Public Works—changing the word "by" to "to."

President COLLINS—The Clerk will make the amendment.

The order as amended was passed.

TAKING OF LAND, SPECTACLE ISLAND.

Coun. SMITH offered an order—That the Law Department be requested to give its opinion, first, as to whether the city has the power under right of eminent domain to purchase land on Spectacle Island in fulfillment of its part of the contract for the disposal of city waste. Second, whether the city under the terms of said contract receives free of all expense, at the end of ten years, the land and fixtures which the other party to the contract has occupied and used.

Coun. SMITH—Mr. President, I presume every memher of this Council has received letters from attorneys employed by both of the bidders on the contract. There seem to he conflicting statements as to whether we actually have a right to take land on Spectacle Island under right of eminent domain; and there also seems to be some douht whether the fixtures on the land erected hy the successful hidder hecome the property of the city at the termination of the contract. Merely to clear up these two points I have asked this question of the Law Department.

The order was passed.

COST OF BIDS FOR DISPOSAL OF REFUSE.

Coun. SMITH offered an order—That an accountant be employed to estimate the comparative cost to the city of the two hids now before the Council for the disposal of city waste, such accountant to he paid out of the City Council, Incidental Expenses.

Coun. SMITH—Mr. Presidcnt, as I understand it, the two leading hidders for this contract are within eleven odd thousand dollars of each other. The difference comes largely in the cost of the land, and it is largely a bookkeeping matter. Opinion differs as to the cost to the city. It seems to me well for this Council to have some expert advice as to just what that difference would amount to. When you take into consideration the fact that one set of bids runs up and the other runs down, and there is an interest charge in there, when you take into consideration the fact that the city would have to huy the land on one bid and would not on the other, that interest on the land would have to be considered and things of that kind, it would seem necessary for the City Council to get some accountant's figures on this suhject.

Coun. HALE—Mr. President, I would like to suggest, if satisfactory to Coun. Smith, that this order he amended so that the Finance Commission be requested to employ an accountant to do this. Wouldn't that be just as satisfactory to you? I think very likely they have an accountant on their staff; at any rate they know exactly where they can lay their hands on one, whereas we would he squabbling in an indefinite way as to what accountant to take.

Coun. SMITH—Mr. President, I accept that amendment.

Coun. HALE offered the following order as a suhstitute:

Ordered, That the Finance Commission be requested to employ an accountant to estimate the comparative cost to the city of the two bids now before the Council for the disposal of city waste, and to make a report to the City Council on or before December 27, 1911.

ALLIED PRINTING TRADES UNION LABEL COUNCIL 21

Coun. BUCKLEY—Mr. President, what I would like to know is, if there are two bids before the City Council?

President COLLINS—The Chair would state that there are two proposals before the City Council.

Coun. BUCKLEY—But Mr. Rourke in his letter says he has accepted one. Does that put the other bid up to us also and leave it to our discretion whether or not we shall decide that that is the better bid of the two?

President COLLINS—The Chair would state that under the charter this type of contract first meets with the approbation of the Commissioner of Public Works, and then is left with the City Council for its approval or disapproval. The Chair would state that it has been the custom to first get the approval of the Commissioner. In fact, that is the Chair's understanding of the statute, that the Commissioner first accepts a bid, that then there shall be a public hearing, and the City Council shall pass on it.

Coun. BUCKLEY—Mr. President, the only reason I ask the question is this, that it seems to me, in order to be fair and in order that the public may have the benefit it is entitled to, of information as to what is contained in every bid, Mr. Rourke, if he accepts one bid, should not only submit to us that bid, but should in all fairness submit to us every other bid which he has received, in order that the citizens of Boston may know just what has been submitted to the Commissioner of Public Works and may be able to form an opinion to that extent as to wbether he has or has not made a mistake.

President COLLINS—The Chair would be very glad to entertain a motion to that effect from the councilor after the substitute order has been disposed of.

Coun. BALLANTYNE—Mr. President, I would move that the substitute order be amended by inserting "Commissioner of Public Works" in place of "Council" where it first occurs.

Coun. HALE—Mr. President, I have a brand new substitute order to submit which will cover all that.

President COLLINS—If there is no objection, we will receive the substitute order.

Coun. HALE offered the following substitute:

Ordered, That the Finance Commission be requested to employ an accountant to estimate the comparative cost to the city of the two bids now before the Commissioner of Public Works, and to report as to the outcome of said investigation, and also as to the relative features of the two aforesaid bids, to the City Council on or before the public hearing.

The question came on the adoption of the new substitute order.

Coun. SMITH—Mr. President, as I introduced the order originally I have been somewhat interested in its growth. My idea in introducing the order was to find out from a public accountant, to get his unbiased opinion, as to just which bid was the cheaper. I don't care who employs the accountant, so long as he is not somebody already in the city employ—whether it is the Finance Commission, the Commissioner of Public Works, or who it is; but I did not intend to have anything else attached to the order. I wanted simply that one statement as to which bid is the cheaper. The other facts as to the relative merits of the bids may all be brought out at the public hearing.

Coun. HALE—Mr. President, I will eliminate the last part of that.

President COLLINS—There being no objection, the substitute order offered by Coun. Hale is withdrawn and the following substitute order is offered:

Ordered, That the Finance Commission be requested to employ an accountant to estimate the comparative cost to the city of the two bids now before the City Council for the disposal of city waste, and report to the City Council before December 27.

This last substitute was adopted and passed.

REQUEST FOR BIDS.

Coun. BUCKLEY—Mr. President, I move you, sir, that the Commissioner of Public Works be requested to submit all the bids which he has received for the disposal of refuse to the City Council at its public hearing on December 27.

Coun. SMITH—Mr. President, may I ask, simply for information, whether this refers to the last set of specifications?

Coun. BUCKLEY—The last.

Coun. Buckley's motion was carried.

On motion of Coun. ATTRIDGE the Council voted at 3.45 p. m. to adjourn, to meet on Monday, December 18, at 3 p. m.

Wednesday, December 13, 1911.

Special meeting of the City Council, in the Council Chamber, City Hall, at 3.45 o'clock p. m., to draw jurors.

President COLLINS in the chair. Absent, Coun. Curley.

MONEY FOR REPAIR OF MYSTIC SEA WALL.

The following was received:

City of Boston,
Office of the Mayor, December 18, 1911.

To the City Council:

I transmit herewith a letter from the chairman of the Board of Park Commissioners, stating that the sum of $10,000 is needed in addition to the appropriation of $4,000 already made for repairs to the sea wall at Mystic Playground in order to insure absolute safety to the children who use the playground.

I recommend, therefore, the passage of the accompanying order, transferring the sum of $10,000 from the Reserve Fund to a special appropriation for Mystic Playground, Sea Wall and Fence.

Respectfully,
JOHN F. FITZGERALD, Mayor.

City of Boston,
Board of Commissioners of the
Department of Parks,
December 18, 1911.

Hon. John F. Fitzgerald,
Mayor of Boston:

Dear Sir,—You will remember that it was found that the appropriation of $4,000 made for repairs to the wall, etc., at Mystic Playground was found to be insufficient for the necessary work. On investigation it appeared that the sea wall was in much worse condition than we had anticipated. Moreover, there is a great demand to have this wall raised 4 feet in height because that would permit the flooding of the playground for skating. To put the wall in condition and raise it in this manner, thus incidentally enlarging the space in the playground, it appears now will cost $14,000 instead of $4,000. We ask you, if possihle, to let us have this extra $10,000 heyond the present appropriation in order that we may expend it in the manner here described.

Yours truly,
ROBERT S. PEABODY, Chairman.

Ordered, That under the provisions of chapter 261 of the Acts of 1893, the City Auditor be and herehy is authorized to transfer the sum of $10,000 from the Reserve Fund to the appropriation for Mystic Playground, Sea Wall and Fence.

Referred to the Executive Committee.

The following was received:

Office of the Mayor, December 18, 1911.

To the City Council:

I transmit herewith a communication from the Park Commissioners, under date of Decemher 8, 1911, requesting that money he appropriated for a hath house at Dewey Beach. This heach has heen extensively patronized in the past by the people of Charlestown, and I helieve they should have the same facilities that are given to the residents of other sections of the city.

I recommend, therefore, the passage of the accompanying order, transferring the sum of twenty-four thousand dollars ($24,000) from the appropriation for Reserve Fund to an appropriation to he expended under the direction of the Park Department for Bath House, Dewey Beach.

Respectfully,
JOHN F. FITZGERALD, Mayor.

City of Boston,
Board of Commissioners of the
Department of Parks,
December 8, 1911.

Hon. John F. Fitzgerald,
Mayor of Boston:

Dear Sir,—You asked the Park Commission to learn what would be the cost of a bath house on Dewey Beach.

Mr. Austin has made a sketch and estimates for this work, arranged for a building to contain the necessary toilets, offices, etc., and 320 lockers in the men's bath house (arranged somewhat like those at the L Street Bath House) and 102 dressing rooms for women, and the cost of this building would be about $24,000.

If you can arrange for an appropriation for this work, we shall be glad to go on with it at once.

Yours truly,
ROBERT S. PEABODY, Chairman.

Ordered, That under the provisions of chapter 261 of the Acts of 1893, the City Auditor be and hereby is authorized to transfer the sum of twenty-four thousand dollars ($24,000) from the appropriation for Reserve Fund to a special appropriation to be expended under the direction of the Park Commissioners for Bath House, Dewey Beach.

MONEY FOR ZOO.

The following was received:

City of Boston,
Office of the Mayor, December 18, 1911.

To the City Council:

I transmit herewith a statement from the City Treasurer, estimating the amount on hand from the income of the George F. Parkman Fund, December 12, 1911, as $19,017.19, to which about $100 of income will be added before the close of the calendar year. The most appropriate purpose to which this income could be applied at the present time is the completion of the zoological garden at Franklin Park. I append a letter from the chairman of the Board of Park Commissioners stating that the sum of $19,100 should be applied to the construction of the flying cage and a panel at the bear's den, and recommend the passage of the accompanying order appropriating the sum of $19,000 from the income of the Parkman Fund to be added to the appropriation for Zoological Garden and Aquarium.

Respectfully,
JOHN F. FITZGERALD, Mayor.

Dear Sir,—We lately wrote you asking for an appropriation of $125,000 from the Parkman Fund for the completion of work that we desire to have ready on June 1, 1912, at the Aquarium and Zoological Garden. In reply to your recent inquiry we would say if we could have $19,000 of this sum given us now we should expend it on the netting and stone work for

Flying cage (about)	$13,500 00
Panel at bear den	600 00
Water and sewerage to flying cage and bird house (about)	5,000 00

PARKMAN MEMORIAL TABLET.

The following was received:

City of Boston,
Office of the Mayor, December 18, 1911.

To the City Council:

It has been suggested that in conformity with the practice of placing memorial tablets on buildings identified with the careers of our foremost citizens, such a tablet should be placed on the home of the late George Francis Parkman. I heartily approve of this idea and recommend the passage of the accompanying order, appropriating the sum of two hundred and fifty dollars ($250), to be expended under the direction of the Art Commission for this purpose and to be charged to the income of the Phillips Street Fund.

Respectfully,
JOHN F. FITZGERALD, Mayor.

Ordered, That the Art Commission be authorized to place a memorial tablet on the home of the late George Francis Parkman, and that the expense, not exceeding two hundred and fifty dollars ($250), be charged to Phillips Street Fund Income.

Referred to the Executive Committee.

RELEASE OF LAND TO MASSACHUSETTS GENERAL HOSPITAL.

The following was received:

City of Boston,
Office of the Mayor, December 18, 1911.

To the City Council:

For the reasons given in the accompanying letter of Mr. John C. Kiley, real estate expert attached to this office, I recommend the passage of the following order, releasing for a nominal consideration to the Massachusetts General Hospital a triangular parcel of land containing 26 square feet, more or less, bounded by North Grove and Fruit streets, adjoining the hospital property.

Respectfully,
JOHN F. FITZGERALD, Mayor.

City of Boston, Office of the Mayor,
Real Estate Appraiser, December 16, 1911.

Hon. John F. Fitzgerald,
Mayor of Boston:

Dear Sir,—The trustees of the Massachusetts Hospital have purchased the old Harvard Dental School property, together with the adjoining property, formerly owned by the George F. Parkman Estate. By recent survey it was found that the City of Boston owns a small triangular parcel of land, containing twenty-six (26) square feet, more or less, bounded by North Grove and Fruit streets, adjoining the hospital property. As they own all of the property, except this triangular parcel, fronting on North Grove street, north of Fruit street, they are desirous of closing up North Grove street and erecting a building thereon. This triangular parcel owned by the city has no commercial value and the trustees of the hospital are desirous of having it conveyed to them by the city for a nominal consideration.

The trustees of the Massachusetts General Hospital recently assisted very materially in saving the City of Boston a great loss by accepting a reconveyance of the property on Warrenton and Common streets, acquired as a site by the city for the High School of Commerce. This is the first opportunity that the city has had to show its appreciation for what the trustees of this hospital did in the High School of Commerce matter, and I recommend that the triangular piece of land be conveyed to them. If you agree with me, I suggest sending the inclosed order, which has been prepared by the Law Department, to the City Council for consideration.

Yours respectfully,
JOHN C. KILEY.

Ordered, That his Honor the Mayor be and he hereby is authorized in the name and behalf of the city and by an instrument satisfactory to the Law Department to release for a nominal consideration to the Massachusetts General Hospital a triangular parcel of land containing 26 square feet, more or less, and bounded southerly by Fruit street $2\frac{42}{100}$ feet; westerly by North Grove street, $21\frac{80}{100}$ feet, and northeasterly by land of said Massachusetts General Hospital, $21\frac{75}{100}$ feet.

Referred to the Committee on Public Lands.

APPROVAL OF CHELSEA BRIDGE PLANS.

The following was received:

City of Boston,
Office of the Mayor, December 13, 1911.

To the City Council:

I transmit herewith, in order that it may be placed in the files of the City Clerk, an instrument from the War Department, approving the map of location and plans of a bridge, to be reconstructed by the city across the main or north channel of the Mystic river.

Respectfully,
JOHN F. FITZGERALD, Mayor.

(Annexed were papers, plans, etc., referred to.)

Placed on file.

APPROPRIATION FOR CHELSEA BRIDGE NORTH.

The following was received:

City of Boston,
Office of the Mayor, December 14, 1911.

To the City Council:

At the meeting of your honorable body held October 30, 1911, I transmitted a communication from the Commissioner of Public Works which explained the status of the transactions relating to the new bridge over the north channel of the Mystic river, between Boston and Chelsea. In this communication the commissioner stated that the new plans which had been drawn up would provide a bridge of a substantially permanent character calling for an additional appropriation of $175,000. Since that time the necessary approval of these plans has been obtained from the War Department, and the commissioner, in the accompanying letter, renews his request for the additional appropriation required and asks, also, that the title of the present appropriation be changed from Chelsea North Temporary Bridge to Chelsea Bridge North.

I trust that there will be no hesitation on the part of the City Council in accepting these recommendations, and I recommend for passage the accompanying order effecting the change of title desired by the commissioner and providing the necessary additional funds for the work.

Respectfully,
JOHN F. FITZGERALD, Mayor.

—

City of Boston,
Public Works Department,
December 12, 1911.

To the Honorable the Mayor:

The War Department having approved plans for Chelsea North Bridge which will necessitate an estimated increase of $175,000 in the appropriation for Chelsea Bridge North, I respectfully ask that the honorable City Council be requested to provide this amount; also that the unexpended balance of the present appropriation for Chelsea North Temporary Bridge be transferred to the appropriation for Chelsea North Bridge, for the reason that no temporary bridge is contemplated under the present plans.

Respectfully,
L. K. ROURKE,
Commissioner of Public Works.

Ordered, That the balance of the appropriation for Chelsea North Temporary Bridge be transferred to an appropriation for Chelsea Bridge North, to be expended by the Commissioner of Public Works; that the sum of one hundred seventy-five thousand dollars ($175,000) be and hereby is appropriated and added to the aforesaid appropriation for Chelsea Bridge North, and that to meet this additional appropriation the City Treasurer be and hereby is authorized, on the request of the Mayor, to issue bonds or certificates of indebtedness of the city to said amount.

Referred to the Committee on Finance.

REPAYMENT OF COLUMBIA ROAD ASSESSMENTS.

The following was received:

City of Boston,
Office of the Mayor, December 13, 1911.

To the City Council:

Having passed an order at the meeting of November 27, 1911, accepting the provisions of chapter 415 of the Acts of 1911, and authorizing the abatement of assessments made upon the property owners along Columbia road, the City Council should now provide means whereby the repayments called for in this act may be made from the resources of the Park Department. The letter of the secretary of the Park Department, attached hereto, states in substance that the department would be unable to divert any funds from its maintenance appropriation without impairment of its own proper and necessary work I am informed by the Collecting Department that the unrevised assessments which have been paid into it, and which alone call for repayments under the act in question, amount to thirty-eight thousand dollars ($38,000). As the maximum assessment is 20 per cent it is obvious that a transfer of eight thousand dollars ($8,000) would provide the means from which the Park Commissioners could make the repayments rendered necessary by the acceptance by the city of the act of the Legislature.

I recommend, therefore, the passage of the accompanying order transferring the sum of eight thousand dollars ($8,000) from the appropriation for Reserve Fund to a special appropriation for Repayment of Columbia Road Assessments.

Respectfully,
JOHN F. FITZGERALD, Mayor.

City of Boston,
Board of Commissioners of the
Department of Parks,
December 6, 1911.

Mr. William A. Leahy,
Secretary to the Mayor,
City Hall, Boston:

Dear Sir,—In reference to the order of the City Council, which proposes to abate a portion, not exceeding 20 per cent, of the assessments for laying out Columbia road, and authorizes repayment of such proportion of any assessment already paid, the expense thus incurred to be charged to the appropriation for Park Department, upon which you request the views of this department, I am directed to say that the Board objects to any diversion of its funds that have been appropriated for and which are needed for the maintenance of the parks.

Chapter 394 of the Acts of 1897, under which Columbia road was laid out and constructed, provided that a specified amount of the cost of that improvement, as determined by the Street Commissioners with the concurrence of the Park Commissioners and the approval of the Mayor, should be provided by loan and deemed and considered as expenditures for public park purposes. This having been done, the Board does not think that any further expenditure on this account should be charged to this department.

Yours truly,
GEORGE F. CLARKE, Secretary.

Ordered, That under the provisions of chapter 261 of the Acts of 1893, the City Auditor be and hereby is authorized to transfer the sum of eight thousand dollars ($8,000) from the appropriation for Reserve Fund to a special appropriation for Park Department, Repayment of Columbia Road Assessments, to be expended in accordance with the provisions of chapter 415 of the Acts of 1911.

Referred to the Executive Committee.

APPROPRIATION FOR AUTOMOBILE AMBULANCES.

The following was received:

City of Boston,
Office of the Mayor, December 13, 1911.

To the City Council:

The accompanying letter from the president of the Board of Hospital Trustees explains the advantage of an additional automobile ambulance. The sum of six thousand dollars ($6,000) has already been appropriated by your honorable body for two conveyances of this type and the reasons given by the president of the Board of Trustees for an addition to their number seem to me to be convincing.

I recommend, therefore, the passage of the accompanying order transferring the sum of three thousand dollars ($3,000) from the appropriation for Reserve Fund to a special appropriation for Automobile Ambulances.

Respectfully,
JOHN F. FITZGERALD, Mayor.

Boston City Hospital,
December 11, 1911.

Hon. John F. Fitzgerald,
Mayor of Boston:

Dear Sir,— At a meeting of the Board of Trustees to-day, December 11, it was decided to ask your Honor to transfer $3,000 for the purchase of an automobile ambulance. Mr. Joseph P. Manning, secretary pro tem of the Board of Trustees, has already explained the matter to you. In the early part of November it was voted that $3,000 be reserved from the appropriation for maintenance for the purchase of this ambulance. Certain unexpected bills, due to contingencies of the service in the X-Ray Department and in various other departments of the hospital, necessitated taking nearly all of this $3,000 for maintenance. Your Honor's attention is called to the fact that if an additional $3,000 is added to the $6,000 already reserved, it will enable the trustees to purchase three automobile ambulances. These, in addition to the one now in service, will give four automobile ambulances, which will do the work of eight horse ambulances, and will be the most important factor in improving the ambulance service.

The trustees are of the opinion that these ambulances should be purchased without advertising for bids. The reasons for this are set forth in the letter to your Honor dated November 28, 1911, as follows:

First. The style of the ambulance required is one that has been in use at the hospital, especially built for our purpose.

Second. If an advertisement is required, it will take so long a time that it would be impossible to have the ambulance delivered as soon as the exigencies of the service require.

Third. The style of the ambulance is something that is different from any other ambulance built; also, the chassis can be delivered immediately, and for this reason particularly, the trustees respectfully request permission to waive advertising.

Although there have been many improvements, comprising painting, purchase of new instruments and installation of surgical and medical appliances, the trustees have the satisfaction of reporting to your Honor that while the high standard of the hospital has been maintained during the year, the appropriation for the fiscal year has not been exceeded.

I have the honor to remain, on behalf of the trustees,

Very respectfully yours,
A. SHUMAN,
President Board of Trustees.

Ordered, That the title of the appropriation for Two Hospital Ambulances be changed to Hospital Ambulances, and that in accordance with the provisions of chapter 261 of the Acts of 1893, the City Auditor be and hereby is authorized to transfer the sum of three thousand dollars ($3,000) from the appropriation for Reserve Fund to the said appropriation for Hospital Ambulances.

Referred to the Executive Committee.

SALE OF CITY PROPERTY.

The following was received:

City of Boston,
Office of the Mayor, December 15, 1911.

To the City Council:

I transmit herewith a vote of the Board of Schoolhouse Commissioners notifying the City Council that the estate at No. 9 Warrenton street, taken for school purposes, is no longer required, and a letter from John C. Kiley, real estate expert, attached to my office, informing me that he has received an offer of ten thousand dollars for this estate. This is the last of the parcels included in the original taking for the High School of Commerce on Common and Warrenton streets. Its net return to the city last year, according to Mr. Kiley's computations, was less than 2 per cent on the amount offered and the figure set by the prospective purchaser seems to me to be an extremely advantageous one.

I recommend, therefore, the passage of the accompanying order which authorizes me to sell the property on the terms indicated.

Respectfully,
JOHN F. FITZGERALD, Mayor.

Boston, December 12, 1911.

To the Honorable the City Council.

Gentlemen,—The Board of Schoolhouse Commissioners of the City of Boston, having charge of the parcel of land on Common and Warrenton streets in said Boston, which was taken for school purposes by an order and statement of the Board of Street Commissioners of said city recorded with Suffolk Deeds on the 28th day of June, 1910, in lib. 3463, page 282, hereby notifies you that in its opinion a portion of said premises, to wit, a parcel of land containing 1,582 square feet, more or less, taken as aforesaid from George P. Darrow heirs and Mary C. Darrow, is no longer required for public purposes.

CHARLES LOGUE,
JOHN F. KENNEDY,
CHARLES B. PERKINS, Schoolhouse Commissioners.

City of Boston, Office of the Mayor,
Real Estate Appraiser, December 13, 1911.

Hon. John F. Fitzgerald,
Mayor of Boston:

Dear Sir,—The City of Boston now owns No. 9 Warrenton street, consisting of a brick three and one-half story dwelling house, assessed for $3,200, and 1,600 square feet of land, assessed for $6,400, making a total assessed valuation of $9,600. This property was acquired in 1910 by the city as a part of the site selected for the High School of Commerce. It was taken from the heirs of George P. Darrow, by eminent domain, and an award of $11,830 was paid to the owners.

The estate rents for $600 a year. I have been offered $10,000 and, notwithstanding that it cost $11,830, feel certain that at $10,000 the property would be well sold. The building has been rented for practically one year and my books show that after deducting the taxes which should be charged against the property, and the cost of maintenance, there is but 1.72 per cent net return on $10,000. The building is occupied as a lodging house, and is not in good condition. Each year it will need repairs which will seriously impair the net return.

I therefore inclose herewith a notice from the Schoolhouse Commissioners to the City Councilors informing them that this property is no longer required for public purposes.

I also inclose an order drafted by the Law Department of the City of Boston, which is in proper form, for your Honor to forward to the City Council, authorizing you to dispose of this property at a sum not less than $10,000.

The offer which is made is good until canceled, but I feel that the purchaser may not care to wait for an indefinite period for an answer.

Very truly yours,
JOHN C. KILEY.

QUARTERS FOR EAST BOSTON COURT.

The following was received:

City of Boston,
Office of the Mayor, Decemher 13, 1911.

To the City Council:

I transmit herewith a communication from the Superintendent of Public Buildings, requesting a transfer of two thousand two hundred dollars ($2,200) from the Reserve Fund in order to fit up the wardroom at the corner of Maverick and Bremen streets, East Boston, as temporary quarters for the East Boston District Court. This building has been selected as the most economical for the housing of the court during the huilding of the new courthouse, and I desire to express my approval of the superintendent's request and to recommend the passage of the accompanying order transferring the necessary amount from the Reserve Fund to a special appropriation for East Boston District Court, Temporary Quarters.

Respcctfully,

City of Boston.
Public Buildings Department,
Decemher 11, 1911.

Hon. John F. Fitzgerald,
Mayor of Boston:

Dear Sir,—An appropriation is available for the purpose of erecting a courthouse and police station in East Boston, and a great deal of consideration has heen given to the matter of a site for the said building. It has been decided that the new huilding he erected on the site of the Old East Boston High Schoolhouse, in which are now quartered the district court, branch lihrary and also some rooms used for school purposes. At a meeting held on Monday, Junc 26, 1911, the School Committee, which has control of the Old East Boston High School, passed a vote of which the following is a copy:

"Ordered, That his Honor the Mayor be informed that upon provision being made satisfactory to this Board, for the housing of the school children, who would otherwise he accommodated in the Old East Boston High Schoolhouse, this Board is willing to surrender said school estate on the payment of $40,000, hut until other and satisfactory school accommodations shall he provided, the surrender of said school estate cannot be entertained."

Mr. Charles Logue, Chairman of the Schoolhouse Commission, has advised me that they expect to vacate the Old East Boston High Schoolhouse ahout the 1st of March, 1912.

It is my intention to provide temporary headquarters for the district court, during the erection of the new huilding, in the city huilding now used as a wardroom, at the corner of Maverick and Bremen streets, East Boston, thereby saving payment of outside rental.

I have had plans prepared by this department of the layout for the temporary quarters and the same have been approved by the officials of the district court.

I estimate that the sum of twenty-two hundred (2,200) dollars will be required to fit up these temporary quarters in making over judge's bench, clerk's hench, building temporary offices for officials, building prisoner's dock, installing plumhing apparatus, painting, etc., and respectfully recommend that a special appropriation for the amount specified above for this purpose be made. I desire to start work on the ahove immediately after the city election on January 9, 1912.

Items on above are as follows:

Carpentry work	$925 00
Plumbing work	310 00
Painting work	165 00
Alterations and additions in steam piping	300 00
Alterations and additions on electric lighting	200 00
Moving furniture, records, etc	300 00
	$2,200 00

Yours respectfully,
M. J. FISH,
Superintendent of Public Buildings.

PLAYGROUND SITE, WARD 25.

The following was received:

City of Boston,
Office of the Mayor, November 29, 1911.

To the City Council:

The need of a playground in the Brighton district was impressed upon me last year and I submitted two loan orders of $15,000 each, providing for the purchase of a site. Brighton is remote from the large playgrounds which are used in common by the young people of the whole city, such as Franklin Field, and its area, which is ahout equal to that of South Boston and Charlestown comhined, makes the single playground which it now possesses, situated at the extreme northern end of the district, entirely insufficient. I recommend, therefore, the passage of the accompanying order transferring $15,000 from the Reserve Fund for the purchase of a playground site in Ward 25.

Respectfully,
JOHN F. FITZGERALD, Mayor.

APPROPRIATION FOR NORTH DORCHESTER BURIAL GROUND.

The following was received:

City of Boston,
Office of the Mayor, November 29, 1911.

To the City Council:

I transmit herewith a communication from the chairman of the Cemetery Trustees, in the third paragraph of which he requests an appropriation of $9,000 for the Dorchester North Burial Ground, for the purpose of huilding a wall and fence ahout it, erecting a small office huilding, and inclosing a triangular piece of land on Columhia road adjoining the cemetery. A loan order for the wall and fence was passed by the City Council in 1907 hut action on this matter was rescinded on the ground that this work should he paid for from the tax levy and not from money raiscd hy loan. As the Reserve Fund is ample to cover this comparatively small item I recommend the passage of the accompanying order transferring $9,000 from the Reserve Fund to a special appropriation for Dorchester North Burial Ground.

Respectfully,
JOHN F. FITZGERALD, Mayor.

City of Boston,
Cemetery Departmcnt,
November 17, 1911.

Hon. John F. Fitzgerald,
Mayor of Boston:

Sir,—The financial condition of this department presents two alternatives to provide for the remainder of the fiscal year. One is the immediate suspension of about thirty laborers until at least February 1, or the second is the obtaining of sufficient money to retain the employees intact and to pay bills contracted and to come. A careful calculation shows that $3,600 additional will be required, of which $250 will be for care in January of Fairview Cemetery, Ward 26 (Hyde Park), as we understand the conditions which now exist there.

During the past three years the department appropriation has not exceeded $75,000, although the department has felt the general increase in cost prevalent. In the item of labor alone the half holiday of four hours each week, not anticipated at the beginning of this year, means a loss of 8½ per cent which had to be met. The above estimated amount includes only such expenditures as are positively necessary this year, and we feel it is improper under proper management to carry over such work and make the expenditure a burden on the calculations of next year.

In July, 1907, you recommended in a loan order $6,000 for a stone wall and fence at Dorchester North Ground, Upham's Corner. This was adopted by the City Council, but the Finance Commission in a report advised against the loan, and said, "the work should be paid for from the tax levy and not from money raised by loan." The City Council finally rescinded its action on the loan. We now ask that you consider the recommending of $9,000 for this ground, to cover the building of the wall and fence named in the loan order, which shall include inclosing a triangular piece of land on Columbia road and adjoining the cemetery, which latter was transferred to this department since 1907, and the erection of a small office on the ground. The present office is unsanitary, and the city obligated itself in deed of purchase to keep the greater portion of the fence contemplated to be erected in good repair.

Last year we asked for $10,000 to be expended entirely on the old burying grounds, which was not granted. The necessity for the work which this amount intended is constantly urged by those who visit and are interested in these grounds. This would undoubtedly meet with objection, if placed in a loan order, and we can only hope to receive it in a regular appropriation.

The total amount covered by the above is $22,600, and we beg to say that our constant touch with affairs convinces us that the items named above are absolutely necessary of accomplishment.

Yours respectfully,
CHARLES E. PHIPPS,
Chairman Cemetery Department.

SWIMMING POOL, PARKER HILL.

The following was received:

City of Boston,
Office of the Mayor, December 1, 1911.

To the City Council:

An order passed by your honorable body at its meeting of July 17, 1911, requested the Park Commission and the Bath Commission, sitting jointly, to consider the advisability of establishing a swimming pool at Parker Hill and the cost of converting Parker Hill reservoir to such use. The accompanying letters from the chairman of the Board of Park Commissioners and the general superintendent of the Bath Department indicate a unanimity of opinion in both departments as to the advantages of such a pool, the cost of which, together with the incidental improvements, is estimated by the superintendent of parks and the engineer of the Park Department to be $35,700. Mr. John C. Kiley, in a letter which is also attached hereto, gives reasons why this tract of land should be made over into a recreation park, and states that he has obtained the consent of the Commissioner of Public Works to its transfer from his department to the Board of Park Commissioners without compensation.

I agree that the merits of the plan would fully justify its cost and recommend the passage of the accompanying ordinance, which has been prepared by the Corporation Counsel, transferring the care and control of the Parker Hill reservoir to the Park Department.

Yours very truly,
JOHN F. FITZGERALD, Mayor.

City of Boston,
Board of Commissioners of the
Department of Parks,
October 19, 1911.

Hon. John F. Fitzgerald,
Mayor of Boston:

Dear Sir,—Referring to the City Council order of July 17, 1911, requesting that the Park and Bath Commissions sitting jointly be requested to consider the advisability of establishing a swimming pool at Parker Hill and the cost of converting Parker Hill reservoir to such use, Mr. Pettigrew, our superintendent, and Mr. Putnam, our engineer, have made a study of the matter and they report that the top of the hill, if graded down, using the side walls to fill up the reservoir, would make a good playground. They think also that room can he reserved for a swimming pool, 40 feet by 100 feet, made with the bottom and sides of concrete. The cost of this, together with a locker huilding, shelter for children, fencing and planting, they reckon at $35,700, as per estimate of October 3, 1911, attached hereto. At the same time that we send you this report we are sending a copy of it to the Bath Commission.

Yours truly,
ROBERT S. PEABODY, Chairman.

City of Boston,
Bath Department, Decemher 2, 1911.

Hon. John F. Fitzgerald,
Mayor of Boston:

My dear Sir,—In reference to an order passed by the City Council on July 17 of the current year, requesting a joint sitting of the Board of Bath Trustees and Park Commissioners relative to the advisability of converting the Parker Hill reservoir into a public swimming pool, I beg to report in behalf of the Bath Trustees that the matter has received the consideration of Messrs. Murphy and McLaughlin, who were appointed a suhcommittee on the matter, with the result that the above mentioned committee are in accord with the main proposition. They deem it an excellent site for installing a puhlic pool, and would recommend that an appropriation be passed for the purpose of carrying out the above mentioned plans, the amount to he as approximated, $35,700.

Thc ahove mentioned estimate will also include the construction of a playground with a swimming pool, 40 feet hy 100 feet, with the bottom and sides to be of concrete; moreover, a locker huilding, with a shelter for children and the fencing, etc., are also included. We would also suggest that the swimming pool be placed under the jurisdiction of this department.

Very truly yours,
HUGH C. MCGRATH,
Secretary Bath Trustees.

City of Boston, Office of the Mayor,

Mr. William A. Leahy,
Secretary to the Mayor,
City Hall, Boston:

Dear Mr. Leahy,—I have your letter of the 27th, inclosing one from thc chairman of the Park Department relative to the use of the Parker Hill reservoir for a playgound and swimming pool.

I think that the work proposed by the Park Department could be done very easily for $35,700. It strikes me as being a high figure, but not having seen the plans and not being a contractor or engineer, I would not want my opinion to he taken against that of the Park Commissioners. Other than grading, there is, however, but very little work to be done to make over the Parker Hill reservoir. Very little material of any kind will have to be purchased. It seems to me that there will be enough stone in the reservoir to build a good many of the embankment walls made necessary in leveling the land, and I should think that $20,000 would do this work, which consists primarily of labor.

I have already secured the consent of Commissioner Rourke to allow the transfer of the reservoir property on the summit of Parker Hill to the Park Commissioners free of cost. It seems to me that a more desirable recreation park than would be afforded by this tract of land, by reason of its size and natural advantages, could not be established anywhere. Containing 196,202 square feet of land, ahout four and one-half acres, the reservoir tract is not only adequate to serve the purpose of a playground, but will be one of the largest playgrounds in thc city. This is made clear by a few comparisons—the National League baseball park contains 180,000 square feet; the Columhus Avenue Playground contains 213,000 square feet; and the M Street Playground contains 200,375 square feet. Of almost equal importance to size is the location of a playground with reference to its natural surroundings. The reservoir tract appears to be very fortunate in this respect. Two hundred and twenty feet above the sea level and entirely free from the smoke and grime that affects some of our playgrounds, it would prove to be the ideal park for exhilarating sport. The splendid panoramic view, including the harhor, the city, the Blue Hills, Jamaica Plain and the Newtons, which it commands, enhances its value as a recreation center.

There may he some objection from the standpoint of sentiment among the neighbors to convert the reservoir into a playground, but that I think cannot be sustained, first, hecause the reservoir is of no use now to the Water Department, and second, on account of its topography and the maintenance of the water supply there is hut a small proportion of the land availahle to the public, who use it but rarely through the week. By making it into a playground cvery foot of the area is made available, and the views and natural advantages are not only retained, but a greater numher of people are given the opportunity to enjoy them.

Very truly yours,
JOHN C. KILEY.

PLAYGROUND, MATTAPAN.

The following was received:

City of Boston,
Office of the Mayor, December 18, 1911.

To the City Council:

The rapid increase in population in the district about Mattapan square warrants the helief that there will be a demand for new playground accommodations as there has been for the erection of new school huildings. With increasing congestion the demand for land will be so great that prices will inevitahly rise, and if the city is to make a purchase it must go ahout the matter promptly or suffer the consequences of delay in larger payments for its takings. I am informed that for twenty-five thousand dollars ($25,000) a parcel suitable for playground purposes and containing one hundred and fifty thousand (150,000) to two hundred thousand (200,000) square feet can be purchased at the present time, and believe that it would be sound policy, since such provision must be made in the near future, to appropriate money for this purpose now. I recommend, therefore, the passage of the accompanying order transferring the sum of twenty-five thousand dollars ($25,000) from the Reserve Fund to an appropriation for "Playground Accommodations, Mattapan District."

Respectfully,
JOHN F. FITZGERALD, Mayor.

Ordered, That under the provisions of chapter 261 of the Acts of 1893 the City Auditor be and hereby is authorized to transfer the sum of twenty-five thousand dollars ($25,000) from the Reserve Fund to an appropriation, to be expended under the direction of the Park Commissioners, for Playground Accommodations, Mattapan District.

RELEASE OF RESTRICTIONS, FENWAY.

The following was received:

City of Boston,
Office of the Mayor, December 18, 1911.

To the City Council:

The accompanying letter from Mr. John C. Kiley sets forth the stagnation in building development in the district adjoining the Fenway, and suggests a reason therefor as well as a partial remedy. It seems to me reasonable to accept the view that the building restrictions, which were applicable when they were made, have now become not only obsolete but a positive detriment to development. As long as the present wording remains in the law, to the effect that no apartment house costing less than four thousand dollars ($4,000) per suite of apartments shall be erected, there will be few buildings of a modern character put up in this vicinity. As Mr. Kiley says, the modern apartment house contains several suites upon each floor, and the price of building them in such a manner as to conform to present restrictions is virtually prohibitive. I indorse his views and those of the Fenway Improvement Association for which he speaks, and recommend the passage of the accompanying order which has been drafted by the Law Department of the city, empowering the Park Commissioners to amend the restrictions so as to permit the erection of apartment houses costing not less than four thousand dollars ($4,000) per story, instead of per suite, for every 25 feet of frontage.

Respectfully,
JOHN F. FITZGERALD, Mayor.

City of Boston, Office of the Mayor,
Real Estate Appraiser, December 18, 1911.

Hon. John F. Fitzgerald,
Mayor of Boston:

Dear Sir,— Since the Fenway was built there have been but two dwelling houses erected thereon, with the exception of that block between Boylston street and Westland avenue. The lack of development has caused the owners of land in this vicinity tremendous losses. For the past year the Fenway Improvement Association, which is composed of landowners in this vicinity, has carefully studied the situation, and thinks that a modification of the present restriction applying on land fronting on the park would prove to be a means by which building operations may be started. The association, through its president, John H. Storer, has asked me to consult you as to transmitting an order to the City Council modifying the present restriction.

The restriction now existing reads: "no apartment house costing less than $4,000 per suite of apartments, exclusive in each case of the cost of the land, shall be erected upon said premises." The phrase "per suite of apartments" is a technical mistake, and never was inserted in the restriction to mean what it does to-day. When the Fenway was built the apartments erected at that time consisted of one suite on a floor, each building being about 25 feet wide. To-day they are building apartments 50 and 75 feet wide, with several suites on a floor, and if a builder is forced to comply with the letter and spirit of the present restriction, it would mean that an apartment house with six suites on a floor would cost $24,000 a floor, and for a five-story building the cost would be about $120,000. This, added to the price of the land, would involve so large an investment as to prohibit its sale and make it impossible to earn any fair return on the investment.

The modification which is suggested in the inclosed order, which has been drafted by the Law Department of the City of Boston, permits apartment houses to cost not less than $4,000 per floor for every 25 feet frontage, and a proportionate amount for any increase in frontage. This is what was meant when the restriction was originally placed upon the land. The president of the Fenway Improvement Association has consulted with the Park Commissioners, and they have tentatively agreed to this change. There are about 6,000,000 square feet of land fronting on and adjoining the Fenway upon which improvements will undoubtedly be started next spring provided this restriction can be changed in the manner suggested in this order. The Park Commissioners recently modified the restriction for one of the owners by authority given them by the City Council, approved by an order from you. This order authorizes the Park Commissioners, without additional legislation, to modify restrictions whenever requested by the individual owners of Fenway land, thus making it unnecessary for the owners to apply to the City Council for such a change.

Yours respectfully,
JOHN C. KILEY.

Ordered, That the Board of Park Commissioners, with the approval of the Mayor, and by an instrument or instruments satisfactory to the Law Department, may in the name and behalf of the city modify and amend the restrictions contained in deeds or agreements given to the city by the owners of lands abutting upon the Fens, including the entrances thereto and the Charlesgate, by altering or amending paragraph 2 of said restrictions so as to permit the erection or placing upon said lands of apartment houses costing not less than $4,000 per story for every 25 feet or less of frontage, and at the same rate for any greater width.

PAYMENT FOR BROKEN WINDOWS.

The following was received:

City of Boston,
Police Department, December 14, 1911.

To the Honorable the City Council:

Mr. J. R. Hamm, of 46 Howard street has presented the inclosed bill to this department, and upon the suggestion of the City Auditor, to whom applications was made at my order for his opinion as to the propriety of paying the bill directly, I inclose it for such action as you may feel it proper to take.

A copy of a report from Captain Peabody, which I herewith inclose, explains the manner in which the damage occurred for which reimbursement is sought. I am of the opinion that there is no legal liability upon the part of the Police Department, but believe that the claim of Mr. Hamm is entitled as a matter of equity to your consideration, and would if I had the sanction of law cause it to be paid.

I inclose also a copy of a report accounting for Mr. Hamm's inability to produce receipted bill for the amount already expended by him.

STEPHEN O'MEARA,
Police Commissioner for the City of Boston.

Police Station No. 3, September 11, 1911.

William H. Pierce,
Superintendent of Police:

Sir,— I respectfully report that I caused an investigation to be made in relation to the matter in the attached letter, wherein J. R. Hamm of No. 46 Howard street, corner of Somerset street, complains that a plate glass window in his store at the above address was broken by a police officer of this division; the following are the facts:

About 7 p. m., August 11, 1911, Reservemen John J. Herlihy and Gustav A. Schultz of this division were arresting William J. Donovan, twenty-six years old, of No. 694 Massachusetts avenue, Cambridge, Mass., for drunkenness, and while taking him to signal box No. 38, corner Somerset and Howard streets and when in front of Mr. Hamm's store, Donovan resisted arrest in such a manner that he tried to break away from the officers; in doing so Reserveman Herlihy was pushed against the plate glass window in Mr. Hamm's store, cracking the same.

Mr. Hamm further complains that about three years ago a plate glass window in his store on the Somerset street side was broken by a police officer in making an arrest, costing him $28 to replace the same. He never received any compensation for the damage done. To replace the glass in the window broken he says will cost him about $30, which was not insured.

Respectfully submitted,
IRVING A. H. PEABODY,
Captain Division No. 3.

Police Station No. 3, December 14, 1911.

Leo A. Rogers,
Secretary Police Commissioner:

Sir,— I respectfully report that in relation to the window in the store of J. R. Hamm & Co., No. 46 Howard street, that was broken on June 28, 1906, will say that he paid $28 for replacing the same, but he is unable to find the receipted bill and he says he cannot get the bill as the man who put the window in is now dead.

As to the second window which was broken August 11, 1911, it has not been replaced yet, but the glass is cracked and is held in place by a rivet.

Inclosed you will please find an estimate of the cost of the two windows which was furnished by Mr. Hamm.

Respectfully submitted,
IRVING A. H. PEABODY,
Captain Division No. 3.

METROPOLITAN PLANS.

The following was received:

The Commonwealth of Massachusetts,
Metropolitan Plan Commission,
Room 441, State House, Boston,
December 2, 1911.

To the Mayor and City Council,
City Hall, Boston, Mass.:

Gentlemen,—In response to a general request from representatives of the various municipalities of the district for a preliminary outline of the legislation which seems to be indicated by the advice received by the commission and the study it has made, the inclosed suggestions are submitted for your consideration.

The Metropolitan Plan Commission regards itself as your servant in this matter, and in its opinion the final bill should be as nearly as possible the common agreement of the various communities of the district.

These suggestions, therefore, are tentative and every municipality in the district has this further opportunity to be heard from before the final draft is made. The commission will be glad to receive your opinions or suggestions, either in writing or at further hearings, if you so desire.

In view of the importance of this matter to your own community, we ask you to give such help as will make this legislation provide a bill which will be most beneficial to your municipality and the rest of the metropolitan district.

Please let us have your advice at the earliest possible date.

Yours very truly,

METROPOLITAN PLAN COMMISSION,
by WINTHROP A. GRIFFIN, Secretary.

November 29, 1911.

METROPOLITAN PLAN COMMISSION.

Statement of Suggestions for a Bill.

The Metropolitan Plan Commission has been appointed to report as to the feasibility of a plan for the metropolitan district, and to draft legislation, if it seems fit, that shall be applicable to the making of such a plan. This commission goes out of existence January 1.

By correspondence, conference and study the commission has arrived at certain general conclusions upon which it will appreciate your criticism and advice.

They are as follows:

1. There should be a central authority planning the development of the whole district.
2. The local autonomy of the various municipalities should not be infringed upon.
3. The state and the district should contribute together with the local municipality towards the cost of improvements of metropolitan character, and, furthermore, the state should loan its credit for such works against repayment through annual assessments upon the cities and towns of the district.

The thirty-eight cities and towns comprising the metropolitan parks district are specified as the metropolitan district in the resolve creating the present commission.

There is need of great radial highways to handle the business of Boston. We need circumferential thoroughfares to make the traffic ways between the cities and towns of the district as efficient for business purposes as the boulevard system is for pleasure vehicles. Some official body which will advise as to the reservation of public squares, small parks and playgrounds and as to the general street treatment in every city and town of the district is probably needed. As it is now the local authorities to a large extent are compelled to obtain advice in these matters from a hired expert.

In the district there are certain blighted areas which might be rehabilitated by opening up new streets running through to more favored localities, or by many other means which would suggest themselves to a body which should give this thing careful study.

It would seem, therefore, that some central authority—call it, perhaps, a Metropolitan Planning Board—should be permanently constituted, that this Board should first make a survey of the metropolitan district, together with a study of the population, of the commerce and industry of each locality and the existing and future possibilities within the district. With this as a basis, and after consultation with the officials of the various communities interested, a series of comprehensive general plans which should embody the means and possibilities of development might be made. The study of commerce and industry and the recognition of the magnificent equipment of the metropolitan district with its libraries, technical schools and art museums might well lay the foundations of the plans which would bring to this district the manufacture of those commodities whose chief value is in applied art and applied science, and the export of which to this country is enriching Germany and France. Such a study might suggest plans for coordinating and extending transportation facilities, the location of small playgrounds, reservation of lands for public buildings, the unification of building laws, the prevention of congestion, the reduction of fire hazards and better methods of financing public improvements.

Such a Board might be empowered to examine and report upon all plans for improvements of metropolitan character contemplated by any existing public authority. The proposed Board might have the power to put before any local government the question of the execution of any metropolitan improvement that might lie within its borders. Unless such a local government should vote to undertake the improvement, nothing would be done and no money would be spent. If the local government votes in favor of such an improvement, it would be executed not by the proposed Board but by the local government itself according to the plans of the Board. To facilitate construction, it is proposed that the state shall finance the work, that the city or town in which the improvement may lie shall pay only 65 per cent of the total cost, the remaining cities and towns paying 25 per cent. This 25 per cent should be payable according to an apportionment by a special tribunal appointed by the Supreme Court, and the apportionment should be on the basis of the benefits, if any, to each city and town affected by the improvement, taking into account also its population and valuation. Finally, the state, which receives so large a proportion of its revenue from the metropolitan district, and is deeply interested in its growth and the increase of its taxable property, should pay a small proportion of the cost of metropolitan improvements, say 10 per cent. The above proportions would hold only for what the Board might designate as ordinary metropolitan improvements. In some cases it might not be just for the locality in which the improvement is situated to pay as much as 65 per cent, in which case the tribunal appointed by the Supreme Court would have the power to diminish this 65 per cent to such extent as in its judgment would be fair and just.

It has also been suggested that the commission should consider any matter important to the development of the metropolitan district which might be proposed by any of the communities, investigate it, report and publish its findings with recommendations to the Legislature.

The commission has been advised that a Board of five members, three, including the chairman, appointed by the Governor, as representing the district, and two by the Mayor of Boston, might fairly represent the proportional benefits as between the suburban municipalities and the central city.

The theory of these suggestions is to enable the cities and towns of the district to make certain much needed improvements earlier and more easily than they now can.

Nothing has been finally settled in regard to a proposed bill, but the commission is making every effort to present a measure which shall be to the best advantage of the cities and towns of the district.

Criticism of these proposals and alternative suggestions which might be incorporated in legislation are absolutely essential if the proposed measure is to be of real value.

(3) The Committee on Finance, to which was referred—October 30—message of Mayor and order for extension of Arlington street and widening of Ferdinand street, having considered the subject, respectfully reports that the order ought not to pass, without prejudice to the Arlington street extension; and further reports, recommending the passage of the following:

Ordered,—

(1) That the Street Commissioners, through his Honor the Mayor, be requested to report to the City Council the estimated cost of extending Arlington street from Boylston street to Columbus avenue, at a width of seventy feet, under the provisions of the 39th amendment of the state constitution, which amendment amends part 1, Article 10, of said state constitution.

(2) That the Street Commissioners, through his Honor the Mayor, be requested to report to the City Council the estimated cost of extending Arlington street, from Boylston street to Columbus avenue, at a width of 70 feet, under other provisions of law.

(3) That the Street Commissioners and his Honor the Mayor be requested to confer with the New York, New Haven & Hartford Railroad officials relative to any offset and contribution by said railroad company with respect to the carrying out of the project herein contemplated, under provisions 1 and 2 above, and report to the City Council in a further message accordingly.

The report was accepted.

Coun. HALE offered the following:

Ordered, That the order be amended by adding the following:

"That the Street Commissioners be requested, through his Honor the Mayor, to ascertain and report to the Council the cost of widening Ferdinand street, from Columbus avenue to Castle square, under the 39th amendment to the state Constitution.

"First—Eighteen feet.

"Second—Thirty feet."

Coun. HALE—Mr. President, I trust that there will not be any misunderstanding about this amendment, and that there will be no trouble about having it passed. It is not an order committing the committee in any way to any project. I personally am not at all sure that I favor the widening of Ferdinand street from Columbus avenue to Castle square, but I don't think the Committee on Finance of the Boston City Council ought to turn down any project that has been recommended by the Mayor of this city without even taking the trouble to find out how much the improvement will cost. It is simply on that ground, to find out how much the improvement will cost, that I am putting in this order. It may be suggested that we all know that the cost will be substantial. It was suggested in the committee by one of the members. I should like to point out that under this amendment to the Constitution, and under similar provisions in other places, large improvements have been made in foreign cities, in London and other citics, and in South America, costing absolutely nothing, the sales of adjoining land more than balancing the cost of the improvement. I, for one, do not see how any man in this Council can say that he knows the cost of this widening is going to be substantial in view of the experience in European and South American cities. I hope this order will go through unanimously.

Coun. BALLANTYNE—Mr. President, I have no objection to this addition to the report going through in this way, but I wish to take this opportunity to make my position in the matter perfectly clear. The report as presented by the committee covers my views on this whole matter very clearly. It was suggested in the committee that while probably a majority of the members of the Council were opposed to any expense for the widening of Ferdinand street at the present time, it would be well to have an estimate of the cost of that project; and I, for one, have no objection to the members of the Council who wish that information obtaining it. For that reason I am going to favor the addition to the report of the committee. But I want to make myself perfectly clear on this point, that at the present time I do not favor the widening of Ferdinand street. I am probably in favor of the extension of Arlington street because I think that is a very much needed improvement and will be the means of developing a very large tract of land which is undeveloped at the present time. In the future, when traffic through that section demands the widening of Ferdinand street, I would probably in this Council favor such a project, but I would not favor its being extended to a width of only 58 fect. I believe that when that improvement is made it ought to be a street as wide as the street that leads up to it, the extension of Arlington street, 70 feet. I have no objection, as I said a moment ago, to these gentlemen having this information, and will vote for the order on this ground only.

Coun. CURLEY—Mr. President, personally I feel with relation to the order that it is unfair to the committee and would have a tendency to confuse the public mind as to the position of the Committee on Finance with relation to the entire proposition, were the amendment adopted at this time. I see no objection to a request for information of that character at some time later in the meeting, but I do see serious objection to the consideration of an amendment of that character to the report of a committee which has been submitted to the Board for acceptance or rejection. I do not propose to debate the merits or demerits of the proposition, because after all there is no merit in the Ferdinand street proposition. In order, however, that that proposition may be considered as it should be considered, as a proposition separate and distinct from the report of the committee on this particular measure, I would respectfully move that the amendment as submitted by Coun. Hale lie on the table.

Coun. HALE—Mr. President, I hope that the motion to lay on the table——

Coun. CURLEY—Mr. President, I rise to a point of order, that the motion to lay on the table is not debatable.

President COLLINS—The point of order is well taken. The motion is not debatable. The question comes on Coun. Curley's motion to lay on the table.

The motion to lay on the table was defeated by a rising vote, 3 to 5, and the question came on the amendment offered by Coun. Hale.

Coun. KENNY—Mr. President, if the last motion had not been of such a character as not to permit members to arise and speak, I should have addressed the Chair. I see no objection to the amendment, as chairman of the committee. If I thought the amendment weakened the report of the committee I should have voted against it, because my mind is quite fully settled against the widening of Ferdinand street. I assume, and I so stated in the committee, that the widening of Ferdinand street in any event, in any phase, will be an expensive proposition. It will be a matter of considerable expense to the city to widen Ferdinand street; therefore, I should be against the widening of Ferdinand street. But, nevertheless, if members of the committee desire to have this information I see no objection to it, and I see no harm in the amendment passing and the information being ascertained and reported to this body.

Coun. SMITH—Mr. President, I hope very much that this amendment will go through, otherwise the Council will be committed to deciding against Ferdinand street. As one member of the Council I wish to say that my mind is entirely open on that proposition. I have not made up my mind, as some members of the Council have, against Ferdinand street. We held a public hearing on the question and received very little enlightenment. It is noteworthy that at that hearing there appeared in favor of the proposition a representative of the Chamber of Commerce; it is noteworthy that the Mayor has recommended it; it is noteworthy that the Improvement Commission has twice recommended it; and it is also noteworthy that the only opponents of this proposition have been an attorney who is hired by a garage on Ferdinand street, two owners of the garage, an automobile supply man who has his shop across the street, and one resident. In addition, there was one man who is now running for the City Council who desired to make political capital out of the hearing. Those are the only opponents of this measure, which is recommended by the Mayor of the City of Boston, by the Chamber of Commerce, and twice by the Improvement Commission. It leaves the members of this Council very much in doubt. It is regrettable that the public have not taken a greater interest in this matter. I wish to say that personally my mind is entirely open in this matter and that in voting for this report of the committee I still reserve my right to vote either way on the final question.

Coun. CURLEY—Mr. President, it is rather amusing to sit here and listen to the member on the opposite side of the Chamber disposing as lightly as he does of the serious and sound objections that have been advanced by taxpayers against this proposition. Personally I can perhaps see no great danger that would result in consequence of the adoption of this amendment, other than that, as I pointed out, it might be construed as an expression of opinion of the Committee on Finance, who have carefully considered this subject, if adopted as an amendment to their report. I still adhere to that belief, despite the fact that the committee's report specifically states that the entire proposition is rejected without prejudice to the Arlington street extension, and of course the fact that no mention is made of Ferdinand street is the best indication in the world of the seriousness of the consideration accorded that as a proposition deserving of consideration by the Committee on Finance. I do not believe that any member of this Council is justified in permitting the impression to go forth that the persons appearing in opposition to this proposition consist solely of a paid attorney, as the councilor on the other side of the Chamber has said, and an agent for automobile supplies. A very illuminating article with reference to the entire proposition appeared in Saturday's edition of the Boston Globe from one who has been considered an authority on the subject of taxation and on the subject of city planning and development. While I seldom agree with the gentleman I confess that I am compelled to admire his views upon this particular proposition. The gentleman in question was a former mayor of Boston, the Hon. Nathan Matthews, Jr., and Mr. Matthews says in regard to this particular matter:

"Is it not time for some taxpayer of this city"—and I read this, Mr. President, for the benefit of Coun. Smith who I trust will give his attention to this particular statement of Mr. Matthews——

"Is it not time for some taxpayer of this city to protest against the proposed expenditure of a large amount of public money for the extension of Arlington street and the widening of Ferdinand street?

"These improvements are for the benefit of the owners of the land formerly occupied by the Boston & Providence Railroad Station; the advantage to the city as a whole seems to be utterly incommensurate with the $500,000, more or less, which the city is expected to pay and raise by loan, and if this amount of money is or becomes available for public use there are innumerable other purposes to which it might be applied with real advantage to the people.

"The argument that the expense would be justified by the increase in tax rates is an obvious economic fallacy, unless (1) the annual taxes upon the increase in the aggregate assessment of the real estate benefited by the improvement will exceed the annual interest and sinking fund requirements of the city bonds issued for the purpose; and (2) the gain in the assessed value of this real estate is a net gain to the city as a whole, and is not offset in reductions elsewhere. Neither of these propositions is probably true; certainly neither can be demonstrated. The burden of proving them lies on the advocates of the loan, and no intelligent attempt to discharge this burden has come to my attention.

"The argument that buildings will be erected on the land in question is entirely beside the case, unless it can be shown: (1) that the money which will be invested in these buildings would not be invested anyway in buildings in other parts of the city; and (2) that the money will be drawn from investments which are not now subject to taxation, either state or local. The sale of property does not increase the wealth of the community as a whole. It is merely a transfer from one form of taxable investment to another.

"In fact, unless it can be shown that a proposed improvement will increase the aggregate wealth of the city by bringing into it property or business which is not here now, and will not come here anyway, no sound economic argument, based on tax values, can be discerned for carrying out the improvement at the public cost.

"This proposition seems to me to be well illustrated by the recent experience of the city in the matter of the South Station, an improvement which will cost the city, first and last, about $5,000,000, mostly represented by long-time loans. A considerable shifting of real estate values has been caused by the change in railroad terminals made when the station was finished, but the aggregate prosperity or wealth of the city has certainly not been increased by this change, and not one dollar of public money ought to have been contributed to it.

"And now, in the face of this experience, it is proposed to devote another half million of city money to the development of the derelict lands left as a result of the change in terminals in the possession of one of the two railroad corporations for whose benefit the city has already sunk $5,000,000!

"If the proposed street were needed as a new thoroughfare for public travel, the case might be different; but with two wide streets, Berkeley and Pleasant (the widening of which has just been ordered), running from Tremont to Boylston streets, and less than 1,500 feet apart, another highway between the two is not justified by any conceivable argument based upon the necessities of travel.

"The whole scheme seems to be nothing but an attempt to secure a large public contribution for a private development street, which in every other community would be paid for by the landowners themselves.

"The $500,000 of public money involved can far better be used for new schools, small playgrounds in congested centers, new fire apparatus, sewage improvements, some really meritorious improvements and other pressing public needs.

"Respectfully yours,

"N. MATTHEWS."

Mr. President, that is the opinion of Mr. Matthews, and the opinion of a gentleman who seldom agrees with Mr. Matthews, and who has been styled a man who made a presentation of the case before the committee purely for political effect, is also very illuminating. This young man in question, Mr. Goodwin, points to the fact that a list of petitions for street construction up to July 23, 1908, before the Street Commission, contained petitions for 428 orders for street construction, divided as follows: City proper, 35; Charlestown, 11; South Boston, 22; East Boston, 14; Roxbury, 78; Dorchester, 140; West Roxbury, 93; Brighton, 35. I believe that everything that was said by Mr. Goodwin in his presentation is worthy of the serious consideration of every member of this Council, and I would most respectfully ask that this entire report, both of those who favor and those who oppose the proposition for the extension of Arlington street and the widening of Ferdinand street be included as a part of the proceedings in connection with the consideration of this particular proposition. (Referring to report of hearing before the Finance Committee, December 12, on extension of Arlington street and widening of Ferdinand street.) Just one word further. Personally I believe that the proposition to widen Ferdinand street is an absolutely indefensible one, that there is no argument that can be advanced sound in character or honest in purpose that would justify the serious consideration of any member of this Council in favoring such a proposition.

Coun. SMITH—Mr. President, I would beg to suggest that the gentleman is not talking to the matter under discussion.

President COLLINS—The Chair rules that the question is on the amendment offered by Coun. Hale, and it seems to the Chair that the gentleman is in order.

Coun. CURLEY—Mr. President, to continue, the interruptions of the councilor on the other side of the Chamber are exceedingly refreshing. They are never dangerous, because the points raised by him seldom have any bearing on the matter under consideration, and they afford only a sometimes necessary breathing spell. To continue, there is absolutely no argument that can be advanced in favor of the proposition. Is it proposed that this street, Ferdinand street, be widened to an equal width with Arlington street? If it is, then it becomes necessary to take 12 feet off the most expensive building in that section of the city, the First Corps of Cadets Armory, or to take 12 feet off the new Abraham Lincoln School, to run a 70-foot street to a dead end on Tremont street. And for what purpose? Simply for the purpose of increasing the prosperity of a corporation that has permitted its property to remain a drug on the market because of the price demanded for it for more than twenty years—a corporation that has never seriously presented for the consideration of the municipality any development scheme unless in the consideration and the acceptance of that proposition the city would be compelled to hear the major part of the expense attached to the development proposition. Taking literally what has been said by the promoter in charge of this proposition before the committee, I have no serious objection to Mr. Minot increasing his store of worldly goods as he admits would possibly be the result to some extent in the event of Ferdinand street being widened, he admitting that within two weeks of the proposition by the committee he had purchased property on Piedmont street in the vicinity of Ferdinand street, and on the side of the street where it was proposed that the widening should take place. He admits that his corporation, his land trust, have under consideration the development not only of Arlington street and of Ferdinand street, but of Stuart street and St. James avenue, and it is not an unreasonable proposition that some board or some body of so-called public spirited citizens will, with a view to the development of that section of Boylston street between Massachusetts avenue and Exeter, which now lies dormant, bring in a proposition for the widening, acceptance and extension of that, and for a new thoroughfare connecting Massachusetts avenue with the South Station running through Eliot street. But we have under consideration at the present time Ferdinand street.

Coun. SMITH—Mr. President.

President COLLINS—Does the gentleman yield?

Coun. CURLEY—I will yield to a point of order.

Coun. SMITH—I only wished to ask a question. I simply desired to ask the gentleman whether he was arguing against the whole proposition or the Ferdinand street end?

Coun. CURLEY—Mr. President, as I have pointed out before, it is rather unfortunate to have these interruptions, because they denote neither sense, discretion nor judgment, and reflect much upon the membership of the body. To continue, Ferdinand street, as I have said, is a proposition that lacks merit absolutely, a proposition that is indefensible. As for Arlington street, personally, regardless of the views entertained by others, I believe the extension of that street to Columbus avenue might be of benefit to that section of the city. But I can see no benefit, other than the pecuniary benefit that might result to the promoters, from the widening of Ferdinand street, and I do not believe it is the duty of this Board, elected to serve the interests of all the people, to favor such propositions as promote only the welfare and the financial interests of a certain few individuals, some of whom live in this city and others who live in New York and elsewhere. For that reason I believe, as I stated previously, that an order calling for an expression of opinion from the Street Commission as to the cost of widening Ferdinand street might be all right as a separate order. It is similar to from 100 to 500 orders that are introduced every year in the City Council. But to attach that in the form of an amendment to the report of a committee is perhaps going to confuse the public mind as to the opinion, stand and position taken by the City Council on the proposition as a whole. There is no equivocation in the position of the City Council on this proposition. It rejects the entire proposition, but it states in the rejection that Arlington street is rejected without prejudice. That states absolutely the position of the committee. Now, then, what are the public to assume, should we adopt this amendment? They are to assume that we still seriously consider a proposition that is indefensible. Why, I could enumerate at least twenty streets that are arteries of travel in Boston for which there has been an agitation for from five to twenty years for widening and extension. Not one of those streets would represent an expenditure as great as would be necessary were Ferdinand street widened to a width of 70 feet. It is useless, and I sincerely trust that the members of this City Council will see the wisdom of reconsidering their action and will reject the amendment. If the councilor on my right or the councilor on the other side of the Chamber will present an order of that character at some later time in the meeting, but not as an amendment to the report of the committee, I should have no objection to voting for it as a separate proposition. But I do believe that it should be separate and distinct from this proposition, that there should be no confusion in the public mind as to the position taken by the City Council on the Ferdinand street proposition. Certainly there was no occasion for confusion in the minds of the Committee on Finance, when they considered the proposition to-day. They rejected almost unanimously, or at least more than a majority of the committee did, a proposition favoring an amendment that would lead the public to believe that we seriously considered the idea of widening Ferdinand street. If that was the position taken by the committee in executive session, I can see no valid reason why the committee should submit to such amendment as has been presented here at this time.

President COLLINS—If there is no objection at this time, the records offered by Coun. Curley, namely, the stenographic report of the public hearing by the Committee on Finance, December 12, on the extension of Arlington street and the widening of Ferdinand street, will be incorporated in the minutes of the City Council. Is there any objection?

Coun. SMITH—Mr. President, I should like to object to that. It has already been published once.

President COLLINS—Coun. Smith objects to having the report submitted and printed as a part of the minutes of the body.

Coun. HALE—Mr. President, I regret extremely that there has been any misunderstanding about this order. I think if the councilor on my left (Coun. Curley) really was clear as to the meaning of it he would not have opposed it. It is simply this. We have been offered as a City Council a proposition. We have been asked to spend a certain amount of money for a particular improvement that has been recommended by the Mayor and the Boston Chamber of Commerce. We don't know whether that improvement is going to cost $5,000 or $1,000,000, and all I am asking is to find out how much it is going to cost. I think if any of us were asked to buy something by particular friends or large bodies of friends of ours our first question would be, "How much is it?" That seems to be a wise, common sense proposition, to first find out how much it is going to cost. But the committee's report, without this amendment is not "How much is it going to cost?" but "We don't want it, whether it costs $5,000 or whether we will have to pay $1,000,000." I don't believe the City Council will stand for that kind of action.

Coun. CURLEY—Mr. President, it was with a desire not to inflict the reading of the report on the members of the Board that I wished to have it considered a part of the record. I dislike exceedingly to be compelled to read this entire report, but it certainly bears upon the subject and the amendment and, since I have the floor, unless Coun. Smith withdraws his objection, I shall be compelled to read these fifty-eight pages.

Coun. SMITH—Mr. President, I think it would be a great pleasure to hear the councilor read before he leaves this body. It is always a pleasure to hear him read.

Coun. CURLEY—And I assure the gentleman on the other side of the Chamber that it is a sincere pleasure for me to read a part of this report. It was my desire that the entire record of the hearing should be included in the minutes. I shall now simply read that part that is against Ferdinand street so that but one side may appear in the public records for the future consideration of the City Council.

Coun. CURLEY began with the statement of Arthur D. Hill, Esq., which appears with the rest of the report of the hearing referred to later in the Proceedings, and after he had read a while Coun. HALE said:

Mr. President, I would like to move that the balance of the report be extended on the records, with the unanimous consent of the Council.

President COLLINS—The same question is before the Council as before—namely, whether there is unanimous consent. If there is any objection on the part of any member of the Council the report cannot be included in the Proceedings. Is there any objection?

Coun. BALLANTYNE—Do I understand that this applies to what is to follow in the record?

President COLLINS—Is there any objection to what is to follow?

Coun. SMITH—I object, Mr. President.

President COLLINS—Mr. Smith objecting, what has not been read cannot be included in the minutes.

Coun. CURLEY proceeded with the reading, and Coun. HALE presently said:

Mr. President, I now ask unanimous consent of the Council that this be extended on the records.

President COLLINS—Is there objection?

Coun. SMITH—I object, Mr. President.

President COLLINS—Coun. Smith objects, and the same is excluded.

Coun. CURLEY proceeded with reading of the report, and Coun. HALE presently said:

Mr. President, I rise to a point of order. I don't think that any discussion of the merits of this question is in order. I would like to make that point of order. We are trying to find out what the cost of this improvement would be, and I don't see how any of this is relevant.

President COLLINS—Anything in those records hearing upon Ferdinand street, as to the prospective cost, and anything further in regard to Ferdinand street which would lead the City Council to go into the question of ascertaining the cost, is germane to the question.

Coun. HALE—It does not seem to me, Mr. President, that all that the councilor has heen reading is germane.

President COLLINS—The Chair rules that part of it is and part of it is not.

Coun. HALE—Well, Mr. Chairman, I ohject to the next three pages.

President COLLINS—The Chair would have to understand what the next three pages are.

Coun. CURLEY continued reading from the report.

Coun. HALE—Mr. President, all this is irrelevant.

President COLLINS—The Chair rules that the greater part of it is.

Coun. CURLEY—Mr. President, I was ahout to say that I helieve I have the floor.

Coun. CURLEY continued reading, and presently Coun. SMITH said:

Mr. President, will the gentleman yield?

Coun. CURLEY—No. Mr. President, I refuse to yield.

Coun. CURLEY continued reading from the report.

Coun. SMITH—Mr. President, I simply wish to mention that in my opinion he is skipping parts of the report. (Laughter.)

President COLLINS—The Chair cannot take judicial notice of that, hecause he has not the manuscript hefore him. The Chair would state, however, that the question is on Ferdinand street and not on Arlington street.

Coun. CURLEY—Mr. President, I appreciate that.

Coun. CURLEY continued reading from the report, and presently said:

Then, Mr. President, come a numher of questions of Coun. Smith that are not germane. (Laughter.) (Continuing reading.)

Coun. SMITH—Mr. President, I move that all this record, including the parts omitted, he published as a part of the records of this meeting.

President COLLINS—There being no objection, the same are incorporated in the minutes of the Council. They will he considered offered and will he included in the minutes, with unanimous consent.

Coun. CURLEY—I thank you.

There heing no objection, the entire report of the hearing of Decemher 12 hy the Committee on Finance on the extension of Arlington street and the widening of Ferdinand street, was included in the minutes of this meeting, viz.:

EXTENSION OF ARLINGTON STREET, ETC.

Boston, Decemher 12, 1911.

Hearing hefore the Finance Committee of the City Council, at two o'clock p. m., at the Hearing Room, City Hall, on the message and order suhmitted hy his Honor the Mayor, Octoher 30, 1911, relative to the extension of Arlington street and the widening of Ferdinand street.

Present, all the memhers of the committee, Chairman KENNY presiding.

Mr. John F. Dever officiated as clerk.

Chairman KENNY called to order, and Clerk Dever read the call for the meeting, as follows:

City of Boston.
Notice of Hearing.
Office of Clerk of Committees,
City Hall, Decemher 9, 1911.

The Finance Committee of the City Council will give a puhlic hearing on Tuesday, Decemher 12, at two o'clock p. m., at the Hearing Room, City Hall, on the message and order suhmitted hy his Honor the Mayor, Octoher 30, 1911, relative to the extension of Arlington street and the widening of Ferdinand street.

By order of the committee,
JOHN F. DEVER,
Clerk of Committees.

Chairman KENNY. In order that we may all fully understand the purpose of this meeting, I will ask the Clerk of Committees to read the communication from his Honor the Mayor to the City Council.

Clerk Dever read the communication referred to as follows:

City of Boston,
Office of the Mayor, Octoher 30, 1911.

To the City Council:

The final report of the Joint Board on Metropolitan Improvements states "that extension of Arlington street in the form of an ample highway from Castle square to the present Arlington street at Boylston street hy a widening of Ferdinand street and extension across the vacant land formerly occupied hy the Boston & Providence Railroad station, and through the single row of estates intervening hetween that land and Boylston street, would he a highway of metropolitan importance and concern."

The report from the Chamher of Commerce, copies of which now have heen sent to the memhers of your honorahle body, indicates the trend of opinion upon the subject of this improvement. I do not need to emphasize its importance in the development not only of the district adjoining Park square, hut of a wide zone extending in several directions from the site of the improvement itself.

A definite offer from the New York, New Haven & Hartford Railroad, through its representative, Mr. Laurence Minot, now makes it possihle to carry out the extension of this highway at a reasonahle cost. The accompanying letter from the secretary of the Street Laying-Out Department estimates the cost of extending Arlington street, from Boylston street to Providence street, at a width of seventy feet, which is the width of the street as laid out across the property of the trust, and of widening Ferdinand street from forty feet to fifty-eight feet from Columhus avenue to Castle square, to he $790,000. This does not include the reconstruction of the hridge on Ferdinand street, which in any event is helieved to he necessary, and the widening of it to a width in conformity with the increased width of the street, which will prohahly he ahout $60,000. As against this cost of $790,000 the New York, New Haven & Hartford Railroad will make an offset on the damages to its property on Boylston street to any amount that may he assessed up to $270,000, so that the initial outlay for the city will he $520,000. The only conditions are that the city shall take official action hefore January 1, 1912, and that the damages awarded for the estates at 314–318 Boylston street, purchased hy the railroad in order to carry out this extension, shall equal the amount originally paid for the estates, which was $381,550. The railroad also will give to the city the portion of Arlington street which extends across its own land. This offset of $270,000 is intended to cover all hetterments on the property of the railroad. It is estimated hy the secretary of the Street Laying-Out Department that later henefits which may he assessed on the estates along Boylston street within the prescrihed radius from Arlington street will amount to ahout $120,000.

That this street must be cut through sooner or later is a matter that does not admit of question. The only question is as to the terms which the city should make with the interested parties. The city has already given evidence of its willingness to cooperate hy the appropriations for changes in the grades of Berkeley and Providence streets and, in my opinion, the offer of the railroad is sufficiently liheral to warrant an immediate appropriation. That values will increase in the neighhorhood and hring hack in time, through additional taxes, the full amount laid out on the improvement is apparent to all who have studied the question, and the willingness of the railroad to contrihute so liherally, not only hy the laying out of streets hut by the acceptance upon terms that are extremely favorahle to the city of so large a sum in hetterment assessments, is the hest proof of the influence which this improvement will have in raising values in the neighhorhood.

The horrowing capacity of the city now is something over $900,000. To supplement this sum, which is large for this period of the year, there is a Reserve Fund amounting to more than six hundred thousand dollars ($600,000). I recommend, therefore, the passage of the accompanying loan order appropriating five hundred and twenty thousand dollars ($520,000) for the extension of Arlington street and the widening of Ferdinand street.

Respectfully,
JOHN F. FITZGERALD, Mayor.

City of Boston,
In City Council, October 30, 1911.

Ordered, That the sum of five hundred and twenty thousand dollars ($520,000) be and hereby is appropriated, to be expended by the Board of Street Commissioners, for Arlington street extension and Ferdinand street widening, and that to meet this appropriation the City Treasurer be and hereby is authorized to issue bonds or certificates of the city to said amount.

City of Boston,
Street Laying-Out Department,
October 30, 1911.

Hon. John F. Fitzgerald,
Mayor of Boston:

Dear Sir,—The Board of Street Commissioners has had an estimate made of the cost of extending Arlington street from Boylston street to Providence street, to meet the new street laid out and constructed by the New York, New Haven & Hartford Railroad, from Providence street to Columbus avenue, and also for the proposed widening of Ferdinand street from Columbus avenue to Castle square.

Exclusive of reconstructing the railroad bridge on Ferdinand street, which will be necessary, the estimate is $790,000.

The Board believes that substantially one-half the cost may be assessed back on the property benefited which lies within the assessable distance of 125 feet.

Very truly yours,
J. J. O'Callaghan, Secretary.

Chairman Kenny. The committee will first be glad to hear from those who favor these recommendations of the Mayor, asking the Council to appropriate this money. Each speaker will please come forward when he desires to be heard, and give his name and address to the stenographer, so that we may have a proper record.

Statement by Mr. Frank A. Bourne.

Mr. Bourne. Mr. Chairman and gentlemen, I want to speak in favor of this report of the Chamber of Commerce, and in order to do that I will read the report as submitted by the committee of the Chamber. The following is the report of the City Planning Committee, as accepted by the Board of Directors and forwarded to you as the expression of opinion of the Chamber of Commerce:

Extension of Arlington Street Through the Park Square Property.

To the Executive Committee and Board of Directors:

The Committee on City Planning has considered the matter of the proposed extension of Arlington street through the Park square property which had been reported upon by the Committee on City Planning nearly two years ago. The committee is informed that at least one building, owned by the holders of the Providence Railroad property, is about to be torn down.

As you know, that has already been torn down, and the space is left now on Boylston street.

We understand that it is the present plan of the holders of that property to rebuild at once upon the site thus made vacant, leaving merely an archway as a means of access from Boylston street to the land beyond Providence street.

We beg to recall to your attention the two previous reports upon the subject of extending Arlington street made by committees of the Chamber, copies of which are appended hereto. Having re-examined the question we concur in the opinion expressed in those reports that Arlington street ought to be extended to Columbus avenue, and we believe that in this case the city ought not by tardy action to let slip the opportunity which will be presented by the demolition of the building above referred to. It should be prepared to act when the lot is vacant and not wait until building recommences before considering what it wants to do.

Your committee believes that it would be so much in the interest of the holders of the Providence Railroad property to have Arlington street extended that they could well afford to share largely with the city in the cost of cutting that extension through the valuable Boylston street frontage. But there is no legal means of forcing them to share that cost beyond a very limited extent and if they take the attitude that a mere archway will satisfy them the city is in no position to assume this attitude to be a bluff. To do so and to stand pat on that assumption would be to risk the loss of an opportunity for a very important thoroughfare, which the city really needs, running from the Back Bay by way of Ferdinand street to the South End. As a matter of business the way for the city to reach satisfactory terms with the holders of the Park square property is to appropriate the money for condemning any or all property in the line of Arlington street through either to Providence street or to Columbus avenue, and be prepared to talk business. If satisfactory terms cannot be reached for opening a full width street, let the city wait until the one lot is vacated for the opening of the archway and condemn that.

Your committee recommends that the Chamber urge upon the Mayor and Council the importance of making such provision in advance in order that the opportunity for carrying through this great improvement will not slip away.

Respectfully submitted,
Frederick Law Olmsted, Chairman,
Frank A. Bourne,
Charles M. Cabot,
Frederick P. Fish,
Herbert J. Kellaway,
John Nolen,
Henry Sterling,
Robert A. Woods,
Committee on City Planning.
Robert P. Bellows,
Walter B. Binnian,
Herbert S. Drew,
Associate Members.

Messrs. Fish, Nolen and Sterling were absent from the city and did not have an opportunity to pass upon the report.

October 6, 1911.

I would now like to call your attention to the two reports dated December 21, 1909, two years ago, showing that the opinion of the Chamber has not changed—the idea being that if the opinion of the Chamber has not changed in two years it will not change in twenty. Shall I read the whole of this? There are four pages, and it will take about six minutes.

Chairman Kenny. You had better read it all.

Mr. Bourne. This is dated December 21, 1909.

Report of Committee on City Planning, Arlington Street Extension.

December 21, 1909.

To the Board of Directors,
Boston Chamber of Commerce:

Gentlemen,—The Committee on City Planning reports on the proposed extension of Arlington street from Boylston street to Columbus avenue, and the widening of Ferdinand street to Castle square, now before the Street Commissioners, as follows:

This extension is a desirable improvement and should be made, provided the plan may be executed upon terms that will not throw an excessive burden of expense upon the city.

The property formerly occupied by the Providence Railroad Company is a hindrance to communication between all that part of the city lying north of Boylston street and the district southwest of Columbus avenue. Now that the use of this property for railroad purposes has permanently ceased the city plan should be improved by the creation of such thoroughfares as would naturally have been laid out if no such hindrance had ever existed.

The proposed extension of Arlington street is the first and most important step. It need not follow exactly the lines of Arlington street. On the east Arlington street has no buildings, merely the fence of the Public Garden as a boundary. On the west side the street is divided into numerous blocks separated from one another by Marlbororough street, Commonwealth avenue, Newbury street and four public alleyways. The buildings present no continuous line, but are set back at various distances from the curb. If, therefore, the city could make a considerable saving of cost by leaving intact the new building on Boylston street, projecting slightly beyond the theoretical side line of Arlington street, which is occupied in part by Bryant & Stratton School, it is not important on the score of appearances that this building should be removed. The offset in alignment of curbs would be so small in proportion to the width of the two streets that the deflection of Arlington street traffic in crossing Boylston street would be practically unobjectionable. It might, however, be practicable to build a sidewalk arcade under the easterly portion of the building, so as to bring the extended street into line with Arlington street as at present laid out. It would be an unfortunate result of the improvement and would postpone for some time the full realization for all concerned if the Boylston street properties left on either side of it should stand for many years with unsightly blank side walls or temporary partitions exposed to the new street, as has sometimes occurred; and the securing of agreements to improve the facades on the new streets promptly in a suitable manner may properly be made the subject of negotiation before determining the exact lines of entrance into Boylston street.

The creation of this thoroughfare will involve the sacrifice of no high priced real estate except upon Boylston street and will decidedly enhance values from Boylston street to Castle square. Therefore a larger share of the total cost for property damages and for construction should in all fairness be contributed by the real estate affected than is usual in street openings and street widenings in the older part of the city. The experience of the city in collecting betterment assessments, however, has been so unsatisfactory that it is very desirable to secure as far as possible definite agreements for the settlement of the prospective damages and benefits before fixing the lines and proceeding to condemnation.

In the near future the increased revenue to be received by the city from new buildings and increased land values should more than equal the interest and sinking fund requirements on the net cost to the city of opening the street and the maintenance cost thereof.

This report, prepared after investigation by a subcommittee, consisting of Frederick Law Olmsted, J. Randolph Coolidge, Jr., and Henry Sterling, has been approved by a majority of the Committee on City Planning, Mr. Winsor being undecided in his opinion as to the expediency of the improvement and Mr. Adams being absent from the city.

Respectfully submitted,
FREDERICK LAW OLMSTED, Chairman.

That was the report of 1909. Then there is the report giving the estimates of cost, and I will read that, if you would like to have me do so. It is very much along the lines of the Mayor's letter, but may give another point of view.

Chairman KENNY. Yes.

Mr. BOURNE. (Reading.)

Report on Arlington Street Extension.
(Giving Estimates of Cost and Betterments.)

The undersigned committee have considered the probable cost of the extension of Arlington street from Boylston street to Providence street and the benefits which might properly be assessed therefor to neighboring property, and we submit the following conclusions:

We assume that if the city should make the extension it would be for a width of but about 69 feet, taking in the estates numbered 314, 318 and 320 Boylston street, having a total assessed area of 8,625 square feet and an assessed valuation of $400,000. We think it probable that the cost of these properties would be nearly or quite $75 a square foot, or say $645,000.

The grade of Providence street is about 5½ feet below that of Boylston street and Columbus avenue, so that to carry Arlington street through on substantially the same level would require the filling of Providence street, involving a considerable amount of grade damages to the properties fronting on Providence street, most of which also front on Boylston street. These damages, plus the cost of filling and resurfacing Providence street and the construction of the extension of Arlington street, we think would probably be not less than $150,000 and very likely more.

We therefore estimate the total cost of the extension at $800,000.

We understand that under the law one-half the cost may be assessed in betterments upon property receiving a benefit from the laying out and construction of the new street and that such benefits may be assessed only on property some portion of which lies within 125 feet of the improvement.

We think that estates fronting on Boylston and Providence streets within this limit might be assessed to the amount of $150,000.

In order to make up the total of $400,000, which may be assessed for betterments, it will be necessary to find other property receiving a special benefit from this construction to the amount of $250,000. We understand that the trustees of the Park square land propose to construct a street from Providence street to Columbus avenue in continuation of the line of Arlington street as the first step in opening up the large tract of Park square land development. This street will have frontages on both sides of about 760 feet. Lots fronting on this street having a depth of 100 feet would, therefore, contain 76,000 square feet, and if the whole remaining $250,000 should be assessed upon this portion of the land it would be less than $3.50 per square foot. Other land, however, owned by the trust which would be reached from Boylston street through Arlington street would also receive a benefit, so that we think that it would be entirely proper to assess the entire remaining $250,000 upon the property of the Park Square Land Trust.

Upon another question which was not submitted to us we desire, however, to express our opinion because it is involved in the discussion and decision of this problem, namely, what benefit will the city receive for the expenditure of the $400,000 which the improvement will cost in excess of the amount which may be received for betterments? As we have seen, there will be taken from the city tax list property now paying taxes on a valuation of $400,000, yielding taxes of $6,600. If the city borrows the $400,000 to be invested in the improvement at an annual charge of 3¼ per cent this will add $13,000, so that the annual cost to the city will be about $20,000. In order to meet this cost it will be necessary to find additional property which may be taxed to the amount of $1,212,000. The property of the Park Square Trust bounded by Boylston and Providence streets and Columbus avenue is assessed at $3,180,000. After taking out the probable amount required for streets there will remain not less than 350,000 square feet. If the entire necessary increase were added to the present assessed value of this land it would amount to less than $3.50 per square foot of the salable area. The improvement of the land, however, with such buildings as are likely to be erected in that locality would involve an investment so much larger than the requisite amount that the city, even without increasing the assessed value of the land would undoubtedly find a sufficient addition to its income to justify the expenditure.

Furthermore, the opening of a new crosstown thoroughfare connecting the South End with the Public Garden and the Charles River Basin by a more direct route than any which now exists would in itself be of sufficient public importance to justify a considerable expenditure.

Respectfully submitted,

LESLIE C. WEAD.

March 7, 1910.

That is all I am authorized to say for the Chamber of Commerce. I will only add a word, that I know the locality very well myself. I spent some time last summer in seeing street widenings made in a similar way in Europe, and I found that it was the regular thing to make street widenings ten times as great and as important as this. Of course, in our country we have every individual owner and voter to appeal to, while abroad a good many of the street widenings and improvements of that kind are made by a smaller number of men. It is easier, perhaps, to get at them. But I think, on the whole, when the public, the citizens of Boston and the Mayor find out the importance of a street widening here it is as easily carried through in Boston as in any city I saw abroad.

Q. (By Coun. BUCKLEY.) I listened very carefully to that estimate which you read, Mr. Bourne, but I noticed that you didn't say anything about what it would absolutely cost the city for making this improvement, if it did so. That is what I want to find out—the absolute cost to the city over and above what it will receive. Did your committee consider that and cover it? A. That, I think, is covered, also the Mayor's estimate. The estimate I gave you was two years ago, and the estimate now given, I think, is $790,000. That is from a letter of the Street Laying-Out Department dated the 30th of October last.

Q. Your committee did not consider it at all? A. Not recently, except in a general way. They consulted two or three real estate men, and the changes were not sufficient for them to change their opinion as to the advisability of the work.

The actual estimate here seemed to answer the purpose, so that that was not gone into again.

Q. (By Coun. COLLINS.) Mr. Bourne, I would like to have this cleared up, whether or not after the committee reported to the Chamber of Commerce these various propositions the Chamber of Commerce in turn took any action as a body? A. Yes. I think if I explain the way in which that is carried out and how carefully it is studied it will throw some light on the matter.

Q. I would like to have that done. A. Yes. This matter was studied several years ago, and there were two committees, one to study the matter in the first place. They went into the matter very carefully, considering the advisability of the project. The second committee was a committee of real estate men that went into the matter very carefully from that point of view Those reports were both passed on and considered carefully by the Board of Directors of the Chamber of Commerce at that time. Recently, when the question came up about three months ago, it was taken up by the Chamber of Commerce, the Board of Directors, referred to the Committee on City Planning, and considered carefully by a subcommittee, who reported back to the committee, and was considered in full committee and discussed to a great extent. Then it was gone into by the Board of Directors and gone over again before it was voted upon and sent to you in this form. So it has been through a good many hands, and represents the general opinion of the whole Chamber of Commerce.

Q. So really it is the report of the whole Chamber of Commerce? A. It is exactly that.

Q. (By Coun. SMITH.) Mr. Bourne, are you reporting on the street as a whole, from Castle square to Boylston street? A. From Castle square through Ferdinand street, and from Ferdinand street to Boylston street.

Q. You haven't made any division of the project into parts? A. Not in this report, no.

Q. The Chamber hasn't taken any action on the street except as a continuous street from Castle square to Boylston street? A. The report, I think, is clear on that, that it takes it as a continuous street. We did not consider it specifically in any one part.

Q. So that the estimates are all founded on that distance, too? A. Yes, the total distance.

Q. And you said that if it resulted in raising the value of the Park square land $3.50 a foot it would pay the city to do it? A. Yes, it seemed to me the expense would be away below the return it would be to the city. That is, the additional value is almost self evident, it is so much more than that $3.50 a foot.

Q. (By Coun. BUCKLEY.) One more question: I would like to ask if your committee considered the fact that Berkeley street runs right through that territory, very close to Arlington street? A. Yes.

Q. And just a little farther down is Dartmouth street, so that you have two streets running the full length. Did your committee consider that? A. Yes, that was brought up in full committee.

Q. With that in view did the committee believe that Arlington street really should be extended at this time, when there are so many other very much needed improvements that should be made? A. I am very glad that you brought up the question, because it brings up a thing I had in mind before coming here, and something which was referred to by a fellow member of the committee. That block is the longest block in Boston — the block through which they are thinking of cutting Arlington street. I think that practically answers the question. It settled the question in our committee, and I think it is a very fair answer to your question. That block is the longest block in Boston.

Q. On Boylston street? A. I don't know of any block anywhere in Boston that is any longer. It is the longest one we could find in looking over the map.

Q. (By Coun. ATTRIDGE.) Your committee made its report in regard to the extension of Arlington street to Columbus avenue, and not in reference to the widening of Ferdinand street from Columbus avenue to Park square. Is that so? A. No. I think that is not quite so.

Q. Well, this report is really a report on the extension of Arlington street? A. Yes.

Q. And the cost of the extension from Boylston street to Columbus avenue. Does this also cover the cost of widening Ferdinand street? A. Yes, I understand that it covers the whole cost, all the way through to Castle square, including the widening of Ferdinand street—referring to this last page of the report. You will find that in detail on the very last page.

Chairman KENNY. Any further questions? (No response.) Mr. Bourne is excused. The committee will be glad to hear anybody else present in favor of this project. Mr. Minot, do you desire to be heard further on this matter? You have already addressed the committee upon it.

STATEMENT BY MR. LAURENCE MINOT.

Mr. MINOT. I think I have already given my views pretty fully, unless the committee has some further questions to ask.

Chairman KENNY. The clerk of the committee reminds me that when you were here before and made your statement there was no stenographer present, and that your remarks were not taken down. Perhaps you might like to say something now as a matter of record and have it go on the record. Of course, that is a matter for you yourself to determine, and is something that is not required at all.

Coun. ATTRIDGE. Might I say that it was a matter of courtesy on the part of the committee that evening that they allowed Mr. Minot and Mr. Hill to appear and make the statements?

Chairman KENNY. Of course, we heard you then, but if you would prefer to have something on the record we shall be glad to give you this opportunity.

Mr. MINOT. I think I covered our position pretty fully in that letter to the Mayor, Mr. Chairman.

Q. (By Coun. BUCKLEY.) Mr. Chairman, I would like to ask Mr. Minot a question. There is one thing I would like to have settled, and that is, just how many buildings on Boylston street which might be affected by this extension of Arlington street does the Park Square Trust own, if it owns any? A. It owns the two buildings, 314–318 Boylston street, both of which would be taken.

Q. How much are those assessed for, Mr. Minot? A. I am afraid I cannot answer that question, Mr. Buckley. It can be easily ascertained, however.

Q. To be given to the city at the assessed valuation? A. No, our proposition was to give them to the city at what we paid for them.

Q. Which is above the assessed valuation? A. Considerably above the assessed value.

Q. You don't recall just how much above it is? A. I don't recall what the assessment is for.

Q. All right, sir.

Chairman KENNY. Is there any other person present who desires to be heard in favor of this project? (No response.) If so, be will please come forward and give his name to the stenographer. If there is no other person present who desires to be heard in favor, the committee will be glad to hear those who are opposed.

STATEMENT BY ARTHUR D. HILL, ESQ.

Mr. HILL. May it please the Council, my name is Arthur D. Hill, and I am a member of the bar, and I appear in opposition to the widening of Ferdinand street, as representing the Armory Garage, a Massachusetts corporation, and the tenant of a piece of property that would be greatly injured in value by the proposed widening, if it were to take place. The committee has already as a matter of courtesy, as stated by Mr. Attridge, heard me informally, and for that reason I shall be very brief and shall speak only for the purpose of getting on the record our opposition and the reasons on which it is based.

What leads us to come here is the injury to our client's property, and we should not be here but for their personal interest, presumably. We believe, however, that that should not affect the weight of the arguments which we are able to advance against the proposed scheme, which we believe sufficient to show that it is not for the public interest that it should be carried out at the present time.

In what I say I want to make it clear that I am not opposing in any way the extension of Arlington street through to Columbus avenue; that, on the contrary, I am inclined to believe that that is a proposition against which no arguments can be advanced that are not outweighed by the manifest advantages of the scheme.

There are two things, gentlemen, to be considered in every public improvement of this character. Every street widening has two objects. One is to improve the adjacent property and perhaps open up property through which the widening is to go, and thereby increase its utility and its assessed value; the other is, to afford additional facilities for traffic. So far as opening up that large triangle of land which lies immediately to the south of Boylston street and which would be reached by the proposed extension of Arlington street is concerned, I don't see how anyone who looks at the map or who is at all familiar with the locality can deny that the proposed extension, as suggested by his Honor the Mayor and as advocated by the Chamber of Commerce, will be of very great advantage. You have a large piece of land there which is very well adapted for use for business purposes, and which at the present time is substantially impossible to get at. It is only natural that the owners of that land should want to have it opened up and should be willing to do something in order to have it opened up, and it is only right and proper that the authorities of the city should pay some attention to their wishes and should also have in mind the very great advantage that will result to the community as a whole from having that land—which is now practically useless, which is of just as little value as if it were not there at all—changed into business blocks, full of thriving businesses.

As to that there can be no question. But when it comes to the other branch of the class of questions that come up in every public improvement,—the accommodation of additional traffic,—there you come to another matter. I do not believe that anyone familiar with the locality and knowing the conditions will anticipate that through that proposed extension, or from the region lying beyond it to the south, there is going to be any considerable volume of traffic. There is already one wide thoroughfare in the immediate vicinity—I am speaking of Berkeley street—and Berkeley street practically has no traffic on it at all that is in any way commensurate with its width. There is going to be another street lying to the east, Pleasant street, which will be greatly widened, under the scheme now before this body, or which was acted upon by this body a short time ago, which has been approved. Those two arteries will for years accommodate all the traffic that there is going to be. Our contention is that, while the Arlington street proposition is an admirable thing to open up the land lying south of Boylston street and owned by the New York, New Haven & Hartford Railroad, there is no point in carrying it farther and widening Ferdinand street, for the sake of making a widened thoroughfare through Castle square and accommodating traffic which in fact has no existence and which there is no real reason to suppose will have any existence within any time that we can foresee.

The point of a great big wide road is to lead from somewhere to somewhere. Now, the only place that this road is going to lead to is the Public Garden and the Back Bay and the Charles River Embankment. There is not and is not likely to be any traffic coming through there that cannot be accommodated through Ferdinand street at its present width. There certainly is no such traffic at the present time. I shall produce witnesses here who will tell you that the traffic to-day through Ferdinand street is utterly inconsiderable, that there is no pressure from the South End of people seeking to come up there and get through there to the Back Bay district, and that there is no reason to anticipate that there will be any such traffic in the very near future. This improvement of Arlington street, whatever its merits, is not going to create traffic from the South End to the Back Bay. There is every reason to suppose that there is just as much, or substantially just as much, traffic from the South End to the Back Bay now as there will be after you cut through Arlington street. If people wanted to get between those two points they would be crowding up Ferdinand street now and getting to the Back Bay either by going down Columbus avenue or going over Berkeley street. The fact that there is no substantial traffic along that route, that there is no such indication, shows there really is no need of widening Ferdinand street as a traffic matter. There has not been a single person, from the beginning to the end of the controversy in regard to this proposition, who has come here and said that he or any class of which he was a member were hampered in getting from the South End to the Back Bay at the present time. There is no one here, there has been no one here, who has come forward and said that there was going to be in the near future any large extension of the need of accommodations for traffic between those two points. As the Back Bay stands to-day there certainly is no demand of that character. I do not want to underrate the charms of the Public Garden. I have been familiar with it from my earliest years. I have fallen into the pond; I have played on the banks, and my children to-day are repeating those experiences. But it is not the most important, or anything like the most important, part of our park system, and there is no demand by the people of this city in any enormous number to get over there from other sections. I do not want to underrate the possible future of the Back Bay as a retail district. There are a great many of my friends who cherish the illusion that in their old age they are going to sell their buildings for business blocks, and retire and live in comfort on the proceeds because that development is going to be very rapid. I should hate to undermine those illusions, but I believe the day when the Back Bay will be a great retail shopping district is far off, and that its existence is only hypothetical. It is not worth while for the city to spend money on a possibility of that kind. The amount that they can possibly save by doing it now over doing it when the necessity arises is not worth the chance that the necessity never will arise.

Really, the advocacy of this measure comes from two sources: In the first place, from the New York, New Haven & Hartford Railroad, represented by Mr. Minot, who are naturally anxious to have their property developed, and properly anxious to have it developed, and who naturally, having the scheme as a whole in their mind, want to get as much as they can for what they are going to give. They think they would gain something by having Ferdinand street widened on the south, as well as by having Arlington street cut through on the north. Undoubtedly it would be of some slight advantage to them to have Ferdinand street widened, although much less, it seems to me, than they appear to think. But, from that point of view, I don't think it is unfair to say that proprietors of land who are already,—through the widening of Pleasant street, through the change of grade of Providence and Berkeley streets, through the changes and improvements which are projected in St. James avenue and Stuart street, and through the extension of Arlington street—going to have spent for their benefit a sum of over $3,000,000 by the city, are perhaps getting as much as they are fairly entitled to at the present time. Really it comes down to the question of whether it is worth spending the money for. It is going to cost, on the most conservative estimate, $300,000 to widen Ferdinand street from Columbus avenue to Castle square. As a matter of fact, it will be found, unless I am very much mistaken, that it will cost considerably more than that. For instance, the injury to my client's property had never been fully brought out until the informal hearing at which I stated it to your body the other evening. It is fair to presume that the estimates for other damages which are made by the various gentlemen who have considered this improvement will also be found somewhat short of the reality. That is a very common experience. A body of architects and public-spirited gentlemen, sitting down with that light-hearted feeling that all of us have when we are dealing with large public questions and improvements that do not disturb our own but merely other people's property, drawing lines with red ink and a ruler across the city where they think broad avenues will look well, never really count the cost accurately. To take an example from common experience at this time of the year, it is like the lady of the family counting up what the Christmas presents are going to cost. They always come in her mind to considerable less than the grand total that has to be paid when the bills come in. I think it a safe prediction for anyone to make that the betterments will be found less and more difficult of collection, and the damages greater, than are estimated in any of these plans, and I think it is safe to say that by the time the city gets out of the widening it will spend a great deal nearer $400,000 than $300,000.

Chairman KENNY. You are now referring to the proposed Ferdinand street widening?

Mr. HILL. I am not referring to anything in the sense of objecting, except the widening of Ferdinand street from Columbus avenue south to Castle square. We concede that the Arlington street extension ought to be made, and made at once, because it is important to the city as well as to the owners of open land lying behind Boylston street, and it is not any the less important because the owner of that property happens to be the New York, New Haven & Hartford Railroad. It would he just the same thing whether it belonged to them or to Mr. Minot personally, or to me or any one else. That ought to he done. But that does not involve necessarily, or as a matter of common sense, widening Ferdinand street from Columbus avenue to Castle square, merely because Ferdinand street happens to form a continuous street with Arlington street. That is a policy that we have outgrown, gentlemen. This City of Boston is full of great, wide streets that were laid out to an inordinate length merely because they happened to he in a straight line, and when you got started widening a street there seemed to he no particular reason for not going on a little farther. All through the city you will find avenues of that kind that are altogether out of proportion to any traffic that they are carrying or are likely to carry in the near future, and yet they have cost the city thousands and hundreds of thousands of dollars. They represent in many cases work which, if we had it to consider over again, we would never think of doing. It has not heen the result of experience that widening a street per se hrought traffic, and it has heen the experience that, as a matter of saving, in the long run it paid hetter to take one step at a time, to widen where the widening was needed, and to allow proposed widenings that were not needed to await the chances of the future. In the last three years there have heen in this city over sixty-three petitions for street widenings,—among others Avery street, Exchange street, Hamilton place, Bowdoin street, Bowker street. All those that I have stated have heen turned down. Some of the petitions were not only for widenings, but for extensions, and all of those are at least as desirahle as the present proposed widening. A hundred other cases could be picked out in the city where you could undoubtedly make a wider street, and a wider street is always in some ways an advantage over a very narrow one. But we cannot afford to go into the street widening husiness to an unlimited degree. In this case you will not get value for your money; you will not get anything like the return that you ought to get.

So far as concerns the circumstances of my particular client, I am going to leave Mr. Beck, the manager of the corporation, to speak for the corporation. You have already heard the facts stated once. I merely want to get them very briefly on the record. The facts arc very simple, and he can state them better than I can. I only want to emphasize this. The hardship on my client, which will be very great, is no reason why a public improvement should not go through if a puhlic improvement is required; but it is a circumstance which we think you should consider in connection with all the other circumstances of the case, in connection with the remote and speculative chance of any real benefit and with the fact that there is a complete ahsence of any puhlic demand for this change as a solid argument against it.

Q. (By Coun. BUCKLEY.) In your argument you said you believed in the extension of Arlington street, and then a sentence or two later you said that Berkeley street has no traffic commensurate with its width. You told about Pleasant street, and you also said that in the near future the fact that Arlington street will be extended, or Ferdinand street widened, will not really assure us that there will be any intercourse or traffic to the Public Garden or those places from other parts of the city. If that is the case, and if Berkeley street is able to accommodate all the traffic from the South End of the city to the Back Bay, having in mind also the fact that we have Dartmouth street a little farther down, is there really any strong argument for the extension of Arlington street at the presnt time, in your opinion? A. Mr. Buckley, I think there is. I don't think it is important how we do this, but I do think there is a sufficient necessity, by reason of the large quantity of unimproved land which lies immediately to the south of Boylston street, for opening up that territory. I think there is no way at the present time of getting at that land. I think that land could be used and would hring a return in increased assessed values, assuming that a fair trade could be made with the railroad so that the expense would not he too great, so that we would be justified in cutting through that block. I don't think it makes much difference how wide the street is, but I do think there ought to be a street through there, and it is so short a distance that I don't think there is any particular objection to having it the full width that is desired hy the property owners. It is not going to make much difference in the expense. Is that the only question?

Coun. BUCKLEY. Yes.

STATEMENT BY MR. JOHN BECK.

Q. (By Mr. HILL.) What is your name and your address? A. John Beck, 28 State street.

Q. (By Chairman KENNY.) Are you ahout to offer the same explanation now that you did on a former occasion? A. Practically. I think the committee has already heard it.

Chairman KENNY. Well, unless some member desires to ask Mr. Beck a question, I think the committee understands the matter. You may desire, however, to make a statement for the record.

Mr. HILL. Yes, you had better make a brief statement of the situation.

Mr. BECK. Mr. Chairman and gentlemen, as a citizen and taxpayer, one who is interested in the growth of the city and who is doing much to develop the land in the vicinity of Park square, I am opposed to the widening of Ferdinand street as a useless outlay of money. Mr. Minot recently stated to this committee that if Ferdinand street were widened it would he an incentive to erect new buildings on the street; and yet there are few buildings in the city to-day that are hetter than the Ahraham Lincoln School and the Armory Garage. As treasurer of the Armory Garage I confess a certain selfish motive in opposing this widening. I have earnestly striven to huild up a large, prosperous business, and if the widening of this street takes place my efforts will have been futile and the business will he ruined. The Armory Garage is to-day the hest and most up-to-date building in the city that is centrally located, admirably meets the needs of the automobile operators and owners, and in justice to them this building should not be destroyed. Arlington street should be extended to Columbus avenue, even although the land that is taken by the city for this improvement is owned and controlled hy the persons who are the advocates of this extension and it means directly the development of the land now vacant in Park square. But if you go heyond Columbus avenue, voting to widen Ferdinand street, you authorize an expenditure of puhlic money for which there is absolutely no defence. Now, I shall he glad to answer any questions.

Q. (By Coun. ATTRIDGE.) You might state for the benefit of the citizens present the cost of your building. A. The huilding and the land, which naturally should enter into the cost, represent $200,000.

Q. (By Chairman KENNY.) That is, your building, the Armory Garage? A. Yes, sir.

Q. (By Coun. BUCKLEY.) I would like to ask Mr. Beck, if this street were widened, just how much space it would take away from this huilding? A. The building has a frontage of 155 feet on Ferdinand street, and the proposed widening would take 18 feet off the total frontage. That can easily be figured, 155 times 18. That would take approximately one-third of the total availahle capacity of this garage. You all know that any business has a certain fixed expense, and the profit lies in the amount of business you can get ahove the necessary amount to take care of that fixed expense. If the city widens Ferdinand street we will lose one-third of our capacity without materially being ahle to decrease our fixed expenses. Therefore, it will be ahsolutely impossihle to carry on the business at a profit or even in a way that will pay the fixed expenses.

Q. (By Coun. COLLINS.) Have you figured out, Mr. Beck, what is your proportion in comparison with the other land that could be taken on that side street, in the event of the street being widened? A. You mean, how much of the street our building occupies?

Q. Yes. A. Well, we have a frontage of 155 feet, and the whole street, including the schoolhouse, the gasometer huilding, is hardly more than 600 feet. There is very little land left on the street that can be developed. There is the First Corps of Cadets Armory, a building that cost one-half a million dollars.

Q. (By Chairman KENNY.) That is on the opposite side from you? A. Yes, but I am now talking of the development of the street. There is the Abraham Lincoln School, a building that represents in cost about half a million dollars, I suppose, and there is the Armory Garage, a building that represents a cost of $80,000 above the land. These three buildings comprise nearly one-half the total frontage of Ferdinand street.

Q. (By Coun. COLLINS.) What proportion does your assessment bear to the assessment on the street? A. Well, our addition was not assessed, not being completed the first of last April, but, in proportion to the cost of the building and the land, it represents—well, of course, the First Corps of Cadets Armory is also on Columbus avenue, the gasometer building is also on Columbus avenue, so that the assessment that would directly bear on Ferdinand street is relatively small. I should think that the value of the garage, as compared with the direct assessments on Ferdinand street, would be about one-fifth, perhaps less. Perhaps that is not accurate, but it is very near.

Q. (By Mr. HILL.) I don't understand that you are trying to give accurate figures, but approximate figures? A. Yes, approximate figures.

Q. (By Coun. COLLINS.) At the last meeting I asked questions along that line and I didn't know but what you might have figured it out. A. No, I haven't.

Chairman KENNY. Is there any other person who desires to be heard in opposition to this project?

Coun. SMITH. I understood there were going to be witnesses called to testify to the amount of traffic on Ferdinand street. Are there such witnesses present at this time?

Mr. HILL. Yes, I think so. I meant to ask Mr. Beck that question, and shall be glad to do so now.

Q. (By Mr. HILL.) Mr. Beck, what is the present traffic on Ferdinand street? A. The present traffic on Ferdinand street, of passengers and vehicles, averages about thirty an hour.

STATEMENT BY MR. THOMAS B. MCKEAGNEY.

Mr. HILL. Mr. Chairman, there are four or five gentlemen who have notified me that they would like to be heard here. I will call Mr. McKeagney, who was a former member of the city government and is doubtless known to all of you present. You will give your name.

Mr. MCKEAGNEY. Thomas B. McKeagney.

Q. Say what you want to. A. Well, gentlemen, I have not much to say in regard to this, anything more than that I am interested in a little piece of property which is at the opening, pretty near the opening of Ferdinand street, and I feel that it would be an expense to the City of Boston to widen Ferdinand street at this time, and that it would be had for our children going to that school, leaving the school entirely on the street. Therefore, I am opposed to it. That is why I have come here.

Q. Mr. McKeagney, how much traffic is there through Ferdinand street now? A. There is very little. I have been there a great deal; in fact, I go through there considerably, and I never saw much traffic. You will see four or five teams, something like that, at times.

Q. Is there anything to indicate that at the present time the street is not amply sufficient to take care of any traffic that goes through it? A. I think it is amply sufficient to take care of all traffic at the present time.

Q. (By Coun. SMITH.) I would ask Mr. McKeagney if he knows about the traffic that goes through Church street? A. I should judge that no more traffic goes through Church street than the other street.

Coun. SMITH. Thank you.

STATEMENT BY MR. WILLIAM C. BATES.

Q. (By Mr. HILL.) What is your name? A. William C. Bates.

Q. And where do you live, Mr. Bates? A. 65 Astor street, Boston.

Q. And what is your business? A. Automobile repairing and supplies.

Q. Have you a place of business on Ferdinand street? A. Yes, sir.

Q. Do you own it or simply lease it? A. I lease it.

Q. Will you state to the committee the extent of the traffic at the present time in Ferdinand street? A. Well, gentlemen, I cannot say in numbers just exactly the number of teams that pass there in a given time. I can only say that as long as I have been there I have never seen the traffic in any way congested. As a matter of fact, apart from an occasional grocery wagon, coal team, something like that, there is practically very little traffic.

Q. Have you ever observed any tendency in the traffic from the South End to the Back Bay to become congested in the present arteries? A. No, sir, not in any of them.

Q. Do you know of any public demand in the locality for the widening of Ferdinand street? A. I cannot see why it should be.

Q. Have you ever heard of any? A. No, sir.

Q. (By Coun. BUCKLEY.) I would like to ask the gentleman if Ferdinand street were widened and Arlington street extended, if in his opinion it might not offer a more direct route to the Back Bay and cause the traffic to increase? A. I think not. I think the present condition of traffic is a pretty fair indication of what it might be then.

Mr. HILL. I don't think, Mr. Buckley, that you make a man go to a place merely by giving him a wide street to walk along.

Q. (By Coun. SMITH.) Are you familiar with Church street? A. Yes, sir.

Q. Will you testify to the traffic there? A. Only in the same manner that I did in regard to Ferdinand street. It is inconsiderable.

Q. About the same? A. About the same; yes.

STATEMENT BY MR. CHARLES A. WILLIAMS.

Mr. WILLIAMS. Mr. Chairman and gentlemen, I merely wish to be recorded here in opposition to the widening of Ferdinand street, that part of the scheme. I represent the trustees of the John C. Haynes estate, as you know, who are the owners of the estate on the corner of Ferdinand and Winchester streets, on which is this Armory Garage. We have been convinced by our tenants that if this widening takes place, reducing the depth of our lot from about 71 or 72 feet to 56 feet or thereabouts, they cannot go on and utilize it for their business, and, of course, if they cannot, nobody can for that business, and it will be a very great damage.

With regard to the extension of Arlington street across the Park square property so far as Columbus avenue, in my judgment the only material gain to the city from that extension will come from the increase in taxable property. I think that is a justifiable, perfectly justifiable ground for making that extension as far as Columbus avenue, provided the railroad makes a proper contribution. I do not believe, however, that there is any need, any great need of a new thoroughfare there for public travel, although I believe if the extension is made that the new street will be used to a greater or less extent. But, as I told my clients when it was explained to me that this widening of Ferdinand street was going to cost $300,000,— and my brother Hill says it will surely cost more,— I said to them that my feeling about coming here to appear for them was entirely swallowed up in my feeling as a taxpayer of the City of Boston, because it seemed to me an utterly unwarrantable thing to spend even $300,000 on the widening of Ferdinand street. I don't believe there is the slightest public advantage to be got from it. If the street extended through in a direct line to South Boston it might be different; but if Arlington street is extended across the Park square property to Columbus avenue, any travel that will use that street by turning to the right and going a very short distance to Berkeley street can reach the Dover Street Bridge and get somewhere, and by going from Columbus avenue to Castle square they can get anywhere. I don't think I need take any further time of the committee.

Q. (By Coun. COLLINS.) Then your position is the same as that of Mr. Hill? A. Exactly the same as Mr. Hill's.

Q. (By Coun. BUCKLEY.) I am to understand that Mr. Williams does not approve the extension of Arlington street when he says that Berkeley street leads somewhere and that Arlington street would not, even if extended to Columbus avenue? A. No, I did not quite say that. I will try to make it clear. I do think the extension of Arlington street across the Park square property to Columbus avenue would be a justifiable thing to do, because of the making of taxable property, provided the railroad pays its share. What its share shall be I have not studied into sufficiently to say; but I do think if the railroad pays a proper share for that extension, makes a proper contribution, the city would be justified in making it.

Q. You are a man of large affairs, Mr. Williams. In your opinion, don't you think if this improvement were made, the railroad ought to agree to pay its proportionate share, whatever might hc agreed upon, before we decide that the thing ought to go through? Don't you think that is a fair proposition? A. I think they ought to pay it or that it ought to he secured in such a way that you will get it. I should suppose that is ordinary husiness. I should certainly say that.

Q. (By Coun. Smith.) Of course, as I understand it, Mr. Williams, this street will be extended whether this City Council votes it or not? That is, the Park square trustees will put an arcade through there? A. You mean a covered arcade?

Q. A covered arcade. Now, do you think that would raise the assessed values on the Park square land? A. I don't know that I quite understand. On Boylston street, you mean?

Q. You have stated that if Arlington street were extended it would raise the assessed value of the Park square vacant land? A. Yes, sir.

Q. Now, if connection is made there in the form of an arcade, which is something that the trustees now propose doing, regardless of the action of the city, will that raise the assessed values there? A. Of the Park square land or Boylston street? It isn't clear to my mind just what you mean. I don't know whether you mean an arcade merely at Boylston street or for the whole land.

Mr. Minot. I would like to explain that. I think it may save discussion of the point. I would say that we haven't the slightest intention to build such an arcade, and never did have. There was a picture puhlished in the newspapers, but we had nothing to do with it and have no such intention.

Coun. Smith. Wasn't there some suggestion made to the Mayor in regard to an arcade?

Mr. Minot. I think some such suggestion was made hy somebody, hut not hy the trustees.

Coun. Smith. Are the huildings now torn down on Boylston street?

Mr. Minot. One building.

Coun. Smith. And would the plan he to build a solid huilding there, blocking the end of the street?

Mr. Minot. I think we would have some sort of passageway through, an open passage or arcade through the huilding.

Coun. Smith. I would ask how wide that would be, if it is not asking too much.

Mr. Minot. We have not definitely decided; I think prohahly 15 feet.

Coun. Smith. With an attractive entrance so as to draw traffic into it, I suppose?

Mr. Minot. Yes.

Chairman Kenny. I did not intend, Mr. Williams, to cut you short.

Mr. Williams, No; I had finished.

Q. (By Coun. Smith.) Then, Mr. Williams, if we are going to have, say, a 15-foot passageway from Boylston street through to Park square land, with a street already constructed on the Park square land, in your opinion would that raise the values of the Park square land? A. I suppose it might somewhat, but it would be pretty difficult to say how much.

Q. You wouldn't hazard a guess? A. No, a 15-foot passageway through there would he pretty small potatoes in my judgment. It would he very different from carrying the street itself through there.

Q. Now, of course, what it is going to cost the city to put the street through from Boylston street is $400,000, in round numhers. Do you think the difference in assessment on the land that might result from the putting through of the street as compared with the 15-foot passageway—because, after all, that is what the city is going to gct out of it—justifies us in spending $400,000 for the street? A. I have just said that is a thing I have not considered. I would want to consider it prctty carefully before making a statement. I would not want to say offhand.

Q. Then, you wouldn't really he prepared to say to-day that it was advisable for the city to spend $400,000 to extend Arlington street without an opportunity for further consideration? A. Not without further consideration, but I can say, from the consideration I have given it, only this, that I do think if the street were laid out there it would enhance the value of the Park square land, and therefore it ought to be done, upon some basis. But what that hasis would be I couldn't say without careful consideration.

Q. Then you arc unequivocally against the widening of Ferdinand street? A. Yes, sir.

Q. And in douht as to how much the city should expend in extending Arlington street to Columbus avenue? A. Yes, simply hecause I haven't considered that proposition at all.

Letter from Mr. Frederick C. Bowditch.

Mr. Hill. Mr. Chairman and gentlemen, I want to say one thing more, if I may. We had some employees of the garage present who were prepared to testify as to the question of the traffic, if there had been any dispute about it. There has not been, and I don't see any use in wasting the time of the Council with cumulative testimony. The Council knows how tenderly I hold their time. I do wish, however, to read a letter from Mr. Frederick C. Bowditch, president of the Conveyancers Title Insurance Company, who owns part of the land on which my elient's huilding is constructed:

Conveyancer's Title Insurance Company,
Boston, Mass., Decemher 9, 1911.

To the Boston City Council:

Sirs,—As a taxpayer, I wish to present my ideas touching the extension of Arlington street to Castle square. I divide the question into

First. That which is imperatively needed.

Second. That which is not.

First. The development of the territory imperatively demands the extension from Boylston street to Columbus avenue; the desirahility of this step is so apparent that nearly all agree that it is wise and proper, and all will be greatly benefited; a new thoroughfare is created which will draw in business from Boylston street; taxahle values will increase and the whole territory be stimulated; there can he no question of the puhlic necessity and usefulness of the extension of Arlington street to Columbus avenue.

Second. Going hcyond Columbus avenue you open no new thoroughfare, nor do you meet any imperative public demand, and it is difficult to discover business needs which the present street width cannot fully accommodate; nothing is in sight at Castle square; a large per cent of the Ferdinand street frontage is already improved hy new structures that are fully accommodated now.

The chief call for the widening seems to come from the owners of the railroad land, but I fail to see any imperative demand for such action from any present or near future needs; the puhlic feeling, easily seen in the extension to Columbus avenue, loses its force on crossing the avcnue; it requires no extended array of figures or arguments to go as far as this, hut, as soon as you cross, and begin to talk of widening Ferdinand street, it needs a great deal of talk and many figures to enlist extended support, and I fail to hear any sufficiently loud call for it to warrant the necessary expense.

I own lands on nearhy streets, and from a selfish standpoint I want everything done which will he likely to increase values, hut if the city stops Arlington street at Columhus avenue, it will have done all that public necessity and convenience require, or that the interests of private owners like myself ought to expect.

Very respectfully,
Frederick C. Bowditch.

I want onc word to clear the situation, in view of something Coun. Smith has said, and that is, ahout whether the cost of the proposed extension of Arlington street through the southerly side of Boylston street to Columbus avenue would be justified. I did not understand that that alone was going to cost $400,000. If it is, I think, as Mr. Williams does, that I am hardly prepared to say offhand that it is worth that to the city. But I do helieve that a street through there would be of very considerahle advantage — just how much I should want to get some pencils and paper and figure out. But I am prepared to say that it would he an advantage much in excess of the advantage of a 15-foot passageway.

Coun. Smith. It is exactly that point that is worrying me. You have hrought four witnesses here to show that Ferdinand street is not used much at the present time. Now, I suppose the only argument for widening Ferdinand street is your future traffic?

Mr. Hill. Yes.

Coun. Smith. Then you have not brought in witnesses to show whether Church street is used at the present time; in fact, I understand one of your witnesses to say that Church street is not used more than Ferdinand street. Now, there is no more imperative need, as far as I can see, for cutting a new street from Boylston street to the Park square land, than there is for widening Church street or letting the thing stand in statu quo.

Mr. HILL. Well, I think there is a little, Mr. Smith, because I think that anyone who looks at that land from the point of view of development must feel that it would be much more likely to develop as a retail shopping district—and I speak now of the land belonging to the railroad—if a street was cut through, if Arlington street was extended. I think any private owner would think that desirable. Now, it seems to me, the legitimate function of the city to help private owners to some extent to develop their land, to aid them in laying out streets. Of course, that is a thing that ought to be done very carefully, with great discretion and with close attention to the details and the figures. But, assuming that a fair bargain can be made with the railroad, I do believe that the ability to get in at that point from the Back Bay to that district would tend to build it up into a retail shopping district in a way that would be advantageous. There is not much demand to get from other places to the Back Bay, gentlemen, but there is a good deal of demand to get away from the Back Bay to other places, and it is for that reason that I would like to see Arlington street extended, because I think it would make a shopping district there that people would come to a good deal from the Back Bay region.

Coun. SMITH. That is purely a belief on your part, and still I understood you earlier that you did not think that there was a tendency on the part of business to get up into the Back Bay.

Mr. HILL. Well, here you have a particular place, with that lot of vacant land, where something of the sort might very well occur in connection with the trade of the Back Bay itself. This land might very naturally be developed in that way in connection with the Back Bay region.

Coun. SMITH. Well, aren't you now turning around the other way? Why wouldn't the same argument apply to the widening of Ferdinand street? Both streets would lead to the same lot of land.

Mr. HILL. Because, I think we are dealing with an entirely different situation, as far as Ferdinand street is concerned. In one case, you have the population of the Back Bay, a large residential district, lying immediately near there. The nature of that population is such that I think it would be inevitable that stores would probably spring up on this vacant territory to supply the needs of that community. On the other hand, the residential districts lying to the south are so far off that I don't think it would be likely that there would be the same sort of demand.

Coun. SMITH. I understand your belief to be based on the ground that the population of the Back Bay would use such stores and that the people living in the South End would not?

Mr. HILL. I think that would probably happen.

Coun. SMITH. If theaters, vaudeville houses were there, do you think the people of the Back Bay would use them and that the people of the South End would not?

Mr. HILL. Well, are you not now going into purely speculative considerations?

Coun. SMITH. I don't know that I am, as far as theaters, perhaps, might be concerned.

Mr. HILL. Well, of course I do not pretend that my opinion is worth anything more than that of any man living in that neighborhood who has occasion more or less to consider real estate values. I think it is worth very little.

Coun. SMITH. Well, there is one more point that I would like to refer to, that is more definite. A freight franchise, almost without doubt to be granted to the Elevated, calls for a station on Motte street and Washington street.

Mr. HILL. Yes.

Coun. SMITH. That station will be used mostly for express matter from department stores, for deliveries of small packages to the outlying districts, south and north. The existing stores on Boylston street, let alone Park square land, will demand a direct route to that express station, and the direct route will be through Ferdinand and Castle streets. Would that, in your mind, necessitate the widening of Ferdinand street?

Mr. HILL. I should doubt whether that alone would create sufficient traffic to crowd the street as it stands to-day.

Coun. SMITH. Do you think it would create additional traffic?

Mr. HILL. I should think undoubtedly it would create some additional traffic. I don't see how it could fail to do so. But the street as it stands to-day should take care of a great deal more traffic than now exists.

Coun. SMITH. Well, divorcing ourselves from clients entirely, you don't think there will be traffic enough through Ferdinand street to warrant the widening of that street, although you think there will be traffic enough from the other side to warrant the cutting through of another new street, although we have Church street?

Mr. HILL. It is not a question so much of traffic as of interior development. I think there will be development enough of that railroad land to justify the cutting through of a street. You ask me to express my personal opinion. In this particular case my personal opinion happens to be in agreement with my client's, and for that reason I do not object to stating it; but, ordinarily speaking, that is not a fair question to ask a lawyer, because on the next matter on which I come up here I might not in my heart of hearts believe that my clients were right. The question you have to consider is not whether I put forward my arguments sincerely or not, but whether they are good arguments.

Coun. SMITH. That is it exactly. Has any estimate been made of the damage to your client's property?

Mr. HILL. We have made some general estimates. We are not prepared to state in detail what our damages are at the present time, because it will be impossible to do so without going into an elaborate question of figuring about the reconstruction of the building. Substantially that building would have to be torn down and rebuilt, and if you feel any doubt about that I can explain in detail why it would have to be so. The foundations would have to be shifted, a pile driver would have to be got in there again, the roof would have to be taken down and a very large proportion of the total value of the building would, in our judgment, be destroyed. Now, of course, we should try to minimize that as much as we could when we came to actually doing it. How far we could minimize it I don't know, but I don't think very far, because the inherent difficulties of the situation are very, very great from a builder's point of view. I don't think it is necessary that I should go into those details, because I think that was gone into at the other hearing and some members of the Council, I think you among them, have visited the premises. So you know what we are up against.

Chairman KENNY. Is there any other person present who desires to be heard?

STATEMENT BY MR. FRANK A. GOODWIN.

Mr. GOODWIN. Mr. Chairman and members of the committee, I think Mr. Hill has made a very good case on the proposition that Ferdinand street should not be widened, but I think he has given what I might term had reasons for the extension of Arlington street. He has practically admitted that the only reason why it should be done is to develop the real estate belonging to individuals in that community. Now, that is very bad business for the city. The city of Boston has had some experiences along this line recently. No doubt you all remember Queensberry, Peterborough and Jersey streets, where the city did that—laid out some millions of dollars for the express purpose of having some land in the vicinity increased in value, and it never increased and the city paid the bills, and there has not been any increase since.

I am opposed to the order now before this body because I think if there is any money that the city can afford to spend in street construction it should be spent in the outlying sections, which need it more—sections where men have built their homes and are now living, rather than having it spent for the purpose of benefiting individuals who own land.

I want it understood, Mr. Chairman and gentlemen, that I am not opposed to the development of Park square. I realize that that development must come and perhaps ought to come now. Seventy-six per cent of the real estate in the heart of the city—that is, the business section between Adams square, Tremont, Washington and Boylston streets—is controlled by a very few men, and through the great influence they have with various bodies, and particularly with the Transit Commission, in my opinion, they have diverted the retail trade not only of Boston proper but of metropolitan Boston into that very narrow, very small area. It is very evident that that area is not large enough to now accommodate the growing city, and of course if the city grows the business section must grow in the direction of Pleasant street and Park square. These men who control that seventy-six per cent practically of the business section here realize that this improvement, this expansion, must come, and I think they realize that it must come in that direction. Consequently they are on the ground floor. They are practically in control of most of the property in that vicinity.

I want to say that it is my candid opinion that these men also control, through their financial alliances, the Real Estate Exchange, the Chamber of Commerce, the Finance Commission of Boston, the Good Government Association, and there is a widespread belief—I hope it is not so—that they control this body. Personally I don't think they do.

Now, Mr. Chairman, if there is to be any future development or any future spending of money for streets, I think there is no question but that it should be in the outlying section. I expected that the Finance Commission would be here to-day opposing this loan. I am rather surprised that they are not. On page 1187 of the original Finance Commission's reports, under "Comments on Construction of New Streets," there is a letter from the secretary of the Real Estate Exchange—another body which I thought would be here to-day opposing this—and it says on that page 1187 of Volume 3 of Metcalf & Eddy's reports:

"Of the amounts paid out for 229 streets since 1891, the large suburban wards of Dorchester, West Roxbury and Brighton, in which the largest areas of unimproved lands are found, received for construction of 148 streets sums amounting in gross to $1,635,762.17, or about $11,000 per street, and an average for the three great wards of less than $100,000 per annum for the seventeen years since 1891 for gross street construction.

"It is apparent that settlement of these important parts of the city with a total population of 152,893 in 1905 is retarded and discouraged by such inadequate appropriations towards that indispensable convenience for the attraction of home seekers—good streets. While schools are very properly awarded by statute a certain proportion of receipts from taxation, street construction, which may be fairly regarded as essential to civic welfare and progress, and which in many instances of new streets returns its cost in increased taxation, has been neglected and made the sport of a general periodical scramble independent of the actual needs and merits of particular sections or ways."

Herewith is sent a list of petitions for street construction at that time, July 23, 1908, before the Street Commissioners.

"The latter list shows that 428 petitions for street construction were then before the Street Commissioners, divided between city districts as follows:

"City proper, 35; Charlestown, 11; South Boston, 22; East Boston, 14; Roxbury, 78; Dorchester, 140; West Roxbury, 93; Brighton, 35."

Also, on page 1189 appears this statement by Mr. Duane, their expert:

"With things as they have been for the last ten years the city gives no encouragement to men who are willing and anxious to develop real estate and erect buildings for residential purposes.

"With the completion of the Forest Hills terminal of the elevated railroad, there ought to be a great development of real estate in West Roxbury. The opportunity is there but the landowners and the builders cannot do it alone. The city ought to help them by giving them good streets."

Any loan made at the present time ought to be for the building of streets that are residential. That was the word of the Real Estate Exchange, incorporated into the Finance Commission's report, and yet I understand both of those bodies are in favor of this proposition, although they have not been here to say so.

Now, I have in my hand a list of live petitions. There are some of them among the 428, no doubt, that have lapsed or may not be absolutely necessary. Here are petitions that more than a million, a million and a half dollars worth of streets, ought to be constructed, known as live petitions. People are petitioning for the construction of streets. People live on the streets and want the work done; and yet if you give these men $520,000, it means that these other petitioners have got to wait just so much longer.

The Finance Commission last year, you will remember, sent to this body a message opposing certain loans, and among them was the $260,000 for Norfolk street. Here is the statement they made:

"The Commission believes that the widening would be of public benefit but that it is not of such pressing necessity as to justify the withdrawal of so large a portion of the money which can be borrowed this year."

The borrowing capacity then was $1,193,000; at the present time the borrowing capacity is only $768,000. Why shouldn't they be here to-day to protest against this? The final statement in their report then was as follows:

"That hereafter not less than $500,000 of the borrowing capacity of the city be maintained as a reserve, no part of it to be used except in cases of the greatest emergency."

Is this a great emergency? If this $527,000 is taken from the $768,000, you have a balance in your reserve of but $248,000. Of course, if there is a great emergency that requires this, I suppose the Finance Commission would be justified in turning tail on their original statements.

Then, the Finance Commission this year sent a statement—you will find it in the City Record of February 25—to the Legislature:

"That all bills now pending providing for loans for bath house, playground, hospital, street construction and street widening be rejected"—and it mentions the various loans—on the ground that the city cannot afford it. Our duty in that respect is greater now than it was when the Finance Commission made its original report.

The Good Government Association this year, May 11, after mentioning the various loans that you put through—$120,000 for municipal building, an amount for Mt. Ida Playground, etc.—says:

"The passage of these loans calls attention to the comparatively small amount of money which is available within the debt limit this year for loan purposes. Good policy would require that a reserve of at least one-half million dollars, and probably more, should be left unborrowed within the debt limit. Last year the Council was universally commended for maintaining a reserve of one million dollars. At the best, it is perfectly apparent that the city cannot afford to borrow much money for any purpose this year beyond the loans already provided for."

And yet I do not see any representative of the Good Government Association here opposing this loan. I don't hear any of them here telling you that you should keep the reserve at half a million dollars. They must know that if this goes into effect the reserve will be brought down to $240,000.

Now, with reference to the statement made by Mr. Hill, that he thought it might be good policy to run Arlington street through in order to benefit the real estate and thereby benefit the city, on page 1175 of the Finance Commission's report, the Metcalf & Eddy report, appears the following:

"The question of special assessments was very thoroughly discussed by Mr. Samuel Whinery in his report to your commission, dated July 27, 1908. Mr. Whinery lays down the principle that the city should not construct streets for the purpose of assisting in the development of real estate, or for the purpose of providing for an increased valuation of the property affected and thereby obtaining a return for the expenditures in increased revenues from taxes. We are in entire accord with this view and believe his statement to be correct that the city should no more embark in such a real estate venture than in a similar enterprise looking to the development of a manufacturing establishment. He has put this matter in such a forcible way that we quote from his report as follows."

And then they quote Mr. Whinery to practically the same effect. I don't see the Finance Commission here quoting that. There may be a good reason.

I have here part of a copy of Boston Common of last year, in which appeared an article written by, I think, a member of this Board, and I should like to quote just one little part of it. It was an article showing that the charter was a good thing, and in speaking of the City Council he said:

"The present Council has taken up each loan separately upon its merits and has passed all those which were of necessity and which the financial condition of the city rendered it possible to adopt. At the present time over one million dollars of the amount which can be borrowed within the debt limit has been left untouched. This is the first substantial check which has been given to the borrowing extravagance of recent years."

At the time when he wrote this tbe net debt of the city was $71,345,000; to-day the net debt is $72,920,000—an increase of a million and a half. So that now apparently the city is not in as good financial condition as then, and it would seem to me to be ridiculous to bring our resources down to $240,000, particularly when there is no necessity for this improvement except to benefit real estate owners who happen to be in that particular community.

Personally I think the proper solution to the development of Park square is this. These men wbo are in favor of it for years have been bolding their hands up in horror at the size of our debt. Personally I tbink they were bluffing. They would tell you that the City of Boston was bankrupt. I don't think it is. We have $138,000,000 assets and $110,000,000 liabilities. We also have an assessed valuation of a billion and a half, pretty nearly. We are not bankrupt. We are a big city and ought to grow and ought not to be afraid to spend money to grow. And these men, who for years have stopped the spending of money where they were not personally interested and who come in now and want us to spend more than we ought to under the circumstances because they are personally interested, should be prevented from doing tbis in the future. Personally I think we should go to the Legislature and ask them to let us borrow three million dollars for streets. Tben let us put a million and a half down in Park square, if necessary, if the growth of the city must be in that direction; and let us put a million and a half in the outlying sections where the people are patiently waiting for it and where they have been spending their good money in building homes.

I hope, gentlemen, that you will not pass tbis, but will keep the reserve where tbe Finance Commission and the Good Government Association want you to keep it, with $500,000. I thank you.

Q. (By Coun. BUCKLEY.) Mr. Goodwin,—in order to bring it more forcibly to the Council, who will act upon this matter,—of course you and I were around the city a great deal last year and both happened to be in the same places sometimes; and is it not a fact that the people of West Roxbury, Dorchester and those outlying sections are crying for the improvements you mentioned to-day and are very much opposed to more money being spent in the Back Bay section until they get what they are after? A. There isn't any question of that. I think the best evidence of the fact that they want improvements is the little booklet that you print each year. I think you have printed it this year; I know you did last year,—the minutes of your town meetings. I think if you will take that up and look it over you will find out what the people of the outlying sections want. Of course they perhaps ask for more tban they need, but there are a great many tbings that they do need.

Q. (By Coun. SMITH.) I want to get clearly in mind your attitude, Mr. Goodwin. I don't want to be under any misapprehension, personally. You say you are not in favor of spending money to help increase the values of the locality where the money is spent? A. Not if it is particularly for that reason and there is no other demand for it, as in this particular case. There isn't any traffic here. Mr. Hill has shown you that there is no traffic along Ferdinand street. There is certainly going to be no traffic along Boylston to that blind end of Beacon. It is not a tboroughfare and it never will be.

Q. Then your argument would apply both to the extension of Arlington street to Columbus avenue and to the widening of Ferdinand street from Columbus avenue to Castle square—that is, in your mind it applies to the whole project? A. If Mr. Hill's contention is correct, and if the statements of his witnesses are correct, that there is not sufficient traffic there to call for it, I say tbat we should not do it now, tbat we should wait until it is needed.

Q. Aside from what Mr. Hill says, do you in your opinion think the whole project is wrong and should not be gone into by the city? A. I think I answered that by stating that we ought to go to the Legislature and ask to be permitted to spend three million dollars for street construction, and I would be willing to have a million and a half, or more, if necessary, spent for the development of Park square and tbat section. But I don't think we ought to take $520,000 out of the already depleted reserve of $768,000.

Q. Then, if I have your answer correctly, it is that, unless we have three million dollars to spend, you would not advise taking up this project in any part? A. Unless you give the outlying sections improvements—sections that need it more than this development down here is needed—you should not spend any money down here.

Q. Well, would that apply to all the downtown districts or just to this Park square district? A. I don't know of any other district that needs development. I don't think that that does now, but it may pretty soon.

Q. Then, your criticism would apply to all the downtown districts, and Exchange street, for instance, is just as much in point as Park square? A. If that was necessary, if the condition of the street down tbere was such that traffic was being impeded, that business was being injured, I tbink the city ought to spend money to prevent it.

Q. I am trying to get clearly in mind your attitude. I have no object in questioning except to get your attitude clearly in mind. As I understand it, you say we ought to spend approximately three millon dollars. A. I don't know just how much you sbould spend.

Q. Well, a large amount, and that money ought to be spent first in the outlying districts? A. No, I say if you spend any down here you ought to spend some out tbere. I say that might be the first, but I don't say that it necessarily ought to be. I should say that perhaps Exchange street ought to be taken care of before anything else downtown. That is a matter for consideration. I don't know.

Q. Well, of course, you are a keen observer. You realize that we have spent a large sum of money, more than this order calls for, for the outlying districts this year. Of course, you know that. A. I haven't seen the figures.

Q. Well, tbere is one single item of $150,000 for Norfolk street, without any come-back at all. A. You mean the loan that has been put tbrough this body?

Q. Yes. I don't want to take up the time to go into all tbe items for the outlying districts, but we could foot up, I should say, without having the actual figures before us, three or four times the amount of this order that has been given to the outlying districts this year. A. Well, you remember that in that report tbe Finance Commission sent they said it was absolutely necessary, and if done now it would save money, that if you let it go it would cost tbe city more.

Q. If wbat was done? A. The widening of Norfolk street. The point I want to make there is that it was necessary, absolutely necessary, and tbat you ought to have spent it out there. This isn't necessary at the present time, in my opinion. You may have a different opinion.

Q. There is only one otber question that I would like to ask you. You stated in your opening remarks a number of organizations that were in control of the seventy-six downtown property owners. Do you mind restating those? A. What I stated was that there were a very few men who controlled about 76 per cent, in assessed valuation, of this downtown property.

Q. And, if I understood you aright, you said that those same men controlled certain organizations in town? A. I gave it as my opinion that they do.

Q. Do you mind restating those? A. The Chamber of Commerce, Real Estate Exchange, Finance Commission, Good Government Association, Municipal League, for instance.

Q. The City Council? A. No. I didn't say that.

Q. Is that the entire group, or do you care to add more, on second tbought? A. I think I could add more,—practically all the uplift movements in the town.

Q. Any other bodies you might mention in town that are not controlled by these men? A. Ob, yes, I have no doubt that some are not controlled by them, but I think if they went after them they would come pretty near getting them.

Q. Do you object to stating some of them? A. I cannot think of them just now.

Q. All you can think of are controlled by those men? A. All I mentioned are. Perbaps I might mention various lodges, organizations of that kind, that they don't control,—Odd Fellows, Hibernians, orders of that kind.

Q. But you are not sure whether they control those or not? A. No.

Chairman KENNY—Is there any otber person who cares to discuss the matter before us? (No response.) If not, the committee will take the matter under advisement.

[This closed the hearing.]

Coun. Hale's order, offered as an amendment just after the presentation of the report, earlier in the session, was adopted, and the question came on the passage of the order reported by the committee, as so amended.

Coun. BUCKLEY—Mr. President, I move to further amend the report of the Committee on Finance by striking out the words "without prejudice to the Arlington street extension" and everything thereafter in the report.

By direction of the President the Clerk stated that the report of the committee would then read that the Committee on Finance, having considered the subject, would respectfully report that the order ought not to pass.

Coun. BUCKLEY—Mr. President, in offering this amendment it seems to me that the Council ought not to go half way, but that it ought to go the full distance, either rejecting or accepting. Now, I am in favor of the rejection of the entire proposition, because the public hearing we held showed that there was no need of the extension of Arlington street or the widening of Ferdinand street. We have already in this neighborhood Berkeley street, which is practically a main thoroughfare through to South Boston, being really a continuation of Dover street. When Pleasant street is widened, as ex-Mayor Matthews says, there will be absolutely no necessity for the extension of Arlington street; and even the people who proposed the extension of Arlington street and who spoke in favor of the proposition at the public hearing stated that in their opinion, as I understood it, there would not be such a great amount of travel through that extension, even if the street were extended. In view of the fact that we have Pleasant street, that we have Berkeley street, and a little farther down Dartmouth street, it seems to me we have enough direct routes to the Back Bay so that at the present time there is no demand or necessity for the extension of Arlington street. We do, however, have many streets that could and should be widened in other sections of the city. We have many demands for street construction and work of that nature, and it seems to me that the $500,000 that would be spent on the extension of Arlington street could be spent to better advantage in other sections of the city. There is the great West Roxbury section that needs development; there is your own section, Mr. President, the Dorchester district, that needs development; there are Brighton and other sections where money should be spent to develop land before spending it for the benefit of the New York, New Haven & Hartford Railroad and Mr. Laurence Minot. Just imagine the former president of the Good Government Association of Boston appearing before a committee and in answer to a question admitting that he had bought two shacks on Piedmont street which would be affected by the widening of Ferdinand street if it went through the City Council. He is the man who has been saying in regard to members of this Council, "This candidate ought to be defeated," or "We cannot recommend his election." It seems to me the whole proposition ought to be rejected—not using the words "without prejudice," but rejected. The Street Commissioners know what they want. We do not need to instruct them in their duties. We can ask, if necessary, for estimates or they can give estimates for the extension of Arlington street. But we do not want to straddle the question at this time. We want to either reject or accept, and I hope the City Council will accept my amendment, not leaving the thing open in such a way that in future months, after January 9, we may accept this proposition. Let us accept it or reject it now; let us do one thing or the other. Don't be afraid.

Coun. SMITH—Mr. President, it is refreshing at least to find why Coun. Buckley and Curley are objecting to this, that they are standing with ex-Mayor Nathan Matthews against Laurence Minot. That seems to be the whole attitude. It seems to me we ought to view this in a little broader way than that. This is a public meeting, and we are asking——

Coun. BUCKLEY—Mr. President, I would like to state for the gentleman's benefit that it is not because of Mr. Laurence Minot that I am objecting to this proposition. I am simply against it because I think there are other improvements much more necessary at this time than the extension of Arlington street. Mr. Laurence Minot when he wanted to try to take my reputation and character away did not hesitate. He tried to do it.

Coun. CURLEY—Mr. President, I feel in justice to myself that I should correct an impression that Coun. Smith is endeavoring to create. I want to say that when I asked Mr. Minot if he had purchased property in that vicinity recently I did not know that he had done so, but he admitted it. Even if he had not done so I would be against a proposition that is for the purpose of looting the city treasury, if undertaken by the worst crook in Boston, just as quickly as if it were done by Mr. Minot.

Coun. SMITH—Mr. President, if I am in error I shall be glad to be corrected, but my memory is that Coun. Curley stood in this body a few moments ago and read an opinion from Nathan Matthews, and that he agreed with that opinion. In that statement Nathan Matthews objected to this whole proposition, from Boylston street to Castle square. Now Mr. Curley gets up and gives as one of his reasons that Mr. Laurence Minot approves of this proposition and is interested in it. I think that stands without further criticism.

Coun. CURLEY—Mr. President, it is rather unfortunate that the member on the other side of the Chamber cannot seem to comprehend statements as they are made. Mr. Minot did not admit that he had purchased property on Arlington street. He did admit that he had purchased property on Piedmont street, on the side of Ferdinand street where the widening was to take place. He did, however, admit that the parties for whom he was acting, the New York,. New Haven & Hartford Railroad, owned the properties on Boylston street that it would be necessary to take in order to extend Arlington street across Boylston street. I believe I made myself perfectly clear on that. I have no objection to his acting for his client, but I want to be perfectly frank in this particular, that a man who knows that a street widening is to take place cannot be classed as a public spirited citizen if within two weeks of that land-taking or that order being seriously considered by the city government he goes there and purchases property. He lays himself liable. It is not necessary for me to condemn him; he condemns himself.

Coun. SMITH—Mr. President, it is curious that this argument crops up at this time in connection with Mr. Minot's name. It was only a few weeks ago, when we were considering the widening of Pleasant street, that it appeared that the Mayor's brother held a piece of land there, that Mr. Martin Lomasney held land there, and other politicians known to be friends of Mr. Curley, but Mr. Curley made no reference to that matter in connection with the widening of Pleasant street. Therefore, it is rather significant when he stands in the body and brings in the name of an outside gentleman as an owner of land up near this proposed improvement and objects to a great public improvement that we are considering simply because one gentleman owns land in that vicinity and may possibly be benefited thereby.

Coun. KENNY—Mr. President, it seems to me that we are engaged here in making a mountain out of a mole hill. All the afternoon some of the members here have been engaged in a controversy or disputation, which I think is not altogether warranted. The Committee on Finance have heard this matter, have given a public hearing and have made a report. I think seven-ninths of the members of the committee—at least seven-ninths, as the matter stands to-day—favor the elimination of the widening of Ferdinand street; but they are willing to consider and have the Mayor take up with the officials of the New York, New Haven & Hartford Railroad the question of the extension of Arlington street. That is an executive matter. That is a matter that lies and will lie largely in the hands of the Mayor and the officials of the railroad, and it is the intention and expectation of this Council that the Mayor will take up this matter, having the interests of the city at heart, and undertake to put through the very best trade he can on behalf of the city and come back to us with his report. That is the status of the matter. Personally, as chairman of the committee, I am against the widening of Ferdinand street, but I am not against information obtained and brought in here as called by some of the members, as to how much it is going to cost to widen that street. I can forecast my position in the matter now. I would not be in favor of widening Ferdinand street at present, unless it meant at substantially no cost whatever to the city. That is the position, I think, of at least seven-ninths of the members of this Board, and it seems to me a great waste of time, with almost the danger of placing this Board before the public in an improper light, to argue and reargue, state and restate these various propositions. When you come right down to it, we are against at the present time, and shall be hereafter, the widening of Ferdinand street, if it means any substantial payment by the city. There is no objection, however, to our finding out what it may cost eventually to do so. That has no bearing on our position here to-day. We simply say now that we are prepared and willing to take up with the New York, New Haven & Hartford Railroad the question of the extension of Arlington street. What can the Mayor do for us? What is the best trade that he can bring about that will result to the advantage of the City of Boston? I hope, therefore, that the amendment offered by the member from Charlestown will not prevail. I trust that the report of the committee will go forward and be adopted, with the harmless amendment that has been offered by my friend from Ward 11. The adoption of the committee's report rejects the widening of Ferdinand street. There is no doubt about that. Let that be understood. We are against the widening of Ferdinand street, but we see no harm in having it ascertained what it would cost if the city desired to do so. But we are against it.

Coun. BUCKLEY—Mr. President, if we are against that, personally I am willing to state that I am against the widening of Ferdinand street, and the extension of Arlington street, also. That is my position. But it seems to me that the Mayor would get the information desired without our instructing him to do so, and that there is no necessity for the words in the report of the committee "without prejudice to the Arlington street extension." I believe that his Honor the Mayor will get all that information and that at the proper time, if necessary, he will send it to the Council again. At the present time I do not believe, from the evidence offered our committee, that there is any demand for the extension of Arlington street, and for that reason I am certainly opposed to it. I know the Committee on Finance gave a great deal of time to the proposition and carefully heard and considered all the arguments. That is my position. Until there is a greater demand for the extension of Arlington street, I shall be opposed to it and shall so continue. I hope my amendment will prevail and that we will simply have the report read so as to place the Council where it ought to be—not straddling the question, but simply saying "Yes" or "No."

Coun. Buckley's amendment was declared lost. Coun. BUCKLEY doubted the vote and asked for the yeas and nays. The amendment was rejected, yeas 1, nays 8, Coun. BUCKLEY voting yea.

The orders reported by the committee, as amended by the order offered by Coun. Hale, were passed.

The order for a loan of $520,000 for the extension of Arlington street and widening of Ferdinand street (referred October 30) was rejected, yeas 0, nays 9.

BRANCH LIBRARY, WARD 25.

Coun. ATTRIDGE, for the Committee on Branch Libraries, submitted a report on order (referred June 20) for loan of $25,000 for site and construction of branch library, Ward 25—recommending reference to Trustees of Public Library for report and recommendation.

Report accepted; said reference ordered.

DISCONTINUANCE OF WAY STREET SCHOOL.

Coun. ATTRIDGE offered an order—That the School Committee be requested, through his Honor the Mayor, to inform the City Council if anything has been done concerning the discontinuance of the Way Street School.

Passed.

FOOTBRIDGE, DALTON STREET.

Coun. ATTRIDGE offered an order—That the Commissioner of Public Works be requested, through his Honor the Mayor, to inform the City Council as to what work has been done in the matter of building of footbridge on Dalton street, bonds having been issued for said work in January, 1910.

Passed.

PAYMENT OF WAGES TO FIREMEN.

Coun. BUCKLEY offered an order—That his Honor the Mayor be requested to instruct the City Treasurer to pay all firemen and policemen their wages on the Saturday preceding Christmas.

Passed.

KEEPING OF GARBAGE.

Coun. SMITH presented a petition signed by P. Robert Greene and very many others asking that an ordinance be enacted to provide that refuse should not be piled above the rim of the barrel containing it, and that the barrel shall be at all times covered with a suitable cover.

In connection with the petition Coun. SMITH offered an order—That section 1 of chapter 9 of the Ordinances of 1910, as amended by chapter 1 of the Ordinances of 1911, is hereby further amended by adding a new section, viz.:

"Section 3. All swill and garbage, from all sources, or refuse containing the same, shall be kept in covered receptacles at all times."

Coun. SMITH—Mr. President, simply a word in explanation. There is before the Committee on Ordinances now an amendment to the ordinance in regard to the collection of city waste. This is a further amendment, and it is made necessary by the fact that the health regulations of the city do not provide for the covering of garbage and swill. Needless to say, the nuisance from that source is extreme, especially in the summer months. The uncovered barrels and boxes on the streets containing the same are a continuous source of danger. The matter cannot help being more or less distributed about the streets. It breeds flies and causes disease before being collected, and makes the city most unsightly. In the crowded sections of the North and West Ends and some sections of the South End this is especially objectionable. It is to correct this great public nuisance that the order I have introduced is offered. The papers of the city have taken the matter up. The American has had a very good article on it, as well as the Journal, and there have been circulated in the North End only, just that one section of the city, petitions asking for this action by this body. I have presented a petition bearing several hundred signatures.

President COLLINS—The order and the petitions will be referred to the Committee on Ordinances.

CROSSWALK, WARD 16.

Coun. BALLANTYNE presented a petition signed by C. F. Horlson and many others asking for crosswalk on Judson street.

In connection with the above Coun. BALLANTYNE offered an order—That the Commissioner of Public Works be requested, through his Honor the Mayor, to construct a crosswalk at the junction of Judson and Julian streets, Ward 16.

Passed.

CITY CLOCK, DUDLEY SQUARE.

Coun. BALLANTYNE offered an order—That his Honor the Mayor be requested to consider the advisability of maintaining a city clock in the vicinity of Dudley square, Roxbury.

Coun. BALLANTYNE—Mr. President, in connection with this order I should like to say just a word. At No. 2400 Washington street, which is the junction of Washington and Dudley streets, now known as Dudley square, there has been a clock for over forty years. For some time past that clock has not been maintained, and residents of that section are very much interested in having the clock take its old place so as to inform the people of the correct time of day. I have in my hand a letter from a gentleman who has maintained that clock for forty years and who is now willing to give the clock up to the city for its maintenance. I have asked his Honor the Mayor to consider the advisability of taking this clock over. It is not in a public building, but is in a public square, and is a clock that has been considered by a majority of the residents there for a number of years as a public clock.

The order was passed.

NOTICE OF CITY ELECTION.

Coun. BALLANTYNE offered an order—That the City Clerk be directed to give notice, by advertising the same as required by law, that meetings of the male citizens of this city, qualified to vote for city officers, will be held in the several polling places designated for the purpose by the Board of Election Commissioners, on Tuesday, the ninth day of January, 1912, to give in their votes for tbree members of the City Council and for two members of the School Committee, and also to give in their votes "Yes" or "No" in answer to the following question: "Shall licenses be granted for the sale of intoxicating liquors in this city?"

The City Clerk is also directed to give notice, as aforesaid, that meetings of the female citizens of this city, qualified to vote for School Committee of the City of Boston, will be held on tbe same day and in the same places, to give in their votes for two members of the School Committee.

The polls at said meetings will be opened at six o'clock a. m., and closed at four o'clock p. m.

Passed.

RAILWAY SHELTER, WEST ROXBURY.

Coun. BALLANTYNE offered an order—Tbat the Boston Elevated Railway Company be requested, througb his Honor the Mayor, to cause a shelter to be erected for the protection of its patrons at the junction of Grove, Centre and Spring streets, West Roxbury.

Passed.

COST OF SHAWMUT AVENUE EXTENSION.

Coun. BALLANTYNE offered an order—That the Board of Street Commissioners be requested, througb bis Honor the Mayor, to furnish the City Council with an estimate of tbe cost of extending Shawmut avenue to Washington street, Roxbury.

Referred to the Executive Committee.

WARD 19 PLAYGROUND LOAN.

Coun. SMITH offered a resolution—That the wording of tbe loan authorizing $60,000 bonds to be issued for playground "in Ward 19" be changed to read "for Parker Hill and Mission Church District."

Coun. SMITH—Mr. President, simply an explanation of this. This order is asked for as tbe other one that passed some time ago was asked for. It seems to me, in light of the facts which have come to our attention recently, that we should change tbe wording of this loan so as to insure that the Parker Hill district and Mission Church district which originally secured tbis $60,000 shall secure the benefit of it now. I would like to ask unanimous consent to withdraw that order, at present, in order to revise it.

The order was withdrawn.

Later in the session Coun. SMITH offered the following:

Resolved, That in the opinion of the City Council the wording of the loan authorizing $60,000 bonds to be issued for playground "in Ward 19" should be changed to read "for Parker Hill and Mission Church District."

Coun. McDONALD—Mr. President, I move that that resolution lie on the table, for this reason: the Mayor is going to have a meeting of the Mission Church or the St. Alphonsus Association, and people interested in the playground in Ward 19, in his office on Thursday or Friday of this week, with the Park Department and some representatives from Charlestown, and he is going to insist on proper conditions prevailing as far as the sites are concerned. I tbink if we let this go over the matter will be settled satisfactorily to everybody in Ward 19 before the next meeting.

Coun. SMITH—Mr. President——

President COLLINS—The Chair would rule that no debate is in order on the motion to lay on the table, but if there is no objection, the gentleman making the motion having spoken, the Chair will recognize Coun. Smith.

Coun. SMITH—I spoke to Mr. Leahy, secretary of the Mayor, on this point, and he said he saw no objection to this resolution. I would also like to state that simply as a matter of justice that $60,000 should go to the district which originally obtained the $60,000. It has nothing to do with the exact location of the playground; it simply returns to that district what it worked so hard for originally, and what I think the majority of this Council heartily favors its having. I sincerely hope the motion will go through.

Coun. McDonald's motion to lay the resolution on the table was declared lost. Coun. McDONALD doubted the vote and asked for a rising vote. The Council stood divided, and the motion was lost, 1 to 3.

The resolution was adopted.

RENT OF MARKET CELLARS.

Coun. McDONALD presented the following petition:

Boston, Mass., December, 18, 1911.

The Honorable the Mayor and the City Council of the City of Boston:

The undersigned respectfully represent that they petitioned the City Council for repayment of the sums required of them by the Street Commissioners for use of sidewalks in front of their cellars in New Faneuil Hall Market, because payment for this use had been included in the rents named in their leases, and the City Council passed an order requesting the Street Commissioners "to consider the advisability or inadvisability of making a nominal charge for the use of space on sidewalks in the market district." The Street Commissioners have taken no action in the matter because, we are informed, they believe, that inasmuch as tbe statute requires that a cbarge be made for such use, they cannot of themselves, and cannot be authorized to, make otber than the proper cbarge.

Your petitioners therefore respectfully ask the city to reduce their rents so that each petitioner at the end of bis lease will bave paid only once for this sidewalk use.

C. S. Day & Co. et al.

The petition was declared referred to the Committee on Claims.

Coun. McDONALD—Mr. President, I was about to make a motion that it be referred to the Executive Committee to give a hearing.

President COLLINS—If there is no objection, the reference is withdrawn.

Coun. BUCKLEY—Mr. President, I bope the original reference will prevail. I bave already investigated this on a special committee appointed by Coun. Ballantyne when he was president of the City Council. I bope the original reference will prevail.

President COLLINS—Objection being made, the reference stands.

Coun. McDONALD—Mr. President, I move reconsidcration of refenence to the Committee on Claims. I do not object to tbe Committee on Claims eventually taking this up, but there is some question of the city's rigbts and the Council's rights in bandling that particular matter. Mr. Bailey asked me to have it referred to the Executive Committee. He said that committee could get an opinion of the Corporation Counsel as to whether we had any right to refund tbis money. As for the question at issue, the market men down in Faneuil Hall and the big market under their leases are taxed and pay for the use of the sidewalks in conjunction with the stalls and cellars they occupy, but under the Acts of 1907 tbe Board of Strcet Commissioners were compelled to tax them again, and they are paying a double tax for the use of the sidewalks. They made an effort to get some of their money back in some way and were told by the Street Commissioners that tbey did not have any power in tbe premiscs. They consulted the Mayor and he said that they had to come to the City Council and that the City Council could take some action in some way but he didn't tell how. In order to have tbe matter straightened out, if this is referred to the Executive Committee we can get the opinion of tbe Corporation Counsel as to our rights in the premises. Then, if he thinks we can reimburse them, or tells what we can do, we can refer tbe matter to the Committee on Claims. But in any event we ought to find out the facts, and, if possible, see if these men cannot get back the money they have paid out illegally or have their present leases reduced to meet the amount they are assessed for by the Street Commissioners.

Coun. BUCKLEY—Mr. President, we had that matter before the Executive Committee two years ago, and we considered it then. I am going to withdraw my objection to the new reference, but there is one thing upon which I wish to go on record. They have not paid anything illegally and they have not been subjected to any double taxation, either. They are paying just the same as any man in the market, whether he hires his place from the City of Boston or from a private individual. They all have to pay this tax and the people who pay a private property owner are paying just the same and it is not called double taxation in their case. Why should anything be done in this case simply because the City of Boston happens to be the landlord instead of a private owner? But I am perfectly willing to withdraw my objection and have it go to the Executive Committee.

Reference to the Committee on Claims was reconsidered and on motion of Coun. McDONALD the petition was referred to the Executive Committee.

SUSPENSION OF SIDEWALK LAYING.

Coun. HALE offered an order—That the Commissioner of Public Works be requested, through his Honor the Mayor, to suspend action on an order passed by the City Council and approved by the Acting Mayor, August 4, 1911, providing for the laying of granolithic sidewalks on both sides of Minot street, between Neponset avenue and Adams street, Dorchester, until notice is sent to all the abutters on said Minot street and until said abutters have a chance to be heard by the City Council.

Referred to the Executive Committee.

BUILDING OF ARTIFICIAL SIDEWALKS.

Coun. HALE offered an order—That no lien order providing for the construction of sidewalks or edgestones be passed by the City Council, unless the petition for such sidewalks or edgestones is signed by the majority of abutters on the street named in the petition; or until notice is sent by the City Council to the abutters on said street and said abutters are given a chance to be heard by the City Council.

Passed.

RECESS TAKEN.

The Council voted at 5.19 p. m., on motion of Coun. BALLANTYNE, to take a recess subject to the call of the President.

The members of the Council reassembled in the Council Chamber and were called to order by the President at 6.45 p. m.

COUNTY ACCOUNTS.

Coun. CURLEY, for the Committee on County Accounts, submitted a report on pay roll of Registry of Deeds (referred to-day), from November 20 to December 18, amounting to $3,102.85—approving of same.

Report accepted; approved and ordered paid.

EXECUTIVE COMMITTEE REPORTS.

Coun. ATTRIDGE, for the Executive Committee, submitted the following:

(1) Report on petition of David Ferrier (referred to-day) for permit for child under fifteen years of age to appear at Odd Fellows Hall on January 1, 1912—that a permit be granted.

Report accepted; permit granted on the usual conditions.

(2) Report on communication from Forest Hills Citizens' Improvement Association (referred October 30) for playground at Forest Hills—that the same be placed on file.

Report accepted; paper placed on file.

(3) Report on message and order (referred to-day) transferring $15,000 for Playground, Ward 25—that the order ought to pass.

The report was accepted.

Coun. SMITH—Mr. President, may I ask to have that read again?

The report and order were re-read.

Coun. HALE—Mr. President, on this and all these other transfers for playgrounds I am going to vote "no" for the same reason that I voted no on the earlier transfers, because, although I am in favor of the improvements, I am against the method of financing them. For the benefit of Coun. McDonald I shall not go at length into my reasons. (Laughter.)

The order was passed, yeas 6, nays, 2, Coun. HALE and SMITH voting nay.

President COLLINS—The order will take its second and final reading and passage not less than two weeks from to-day.

(4) Report on message of Mayor and order (referred October 30) for transfer of $20,000 for shelter and boat landing at Jamaica Pond—that the order ought to pass.

Report accepted; order passed, yeas 8, nays 0.

President COLLINS—Since this order does not contemplate the purchase of any property the order has taken its first and final reading and passage.

(5) Report on message of Mayor, communication and order (referred to-day) for transfer of $24,000 for bath house at Dewey Beach—that the order ought to pass.

The question came on the acceptance of the report and passage of the order.

Coun. SMITH—Mr. President, this $24,000 makes $44,000 this year for this one purpose. I don't know how much more has been appropriated in past years for the same purpose. It seems to me that this is an entirely and unduly large amount for this purpose. We have no specifications before the Board as to how the money is to be spent and I strongly object personally to voting for money to be spent by any department in a way we know nothing about. I, therefore, am going to vote against this. It makes no difference whether it comes from loan or appropriation, in this matter. My vote is entirely regardless of that question, simply on the ground that we have already appropriated $20,000 this year, that $44,000 is a very large amount to appropriate, that it is an extraordinary amount to appropriate without any definite specifications as to how the amount is to be spent. I have no reason, and this Board has no reason to judge that this is all we shall be asked for for this purpose. It may very well be that the department has plans under way demanding $20,000 or $30,000 more for this very purpose. It seems to me we are appropriating this money absolutely in the dark, and therefore I am going to vote against it.

The report was accepted and the order passed, yeas 6, nays 2.

President COLLINS—This is the first and final reading and passage of the order.

(6) Report on order (referred to-day) that the Street Commissioners submit an estimate of cost of extending Shawmut avenue to Washington street, Roxbury—that the order ought to pass.

Report accepted; order passed.

(7) Report on message of Mayor and order (referred to-day) that the Art Commission be authorized to expend not more than $250 for memorial tablet on home of the late George Francis Parkman—that the order ought to pass.

Report accepted; order passed, yeas 8, nays 0.

(8) Report on order (referred to-day) that no sidewalks or edgestones be laid unless with consent of the majority of the abutters—that the order ought to pass.

Report accepted; order passed.

(9) Report on order (referred to-day) to suspend laying of granolithic sidewalks on both sides of Minot street, Dorchester, until the abutters are heard—that the order ought to pass.

Report accepted; order passed.

(10) Report on message of Mayor and order (referred to-day) transferring $3,000 for appropriation for automobile ambulances—that the order ought to pass.

Report accepted; order passed, yeas 8, nays 0.

(11) Report on message and order (referred to-day) for transfer of $9,000 to special appropriation for Dorchester North Burial Ground—that the order ought to pass.

Report accepted; order passed, yeas 8, nays 0.

(12) Report on message of Mayor and order (referred to-day) for transfer of $2,200 to appropriation for East Boston District Court, Temporary Quarters—that the order ought to pass.

Report accepted; order passed, yeas 8, nays 0.

(13) Report on message of Mayor and order (referred to-day) transferring $10,000 for Mystic Playground, sea wall and fence—that the order ought to pass.

Report accepted; order passed, yeas 8, nays 0.

(14) Report on message of Mayor and order (referred to-day) transferring $6,000 for floating bath house, Fort Point channel—that the order ought to pass.

Report accepted; order passed, yeas 8, nays 0.

(15) Report on message and order (referred October 9) transferring $25,000 for playground in Ward 23—that the order ought to pass.

The question came on accepting the report and passing the order.

Coun. SMITH—Mr. President, I am going to vote against this for two reasons. The first reason is the general one that I believe the purchase of land should be made by loan. I hardly need talk on that, because the Council has come to appreciate that point and the Chair himself recognizes it, because every time we add to city property the Chair states that the order is to have two readings, and every time, as has been illustrated at this meeting, when we do not add to the city's property the Chair states that only one reading is necessary—clearly defining the difference between the city's property and an appropriation that is just made for running expenses. But aside from that entirely. the second reason that I am not going to vote for this is that I believe we should provide some amount of money for the improvement of the existing playgrounds in the city and for the superintendence of those playgrounds. I believe we are going ahead and spending an undue amount of money this year for new playgrounds and leaving the existing playgrounds in an abominable condition. In comparison with Chicago our playgrounds are not fit to be used. That is true of almost all of them, and I sincerely hope that some of these appropriations for new playgrounds will be reconsidered by this body. We ought in the near future to take up the consolidation of departments, and immediately when that is put through, if it does go through, we ought to bring in appropriations for superintendence of playgrounds and for improvement of playgrounds that already exist, and we may then find ourselves in a position when there will be no money available in the Reserve Fund for that important work. After the consolidation is brought about we will be too poor to properly develop our playgrounds. That is my second reason for voting against this appropriation.

The report was accepted, and the order was given its first reading, yeas 6, nays 2, Coun. HALE and SMITH voting nay.

President COLLINS—The order will take its second reading and passage not less than two weeks from to-day.

(16) Report on message and order (referred to-day) that the Fire Commissioner be authorized to sell to the highest bidder three unused fire-alarm bells—that the order ought to pass.

Report accepted; order passed.

(17) Report on message and communication (referred October 30) relative to violation of eight-hour law in Fire Department—that the same be placed on file.

Report accepted; papers placed on file.

APPROPRIATION FOR SUPREME JUDICIAL COURT.

President COLLINS offered an order—That in addition to the amount heretofore allowed for clerical assistance in the office of the clerk of the Supreme Judicial Court the said clerk be authorized to expend the further sum of $750 for the year 1911–12; said sum to be charged to the appropriation for Supreme Judicial Court.

Passed; yeas 8, nays 0.

FIRE HOUSE, PARKER HILL.

Coun. McDONALD offered an order—That the Fire Commissioner be requested, through his Honor the Mayor, to furnish the City Council with information as to the disposition of the sum appropriated for house and apparatus on Parker Hill.

Coun. McDONALD—Mr. President, early last spring the Council appropriated $15,000 for a hose and combination truck, combination piece of apparatus, on Parker Hill. The result has been the same as in the case of a lot of other appropriations passed last spring. No action has been taken on it. The people of that section want to know what has become of the money available or why the Fire Commissioner or the Mayor has not bought that piece of apparatus. I think it is pretty nearly time that the members of the Council found out what is happening to loan orders passed eight or nine months ago.

The order was passed.

REPAVING OF CHARLES STREET.

Coun. SMITH offered an order—That the Commissioner of Public Works, through his Honor the Mayor, be requested to repave in permanent manner Charles street from Beacon street to Cambridge street.

Coun. SMITH—Mr. President, my reason for bringing this up is that Charles strect has been paved permanently from Park square to Beacon street, and this merely proposes a continuation of the same pavement. It will simply be a part of the crosstown thoroughfare that is proposed for traffic when Pleasant street is widened, being intended for heavy teaming.

The order was passed.

THE NEXT MEETING.

Coun. KENNY—Mr. President, I move that when the Council adjourns it be to meet two wecks from to-day at three o'clock.

Coun. McDONALD—Mr. President, I amend the motion, that we adjourn to meet a week from next Friday at three o'clock. A week from to-day is Christmas and two weeks from to-day New Year's Day, and some of us are going away for New Year's Day. Friday will be only two days earlier. I make that as an amendment.

Coun. KENNY—Mr. President, I care nothing about a day or two and am quite willing to meet the suggestion of my friend on the left in that respect, other than this, that these orders read to-day, if they are not acted on at the next meeting, go over until a still further meeting. Now, if our next meeting is within two weeks they cannot be acted upon, as fourteen days must intervene between readings. I would like to say in that connection that this afternoon we passed a loan order for a municipal building, South Boston, giving it its first reading. I suppose, however, in a case where the Board takes affirmative action on a matter that is to have two readings it is not so important that we should again meet within a certain time. That is to say, where a loan order from the Mayor is pending it becomes effective within sixty days if we do not act upon it. But if the Council acts at any time within sixty days affirmatively the time elapsing between the first and second readings practically makes no difference. Of course, the importance of having subsequent meetings within a certain time suggests itself where we wish to reject an order, but when we have already given an order its first reading the sixty-day provision has no practical application, it making no difference whether the order becomes effective by time or through second reading and passage. I merely make that point. I have no objection to the gentleman's amendment.

Coun. McDonald's amendment prevailed, and the Council voted that when it adjourned it would be to meet on Friday, December 29, at 3 p. m.

Coun. HALE—Mr. President, in view of that action I would like to move that the time for the hearing upon the Brighton Playground be changed from two o'clock two weeks from to-day to two o'clock a week from Friday.

Coun. KENNY—Mr. President, I think that is a very fair and proper suggestion.

President COLLINS—The Chair would state that that motion made by Coun. Hale is a matter properly within the province of the Executive Committee. Of course, by unanimous consent, that motion may be made here. Is there any objection?

There being no objection, it was voted that the hearing on the Brighton Playground be on Friday, December 29, at two o'clock p. m.

GENERAL RECONSIDERATION.

Coun. BALLANTYNE moved a general reconsideration. Lost.

Adjourned at 7.07 p. m., on motion of Coun. BALLANTYNE, to meet on Friday, December 29, at three o'clock p. m.

Meeting of the City Council in the Hearing Room, City Hall, at 7.30 o'clock p. m., President COLLINS in the chair and all the members present.

The meeting was held for the purpose of giving a hearing on the subject of the proposed contract with the Boston Development and Sanitary Company for the disposal of refuse for a period of ten years from July 1, 1912.

Edward F. McClennen, Esq., appeared and presented the case of the Boston Development and Sanitary Company; and George W. Anderson, Esq., appeared for the Boston Disposal Company, the next lowest bidder, in objection to the making of the proposed contract.

Commissioner of Public Works, Louis K. Rourke, made a statement of the situation preceding and leading up to the proposed contract.

Judge Louis M. Clark, as a citizen of Dorchester, appeared and objected to a possibly undesirable use of Spectacle Island and of a wharf in Dorchester, in connection with the disposal of garbage.

Edward F. McClennen, Esq., stated the position of the Boston Development and Sanitary Company, the proposed contractors.

Francis R. Bangs,, Esq. and Mr. Henry E. Hagan, for the Boston Chamber of Commerce, appeared in favor of the proposed contract with the Boston Development and Sanitary Company, on the ground that it was the lowest and the best contract for the city to make, and, in support of this ground, an analysis was submitted by the Chamber of Commerce.

Representative Charles L. Carr, of Dorchester, stated that he and a number of other citizens of Dorchester appeared in objection to any plan which might mean a nuisance to Dorchester through the use of Spectacle Island and that, the hour being late, they would like to be heard at a subsequent hearing.

It was voted, at 11.28 p. m., to continue the hearing to Wednesday, January 3, at 1 p. m.

He has reached the age of seventy-six years and is now incapacitated for active duty.

December 22, 1911.

Hon. A. Nathan Williams,
Judge of Roxbury Municipal Court,
Roxhury, Mass.:

Dear Sir,—This is to certify that, from observation of the physical condition of Capt. George H. Nason, an officer of the Roxhury Municipal Court, extending over a period of ten years and from several recent physical examinations, viz., April, July, Novemher and December, 1911, I find evidence of degenerative changes in heart, lungs and kidneys of a steadily progressive nature, together with signs of arteriosclerosis, as shown by increased hlood pressure, shortness of breath, swelling of the feet and alhuminuria.

In view of these findings, together with his age, there is no question in my own mind but that he is a fit subject for retirement on account of physical infirmities.

Very truly yours,
ALMON D. HODGES, M. D.

The Warren, Roxbury.

Ordered, That under the provisions of chapter 459 of the Acts of 1910, George H. The communication was declared referred to the Committee on County Accounts.

Coun. BALLANTYNE—Mr. President, I move reconsideration of the reference and ask a suspension of the rule so that this order may take its passage now.

Coun. BALLANTYNE—All right. I withdraw my motion.

Mayor of Boston:

Dear Sir,—At the meeting of the School Committee on Novemher 6, 1911, an order was received from the City Council requesting this Board, through your Honor, to consider and report on the advisahility of estahlishing an elementary school of the upper grades in the Dwight District, which was referred to the superintendent.

At the recent meeting of the Board held on Monday, December 18, 1911, a report was received from the superintendent with reference to the estahlishment of such a school, and as directed hy the Board I transmit herewith a copy thereof to the City Council through your Honor.

Very truly yours,
THORNTON D. APOLLONIO, Secretary.

City of Boston,
In School Committee, December 18, 1911.

To the School Committee:

In answer to your order of November 6, 1911, requesting a report with reference to the inquiry transmitted from the City Council as to the desirability of estahlishing an elementary school, upper grades, in the Dwight District, I desire to report as follows:

The upper grades in the Dwight School are satisfactorily accommodated in the present building. There are three portables assigned to the Dwight District for use in the primary grades, one of which is not now in use.

The proposition to enlarge the Joshua Bates School has been under consideration. Owing to the fact that the number of pupils in the Dwight District has decreased this year, it seems desirable to delay final action until it has been determined whether this decrease will continue.

Respectfully submitted,
STRATTON D. BROOKS,
Superintendent of Public Schools.

Placed on file and a copy thereof ordered to be sent to the City Council through his Honor the Mayor.

A true copy.

BETTERMENT ASSESSMENTS, ARLINGTON STREET EXTENSION.

The following was received:

City of Boston,
Office of the Mayor, December 29, 1911.

To the City Council:

In compliance with the request of the City Council, passed at its meeting of December 18, which asked me to confer with the street commissioners and the officials of the New York, New Haven & Hartford Railroad relative to any offset and contribution by said railroad company with respect to the carrying out of the project for the extension of Arlington street from Boylston street to Columbus avenue at a width of 70 feet, I have held conferences with these officials and inclose two letters from Mr. Laurence Minot. These communications promise in substance that the New York, New Haven & Hartford Railroad will pay betterment assessments to the amount of two hundred and fifty thousand dollars ($250,000) and will accept as the net award of damages to their property on Boylston street the sum of one hundred thirty-one thousand five hundred and fifty dollars ($131,550), which is the difference between this assessment and the price which they paid for their Boylston street estates.

In other words, the railroad company has agreed to pay for the Arlington street improvement alone almost as much as it previously offered for this improvement when combined with the widening of Ferdinand street. The cost of the Arlington street improvement is estimated by the Street Commissioners as six hundred and thirteen thousand dollars ($613,000). Deducting the contribution of the railway company, the initial cost will be not more than three hundred and sixty-three thousand dollars ($363,000). Against this must be offset further betterments which can be assessed upon the adjoining estates. The assessable portion of the railroad property is estimated at 90,000 square feet and there are about 18,000 square feet of other property within the 125 foot limit. Should these remaining parcels be assessed at the rate of assessment placed upon the property of the railroad, which is something under three dollars ($3) a square foot, the city could collect about fifty thousand dollars ($50,000) more, and this would still further reduce the actual, though not the initial cost to the city, bringing the net cost of the entire improvement down to a little more than three hundred thousand dollars ($300,000).

While it is true that the New York, New Haven & Hartford Railroad would probably benefit substantially by the extension of Arlington street, it seems to me that it is an important and indeed a necessary step in the opening up of this great territory, the aspect of which for many years has been barren and uninviting. The outlay is certain to be returned to the city in taxes upon increased valuations within a very few years. At the present time business is vainly trying to extend itself on both sides of the obstacle created by this great undeveloped tract, but it is needless to remind you that the results, both on Boylston street and Columbus avenue, have been disappointing.

The borrowing capacity of the city is ample to meet this burden and I recommend, therefore, the passage of the accompanying loan order, appropriating the sum of four hundred thousand dollars ($400,000) to be expended by the Board of Street Commissioners for the extension of Arlington street.

Yours very truly,
JOHN F. FITZGERALD, Mayor.

December 27, 1911.

Hon. John F. Fitzgerald,
Mayor of Boston:

Dear Sir,—Mr. John C. Kiley, acting on your behalf, has informed me that you propose to recommend to the City Council a loan for an extension of Arlington street as far as Columbus avenue, and that you desire for your own information and for that of the Council to know the attitude of the New York, New Haven & Hartford Railroad Company with respect to the damages it may sustain by reason of such extension and with respect to the betterments it may be willing to pay.

The railroad company has placed the development of the real estate affected by this extension in the hands of a committee, consisting of Messrs. Amory A. Lawrence, Alfred Bowditch and myself. While any formal agreement with the city would probably require a vote of the Board of Directors, I have no doubt the directors would ratify any action which this committee may recommend in the matter.

On consultation with the other members of the committee, I find they are willing to make this recommendation:

If the city will lay out an extension of Arlington street from Boylston street to Providence street at a width of approximately sixty-nine feet, and from Providence street to Columbus avenue at a width of seventy feet, in accordance with a plan already approved as respects that portion between Providence street and Columbus avenue by the Street Commissioners and by yourself, such laying out to be made at some time prior to February 1, 1912, and if the city will construct the street as so laid out, in so far as the same is not already constructed, as soon as reasonably may be after such laying out, and if the city will pay as damages for the taking of the estates 314 and 318 Boylston street, commonly known as the Peters and Rothwell estates, and for the land required for the extension of Arlington street at a width of 70 feet from Columbus avenue to Providence street, in accordance with a plan prepared by Aspinwall & Lincoln, civil engineers, dated February 17, 1910, and now on file in the office of the Street Commissioners, the sum of three hundred eighty-one thousand five hundred and fifty dollars ($381,550), the railroad company will pay as a betterment to such of its real estate as may be benefited by such laying out and construction such sum, not less than two hundred six thousand five hundred and fifty dollars ($206,550) and not more than two hundred and fifty thousand dollars ($250,000), as may equal its fair proportion of the betterment which can be assessed under existing law on all the property benefited by such laying out and construction, to be determined by the Board of Street Commissioners after a hearing to be granted the railroad or its representatives. The committee will further recommend that the betterment be paid in full to the city contemporaneously with the payment to the railroad company of damages for its property taken.

In view of the necessity for formulating and executing definite plans for the developing and marketing of the company's lands, the committee cannot recommend to the directors that they accept and confirm the foregoing except upon the condition that the extension of Arlington street be made by the city prior to Feburary 1, 1912.

I refer you to my letter of October 30, 1911, for a statement of the cost and assessed value of the railroad's land involved in the taking.

Yours truly,
LAURENCE MINOT.

December 29, 1911.

Hon. John F. Fitzgerald,
Mayor of Boston:

Dear Sir,—Referring to my letter of December 27, 1911, in regard to the proposed extension of Arlington street to Columbus avenue, I note that the Street Commissioners are of opinion that the railroad company's fair proportion of the betterments to be assessed amounts to two hundred and fifty thousand dollars ($250,000), and, as stated in my previous letter, we are prepared to accept their decision.

Further than this the committee have nothing to add to the statements contained in my previous letter.

Yours truly,
LAURENCE MINOT.

Ordered, That the sum of four hundred thousand dollars ($400,000) he and hereby is appropriated to be expended hy the Board of Street Commissioners for Arlington Street Extension, and that to meet said appropriation the City Treasurer be and hereby is authorized to issue bonds or certificates of indehtedness of the city to said amount.

To the City Council:

City of Boston,
Public Works Department,
Bridge and Ferry Division,
December 27, 1911.

Mr. L. K. Rourke,
Commissioner of Public Works:

Dear Sir,— At a meeting of the City Council on December 18, 1911, the following order was passed:

"Ordered, That the Commissioner of Public Works be requested, through his Honor the Mayor, to inform the City Council as to what work has been done in the matter of building a foothridge on Dalton street, bonds having been issued for said work in January, 1910."

Upon this matter I beg leave to submit the following report:

In 1909 an appropriation of $10,000 was made for a footbridge from Dalton street to Boylston street, Ward 10, the appropriation to be expended under the Street Department, Bridge Division.

Plans were prepared for a foothridge on the shortest line from Boylston street to Dalton street, crossing the Boston & Alhany Railroad yard on a continuation of the westerly line of Hereford street at a point just east of signal tower No. 7. On Novemher 16, 1909, a plan was prepared by the Street Laying Out Department for a taking 12 feet in width across the railroad yard in accordance with this design.

The hridge as thus proposed could have been built within the appropriation of $10,000. Ohjection to the proposed location of the hridge was raised by the Boston & Alhany Railroad Company and a conference on the matter was held in January, 1910, hetween the late City Engineer, Mr. Jackson, and Mr. F. B. Freeman, Chief Engineer of the railroad company. As a result of this conference Mr. Freeman agreed to furnish a plan showing under what conditions a bridge could be built at this point which would he acceptable to the railroad company.

Such a plan was furnished hy Mr. Freeman on April 8, 1910. It called for a hridge of greatly increased span, located at a point considerahly to the east of the location proposed by the city, the northerly end of the hridge heing some distance to the east of the easterly line of Hereford street and the hridge heing placed at right angles to the main line tracks of the Boston & Albany Railroad, instead of at right angles to Boylston street. Furthermore, the railroad company proposed as a condition that the hridge should he made of sufficient strength to carry signal apparatus of the railroad.

Owing to the increased length of span and greater strength required of the hridge and more expensive foundations, it is found impossible to build a bridge under the conditions imposed by the railroad company, within the original appropriation of $10,000, and to carry out the work on these lines will require an additional appropriation of $10,000 for construction. The use of the bridge for signal purposes should offset any claim for damages on the part of the railroad.

No additional appropriation has yet been recommended by this department as, judging by the ahsence of all inquiries on the matter, there is no considerable public demand for a bridge at this point.

Respectfully yours,
FREDERIC H. FAY,
Division Engineer.

Referred to the Executive Committee.

PASSAGEWAY OFF BEACON STREET.

The following was received:

City of Boston,
Office of the Mayor, December 29, 1911.

To the City Council:

I recommend the passage of the accompanying order transferring the sum of twenty-five hundred dollars ($2,500) from the Reserve Fund to a special appropriation to be expended under the direction of the Board of Street Commissioners for Passageway, Beacon and Blandford streets.

The unfortunate topography of Blandford street makes it impossible to extend it over the railroad to Beacon street and this compels persons who desire to proceed from the district west of Blandford street to Commonwealth avenue to make a detour of ahout fifteen hundred feet. In particular, the congregation of the Temple Adath Israel is inconvenienced, as well as those who may have business with the automobile houses that are now going up in that section. It is estimated that a strip can be taken at the point where Blandford street comes nearest to Beacon street and that a flight of stone steps can be built at a very moderate cost. As there is no prospect of a full street connection this is the most practicable suhstitute therefor, and in my opinion the convenience of the public requires that the connection should be made.

Plans of the district showing the location of the proposed improvement are attached hereto for the information of your honorable hody.

Respectfully,
JOHN F. FITZGERALD, Mayor.

Ordered, That under the provisions of chapter 261 of the Acts of 1893 the City Auditor he and herehy is authorized to transfer the sum of twenty-five hundred dollars ($2,500), to be expended under the direction of the Board of Street Commissioners for "Blandford and Beacon Streets, Passageway."

Coun. BALLANTYNE—Mr. President, I move a suspension of the rule that the order may be placed upon its passage. The matter has been informally before the Executive Committee and I think the members of the Council are ready to vote on it.

The rule was suspended, and the question came on the passage of the order.

Coun. BUCKLEY—Mr. President, I should like to ask the gentleman, through the Chair, why we should suspend the rule on this particular order.

Coun. BALLANTYNE—Mr. President, as I understand it his Honor the Mayor is anxious to get at this work at once. It is getting near the end of the year, and I think it would be just as well to suspend the rule and place the order upon its passage.

Coun. BUCKLEY—Mr. President, I am not opposed to this order and I shall vote in favor of it; and I am very glad that the gentleman is taking such a deep interest in what the Mayor proposes.

The order was given its first reading and passage, yeas 9.

President COLLINS—The order will take its second reading and passage not less than two weeks from to-day.

COSTS FOR DISPOSAL OF CITY WASTE.

The following was received:

Boston, December 27, 1911.

To the Honorable the City Council:

Gentlemen,—On December 13, 1911, you requested the Finance Commission to employ an accountant to estimate the comparative cost to the city under the bids of the lowest and next lowest bidders in the competition for the proposed ten years' contract for the disposal of city waste. The commission has employed an accountant and submits his report herewith.

The commission assumes that the City Council desired the aid of an accountant in determining how much weight, if any, should be given to the claims and promises of the second lowest bidder and the counter claims and promises of the lowest bidder; in other words, in determining whether upon any reasonable view of the known facts either alone, or in connection with the various statements of the opposing bidders, the City Council would be justified in declining to approve the award made by the Commissioner of Public Works to the Boston Development and Sanitary Company, whose bid was $1,432,000, as against the bid for $1,443,738 of the Boston Disposal Company, its nearest competitor.

In its desire to aid the City Council the commission endeavored to procure all the information available on the subject, and for this purpose held several hearings which were attended by the counsel and representatives of the respective bidders, namely, the Boston Development and Sanitary Company and the Boston Disposal Company. As a result of these hearings the commission has found that the only facts upon which the City Council can depend are these:

1. That the city would save in direct payments to the contractor $11,738, if the Boston Development and Sanitary Company should receive the contract.

2. That the city would also own the buildings and wharf to be erected by the Boston Development and Sanitary Company on Spectacle Island and have the benefit of the dredging of the channel by that company.

3. That the city would obtain some additional advantage in the saving of interest by contracting with the Boston Development and Sanitary Company, as the city's payments in the earlier years of the contract would be considerably less than the payments to the Boston Disposal Company in the corresponding years.

That as an offset to these advantages to the city resulting from the giving of the contract to the Boston Development and Sanitary Company the city would:

4. Lose the interest for ten years on the amount paid for the necessary three acres of land.

5. Lose the taxes on said three acres of land.

All of the five factors thus enumerated have been adopted by the accountant as bases of estimate; but the correctness of the amounts allowed for items herein numbered 2, 4 and 5 will probably be disputed by one or the other of the two companies. Thus the value of the structures on Spectacle Island that would belong to the city at the end of the contract with the Boston Development and Sanitary Company is set down as little or nothing by the counsel for the Boston Disposal Company. The engineer for the Finance Commission, Mr. Guy C. Emerson, estimates, however, that their value to the city as a refuse disposal plant would be not less than $75,000 at that time; and the accountant was instructed to use that figure. Likewise, conflicting claims were made as to the amount the city would have to pay for the three acres of land and the amount it would lose as interest and taxes thereon. The commission believed the minimum cost would be $10,000 and the possible maximum $50,000; and instructed the accountant to figure it on three bases, namely, $10,000, $30,000 and $50,000. The loss of taxes on the land was figured on the basis of the present assessed value as being the most practical method.

Nothing was allowed for the value to the city of the control of the situation ten years hence, through its ownership of the buildings and land, as such value is incapable of present estimate. On the other hand, the commission also excluded, as incapable of present estimate, the value to the city of the lower scale of payments to the Boston Disposal Company at the end of the contract which, it was argued, would be an advantage to the city in bargaining for a renewal of the contract ten years hence. Various other considerations which were urged before the commission seemed too vague and conjectural to form the basis of a financial estimate; and hence were likewise excluded.

The accountant was instructed by the commission to accept the statements of the counsel for each company as to the relative gains and losses to the city in the taxable value of the buildings and equipment which each company said it would provide if it received the contract. The commission believes, however, that these statements, though apparently made in good faith, cannot be relied upon by the city for the following reasons:

1. Because neither company can be compelled by the city to provide buildings and equipment costing more than is necessary to provide adequate means of performing the work under the contract.
2. Because the depreciation on such property cannot be estimated accurately in advance.
3. Because it is impossible to foretell what value the assessors would fix as a basis of taxation.

Notwithstanding this uncertainty, the amounts stated by the counsel for each company were taken by the accountant in every instance except one, namely, the amount which it is said the city would lose in taxes on the building that is now used on Spectacle Island for garbage reduction and which, it is said, would be abandoned or converted to a less profitable use if the city's garbage should be treated elsewhere. This building is now taxed on $50,000 and the commission believed that its depreciation would probably not exceed 50 per cent. Accordingly the accountant was instructed to figure a loss of taxes on $25,000.

On the most favorable assumption to the Boston Disposal Company, namely, that the city would have to pay $50,000 for the land furnished to the Boston Development and Sanitary Company, the city would appear to be a gainer by $57,186.69 if it made the contract with the latter company. The city would also have the additional advantage of being able to control the situation ten years hence through its ownership of a plant upon its own land; an advantage which cannot now be estimated in dollars and cents, but which unquestionably would be great.

The commission believes that the question involved in this case is a simple one and that it should not be made complicated by a consideration of such speculative elements as the cost of land to the city, interest and taxes thereon, or the possible loss to the city of taxes on the more costly plant which the second lowest bidder states it would provide if it should receive the contract. There was no notice to the bidders in the invitation for bids, or the contract and specifications, that such elements would be considered. The city, without any qualification whatever, offered to furnish land to any bidder who preferred to erect his plant thereon; and it did so because it was felt that the advantage it would receive through ownership of the land would compensate it for the price it would pay for the land and the taxes thereon which it would lose through its ownership. Nor is there the slightest warrant in the notice to bidders, or the contract and specifications, that the city would attempt to add to the lowest bid the amount which a higher bidder estimated as the loss to the city in taxes on the promised excess of the taxable value of the higher bidder's plant over that of the lower bidder.

The Commissioner of Public Works has made what seems to the Finance Commission a proper decision in the case; and it should be upheld. But if the City Council views the case in the light of the elements which form the basis of the accountant's estimates, the result will also be favorable to the Boston Development and Sanitary Company.

The commission recommends that the City Council approve the award of the contract to the Boston Development and Sanitary Company.

Respectfully submitted,
THE FINANCE COMMISSION,
by JOHN A. SULLIVAN,
Chairman.

December 26, 1911.

Hon. John A. Sullivan, Chairman,
Boston Finance Commission:

Dear Sir,— In accordance with your request we have examined the two contracts which are now under consideration for the disposal of garbage for the City of Boston and, bearing in mind the various factors which may enter therein, would submit the following report:

In our comparison of the cost to the city of the garbage contract under the bids of the Boston Development and Sanitary Company and the Boston Disposal Company we have adopted the following method of computation:

1. Against each company is charged the annual payments by the city under the contract, and various other amounts on account of taxes or interest.
2. On the excess of the total amounts thus charged in each year against one company as compared with the other company, interest will be computed for the remainder of the contract period of ten years and such interest will be charged to the company against which such excess lies.
3. The total of said excess amounts with interest will be computed and a balance struck between the two companies as of the date of the expiration of the contract.
4. An allowance will be made for the value to the city of the buildings and other structures which will be left at Spectacle Island by the Boston Development and Sanitary Company at the termination of the contract period.

To determine the amounts to be charged against each company annually the following factors have been used:

BOSTON DEVELOPMENT AND SANITARY COMPANY.

1. The amount paid by the city each year as per contract.
2. Interest for ten years on the cost of land to be furnished by the city as a site for the contractor's plant, said interest to be computed upon three different estimates of the cost of the land, namely, $10,000, $30,000 and $50,000.
3. Loss of taxes on said land through city's ownership. Taxes estimated on three acres at present assessed value of seven cents per square foot, or $9,147.50.
4. Loss of taxes on machinery in existing garbage plant on Spectacle Island which the Boston Disposal Company states will be abandoned or removed if it does not receive the contract; said machinery now assessed on $15,000.
5. Loss of taxes on $20,000 worth of additional machinery which the Boston Disposal Company states it will install in the existing plant at Spectacle Island if it receives the contract.
6. Loss of taxes on $25,000 due to depreciation of the buildings now used on Spectacle Island for the reduction of garbage, in the event of the Boston Disposal Company's failure to procure the contract and the consequent disuse of said buildings for garbage reduction; said buildings now taxed on $50,000, estimated depreciation, $25,000; loss of taxable value, $25,000.
7. Loss of taxes on the plant and equipment which the Boston Disposal Company states it will install at East Boston if it receives the contract; estimated cost, $500,000.

BOSTON DISPOSAL COMPANY.

1. Amount paid by the city each year as per contract.
2. Loss of taxes on machinery estimated to cost $160,000, which the Boston Development and Sanitary Company states it will install at Spectacle Island, if it receives the contract.
3. Loss of taxes on plant estimated to cost $300,000, which the Boston Development and Sanitary Company states it will erect on the mainland within the limits of the City of Boston and maintain for the purpose of utilizing bottles, cans and paper.

All interest will be computed at 3.74 per cent per annum and will be at simple interest; taxes will be computed at $16.50 per thousand.

Computations as herein outlined are presented in detail in the tables hereto attached. From these tables you will see that on each estimate of the cost of land to be furnished by the city, as the basis of computation, the final result is in favor of the Boston Development and Sanitary Company.

Respectfully submitted,
EDWIN S. MORSE & COMPANY,
Public Accountants.

LAND, ETC., UNDER GARBAGE CONTRACT.

The following was received:

City of Boston,
Law Department, December 16, 1911.

To the Honorable the City Council:

Gentlemen,—I am requested by your honorable body to give my opinion in answer to two questions.

First. As to whether the city has the power under the right of eminent domain to purchase land on Spectacle Island in fulfillment of its part of the contract for the disposal of city waste.

As there is no proposition for the city to take land on Spectacle Island for the purpose of fulfilling its part of the contract this question cannot be answered literally. Answering the question which I suppose was intended to be asked I would say that by section 31 of chapter 486 of the Acts of 1909, the Board of Street Commissioners at the request of any department with the approval of the Mayor may take in fee in the name of the city for any municipal purpose any land within the limits of the city not already appropriated for public use. The rendering and disposal of garbage and refuse is a public use and the Board of Street Commissioners if requested by the Department of Public Works with the approval of the Mayor, can take a site on Spectacle Island by eminent domain for a rendering plant. The land being taken for this municipal purpose it is immaterial as to whether the city contracts to have the rendering done on that site for the next ten years by a contractor who is to furnish the building and machinery or whether it erects the plant itself and does the work by day labor. If your body and the Mayor approve the contract in its present form, the Street Commissioners if requested so to do can take land on Spectacle Island for a site for a rendering plant and the city carry on this municipal business on the site through this contractor for the next ten years.

Second. Whether the city under the terms of said contract receives free of all expense at the end of ten years the land and the fixtures which the other party to the contract has occupied and used.

In reply I would state that the land when taken or purchased becomes the absolute property of the city. The contractor has nothing to do with it except that under the contract it is to receive a certain sum of money for the use of its plant and the work it has to do under the contract. The buildings and machinery remain the property of the contractor except so far as he has annexed them to and made them a part of the city's land.

The general rule is that if a tenant or other temporary occupant of land annexes things to the real estate in such a manner that they cannot be moved without injury to the real estate they become a part of the real estate and cannot be taken away. This rule would apply to a wharf, subterranean foundations for machinery and brick buildings with cellars.

If the contracting company should fail or should not carry out its contract and the city took possession of the plant the things which had become a part of the real estate would be the property of the city. If the contractor should not fail but should carry on the work properly during the next ten years the plant of the contractor would then come under the provisions of the clause of the contract and specifications entitled "Right to Purchase" on the twenty-sixth page of the proposed contract. The clause reads as follows:

"The city shall have the right to purchase the complete disposal plant and all licenses and rights which may be required to operate the same after the expiration of the contract. The city shall give the contractor at least six months prior written notice of its intention so to purchase, and if the purchase price cannot be agreed upon, such price shall be determined by arbitration, and thereupon the purchase price shall be paid and such licenses and rights transferred to said city."

It is apparent that the fact that certain portions of the plant had become part of the realty or would not be worth the cost of taking them down and carrying them to the main land would be of advantage to the city in its negotiations for the purchase of the plant. If, however, the price to be paid was left to arbitrators under this clause it is impossible to say as to whether the arbitrators would give the company the value of the plant as a going concern or would give its cost less depreciation, or would give only its market value to be sold to some purchaser other than the city, the owner of the site. The then representatives of the city would probably contend for the last as the true value. It is impossible to state what theory the arbitrators would adopt or what price they would give. This concludes my answers to the questions which you submit.

Since receiving your communication I have had a letter from Brandeis, Dunbar & Nutter, counsel for the Boston Development and Sanitary Company, informing me that the company would not contend that the city should be called upon to pay the value of the buildings, wharves and other things it had annexed to the realty if it purchased the machinery and the balance of the plant, and inclosing a copy of the following vote of the directors:

"At a meeting of the Board of Directors of the Boston Development and Sanitary Company, duly called and held on December 19, 1911, it was reported that a question had been raised as to whether the wharf and buildings, with the pilings and foundations therefor, to be erected by the company on a site furnished by the City of Boston at Spectacle Island under the proposal of the company of December 5, 1911, for the disposal of the refuse of the City of Boston, would become the property of the city without expense to the city; and thereupon it was duly and unanimously Voted, That Brandeis, Dunbar & Nutter, the attorneys for the company, be instructed to inform the City of Boston forthwith that prior to the submitting of the proposal of the Boston Development and Sanitary Company on December 5, 1911, to the Commissioner of Public Works of the City of Boston the company had been informed by officials of the city that the wharf and buildings, with their pilings and foundations, to be erected on the site furnished by the city, would become the property of the city without further expense to the city, and that the city would not be called upon in any event to pay for the same; and said proposal of this company was submitted to the Commissioner of Public Works upon that understanding, and the company will not remove the wharf, buildings, pilings and foundations from the site furnished by the city at Spectacle Island, and will not ask the city to make any payment therefor; this having been the understanding upon which the proposal was submitted; but this vote does not apply to the machinery and equipment to be installed in and about said wharf and buildings."

If a copy of this vote was annexed to the proposed contract the Boston Development and Sanitary Company would be estopped from contending that the words "complete disposal plant" used in the clause entitled "Right to Purchase" showed that the city was to pay for the complete plant, including what had been annexed to the city's realty as well as the things which could be removed, or that the city should pay for its value as a going concern.

Yours truly,
THOMAS M. BABSON,
Corporation Counsel.

EXECUTIVE COMMITTEE REPORTS.

Coun. ATTRIDGE, for the Executive Committee, submitted the following:

(1) Report on message and order (referred December 18) transferring the sum of $25,000 from the Reserve Fund to an appropriation, to be expended under the direction of the Park Commissioners, for playground accommodations, Mattapan district—that the order ought to pass.

The question came on acceptance of the report and passage of the order.

Coun. SMITH—Mr. President, as usual I want to say simply that, while I am heartily in favor of this playground, I do not approve of the method of financing it. This is especially true in view of the fact that the Reserve Fund is so much depleted at the present time. We have spent largely from that fund, and the same reasoning that guided this Council early in the year in regard to matters of this sort does not apply now. As I understood the majority of the Council then, they thought there was so much money in the Reserve Fund that it was a good source to draw from for such things as playgrounds. Of course, that does not apply now. It may be that the Council will now change its mind, the reason having changed, and ask that this money be raised by loan, there being more money that we are able to borrow than there is that we are able to spend from the Reserve Fund. While I heartily approve of the playground, I cannot approve of this method of providing the money.

Coun. HALE—Mr. President, I will say that for the same reason Coun. Smith has advanced I am going to vote against this order. I would also like to call the attention of the Council to one point which may induce the councilors to change their minds—with apologies to Coun. McDonald for repeating what I have already said here. We have heard from time to time the interest argument that has been used so forcibly by members who believe in what they call "paying as you go," and I think that argument as they have used it may now seem to them false, fallacious. The argument was, "Why borrow money and pay interest on it when by raising money out of the tax levy there is no question of paying interest?" That, in brief, has been their position. I am glad to say that we have at last made some converts to our theory of interest—which was that interest should be counted whether the improvement was made from current expenses or from loans. I see that we have converted the Finance Commission. In their report on this garbage question they expressly say that the interest on these larger payments which are to be made to the city by the Boston company should be considered as an element in favor of the Brooklyn company. The only possible basis for that—and it is a basis which the Finance Commission admits—is that these expenses, which are to be paid each year out of the tax rate, no bonds issued, should be considered as an investment on which the interest item should be counted. In fact, the counsel for the Boston corporation took exactly the same position in regard to the interest item as the majority of this Council did. He expressly said that, because this was a current expense and because the city issued no bonds, the interest item should be neglected. He used almost the words of members of this Council who have been arguing against us, and the Finance Commission in their report replied in substance to the counsel for the Boston company, "you are wrong in your reasoning as to this interest item," and in practically so many words said, "Councilors Smith and Hale are right in their reasoning on this interest item, and the majority of the Council are wrong." I hope, in view of this additional evidence, that you will reconsider your former attitude on the question of permanent improvements.

Coun. SMITH—Mr. President, I desire to add just one word more, and that is to the effect that, so long as the Finance Commission has agreed with us in our arguments as to interest, Coun. Hale and I are very anxiously awaiting the report of the Good Government Association, which may be published after election, when all matters relating to improvements in the suburbs have been laid at rest, when the Reserve Fund has ceased to trouble their minds, and they can look at this subject simply as a matter of interest.

The report was accepted, and the order was given its first reading and passage, yeas 7, nays 2, Coun. HALE and SMITH voting nay.

President COLLINS—The second reading will be had not less than two weeks from to-day.

Lee, of the Municipal Court of the City of Boston, determined by the Chief Justice of said court, at the rate of $1,500 per annum, beginning January 1, 1912, be and the same is hereby approved, the amount so paid to be charged to the appropriation for the County of Suffolk, Municipal Court, City of Boston.

Report accepted; order passed.

LODGING HOUSE CONDITIONS, BRIGHTON.

Coun. SMITH offered an order—That the Board of Healtb be requested, througb his Honor the Mayor, to cause an investigation to be made as to the lodging house conditions existing in Northb Brighton, and report the findings to tbe City Council.

Coun. SMITH—Mr. President, I have introduced tbis order simply because of statements made before tbe Executive Committee tbis afternoon to the effect that lodging house conditions are extremely bad in North Brighton. One of the witnesses testified to us that hunk bouses exist wbere the employees of tbe abattoir and otber occupants use tbe beds througbout tbe twenty-four hours, one shift getting out of and another into the heds. If the statement about those conditions is true, or if anything like that exists in Northb Brighton, certainly the Board of Health ought to investigate it.

Coun. CURLEY—Mr. President, I think it extremely unfair to single out any one section of tbe city for criticism and make a target out of it. Allowing that there may be some truth in what Mr. Murray said, that is a condition that those persons interested in social improvement work in tbat section are competent to handle and report to the Board of Health upon. I don't think it is a subject for puhlic record hy this Board. There is no section of the city, with the possible exception of Dorchester, that is undergoing more real estate development at the present time than the Brigbton district, and if it does hecome necessary for a large numher of persons to occupy certain dwellings eitber for lodging purposes or for other purposes, it is perhaps a condition that is unavoidahle because of the earning capacity of those individuals. Certainly it is not a condition that should cause us to single out tbat section rather than any other section of the city. Wbat might he said of this section of Brigbton might perhaps be said of the "Old Comfort" lodging house, the Salvation Army lodging houses, and every other section of tbe city might be included. But it is not a matter for public criticism on the part of this Board. Certainly it is not a matter that should be made a part of the puhlic records of tbe meeting of the Board because, after all, it is a matter that the Board of Health is competent to deal with, and which undoubtedly they would feel a duty to deal with, if the matter were called to their attention, without giving that section of Brighton not only undue hut unfavorable, and in my opinion unwarranted, puhlicity. I don't think it is proper, and I hope the order will not pass.

Coun. SMITH—Mr. President, it is not a question of publicity; it is simply a question whetber the health regulations of this city are being violated in Brighton. If the same facts were called to my attention in any otber section of the city I should introduce tbe same order. If tbe Board of Health can tell us that the facts which bave heen stated to us this afternoon do not exist, tbat ends the matter. If, however, the facts which have heen stated to us this afternoon are true, they deserve serious consideration by the Board of Health, because they violate tbe ordinances of the city. In regard to the other places cited by Coun. Curley he certainly does not mean to bave us take his statement seriously. He does not mean to tell us that the Salvation Army bave their beds occupied 24 hours in the day. That is ahsurd. If these conditions do exist in Brighton that we have bad evidence of this afternoon, they ought to be stopped. By this order I simply wish to direct the attention of tbe Board of Health to what has been told to us tbis afternoon.

Coun. ATTRIDGE—Mr. President, as members of tbe Council we must be careful that we do not cast any aspersions upon or make any statements wbicb might hurt any particular district of tbe city. Possibly if the order passes it migbt have that effect. We could, I think, in justice to Brighton have this order referred to the Executive Committee with the request that some representative of the Board of Health appear before that committee and state exactly the conditions that exist there. I myself desire to find out from the Board of Health the conditions in connection with the Brighton abattoir, and I think in justice to Brighton we can very well ask representatives of the Board of Health to appear here before the Executive Committee of the Council and state to us the conditions that exist.

Coun. SMITH—Mr. President, I will very gladly accept tbe suggestion of Coun. Attridge, my only object heing, as I said before, to find out whether these conditions do really exist. Whether we find that out by direct passage of tbe order or by reference to the committee and having one of the Health Commissioners come hefore us is immaterial. I am glad to accept the suggestion.

Coun. BUCKLEY—Mr. President, I hope the Council will not pass the order and will not refer it to the Executive Committee. I don't think Mr. Murray meant exactly what he said this afternoon. He was very enthusiastic in getting tbe playground and I don't think he meant that tbose heds were occupied twenty-four hours a day. I wish the councilor on the other side of the Chamher had not presented the order, hecause to-morrow there will prohably be a lot of newspaper notoriety ahout what Mr. Murray said here, which will not only be apt to do a great dcal of harm to a very estimahle young man, hut to that section of the city. We ought to consider persons as well as localities when putting in orders like this. Reputation of people is something, and this is something tbat might hurt a young man, if the thing is published in the newspapers in this connection. I helieve in going about it in a different way. As Coun. Curley suggested, you could have easily rung up the Board of Health and found out whether such conditions do exist, without seeking notoriety hy presenting such an order and at the same time hurting a very estimable young man and hurting the Brighton section of the city.

Coun. Attridge's motion, that tbe matter be referred to the Executive Committee with a request that a representative of the Board of Health he asked to appear at the next meeting of the committee, was declared carried hy a rising vote, 5 to 4.

Coun. HALE—Mr. President, I move a reconsideration, hoping the same will prevail. I am sure that there must he a misunderstanding as to the meaning of this action. We have had called to our attention officially tbe fact that the law is being violated, and it is now proposed to take action that is going to cover that up. I think it is perfectly disgraceful to have any member of the body get up and vote in that way through fear of hurting the feelings of some particular individual. I hope everyhody here who has any interest in the welfare of the city or the enforcement of the laws which we are under oath to try to get enforced, will do what he can to have tbis matter investigated. I think Coun. Attridge is quite right in wanting this referred to the committee.

President COLLINS—It has been referred to the committee.

Coun. HALE—Has it been referred to the committee?

President COLLINS—Yes.

Coun. HALE—Then I withdraw my remarks.

Coun. CURLEY—Mr. President, I also trust that reconsideration will prevail and that the order will be defeated. It is a very simple matter for any memher of the City Council, when a matter of that kind is brought to his attention, to ring up the Board of Health and call the attention of the Board of Health to it, and tbat disposes of it. They are competent to deal with the question, and they should he permitted to deal witb it. It is not a matter for lengthy investigation. What Coun. Buckley has said is very true. We know from hearsay, from a person appearing for a playground for the Brighton district, that a condition exists there that should not he tolerated, and if there had not heen a meeting of the City Council this afternoon, in performance of our plain duty, the matter having heen hrought up in that way in connection with the Brighton playground question, we would simply bave oheyed a natural impulse, called up the Board of Health, called attention to the fact, and asked whether such a condition existed. But the very fact that we bave a meeting leads a memher to take advantage of the meeting to get a little puhlicity and notoriety by calling attention to the matter in this way. I certainly hope reconsideration will prevail, that the order will he defeated, and if nobody else calls up the Board of Health I will do it myself.

Coun. HALE—Mr. President, I withdraw my motion to reconsider.

Coun. CURLEY—I ohject to the withdrawal.

President COLLINS—The question comes on reconsideration.

Coun. McDONALD—Mr. President, I don't tbink that Mr. Murray bas been treated fairly in this matter. I listened to the statement Mr. Murray made, and be did not state that that condition exists there to-day to bis personal knowledge

He stated in reply to Mr. Smith that it had existed in the past and that it may possibly exist at the present time. But he did not say that they were sleeping in these beds twenty-four hours. He said that the men who worked night times slept in some of these beds in the day time, and he said that no doubt people slept in those same beds at night. They are not sleeping there twenty-four hours, and that condition is not such a horrible condition that we should take action here when it can be easily investigated by the Board of Health without such action. He simply made that statement in arguing the need of a playground over there, referring to the congestion in that section of Brighton. That congestion exists all over the city, and, as far as health is concerned, possibly even if there were, as the councilor on my right says, two shifts in these beds, day and night, there might be four or five hours between the times when a man slept there in the night time and another one in the day time, and sanitary conditions can prevail. That condition may exist in lots of places, but still they might have plenty of air in the rooms and sanitary conditions might prevail, just the same as if nobody slept there in the day time. He did not mean to say that to do anybody any harm, and, as Coun. Buckley says, I don't think we are treating the young man fairly. He is a nice, very estimable young fellow, and I don't think we ought to adopt such an order offhand, without looking into the matter at all, letting it go out in this way into the public press. It is going out now, perhaps, that he made such a statement, although he did not make it with the intention of hurting anybody. He made it in a frank way, stated that those conditions had existed there and that they perhaps exist to-day. I think we ought not to send the matter to the Executive Committee, but that we should reconsider our action and kill the order, not holding up in this way a young man who is making an effort to get a playground in that district, which sadly needs it.

Coun. BALLANTYNE—Mr. President, I will vote for reconsideration of the order, because I think the passage of the order will give North Brighton altogether too much undesirable prominence in the public press to-morrow. I agree with Coun. McDonald, that the statement made by Mr. Murray at the hearing this afternoon was not intended to convey to us the impression that the conditions exist in North Brighton at the present time. I may have misunderstood the gentleman, but my understanding of his statement was this, that some years ago such conditions did exist and that they may exist to-day. He was trying to describe the crowded condition of the district surrounding the proposed playground, and in order to make more forcible his argument he stated this, which he said was a fact some years ago and might exist to-day. I don't think it is right or just to Mr. Murray, in the first place, to give him so much prominence in this case, and I don't think it is right to single out that small district of North Brighton in this way. For that reason I am going to vote for reconsideration, and if that prevails I shall vote against the passage of the order.

Coun. SMITH—Mr. President, I beg to call the attention of the gentlemen who oppose the measure on account of the prominence it gives to Mr. Murray to the fact that they are the only ones who have named or mentioned Mr. Murray in connection with this matter. I have not done so; they are the only ones who are giving him prominence. I have never mentioned Mr. Murray's name. I don't care whether Tom, Dick or Harry calls attention to this condition of affairs. All I say is, if those conditions that have been called to our attention this afternoon exist, let us call the attention of the Board of Health to the matter. Mr. Murray is a personal friend of mine, and no member of this Council could wish him ill less than myself. But the fact is that he called to my attention certain conditions in Brighton and he said to me privately he thought conditions did warrant an investigation by the Board of Health. Mr. Scully said, while he did not have personal knowledge of the facts, that he thought the facts existed. All I ask is that the Board of Health give us some information in the matter. I have not pressed the passage of this order. I agreed to Coun. Attridge's suggestion that we send it to the Executive Committee and have a report upon it from the Board of Health. There is nothing personal in it, nothing of a district nature. If anything of the kind happened in the West End, the North End, Dorchester, East Boston, the Back Bay, any other district of the city, I am sure that the Council would desire to protect that section and find out from the Board of Health whether such facts existed. It is not that I have anything against Mr. Murray; I offered the order because of the fact that I have at heart the welfare of the people of Brighton. If the conditions exist, the people of Brighton want them stamped out as much as anybody else.

Coun. HALE—Mr. President, it amuses me to have the so-called friends of Mr. Murray coming in and opposing this order and seeking reconsideration of the reference. Mr. Murray, having the interests of Brighton and of the people of Brighton at heart, came in and described certain conditions to us, saying that they were very bad, that they needed relief, and he asked us for a playground. I think they will probably have a playground out there. There certainly is need for one. Mr. Smith, as I understand, talked with Mr. Murray in the committee room about these conditions, and it seemed to Mr. Smith that we might be able to help Mr. Murray in his efforts to improve the condition of the people of Brighton by calling these things to the attention of the Board of Health. In other words, the passage of this order seems to me to be directly in line with what Mr. Murray has wanted, and I have no doubt that Mr. Murray will be very much pleased to see these efforts in behalf of the citizens of Brighton by the City Council. It strikes me as very amusing now for members to say that they fear Mr. Murray's reputation will be hurt, simply because he has described certain conditions and we want to help him to remove those conditions. It seems to me that such an attitude is illogical, to say the least.

Coun. KENNY—Mr. President, there has been so much said about North Brighton in this case, calling attention to it as a place that is perhaps not healthy, that I think it is rather unfair under the circumstances to give it this publicity. I myself saw no harm in reference of the order to the Executive Committee, but, in view of the fact that North Brighton is singled out as a place that needs attention, I don't really think the order ought to take the form it has. If something ought to be investigated, let the member who has introduced the order first make his investigation and ascertain that fact. At the present time, in view of the fact that so much has been said in regard to North Brighton, I shall vote in favor of reconsideration.

Coun. SMITH—Mr. President, do I understand the gentleman who has just sat down to say that he thinks I personally ought to investigate the matter and that he personally is not interested in health conditions in North Brighton?

Coun. KENNY—No, I do not say that. I do say that if I myself desired to take upon myself the introduction of an order of this kind I might first go a step farther and make an investigation before coming in with it. I agree with what has been said on the other side to the effect that that would be the proper method of procedure. It is very easy to come in with an order of this kind and cast reflections on a certain community. I think a member introducing such an order owes a duty to the Council to first make a preliminary investigation himself, and then, if he finds that the conditions do exist, to go forward and introduce his order. The mere offering of a statement in connection with a collateral matter that something did exist at a previous time and may exist to-day, does not warrant this sort of notoriety. That is the reason why I take this position.

Coun. SMITH—Mr. President, I would simply like to state that we have a department of the city government that takes care of the health of the different communities. While I personally might have investigated the subject, if I did that with every subject that comes to my attention I would have my time more than occupied. For that reason I asked the proper department to give me the information on the subject. It does not seem to me that Mr. Kenny in taking exception to that position is fair. If I want the proper department to tell me the conditions that exist in North Brighton, why should I not ask the department? Why should any one man's opinion be taken by the members of the Council in regard to Brighton?

Coun. ATTRIDGE—Mr. President, I am sorry that so much has been said in regard to these so-called conditions in North Brighton. I introduced that amendment to Coun. Smith's motion simply for the purpose of giving the members of the Council a chance to hear from the Board of Health. I have had in my possession for more than a week a letter in regard to the abattoir conditions, and I had intended to make a personal visit to the Board of Health's office on Summer street to find out from the Board what the real conditions in that district were. I think at the present time we have given North Brighton a little bit too much notoriety. I thought for the benefit of all the members we might have some member of the Board of Health here, but I now think, for one, that I shall this afternoon vote to reconsider my action in a way in making that amendment. I shall vote to reconsider the reference, to get the order before the Council, and then I shall vote against the order; and then I personally will go to the Board of Health and ask about the health conditions of the people of North Brighton and also in regard to the abattoir conditions. I am sorry, as one member of the Council, that so much has been said about conditions in North Brighton. In my opinion it will not help North Brighton.

Coun. McDONALD—Mr. President, I just want to say a word in answer to the gentleman who says he is sorry to have the so-called friends of Mr. Murray implicate him this afternoon as making that statement. I am not a "so-called friend" of Mr. Murray. I only know him from meeting him on the street and have never spoken half a dozen words with him in my life. But I am sorry that the thing has been brought up here because of the statement made by Mr. Murray. I don't think any member of the Council ought to take that statement seriously enough to give it the publicity it has been given, and I don't think we should bring that section of the city into such undesirable notoriety. Mr. Murray spoke about the conditions which had existed in that section. He did not mean to have it treated in this way and the member ought not to take it so seriously. I am not upholding Mr. Murray, but I do not propose to vote for an order to investigate health conditions in that section of the city because of the statement he made. He did not say that those conditions exist to-day; he said that they had existed in the past and that possibly they do exist to-day. Even if they did, the conditions as he pictured them were not so bad that the Board of Health should be asked in this way to make such an investigation. He simply said that in times past somebody slept in those beds at night and that men working night times, on the other floor, slept there in the day time. That condition has existed there, and he said in reply to a question that possibly it exists to-day. Why should we, because of that statement, come in here and pass an order to have the Board of Health investigate the sanitary conditions, the health conditions, out in North Brighton? I think the gentleman who has introduced the order owes the people of North Brighton as well as Mr. Murray an apology for introducing the order on what he said. I would not vote to send the order to the Executive Committee or to consider it. I am going to vote to kill it. I think it is too bad that it has been brought up here to-day, so as to compel anybody to defend either Mr. Murray or North Brighton, because of the statement that was made.

Coun. SMITH—Mr. President, I shall be very glad to delegate Coun. McDonald as a committee of one to make any excuses he wants to Mr. Murray or the people of Brighton. But I want to clearly understand the position taken by the Council. On the order introduced by me Coun. Attridge, I understand, made a motion to refer to the Executive Committee. That was passed. That is, Coun. Attridge's idea was accepted by this body. Now, does Coun. Attridge want to reconsider his own motion? May I ask that as a question of Coun. Attridge? Does he desire to change his original idea? His original idea was to have it referred to the Executive Committee. Does he desire to reconsider that?

Coun. ATTRIDGE—Yes, Mr. President, in view of the statements that have been made in this Chamber this afternoon, I intend to vote to reconsider my action here, and if the reference is reconsidered I shall then vote to defeat the order. I will then make a personal investigation myself and will visit the office of the Board of Health and find out the facts for my own satisfaction.

Coun. SMITH—Mr. President, as I understand it, Coun. Attridge desires to kill his own motion. Is that it?

Coun. ATTRIDGE—Mr. President, I think I have answered the question.

Coun. McDONALD—Mr. President, just a word in reply to the gentleman on my right (Coun. Smith). I do not want to act as a committee to apologize for him on this or any other occasion, because in my opinion I would be apologizing for him all the time. I am not going to do it in this or any other case.

The motion to reconsider reference prevailed by a rising vote of 6 to 2.

The order was rejected.

DEVELOPMENT OF LAND, BOYLSTON STREET.

Coun. CURLEY offered an order—That the Board of Street Commissioners, through his Honor the Mayor, be requested to confer with the officials of the New York, New Haven & Hartford Railroad relative to the development of land situated on Boylston street, now used for storage of cars.

Coun. CURLEY—Mr. President, this order has been introduced with a view to opening up a conference of negotiations with the New York, New Haven & Hartford officials for the development of that tract of land situated on Boylston street between Exeter street and Massachusetts avenue that has been used by the railroad company for a number of years for the storage of sleeping cars. It is perhaps one of the most valuable of the unused tracts of land at the present time in the entire city. A portion fronting on Boylston street, with a depth of 200 feet, is capable of sustaining easily from fifty to one hundred million dollars worth of taxable real estate, that could be let, customers being found very readily, at good rentals, netting the city a splendid return. For the first time in my experience in the history of the city government we have a railroad corporation determining the amount of damages that the city shall levy for the extension of a street, in consequence of which extension their own property is to be improved. It is certainly a most peculiar condition, where they have the temerity to send a communication either through the Mayor or to the Mayor, the same being received by the City Council, in which they set forth what they are willing to pay. I am not aware that the Legislature has changed the law under which the Street Commission is the body that is to determine values and payments to be made by persons whose property has been benefited, and if the law has been changed it is news to me. Personally I feel that the Street Commission is the body that should determine the amount to be paid by the New York, New Haven & Hartford Railroad for the improvement of its own property rather than have the New York, New Haven & Hartford Railroad determine what it shall pay in consequence of the improvement of its own property. Under the circumstances, since they show a disposition to settle those matters that affect their own welfare, it strikes me that it might be an excellent time for the City of Boston to submit for consideration by the railroad corporation this proposition to develop their own property and at the same time have something done that will be of benefit to the city. The original order which emanated from the office of the Mayor has been referred to the Committee on Finance, I believe. While that order is pending, it might be an excellent time for the city to take up the development of the stagnant real estate on Boylston street, a section which has witnessed more rapid development in the last five years than possibly any other section of the entire city, and to take up with them the question either of sale by public auction or development at their own expense, not of the entire storage yard but of a portion of that storage yard. If this is done, Mr. President, it will be an invitation to merchants to locate in that section of the city, it will develop a section that is sadly in need of development at the present time, and it will easily add from fifty to one hundred million dollars to the taxable value above the land to the City of Boston within the next five years. I sincerely trust that the Street Commission and his Honor the Mayor will see the wisdom of conferring with the New Haven officials with relation to this proposition. Certainly the City of Boston has been exceedingly liberal in its dealings up to the present time with the New Haven Railroad. It not only is apparently agreeable to improving the property of the road but is also agreeable to allowing the New Haven road to determine the amount of damages they shall pay, not for injuring their property but for improving their property.

The order was passed.

ACCEPTANCE OF HEATH AVENUE.

Coun. CURLEY offered an order—That the Board of Street Commissioners, through his Honor the Mayor, he requested to accept and lay out as a puhlic way Heath avenue, Roxhury.

Passed.

CAR STATION, EAST BOSTON.

Coun. CURLEY offered an order—That tbe Boston and Eastern Railway Company be requested, through his Honor the Mayor, to establish a station at Webster and Orleans streets, in the vicinity of the Cunard Docks.

Passed.

RESCISSION OF ASSESSMENT ORDER.

Coun. SMITH offered an order—That the vote wherehy chapter 415 of the Acts of 1911 was accepted, Novemher 27, 1911, concerning ahatement of Columhia Road assessments, he and the same is hereby rescinded.

The order was declared referred to the Executive Committee.

Coun. SMITH—Mr. President, I brought the matter up at this time in view of the fact that the Corporation Counsel sent us a very strong opinion to-day in regard to the ahatement. It seems that we took our action of Novemher 27—certainly that was so in my own case—possibly without a full knowledge of the facts, and after reading the letter from the Corporation Counsel I entirely agree with his reasoning. For that reason I desire to have a chance at least to rescind the vote of Novemher 27.

President COLLINS—Do I understand the gentleman to move reconsideration?

Coun. SMITH—I do.

The motion to reconsider was lost by a rising vote, 1 to 6. The order stood referred to the Executive Committee.

RESOLUTIONS CONCERNING NAVY YARD.

Coun. BUCKLEY offered the following:

Resolved, That in the opinion of the Boston City Council the hest interests of Boston, of Massachusetts and the nation require that the navy yard at Charlestown be maintained at tbat place hy the Navy Department; and he it further

Resolved, That a copy of this resolution be sent to the President of the United States, the President of the United States Senate, the Speaker of the United States House of Representatives, and the Secretary of the Navy.

Coun. BUCKLEY—Mr. President, it seems to me that at tbis time, when the aholition of the Charlestown Navy Yard is in contemplation by the Secretary of the Navy, especially in view of tbe fact tbat every person interested in the matter and residents of Massachusctts generally wish to keep the navy yard here, the City Council of Boston, where the navy yard is located, ought to pass this resolution, so as to place the City Government of Boston on record as favoring tbe retention of a navy yard in this section of the United States.

Coun. SMITH—Mr. President, may I ask the councilor who has just sat down whether he has any facts to present on tbe subject?

Coun. BUCKLEY—Mr. President, the only facts are that the United States Navy Yard has been located in Charlestown for so long a time, that it offers employment to so many citizens of Massachusetts, irrespective of whether or not they live in Boston, that it is an ideal place for the navy yard, and tbat Boston, the metropolitan city of New England, certainly ought to have a navy yard located here. It seems to me that this is the place for it and that we ought to go on record in favor of it.

Coun. SMITH—Mr. President, if I remember the wording of the resolution it is that it is for the hest interests of the nation to have the navy yard in Charlestown. Am I correct?

Coun. BUCKLEY—In the opinion of the City Council.

Coun. SMITH—Mr. President, as one of the City Council, hefore making up my mind I should like to bave some facts and figures presented, regardless of employing people in and ahout Boston.

Coun. CURLEY—Mr. President, I want to say tbat I am pleased tbat some one has presented a resolution of tbis character. Perhaps the phraseology is not exactly what certain members of the Council might desire it to be. The fact remains that there is evidently an intention on the part of the Naval Board to abolish not only the navy yard in Charlestown hut the navy yard at Portsmouth and the navy yard in New York, and to establish a naval base in the vicinity of Narragansett Bay. The navy yard at Charlestown occupies a somewhat unique position. It is the site of the first navy yard in tbe repuhlic. There is no section of the entire country that has a larger number of skilled mechanics than the section of New England in the vicinity of the Charlestown Navy Yard. It furnishes employment to somewhere in the vicinity of 2,000 to 3,000 workmen, mechanics and laborers, and its loss would he a serious proposition, since it affects such a large numher of wage earners of this section of our state. I believe that the Naval Board is just as liahle to make mistakes as any other body of men. It is in no sense infallihle. It is just possible that it may experience a change of mind and of heart at some time, possibly witbin the next twelve months. Certainly no injury can result in consequence of the adoption of a resolution of this character, hut, on the contrary, much good may result. The desire is to centralize the Naval Department, confining tbe work done at navy yards to one yard on the Atlantic coast and one yard on the Pacific coast. The government owns no property at Narragansett Bay, and it would require a considerahle investment to acquire sufficient land as a site for a naval base and a navy yard at Narragansett Bay; and, in view of the fact that the yard now owned by the government at Cbarlestown contains a dry dock costing upward of a million dollars, and serves the purpose for which it was intended in an excellent degree, I believe it should be maintained. I have my own personal views as to the reason for thc aholition of these yards and the establishment of one naval hase on the Atlantic coast. I may be entirely wrong in my views. Personally I helicve it is with a desire to make profitable the husiness of private shipyards along the Atlantic coast, hecause every man must realize, with the size of the fleet at the present time, the utter impossibility of huilding ships and making necessary repairs at one yard only on the entire Atlantic coast. At the present time we have the Newport News Shipbuilding Company and the Fore River Shipbuilding Company, located on the Atlantic coast, two private concerns, a large percentage of whose husiness is with the United States government in the making of repairs and tbe construction of new ships for thc Naval Department. If it is profitable for two private yards to be maintained upon the Atlantic coast, with four navy yards owned hy the United States Government along the same coast, then if three of those yards were aholished hy the government, it would be highly profitable to the two private yards doing business along the Atlantic coast. I sincerely trust that the resolution will he adopted and that every step possible to be taken hy the citizens of Massachusetts will he taken in order that the navy yard may he retained here at Boston.

Coun. BUCKLEY—Mr. President, one word more. I know that the gentleman on the other side is not opposed to this resolution, hut it seems to me tbat at this time it may not he amiss to call to your attention the fact tbat when this matter was first broached his Honor the Mayor went to Washington in connection with it to discourage the removal of tbe navy yard from Charlestown because of the injury it would he to this part of the country and also to the nation. As you know, we are now contemplating a dock system on a large scale, the directors of the port of Boston having heen recently appointed, and to remove an industry like this from our section at this time I think would mean great damage to the proposed improvement along the waterfront. I remember also, Mr. Presidcnt, when you were acting mayor, while his Honor the Mayor was in Washington on this matter, the arguments which you offered against the removal of the navy yard. They were practically the same which I gave when I introduced the order — because of the historic nature and the value of the navy yard here, because of the great numher of men it employs and because of its help to the country at large. Certainly for all these reasons we ought to keep the navy yard in Boston. I know that every memher of the Council will vote in favor of this resolution at the present time.

Coun. SMITH—Mr. President, I am going to vote against it simply hecause I don't know anything ahout it. The wording of the resolution puts it on a national basis, and I think very few of us here are in a position to judge whether it is better for the United States government to have half a dozen stations on the Atlantic coast or one or two stations. I certainly stand here and plead my ignorance. Of course, the suspicions of Coun. Curley are of some weight, hecause he is in Washington politics and has more chance to judge about those than some of the rest of us. It may be that private firms are going to benefit by having the navy yard taken away from Charlestown, hut that I don't know anything ahout, and I certainly would not vote on a suspicion. It seems to me that that waterfront in a great metropolitan city like Boston is going to be used — if not in connection with the navy yard, for something else. If the navy yard is not there, therc are going to be just as many hands employed in some other industry. I would like to suggest that there will be just as many voters in Charlestown. It seems to me, while we would be sorry to see the navy yard go at the present time and to have those men thrown out of work, looking at it in a broad way, from a national standpoint, it may be all right. I don't know, and not knowing, I am going to vote in the negative.

Coun. BUCKLEY—Mr. President, I am sorry the gentleman has made the statement ahout there being just as many voters in Charlestown. I should like to inform the gentleman that people from all over the United States are employed in the navy yard and that the percentage of those employed in the navy yard who live in Charlestown is very small, probably not over ten per cent. I certainly have no reason for playing politics at this time, and I am not playing them, no matter what the gentleman on the other side may think. I am not playing politics and I am not looking for any cheap notoriety.

Coun. McDONALD—Mr. President, while I don't think there is any danger of the Charlestown navy yard heing closed up—all I know is that what I read in the papers that the Mayor is in Washington protesting and that Senator Lodge gave out an interview saying that there was no need to worry, that the navy yard would still operate in Charlestown, and I suppose if he said that he will see that it does operate there while he remains in the Senate—nevertheless we all know that the present Secretary of the Navy wants to shut up the Charlestown, Brooklyn and Portsmouth Navy Yards and to establish a naval base, as Coun. Curley has said, over in Rhode Island. To us in Charlestown it makes no difference as far as the voters are concerned because, as Coun. Buckley has said, there are not 10 per cent of the employees of the navy yard who live in Charlestown and personally I don't think that 5 per cent of them live in Charlestown. I don't know of twenty-five who do, and I am over there a good deal and know all of them. Out of two or three thousand employees I don't think there are over fifty, any way, who live in Charlestown. There may be some who have come there from Brooklyn, New York, and from other places and who lodge in Charlestown, but who do not live there. But that is not the question. The yard has been established there for years and employs a large numher of men, and if there is any danger of its going away from there—whether, as the gentleman on my right says, it is a resolution introduced relative to national matters or not—this City Council ought to enter its protest, telling the present Secretary of the Navy, who is a Massachusetts man, that we think the Charlestown Navy Yard should be preserved there and the people who have been employed there all their lives retained. There is a lot of work to do; they do not keep them in the navy yard if there is nothing for them to do. As Coun. Curley says—and I think it is the opinion of anybody who has followed naval affairs—the private interests now doing shipbuilding for the United States government and the men connected with those private concerns would like to see fewer navy yards. That is the reason why they are trying to do away with these navy yards and create two naval hases, one on the Atlantic and the other on the Pacific coast. I therefore think, whether there is any danger of the navy yard being removed or not, that we should adopt the resolution and tell the Secretary of the Navy that we, as the City Council of Boston, protest against the closing of that navy yard because of the fact that we think it has always heen of use and has done good work for the government and that we think it will still be of use. We think it should not be closed.

Coun. SMITH—Of course, this Council is interested in the question simply from the standpoint of the City of Boston's good, and for that reason we might be anxious to see the navy yard retained. Now, it may be that the waterfront occupied by the navy yard would be a greater help to the City of Boston if it were used for commercial purposes. Our waterfront to-day is altogether too limited. It is so limited, in fact, that we are considering filling in land on Bird Island flats in order to get greater waterfront for East Boston. If the navy yard is moved, we will have just that much more waterfront for commercial purposes. If the navy yard is moved it may result in the greatest hoom that Charlestown has ever had. Great wharves, factories and storehouses may be put over there. Therefore, viewing even from the City of Boston's standpoint—which I suppose is a proper view for us to take —I am frankly in doubt, and when in douht I do not intend to hurry into any hasty resolutions, talking about the good of the nation and the good of the state as well as the good of the city.

Coun. BUCKLEY—Mr. President, when I remember the fact that the Secretary of the Navy represented in the City Council and came from the same ward that the gentleman on the other side of the Chamber represents, of course I can see how they arrive at the same conclusions. So I think the gentleman on the other side of the Chamher is looking through the right glasses from his standpoint when he, living in Ward 11, takes the same view of this matter that is taken by the Secretary of the Navy, who, when in Boston, lives in Ward 11.

The resolution was declared adopted. Coun. SMITH doubted the vote and asked for the yeas and nays.

The resolutions were adopted, yeas 7, nays 1, Coun. SMITH voting nay.

GENERAL RECONSIDERATION.

The Council, on motion of Coun. BALLANTYNE, refused a general reconsideration of all action taken to-day.

THE NEXT MEETING.

Coun. ATTRIDGE—Mr. President, I move that when the Council adjourns it be to meet on Thursday, January 11, at three o'clock p. m.

Coun. CURLEY—Mr. President, I would move as a substitute motion that when the Council adjourns it be to meet on Friday, January 5, at three o'clock p. m. As I understand it, you have a hearing on your garbage proposition on the 3d, and you want to have an opportunity to act on that matter before the city election. I think that matter ought to be acted on before the city election, and I make that substitute motion, Mr. President.

President COLLINS—The question first comes on the motion made by Coun. Attridge, being for the longer time, that when we adjourn it be to meet on Thursday, January 11, at three o'clock p. m.

Coun. McDONALD—Mr. President, I certainly hope that we will not meet on the 5th. I will not be here the 5th, 6th or 7th, will not be in Boston, and I want to be here when any action is taken on the garbage proposition. I am going away on the afternoon of the 4th. Tuesday, January 9, is election day, and we cannot very well meet the Monday before that, as we never have had a meeting of the City Council or the Board of Aldermen the day before election. I see no harm in waiting three or four days and having the meeting on the 11th.

Coun. CURLEY—Mr. President, I have no desire to take any unfair advantage of Coun. McDonald. I would like to get away myself about the 10th, and since he is going to be here on the 8th, I think we might meet on the 8th. It will be rather a short meeting, anyway, and I don't know as it will interfere seriously with the campaign of the members of the Council. I would not want to take any unfair advantage of them, and I would not do so. I therefore suggest that we should meet on Monday, January 8. I don't suppose any of the Council candidates would be away at that time. They would probably all be here.

Coun. Attridge's motion, that when the Council adjourn it be to meet on Thursday, January 11, at 3 p. m., was declared carried by a rising vote, the Chair being in doubt, 5 to 3.

Adjourned, on motion of Coun. KENNY, at 5.41 p. m., to meet on Thursday, January 11, at 3 p. m.

CITY OF BOSTON.

Proceedings of City Council.

Wednesday, January 3, 1912.

Meeting of the City Council in the Hearing Room, City Hall, at one o'clock p. m., President COLLINS in the chair and all the members present, to continue hearing on the subject of the proposed contract with the Boston Development and Sanitary Company for the disposal of refuse for a period of ten years from July 1, 1912.

Appearances, same as before, i. e., Edward F. McClennen, Esq., for the Boston Development and Sanitary Company, and George W. Anderson, Esq., for the Boston Disposal Company.

George W. Anderson, Esq., made an opening statement on behalf of his clients, and against the approval of the contract with the Boston Development and Sanitary Company.

Howard Whitmore, executive secretary of the United Improvement Association, submitted a resolution of the association, passed April 5, 1911, to the effect that the association is opposed to the establishment of any garbage station on the shores of any waters contiguous to any park, playground or bathing beach: and Mr. Whitmore also stated that the association is opposed to the approval of any garbage contract until the City Council is assured that no receiving station will be established at the Freeport Street Wharf.

Frank W. Merrick, for the Savin Hill Improvement Association, also objected to anything that would mean a nuisance to the beaches, parks, or to citizens generally of that section of the city. The section had seriously suffered from the Calf Pasture and other nuisances in the past, and it is extremely difficult to get rid of such nuisances after once established.

Henry Patten, of Dorchester, appeared and seconded the objections, as far as Dorchester was concerned, as a resident of Savin Hill for forty years and thoroughly familiar with the nuisances to which the section had been subjected.

Representative Charles L. Carr, of Dorchester, also objected to the placing in the Dorchester district of centers of garbage collection, feeling that there would be a nuisance in the stations themselves, and also from the offal teams going back and forth.

Representative Benjamin F. Sullivan, of East Boston, representing the Orient Heights Improvement Association, while he did not appear as favoring either of the leading proposed contractors, felt that there was a deal of merit, as far as East Boston is concerned, in the suggestion that has appeared in the papers of a contract with the East Boston Company for the fill of certain undeveloped lands over there; and he hoped that, whoever received the contract, the material fit to develop land would be sent to East Boston.

Frank M. Doyle, representing the Ward 22 Democratic Club, felt that there was a good deal of value in the wastes to be disposed of, and that should be considered in the making of any contract.

Judge Louis M. Clark, representing the Harrison Square Improvement Association, the Boston Yacht Club, and himself as a property owner, objected to a station in the vicinity of Harrison square. The citizens of that section had asked a hearing in the matter, and had not had it. He seriously objected to anything which would mean pollution of the waters of the vicinity, or a nuisance to Dorchester citizens, who have suffered sufficiently in the past.

Hon. William S. McNary, for the South Boston Citizens' Association, stated that South Boston's position was that of Dorchester — except that South Boston had suffered much greater nuisance in the past from disposal of refuse, in connection with dumps, etc., than even Dorchester. He also stated, as a member of the South Boston Yacht Club, that the members of that club, besides a great many members of other yacht clubs, object to the nuisance that may arise from the sort of thing proposed here. The present nuisance, from noxious gases and otherwise, is bad enough. It seems that some arrangement might be made to place a disposal plant on an island farther down the harbor,— such, for instance, as Moon Island, or a part of Long Island. He also claimed that the Brooklyn Company (the Boston Development and Sanitary Company) had met with considerable objection to its operations in Brooklyn, N. Y.

William E. Cassidy, representing the New England Hospital and Notre Dame Academy in Roxbury, one representing a quarter of a million dollars and the other nearly half a million dollars, objected to any contract which would not safeguard the rights and the comfort of the patients in the hospital and the children in the academy.

James A. Boyd, representing the Savin Hill Yacht Club, objected to the erection of a dumping station on Freeport street, on the ground that it might mean pollution of the beaches, for which the city has spent and is being asked to spend large sums of money.

Commissioner L. K. Rourke stated that, under his interpretation of the contract, if public convenience or necessity therefor was shown, proposed stations could be eliminated or new ones added; that experiments are now being made with wagons which will mean the sealing of the refuse in transportation so as not to create a nuisance, and that all the proposed processes in connection with the stations would be under cover.

John T. Fetherston, a refuse disposal expert in the employ of the Boston Disposal Company, stated what that company proposed to do.

Charles R. Van Etten, connected with the Boston Development and Sanitary Company, stated what that company was doing in Brooklyn and what it proposed to do here.

William F. Morse, a consulting sanitary engineer, stated that destructors of the British type such as the Sterling and the Heenan (proposed to be used by the Boston Development and Sanitary Company and the Boston Disposal Company, respectively), are alike in essential particulars, differing only in minor details of equipment, machinery and methods of operation.

Adjourned at 12.15 a. m., January 4, to meet at 3 p. m., January 4, to hear arguments.

Thursday, January 4, 1912.

The hearing was resumed before the City Council in the Hearing Room, City Hall, at three o'clock p. m., President COLLINS in the chair and all the members present.

George W. Anderson, Esq., argued for the Boston Disposal Company against approval of the proposed contract, and Edward F. McClennen, Esq., argued for the Boston Development and Sanitary Company, in favor of the approval of the proposed contract.

The hearing was closed at six o'clock p. m.

DISCONTINUANCE OF WAY STREET SCHOOL.

The following was received:

City of Boston,
Office of the Mayor, January 4, 1912.

To the City Council:

I transmit herewith a communication from the secretary of the School Committee in reply to the order of the City Council "that the School Committee be requested, through his Honor the Mayor, to inform the City Council if anything has been done concerning the discontinuance of the Way Street Schoolhouse."

Respectfully,
JOHN F. FITZGERALD, Mayor.

Boston School Committee,
Secretary's Office,
Mason Street, January 3, 1912.

Hon. John F. Fitzgerald,
Mayor of Boston:

Dear Sir,— At the meeting of the School Committee held on Monday, January 1, 1912, the following order was received from the City Council and was placed on file:

Ordered, That the School Committee be requested, through his Honor the Mayor, to inform the City Council if anything has been done concerning the discontinuance of the Way Street Schoolhouse.

In reply I am directed to inform the City Council, through your Honor, that it had been anticipated that the buildings of the new Abraham Lincoln Schoolhouse would provide sufficient additional accommodations to permit discontinuing the occupancy of the Way Street Schoolhouse, which, however, was not found to be the case. The replacing of old buildings by new ones is, of course, dependent upon the amount of money available therefor, and the Board feels that it has made such progress in this direction as is possible. It proposes to consider very seriously including an item in the list of accommodations to be provided during the ensuing year which will result in providing other and more suitable accommodations for the pupils now occupying the Way Street Schoolhouse.

Very truly yours,
THORNTON D. APOLLONIO, Secretary.

INVESTIGATION OF DWELLING COLLAPSE.

The following was received:

City of Boston,
Office of the Mayor, January 4, 1912.

To the City Council:

I transmit herewith a letter from the Building Commissioner in reply to your request that he investigate the collapse of three houses on Saratoga street, East Boston, on December 28, 1911. The letter is accompanied by a report from the supervisor of construction in the Building Department, which gives the details upon the subject of his inquiry.

Respectfully,
JOHN F. FITZGERALD, Mayor.

City of Boston,
Building Department, January 4, 1912.

Hon. John F. Fitzgerald,
Mayor of Boston:

Sir,— In reply to the order of the City Council requesting your Honor to cause an investigation of the reason for the collapse of three houses on Saratoga street and Bennington street, East Boston, on December 28, 1911, a copy of which order has been referred to me through your office, I would report that in company with Mr. Guy Emerson, engineer for the Finance Commission, I visited the premises Wednesday morning, and found conditions indicating that the report of Supervisor Turner, made as a result of his visit to the premises on the day the buildings collapsed, is a correct statement of the reason for their destruction. The mortar in the cellar walls was new and frozen in places and the walls consequently were more easily disturbed than an old wall would have been.

A copy of the report from Mr. Turner is appended.

Yours respectfully,
ARTHUR G. EVERETT,
Building Commissioner.

Building Department,
100 Summer Street, December 28, 1911.

To the Building Commissioner:

I herewith submit a report of a special examination, made upon the following-described premises:

Date of examination, p. m., December 28.

Location of premises, Saratoga street and Bennington street, near Orient Heights, Ward 1.

Material of building, wood.

Size of Main Building.

Feet front, 20 feet 6 inches. Feet rear, 20 feet 6 inches. Feet deep, 50.

Number of stories, three. Style of roof, flat. Roofing not on.

Name of owner, A. Ginsberg; address, 187 London street.

Cause of examination, report by police that buildings were blown down.

Report.

Having examined the buildings on Bennington street and Saratoga street near Orient Heights, East Boston, I found the buildings in process of construction — four on Bennington street and four on Saratoga street; two on each street were blown over.

The foundations for these buildings are piling and concrete footings resting on the piles.

The westerly house on each street was partially boarded in, but the roof rafters were not set. These houses are so located as to be subjected to the full force of the strong northwest gale of December 28. The openings in the cellar and side walls gave opportunity for great wind pressure with a lifting tendency. From the condition of the corners of the foundation or cellar walls, I judge that the buildings were lifted from the underpinning and carried sideways. The cellar walls on the easterly sides of the buildings were destroyed and the frame structure dropped into the cellar and against the adjoining houses, destroying parts of the underpinning of these adjoining houses and pushing their framework over. The front cellar walls of the buildings on Saratoga street were not built and the cellar was consequently open to the force of the wind.

The work in these buildings was not of the best, but in my opinion, had the walls been boarded and the openings closed, the accident would not have occurred and I do not attribute it to poor construction.

EDWIN J. TURNER, Supervisor.

The following was received:

To the City Council:

NEW BUILDINGS, LONG ISLAND.

The following was received:

City of Boston,
Office of the Mayor, January 12, 1912.

To the City Council:

I recommend the passage by your honorable body of the appended order appropriating seventy-two thousand dollars ($72,000), which was paid to the city for the Charlestown Almshouse property, to be expended by the Infirmary Trustees in the erection of buildings at Long Island. As a necessary consequence of the sale of the almshouse the city is obliged to provide accommodations for its former occupants. The trustees have long foreseen this contingency and as far back as June 6, 1911, requested an appropriation of three hundred and fifty thousand dollars ($350,000) for new buildings on Long Island, partly to take care of the occupants of the Charlestown institution and partly to provide for the natural expansion of the regular island population. The old people at Charlestown who are to be transferred to the island number about one hundred, and as the present almshouse will have to be vacated by April 1, 1912, it is evident that work cannot be begun too soon on the new buildings. The first step is to make the necessary appropriation and I trust there will be no delay on the part of your honorable body in passing this order. The accompanying letter from the chairman of the Infirmary Trustees gives all the necessary details.

Respectfully,
JOHN F. FITZGERALD, Mayor.

City of Boston,
Boston Infirmary Department,
January 11, 1912.

Hon. John F. Fitzgerald,
Mayor of Boston:

Dear Sir,— On behalf of the Boston Infirmary Trustees I would ask that seventy-two thousand dollars ($72,000), the amount received by the city from the Boston Elevated Railway Company for the Charlestown Almshouse property, be placed in the hands of this department as a beginning of an appropriation for new buildings, Long Island. It is probable that the Charlestown Almshouse will have to be vacated by the first of April, 1912, and the work of construction at Long Island cannot even be started until some money is appropriated. It is estimated that the kitchen and refectory building will cost $58,000 and one of the dormitory sections $15,000. The work on these two buildings should be begun immediately in order to have them in readiness to receive the people from Charlestown. I cannot too strongly urge immediate action in this matter, as it will not be possible to accommodate the Charlestown inmates in the present buildings at Long Island.

I would also respectfully request that a further appropriation of three hundred thousand dollars ($300,000) be granted as soon as possible for new buildings at Long Island, in order that all necessary new construction may be undertaken without delay. The superintendent has repeatedly urged that adequate kitchen facilities, hospital wards, dormitory accommodations and nurses' quarters be provided without delay.

Central Kitchen and Subways.

In 1904 the need of a central kitchen was first brought to the attention of the city government. The need is greater now than ever before, with the addition of 100 inmates from the Charlestown Almshouse, for whom additional dormitory facilities must be provided. There would be a saving in both labor and supplies if one adequate kitchen could replace the smaller scattered ones.

Subways connecting all buildings are a necessary part of the plans for a central kitchen.

Hospital Wards and Dormitories.

Additional hospital wards are needed at the present time and will be still more necessary with an increased population. Beside the Charlestown Almshouse inmates, a marked increase in the population at Long Island is anticipated in the immediate future by reason of the provisions of chapter 669 of the Acts of 1911, which permits the acquirement of a settlement through residence alone, without the payment of taxes. It is estimated that as soon as this law becomes operative it is likely to double the number of admissions to the Long Island Hospital, which will affect the dormitories as well as the hospital wards. Accommodations for these people must be provided.

Nurses' Home.

The present quota of nurses is inadequate to properly care for the hospital population of to-day and present accommodations will not permit the employment of even the full quota allowed. Sixty nurses are needed where forty are allowed and an increase in the number of patients will mean a still further increase in the number of nurses. Accommodations for at least one hundred nurses should be provided without delay.

Trusting that this request may meet with prompt and favorable consideration by the City Council.

Very respectfully,
E. M. GALLAGHER, Chairman.

Ordered, That the sum of seventy-two thousand dollars ($72,000), which was paid to the city for the property in the Charlestown district known as the Charlestown Almshouse, be and hereby is appropriated, to be expended by the Boston Infirmary Trustees, for "Long Island, Kitchen, Refectory and Dormitory."

Referred to the Executive Committee.

TRACKS ON BEACON STREET.

The following was received:

City of Boston,
Office of the Mayor, January 12, 1912.

To the City Council:

I transmit herewith a communication from the secretary of the Board of Street Commissioners in reply to the order passed by the City Council at its meeting of November 27, 1911, that his Honor the Mayor be requested to ask the Boston Elevated Railway Company to lay tracks on Beacon street, from Massachusetts avenue to Charles street, for the accommodation of patrons of said railway.

Respectfully,
JOHN F. FITZGERALD, Mayor.

City of Boston,
Street Laying-Out Department,
January 10, 1912.

Hon. John F. Fitzgerald,
Mayor of Boston:

Dear Sir,—In the opinion of the Board of Street Commissioners no action should be taken at the present time on the inclosed order of the City Council suggesting the laying of car tracks in Beacon street, from Massachusetts avenue to Charles street. The city is about to build two subways paralleling Beacon street, which, it seems, ought to meet all the transportation requirements of the territory west of Massachusetts avenue for many years to come. It would be well to await the test of the efficiency of those subways before giving any serious consideration to the laying of tracks on Beacon street.

Very truly yours,
J. J. O'CALLAGHAN, Secretary.

LAND FOR CITY YARD, EAST BOSTON.

The following was received:

City of Boston,
Office of the Mayor, January 11, 1912.

To the City Council:

A favorable opportunity is offered to obtain property which will serve as the nucleus of a city yard in East Boston by the offer of the George E. Young heirs to sell their wharf on Condor street, adjoining the pumping station of the city, for thirty thousand dollars ($30,000). This wharf contains about 172,176 square feet of land, of which about 26,000 feet is estimated to be solid land and 146,000 flats. The land is assessed for $36,200 and the building for $2,000, making a total assessed value of $38,200. As waterfront property in East Boston is in demand at the present time, the valuation is likely to rise rather than fall. Beside its comparative cheapness the estate has the advantage over an inland yard of being on deep water. With an expenditure of perhaps ten thousand dollars ($10,000) for a stable, office and other improvements, the Young property could be brought up to the same condition as Glendon Wharf, which the city now uses and for which it pays three thousand dollars ($3,000) a year beside the taxes. The debt requirements on a total investment of forty thousand dollars ($40,000) would be much less than the present rental, and for this reason I believe that the investment is an extremely desirable one for the city. In this opinion the Commissioner of Public Works and Mr. John C. Kiley, the real estate expert attached to my office, concur.

I recommend, therefore, the passage of the accompanying loan order appropriating thirty thousand dollars ($30,000) for the purchase of the property in question.

Respectfully,
JOHN F. FITZGERALD, Mayor.

Ordered, That the sum of thirty thousand dollars ($30,000) be and hereby is appropriated, to be expended under the direction of the Commissioner of Public Works, for the purchase of wharf property on Condor street, East Boston, owned by the George E. Young heirs, and that to meet said appropriation the City Treasurer be authorized to issue bonds or certificates of indebtedness of the city to said amount.

REPORT OF COMMITTEE OF CHAMBER OF COMMERCE ON DISPOSAL OF REFUSE.

The following was received:

To the Executive Committee and Board of Directors of the Chamber of Commerce:

The city has before it two bids for this contract between which it should make its choice, the other bids being manifestly so high that they deserve no consideration. The two bids in question are the bid of the Boston Development and Sanitary Company (for convenience called the Brooklyn concern) and the bid of the Boston Disposal Company (for convenience called the Boston concern). If the only difference between these bids were the difference in money payments there would be no question that the Brooklyn concern is lower than the Boston, but there is another element of difference which must be taken into serious consideration.

The specifications published by the city offered an alternative. The bidder might furnish the site for his plant subject to certain restrictions, or he might accept the offer of the city to furnish him a site on Spectacle Island free of cost to the contractor. The Brooklyn concern has chosen the latter alternative while the Boston concern has chosen the former and proposed to furnish and use the present site of the garbage works on Spectacle Island. The city owns no land on Spectacle Island and if it accepts the bid of the Brooklyn concern it must either buy or take by eminent domain enough land for a site. It is calculated that three acres, or roughly 130,000 square feet, is sufficient for this purpose and such an area will satisfy the bidder. If this land is taken or bought the city will have to pay for it and will not receive either rent or taxes on it during the life of the contract; whereas, if it accepts the bid of the Boston concern it will not have to pay out any money for land and will be able to tax the site. On the other hand, if the city accepts the Brooklyn concern's bid it will own the land and at the end of the contract it will own such improvements to the land as have become real estate by being affixed thereto, such as wharves, buildings, etc.

Before considering which of these two alternatives is most advantageous to the city we should consider certain legal objections which have been raised by the Boston concern:

1. The Right to Take by Eminent Domain.—The Boston concern claims that the city has no right to take land by eminent domain and allow it to be used by a contractor, as is proposed in the present case. We have not gone exhaustively into the authorities, but it seems clear that the city has such a right, and we are informed that that is the opinion of the Law Department. The city can take land by eminent domain "for any municipal purpose by virtue of section 31 of the new charter" (Statute 1909, chapter 486). It would seem too obvious for question that refuse disposal is a municipal purpose and a proper municipal function, and whether it is done by one contract for ten years or by many contracts for one month, one week or one day is wholly immaterial. The city is a corporation, an artificial person, and can do no act by its own hand for it has no physical hand. Everything that it does is done by contract. Everybody who works for the city, whether he works for ten years or one day is in a certain sense a contractor. It would seem absurd that the city could take land to use for municipal purposes by its day labor forces and could not take land to use for precisely the same purposes by contract for a longer term than a day. Where could the line be drawn? Could the city take land and work upon it with laborers hired by the day and not work upon it with laborers hired by the week, or by the month, or by the year?

2. Construction of the Clause Authorizing the Purchase of the Total Plant at the End of the Contract.—The Boston concern claims that as the specifications contain the provision that "the city shall have the right to purchase the complete disposal plant and all licenses and rights which may be required to operate the same after the expiration of the contract," the city will not own such buildings, wharves, etc., as the contractor will build upon the land of the city. This reasoning does not appeal to the committee. It is clear that if the city owns the land, anything that is built upon it so as to become real estate immediately becomes the property of the city, although the contractor can use it during the term of his occupation of the land. When he leaves he must leave the land and everything so affixed to it as to have become real estate. Buildings, wharves, etc., ordinarily become the property of the owner of the land as soon as they are placed there, and there is nothing in this contract to vary that rule. It certainly was not the intention of the Commissioner of Public Works, nor was it understood by the Brooklyn concern that buildings and other things which had become real estate should be paid for by the city if the city exercises its option to purchase the plant at a valuation. It was understood by all the parties that all the city should have to pay for was such part of the plant as it did not already own, i. e., personal property, tenant's fixtures, licenses and rights required to operate the plant. This question of construction which has been raised by the Boston concern is however, of only academic interest, as the Brooklyn concern stand ready, if the contract is awarded them, to declare their interpretation of the construction of the contract in such a way as to estop them from setting up the claim which the Boston concern suggests.

Several other points have been argued by the Boston concern against the bid of the Brooklyn concern, none of which seem to be of much consequence:

1. Water.—It is claimed that under the wording of the published specifications the city is obliged to furnish water on Spectacle Island if it furnishes the site and not otherwise. We are not prepared to admit that the specifications would bear this construction. On page 19 of the specifications it is stated that "if the contractor so desires, the city will furnish, free of cost to the contractor, a lot at Spectacle Island in location and area as shown on plan on file in the office of the commissioner, and of sufficient area for the location and operation of his plants; and will furnish city water to the contractor at meter rates." On page 21 it is provided that "the contractor may establish a plant for the reduction of garbage in a location satisfactory to the commissioner and the health authorities having jurisdiction over the proposed location, but such location shall not be upon the main land within the city limits." We understand that it is under the second quoted clause that the Boston concern bids and proposes to furnish its own site. Whether the first quoted clause would oblige the city to lay a pipe to Spectacle Island if the city furnished the site, and not lay a pipe to Spectacle Island if the contractor furnished his own site under the last quoted clause, is perhaps doubtful; but as a practical matter it is of no consequence, as the Commissioner of Public Works intends to lay a water pipe to Spectacle Island in any event, and we are assured that the representatives of the Boston concern were perfectly aware of that fact when they made their bid.

2. Filling.—The Boston concern claims that they intend to fill certain flats in East Boston, and that therefore their contract is more advantageous to the city as it will produce taxable land. The Brooklyn concern also intends to fill along the water front, and indeed it is hard to imagine how any contractor could fail to do so,—that is the most natural disposition of the ashes,—so in this respect the two proposals seem to be equal.

3. Descending Scale of Payments.—The Boston concern argue that as the annual payments to be made by the city decrease from year to year under their bid, the city will be in a better position at the end of the contract to renew or make another contract upon a similar descending scale. This argument does not impress the committee. At the end of the contract a new contract will have to be made, taking into account all the circumstances as they then exist. It will we hope be open to free competition and the method of payment adopted between the city and the previous contractor certainly ought not to affect it.

4. Type of Incinerator.—The Boston concern claims that the Brooklyn concern proposes to use an inferior type of incinerator. The committee does not feel competent to pass on this question. It is an engineering question and must be decided by the city authorities, who no doubt will insist that whoever gets the contract shall use proper equipment. It is, however, to be borne in mind that neither concern proposes to incinerate garbage, except as small quantities of garbage may be mixed with combustible refuse and ashes.

5. Domicile of Contractor.—The Boston concern insists that its bid should be accepted in preference to the bid of the Brooklyn concern, because it is a local and domestic company. In the opinion of the committee this point is not well taken. If we invite outsiders to bid on our contracts we should not reject their bids because they are outsiders. To do so violates sound principles of fair dealing and would be extremely bad policy.

The Chamber of Commerce has employed a well-known firm of expert accountants to work out the figures upon the two bids. Copies of their report have been sent to the Mayor and to all the members of the City Council. In it the figures are gone into fully and fairly, and even putting in the land at $50,000 the finding of the accountants is in favor of the Brooklyn concern.

The accountants have not allowed interest on the saving that would be made by the city in the early years of the contract if it accepts the Brooklyn concern's bid,—such interest alone compounded at 4 per cent amounts to about $18,000,—on the other hand, they have not allowed interest on the cost of the land. We are satisfied that they are right in both respects. But suppose we disallow interest on the saving in the earlier years on the theory that the payments are made out of current revenue and allow compound interest at 4 per cent with annual rests on the price of the land, on the theory that the land may be paid for by a loan, and call the price $50,000, which is the most favorable view for the Boston concern, we then have—

New land	$50,000 00
Compound interest on price of new land for ten years at 4 per cent with annual rests	24,012 05
Loss of taxes on new land and on machinery removed from old plant for ten years (see accountants' report, page 3)	3,976 50
		$77,988 55
Against this we have the actual advantage in the price of the Brooklyn concern's bid over the Boston concern's bid without interest	$11,738 00
New land	50,000 00
Buildings on new land	250,000 00
		$311,738 00
Or a difference in favor of the Brooklyn concern of		$233,749 45

There are certain elements of uncertainty in this calculation. The land may be got for less than $50,000. In that case the compound interest will be materially lessened, also the land probably will rise in value in the next ten years. These considerations are in favor of the Brooklyn concern. On the other hand the buildings may be worth less than $250,000 at the end of the contract; if so, that will decrease by so much the advantage of the Brooklyn concern, though the city authorities should see to it that good buildings are built and that they are properly maintained.

Even taking every contingency in favor of the Boston concern the margin in favor of the Brooklyn concern is still seen to be large.

There is a further consideration which should not be overlooked. The land which the city proposes to take is a very small part of Spectacle Island. The whole island, except a portion occupied by the United States Government, is assessed at seven cents a foot. The piece which the city will take would, at that valuation, cost $9,100, but if the city is obliged to pay $50,000 for it the city could very fairly and properly raise the assessment on the rest of the island to correspond, and this would mean a very material increase of revenue.

Besides the above-mentioned advantages which the bid of the Brooklyn concern has over the bid of the Boston concern, there is the advantage that, if the city contracts with the Brooklyn concern, it will own the site upon which the garbage works are situated. This will give the city a tremendous advantage in dealing with contractors in the future, and is of greater importance than any of the above-mentioned considerations.

EXECUTIVE COMMITTEE REPORTS.

Coun. ATTRIDGE, for the Executive Committee, submitted the following:

(1) Report on message of Mayor, communications and order (referred December 18) for transfer of $8,000 for repayment of Columbia road assessment—that the order ought to pass.

Coun. SMITH—Mr. President, I think I asked that the original vote be rescinded, and I did so on the evidence as submitted by Mr. Babson; but in talking it over with Mr. Leahy, I have come to the conclusion that the only just thing to do is to pass this appropriation, in order that all the abutters on Columbia road may be treated alike. It seems to me a thoroughly vicious principle to give back to the abutters on any street any part of the assessments for improvements that they have paid in, and I hope that the action of the Council in this Columbia road matter will not be taken as a precedent. The Law Department settled with part of the abutters on Columbia road for 5 per cent of the betterment charges, and by doing that they established a precedent for all of Columbia road. After that settlement some of the other abutters came in to the Street Commissioners and demanded in fairness that they be given a part of their betterments, which was done, and created the confusion which now exists on these betterment charges. The only way out of the tangle seems to me to accept the act of the Legislature treating all of the abutters alike. But in doing this I hope it will not be taken as a precedent for paying back betterment charges on other streets in this city. This is an exceptional case. The betterment charges were only 10 per cent of the expense to the city, and the paying back any part of that small betterment charge seems to me to be thoroughly vicious in principle. Of course we ought not to adopt it on other streets, and I hope it will not be taken as a precedent.

Coun. CURLEY—Mr. President, I trust that the order will pass. I am somewhat familiar with it. It is a special act of the Legislature, and I don't think that the gentleman on the other side of the Chamber need have any uneasiness about the prospect of establishing a precedent, because, after all, the only way that a precedent can be established is by having a special act passed in each case. I don't think there is any possibility of any such general course of legislation as that being seriously considered by the Legislature.

Coun. SMITH—Of course, Mr. President, my only interest was that other bills of similar import should not be introduced into the Legislature. We don't want to establish a precedent by rebating the betterment assessments on Columbia road for other streets that are to be built, having the abutters come in here and ask for a rebate on their betterment charges. I take it for granted that Coun. Curley would not care to have the New Haven road, for instance, come in here and ask for an abatement on their charges at Arlington street, even though they came from the Legislature under a special bill.

Coun. CURLEY—Mr. President, in response to the suggestion I would say that I don't think I would, but I question whether the same position would be taken in that case by my friend on the other side of the Chamber.

The report was accepted and the order was passed, yeas 9, nays 0.

(2) Report on petition of Mrs. Frederick H. Griggs (referred to-day) for permit for a child under fifteen years of age to appear at Toy Theater on evenings of January 15, 16, 18, 1912—that a permit be granted.

Report accepted; permit granted on the usual conditions.

(3) Report on petition of Roxbury Historical Society (referred December 18) to change the names of certain public squares in Roxbury—recommending reference to the Committee on Public Lands.

Report accepted; said reference ordered.

(4) Report on order (referred December 29) to rescind Columbia road assessments—that the order ought not to pass.

Report accepted; said order rejected.

APPROVAL OF GARBAGE CONTRACT.

Coun. ATTRIDGE submitted the following:

The Executive Committee, to which was referred —December 13—the communication from the Commissioner of Public Works and the proposal of the Boston Development and Sanitary Company for the disposal of refuse, together with the various papers and communications submitted at the public hearings, having considered the subject, respectfully return the same herewith, and recommend that the contract with the Boston Development and Sanitary Company be approved by the City Council.

For the Committee,
JOHN J. ATTRIDGE, Chairman.

President COLLINS—The Chair will divide the question. The first question comes on accepting the committee's report.

The report was accepted.

President COLLINS—The question now comes on the Council's approving the contract with the Boston Development and Sanitary Company as recommended in the communication which has just been read.

Coun. BALLANTYNE—Mr. President, I suggest that when the vote is taken it be by roll call.

President COLLINS—The question now comes on giving the contract the approval of the Council.

Coun. SMITH—Mr. President, ever since I have been a member of this body this matter has been up for consideration and in dispute. I think we have had three sets of bids, and this is the third. I have endeavored to give the matter my unbiased, careful attention. I have been down to Staten Island to see the incinerator there. I have been down to Spectacle Island, have read all the literature on the subject and attended the hearings, and I have attempted to consider the different arguments as presented and to decide the matter in my own mind without any discussion with other members of the City Council as to how they were going to vote or why they were going to vote, and without heeding the advice of one of the attorneys, that this Council is not to pass upon the merits of the different bids but is merely to reject or accept the commissioner's decision. I think that under the charter we are obliged, as representatives of the people of this city, to decide the matter on its merits, regardless of what any other body in the community sees fit to say on the subject. I do not want to delay the Council, because I realize that the vote has already been decided in the committee. But I do wish to say a few words, as a matter of record. First of all, I would like to say that I want to thank the Chamber of Commerce for the work they have done on this subject. They were largely instrumental in causing the rejection of the first bid and in bringing about a new set of bids, by publishing all over the country the specifications that the commissioner prepared. We owe them, I think, our sincere thanks. I want to take up the subject according to the various arguments that have been developed, and I have written out different headings in order to delay the body as little as possible. The first argument was one which has been used a great deal in the Press—that we ought to give this to Boston capital, Boston men, merely because they were Boston men and represented Boston capital. I have absolutely no sympathy with that argument. It seems to me that the city should get the best service possible wherever it comes from, no matter whether it be New York, Boston or elsewhere; that we ought to approach as nearly as possible to the German plan. The second argument brought out was that one company was less reliable than the other. It seems to me that that statement is absolutely groundless. Both companies have filed the necessary bonds; the Commissioner of Public Works has looked into them and found that their make-up was reliable, and I see no reason for giving preference to either one because of its reliability. The third argument brought up was that the Council ought not to inquire into this matter, that it ought simply to decide whether the city's money was being economically used and leave all matters of detail to the Commissioner of Public Works. We did this in the lighting contract. We set aside a lump sum of money to be used by the Commissioner of Public Works. I did that out of deference to certain bodies in this city. I think now, perhaps, it would have been better to set aside a certain amount of money for experimentation by the Commissioner of Public Works, and not to have tied up for this long period $600,000 which might have been used for other municipal purposes. At that time it seemed to me that the best method was experimentation, and a decision by the Council later when we had some facts before us. And so in this case I believe we are to judge the case on its merits, going into the details of both plans and not deciding simply whether we are getting a dollar's worth or not. That is only one phase of the contract. Then the argument was brought up that the city had no right to use its power of eminent domain to take land for one of these bidders; that the right of eminent domain was simply to be exercised where the city itself was to use the land taken for municipal purposes. I think that has no bearing on the matter. I think it is perfectly competent for the city to take land by eminent domain and turn it over to a contractor to use for a municipal purpose. Then, much has been made in certain quarters of the point that the city would own a tract of land at the end of ten years which could be used for a garbage disposal plant. If we have the right of eminent domain, as seems assured, we have the right to get that land at any time, either now or at the end of ten years; so it seems to me that point has but little weight in deciding this contract. Furthermore, it is brought out that the city has plenty of land for this purpose, and with that I am more than half inclined to agree. It is hardly necessary to take any land under the right of eminent domain, but if it is we can do it at the end of ten years just as well as we can now. Then, an argument was made that the location of the plants favored one bidder over the other. It was said that one company intended to put its incinerator plant in East Boston and that the other company had not settled where it would put its incinerator plant. One company stated that it had made arrangements to fill flats in East Boston; the other said that it had made arrangements to fill flats in Neponset, Quincy or Lynn. It seems to me in the matter of filling there is a slight advantage with the Boston concern, in the fact that the New York concern has not definitely stated where its incinerator was to be placed and just what flats it was going to fill. It may or may not fill flats in Neponset. In regard to the cost of this contract to the City of Boston, probably more has been said on this point than on any other one point. The greatest difference of opinion exists on this point, ranging from nearly $300,000 down to $11,000. But I think it is clear that the Brooklyn concern is the cheaper of the two concerns. I do not care to enter into a long discussion, because I realize that it is useless, as to just how much cheaper it is. I am perfectly willing to take the figures of the Finance Commission, that, outside the building, the Brooklyn concern is about $57,000 cheaper. If that is so, it makes a difference of only a little over $5,000 a year on a ten-year contract. Nevertheless, if there were no other arguments to be taken into consideration I would gladly vote for the cheaper of the two bidders. But it seems to me there are two final arguments to be taken into consideration which overweigh this argument of cheapness. The first is this, that one contractor has bid on an ascending scale of prices, the Brooklyn concern charging to the city more each year for the service rendered, so that at the end of ten years it is charging a maximum price, its argument being that the more refuse there is to handle the more it costs them to do the work. The other contractor, the Boston concern, says: "We have developed the means of getting by-products from this city waste. Those methods have developed largely in the last ten years, and they are developing constantly. We are satisfied that we can make a certain amount of money out of the by-product from city waste, and that as the years go on the greater the quantity that is turned over to us the more money we can make." It seems to me that is a thoroughly sound principle to go on, and that it has great significance for the city. If that can be done the city is gaining the advantage of it, because it is paying less and less as the years go on, and at the end of the ten-year period we will be in a better position to make a long contract with any new contractor. I think that fundamentally is a sound principle. It may even lead to the time when we can get rid of our city waste for nothing. The hooks of the company are to he open, and if we find that tbe contractor is making a large amount of money during the next ten years, that these by-products are a great benefit to him, it may be that at the end of tbat period we can make a contract calling for very little expense on the part of the city, and I think the principle of the decreasing scale of prices is important. But the second of these arguments is the one that weighs with me the most—that the city is getting a more sanitary plan with the Boston company than it is with the New York company. As I say, I have heen over there and have seen the incinerator in New York, and I have listened to the arguments presented and have seen the plans wbich Mr. Emerson tells us are a part of the contract, the plans submitted hy each company, and in my humhle judgment the plans submitted by the Boston company are more definite and will give hetter service to the city. The great difference is just here: the Boston Company takes everything except the clear garbage, sifts it to get out the fine stuff, and then incinerates the whole mass. The New York company says: "We are going to take the clear garbage and send it to Spectacle Island, and then we are going to take everytbing tbat seems to us to be clear ash and dump it straight on the flats." That is just the point of weakness; whatever they think is fit to dump at once they are going to dump at once. As a load comes down to the wharf they are going to decide from the outside appearance of that load what is in it and where it should go, whether it should be incinerated or should go to the flats. Nobody can stand here in this Council and bonestly maintain that the city inspection is so thorough that anyhody can tell in a load of ashes whether it contains animal or vegetable matter that is apt to cause a nuisance on a dump. I doubt very much whether every load of ashes coming to that dump will be inspected. If it is, I am sorry to admit that I don't think inspection will aid in protecting the city against a poor dump. If the practice in the Building Department is any criterion of inspection of those loads of ashes, coming in in that way I think it will he of very little help. We already bave inspection of huildings in this city, and are supposed to enforce the building laws, and yet we find huildings falling down and blowing over, with consequent loss of life; and I tbink that the inspection of these ashes—and I am not reflecting on Mr. Rourke's department at the present time—hy the city over a period of ten years is apt to break down for the greater part of the time, and that the ashes turned over to the Brooklyn company, if tbat is to be the company, will he poorly inspected and that tbe result will be very bad dumps in this city, dumps containing a large amount of vegetable and animal matter. There were figures shown to us indicating that the average refuse collection has 13 per cent of garbage now, and some times tbat the percentage goes up as high as 35 per cent. The system of separation has evidently failed in this city. No pretence is made of separating into the three classes the refuse in the North and West Ends, and you are hound to get mixed loads of refuse collected in that way, and I defy anybody to absolutely protect us from having some of those mixed loads put on tbe dumps in this city. For instance, a load may come down from an office huilding in the heart of the town, which looks like clean ash. But there may he a lunch counter in the hasement of an office huilding, for instance, and stuff would he taken from that first containing a good deal of garhage; then refuse might he taken from the rest of tbe huilding, putting seven or eight harrels on top, of clean ash. When that load comes along they will say, "of course, that is clean ash," and it will be put straight on the dumps, and yet there will he two or three barrels of refuse, containing garhage, at the hottom. The question comes whether that is a danger to the city or not, and I would not leave that on my own authority. In order to find out whether such a dump would be a menace to the city from a sanitary point of view I went first to Doctor Walcott, the head of the State Board of Health, and he came out flat-footed with a statement that refuse of that kind, coming from dwelling houses or other places, ought not to be treated otherwise than hy incineration, that it ought not to go on a dump. Then I called up Doctor Magrath, the medical examiner, and be was emphatically of the same opinion. Then, to make doubly sure, I called up Dr. Hugh Cabot, of the Massachusetts General, and he again was emphatically of that opinion; and I came to the conclusion that what we wanted in this city was to protect the citizens from unsanitary conditions, and tbat if the Brooklyn concern got the contract it could not in the nature of things thoroughly protect the citizens of Boston from unsanitary conditions on the dumps. In my opinion that outweighs every other consideration, and especially when the only other consideration is a matter of $5,000 or $6,000 a year. What we are doing is taking care of the health of this city. That is the primary object. We are wasting every year many thousands of dollars, and an item of $5,000 or $6,000, as weighed against the healtb of this city, is of very small import. I submit tbat that is the main reason of my voting for the Boston concern, hecause they treat the refuse, under the plans which they have filed and whicb are a part of the contract, in a more sanitary way. I am not going to carry the matter any farther, Mr. President, hecause I don't expect to change any of tbe votes by my argument. That is futile, useless. It always is. But at the same time I wish to state my reasons clearly bere, because I believe that the citizens of Boston will look at the matter in much the same way. We don't want to save $5,000 or $6,000 nearly as much as we want to wipe out the horrihle dumps that now exist around this city, and not only wipe out those dumps hut protect ourselves for the next ten years against any unsanitary conditions existing on the dumps. That, after all, is the main consideration, and I suhmit that it is the main consideration with me in voting against the recommendation of the Commissioner of Puhlic Works.

Coun. HALE—Mr. President, I would like to say a word or two as to my position on this garhage contract. I was very much interested in what Coun. Smith had to say ahout the sanitary features of the matter. Of course the rest of us have been interested in the sanitary side as well as be. I don't know whether he rememhers the public bearing two years ago in wbich this whole question of the sanitary side was gone into very carefully by many experts. Of course he is right that that is the most important feature. The other important feature is the financial side. There does not seem to be very much question about the financial side. The Finance Commission has given us figures which are indisputahle, showing a difference of $57,000 in favor of the Brooklyn company, without regard to the cost of the buildings, which should not he ignored—and that will amount, at any rate, to $75,000 more. That will make, instead of $57,000, $132,000, which is the difference between the hids. One element in the financial side, as counterhalancing that difference of $132,000, Mr. Smith brings in, i. e., the ascending and the descending scale. I personally do not give very much weight to that argument, for two reasons. In the first place, at the end of tbe ten years, when this contract expires, the whole thing is to be gone into just as carefully as we have gone into it. I think tbat is a fair assumption. I don't helieve that mankind is going to degenerate and that we are going to have a very terrihle city government at that time. The city government at that time will have an additional advantage, in that the hooks of tbe company to which we will give tbis contract will he open during the whole ten years, so that it will he possible and comparatively simple to find out exactly what the products of these companies are, so that a company cannot come in and say: "The amount which you paid us this last year will be the test of what we will get in the future." My second reason for not considering this argument very seriously is that I helieve, although I am not a great prophet, that at tbe end of ten years we will have a radically different manner of managing this whole affair. I for one believe seriously that at the end of ten years we will eitber have complete city ownership of the garhage disposal plant or at any rate a profit-sharing scheme which will divide tbe profits hetween the contractor and the city. For that reason I think that that argument about the ascending and the descending scale is a very trivial one. And even if it were a serious one it cannot be put up against tbe argument of $132,000 in cash. On tbe sanitary side, I think tbe fallacy in Coun Smith's argument is simply this, tbat the conditions which he has described as terrihle, and which would be terrible, we all admit, are based on an absolutely open, clear breach of the contract. The specifications say as to tbe dumping of garbage: "In no case will tbe dumping of garbage, or refuse containing any mixture of garbage, be allowed." The quotations he made from these medical authorities were not fully clear to me, but I have gone into the question thoroughly myself, and I do not believe tbat a dump which has ahsolutely no garhage in it is unsanitary. It may be had to huild on, it may take a greater amount of material on account of a 50 per cent depreciation, it may have to lie there longer before you huild a house on it. But there is nothing absolutely unsanitary ahout it unless you are getting some organic matter in it. That was the evidence that came in here two years ago at a public hearing, and I believe it is sound. Now the only way in which you can get organic matter into these dumps under the proposed contract is by a violation of the contract, and I believe, as Mr. McClennen pointed out the other night, there is no reason for anticipating violation of the contract in one respect any more than in other respects. Either one of these companies may violate its contract in a hundred different ways. The Boston company may never put up an incinerating plant, and that would be a breach of contract, and that is all that there would be if the Brooklyn company put garbage in the waste that was put on the dumps. In either case you would have a breacb of contract. That is a matter tbat I think cannot be put too strongly. The whole of Coun. Smith's argument is founded on the implication that the Brooklyn company, which on his own statement is just as reliable as the Boston company, is going to violate its contract. He speaks ahout improper city inspection. The city inspection is not the whole thing. If Commissioner Rourke finds out that the situation is not heing met as it should be, that the contract is not heing complied with, or if the Board of Health finds anything wrong, it can be found out whether things are heing done that aie not satisfactory to the city, that do not comply with the contract, and the thing can he remedied; and, as Mr. McClennen stated at the hearing, the minute it is found that organic matter is being dumped that ought to be incinerated, action can be taken so that it will be incinerated. It seems to me that the sanitary features of tbe requirements in the case of either of these companies are exactly the same, and I should be very slow in accepting a different argument, wben you consider the people who have gone into this thing, from a sanitary point of view. We have Mr. Bangs, for instance, who has probahly gone into this subject more carefully than any other man in this city. He was on two expert commissions, each of which had a health man on it; he studied the matter very carefully, and he has stated that he sees no difference in the sanitary features, that the contract is strong enough to prevent either being unsanitary. I think we ought to accept the opinion of an expert like that, who has gone into this particular question, and not get off on the point of whether dumps containing organic matter are sanitary, because we will agree on that. I say that I think we ought to abide hy the decisions of the experts on the sanitary features of the contract, and I think there is no dispute in regard to the financial side. Therefore I shall take great pleasure in voting "Yes" on this proposition.

Coun. BUCKLEY—Mr. President, the principal argument with me at this time against approving this contract is this, that last year we appropriated $300,000 for the purchase of a lighting plant. It seems to me that this is a matter that deals vitally with the healtb of the people of the City of Boston. It is a thing that the city ought to do itself. Mr. Hale suggested that at the end of ten years the city might own its own plant. If it ever intends to own its own plant, it seems to me that now is the time for it to begin, and I believe it should huy its own plant at this time. It may take a little longer, but it seems to me the city ought to do the work for itself, and not be letting this out by contract. But if it does let the work out to a contractor, I believe ahsolutely in being witb the home people. Where the difference in price is so small, $11,000, I believe Boston people ougbt to be favored. I was rather surprised that the Chamber of Commerce, wbich is doing so much to build up the city, should decide against purely Boston capital. I have no reason to be friendly to the Boston capitalists, but at the same time I believe in this principle, thoroughly, that where there is such a small difference, everything else being equal, we ought to favor the home people at all times. Because of that I would a great deal prefer to see the Boston Disposal Company — and I know none of the people wbo are stockholders in it — get the contract. But my principal objection to it is this, that I helieve tbe City of Boston itself should do its own collection and disposal of garbage. It should install its own plant, do its own experimenting, develop its own property, using the ashes and other materials for fills. That is my principal reason for opposing the contract which has been approved by tbe Commissioner of Public Works. Of course, you have tbe votes, and it is possible that at the end of ten years this contract may lead to the city doing its own work in these respects. But I believe it ought to begin at the earliest opportunity, and I believe that the time is now.

Coun. SMITH—Mr. President, I would not say anytbing more if I did not feel that Coun. Hale had misunderstood or at least misstated one of my statements. I think this is a purely practical matter. It is not academic. If he tbinks he can make the contractor comply absolutely with provisions for the inspection of refuse which comes to the wharf, why not hegin on the collection? He has got plenty of statutes and ordinances now to help him. Why cannot he make a separation? Commissioner Rourke has thrown up his hands, has practically stated that it is impossihle. There are already in the city ordinances three different classes of separation provided for, and yet we do not attempt to make the householder classify his stuff in large sections of this city. That stuff is coming down in a mixed condition to the wharf, and we are going then to try to perform the miracle of saying whether it is clean or whether it is mixed. Coun. Hale seems to tbink that the city inspector will he able to decide, what he has not heen able to enforce previously — whether a load tbat comes is clean or mixed. One company says, "We will abide by that inspection and we will send it either to the dump or to the incinerator, according to the result." But I say as a practical matter, that tbat stuff will not come down clean and you cannot decide from the top appearance of the load whether it is clean or not. Certainly, some of the animal and vegetahle matter, some of that 13 per cent of garbage which is contained in the mixed refuse, is going to get on the dump and be a menace to the health of this city. Why he thinks he can have one inspection in one department and not in another, I fail to see. If be believes that our ordinances in regard to inspection can and will he enforced, why not begin on the Building Department? I think that if he comes down to a practical view of the matter he will find large scope for his endeavor in city affairs, as they stand now, without adding to them this contract. I do not say that one concern is any more or less reliahle than the other. I give them the benefit of the doubt in that respect. I simply say as a practical matter that where you have mixed refuse coming to the dump, and leave it open to one of the contractors to dccide what to do with it, you will have resulting bad fill, with resulting danger to the sanitary conditions of this city. But if you have that stuff sent into an incinerator, you protect the city's health. The findings of the Hibbard commission, of wbich Mr. Bangs was one member, were to the effect that incineration was the ideal method. The Boston concern, under the specifications which it has filed and whicb are part of the contract, more nearly approaches complete incineration than the other. The Brooklyn concern practically states that only a part of the material it intends to incinerate. I think that incineration is the ideal method. I would even go so far as to say that I think the finances of this city are in a condition where we could have a complete incineration, and not go wohhling around for over a year deciding what specifications we shall have in connection with this contract. I helieve that is entirely aside from the point. The point here is, which contractor more nearly approaches the ideal? And I suhmit that the Boston concern more nearly approaches complete incineration and that, therefore, it would more surely protect the sanitary conditions in this city.

The Council voted to approve the contract witb the Boston Development and Sanitary Company, as made by the Commissioner of Puhlic Works, yeas 7, nays 2, Coun. BUCKLEY and SMITH voting nay.

Coun. BALLANTYNE moved to reconsider, trusting it would not prevail; lost.

FLAGS ON CITY BUILDINGS.

Coun. CURLEY offered an order—That under the provisions of section 9 of chapter 2 of the Revised Ordinances of 1898 his Honor the Mayor be requested to instruct the beads of the various departments to have the flag of the United States displayed on the public buildings of the City of Boston on every week day tbroughout the year, weather permitting.

Coun. CURLEY—Mr. President, I would say that this order is prompted by receipt of the following letter:

Headquarters Department of Massachusetts,
Grand Army of the Republic,
State House, Boston, January 1, 1912.

Hon. James M. Curley,
Councilor, City of Boston:

My dear Sir,—During the month of April, 1911, I forwarded to his Honor the Mayor a request that the Council of the City of Boston order that the United States flag be displayed upon all municipal buildings in the City of Boston on all days of the week excepting Sunday, when the weather permitted. My request was referred to the Council, which later, in the month of May, acted upon it. An order was passed, stating without qualification, that the United States flag should be displayed on all municipal buildings on every day of the week excepting the Sabbath Day, the weather permitting. This order became a law May 18, 1911, but no attention has been paid to it by those in charge of the various municipal buildings.

I have called the attention of Coun. Collins (while he was acting as Mayor of the City of Boston) several times to tbe fact that the order of the Council was seemingly treated witb contempt by those in authority. He has, I believe, honestly tried to have this order complied with, but has met with no success, as the only times when the flag has been displayed on municipal buildings has been upon holidays.

If there had been a penalty for nonobservance of the order attached to it, as is the case in the law passed by the Legislature of 1911, whereby failure to display the flag upon schoolhouses in the Commonwealth on all school session days, was punished by a fine of $5 for every neglect to display the flag, I think the order of the City Council would have been obeyed.

In view of tbe fact that the City of Boston, the most patriotic city in tbe nation, treats, by the action of its servants, in a most contemptuous manner the flag of our country, which is the only visual representative of the nation, by failure to display it, even when the mandate of law requires that it should be done, and with a view to rescue the flag from a position of seeming disgrace, I very respectfully ask you to offer a motion at tbe next meeting of the Council, rescinding the order of May, 1911, to display the United States flag upon all municipal buildings in the City of Boston.

I have the honor to be
Very respectfully,
Edward O. Skelton,
Patriotic Instructor.

I would say that it was my purpose to amend the ordinance, providing a penalty for failure to display the flag, but I understand tbat legally we have no right to affix a penalty to the failure of a servant of the City of Boston in complying with an ordinance of that character. For that reason, I bave refrained from providing a penalty for failure to observe this ordinance. I do feel, bowever, that it is the duty of the Mayor to instruct the various persons in charge of municipal buildings to see that the flag is displayed, as requested by the patriotic instructor of the Grand Army, and I trust that the order will pass.

President COLLINS—Tbe Chair will state that what the gentleman has said is true. He did call my attention to the matter, and the difficulty witb which I have met has been similar to that which Coun. Curley has just discovered in the way of enforcement.

The order was passed.

PUBLICATION OF PRECINCT STREET BOOKS.

Coun. ATTRIDGE offered an order—That the Board of Street Commissioners be requested to prepare an edition of fifteen hundred copies of a list of streets, avenues, courts, places, etc., by wards and precincts, showing numbers and divisions of those extending through more than one ward or precinct, together with the location of hotels, apartment houses, etc., tbe same to be printed as a public document, the expense of same to be charged to the appropriation for Incidental Expenses, City Council.

The question came on the passage of the order.

Coun. SMITH—Mr. President, may I ask when tbe last book was gotten out?

Coun. ATTRIDGE—The last edition of the street book, so called, was issued, I understand, five years ago. The edition then issued is now exhausted. Since that edition was printed many new streets have been laid out and accepted, and since tbat time Hyde Park has become a part of Boston. Those are the reasons why I introduce the order at this particular time. Five years ago, as I understand, the edition that was ordered was of the same number, 1,500.

The order was passed.

ADDRESS OF SOMERS TAX SYSTEM.

Coun. SMITH offered an order—That bis Honor tbe Mayor be requested to invite Mr. E. W. Doty, 201 Caxton Building, Cleveland, Obio, to address his Honor the Mayor, the City Council, the Finance Commission and the Board of Assessors on tbe Somers Taxation System. Passed.

THE NEXT MEETING.

On motion of Coun. KENNY it was voted that wben the Council adjourn it be to meet again on Monday, January 22, at 3 p. m.

RETIREMENT OF GEORGE H. NASON.

Coun. CURLEY, for the Committee on County Accounts, submitted a report on message of Mayor, communications and order (referred December 29) concerning retirement of George H. Nason, an officer of the Municipal Court, Roxbury District of the City of Boston—recommending the passage of order in tbe following new draft:

Whereas, George H. Nason, an officer of the Municipal Court of the Roxbury District of the City of Boston, has applied for retirement from active service under the provisions of chapter 459 of the Acts of 1910; and

Whereas, It appears from the certificate of the Adjutant-General that said Nason is a veteran of the Civil War, and it further appears from the certificate of the justice of said Municipal Court that said Nason has been in the service of tbe county for at least ten years, that bis salary is now $1,200 per annum, and that he is incapacitated for active duty and has arrived at the age of seventy-six years, therefore be it

Ordered, That, under the provisions of chapter 459 of the Acts of 1910, George H. Nason, an officer of tbe Municipal Court of the Roxbury District of tbe City of Boston, be retired from active service at the salary of $600 per annum.

Report accepted; order passed.

RINGING OF BELLS, FEBRUARY 15.

Coun. CURLEY offered an order—That his Honor the Mayor be requested to cause the bells to be rung at 9 a. m., noon and sunset, and flags on all city staffs to be raised at balf-mast, on February 15, the fourteenth anniversary of the destruction of the battlesbip "Maine," in Havana Harbor, Cuba, the expense attending the same to be charged to the appropriation for City Council, Incidental Expenses.

Passed.

READJUSTMENT OF WATER RATES.

Coun. CURLEY offered an order—That the Commissioner of Public Works be requested to consider the advisability of a readjustment of water meter rates to consumers of a less quantity than 40,000 cubic feet.

Coun. CURLEY—Mr. President, I simply want to say a word in this connection,—that the present system of charges bears rather heavily on those who can least afford to meet these charges. The rates established by the city for water for each 100 cubic feet, not over 20,000 feet, is 14 cents per 100 cubic feet; over 20,000 and up to 40,000, 13 cents; over 40,000 and up to a million, 12 cents; over a million, 8 cents. In the aggregate the small householders use a quantity in the course of the year greater than is used by those few concerns in the city that have the 8 cent rate, and if the 8 cent rate is all right for the large consumers of water it is not all wrong for those who consume individually a less quantity of water. I am informed that the saving effected by the city last year was in excess of a million dollars on the water rates, and that saving was largely due to the excess price paid by the small property owners, the owners of single family dwelling houses or three-flat houses. I believe that a more equitable system of charges might be devised without injury to the large consumers, certainly with relief to the small consumers and with no great injury to the city itself. I trust that the order will pass.

The order was passed.

GENERAL RECONSIDERATION.

The Council refused, on motion of Coun. BALLANTYNE, a general reconsideration of all business transacted at this meeting.

Adjourned at 5.35 p. m., on motion of Coun. KENNY, to meet on January 22, at three o'clock p. m.

Whereas, The City of Boston, by an order of the Board of Aldermen, passed July 28, 1851, acquired an easement for a sewer in a parcel of land now owned by the New York, New Haven & Hartford Railroad Company, but formerly within the limits of that part of Church street lying between Providence street on the north and Columbus avenue on the south; and

Whereas, Said New York, New Haven & Hartford Railroad Company has constructed, under the supervision of said city a sewer in Columbus avenue and in that part of the land of said railroad company shown as a proposed widening for Providence street on a plan by Aspinwall & Lincoln, Civil Engineers, dated February 17, 1910, approved by the Mayor and Board of Street Commissioners, and now on file in the office of said commissioners, and has connected said sewer with the sewerage system of said city, and has released to said city all its right, title and interest in and to said sewer; it is hereby

APPROPRIATION FOR CHELSEA BRIDGE NORTH.

The following was received:

City of Boston,
Office of the Mayor, January 20, 1912.

To the City Council:

The accompanying letter from the Commissioner of Public Works offers a suggestion by which a considerable sum of money now lying idle may be used for the work on the Chelsea North Bridge. I recommend the passage of the accompanying orders, the first of which transfers the appropriation for the Chelsea South Temporary Bridge to an appropriation for Chelsea Bridge North, and the second transfers the present appropriation for Chelsea North Temporary Bridge to an appropriation for Chelsea Bridge North, and adds $95,000 to this appropriation.

It is understood that if the first order fails of passage the second is withdrawn, and that if either or both are passed my earlier recommendation of a loan order for $175,000 for Chelsea Bridge North is withdrawn.

Respectfully,
JOHN F. FITZGERALD, Mayor.

—

City of Boston,
Public Works Department,
January 20, 1912.

To the Honorable the Mayor:

According to the auditor's exhibit of the current month, the sum of $79,498.34 is available for Chelsea South Temporary Bridge. It is not proposed to construct a temporary bridge at Chelsea South Bridge until the work at Chelsea North Bridge is completed. I would suggest, therefore, that if you approve, this sum of $79,498.34 be transferred from the appropriation for Chelsea South Temporary Bridge to the appropriation for Chelsea Bridge North. If this transfer is made, and the sum of $257,366.66 is transferred from the appropriation for Chelsea North Temporary Bridge to the appropriation for Chelsea Bridge North, as requested in letter of this department, dated December 18, 1911, to complete the construction of Chelsea North Bridge will then require the additional sum of $95,000, this being the difference between the sum of $175,000, requested December 18, 1911, and the amount of the transfer above recommended.

Respectfully,
L. K. ROURKE;
Commissioner of Public Works.

Ordered, That the balance of the appropriation for Chelsea North Temporary Bridge be transferred to an appropriation for Chelsea Bridge North, to be expended by the Commissioner of Public Works; that the sum of $95,000 be and hereby is appropriated and added to the aforesaid appropriation for Chelsea Bridge North, and that to meet this additional appropriation the City Treasurer be and hereby is authorized, on the request of the Mayor, to issue bonds or certificates of indebtedness of the city to said amount.

Ordered, That the City Auditor be and hereby is authorized, with the approval of the Mayor, to transfer the appropriation for Chelsea South Temporary Bridge to an appropriation to Chelsea Bridge North.

President COLLINS—What is the pleasure of the Council in regard to the matter?

Coun. KENNY—Mr. President, I am going to move that that transfer order be now placed on its passage, and that the order looking for a loan of $95,000 be also given its first reading this afternoon. I should like to say in connection with these matters that yesterday I had a conference with the Commissioner of Public Works. I brought to his attention the fact that a year ago last spring the Council passed a loan order for $80,000 for a temporary bridge, what is called Chelsea South Bridge; that that loan had been negotiated, the money borrowed, and a very small fractional part of it, just a few dollars used, but that the money was now available and that the city was actually paying interest on that sum, $80,000. At the time of the passage of that loan order it was the plan of the Public Works Department to go forward with the construction of a temporary bridge for Chelsea South and also a temporary bridge for Chelsea North—Chelsea South being the first bridge after passing the navy yard, on the way to Chelsea, and Chelsea North being the long hridge beyond, running to Chelsea. At that time it was contemplated that a temporary bridge also be constructed to parallel the present roadway from the navy yard, or a point beyond the navy yard on the east, into Chelsea, at a cost of $250,000, and for the erection of a bridge at the channel through which steamers and shipping might pass, leaving the old roadway in an unused condition, which might possibly last for twenty years. I think this is one of the occasions we might refer to as showing the wisdom of the Council in refusing to adopt hasty action, for at that time, the time when we passed the $80,000 loan order for Chelsea South Bridge, and an additional loan order for a quarter of a million dollars was submitted for the Chelsea North Bridge, the latter order was rejected, the Council feeling that it did not sufficiently appear just what amount the City of Boston might he called upon to pay. Later on it was rejected a second time, if I remember rightly, with a recommendation that the Mayor go to the Legislature and ask for an act compelling the city of Chelsea and the railways that cross the hridge to make contrihution. That was also in connection with the Meridian Street Bridge, which occupied the same relative position, those hridges heing ahout to he constructed for the purpose of affording the railway companies an opportunity to send their heavy 42-ton cars across the bridges. After all this time the Commissioner of Puhlic Works, having made a very thorough study of the situation, having gone west, as I understand, on a tour of inspection, has reached the conclusion —and I think it is a very wise conclusion—that it will not he necessary to construct a temporary bridge in the manner in which it was first contemplated; that, instead of huilding this long parallel hridge from Charlestown to Chelsea, they will add $175,000 to the loan order,—which we have since passed, hy the way,—making $425,000, and for that money construct a permanent drawhridge under the direction and under the mandate of the government, at the location of the present drawbridge, placing there a suhstantial foundation, so that hereafter, in years to come, if it becomes necessary to rehuild the approaches to that drawhridge from either side it may he done and still retain the new drawhridge, which they are going to place on that site; that, pending the reconstruction of the present drawhridge and the installation of the new drawbridge at a cost of $425,000, there will bc a foothridge probably constructed, which will not he a very expensive proposition. You will remember that in the case of Dover street last year we appropriated $3,000 for a foothridge during the reconstruction of the Dover Street Bridge, hut the intention here is to place a foothridge alongside the new draw, which is to bc constructed, which will answer the purpose of pedestrians, and leaving it to the railway company, by sending its cars as far as the drawhridge, to operate its cars as at present over the main thoroughfare. So when the new drawbridge is completed, at a cost of $425,000, retaining the present roadway and not building this long temporary thoroughfare, instead of spending $2,000,000 as was at that time contemplated, we are going to spend $425,000, and we are going to subtract from that sum contributions from the railway, and we hope, from the city of Chelsea. The liahility of the city of Chelsea will he determined hy a commission appointed by the Supreme Court, application having heen made for the appointment of such a commission. In fact, I helieve it has heen appointed. I thought I would make this explanation and have it placed on the record, so that it may he understood hy everybody that the action of the Council in delaying this temporary construction a year ago last summer has probably resulted in the saving of a very large sum of money to the city. I would also like to add that the Commissioner of Puhlic Works informed me that there would be no immediate occasion for using the $80,000 for the construction of Chelsea Bridge South, that the work would not be taken up until after the Chelsea Bridge North had heen completed. Therefore, as that would prohahly he next fall, or at the farthest, prohahly a year from now, it was thought better to use the $80,000 and save the interest that the city would he paying on Chelsea Bridge North.

The rule was suspended, and the orders were given their first reading and passage, yeas 8, nays 0.

President COLLINS—The second reading and passage will be had not less than two weeks from to-day.

O'Brien, to be Weighers of Coal, Measurers of Wood and Bark, Measurers of Grain, Weighers of Boilers and Heavy Machinery, and Weighers of Beef, for the term ending April 30, 1912.

The question came on confirmation. Committee—Coun. Buckley and Hale. Whole number of ballots cast 8, yeas 8, and the several appointments were confirmed.

PLAYGROUND ACCOMMODATIONS, MATTAPAN.

President COLLINS called up unfinished business, No. 4, viz.:

4. Ordered, That, under the provisions of chapter 261 of the Acts of 1893, the City Auditor be and hereby is authorized to transfer the sum of twenty-five thousand dollars ($25,000) from the Reserve Fund to an appropriation to be expended under the direction of the Park Commissioners for Playground Accommodations, Mattapan district.

On December 29, 1911, the foregoing order was read once and passed, yeas 7, nays 2.

President COLLINS—The Chair wishes to say that word has come to the Chair indirectly, that his Honor the Mayor would like to have this order postponed until next year. The Chair is opposed to that action, for the reason, in the first place, that it may be of doubtful legality, on the ground that the end of this year marks the end of the city's business. But there is a second reason which is a more important reason to the Chair. The request is founded on the fact that some of the departments may exceed their appropriations. Accordingly, I call the attention of the members of the Council to section 3 of the charter, which says that the City Auditor, with the advice and approval of the Mayor, may at any time between December 1 and February 1, make transfers from any appropriation to any other appropriation. Any argument for delay, for those reasons, and particularly for the second reason, therefore falls to the ground. Therefore, the Chair wishes the order to pass.

The order was passed, yeas 7, nays 1, Coun. SMITH voting nay.

Later Coun. HALE said: Mr. President, I rise to a question of personal privilege. By reason of a slight wandering of my mind a minute or two ago I voted "Yes," on No. 4 on the calendar. I wish to change my vote and to vote "No."

President COLLINS—There being no objection the final vote stands six in favor and two against, Coun. HALE and SMITH voting no; and the order has taken its second and final reading and passage.

PASSAGEWAY, BLANDFORD AND BEACON STREETS.

5. Ordered, That under the provisions of chapter 261 of the Acts of 1893, the City Auditor be and hereby is authorized to transfer the sum of twenty-five hundred dollars ($2,500) from the Reserve Fund to be expended under the direction of the Board of Street Commissioners for Blandford and Beacon Streets, Passageway.

On December 29, 1911, the foregoing order was read once and passed, yeas 9.

The order was given its second and final reading and passage, yeas 8, nays 0.

FINANCE COMMITTEE REPORTS.

Coun. KENNY, for the Committee on Finance, submitted the following:

(1) Report on order (referred November 27) for loan of $100,000 for municipal building, Ward 17—recommending reference of same to the Executive Committee.

Report accepted; said reference ordered.

(2) Report on message of Mayor, communication and order (referred December 18) for transfer of $175,000 for appropriation for Chelsea Bridge North—that the same ought not to pass.

Coun. KENNY—Mr. President, that action necessarily follows in view of the action taken by that body on the Chelsea Bridge North and South transfers.

Report accepted; said order rejected.

(3) Report on message of Mayor and order (referred November 27) for loan of $50,000 for Children's Hospital, Consumptives' Hospital Department,—that the order ought not to pass, without prejudice.

Coun. KENNY—Mr. President, supplementary to that report I hold in my hand a resolution, which the Committee on Finance authorizes me to submit to the Council. It favors the establishment of a Children's Hospital in charge of the Consumptives' Hospital Trustees, and upon receipt of plans and specifications of the proposed hospital and definite estimated cost, it will pass upon the same without delay, providing the cost does not exceed $50,000. I will offer this resolution after a vote is taken on the report.

The report was accepted, and the order was rejected, without prejudice.

Coun. KENNY offered the following:

Resolved, That the City Council favors the establishment of a Children's Hospital in charge of the Consumptives' Hospital Trustees, and upon receipt of plans and specifications of proposed hospital, and definite estimated cost it will pass upon the same without delay, providing the cost does not exceed $50,000.

Coun. HALE—Mr. President, there was an understanding in regard to the amount, and I think that should appear in the resolution. I am surprised that it is not there. The understanding in committee certainly was that the Council put itself on record and pledged itself to appropriate an amount of money for a children's hospital building provided the plans were satisfactory and providing that the cost did not exceed $50,000. I think those words "appropriate the money," should be inserted, and that will bring the resolution into accord with the understanding in the committee.

Coun. KENNY—Mr. President, I see no objection to that amendment, but I would like to have the Clerk read the resolution as amended.

The amendment was adopted, and the Clerk read the resolution as amended, as follows:

Resolved, That the City Council favors the establishment of a Children's Hospital in charge of the Consumptives' Hospital Trustees, and upon receipt of plans and specifications of proposed hospital, and definite estimated cost, it will appropriate the necessary amount of money without delay, providing the cost does not exceed $50,000.

The resolution as amended was passed.

(4) Report on message of Mayor, communication and order (referred November 27) for loan of $15,000 for gymnasium, ward building, Ward 8,—that the order ought not to pass, without prejudice.

Coun. SMITH—Mr. President, this matter of finishing the wardroom over into a bath house is one that I have been very anxious to see go through, and I am sincerely sorry for the delay in the matter. The money for the changing was thought to be ample at the time it was granted. That was some time, I believe, over a year ago, and nothing definite has been done yet. The people of the West End need that bath house. There is nothing for them there in the winter time. The North End has a very large bath house, and such a place is equally desirable in both sections. The fault lies, however, with the form of the order, it being a loan order instead of an appropriation order—and I think the majority of the Council agree that in this case it should be an appropriation order. I sincerely hope the Mayor will see his way clear to sending us an appropriation order on this subject, as I for one want to see it go through.

The report was accepted and the order was rejected, without prejudice.

(5) Report on message of Mayor and order (referred January 11) for loan of $30,000 for purchase of wharf property on Condor street, East Boston, owned by the George E. Young heirs—that the order ought not to pass, without prejudice.

Coun. KENNY—Mr. President, the committee desires to have it understood that it does not at the present time take any adverse position on this order, but a number of members of the Board would like the opportunity of making further investigation. In order that that may be done we make this report now, to clear up our docket. But we hope in the very early part of the session of the next City Council to give this matter further consideration.

The report was accepted and the order rejected, without prejudice.

EXTENSION OF ARLINGTON STREET.

Coun. KENNY, for the Committee on Finance, submitted the following:

Report on message of Mayor, communication and order (referred December 29) for loan of $400,000 for extension of Arlington street—that the order ought not to pass, without prejudice.

The question came on accepting the report and rejecting the order.

Coun. KENNY—Mr. President, the Committee on Finance has really had the subject of the development of Park square before it in one form and another for a long time. A short time ago it considered the matter in the form in which it was then before us, calling for a much larger loan, and the committee at that time made a report to the Council rejecting the order, rejecting it so far as it affected the widening of Ferdinand street, and rejecting it without prejudice so far as it affected the extension of Arlington street. At that time, Mr. President, in submitting the report of the committee, I did so in the following language:

"The Committee on Finance, to which was referred—October 30—message of Mayor and order for extension of Arlington street and widening of Ferdinand street, having considered the subject, respectfully reports that the order ought not to pass, without prejudice to the Arlington street extension, and further reports, recommending the passage of the following:

"Ordered:

"(1) That the Street Commissioners, through his Honor the Mayor, be requested to report to the City Council the estimated cost of extending Arlington street from Boylston street to Columbus avenue at a width of seventy feet, under the provisions of the 39th amendment of the State Constitution, which amendment amends part 1, Article 10, of said State Constitution.

"(2) That the Street Commissioners and his Honor the Mayor be requested to report to the City Council the estimated cost of extending Arlington street to Columbus avenue, at a width of seventy feet, under other provisions of law.

"(3) That the Street Commissioners and his Honor the Mayor be requested to confer with the New York, New Haven & Hartford Railroad officials relative to any offset and contribution by said railroad company with respect to the carrying out of the project herein contemplated, under provisions 1 and 2 above, and report to the City Council in a further message accordingly."

That report, Mr. President, was further amended by one of the members, as follows:

"That the Street Commissioners be requested, through his Honor the Mayor, to ascertain and report to the Council the cost of widening Ferdinand street, from Columbus avenue to Castle square, under the 39th amendment to the State Constitution.

"First.—Eighteen feet.

"Second.—Thirty feet."

That report was made to this body on the 18th of December, and I assume that it came to the attention of his Honor the Mayor in due course; and still up to this time the requests numbered 1 and 2, and the supplemental request or amendment affecting Ferdinand street have been, so far as I have knowledge, disregarded. There has been nothing from the Mayor's office which shows that any attention whatever has been paid to the recommendation of the Council in the matter of ascertaining the cost of this proposed extension under the 39th amendment of the State Constitution, nor has there been any attention given, so far as I am informed, to the request of this Council affecting request No. 2—that we have a report on the cost of widening Arlington street under other provisions of law. This is a very important matter. It is, of course, a matter that affects everybody in the City of Boston, for it calls for the contribution by the city of something rising $325,000. That is to say, the City of Boston, under the most favorable financing of this project, so far as I can see, will be called upon to put up about $325,000. In that connection, Mr. President, I should like to say it seems to me there has been an absence of figures and an absence of a detailed statement as to this project itself, that the Council has not really been given, has not been afforded, the light and the opportunities which it might fairly expect in being called upon to pass upon so important a project. In a general way it has, but specifically, as affecting the estates on Boylston street and as to what contribution might be had as to the property in the rear on Providence street, I don't think there has yet been any detailed information given which will help the Council in reaching a conclusion. But, be that as it may, we do know in a general way that the city is being called upon to contribute about $325,000 toward the accomplishment of the extension of Arlington street. It seems to me that, after all, this is a local improvement. It is not a large comprehensive improvement that affects the entire city; it is not the extension of an avenue cutting from one part, one section of the city, into another section. It is not like Pleasant street, for instance; but it is, it seems to me, the development of local property. The fact that it is owned by a great railroad corporation has nothing to do with the case. That should not in the slightest way serve to prejudice the rights of the railroad. Nevertheless it is the development of a piece of land which belongs to the railroad and which, it seems to me, under all the circumstances, the railroad should take a larger responsibility in developing, so far as the extension of Arlington street is concerned. I agree that Arlington street should be extended, and I would agree, so far as my vote is necessary, to vote to contribute a fair amount of money toward the extension of Arlington street into Columbus avenue. But after very serious reflection and consideration, I do not think that the city at this time should be called upon to contribute so large a sum of money to the development of a piece of property belonging to a single corporation. On the 27th of March last a hearing was given before the Executive Committee of this Council at which Mr. Laurence Minot, Mr. Frank O. Whitney, Commissioners Gallivan and Dunn and Mr. John C. Kiley appeared. I think perhaps it would be illuminating for us to refer to what was said at that time by Commissioner Gallivan, who certainly occupies a superior position—I was going to say a luminous position—in the matter of the development of land in Boston. He has served as a member of the Street Commissioners for many years, and, so far as I have ever learned, he has rarely gone very far astray in his recommendations to his Board in matters of street development of this kind. Mr. Gallivan said, speaking on this extension of Arlington street, —and I quote literally from his statement:

"Well, if this land is going to have the splendid development which we have been told it is going to have, it would not be a bad thing for the public at large to have proper approaches to it. We understood that it was to have magnificent hotels, theaters and department stores, and the puhlic, of course, would have to have proper and reasonable approaches to those. I don't know whether any large sales have been made of their land, or whether plans have been madc for these department stores and for these other projected huildings; hut Berkeley street to-day, in my judgmcnt, is a good enough cross-town thoroughfare. You gentlemen are probably quite familiar with the fact that the city has already gone to some expense on Berkeley street for the henefit of these lands, and in that instance the Park Square Trust met us half way, although ahout twelve years ago the city lowered the grade of Boylston street and spent a considerahle sum there. Last year we passed an order, changing the grade and lowering it again; but the trust was willing, in order to have that done, to assume half the cost. But I think it is going to cost $15,000, about that, isn't it, Mr. Whitney?

"Mr. WHITNEY. Yes.

"Coun. BUCKLEY. Suppose, Mr. Commissioner, that the trust would he willing to bear half the expense of the extension of Arlington street, would that he of advantage to the city?

"Mr. GALLIVAN. You mean all the way through?

"Coun. BUCKLEY. Yes.

"Mr. GALLIVAN. Yes.

"Coun. BUCKLEY. Decidedly?

"Mr. GALLIVAN. Yes, I think so; but if they are only willing to assume half the expense of the extension as proposed here, to Providence street,"— that is, punching a hole into Boylston street,— "I still insist that I can see no puhlic advantage."

In another part of this report, referring to this subject, Mr. Gallivan said:

"We have had no requests from anybody to extend Arlington street. We had a puhlic hearing at one time in the Board of Aldermen's chamher, which was very largely attended, but there weren't very many speakers there, and there was not much information that came out at that hearing. Mr. Minot rcad a statement from the trust. The opinion developed from that hearing was that it would be a splendid thing to extend Arlington street clear over to Castle square, hut there was not a man who spoke, as I recall it, who wanted it stopped at Providence street. The idea then conveyed to the Board was that if the whole thing could be carried through it would be a great benefit to the city and to that section. We had quite a few property owners from that neighhorhood and some down at the other end, the Castle square end of the district, who thought it would he a good thing if we could carry the street clear over there. You have heard what this thing will entail on the city — not only the extension through these buildings and across Ferdinand street, hut the necessary raising of the grade of Providence street. Whether or not the Council is ready to horrow that amount of money, which will be over a million dollars, is, of course, a matter that is in their own hands. Personally, if you ask me my opinion, I don't believe that the extension from Boylston street to Providence street is worth a snap without the continuation through to Castle square. I think if the land which the Park Square Trust now owns on Boylston street, in the way of the proposed extension of Arlington street, with the huildings thereon, were given to the city for this extension, the city could well afford to bear the additional expense of laying this improvement clean across to Castle square. When I read in the papers that the Park Square Trust had bought those huildings, I supposed that that was their intention, in order that the lands which they owned, these Park square lands, might have a proper outlet to Boylston street. I supposed when they hought these huildings on Boylston street that they were going to come in and make a gift of them to the city, provided we would huild the extension of the street and absolve them from any ensuing assessments. But we have heard no proposition of the kind from them. But when I learned that they were the owners, that is what I expected would be done, and I also expected them to follow that up with a request that the city widen and extend Arlington street clear up to Castle square, which ought to he done, if these gentlemen would make that gift to the city; and, in my opinion,— and I am now speaking as an individual member of the Board, this not heing the Board's opinion,— I think the city might well make the extension, and I think that the Park Square Trust could well afford to make that gift. I think the lands that they own there would materially increase in value, if they would give those huildings on Boylston street which they own."

Now, Mr. President, you see what was in the mind of thc Street Commissioner at that time. You will see that he recognized that this was a large local land development on the part of the owners of the property, and that, so far as the extension of Arlington street from Boylston street was concerned, it was largely a matter which they themselves should take care of. I agree in that opinion. I agree, as I have already stated, that the city should do something towards the consummation of this project. Indeed, the city has already done something. We are committed, in a way, to the extension of Arlington street, for last fall we negotiatcd a loan and appropriated $25,000 for Providence street; and I am willing to go so far as to say that, under a more liheral proposition from the railroad company, I would be willing to vote here some money on hehalf of the city to hring about what is here desired.

Coun. SMITH—Mr. President, will the gentlcman yield to a question?

Coun. KENNY—Mr. President, I would rather not. I think we ought not to encourage these interruptions. I have some things to say here, and when I am through the memher will have every opportunity to answer. I think wc can expedite busincss much hetter if we avoid interruptions. Of course, if it was a point of order, I would yield, as I would he ohliged to, hut as for questions, I think they may he very well deferred. I am not prepared to say this afternoon how far I would go. I don't think I am called upon to say how far I should go. I don't think I should to that extent commit the City of Boston, as a mémber of this hody. But I am willing to make, so far as my vote goes, some contrihution towards the fulfillment of the wishes of all parties interested. We must rememher that every section of Boston has a right to he considered, that we have only a limited amount of money and that it is our duty, as trustees of the city, to spcnd that money judiciously and wisely in the interests of all, and not for the henefit of any one section, entirely to the exclusion of others, nor for the henefit of a great railroad corporation, which has at its command millions of dollars and which already has an investment at Park square which must in the course of time hring in large returns. Park square and that section of Boston are bound to progress. Land valuations have heen increasing in Park square and throughout that section, as I understand, for a great many years. I think, as I havc already stated, that thc railroad company should be given exactly the same credit and shown the same respect and consideration as any body of individuals. My vote to-day is not predicated for one instant on the fact that I am dealing with a large corporation. But I feel, in justice to the City of Boston, whose interests we are here to protect, that we ought not to be called upon to pass this loan order and in that manner bind the city to so large a payment for the development of private property. Before clcsing, I want to call the attention of the Council to an article which appeared in the newspapcrs of Boston of to-day, which was supposed to have emanated from his Honor the Mayor, in which he undertook to cast certain strictures upon this hody. I am reading from the Boston Journal of January 20, 1912:

"Last night the Mayor threatened that if the City Council did not pass the ordcr he would ask the Lcgislature not to spend a single dollar for Boston Harhor."

I do not charge the Mayor with that language; hut the following language appears to he quoted, and unless he dcnies it I think we have a right to assume that he gave utterance to what I am now going to read:

"'If the people of Boston,' he said, 'have not got hrains enough to see the need, the importance of this improvement, then I shall feel justified in going to thc Legislature and asking them not to spend a single dollar on Boston Harhor. How such a hody of men as the City Council can disregard the pressing need of this I cannot understand. This spot, Park square and the vicinity, has been a disgrace to Boston for the last fifteen years. The memhcrs of the City Council are not justified in opposing this improvement simply because Laurence Minot is the representative of the property holdcrs. The idea of the Ncw Haven making another concession is impossible. The Chamber of Commerce, after an exhaustive examination, was unable to obtain as low a figure as the city has now.'"

I suppose, Mr. President, that the first thought that the average citizen had after reading that language was that it must be that all the brains of this city are stored up in the head of the Mayor of Boston.

Coun. SMITH—Mr. President, I object to the gentleman's language, founded simply on a newspaper article, referring to his Honor the Mayor of this city.

President COLLINS—I suppose the gentleman is offering it for what it is worth—not as a statement of the Mayor, but as a statement purporting to come from the Mayor.

Coun. KENNY—Mr. President, I took occasion when I started to read this to say that it was taken from the Boston Journal and that it was quoted, and if the Mayor desires at any time hereafter to repudiate it I will retract what I have said. If he did not give utterance to what I have read, I am willing and shall be quite prepared and anxious to withdraw the remarks I have just made. Why, Mr. President, just see the picture the Mayor portrays here. Listen:

"The members of the City Council are not justified in opposing this improvement simply because Laurence Minot is the representative of the property holders."

Now, we have the boot on the other leg. For months—yes, for years—it has been well known, it is common knowledge, that the Mayor and Mr. Minot have not been very much in alignment. The Mayor has not at times hesitated to criticise Mr. Minot very severely. Now I say this, in all fairness, and I say it seriously,—if our position today had been the reverse of what it is, if we were in this Board advocating the passage of this loan order and the Mayor saw fit to be against it, to oppose it, what would the Mayor say? He would say that we were in here doing the bidding of Laurence Minot. That is what he would say, if such were the conditions, and we all know it.

Coun. SMITH—Mr. President, I submit that this is an economic discussion and not a campaign speech.

Coun. KENNY—Mr. President, I am not making a campaign speech. I have no occasion, Mr. President, to make a campaign speech.

President COLLINS—The question is on the acceptance of the report and the passage of the order. Anything that may be said on that subject is relevant.

Coun. KENNY—Mr. President, I have just finished my campaign, have made my campaign speeches, and before I will again have an opportunity to enter a campaign my friend on the left will have a chance to make campaign speeches. Mr. President, I submit that that statement I have read is not a fair statement to give to the public or to the Press of Boston. We are here charged with the same responsibilities as the Mayor of Boston. As I said in the campaign—if I may refer to it here—he holds one key to the treasury, we hold the other, and the lock will not yield unless both keys are inserted; and he cannot take upon himself the responsibility of charging us with failure to fulfill our duty, because we do not see fit to come in here and vote away the money belonging to the City of Boston. Mr. President, I have concluded. There is nothing further that I think of, that I wish to say at this time, unless something further is brought out by continued discussion of the matter. With this statement I submit the report of the committee.

President COLLINS—The question is on the acceptance of the committee's report and the rejection of the order.

Coun. HALE—Mr. President, I would like to have the question divided.

President COLLINS—At the request of the councilor the question will be divided.

The report was accepted, and the question then came on the passage of the order.

The order was rejected, upon a roll call, yeas 2, nays 6:

Yeas—Coun. Hale, Smith—2

Nays—Coun. Attridge, Ballantyne, Buckley, Collins, Kenny, McDonald—6.

Coun. HALE—Mr. President, I move a reconsideration of the vote just passed. I was somewhat surprised at the result of the vote and at the reasons given. Throughout I have not heard a word about the real question involved. There has been a great deal of talk about great corporations controlling large amounts of money, and there has been a great deal of talk about newspaper articles, campaigns and keys. But I have not heard any talk about the real question—that is, whether the expenditure of this $400,000 is going to result in a benefit to the city which makes it worth while for the city to spend that amount of money? I don't think we want to get away from that by entering into personalities or anything of the sort. The advantages which might come to the city from this expenditure of money can, I think, be classed under two heads. First, does cutting through this street open up another large thoroughfare for traffic? On that point I am perfectly free to confess that I do not go as far as most of the thoughtful men who have looked into this matter. People who have really given it study say that it is going to be a tremendous advantage in that way, that the citizens are going to use this street tremendously and that it is going to connect the West and South Ends and be of great advantage to the city as a traffic thoroughfare. I personally cannot see very great force in that, because I think that there are already two perfectly good thoroughfares, one in Berkeley street and one down Columbus avenue and through Charles street to the West End. Therefore, I do not lay very much stress on that argument, although I want to point out the fact that that has been an argument used by the Chamber of Commerce, by the special Metropolitan Improvement Commission appointed six years ago or so, and by the Metropolitan Plan Commission, I think. The other point involved—and you can call it local in one sense—is the question, what is going to be the direct result of the opening up of this street? Anybody who studies the situation, anybody who is familiar with the conditions in the business part of Boston, anybody who is acquainted with the real estate of Boston, knows how that property around Park square has held down the development not simply around this little square owned by this corporation controlling large sums of money, but the whole neighborhood, in the South End district, up and down through the district that my friend on the left (Coun. Attridge) comes from. He is much more familiar with that matter than I am. That whole district has been held down by the failure to improve this property which has been left there a drug on the market for years and years, and it has simply prevented that part of the city, the whole South End, from developing in the way it should. I don't know, Mr. President, whether you remember a couple of years ago a lady—I think she was president of the South End Improvement Association, or some such association—who came in here—I think the councilor on my left remembers her——

Coun. ATTRIDGE—Angelina R. Post.

Coun. HALE—That is the name—telling us pathetically how the people all around there were getting squeezed out of their equities by the gradual depreciation of property, how they were losing money. She told how they had tried to get back the money by putting up the rents and were unable to do so, and that the way things had been going on had left living conditions in the South End worse, more unhealthy for men, women and children. I don't know whether you were at the hearing, but she made a very eloquent appeal, an appeal that touched us all. I cannot measure the value that this improvement is going to make in dollars and cents. There is no way of accurately measuring it. There is also the question of the effect on human welfare and enjoyment of life, that we cannot measure. It is something that means the improvement of the whole economic condition of that part of the city. But I can measure almost exactly the actual cash benefit that it is going to be to the city on this particular triangle of land owned by this great corporation, to which we must be fair. Let us see, in the first place, what the cost of this improvement, for which $500,000 is asked, is really going to be to the city. I have estimated—and I think it is accurate—the loss of taxes on these three houses on Boylston street which we take, taking the figures on the tax list, at about $6,500. These figures are only rough, gentlemen. They may be wrong to the extent of a dollar or two or $100 or $200, but they are substantially accurate. The amount is about $6,500. Then, on the basis of this improvement costing us about $350,000—in other words, figuring a dead loss of $25,000 compared with what we ought to get, which is certainly a very fair way to estimate, and figuring 20-year serial loans—we got approximately an annual payment of $22,500. That represents the repayment of capital and the payment of interest.

In other words, if the city expends about $30,000 a year in the next twenty years, she will have paid for this improvement. Let us figure out how much she is going to get back. As I say, leaving out all these human advantages which we can all see, which we can all know, which the councilor on my left who comes from that district must know—leaving those out, dealing simply with the financial side, how much is the city going to get out of this? I have taken the number of square feet of property in that corner, owned by this vast colossus, this octopus stretching over the community, of which we all seem to be a little afraid, and I have divided that into this $30,000, which I figure is the cost; and I figure that if the assessed value of that property goes up in the neighborhood of $4.90 a foot the whole thing will be paid for. Then the question comes, will the cutting through of this street increase the assessed value of that property by more or by less than $4.90? On that specific question we have the undivided, unanimous opinion of all the men who have studied real estate most carefully in this city. We have the testimony of the Chamber of Commerce, we have the testimony of the Real Estate Exchange—which surely must know something about the matter. They all testify that the amount of value per square foot that this property will rise is far greater than $4.90. I know from the small experience I have had in real estate in different parts of the city how the development will increase the value. In the first place, of course there will be a tremendous increase in the value per square foot of the land, on account of the neighborhood being better; and, in the next place, those old buildings will be torn down and new buildings, as Mr. Gallivan says, will be built, expensive buildings. All that will help in the improvement of the property. In other words, gentlemen, the city will actually make a net profit on this business by spending $400,000. She will receive in increased taxes more than she is putting out in the next twenty years in order to pay for the interest and the capital and to make up for the lost taxes on this property on Boylston street. I should like to say on that, that the question of this Arlington street extension is really almost identical with the question of the widening of Union Park street. I should like to read, if you will allow me to do so, Mr. President, about ten lines of what I said about Union Park street. In my opinion the situations are almost identical. Of course, I do not believe in the traffic argument seriously in either case. But I said, when the matter of the widening of Union Park street was before us:

"My third, and much the most important, reason, is that we have the most definite assurance of Monsignor Splaine, who came before the Executive Committee, that if this improvement, costing about $75,000 is put through, the Archbishop intends to build on the widened street a model tenement house that, according to his figures, will cost about half a million dollars. That will bring into the city directly each year about $8,000, and in that way, looking at it as a pure business proposition, would pay for the improvement in ten years; and so I shall vote for the proposition, the same as I would if it was simply John Smith in the same way; although the benefit in this case will not be measured entirely by the fact that a model tenement house costing half a million dollars will be placed there, but there will be the benefit of the good housing that will be offered to people who live in that section and the example of such a place to the whole neighborhood."

It seems to me that exactly the same line of reasoning applies here — that the only sound, economic justification for the widening of Union Park street, which was adopted here practically unanimously, was because the city expected to receive and would receive a return in taxes. You may say that we are spending more money here. That is true; but, on the other hand, instead of a half million dollar apartment house, we are going to have several million dollars worth of property. In other words, the improvement that we get keeps in exact step with the money we spend or is even greater. I feel fairly sure of the reasoning I have given on this matter, first, because I think it is inherently sound. I don't think you can pick a flaw in it; I don't think there is a flaw in it. As I say, the figures I have given may be $100 too high or too low, but the principle is there. There is a second question involved. Admitting that this is all right, admitting that it is a good thing, we come now to the question whether we have made the best bargain, because, of course, if we can get this for $100,000 less, I shall be very pleased to get it. If we can get it for $200,000 less, or for any sum less, I would be glad to do it. But let us see how it actually works out. As the chairman of the Finance Committee has said, we have had knowledge for years and years that at one extreme we have had Mr. Laurence Minot and at the other extreme we have had Mr. John F. Fitzgerald. As the chairman of the Finance Committee has said, we all know that they have not agreed; we all know that they have opposed each other. We all know that they have attacked each other, wherever possible. And yet both those gentlemen now say that this is the best bargain that the city can make. There are just two explanations of that. One is that the mayor really thinks that this is the best bargain that we can get, and that Mr. Minot does. I cannot believe, and I do not believe any man here believes, that Mr. Minot — who has been president of the Good Government Association for years and who is supposed to be, and in my opinion is, a public spirited citizen — within six months of the time of his resignation as president of the Good Government Association has become something different from what he was before. I cannot believe he would come up here and advocate this thing in his private capacity if he did not believe it was a good thing for the city, or that he would do so as an agent, a paid tool, or hireling of this great corporation. I cannot believe he would come up here after all the talk he has given us about good government, and advocate something which is to the disadvantage of the city. As I say, either Mr. Minot, his Honor the Mayor, the Boston Chamber of Commerce, the Metropolitan Improvement Commission and the Massachusetts Real Estate Exchange, who have all studied this matter, really think it is the best bargain that the city can get — and they have given more time to the subject than any of us have — or else the suggestion that was made at the hearing by a gentleman in this city is true. I will quote from the statement of that gentleman on page 48 of the hearing in regard to the extension of Arlington street, held on December 12, 1911:

"I want to say that it is my candid opinion that these men" —and he is here speaking about men who control a good deal of property in the downtown business section—"I want to say that it is my candid opinion that these men also control, through their financial alliances, the Real Estate Exchange, the Chamber of Commerce, the Finance Commission of Boston, the Good Government Association, and there is a widespread belief—I hope it is not so—that they control this body."

I do not believe that that is true. We have these bodies, we have these men, saying that this is the best bargain we can get on this proposition, and urging us to appropriate this money to put through this improvement which is going to bring such inestimable benefit to the whole South End and which is going to bring back more money into the city treasury than we pay out. I do not believe that statement. One of the organizations mentioned by this gentleman in the little statement I have just read was the Finance Commission. How do they stand on this matter? On March 13, 1911, Coun. Buckley introduced the following order:

"That the Boston Finance Commission be requested to make an investigation and report to the City Council on the advisability of the extension of Arlington street, from Boylston street to Providence street, at an estimated cost of $800,000."

The order was declared referred to the Executive Committee. Then Coun. Buckley spoke, and with his permission I will read what he said:

"Mr. President, I move reconsideration of that reference. I introduced the order simply that we might have the benefit of the advice of the Finance Commission on the matter so that when we came to vote on it we might vote in an intelligent way."

Note especially that sentence—"so that when we came to vote on it we might vote in an intelligent way."

"Therefore, I move reconsideration of the reference and hope the Council will pass the order now. I don't see what harm can be done by that action, and we can thereby get the benefit of their investigation."

Reconsideration of the reference prevailed, and the order was passed. That was on March 13, 1911. We have received no word from the Finance Commission on this subject—and I presume, of course, that the Finance Commission knew that this matter was coming up to-day. I presume it is perfeetly safe to say, they not having urged us not to appropriate this money, that silenee means consent on their part and that the Finance Commission is to be added to these other hodies—the Boston Real Estate Exchange, the Boston Chamher of Commerce, the Metropolitan Improvement Commission—in favor of this proposition. I trust, gentlemen, tbat reconsideration will prevail, and that we will pass this order for $400,000.

Coun. SMITH—Mr. President, I am interested in this suhject for two reasons. The first is, because of the personalities whieh have been thrown out continually in tbis dehate so far in regard to the attitude taken hy such public hodies as the Finance Commission and others. The seeond reason why I am interested in it is that I think the city as a whole, and not any one locality, is to henefit hy the improvement. On the first point, as to the personalities and the puhlie hodies interested, I will say tbat I received the indorsement of tbe Good Government Association when I ran for office. I helieve in their methods. When their candidates were running this year I loyally supported them. I made statements in public that those men wore no shackles, had nohody's collar on them, and I sincerely believe that to-day. But a condition has arisen which demands explanation. When this subject was up hefore, the impression would have heen given to anyhody going into a committee room where we were deliberating that the majority of this Council were entirely in favor of the extension of Arlington street as far as Columhus avenue. Tbe only objection suggested to the order was as far as the widening of Ferdinand street was concerned. I would say that I, for one, and I think I can say it for the puhlie at large, got that impression. I don't know whether that impression was given honestly or disbonestly, but that was the impression that I got and that other individuals and the eommunity at large got. Between tbat time and this a curious ehange has eome ahout. I find that the majority of the Council is opposed to this. Of eourse, we bave had no deliberation on the suhjeet as a hody, and I presume it is due to some other influence. It cannot he due to the Chamber of Commerce, hecause Mr. Frederick P. Fish and Mr. Leslie Wead, sitting on their committee, decided that a hargain not as good as this was the hest one that could be obtained for the city at tbe time they were deliberating. It cannot be from the Real Estate Exchange, beeause we have before us to-day a eommunication from eminent citizens urging us to pass this. Now, where does the influence eome from? I like to go to the Finance Commission for advice, and every time I go I urge them, whenever they have any facts or figures on any public matter, to let me know, and I am as sincere in that statement as any memher of this Couneil. I understand that yesterday afternoon a majority of this Council, a safe majority, went to the Finance Commission—whether by tbe request of the Finance Commission or aeeording to an appointment that they themselves made, I don't know ahout that, and I don't care—and I attrihute this radical change in front on this great metropolitan improvement—and if I am wrong I hope somehody will deny it—to sometbing that was said at their meeting with the Finance Commission yesterday afternoon.

Coun. KENNY—Mr. President.

President COLLINS—Does the gentleman yield?

Coun. SMITH—If the councilor wishes to ask a question, I shall he delighted to yield.

Coun. KENNY—Mr. President, responding to tbe invitation of the memher, I simply desired to enter a denial.

Coun. SMITH—Mr. President, at the end of my speeeh he will have ample opportunity to deny or affirm. Therefore, I think it is worthy of attention that this change of attitude is due to some facts which bave heen laid before the majority of this hody. Thus far in the debate no facts have heen presented. If the Finance Commission have facts worthy the attention of the majority, why not consult the four minority? Give them the benefit of their superior advice, and I take it that even the minority might see the light. I have communicated my desire for information to the Finance Commission. To-day, learning the facts which I have just stated, that the majority of the Council bad heen in consultation with them, and knowing very plainly in committee about the change of front, I personally desired to get the facts which must have swayed this body. Of eourse, it could not have been because of a mere request that they do a certain tbing. I do not helieve that. There must have been facts. I therefore went and called up Mr. Sullivan and asked him if he had any facts on this suhject that he could give me. He said flatly, "No." I asked him if he had any advice. He said, "I wouldn't bave given you any advice unless you bad come to me." Whether he meant hy that that he had no adviee worth giving or that he did not intend to give me the advice, I don't know. Then he went on to say tbat it was simply a matter of opinion whether the city was getting a square deal in this matter or not; it is guess work; it is guess work for the majority of the hody or for the Finanee Commission, or anyhody that interferes in the matter; nobody can tell the amount of value to be put on the Park square land; there are no facts and figures which are now bcfore us; we have simply got to make up our minds as to whether that appropriation or that loan will bring ahout a corresponding benefit to the city. And he stated that frankly to me. Now, if that is the position, if there have heen no faets or figures presented to the majority of this hody to sway their opinion so radically, I submit that I tbink they are making a grave mistake in turning down this publie improvement. That is the first point as to the personalities which have entered in here. I wish that Coun. Kenny's remarks ahout the great corporation, the New Haven road, would be put in my remarks. They are excellent, and I agree with them in toto. But I deplore the part of his remarks where he attacks and lacerates the Mayor because of statements attributed to him in one paper in Boston. So much for the personal side of the thing. Now, for the henefit to the city as a whole. Coun. Kenny has claimed that this was just a local matter. Well, as a local matter, Coun. Hale bas dealt with it on a dollar and cent basis. Let his figures stand, or let us get up here and dehate them. But I think there is another side hesides the dollar and cent side, and the henefit of that immediate locality. I submit that this is of interest to the whole City of Boston. If it were not so, we would not have bad the Chamher of Commerce, the Real Estate Exchange and the Improvement Commission expressing the opinion they did in the matter. It is of interest to the whole City of Boston. Why is it of interest? You have a wedge-shaped piece of land in hetween Columbus avenue and Boylston street, two main arteries. You have coming into that same Park square, Pleasant street, which is to he widened—another artery. You have coming in there Charles street, another artery. Right in the center there you have a wedge-shaped piece of land that has been vacant for a generation. It has caused the whole South End district to hang hack. Thc term to which Coun. Attridge so much objects,—I suppose he ohjects because there is some measure of truth in it,—the "faded district," has heen made true largely hecause of the Park square land. We have heard a great deal of talk in Boston about radial highways. We are trying to make highways for our city. We are penned in in tbis little downtown district; we are constantly up against congestion. We are talking about Washington street arcades, ahout subways and what not, to get rid of this congestion; and at the same time we neglect a very ohvious opportunity to get rid of the congestion. Here is this wedge-shaped piece of land holding back not only the immediate locality, hut all the land lying beyond it in a widening segment, and that is why this is of interest to the whole city. I hope this Couneil is not going to deal with this matter as it seems as though it is now—that it is not going to first chop off the Ferdinand street end and then begin to dicker on the price after the priee has been a matter of dehate for a year. They don't claim that they are going to gain anything by this delay; they have not hrought forward an argument to show what they are going to gain by dclay, not one. In committee Coun. Ballantyne brought forward the following argument. I hope he will put that argument into the record. But, supposing he does not want to do so, for one reason or another, I will try to state it fairly. He says that the value of the Park square land and the value of thc buildings adjoining the extension of Arlington street are disproportionate, and that they should hear their proportionate cost of this improvement. He says that if we decide against this order and introduce an order for $650,000, the total expense, we will then force the Park square people to put through Arlington street, to cut up the land adjacent to the street, and we will then he enabled to levy on those lots the total assessments, the total hetterment charges. Now, supposing we do that? That is where his argument hreaks down, in my humhle opinion. He does not show that we are going to get from those lots, when they are cut up, any more than the $250,000 which the New Haven road is to he assessed under this plan. If he can show me or show any of us here where the New Haven road is to he ohliged to pay more than $250,000 under his plan, I will gladly adopt it; but up to date, he—at least, hy his argument in committee—failed to develop that point. He said he hoped it would be so. Instead of going on hopes any longer in connection with this great improvement, let us do it now. Let us stop procrastinating. When we are satisfied, as most of the people in the community are satisfied, that we have a good hargain, don't let prejudice against the Mayor of this city, don't let prejudice against Laurence Minot, don't let the persuasive talk of anyhody without facts—be it the Finance Commission or anyhody else—sway the majority of this Council to sit hack and procrastinate longer on what is of interest not to this locality alone, but to the whole city.

Coun. HALE—Mr. President, I should like to ask the gentleman who has just taken his seat some questions. First, as I did not quite understand your statement—did you say you telephoned to Mr. Sullivan and that he said he had an opinion on this extension of Arlington street?

Coun. SMITH—He said that he had a private opinion, but that the commission did not desire to express any opinion as a commission. His opinion was a private one, not hased on facts and figures, but simply on a feeling.

Coun. HALE—Did you say that he said nothing about this order of Coun. Buckley's that had heen presented—whether they had made any investigation on the request of Coun. Buckley, which was passed unanimously hy the Council, on this suhject?

Coun. SMITH—He did not refer to that subject at all.

Coun. HALE—Did he say, Coun. Smith, tbat he would not have given you the opinion if you had come there?

Coun. SMITH—He told me that he had no opinion that he would have given me, unless I asked for it.

Coun. HALE—One more question. Did you say that you understood the majority of the Council had a conference with the Finance Commission yesterday on this subject?

Coun. SMITH—I did.

Coun. HALE—That is all.

President COLLINS—The question is on reconsideration.

Coun. BUCKLEY—Mr. President, I shall be very hrief in my remarks. I have rather enjoyed the discussion this afternoon, and I hope during the coming year I shall enjoy a great many more such discussions. I was very much interested in Coun. Smith's remarks about the minority of the Council. I don't know just who they are, unless Coun. Curley and myself are referred to, and I don't think we are so dense that it needs much to make us see the light. I am glad, however, that there are a few more in this body who can be considered a minority with us, at times. With reference to that order introduced by me last March, it was introduced in good faith, wishing to get the information which we ought to get from the Finance Commission, as it is a part of the government of the City of Boston. But the Finance Commission never saw fit to report on that order; and to another order of a different character, which this Council also passed, introduced hy me, the Finance Commission never paid even the slightest attention. It is possible that they have never considered me a part of the city government of Boston, although I have been elected hy the people, the same as the other members of this City Council. It is certainly true that never during my term in the city government have I been invited to any conference by the Finance Commission of the City of Boston, although it is common knowledge that the other memhers of the City Council have heen so invited, and they are advised, as I understand, how to vote. However, I am glad that they are taking this position to-day, because it is the position I have taken from the start, and to-day I am glad to be considered one of the majority of the Council, so far as this particular improvement is concerned. I feel that way, because I helieve there are so many much more needed improvements in the City of Boston at the present time than this particular one. We bave had frequent hearings on the proposition, we have given it careful attention, I understand you gentlemen have heen very carefully instructed hy the Finance Commission of the City of Boston as to just what you should do, and I have listened to the very instructive remarks of the chairman of the Finance Committee on this matter this afternoon. I know that he very carefully prepared his statement and he enlightened me very much, so that as a minority memher of the Council I saw the light. I helieve absolutely that the Council is voting right this afternoon, and I want to congratulate the members that they are not controlled by anybody called the Good Government Association, that they are acting independently and of their own free will, and that they are voting as their consciences dictate here this afternoon, as I am doing. As you know I am very friendly to his Honor the Mayor, and I can say truthfully tbat he has not asked me to vote one way or the other on this proposition. So he certainly has kept his hands off as far as I am concerned, and I am supposed to he the only Fitzgerald man in the City Council. But I notice that when he wants the votes of the other members he can get them just as quickly as he can mine. In my opinion, while this may be a much needed improvement, it seems to me that the New York, New Haven & Hartford Railroad and the people who own that property where this street would he built ought to stand the entire expense. I don't see why the City of Boston should contribute one solitary cent toward the development and improvement of this property. It is those people who will he benefited, and they certainly ought to stand the expense for the entire improvement, and if the city is to contrihute anything, it should he a very small portion. I don't like to talk ahout campaigns, hut I also went through a campaign recently, and this was one of the issues of that campaign. I told the people what I thought at that time, and I think the people would a great deal rather see other improvements. I am not opposed to Mr. Laurence Minot, except to this extent, that I do not think he is a fair man, and I don't think he has changed so much in the last six months since he resigned as president of the Good Government Association. In my opinion he is now what he always was. He has not changed a bit. He is the same man and cannot be different. If this proposition were one that I believed would be for the hest interests of the City of Boston, if I helieved that the money would come back into the City Treasury and if I helieved that it were really a much needed improvement, no matter whether it was Mr. Laurence Minot or the New York, New Haven & Hartford Railroad back of this, I would be witb it to-day. But I don't think it is such a much needed improvement at this particular time. I helieve it can wait. I believe there are other more pressing necessities at this time than the extension of Arlington street. But if the Street Commissioners report that this is a much needed improvement, and that Mr. Minot, or whoever owns that property—the New York. New Haven & Hartford Railroad or somebody else—will contribute so much money, which I helieve should he at least something more than half the cost, I would be willing to vote for that. Certainly, however, the way this order comes in here to-day, I am not willing to vote for it, and I congratulate the majority of the memhers of the City Council that they are beginning to see the light and that they are voting independently.

Coun. SMITH—Mr. President, I am hoping for some real arguments here. I have heard Coun. Kenny in support of the rejection of this order, and I have heard him deliver an attack upon the Mayor. I have listened to Coun. Buckley, and all I heard from him was an attack on Laurence Minot. I want the majority of this Council to feel what I believe to be the fact, that the hurden of proof is upon them. This thing has heen hanging fire for two years. We have got a good, square offer. If they do not believe we have a good square offer, let them point out why it is not such. Don't stand up and attack individuals; get down to brass tacks and point out your reasons for voting against this order. Goodness gracious! We have recently acted on a contract here covering ten years and involving $3,000,000, and not a single memher who voted for it explained why he did so here, except Coun. Hale; and you propose to vote here to-day on a $400,000 order and not hring forward one argument, simply attacking men, resorting to personalities. I tell you that you cannot go on voting in this way in a cut and dried manner without giving the puhlic some reasons. This is not a local matter. The public are interested, and if Coun. Kenny, Buckley or Ballantyne have any instructive arguments, let us hear them. Give the people of the town the benefit of them. If you don't believe the price is fair, why isn't it fair, and what is fair? But you get up here and in a vague sort of a way say that the railroad ought to pay more, and when I ask the privilege of asking Coun. Kenny how much more he refused to allow the interruption. But he scents what I wanted to ask, because in the next sentence he says, "I don't think it is up to me to say how much more." When I ask for definite, cold facts I do not get them. We just get personal attacks. Now, this is not a matter of attacking persons, it is not a matter of personalities, hut it is a matter of dollars and cents and the interests of the whole city; and when you gentlemen come in here and vote in a cut and dried fashion, just as you did on the garhage contract, it is not right. It is not fair to the people of this town.

Coun. KENNY—Mr. President, I suppose that the memher on my left has said all he wants to say here this afternoon. If he has not, I will suhside and let him finish. The garhage contract—what has that got to do with this matter? As I recall the garhage contract discussion, it had extended over a period of ahout two years. We had numerous hearings, we heard the testimony, we listened to the arguments of counsel. I understand that the Council, one night when I was not present, sat here until after midnight listening to the evidence. I sat a whole afternoon listening to the arguments, and after we had heard the arguments and read the report we came in here and voted. I congratulate the Council that we are not a lot of talking circumlocutory idiots. I think that we exercised intelligence by our votes on that occasion. I, for one, thought that the commercial integrity of Boston was at stake in that matter, and I recorded my vote on the side which I thought was for the interests of Boston. Because I did not see fit to stand up here and continue a talk that had been going on for a year and a half, evidence and arguments, and hecause other members did not do likewise, the member—who for the first time this afternoon has actually held himself in restraint for ahout an hour—hreaks out into personalities. No member of this Board up to the present moment except himself has indulged in personalities. I argued the question on its merits—at least, I attempted to do so. If I failed, that is my fault. Let my confrères he the judges of whether I failed or not. It is not for him to say that I failed, simply got into personalities, in the attempt to draw me into further discussion. I said all that I care to say. Has he said all that he cares to say? If he has, let him vote, and record hy his vote his intelligence. He will be judged, I think, not hy his talk at these meetings from time to time, hut hy his vote. At the time when I came into this hody, two years ago, I attempted to exclude from the record these speeches, feeling that they might prove a hindrance, a menace to the proper performance of our duties here, a standing invitation to make speeches. A question is discussed hy the same memher several times. In most hodies, as I understand it, a man who has already spoken cannot speak twice until all the other memhers wishing to speak have spoken; hut here, time after time, members rise and discuss questions over and over again, and then they resort in the last minutes of the debate to personalities. My friend knows, and my friend from Ward 11 who sits opposite (Coun. Hale) knows—he has not said anything in that line, but he knows it—that I wear no man's collar; that neither the chairman of the Finance Commission nor any other man in Boston or on earth's green surface controls my vote in this body. The man does not live who can say so. I take orders from no man, and I shall take orders from no man while I sit here. I hold myself as a servant of the people, and I will not without entering my protest lose the opportunity which I now have of repudiating such insinuations as have heen made here. I hold myself here the humhlest memher of this hody, hut a servant of the people, wearing no man's collar, and any insinuation to the effect that I do is not prompted by honesty. It is a mere sham, a pretence, and has no place in this hody. We are here as trustees of the city; we are here to discuss the business of the city and to vote on the matters that come hefore us, and we are here to act as gentlemen. I hope that he will not forget what our duties are.

Coun. HALE—Mr. President, words, words, words! This question of the conference with the Finance Commission interests me, Mr. President. Possibly you can help me out on it. On March 13 a formal request for advice and assistance on this particular question at the hands of the Finance Commission was passed unanimously by the City Council. Now, as the facts stand,—I don't know whether they are true or not, hut they have not been denied,—the majority of the City Council conferred with the Finance Commission on this suhject upon which the Council as a whole asked advice. I don't know whether the majority got an opinion or not. Coun. Smith says that the chairman of the Finance Commission had an opinion one way or the other. The majority of the Council, however, went up to discuss the matter with the chairman of the Finance Commission and possihly other memhers. I suppose it is a fairly sure inference that the opinion of the chairman of the Finance Commission was expressed at that interview. It seems to me either that that opinion is worth something, or that it is worth nothing. Coun. Buckley and the whole Council on March 13, 1911, asked for help from the Finance Commission on this suhject. Now, if the opinion of the chairman of the Finance Commission is worth something, should not that opinion have heen given to all the memhers of the City Council? Are not Coun. Buckley, Smith and I entitled to get the henefit of the opinion? If it is worth nothing, let us judge in regard to that. We can tell by listening to the opinion whether it is worth something or nothing. But it does seem to me that it is either worth something—in which case it ought to he presented to the whole body, in reply to our formal request—or it is worth nothing; in which case, as I say, we should he given an opportunity to decide. If it is an opinion that they did not want to make puhlic, they might have called us into secret session. Star chamber proceedings can be had with nine as well as with seven, and there can he as little notoriety growing out of them with nine as with seven, six or five. But it seems to me all the memhers of the Council are entitled to this opinion, —whether, on the one hand, it is worth something, or, on the other hand, it is worth nothing. Now I pray for light in the matter from the President, who is always fair-minded and who, I think, will see the force of my argument. I should like to ask him if there was a conference between the Finance Commission and the majority of this City Council on this question yesterday and, if so, at whose request?

President COLLINS—The Chair will state that the chairman did not communicate with the Chair at all, directly or indirectly, and that the chairman of the Finance Commission has not, so far as I am concerned, ever indicated what he helieved to he his judgment on this proposition.

Coun. HALE—Mr. President, that was not quite the question.

President COLLINS—That is the answer of the Chair, Coun. Hale. The question comes on reconsideration.

Coun. SMITH—Mr. President, I still desire facts, because I am of open mind. Coun. Kenny has taken about twenty minutes earlier in the meeting in one speech, and has just sat down after speaking ten minutes more, and yet we have heard him indulge in nothing hut personalities against the Mayor. If he has any arguments, if he is willing to tell us why he wishes to turn down this order, I shall he very glad to hear what he has to say.

Coun. KENNY—Mr. President, hefore voting, I would like again, in closing, simply to remind the memhers of the Council that they are still waiting for figures and facts from the Mayor, under the propositions in our report made Decemher 18, 1911.

The motion to reconsider the rejection of the order was lost, Coun. HALE calling for the yeas and nays, yeas 2, nays 6.

Yeas—Coun. Hale, Smith, 2.

Nays—Coun. Attridge, Ballantyne, Buckley, Collins, Kenny, McDonald—6.

Report accepted; preambles and order read once and passed, yeas 8, nays 0. Assigned for fourteen days for final action.

(2) Report on message of Mayor, communication and order (referred December 18) for release of land on North Grove and Fruit streets — that the order ought to pass.

Report accepted; order read once and passed, yeas 8, nays 0. Assigned for fourteen days for final action.

Report accepted; order read once and passed, yeas 8, nays 0. Assigned for fourteen days for final action.

(4) Report on order (referred June 13) for transfer of city land on Shirley street to the Park Commissioners — that the order ought not to pass.

Report accepted; said order rejected.

(5) Report on message of Mayor, communications and preambles and order (referred December 18) for sale of land on Common and Warrenton streets — recommending passage in following new draft:

Whereas, The Board of Street Commissioners, under authority conferred upon said Board by acts of the Legislature of the Commonwealth of Massachusetts, did take for school purposes, by an instrument recorded with Suffolk Deeds on the twenty-eighth day of June, 1910, certain lands situate on Common and Warrenton streets in said Boston, including a parcel of land containing 1,582 square feet more or less, supposed to belong to George P. Darrow heirs and Mary C. Darrow, and

Whereas, The Board of Schoolhouse Commissioners, having charge of said lands taken as aforesaid has notified the City Council that in its opinion the above-mentioned parcel of land containing 1,582 square feet more or less, taken from said George P. Darrow heirs and Mary C. Darrow is no longer required for public purposes, it is hereby Ordered, That the Mayor be and he is hereby authorized in the name and behalf of the city and in accordance with the provisions of chapter 25, section 50, of the Revised Laws, to sell and convey said parcel of land taken as aforesaid from said George P. Darrow heirs and Mary C. Darrow for a sum not less than ten thousand five hundred dollars and for such consideration, and upon such other terms as he may consider proper, to execute in the name and behalf of the city a deed of said premises satisfactory to the Law Department.

Coun. BALLANTYNE—Mr. President, I wish to say that while I do not oppose the sale of this land, there is a slight difference of opinion on the part of the city as to the price that ought to be had for it. I shall be very glad if the city can get $10,500 for that lot of land, but the real estate expert of the city, Mr. Kiley, has looked into this matter very thoroughly, and seems to think that the price of $10,000 would be a good price for the city to receive for that property. As I understand, at the present time it is assessed for $9,600; it is bringing in a rental of $600 a year, I believe, and paying the city a net profit of about 2 per cent. Mr. Kiley informed the committee that, if we are willing to accept it, he thinks he can sell the property for $10,000, and that that is a good offer. He is afraid that if we put a higher price on it we will lose a prospective customer and that the property will lie on the hands of the city for a considerable length of time; that we will also have to spend several hundred dollars to bring the building into conformity with the building laws with relation to fire escapes, and so on. So I am in favor of the passage of the order in a form which will allow of the acceptance of the sum of money the expert recommended, $10,000.

Coun. SMITH—Mr. President, I would like to say just a word. We bought this land for $11,830, for the purposes of the High School of Commerce. We now have an offer of $10,000 for it. It seems to me, from my short experience in the City Council, that the city always gets stuck coming and going, that it pays more than other people when buying land and gets less when selling it. I think that in this case we might be getting what the land was worth at $10,000; at the same time, I would like to get $500 more, if possible. That is the reason why I made the figure $10,500. We will then be taking more than $1,300 less than we paid, even at the figure stated in the order. If we return to the Mayor's order, I want it distinctly understood that there is no price stated in the Mayor's order, at all.

Coun. BALLANTYNE—Mr. President, I understand that the intention is to put the question on the amended order.

President COLLINS—The question is on the amended order.

The amended order, as reported by the committee, was given its first reading and passage, yeas 7, nays 0, and will take its final reading and passage not less than two weeks from to-day.

Message of Mayor (referred October 30) in favor of accepting act for use of school halls.

Message of Mayor and order (referred October 9) for transfer of $13,000 for extended use of school buildings.

Coun. BUCKLEY—Mr. President, for my own information I would like to ask just what would become of the schools in case those ordinances are laid aside? That is, I would like to ask if the School Committee has the right to go ahead and allow school buildings to he used for any purposes they see fit, without an ordinance of this kind heing passed?

Coun. McDONALD—Mr. President, there is a bill in the Legislature to give them the right, and, as the City Council cannot give them the right, under the decision of the Law Department, we reported, "No action necessary."

Coun. BUCKLEY—Mr. President, it seems to me when that matter comes before the Legislature the City Council ought to be represented there and state its views on the matter of whether or not the school buildings should he opened for every purpose, or for what purposes they should he opened. It seems to me the school buildings are the most important things we have in this city, and I believe it is only right that the City Council should express its views at the State House, through a properly authorized committee, when the matter is up for hearing before a committee of the Legislature.

The reports were accepted.

(5) Reports on various papers—that the same ought to pass, viz.:

Message of Mayor, communication and ordinance (referred September 11) relative to the collection of refuse.

ENTRANCE OF GRAND TRUNK RAILROAD.

Coun. McDONALD submitted the following:

Whereas, The Grand Trunk Railroad has petitioned for the right to enter the port of Boston.

Whereas, The entrance of this railroad will mark a distinct step in the commercial development of this city; and

Whereas, The estahlishment of this new route to the West will mean the employment of thousands of citizens of this city; therefore, he it

Resolved, That we, the City Council of Boston, in meeting assembled, extend our thanks to the Boston American for its successful efforts in molding puhlic interests to the importance of bringing another railroad to Boston and its persistent fight to accomplish this end; be it further

Resolved, That we urge the General Court of Massachusetts to expedite the introduction of the Grand Trunk Railroad to Boston by favorahle action on the company's petition as speedily as the public welfare will permit.

Coun. McDONALD—Mr. President, I do not propose to take up the time of the Council at this late hour in an effort to show the Council why the entrance of the Grand Trunk Railroad into the port of Boston is a good thing for Boston. Some three months ago the Boston City Council adopted resolutions, in conjunction with the Chamber of Commerce and other civic organizations and the Massachusetts Legislature, in an effort to have the Grand Trunk enter the port of Boston. They have now petitioned the Legislature with that end in view, and I hope the City Council will go on record as favoring the entrance of the Grand Trunk in the City of Boston and asking the Legislature to suspend all necessary rules in order to grant the petition of the Grand Trunk Railroad.

The preambles and resolution were adopted.

CITY OF BOSTON.

Proceedings of City Council.

Monday, January 29, 1912.

Regular meeting of the City Council, held in the Council Chamber, City Hall, at three o'clock p. m., President COLLINS in the chair. Absent—Coun. Curley.

The Council voted, on motion of Coun. ATTRIDGE, to dispense with the reading of the records of the last meeting.

READJUSTMENT OF WATER RATES.

The following was received:

City of Boston,
Office of the Mayor, January 27, 1912.

To the City Council:

I beg to transmit a communication from the Commissioner of Public Works, who was requested by your honorable body at its meeting of January 11, 1912, to consider the advisability of a readjustment of water rates to consumers of a less quantity than 40,000 cubic feet.

Respectfully,
JOHN F. FITZGERALD, Mayor.

—

City of Boston,
Public Works Department,
January 25, 1912.

To the Honorable the Mayor:

In accordance with the attached order of the City Council, I would respectfully request that this matter of the readjustment of water meter rates be held in abeyance for the present year, which will give us sufficient time to study the data that will be available in East Boston. This division, as you know, comprises representative consumption of all kinds, and has been completely metered, our object in metering this section being to enable us to secure data to make an intelligent study of the whole question of meter rates.

Respectfully,
L. K. ROURKE,
Commissioner of Public Works.

Placed on file.

BUILDING LIMITS, HYDE PARK.

The following was received:

City of Boston,
Office of the Mayor, January 26, 1912.

To the City Council:

I inclose herewith a communication from the Building Commissioner, accompanied by an opinion from the Corporation Counsel, on the subject of the building limits in the town of Hyde Park. In accordance with the suggestion of the Building Commissioner I respectfully request your honorable body to establish building limits in Ward 26, as you are empowered to do by section 9 of chapter 550 of the Acts of 1907.

Respectfully,
JOHN F. FITZGERALD, Mayor.

City of Boston,
Building Department, January 24, 1912.

Hon. John F. Fitzgerald,
Mayor of Boston:

Sir,— The town of Hyde Park in its by-laws designated a certain area within the town in which buildings of a certain construction only would be allowed.

A copy of the opinion of the Corporation Counsel in reference to this restricted area is inclosed and at his suggestion I submit to you the propriety of calling the attention of the City Council to his opinion with a request that they establish a building limit in Ward 26, as they are empowered to do by section 9, chapter 550, Acts of 1907, such limits to be coincident with the limits established by the town of Hyde Park or in extension thereof as in their judgment seems best.

Yours respectfully,
ARTHUR G. EVERETT,
Building Commissioner.

City of Boston,
Building Department, January 23, 1912.

Arthur G. Everett, Esq.,
Building Commissioner:

Dear Sir,—Yours of January 22, inclosing copy of by-laws of Hyde Park, was received.

Section 15 and the following sections were undoubtedly passed under the authority of sections 1 and 2 of chapter 104 of the Revised Laws. The annexation act of 1911 is silent on this subject. Section 1 says the territory and its inhabitants after annexation shall be subject to the same municipal regulations, obligations and liabilities in all respects as the City of Boston, with some exceptions which are immaterial to this inquiry. Section 3 provides that the City of Boston shall succeed to all the privileges and immunities of the town of Hyde Park. The right to pass this building regulation was one of the privileges that the town had.

On the whole I am rather of the opinion that if the Supreme Court had to pass upon the matter it would decide that all Hyde Park was outside of the building limits, yet this construction is quite doubtful and I think your giving permits to put up wooden buildings inside of the limits defined by section 15 would be against public policy and the interests of the people who live in that section and had had to put up brick, stone or iron buildings in it. This being so, I would advise you to decline to issue a permit for a wooden building in this territory and to have the City Council, when it amends the building limits, include within them this territory in Hyde Park.

This subject should be brought by you to the attention of the City Council as soon as possible so that all doubt may be removed by having action taken on it by that body.

Yours truly,
THOMAS M. BABSON,
Corporation Counsel.

TRANSFER FOR COUNTY JAIL.

The following was received:

City of Boston,
Office of the Mayor, January 29, 1912.

To the City Council:

I am informed by the Sheriff of Suffolk County that the furniture in the apartments in the jail which he is to occupy has been removed. This furniture was the property of the late Sheriff Seavey and it now becomes necessary for the county to replace it in order that the apartments may be habitable.

I recommend, therefore, the passage of the accompanying order, transferring the sum of $1,500 from the appropriation for Reserve Fund to a special appropriation for jail furnishings, to be expended under the direction of the Sheriff of Suffolk County.

Respectfully,
JOHN F. FITZGERALD, Mayor.

Ordered, That under the provisions of chapter 261 of the Acts of 1893 the City Auditor be and hereby is authorized to transfer the sum of one thousand five hundred dollars from the appropriation for Reserve Fund to a special appropriation, to be expended under the direction of the Sheriff of Suffolk County, for County of Suffolk, Jail Furnishings.

Referred to the Executive Committee.

MORTUARY BUILDING, CITY HOSPITAL.

The following was received:

City of Boston,
Office of the Mayor, January 29, 1912.

To the City Council:

I transmit herewith a communication from the Medical Examiner for the Southern District of Suffolk County, accompanied hy a letter from Mr. Edward P. Dana, architect for the proposed mortuary huilding at the City Hospital. Mr. Dana states that the lowest hid which he was ahle to ohtain for the mortuary huilding was ahout $8,000 ahove the appropriation, and Doctor Leary recommends that hecause of certain modifications in the plan the sum of $9,000 additional he appropriated.

I respectfully suhmit the facts in the case for such action as you may deem proper.

Respectfully,
JOHN F. FITZGERALD, Mayor.

Boston, January 25, 1912.

John F. Fitzgerald,
Mayor of Boston:

Your Honor,—I inclose with this letter from Mr. Edward P. Dana, architect for the proposed mortuary huilding at the Boston City Hospital and commenting upon the hids offered the trustees of the Boston City Hospital for the construction of said huilding.

Mr. Dana's letter is self explanatory and indicates that there is need for an additional sum hefore the huilding can he constructed. Making full allowance for the possihle errors and hasing the amount on the lowest hid plus the additions indicated hy Mr. Dana, it appears hut $9,000 additional will he necessary.

In a previous communication from me to your Honor there was indicated the needs for such a huilding and the District Attorney of Suffolk County stated also his opinion of the necessity of the addition called for.

A consultation with the District Attorney's office or with the authorities for the defence in the Richeson case I am sure will demonstrate to your Honor the important hearings which the completeness of the medical case against Richeson and the exhihits had upon the final disposition of this case; which disposition in the judgment of the authorities saved the County of Suffolk the sum of $50,000.

I helieve that the additional sum required is necessary for the carrying out of this work and therefore request that the sum of $9,000 additional he appropriated for the purpose of constructing a mortuary huilding for the joint use of the Boston City Hospital and the Medical Examiner's Department of Suffolk County.

Yours very sincerely,
TIMOTHY LEARY,
Medical Examiner Suffolk County.

Boston, January 11, 1912.

Timothy Leary, M. D.,
Medical Examiner:

Dear Sir,— In reply to your request for information regarding the preliminary estimates for the addition to the mortuary huilding, City Hospital, and the discrepancy hetween these and the final hids, I have to say that on Novemher 27, last, I reported to the trustees that I had ohtained estimates from the W. L. Morrison Company, which, with incidental expenses chargeahle to the appropriation added, hrought the cost of the proposed work to $33,573.75.

I was then requested hy the trustees to ohtain estimates from two other contractors, and I consulted with John F. Griffin Company and McGahey & O'Connor.

The John F. Griffin Company suhmitted an estimate of $25,000 which, with the cost of the refrigerating plant, architect's commission and incidentals added, amounted to $31,725.

McGahey & O'Connor suhmitted an estimate of $21,200 which, with the additional items as with the Griffin figures, amounted to $27,725.

These figures I suhmitted to the trustees after checking them hy the square foot cost of the original huilding which totaled $24,975.

Under these circumstances I felt that McGahey & O'Connor's figures were conservative and so advised the trustees, who then authorized me to prepare the working plans and specifications for general hidding.

The Carroll Construction Company are the lowest bidders, their figure heing $28,108 for the mason, carpenter, plumhing and heating work; there remains to he cared for, the refrigerating plant, electric work, architect's commission, clerk of works and miscellaneous charges such as advertising, printing, etc.

I tahulate it helow:

Carroll Construction Company, general contract	$28,108 00
Refrigerating plant (York Refrigerating Company)	4,500 00
Electric wiring and fixtures	900 00
	$33,508 00
Architect's commission, 5 per cent.	1,675 40
Clerk of works, twenty-four weeks, advertising, printing, etc	750 00
Total	$35,933 40
Appropriation	28,000 00
Deficit	$7,933 40

The reasons for the excess cost over the appropriation, so far as I could learn from conversation with contractors, seem to he:

Insufficient appropriation for the amount of work called for.

The prohahle inclemency of the weather during which the hulk of the work will have to he done, causing loss of time and delay in the prosecution of the work.

The temporary partitions and protection of the work necessary to prevent interference with the use of the huilding hy the hospital and the Medical Examiner, which would not he required in new work.

That the plans and specifications were very carefully drawn is demonstrated hy the closeness of the hids, there heing an extreme difference hetween the eight low bidders of hut $4,523.

Provision was made in the specifications for using all the availahle old material from the walls removed, and such new work as was planned was of necessity in close conformity with that in the existing huildings of the group.

As hoth construction and design of the new work is so ahsolutely controlled hy the old, there seems no possihility of changing the plans to make any appreciahle saving.

Respectfully yours,
EDWARD P. DANA, Architect.

P. S. In addition to the ahove, I would say that the plans from which contractors make their preliminary estimate are necessarily vague, showing only in a general way the details of construction which enter into the cost of a huilding, and therefore a contractor will overlook at times items which might materially affect the cost, as undouhtedly did McGahey & O'Connor.

E. P. D.

Referred to the Executive Committee.

RELEASE OF RESTRICTIONS, SOUTH STREET.

The following was received:

City of Boston,
Office of the Mayor, January 22, 1912.

To the City Council:

I transmit herewith a communication from the chairman of the Board of Park Commissioners, under date of January 19, together with an order permitting the release of certain restrictions on apartment houses at the corner of South street and Arhorway. The present restrictions permit the erection of houses costing not less than $4,000 per suite. This is modified so as to permit the erection on the Arhorway of houses costing $3,500 per suite. Store privileges are also granted on the South street side of the property, and the present sethack is altered so that the owner of the property can huild 8 feet from the line of the street. In return for these concessions the owner grants to the city the fee of a strip of land 7 feet wide on the Arhorway side, containing in all over 1,500 square feet of property. A widening of the street at this point is regarded as urgently necessary and the transaction herein outlined hy the Park Commissioners would accomplish this result, with fairly equivalent henefits to the city and the ahutting property owners.

Appended hereto is a letter from Patrick J. Brady, containing his offer to the Park Commissioners, and a copy of the restrictions of Mr. Brady's land.

Respectfully,
JOHN F. FITZGERALD, Mayor.

City of Boston,
Board of Commissioners of the
Department of Parks,
Jamaica Plain, Mass., January 19, 1912.

Hon. John F. Fitzgerald,
Mayor of Boston:

Dear Sir—We herewith transmit an offer from Patrick J. Brady to give a strip of land 7 feet in width to widen the Arborway adjoining his estate, provided the city will construct the road to the new line with edgestone and modify the restrictions on his land so as to permit him to build 8 feet from the new line, to build a two-family house costing $7,000, and to use the South street front for mercantile purposes.

The Board is informed by the Law Department that action by the City Council is necessary to enable the Board to accept this agreement, which we believe is for the city's interest, and we, therefore, request that you lay the same before the City Council for such action as may be required.

A copy of the restrictions on Mr. Brady's land is hereith inclosed.

Yours respectfully,
ROBERT S. PEABODY, Chairman.

Forest Hills, Mass., October 11, 1911.

Board of Park Commissioners,
City of Boston:

Gentlemen,— I am forwarding you a rough plan for the improvement on the Arborway, between Washington and South streets.

At the time the Boston Elevated Railroad first laid their tracks on the Arborway I did not hear or know anything about it until all privileges were granted to them. I had no chance to protest against it. The great detriment it is to my property is there is no room for a carriage or a team to stand in front of my place when the cars are passing, and the noise that the cars make under the arch is so loud that you cannot even hear yourself talking. The cars run ten-minute time the biggest part of the day, and all the heavy teaming passes by that way between Washington and South streets, coal teams, stone, lumber and all heavy express teams, making a steady traffic all day and night. There is not another public way in Boston where there is more traffic in twenty-four hours than on the Arborway, between Washington and South streets.

On account of not receiving any concession at that time, I now ask for the same. I shall give a strip of land, 7 feet in width, the length of the Arborway, to widen it, so it will be passable, and so that I will be able to build some houses on the vacant land, if in return your Honorable Board will grant to me certain privileges. 1. To put in an edgestone on the side I give the land, and make the street. 2. To modify the restrictions so that I can build a two-family house, costing $7,000, and store privileges on South street for mercantile purposes only. 3. To grant me the right to build 8 feet of the line of the Arborway, and I will have the street and place looking nice, making an increase in the land value, instead of decreasing it. The assessors had to reduce it some years past on account of the cars.

Yours respectfully,
PATRICK J. BRADY.

Ordered, That the Board of Park Commissioners, with the approval of the Mayor, and by an instrument or instruments satisfactory to the Law Department, may, in the name and behalf of the city, alter and amend the restrictions contained in deeds heretofore given to the city by Samuel Bradstreet and Augustus B. Bradstreet of lots on the easterly side of South street, bordering on the Arborway, so as to permit the erection or placing upon said land of apartment houses costing not less than $3,000 per story for every 25 feet or less of frontage, and at the same rate for any greater width, with store privileges on the South street side.

(Annexed was a copy of land restrictions.)

COMMUNICATION CONCERNING INJURY.

The following was received:

City of Boston,
Office of the Mayor, January 27, 1912.

To the City Council:

I transmit herewith a communication from the late Fire Commissioner which sets forth the facts in regard to injuries received by Miss Anna Robertson as the result of the sudden swerving of a Fire Department automobile as she was proceeding to her home on Massachusetts avenue. Accompanying this letter is a statement from Miss Robertson's attorney, Joseph W. Bartlett, Esq., and a report of her case taken from the records at the City Hospital.

It appears that Miss Robertson has suffered a cruel and perhaps an irreparable injury. She was in the hospital for twenty-three weeks and two days, underwent several severe operations, and is to-day, a year and four months after the accident, unable to take a single step without pain. She is a young lady of exemplary character and was at the time of her accident filling a lucrative position. She has sustained a loss of wages amounting to at least $1,700 and has been obliged to pay a bill of over $500 for treatment at the City Hospital.

It is one of those cases that appeal not only to the sympathies but to the sense of justice of public officials, and I earnestly indorse the recommendation of the late Fire Commissioner that after proper investigation the City Council award her a liberal compensation for the injuries which she has sustained.

Respectfully,
JOHN F. FITZGERALD, Mayor.

—

City of Boston,
Headquarters Fire Department,
December 1, 1911.

To the Honorable Mayor and City Council:

Gentlemen,—I have the honor to bring to your attention the case of Miss Anna Robertson.

Miss Robertson was severely injured by the Fire Commissioner's automobile on September 21, 1910. The machine was proceeding from fire headquarters to the residence of the Fire Commissioner in Brighton to take him to a two-alarm fire. While rounding the S-curve on Massachusetts avenue it skidded, went up on the sidewalk and struck Miss Robertson, injuring her severely.

Miss Robertson was in the hospital for a long period of time. In my opinion she has suffered, through no fault of her own, very serious injuries which the city should properly indemnify in order that justice may be done. I have understood until recently that Miss Robertson preferred to obtain a judgment in court and take up the matter of settlement after that judgment had been obtained. After consultation with her, in order to avoid unnecessary delay of the law and to expedite justice, I recommend that the city government settle this case at once for a suitable amount.

Miss Robertson has brought suit against the Fire Commissioner and the driver of the machine to the extent of $10,000. She not only suffered physical and mental injury, but she has also been deprived of her savings and subjected to considerable hardship due to delay; therefore it seems proper to me that this case should be settled for a material sum of money, the amount to be decided after investigation by the various authorities whose approval is required.

Very respectfully,
CHARLES D. DALY, Commissioner.

(Annexed was letter from Joseph W. Bartlett in behalf of Miss Robertson and accident report from Boston City Hospital concerning her case.)

Referred to the Committee on Claims.

RESOLUTION FOR WIDENING NORTH BEACON STREET.

Coun. SMITH offered the following:

Resolved, That the City Council of the City of Boston are strongly in favor of House Bill No. 1285 for the widening and repaving of North Beacon street, Ward 25, by the State Highway Commission.

Coun. SMITH—Mr. President, this is a bill which was introduced in the Legislature by a representative from Waltham. It simply provides that North Beacon street be laid out, widened, by the State Highway Commission at their expense. The City of Boston has paid in the last fourteen years one-third of the highway tax of the state without ever having a dollar spent within its borders, because even Washington street, built under the Highway Commission, cost the city more than if we built it ourselves. We have contributed to the state highway fund $2,324,000, without ever having a cent spent in the City of Boston, and this bill provides that North Beacon street be done at the expense of the Highway Commission. I presume all of us know that North Beacon street is simply an extension of Beacon street and Brighton avenue, and the same avenue goes out through Watertown and Waltham, Weston and Lincoln, connecting those different sections. There have been resolutions similar to this passed by the City Council of Waltham, and the matter is to be brought up in boards of the neighboring cities and towns.

The resolution was adopted.

RESOLUTION FAVORING HOUSE BILLS 599 AND 1058.

Coun. SMITH offered the following:

Resolved, That the Boston City Council favor House Bills Nos. 599 and 1058, and urge the Legislature to pass the same.

Coun. SMITH— Mr. President, these two bills provide that the civil service shall be extended to the Treasury and Collecting Departments and to the Penal Institutions. The bills have been recommended by the Finance Commission, and one of them by the Mayor. The Finance Commission has been on record since October 24, 1907, in favor of these measures. The Finance Commission recommended to the Mayor and City Council on October 24, 1907, placing the Collecting Department under the civil service law. On February 27, 1908, they recommended to the Committee on Metropolitan Affairs the extension of the civil service law to the Collecting and Treasury Departments. On December 29, 1909, they recommended to the Mayor and Board of Aldermen the placing of the Penal Institutions Department under the civil service law. On January 21, 1910, they recommended to the General Court the extension of the civil service law to the Collecting, Treasury and Penal Institutions Departments. On January 20, 1911, they repeated that recommendation, and in January, 1912, they repeated the recommendation as to the Collecting and Treasury Departments. So we have continuous, constant recommendation of the measures. The bill regarding the Collecting and Treasury Departments has already been through the hearing stage at the State House, but I think a resolution of this body would be of some weight. The other one is yet to come up, not having yet been assigned for hearing, I believe. But there will be a hearing upon it in the near future, and I feel that this body ought to take action soon on the matter.

On motion of Coun. BUCKLEY it was voted that the resolution be referred to the Executive Committee.

STRIKE OF DOCK LABORERS.

Coun. SMITH offered the following:

Resolved that

Whereas, In the development of the port of Boston it is necessary to have harmony between employers and laborers, and

Whereas, The freighthandlers do now receive as much as similar workmen in other cities.

Whereas, The contention of the strikers is a matter for investigation, namely, that a small gang in Boston do the work which requires a large gang in other cities.

Therefore, The City Council of Boston do urge both parties to submit the question to the State Board of Arbitration.

Referred to the Executive Committee.

RESOLUTION CONCERNING LAWRENCE STRIKE.

Coun. SMITH offered the following:

Whereas, The strike at Lawrence is bringing the labor conditions of this Commonwealth into disgrace throughout the Union; and

Whereas, the mill operatives of the whole state are interested in this question; and

Whereas, The reduction of working hours in other trades has increased efficiency so that no loss of service resulted to the employers: and

Whereas, Under the present cost of living a reduction in wages would bring the standard of life below that desirable for citizens of Massachusetts; and

Whereas, The mill officials involved in the present strike have not shown a willingness to meet the operatives half way;

Resolved, That the City Council of Boston do urge the Lawrence mill officials to maintain the same scale of wages for a nine-hour day as was previously in force, or else to submit the question to their stockholders.

Referred to the Executive Committee.

EXTENSION OF ARLINGTON STREET.

Coun. SMITH offered an order—That the sum of three hundred and seventy-five thousand dollars ($375,000) be and hereby is appropriated to be expended by the Board of Street Commissioners for Arlington Street Extension, and that to meet said appropriation the City Treasurer be and hereby is authorized to issue bonds or certificates of indebtedness of the city to said amount.

The order was declared referred to the Committee on Finance.

Coun. SMITH—Mr. President, I move a reconsideration of the reference. I think that one word on this subject will be sufficient to call it to the attention of the people of this city. I believe that this matter has not been taken up in a thoroughly business like way by this body. We have not gone into the dollar and cents side of it as we should, and I merely want to ask for a square deal on our part toward this great railroad corporation which is seeking to develop a part of our city. If we are playing politics with this question—which is a great public question, affecting the whole city, it is just as bad as grafting. It is just as bad for the public of this town, if they are delayed in a great public improvement, and more so than it is for us, to steal petty sums from this city. In December, 1909, the first hearing before the Street Commissioners on the Arlington street extension took place. Nothing has been done yet. In March, 1911, the Finance Commission was asked by the Council to report on this subject. No report has been made yet. The facts are very simple and have been well presented. The Chamber of Commerce, the Real Estate Exchange, the Metropolitan Improvement Commission, have all passed upon the matter favorably one or more times. Why cannot we wipe out this tract which has been a disgrace to our city for fourteen years? I think the reason is very plain. It is because certain interests in this city believe they can squeeze more money out of the railroad. Let us treat them squarely, in just the same way that we do other citizens. The most that the city can charge for betterments on any street improvement is 50 per cent. In the case of Columbia road only 10 per cent was charged by the city, and 20 per cent of that amount has been rebated to the abutters. It is seldom that the city gets from any such improvement 50 per cent. In the Arlington street extension the railroad has voluntarily offered to pay more than 50 per cent —more than we can legally ask any citizen or group of citizens in the city to pay. The total cost of the Arlington street extension, according to the Street Commissioners, is $614,000, of which not more than $307,000 could be charged to the abutters. The railroad has promised $250,000, which is equal to $2.77 betterment per foot upon every foot of their land, be it front land or back land. All the abutters on Boylston street are asked to pay is $57,000. This falls on 29,200 square feet of land and amounts to only $1.95 betterment per foot of land. In other words, the railroad company has offered to pay a betterment which amounts to $2.77 of their land, be it front or back land, while the abutters on Boylston street pay only $1.95 per foot. This does not charge anything against any land except the land on Boylston street and the Park square land—and there is a direct betterment to the land all through that community. It would be a direct betterment to the land on Columbus avenue for several blocks. There is certainly a betterment to other land around the Park square lot, yet the Boston Consolidated Gas Company is not asked to pay a cent upon its gas meter, which is on the corner of Ferdinand street and Columbus avenue; and none of the owners on the side street adjoining are asked to pay a cent. I simply ask that we be fair as a Council to this great railroad corporation, just as fair as we are to the citizens of this town. When they volunteer to pay more than half the betterment charge, and we cannot legally force them to pay more than half, I think they are meeting us fairly and squarely. They are meeting us more than half way, doing more than we can ask the citizens of this town to do on similar betterments. I sincerely hope this matter will be taken up not in a spirit of personal animosity or politics, but simply as a great improvement of this city which is worthy to be considered on the dollar and cent side.

Coun. HALE—Mr. President, of course I shall vote in favor of the motion to reconsider for the reasons given by me at my last meeting. I have no intention to repeat them here.

President COLLINS—The Chair respectfully calls to the attention of the Council the fact that if reconsideration prevails and a reading were given to this order to-day, the second reading, under the charter, could not take place until at least fourteen days had elapsed. That will bring us into the new city government, and there will be a serious question on the part of anybody proposing to purchase the bonds as to the validity of the same. The only ground on which the bonds would be purchased is that this is a continuing form of government. I simply offer that suggestion to the Council for consideration.

Coun. SMITH—Mr. President, I appreciate the fact that there is a legal technicality here that would have to be straightened out first. The Corporation Counsel tells me that to a certain extent we are a continuing body, like the United States Senate, two-thirds of our number being constantly the same. I think the matter is important enough to warrant our consideration at this time, and I also think it is important enough to decide the technical question of legality, taking it up at the present moment.

Reconsideration of the reference was refused by a rising vote, 2 to 4.

CANCELLATION OF ACCOUNTS.

Referred to the Executive Committee.

EXECUTIVE COMMITTEE REPORTS.

Coun. ATTRIDGE, for the Executive Committee, submitted the following:

(1) Report on ordinance (referred January 20) relative to use of firearms — recommending the passage of the following:

City of Boston.
In the Year Nineteen Hundred and Eleven.
An Ordinance.

Be it ordained by the City Council of Boston, as follows:

Section ninety-four of chapter forty-seven of the Revised Ordinances of 1898 is hereby amended by adding at the end thereof the following words: Provided, however, that this prohibition shall not apply to persons engaged in trap or target shooting on the grounds of a gun club licensed to be used for said purposes by the City Council.

Report accepted; said ordinance passed.

(2) Report on petition of C. S. Day & Co. et al. (referred December 18) for reduction of rent of cellars in new Faneuil Hall market — recommending reference of same to the Superintendent of Markets.

Report accepted; said reference ordered.

(3) Report on message of Mayor and communication (referred December 29) relative to Dalton street footbridge — that the same be placed on file.

Report accepted; message and communication placed on file.

ORDINANCES.

Coun. McDONALD, for the Committee on Ordinances, submitted a report on ordinance (referred December 18) relative to receptacles for keeping of garbage—that the same ought not to pass.

The question came on the acceptance of the report and rejection of the ordinance.

Coun. SMITH—Mr. President, I think that one or two words in explanation of this ordinance are necessary, in case the Council has not got the situation definitely in mind. The ordinance is intended simply to take care of the covering of refuse and garbage. It also provides that the same shall be kept in metallic barrels. The latter is not important. The first a large number of people in this town consider extremely important. The unsanitary condition of our streets, especially in the crowded districts, is vital. It is due partly to the uncovered condition of the refuse barrels, which are heaped up to overflowing. It cannot be said that the Board of Health can take care of that situation, because in committee Mr. Jordan of the Board of Health told us emphatically that the Board of Health had nothing to do with refuse or garbage after it left the house. When it goes into the street they have nothing to do with it. There is no ordinance of this city regarding the covering of that refuse and garbage, and if we pass this ordinance it will give the police and the Street Commissioners power to correct these evils. The Board of Health has no power at the present time. I have presented to this Board a petition from the North End alone of about 150 odd names, made up of property owners, men of importance in that section, who desire this evil cured. We have also heard that the committee from the Municipal League represent another section of the town in connection with this matter, and I feel certain that if the people of the town were given a public hearing we would hear from every section a demand that refuse and garbage be covered, that the streets be not littered up and made foul by this mess. It is a perfectly practical suggestion, it is something that is not covered by the present ordinances, and I hope that the recommendation of the committee will not prevail.

Coun. McDONALD—Mr. President, the committee reported "ought not to pass" on the ordinance as presented principally because of the fact that the amending ordinance as presented was illegal. They had other petitions before them and they had two hearings, and Mr. Jordan of the Board of Health was before the committee. He said that the Board of Health was considering making regulations covering this same thing, that they were going to compel property owners to put their garbage, refuse and other matters in metallic receptacles and cover them. As they were considering the matter and as the committee did not have anything before it that it could consider, this amendment as presented by Coun. Smith being illegally drawn, the committee reported "ought not to pass."

Coun. SMITH—Mr. President, that is an absolutely mistaken statement of the facts. Coun. McDonald, I presume, knew that the first ordinance I put in referred to the wrong ordinance to be amended, but the second ordinance which I put in and which was before the committee was perfectly properly drawn and was turned down by this committee not because of any illegality but on the merits of the question pure and simple, and any evasion of that attitude on the part of the committee is skulking. The committee took squarely the attitude that they were not in favor of asking the people of this town to cover their refuse. I had an ordinance in there which asked for that, and which was amended by the committee to read "garbage and refuse containing garbage," leaving out the refuse. The committee rejected my original ordinance, amended the second to read "garbage or refuse containing garbage," and then even voted to turn that down. There can be no misunderstanding on that point. I don't want the committee to report as though they were reporting on a mere technicality, when they took a square attitude on the proposition itself.

Coun. McDONALD—Mr. President, I am a little bit surprised to see the gentleman on my right take the stand he takes to-day. He sat in the committee when the question came up as to whether this amendment he presented was illegally drawn or not. He agreed with the other members of the committee that it was illegally drawn and he voted that it ought not to pass because of the fact that it was illegally drawn. We then had another amendment that was presented to the committee from the Women's Municipal League, and the committee could not act on that because it had not been presented to the City Council and was not legally before the committee. As far as I am concerned I am ready to take a stand either one way or the other. The committee reported "ought not to pass" because of the fact that the amendment was illegally drawn, and the gentleman on my right agreed that that was so. We agreed that we would so report because of that fact, that the amendment was illegally drawn, understanding also that the Board of Health was trying to have action taken in the matter. Mr. Jordan appeared before the committee and told us that they had several cases in court, that the judge told them he could not find for them because of the fact that they had not made regulations, and he said that his Board were considering regulations covering the points asked for by the Women's Municipal League. If the gentleman says now that that is not the reason that we reported "ought not to pass" he takes a different stand from that taken by him in the committee meeting. We voted as we did in committee because of the fact that it was illegally drawn, and we all understood that it was illegally drawn. I as chairman attempted to have the amendment as presented by the Women's Municipal League put, to see whether we would adopt it or defeat it, and the question was raised that it was not legally before the committee because it had never been presented to the Council for reference. We understood when the report was made that that was the reason we were to make it, because of the fact that the amendment was illegally drawn. The gentleman agreed that it was so and he said that he was going to present some other amendment to-day. So far as skulking was concerned, I don't think one member of the committee was desirous of evading the issue. They were willing to take a stand. Everybody present expressed a position in regard to both ordinances before the committee. To state our position fairly, we were ready to report that the ordinance last presented ought to pass, as far as it referred to garbage or refuse containing garbage, but we were told that it was illegally drawn, drawn in the wrong way. Then we reconsidered our action and reported "ought not to pass" because of that reason and for no other reason. If there are any other amendments to the ordinance that he wants to present, I don't think there is a member of the committee who is not willing to-day or any other day to take a stand one way or the other. But I don't want him to come in here and say that any statement I have made here, that we reported as we have because the proposed amendment was illegally drawn, is incorrect. That was the understanding in committee. I am not going to have him come in here and make any wrong statements as far as other members of the committee or myself are concerned.

Coun. KENNY—Mr. President, I am very much astonished at what the member on my immediate left (Coun. Smith) has stated here this afternoon. My recollection is entirely in accord with what the member from Charlestown (Coun. McDonald) has stated. In fact, my recollection is that the member on my left voted in favor of this report itself, that it should come into this body and the matter be disposed of in this way to-day. I undertook to have the entire matter referred to the next city government and have made that motion in committee, and at that time the member on my left intervened, as he is very apt to do, and said: "Why not dispose of this at the next meeting?" He said: "I think this is illegally drawn," and I think it was improperly drawn. I think he had a perfectly legal right to draw improperly an ordinance if he saw fit to do so, but I think that was a very accurate description of it, "improperly drawn," and I think he so understood and admitted. At any rate, my recollection is that he voted in favor of the report that this should be disposed of by coming back here to-day with the recommendation "ought not to pass."

Coun. SMITH—Mr. President, it seems like a tangled matter, but it is all very simple. The ordinance which I put in originally referred to the wrong section. It was to amend an ordinance already existing, and referred to the wrong ordinance. I am not going to try to sidetrack that; I will take the blame for that, although I did not actually look the ordinance up. That was referred to the committee, and at my suggestion, finding out the mistake, the report was not handed in to this body. Then, as a member of the committee, I introduced an entirely new, separate, distinct ordinance, which called for all garbage, refuse containing garbage and refuse to be kept in covered metallic receptacles. That ordinance was voted down by the committee. First they amended it so as to cover only garbage and refuse containing garbage. They passed it in that form; then they reconsidered that and killed it, so that they killed it in both forms. They killed it referring to refuse and referring only to garbage. That is a plain statement of fact. If it is a wrong statement of fact I beg to be corrected. Of course, it brings out once again the fact that it is better to do things in open Board instead of committees, because in committees one man gets one impression and another another, as there is no stenographic report to check the thing up. That is a plain statement of facts. When we had a committee meeting the Women's Municipal League came before us, and they suggested a wording for this ordinance, and when they left and the committee went into session I suggested that their wording be added to the ordinance as an amendment. The committee sat there and voted it down. There were only three votes in favor of amending the ordinance as they suggested, and those votes were of Coun. Hale, Coun. Attridge and myself. Then there was some discussion upon the subject; Coun. Hale had to leave, and mine was the only vote in favor of it. If the Council wishes to dodge that statement of the facts it may do so. I stand here and say that those are the facts. There is no ambiguity about this. The ordinance which they have referred to as being illegal was entirely withdrawn and was not before the committee. There was a new ordinance, a new, distinct, separate ordinance, which they voted upon favorably and then changed their action and voted down.

Coun. McDONALD—Mr. President, I want to say just one more word. I have just consulted the Clerk of Committees and he says the proposed amendment was improperly drawn because it did not pertain to the ordinance that the gentleman on my right wanted to amend at all, and did not affect the situation one bit. That is what I thought and what every member of the committee thought. He says that is the situation and that is the reason of the recommendation "ought not to pass." The gentleman can draw a new amendment to-day and have it sent to the committee so that we can act upon it legally and in an intelligent way.

Coun. HALE—Mr. President, as Coun. Smith says, I had to leave at the last meeting of the committee, so that I did not hear all that was said. But, as I understand the proposition, there are two questions, first, whether we want to pass an ordinance covering all garbage and refuse containing garbage, and second, whether we want to pass an ordinance requiring all refuse to be kept in covered receptacles. As far as I went in committee I think the difficulty was that there had not been enough publicity upon the matter, that we ought to find out what more people thought. I think most of us were impressed by what we heard from some people who came from the North End of the city. I think, as Coun. Kenny suggested, that the wisest method would be to refer the whole matter to the next City Council with a request for a public hearing; and I should like to make a motion that this ordinance, together with the other ordinances before the Committee on Ordinances,—if this can be done in a parliamentary manner,—be so referred.

President COLLINS—The Chair would rule that the only ordinance before the Council is the one which has now been reported upon and which is awaiting our action at the present time.

Coun. HALE—Then I would move that this matter before us be referred to the next city government.

Coun. SMITH—Mr. President, I rise to a point of information. I have an ordinance in my hand which would cover the same point, and which I will put in, and I shall ask that that be referred to the next city government.

Coun. HALE—Mr. President, I would like to move that this ordinance which is now before us be referred to the next city government so that we may take no action for or against any ordinance on this subject until after we have had a public hearing. I think probably that would be agreeable to everybody.

Coun. BALLANTYNE—Mr. President, I oppose the motion to refer this ordinance to the next city government, for the reason already stated, that the ordinance is illegally drawn and refers to an ordinance that the gentleman who offered it did not intend to refer to. For that reason I don't think it should be referred to the next city government.

Coun. Hale's motion to refer the ordinance reported upon to the next city government was declared lost.

The report was accepted and the ordinance rejected.

KEEPING OF GARBAGE.

Coun. SMITH offered the following:

City of Boston.

In the Year Nineteen Hundred and Twelve.

An Ordinance to amend chapter 47 of the Ordinances of 1898, as amended by chapter 5 of the Ordinances of 1901, and as further amended by chapter 7 of the Ordinances of 1906.

Be it ordained by the City Council of Boston, as follows:

Section eighteen of chapter forty-seven of the Revised Ordinances of 1898, as amended by chapter five of the Ordinances of 1901, and as further amended by chapter seven of the Ordinances of 1906, is hereby further amended by adding to said section the following:

"No person shall place outside of any building or premises for removal any garbage, refuse or rubbish, unless the same is properly packed in tightly covered metal receptacles."

Referred to the Committees on Ordinances.

DISCHARGE OF FIRE COMMISSIONER.

Coun. SMITH offered an order—That the City Council respectfully request his Honor the Mayor to inform the Council whether he has any more substantial grounds for dismissing the Fire Commissioner than have already been made public.

Referred to the Executive Committee, on motion of Coun. McDONALD.

PLANS, ETC., POWER STATION, DEER ISLAND.

Coun. SMITH offered an order—That his Honor the Mayor be requested to furnish the Council with all plans, figures and specifications that have been compiled with regard to a central power station at Deer Island.

Coun. SMITH—Mr. President, my reason for asking for this is that a proposition has been put up by Superintendent Gore and has been acted upon by the Finance Commission, that then Superintendent Gore had an expert give his opinion in the matter, and I believe there are several papers before the Mayor on this subject. The idea is that the five existing power stations for light and heat at the island be consolidated into one. This will be an economy in the long run and it would have a more direct result. It would release from use several buildings which could then be used for the segregation of drug cases at Deer Island and the segregation of the more violent cases among the prisoners. This is a thing that I believe is to be very strongly recommended. When we had here last summer the conference of prison societies they looked over our penal institutions. Some very scathing comments came out in the Press relating to the fact that we congregated all the prisoners at Deer Island together in one large mass without making any differentiation between the young offenders, first offenders, cases of intoxication pure and simple and long-term hardened offenders. I think if the central power station, which is an economical scheme, goes through it will release several buildings which can then be made over into places where we can segregate several classes of offenders. I know the idea has Superintendent Gore's enthusiastic support, and personally I believe in it strongly. Therefore I have asked the Mayor to give us all the information possible on the subject.

The order was passed.

USE OF "CORMORANT."

Coun. SMITH offered an order—That the Finance Commission be requested to furnish the Council with an engineer's report as to the advisability of using the "Cormorant," now owned by the city, in place of the "Vigilant" for the same work.

Coun. SMITH—Mr. President, my reason for asking this is that the "Vigilant" is, in my humble opinion, entirely unsuited for the work it is doing. I think the accommodations for the men to sleep aboard that boat are absolutely disgraceful to the City of Boston, and that the boat itself, in my humble opinion, is not in good enough condition to stand the weather, especially in the winter. At the same time the city must look with care upon any matter of expense. We have to-day a contract which is going through in regard to the care of refuse which will relieve the City of Boston of all the burden of taking care of its refuse after it gets to the collecting station. Therefore there will be no further use for the boat which the city now owns, namely, the "Cormorant." That boat is now used to tow barges out to sea and dump the refuse. It is a boat larger than the "Vigilant," stronger, in much better condition, and it seems to me it could very well replace the "Vigilant" for the work the "Vigilant" is now doing. This would relieve the city of any additional expense for a new boat and at the same time give a better boat than the one now in use. I hope the Finance Commission in dealing with this matter will deal with it speedily.

The order was passed.

STATUES, ETC., FANEUIL HALL.

Coun. SMITH offered an order—That no statue, bust, picture or other memorial shall be placed in Faneuil Hall until ten years after the death of the person to be commemorated.

President COLLINS—The order will be referred to the Committee on Ordinances.

Coun. SMITH—Mr. President, this is exactly the suggestion which the Art Commission made on this subject. They set a period of ten years. The hall is almost full as it is. It seems to me a thoroughly worthy and commendable suggestion on their part.

President COLLINS—The order still stands referred to the Committee on Ordinances.

RECESS TAKEN.

The Council voted, at 3.59 o'clock p. m., on motion of Coun. KENNY, to take a recess subject to the call of the President.

The members of the Council reassembled in the Council Chamber and were called to order by the President at 5.35 o'clock p. m.

RESOLUTIONS CONCERNING CARDINAL O'CONNELL.

ATTRIDGE offered an order—That the City Messenger rope off such streets as the Police Commissioner may require on Wednesday, January 31, 1912, in connection with the arrival from Europe of his Eminence Cardinal O'Connell and the parade from the steamship terminal to his home, the expense attending the same to be charged to the appropriation for City Council, Incidental Expenses; and that the Police Commissioner be authorized to close to travel by vehicles, except fire, police, hospital and mail wagons, such streets as may be required for said parade.

Passed.

NEXT MEETING.

Coun. BALLANTYNE offered an order—That when the Council adjourns it be to meet on Saturday, February 3, 1912, at twelve o'clock noon.

Passed.

The report was accepted and the resolution adopted.

(8) Report on preambles (referred to-day) relative to the settlement of trouble between freight-handlers and employers—that the order ought not to pass.

The question came on accepting the report and rejecting the resolution.

Coun. SMITH—Mr. President, I introduced this in all good faith simply as a means of helping in the solution of the strike problem. I have learned from two members of the Council since introducing it, and while the matter was under discussion in the committee, that this would be an obnoxious way of settling the strike, as far as the strikers themselves are concerned. As both of the members referred to are in close communication with the strikers I am only too glad to withdraw the suggestion in that form. But it does seem to me that such a strike going on in our city—while there is no violence connected with it and will not be any, because of the nature of the men engaged in it—merits some attention at the hands of this body. It was first taken up by the Mayor, who made efforts toward arbitration between the strikers and their employers. It occurs to me now that the City Council might well offer its services to the two parties in order to help settle the matter in any way possible. It interests vitally a large part of our population and we servants of the people cannot help taking cognizance of the fact. I should like to offer an amendment to the last section, striking out in the last section the words "State Board of Arbitration" and inserting in place thereof the words "City Council for arbitration."

(The section referred to, as amended, would read as follows: "Therefore the City Council of Boston do urge both parties to submit the question to the City Council for arbitration.")

The amendment was rejected by a rising vote, 1 to 4, and the question came on the rejection of the resolutions, as recommended by the committee.

Coun. SMITH—Mr. President, I hope the Council will realize that my only object in this matter is to bring it to a conclusion, to bring the strike to an end satisfactory to both parties. I hold no brief for either party, and I am trying to view the matter in an entirely unprejudiced way. But it is something that interests us, and, the Mayor having failed in his efforts so far, it seems to me that the City Council might well interest itself in the matter. I should welcome any amendment that the Council might suggest.

Coun. McDONALD—Mr. President, I have not talked with any of the officials connected with the strike for the last two or three days, but I know that they are doing everything that they can to adjust their differences with their employers, and I would not want to vote here to do anything that they would not want me to do, as I think they have the situation well in hand. If they think that the City Council would be of service to them through the adoption of any kind of resolutions, or as arbitrator, next Saturday I may introduce a resolution, or ask Coun. Smith to introduce a resolution, along any line in which they may want us to help them in any way. I know that they would not stand for the State Board of Arbitration, because the Mayor suggested that down in his office, and they have come out in the newspapers saying that they would not stand for the State Board of Arbitration adjusting their differences. The steamship agencies say that everything is satisfactory there. If that is so we cannot get them to submit their differences to arbitration. But if the men who are on strike want the City Council to help them in any way, next Saturday I will guarantee to have a committee of the longshoremen up here at our meeting of the Executive Committee, and if we can be of any service I shall be willing to vote for any resolution for which they want us to vote, but I do not propose to-day to vote for these resolutions without knowing whether they want us to vote for them or not.

Coun. BUCKLEY—Mr. President, I agree and we all agree with what Coun. McDonald has said. We all have the interests of the city at heart and want business to go on as it ought to go on. At the same time these men have a real grievance and we ought not to force this on them, even if they want our aid. As Coun. McDonald says, if they will come to us and ask us to pass certain resolutions I shall be glad to do so, but I do not want to vote for resolutions here to-day not knowing whether the longshoremen want them passed or not. They are conducting this strike in a fair, open manner, and there are no acts of which they need be ashamed. We need not be afraid that things will not go on in a peaceable manner, and I don't think we have any right to inject ourselves into this controversy at this particular time and ask them to submit to arbitration, because they have always been willing to submit to arbitration. It is the steamship agents who are not willing to do that. At the same time it seems to me that the matter will come out all right and, as Coun. McDonald says, if they want our aid they will come to us, and if not we ought not to force ourselves upon them.

Coun. SMITH—Mr. President, I am going to vote against these resolutions now, because it has been suggested that the State Board of Arbitration is objectionable to the strikers and that they would not want to see resolutions mentioning the State Board of Arbitration go through. I had hoped that the Council would amend the resolutions in some way that would be satisfactory.

The resolutions were rejected.

(9) Report on preambles (referred to-day) concerning strike at Lawrence — recommending passage in following new draft, viz.:

Whereas, The strike at Lawrence is bringing the labor conditions of this Commonwealth into disgrace throughout the Union, and whereas, the mill operatives of the whole state are interested in this question; and

Whereas, The reduction of working hours in other trades has increased efficiency so that no loss of service resulted to the employers; and

Whereas, Under the present cost of living a reduction in wages would bring the standard of life below that desirable for citizens of Massachusetts; and

Whereas, The mill officials involved in the present strike have not shown a willingness to meet the operatives half way; therefore

Resolved, That the City Council of Boston do urge the Lawrence mill officials to maintain the same scale of wages for a nine-hour day as was previously in force, until they can submit the question to their stockholders.

Coun. SMITH—Mr. President, the hour is late, and I am not going to take up the time of the Council with any discusssion of this subject. I gave my reasons in the committee and I am glad that the Council agree with me. Most of them believe, as I do, that the employers will get just as much labor in fifty-four hours as in fifty-six. I believe that the efficiency will be so much greater that it will more than make up for the loss of time, and that the employers can afford to give the same wage. In that matter I draw my conclusions from a report of the Interstate Commerce Commission, under dates of December 14, 15 and 16, 1911, contained on pages 1158 and 1159.

The report was accepted and the resolutions were adopted.

(10) Report on order (referred to-day) for information concerning dismissal of Fire Commissioner Daly—that the order ought not to pass.

The question came on the acceptance of the report and the rejection of the order.

Coun. SMITH—Mr. President, I did not think there would be any objection to this. It seemed to me that it was not interfering in any way with the employment of labor, with the heads of departments or the administrative work of the city; that it was simply a plain request from one department of the city to another for information. If it does violate the charter I would be the last man to press the matter, but I cannot for the life of me see wherein it does violate the charter, either section 8 or any other section. If there is some question in the minds of the Council whether it does violate the charter or not, I don't see why it would not be pertinent to refer it to the Corporation Counsel. I am perfectly willing to do that. But all I asked was information from the Mayor of the city, just as we asked for information in regard to the annex to City Hall. We asked him then to submit to us the drawings and plans of the City Hall Annex, but we had no right to enforce such a request, and he paid no attention to it. So in this case, if we pass this order asking for information he might ignore it. I hope the thing will go through; or, if it does not go through to-day, I hope the Council will see fit in its wisdom to submit it to the Corporation Counsel.

The report was accepted and the question came on the rejection of the order.

Coun. SMITH—Mr. President, I would like to move that it be submitted to the Corporation Counsel for a reply at our next Saturday's meeting.

The question came on Coun. Smith's motion to submit the order to the Corporation Counsel for an opinion as to its legality before or at next Saturday's meeting.

Coun. McDONALD—Mr. President, I opposed that in the Executive Committee because I did not think we had a right to interfere with the Executive Department of the city, asking the Mayor to give any reason for either discharging or hiring anybody. I know what the Corporation Counsel would tell us, that we haven't any right to interfere, and what is the use of making ourselves ridiculous in the eyes of the public by asking the Mayor of Boston if he has any further reasons for discharging the late Fire Commissioner. It is none of our business and why should we do it. He gave what we thought was reason enough, and I think we ought to let it go at that. It is none of our business what he discharged him for. He employed him, we didn't employ him; he discharged him, and we haven't any right to ask him why he discharged him. Under the charter he has a perfect right to do it, provided he gives a reason, and he gave what he thought were good reasons. I am not going to vote to send this to the Corporation Counsel because it simply means delaying the matter, and we ought to dispose of it to-day.

Coun. Smith's motion to refer to the Corporation Counsel was lost by a rising vote, 2 to 4. The order upon which the committee reported was rejected by a rising vote, 4 to 2.

GENERAL RECONSIDERATION.

Coun. BALLANTYNE moved a general reconsideration on all business transacted to-day, hoping that the same would not prevail.

Lost.

The Council voted, at 5.55 p. m., on motion of Coun. ATTRIDGE, to adjourn to meet on Saturday, February 3, at 12 m.

CITY OF BOSTON.

BONDS OF COUNTY OFFICERS — VETO.

The following was received:

City of Boston,
Office of the Mayor, February 3, 1912.

To the City Council:

I return herewith without my approval your order, passed January 29, providing that surety companies may be accepted as sureties on the bonds of county officers at the expense of the county. Question has been raised as to just how the expense should be charged in different cases, and as the order is not specific upon this point I am of the opinion that the matter should be taken up and considered by the City Council of 1912–13.

Respectfully,
JOHN F. FITZGERALD, Mayor.

Placed on file.

To the City Council:

In compliance with an order passed by the City Council at its meeting of January 29, 1912, I transmit herewith a statement from the Penal Institutions Commissioner, accompanied by various documents, relating to the proposed central power station at Deer Island.

Respectfully,

City of Boston,
Penal Institutions Department,
February 3, 1912.

The Mayor of Boston:

Sir,—The order of the City Council of January 29, 1912, that his Honor the Mayor be requested to furnish the Council with all plans, figures and specifications that have been compiled with regard to a Central Power Station at Deer Island is received.

I have the honor to report that there have been no plans or specifications yet made.

I forward herewith a copy of the report from Mr. F. W. Dean, engineer, which goes into detail as to the necessity and expense of the same, and which he furnished me at my request. Also copy of report of Mr. Guy C. Emerson, consulting engineer to the Finance Commission. Also copy of reports of the Boiler Inspection Department of the Commonwealth as to the condition of the boilers. Also copy of communication to your Honor from the Finance Commission on the same subject, and a copy of communication from Mr. Dean in which he comments on the communication from the Finance Commission and its engineer.

Respectfully yours,
FRED S. GORE, Commissioner.

Boston, August 25, 1911.

Mr. Fred S. Gore,
Commissioner of Penal Institutions:

Dear Sir,—I have made careful examination of the steam and electrical department of the Deer Island Institution of the City of Boston for the purpose of determining its condition, distribution and economy in fuel and labor, and also for the purpose of stating the economy and cost of a new central plant.

There are several boiler plants at the institution which may be described as follows:

POWER HOUSE BOILER PLANT.

DESIGNATION.	Heating Surface.	Age.
One Campbell & Zell water tube boiler	About 1,500 square feet.	12 years.
One Campbell & Zell water tube boiler	About 1,500 square feet.	12 years.
One 72-inch horizontal return tubular boiler, butt joints	1,500 square feet.	5 years.

At this station two boilers are required at one time in cold weather, but as the mid-wall of the two water tube boilers requires rebuilding from time to time, both of these boilers are sometimes out of service, leaving the tubular boiler only for use. For this reason another tubular boiler should be purchased unless a central plant is built. The tubular boiler is built with butt joints in the longitudinal seams. These boilers are used throughout the year.

THE INSTITUTION BOILERS.

DESIGNATION.	Heating Surface.	Age.
One 60-inch horizontal return tubular boiler, lap joints	1,000 square feet.	27 years.
One 60-inch horizontal return tubular boiler, lap joints	1,000 square feet.	7 years.
One 60-inch horizontal return tubular boiler, lap joints	1,000 square feet.	7 years.

These boilers are used, two at a time, five months per year, beginning usually in the latter part of November. The steam is used for heating and cooking. During the time when the boilers are not used the necessary steam for the Institution Building comes from the main power house through a 3-inch pipe in an underground conduit of small dimensions.

These boilers are located in the basement of the machine shop which is close to and joins the institution men's prison. The building is not fireproof, is not sprinkled, and it subjects the main building to great danger from fire. In addition to this all three of these boilers are unsafe on account of the use of lap joints as noted above. This is true of the newer boilers as well as of the oldest one. It is well to remark here that it is only boilers with lap joints that explode.

THE HOSPITAL BOILERS.

DESIGNATION.	Heating Surface.	Age.
Three 48-inch diameter horizontal return tubular boilers, lap joints.	Each 560 square feet, or 1,680 square feet total.	26 years.

Two of these boilers are used simultaneously. They are dangerous, are a fire risk for the hospital, and should be discontinued. They are used in cold weather only, and at other times the steam needed at the hospital comes through an underground pipe from the main power plant.

WOMEN'S PRISON BOILERS.

In this plant there are three 72-inch horizontal return tubular boilers as follows:

DESIGNATION.	Heating Surface.	Age.
One 72-inch diameter horizontal return tubular boiler, butt joints.....	1,670 square feet.	8 years.
One 72-inch diameter horizontal return tubular boiler, butt joints.....	1,670 square feet.	8 years.
One 72-inch diameter horizontal return tubular boiler, butt joints.....	1,670 square feet.	7 years.
Total.....	5,010 square feet.

Two of these are used simultaneously in cold weather, and as they have butt joints they are safe.

OLD BOILERS NEAR MAIN POWER HOUSE.

There are two 54-inch horizontal return tubular boilers fifteen years old which are allowed to carry 84 pounds pressure. These boilers are never used unless something happens to those in the main power house. They have lap joints and are therefore unsafe.

There is one 15 horse power vertical portable boiler used for running a corn cutter.

ENGINES AND ELECTRIC GENERATORS.

In the main power house there are three high speed horizontal engines all of the same size and make, each direct connected to an electric generator. The engine cylinders are 14½-inch diameter, by 14-inch stroke. The generators are each of 75 kilowatt direct current and the voltage is 125. One engine is fifteen years, one fourteen years, and one seven years old. The engines and generators are not well adapted to the requirements of the service because they are all of the same size. The exhaust steam of these engines is used for heating.

MEN EMPLOYED AND WAGES.

The men employed in the different plants are as below. The service is twenty-four hours per day, seven days per week, and each man has an eight-hour shift. In the power house the intermediate fireman's shift is taken by a prisoner. There are spare engineers and firemen in order to give each man a day off every week.

NAME OF PLANT.	Number of Men.	Total Wages per Year.
Main power.....	Three engineers at $1,100 per year.....	$3,300 00
Main power.....	One relief engineer, 3 days per week, at $3.50 per day.....	546 00
Main power.....	Two firemen at $50 per month.....	1,200 00
Main power.....	Spare fireman, 2 days per week.....	200 00
Institution.....	Three firemen at $50 per month, 5 months.....	750 00
Institution.....	Spare fireman, 3 days per week, 5 months.....	125 00
Hospital.....	Three men at $30 per month, 6 months.....	900 00
Hospital.....	Spare man, 3 days per week, 6 months.....	150 00
Women's Prison.....	Two men at $50 per month, 7 months.....	700 00
Women's Prison.....	Three men at $50 per month, 5 months.....	750 00
Women's Prison.....	Spare man, 2 days per week, 7 months.....	117 00
Women's Prison.....	Spare man, 3 days per week, 5 months.....	125 00
	Cost of attendance per year.....	$8,863 00

I understand that the actual cost amounted to $10,418 for the year August 1, 1910, to August 1, 1911, but this probably includes other labor than that here considered.

Besides these men prisoners are employed for carting and wheeling coal and ashes.

Coal Used.

The following are the quantities of coal used per month at the different plants in the year August 1, 1910, to August 1, 1911, with various summations:

Cost at $3.25 per long ton, $14,530.75.

The Need of A New Central Power Plant.

A new central power plant is very much needed at Deer Island for several reasons, as follows:

1. Several of the old boilers are too old and of dangerous construction. The lives of the attendants and inmates of the buildings, as well as the buildings themselves, are in danger.
2. The fire risk in the "Institution" Building and the Hospital is great.
3. A substantial saving in coal can be made by a central and new plant.
4. A substantial saving in labor can be made by a central plant.
5. By placing steam pipes and electric wires in good sized subways they can be better taken care of than at present. Such subways are contemplated in the estimate given further on. The size is 6 feet high by 5 feet wide, although we have generally made them larger.

Proposed New Power Plant.

We recommend that the new plant be located on a site now partially occupied by an old wood building, a part of which has been used for a schoolhouse. This is more central than any practicable location, and renders it easy to construct subways to reach the various parts of the property. It is also more convenient than any other point to the coal pile. In many cases the old steam pipes and wires would be connected to the new system, and as much of the old pipes and wires as possible would be utilized. It is important that the plant should be entirely new with the exception of these parts, for all of the old plant is rather old, some very old, and much unfit for further use. In addition to this it would cripple the service if any part of the old plant were used in the new station on account of difficulty of insufficient power while part of the plant was being moved. Moreover a new plant should be up-to-date and complete, and specially adapted to future service.

It is proposed to use vertical internally fired fire tube boilers because they have no brickwork, because they are more economical than bricked-up boilers, because they do not lose their economy with age, because they superheat the steam, because they take up less floor space then horizontal boilers, and because they make a neater looking plant than a bricked-up boiler.

The brickwork problem at Deer Island is serious. It is done by prisoners, and bricklayers are scarce among them, especially good ones. The elimination of brickwork from the boilers at Deer Island is important.

The present engines are not well adapted to the requirements. There should be one engine large enough to carry the maximum winter load, two smaller ones and one small enough to carry the noon load. At present no engine is usually run at noon because each is too large. This causes inconvenience because some lights are needed at that time.

The boiler room will be located at one end of the power house and the engine room at the other. Between them there will be a room containing feed pumps, feed water heater, an induced draft fan, and probably the chief engineer's office.

The boiler house would be high enough to accommodate vertical boilers, and the engine house would be of the same height. The latter would be divided into two stories, the upper being used for machine and tin shops. This is important in order that the chief engineer's department may be under one roof, and under his immediate observation. Moreover, the machine shop would be near where most of the repairs, etc., are required. An elevator and stairway would connect the engine room, machine shop and basement where oil and some other supplies would be stored.

The table of coal consumptions during the different months varies greatly, and it is proposed to build a rather small chimney so that natural draft will be sufficient for the boilers in summer. In winter, however, the draft would be produced by an induced draft fan which would discharge into the same chimney, the effects of the two being added together.

A covered coal pocket alongside of the building is included in the estimate to contain a week's supply of coal. This is sufficient for the situation and none too large. This would be built of reinforced concrete in order to be thoroughly fireproof if there should be spontaneous combustion of the coal, but the building would be of brick, steel and wood.

Saving of Attendance in a Central Plant.

There would be the same number of engineers in the new plant as in the old. In regard to the firemen there would be the same number of regular firemen as are now used in the main power house. All other firemen would be selected from prisoners.

It is proposed to fire from coal wagons which stand in front of the boilers.

The cost of attendance would be, in the new plant, as follows:

Attendance and Wages for Central Plant.

	Per Year.
Three engineers at $1,100 per year	$3,300 00
One spare engineer three days per week at $3.50 per day	546 00
Two firemen for the whole year	1,200 00
Spare man two days per week, whole year	171 00
All night firemen and additional firemen for winter months to be prisoners	—
	$5,217 00

Annual saving in attendance, $8,863 — $5,217 = $3,646.

The small number of firemen in the above is further justified by the smaller amount of coal used by the new plan compared with the old, as follows:

Saving of Coal by the New Plant.

On a previous page we have given the amount and cost of the coal used by the old plants as 4,471 long tons per year, costing $14,551. The new boilers will save, conservatively speaking, twelve per cent (12%) of this, or, say $1,700 per year.

The total operating savings by the use of the new plant will therefore be as follows:

Saving labor per year, say	$3,646 00
Saving coal per year	1,700 00
Total annual saving	$5,346 00

which is the interest at 4 per cent on $133,650. We should judge that there would be some saving in insurance by removing the old boilers from their present locations, and there will be some reduction in repairs and depreciation.

Estimate of Cost of New Plant.

It is proposed to make the boiler house large enough to accommodate ten 175 horse power vertical boilers and put in eight of them at first. This would at first provide two spare boilers for winter use, six being in regular use in cold weather. The boiler house would be about 40 feet by 65 feet, the engine room and auxiliary room 40 feet by 40 feet, and the machine and tin shop 40 feet by 40 feet, all inside dimensions. The coal pocket would be 40 feet square inside. It would be covered in and be provided with openings on top, with covers and an inclined drive for horses and carts.

There would be four engines as previously mentioned.

Detailed Estimate.

Building and chimney	$37,400 00
Coal pocket for 250 tons	5,940 00
Eight boilers erected and covered ready for use	32,760 00
Smoke flue erected	1,800 00
Economizer erected	5,000 00
Induced draft fan	1,200 00
Galleries and stairs	1,000 00
Two feed pumps	1,100 00
Feed water heater	1,200 00
	$87,400 00
Engines, Generators and Foundations: One engine with 120 k. w. generators, two engines with 75 k. w. generators, one engine with 25 k. w. generator, all erected ready to run	11,930 00
Subways, 1,050 feet at $25	26,250 00
Piping and covering, including covering for flue	25,000 00
Switch board and wiring	14,000 00
Miscellaneous, including coal scale, coal cars, ash hoist, sprinklers, outside piping and sewer connections	8,000 00
	$172,580 00
Add about 5 per cent for incidentals	8,420 00
Total estimated cost	$181,000 00

If a subway should be run to the receiving house, one vertical boiler and one sectional heating boiler could be done away with, and also attendance six months per year at $65 per month, or $390 per year. The subway would be about 800 feet long and could be smaller than the others and would cost about $12,000 if it was made large enough to allow the pipe to be properly taken care of. It would also permit an air compressor to be placed in the central power house for furnishing air to run pneumatic tools for stone drills, chippers, hoists and miscellaneous tools.

If on further consideration this should be found desirable it would be worth while, if the central plant is to be built, to make a detailed study of the advisability of locating the central plant near the wharf and thus do away with horses and carts for coal and some other supplies. It might be possible to do away with the coal pocket included in the estimates. The first cost would not be materially different from that given in the estimate, hut some operating costs would be reduced.

The estimates have heen purposely made liberal on account of the high cost of doing work at Deer Island.

Respectfully suhmitted,
F. W. DEAN.

Boston, October 30, 1911.

Hon. John A. Sullivan,
Chairman Finance Commission:

Dear Sir,—I suhmit herewith the results of my investigation into the suhject presented in the letter of his Honor the Mayor, dated October 4, 1911, submitting the report of Mr. F. W. Dean, which emphasizes the risks of fire at the House of Correction and recommend the construction of a central power and heating plant at an estimated cost of $180,000. The Mayor requests that this commission investigate the proposition and advise as to the advantages which may he derived from it and as to whether the danger is so serious as to render necessary the outlay recommended by the engineer.

I have made a careful study of the report submitted hy Mr. Dean and have visited the premises at Deer Island. I am somewhat familiar with the conditions at Deer Island, having spent over one year there as an engineer connected with the building of the metropolitan sewer, and more recently having heen Acting Commissioner of Penal Institutions, in charge of the institution there.

Mr. Dean is an engineer who has specialized in the designing of mills and power plants, and he has invented an upright, internally-fired steam hoiler which hears his name. It is with great hesitation therefore that I am inclined to disagree with some of Mr. Dean's recommendations, especially those which call attention to the dangerous condition of the hoilers, the statements which seem to have especially disturbed his Honor the Mayor.

Some portions of the report made by Mr. Dean seem to me to he not sufficiently accurate to give a clear hasis for impartial judgment. On account of lack of limiting statements the inference can properly he drawn that the present steam plant at Deer Island is in a serious and dangerous condition. A statement is made without qualification on page 2 of the report that "the hoilers are unsafe on account of lap joints"; and again, that "it is only hoilers with lap joints that explode," and again, on page 3, "as they [the hoilers] have butt joints they are safe."

These unqualified statements give the impression that on one hand all lap joint hoilers under any conditions of use are unsafe, and that all hoilers with butt joints are safe under any and all conditions. As a matter of fact either type of boiler may be either safe or unsafe, according to its physical condition and the character of its service. It is prohahly a fact, however, that the greater percentage of hoiler accidents occur to the lap joint boilers and the construction of the lap joint type is not in favor with the authorities. The different forms of construction involved are as follows:

Lap joints, so called, are those in which the edges of the metal plates composing the hoiler shell are lapped over one another and fastened together by rivets passing through hoth plates. In hutt joints, on the other hand, the edges of the plates are hrought together with their surfaces flush with each other and the connection is made by straps of boiler plate of suitahle dimensions placed on each side, the rivets heing driven completely through both the straps and the shell plates. Butt joints furnish the stronger form of construction on account of the fact that the strains in the metal plates are equal in all parts of the metal and directly in the line of the plates. The rivets, also, being supported at both ends, are in so-called double sheer and have nearly twice the resisting power of the same size rivets in single shear, as in lap joints. Lap joints have also a serious weakness on account of a bending at the joints under pressure, due to the necessary deviation from a true circle of the riveted portion. With the lap joints the flat sections where the joint is riveted tend to take a circular form under the internal pressure from steam and return to the flat condition when the pressure is released. Such construction for longitudinal joints is therefore prohibited hy the Massachusetts laws for boilers over 54 inches in diameter. Nevertheless, under low pressure with small variations of pressure, lap joints are safe for all practical purposes and are in general use.

There may he, however, conditions where butt oints are unsafe. No radical and unqualified statement should be made without taking into consideration all limiting conditions and treating each case independently on its merits. The reports of the District Police, Boiler Inspection Department, copies of which are hereto appended, do not show any cause for alarm as regards the conditions of the hoilers at the House of Correction. All boilers seem to he well within the limits established as safe for the duties which they perform, and in addition to the ample margin of safety allowed by the hoiler inspectors there is still an additional margin of safety from the fact that the hoilers are not worked to near the pressure allowed, as shown hy the letter of the Commissioner of Penal Institutions, a copy of which is hereto appended.

It is an undouhted fact that modern practice in the construction of large institutions with collections of huildings is to build a separate plant for furnishing power, heat and light to the various huildings in the group. Economy of land and interior space is thereby ohtained, as well as an economy and increased efficiency of operation and in some cases a reduction of the fire hazard. Recent near-hy examples are the Art Museum and the collection of huildings comprising the Harvard Medical School. It has also heen for a long period the practice in mill construction to place the hoiler house in a location separate from the main structure, on account of the lessened fire risk.

If the Deer Island institution were to he entirely reconstructed, there would he little douht ahout the advisahility of a central power plant, hut this idea has already heen carried out there to a certain extent, as is shown hy the fact that the hoilers carrying the higher pressure are already in an independent building separate from the main institutions, and the hoilers located in the fire rooms connected with the various institution huildings are those used for power, under comparatively low pressures, and those which are operated for heating purposes only during a portion of the year.

The fire rooms connected with the various institution buildings, with one exception, are fireproof structures, except the roofs, and practically separate from the main buildings. The exception noted is the hospital huilding, the boiler heing in the hasement of one portion of the huilding. The hospital huilding is a one-story, wooden structure, huilt with a large number of wings and covering a large area of ground. There is no douht some fire hazard in connection with this huilding, but as the hoilers are operated at a low pressure, and for a portion of the year only, the risk is small and the actual danger to life is small, due to the peculiar design of the structure which allows easy means of escape for the inmates and also ease in fighting the fire. All of the other huildings which have hoilers connected are of hrick and more or less fireproof in their construction. It is prohahle that if the entire inflammahle portion of their respective fire rooms were burned little damage would he done to the main building.

It should also he considered that a central plant has disadvantages, on account of the fact that an accident or fire may disahle the entire plant and stop all operations, whereas only a small portion would in any reasonable probahility be out of commission at any time under the present system. The prohlem of so designing a plant that the steam can he used from the same hoilers at the different pressures necessary for power and for heating purposes is a considerahle one and with the best design some hazards are introduced and, on account of such possihle complications, I douht that firemen, or employees with similar duties, could he entirely dispensed with at the different buildings, as proposed by Mr. Dean. It therefore seems to me prohahle that his estimated saving in the lahor there would prove to be excessive under actual working conditions. On account of the ahsence of plans and the general nature of Mr. Dean's report no exact analysis or criticism of his report is possible, but the estimated cost of a new plan furnished hy Mr. Dean seems reasonahle and, although in my opinion somewhat low for general conditions, might he ample for the purpose at Deer Island, where prison lahor can he utilized to a considerable extent, especially in the digging for the foundations and in the construction of the transmission conduits. The changes which I should suggest regarding his estimate, moreover, would be entirely to cheapen the cost of construction. These suggestions may not be important at the present time, but some of them may be noted, as follows:

The recommendation of Mr. Dean that none of the old material be used in the new plant seems of doubtful advisability. Some of the boilers in the old plant are comparatively new and it seems as if they might well be utilized. Mr. Dean proposes two new 75 kilowatt generators, although the city already has in operation two generators of exactly the same size, with engine connected, which should be continued in use if in good condition. The installation of a small engine with a 25 kilowatt generator to run during the noon at a cost of $11,930 seems to be of doubtful advisability, and the probability is that the fixed charges would be very large for the benefit derived.

The brickwork problem at Deer Island is, in my opinion, not as serious as Mr. Dean anticipates. At one time I had supervision of the construction of more than 2,000 cubic yards of brickwork at Deer Island, the larger part of which was done by prison labor, and there is little doubt that ample prison labor could be obtained to build the very small amount of brickwork required for boiler foundations, if it were considered desirable to employ such labor.

As regards the type of boiler favored by Mr. Dean, some of his statements regarding the advantages of upright boilers are open to discussion, to say the least, and others do not seem essential, as regards the proposed plant; and it is no discredit to Mr. Dean to say that he has the reputation of being somewhat prejudiced towards the type of boiler which he recommends, a very efficient model of which he has developed.

The proposition to furnish compressed air to the stone cutting plant at Deer Island opens up another question than that of the decrease in cost of manufacturing the cut stone and the increase in output. The purpose of the stone yard at Deer Island is understood to be not for a successful manufacturing plant, but to furnish hard labor to the more hardened criminals there confined, and the need seems to be to furnish such labor, rather than to ease the manual labor performed in the various operations. The production of a large amount of cut stone seems to be a minor consideration, and it seems to me very doubtful whether the installation of labor saving machinery would be advisable.

As regards the conclusions by Mr. Dean on page 7 of his report:

1. I differ from him in the statement that the boilers are of too old and dangerous construction, or that the lives of the inmates of the buildings, or the buildings themselves, are in any special danger.

2. In my opinion the statement that the fire risk from the boilers is great is somewhat of an exaggeration and, although there may be some risk, it is not greater than it has been during the existence of the institution, and the later structures are practically fireproof.

3. As to the correctness of his third conclusion, that a substantial saving in the amount of coal used can be made by a new plant, I have doubts, and am inclined to the opinion that the loss of heat by radiation from the type of boiler proposed by Mr. Dean, combined with the loss in the long transmission lines necessary, would in a considerable measure offset any economies in the amount of fuel.

4. I agree with his fourth statement that a substantial theoretical saving can be made in labor costs, although I think the estimate is excessive.

5. I also agree with his fifth statement regarding better care that can be taken of steam pipes and electric wires in the subway, a matter, however, of comparatively small importance.

On the whole, in my opinion, the commission can safely assure his Honor that the danger at Deer Island is not so serious as to render the construction of a central plant for light, heat and power necessary at present. In my opinion it would be impossible, even if the most rigid economy were observed as to the design and construction of a new plant, to reduce the annual expense, including interest and sinking fund charges to so low a figure as the cost of maintaining the present plant. It is true, however, that with a new plant the fire risk would be slightly decreased and additional accommodations would be secured in some of the buildings already erected. It does not appear, however, that such increased accommodations would be of any great value at the present time.

It is extremely difficult to prepare a reliable estimate for comparison of the probable cost of a new plant with the cost of the present plant, on account of the fact that detailed figures of the cost of operation and repairs of the present plant are not readily available, and on account of the fact that the plant at Deer Island is peculiar in that its duties are very light compared with those of similar plants in other localities, much of the apparatus being used only for a portion of the year. Therefore the standard figures of depreciation usually applied to such plants must be reduced to suit Deer Island conditions. I am of the opinion that an average sum of $3,500 yearly would be ample to pay for all necessary renewals and repairs at Deer Island plant for an indefinite term of years. It appears that the cost of depreciation, repairs and renewals on a new plant might amount to approximately 1½ per cent of the first cost. Assuming a basis of 25 years for the sinking fund charges on a new plant, an estimate prepared from the above figures, combined with the figures given by Mr. Dean in his report shows, approximately, as follows:

NEW PLANT.

Cost, $181,000.

Sinking Fund at 3 per cent compounded semiannually	$4,804 00
Interest at 4 per cent	7,240 00
Repairs and depreciation 1½ per cent (estimated)	2,715 00
Wages (Mr. Dean's report)	5,217 00
Coal (Mr. Dean's report)	12,787 00
Total yearly charges	$32,763 00

PRESENT PLANT.

Wages (Mr. Dean's report)	$8,863 00
Coal (Mr. Dean's report)	14,530 00
Repairs, renewals and depreciation (estimated)	3,500 00
Total yearly charges	$26,893 00
Balance in favor of present plant per year	$5,870 00
Total saving for twenty-five years,	$146,750 00

It will of course be understood that the existing plant has been entirely paid for and therefore no interest or Sinking Fund charges need be considered.

Respectfully submitted,
GUY C. EMERSON, Consulting Engineer.

Boston, November 4, 1911.

Hon. John F. Fitzgerald,
Mayor of Boston:

Sir,— The Finance Commission received your Honor's letter, dated October 4, 1911, inclosing the report of F. W. Dean, Mill Engineer and Architect, and requesting the commission to investigate and report on the advisability of building a central power and heating plant at Deer Island at an estimate cost of $181,000.

In submitting its report the commission desires your Honor to know that it has relied for advice on the technical points under consideration upon the report of its engineer, Mr. Guy C. Emerson. Its conclusions have been formed after a consideration of Mr. Emerson's report, together with the report of Mr. Dean, both of which are hereto annexed; the reports of the inspectors of steam boilers, filed at the office of the Massachusetts District Police, which are also appended hereto; and an examination of the plants at Deer Island by the chairman of the commission and the director of the Bureau of Municipal Research, Mr. G. A. O. Ernst, in company with the commission's engineer, Mr. Emerson.

The detailed inspection made by the boiler inspectors seems to indicate that all the boilers are in excellent condition for the service they are required to perform, and the report of Mr. Dean does not indicate that any such detailed examination as that made by the boiler inspectors has been made by him; nor does he submit any facts which show that the boiler inspectors' reports are incorrect.

Unless the boiler inspectors' reports are incorrect the danger from explosion would seem to be remote. The amount of pressure actually used at the plants is much less than the amount allowed by the Boiler Inspection Department. Thus, it appears from a letter of the Penal Institutions Commissioner to Mr. Emerson, dated October 11, 1911, that the boilers at the power house are allowed to carry 125 pounds pressure and ordinary pressure carried is 90 pounds; the boilers at the Women's Prison are allowed 80 pounds and the ordinary pressure carried is 60 pounds; the hospital boilers are allowed 65 pounds and the ordinary pressure carried is 30 pounds; and that boiler No. 1 at the institution fire room is allowed 50 pounds while the ordinary pressure carried is 40 pounds; and boilers 1 and 2 of the same plant are allowed 100 pounds each, while the ordinary pressure carried is 40 pounds for each.

The examination of the premises by the commission's engineer and the two other representatives of the commission does not indicate that the fire risk from the present plant is excessive, or that it would be greatly reduced by the construction of a new plant. The buildings are separated from each other, and only one of the buildings which contain boilers is of wooden construction. In all the other buildings which contain boilers the walls and the floors are either brick or concrete masonry, except the machine shop which has wooden floors.

The commission thinks Mr. Dean's estimate of an annual saving of $5,346 on maintenance pay rolls and coal is excessive; and it seems probable that the cost of maintenance of the new plant, including interest, sinking fund and depreciation charges, will be much more than the cost of maintenance of the existing plant. It is to be noted that Mr. Dean's estimate makes no allowance for the value of the existing plant though it should be good for many more years of service. Mr. Emerson has made an estimate of the probable cost of maintaining a new plant which it would cost $181,000 to install and which would probably last twenty-five years. His estimate of the annual cost of maintenance, including sinking fund, interest and depreciation charges, wages and coal, is $32,763 per year; while his estimate of the annual cost of maintaining the existing plant, including wages, coal and depreciation charges, is $26,893; an excess of $5,870 per year for the new plant, or $146,750 in the twenty-five years which the new plant is estimated to last.

The commission believes that there are many other municipal improvements which are needed far more than the building of a new plant at Deer Island at the present time or in the near future; and therefore recommends that no action providing for the construction of a new plant be taken at the present time.

Respectfully submitted,

THE FINANCE COMMISSION,
by JOHN A. SULLIVAN,
Chairman.

Boston, November 18, 1911.

Mr. Fred S. Gore,
Commissioner of Penal Institutions:

Dear Sir,— I have read the report of the Boston Finance Commission to his Honor the Mayor, and also that of Mr. Guy C. Emerson, consulting engineer to the commission.

I shall make no comment on those portions of either report which deal with interest and sinking fund charges, because I know little about them.

Mr. Emerson says that I have specialized in mill engineering and power plants. While this is true, it is important in this case that it should be known that I have independently specialized in boilers. I was brought up to design boilers by the eminent engineer, E. D. Leavitt, who was employed by the City of Boston for many years to design pumping engines and boilers for the water and sewerage works, and I have been designing boilers ever since I went into business for myself in 1889.

Mr. Emerson states that I have the reputation of having prejudice in favor of vertical boilers. One can never tell what his reputation is, but it is worth mentioning that I have put in more horizontal than vertical boilers. I prefer the latter, however, for the reasons given in my report. My own patent refers to means for internal inspection and cleaning and not to type.

Concerning the boiler brickwork matter at Deer Island I derived my information from the chief engineer at the institution.

I wish to be emphatic about the danger of boilers built with lap joints. It is well known by persons informed on the subject that, aside from the explosions of water-tube boilers, which are numerous, every explosion of the shells of boilers are those of boilers built with lap joints. There has not been a single explosion of a boiler built with butt joints. Can there be any stronger evidence that the former are dangerous and the latter safe? The fact that boiler insurance companies inspect boilers and pronounce them safe is no evidence that they are safe, for every boiler that has exploded has probably been insured and pronounced safe. Moreover, insurance companies do not and cannot examine the joints of boilers and say whether they are safe or not. I have given the subject of the safety of boilers great study, and am prepared to say that every lap-joint boiler is dangerous and every butt-joint boiler all but safe. There have been many lap-joint boilers that leaked steam sufficiently from cracked longitudinal joints to be heard, and put out of service in time to prevent an explosion. Only two such cases have occurred with butt joints.

Mr. Emerson states that there may be conditions where butt joints are unsafe. I emphatically deny this. The Massachusetts laws should prohibit the use of lap joints for all sizes 54 inches in diameter and less, as it does for those above 54 inches. Small boilers with lap joints are more dangerous than large ones because they differ more from the circular form than the latter.

Mr. Emerson says that he thinks it doubtful whether the economy of vertical boilers is greater than of horizontal. He considers the loss by radiation of the former greater than from the latter. Other engineers hold the opposite view. Professor Denton of the Stevens Institute of Technology, who is a thorough student of boilers, estimates this loss from vertical internally fired boilers as 1 per cent. Nobody would think of taking it as small for boilers set in brickwork. It is noticeable that a room filled with vertical internally fired boilers, is much cooler than one with horizontal boilers set in brickwork.

Concerning the advisability of using new engines and generators it was my idea to use everything new, and take advantage of the present state of the art, and sell the old ones.

The second sentence at the top of page 6 of Mr. Emerson's report is misleading, because it states that the cost of a 25 kilowatt generator and engine is $11,930, while in fact this is the cost of all of the engines and generators.

Finally, I wish to say that I consider that the lap-joint boilers at Deer Island are not safe, and that the City of Boston is taking great risk in allowing them to remain in service. Furthermore, I think the fire risk is too great. Mr. Emerson admits that it amounts to something.

Mr. Emerson states that there is some fire risk in an isolated plant. Anybody can make up his mind how much fire risk there is in a boiler and engine house built of incombustible materials throughout except the roof planking, this in the boiler room being 41 feet and in each of the others about 20 feet above the floor.

I have not referred to the economy in fuel and labor of a new plant over the old ones as I have nothing to offer beyond what I gave in the original report.

Respectfully submitted,
F. W. DEAN.

PRISONS.

Coun. SMITH submitted the following:

The committee of the City Council, appointed in accordance with the provisions of section 1, chapter 224, of the Revised Laws, to inspect the prisons in the County of Suffolk, bas attended to that duty and submits the following report:

The institutions covered by law, consisting of Cbarles Street Jail, the Parental School for Truant Boys and Girls at West Roxbury, the House of Correction at Deer Island and the Suffolk School for Boys at Rainsford Island, have been inspected periodically during the year as to management, discipline, food, proper treatment, cleanliness and health, and in each institution the committee found a strict observance of the rules of the institution and a proper care of the inmates. In each case the inmates were given the fullest opportunity to make complaint to the committee, if they so desired, of their food, clothing, treatment and the conduct of the officers toward them, but not one complaint was heard, wbich speaks highly for the efficient and intelligent care given by those in charge of these unfortunates.

Charles Street Jail.

The committee found the jail in good condition, the utmost regard being paid to the cleanliness and comfort of the prisoners. The discipline is excellent and the general management good.

The committee offers two suggestions for improvement of jail conditions:

First. Some system be adopted by which prisoners detained one month or more shall be given regular daily exercise in the open air. We feel that this is necessary from a humanitarian standpoint, even though it require additional jail officers and an appropriation for necessary protective changes.

Second. The present old-fashioned system of tub baths be replaced by modern sbower baths. This is desirable not only from the standpoint of handling more men at once but also because the present tubs and matchboard wooden partitions are impossible to keep thoroughly clean.

Deer Island.

The committee found the buildings well kept up and no dissatisfaction among the prisoners. We offer three suggestions:

First. That a start be made this year to segregate the different classes of prisoners. The most necessary step is to isolate the drug fiends and violent cases, because the first class tends to spread the babit among the other prisoners, and the latter class, under present arrangements, will disturb several hundred men. The isolation of these two classes is dependent upon a second suggestion, namely:

Second. The erection of a central lighting and heating plant to take the place of the five separate existing plants. This improvement would pay for itself through decreased cost of maintenance in a few years. It would also leave vacant two buildings which, with slight alterations, would be available for segregation purposes.

Third. We believe a small beginning sbould be made toward teaching trades to the long-term prisoners, which would be helpful to them earning a livelihood after their release. The products of such trades would, of course, not be sold in the open market, but used in the various city and county departments. A small wage might be paid for sucb work to be turned over to the family of prisoners when in need, or accumulated to the prisoners' credit pending release. This would not be entirely an increase in expense to the city because a considerable amount of money is now paid for the relief of sucb cases by the Overseers of the Poor.

We heartily indorse tbe plan of Commissioner Gore for joining in the old part of the prison every two cells into one. This will give necessary improvement and accommodations, and at the same time provide work for tbe prisoners during inclement weather.

Parental School.

We found the buildings in excellent condition and the boys busy and contented. The superintendent has entered into his work witb enthusiasm and has brought about many minor improvements. We renew, with emphasis, two previous recommendations:

First. That the old stable be demolished and a new one built. The cost will be about $6,000. This is a sanitary necessity as well as being a distinct improvement in appearance.

Second. That a coal pocket be erected adjacent to the heating plant, as the present method of storing coal is most costly.

In addition to the above we urge action on the recommendation of the Board of Trustees that the playground be raised in grade and that the Public Works Department cooperate in filling the marsb directly adjoining. This should be borne in mind when the new contract for the West Roxbury district is made by the Commissioner of Public Works.

In closing we admit some doubt as to the advisability of continuance of the school on its present scale. It has shrunk from 285 boys to the neigbborhood of 130. One building (Curtis) is entirely unused. One of the cottages is to be vacated in the near future, and one of the dormitories is only partially used for teacbers. This condition is brought about from the increase in the probation system. As the cottage system has been suggested for Rainsford Island we recommend that the trustees consider the advisability of joining the two schools on the island.

Rainsford Island.

The committee found tbe buildings had been improved considerably over last year and an excellent spirit prevailed among the boys. The superintendent is to be congratulated upon his methods, especially the introduction of the military drill. This seems worthy of being enlarged upon.

The general suggestion that the cottage plan be the basis for future growth we believe to be not only practical but in accordance with modern ideas in similar institutions.

To offer space for such development it would be desirable to fill in the eove at the island.

The most pressing necessity, however, is for a safe and adequate heating and lighting plant. This should be erected with a view to joining with it cottages which may be built in the future.

The most helpful thing from the boys' standpoint is the shoe shop, which ought to be enlarged by the addition of an ell. This could be done at a slight expense.

Annexed will be found the reports of those in charge of the various institutions, as required by law.

For the committee,
EARNEST E. SMITH, Chairman.

(3) Report on message of Mayor, communication from Fire Commissioner, etc. (referred December 29), concerning injuries to Anna A. Robertson —recommending the passage of the following:

Ordered, That in accordance with the recommendation of the Fire Commissioner, under date of December 1, 1911, there be allowed and paid to Anna A. Robertson the sum of $4,000 in compensation for injuries received by her caused by being run into by an automobile of the Fire Department of the City of Boston in front of No. 552 Massachusetts avenue, on September 21, 1910; the said sum to be paid in full settlement of all claims or suits pending against the City of Boston or the Fire Commissioner or any employee of the Fire Department arising out of the accident hereinbefore described; the amount so paid to be charged to the Reserve Fund.

The question came on accepting the report and passing the order.

Coun. KENNY—Mr. President, that is rather an important matter, and of course it is out of the ordinary routine. As I understand it, the order calls for the payment of $4,000 by the city to indemnify to some extent this person who was injured. I understand, as far as I have made any investigation, that it is rather a meritorious case, that the injuries were very severe; but, nevertheless, it is not a matter where the city itself is liable. The parties themselves admit that; there is no question about it. It is simply a question of how far we should go to aid this unfortunate person. I should like the opportunity of talking with the Corporation Counsel and of examining the evidence which was given by the chauffeur before the Highway Commission. This is the first time the matter has been presented to this body. It is, of course, to be regretted that it comes in at the last meeting; nevertheless I think it is of so serious a nature that we would not be warranted in passing it to-day. Therefore I would move that it be referred to the next city government.

Coun. BUCKLEY—Mr. President, at the beginning of the year, when you were elected President, you appointed committees for the purpose of hearing arguments on the different matters presented to the City Council. A majority of the members of the Committee on Claims—Coun. McDonald, Attridge and myself—heard this case presented on last Thursday afternoon, this communication being sent here at the session last Monday and referred to our committee. It seems that in September, 1910, this young woman was walking along the sidewalk on Massachusetts avenue, not disturbing anybody, walking along in a peaceable manner, as she had a perfect right to do, and this automobile skidded right along, went up on to the sidewalk and drove her through an iron fence in front of a house on Massachusetts avenue. At that time she was earning a salary of $40 a week as head stenographer in a large business house in Boston. She was a very capable girl, had great executive ability, and was earning this large salary for a woman. To-day she cannot earn more than $12 a week, owing to the injuries she received at that time. She came into the room and could hardly walk, was crying practically all the time, continually in pain through no fault of hers, but simply because she was injured. I don't want this matter to go over for another week. I feel that it is a matter that should be attended to now, and I feel that it ought to go through this Board this afternoon. What are your committees for if not to hear these cases and report on them? What good is a committee report if it is not sustained by the City Council? I never saw Miss Robertson until that day, and neither did Coun. McDonald or Attridge. We admit that there is no legal claim against the City of Boston, but there is something far higher, a moral obligation. One of the city's servants was at fault and it is only right that we, as the City Council of the City of Boston, should recognize the moral claim, which is even greater than any legal claim that might be presented. In addition, this girl was taken to the Boston City Hospital and had to pay five hundred and some odd dollars for treatment there. Think of it! Her life almost taken away by an automobile belonging to the city, and yet she had to pay for the treatment she received at the City Hospital. It has also cost her $1,800 for other treatment, making $2,300 that she has paid out. The Law Department was willing to settle this claim for $2,500, but you will all admit that she should certainly receive a little more than she paid out. Here is a girl maimed for life, who can never again earn more than $12 a week. I don't know how long she will be able to earn that, and I don't know how long she may live. She was the only support of a widowed mother, and at the present time she is not able to earn a living for herself and mother owing to the injuries she received. We are all fair minded men. I recognize how conscientious Mr. Kenny is when he wants this put over for a week, but I believe that we have spent all the time we should on this matter, that we should put it through to-day and not grant further time. We sat on the case and we heard the counsel for this girl—and by the way, the counsel is not going to receive one cent for all the time he has put in. He said he would like the money paid to Miss Robertson directly and that he should not accept one cent for his time and energy in connection with the matter. It seems to me if the counsel in the case is willing to go that far we should certainly be willing to give her $4,000. She has lost more than that—her health and everything worth living for; and this is simply about $1,700 more than the girl expended. She is entitled to that much, if she is entitled to a cent. We would be unjust if we did not vote to-day to give her the $4,000 which the Committee on Claims awarded her. You yourself, Mr. Chairman, have served on the Committee on Claims and know how we bear matters. You know that we are perfectly frank in turning down claims that we do not think are fair and just against the city. But you yourself, I know, believe there is a higher claim than a legal obligation, and I believe this is such a claim. There is a moral obligation upon us to settle this claim. What could she collect even if she did recover judgment from the chauffeur and the—I won't say the late Fire Commissioner, but the former Fire Commissioner? It seems to me there is a moral obligation on us, and I know that we, as fair minded men, will to-day accept the report and pass the order.

Coun. CURLEY—Mr. President, I feel that Coun. Kenny will recognize the necessity for immediate action on this proposition. I want to say that I was in a position where I had an opportunity to be familiar with the nature of the injuries received by Miss Robertson. At the time when I was in Ward W of the hospital she was in a ward on the floor immediately above and I talked with various surgeons and physicians in the hospital who were treating Miss Robertson at the time. I talked with Dr. Paul Thorndike about it, and he said it was one of the worst cases that they had treated in the hospital for many years. The report from the hospital discloses the fact that there was laceration of the right leg, a scalp wound and fracture of the skull. He informed me that the entire flesh was rubbed off this girl's leg from her hip to her knee, that it required continual skin grafting, with great pain, for somewhere in the neighborhood of four months before they could make any progress. The total time she was in the hospital was twenty-three weeks and two days, and she has been suffering from this injury for one year and four months. In view of that fact I feel that some consideration should be given to the necessity for immediate action. It was not my intention to make mention of what I am about to say, and if the matter had been permitted to go through I would not have mentioned it. But at Christmas time, just previous to Christmas, the 20th of Decemher, this woman, whom I had never seen and whom I have never seen, wrote a letter saying she was hringing suit for $15,000 against the city for injuries received, but that in view of her financial condition she deemed it advisahle and necessary that she make a settlement, if it were possible; and she went on to say in the letter that she had $1 to carry her from the twenty-first day of Decemher over Christmas. I answered her letter and inclosed $5, and said I trusted that she would accept of it. I should judge that she is a woman of considerable refinement and culture, one who has never been the recipient of charity in any form previously, for I received a letter about two days later saying that she had heen compelled to swallow her pride and was extremely pleased to accept the small contrihution that had heen received, as it made it possible for her to have a pleasant Christmas, whereas otherwise it would have heen an extremely unpleasant one. Summing it all up, this woman was walking on the sidewalk; she was injured in consequence of the carelessness of the man in charge of the Fire Commissioner's automohile; she remained in the hospital undergoing treatment for twenty-three weeks, and undergoing during that time the most severe pain possihle. There is no pain to exceed that which accompanies the grafting of skin on the human hody. She is discharged on crutches from the hospital and continues on crutches for one year and four months, dating from the time of the accident, and I feel that if she receives $4,000 in consequence of the great injury she has received it is not an exorhitant sum. I do feel that if a proper presentation of the facts were made to a jury in any court, regardless of whom the twelve men might he composing the jury, the verdict would he unanimous in favor of at least a great portion of the $15,000 for which suit might he hrought. All things considered—the fact that the woman is of excellent character; that she found it possihle to sustain herself in a very good manner previous to the accident; that she has undergone physical torture for more than a year, and that the amount recommended is only about a fourth of the total amount for which suit would he hrought, and considering also her present financial as well as physical condition,—I helieve all these elements should have great weight with the memhers of this Council. For these reasons I sincerely trust that the gentleman's motion will not prevail but that the order will be placed on its passage.

Coun. KENNY—Mr. President, I think about a year ago last spring or some such time I undertook—I imagine not successfully—to amend the rule so that when a report came in here from a committee involving the expenditure of money it would lie over for one week. Unless that rule has been repealed, I don't think it has been enforced, and I think unless it has heen repealed there is still such a rule. As I recall it, it is an amendment to section 16 of the rules. Ordinarily when a person receives an injury and is relegated to his rights at law he hrings a suit, and he is exactly in the same position as other litigants. Every person has a right to a forum for the trial of his case, and it ordinarily takes in Boston almost two years before a case is reached in the courts for trial. I have nothing to do with what has been said here. I have no desire to review the facts in this case with the purpose of making any argument against this allowance. That is not my position at all. I simply say, as a memher of the Council who is charged with the responsihility of voting this money, that we ought to have proper time to consider and look into the facts. I don't know how far the committee has looked into those facts. I don't want to do the chairman any injustice, and he can correct me if I am in error, but in talking on this matter awhile ago he appeared to have lost sight of the fact that at the time of the accident the automobile contained only the chauffeur. I rather assumed from what the chairman said that he understood that at that time the Fire Commissioner was with the chauffeur. I understand that that is not so. If I am wrong in my reference to what the gentleman said I am willing to correct my statement.

Coun. BUCKLEY—Mr. President, in my presentation I did not say anything ahout the Fire Commissioner. I said it was an automobile of the Fire Department.

Coun. KENNY—The gentleman is in error; I am not referring to his presentation hut to the talk he and I had in the outer Chamber before this meeting, within half an hour. I should like to ask if that was not the substance of it.

Coun. BUCKLEY—He was on his way to get the Fire Commissioner for the purpose of taking him to a fire at the time the accident occurred. So he was not on a frolic of his own.

Coun. KENNY—That is true; I know that to be a fact myself. But the trouble was that I did not understand that the gentleman knew that to he the fact. If I have done him any injustice I will withdraw that suggestion, but in talking with him hefore we came in here in a general way about the facts of this accident, he did not convince me that at the time of the accident he knew what the exact facts were. In other words, I did not understand that the chairman of the committee knew the fact that Fire Commissioner Daly was not in the automohile—as he was not. I will not press this any further. This may he a meritorious case. I have not argued and have not said a word against it. Probahly I shall bring myself to the point where I can vote for it, hut I want to examine into it and I want to see Mr. Bahson, the Corporation Counsel. I want to talk with the chauffeur. We know that the City of Boston under the law may in certain contingencies adjust certain kinds of cases. The city could not settle this case unless a suit was pending. And, by the way, I should like to say that the suit was for $10,000 and not $15,000. If a suit is hrought against the chauffeur, and pending the suit the committee wants to settle the case, it may do so. Otherwise it could not do so. We did not make the law; we did not create this condition of things. It is imposed upon us by the Legislature, and I don't think it is any great harm or injustice to this lady to ask her to wait seven, ten or fourteen days. On the contrary, I shall he rather disposed to he a little mite suspicious if this is going to he forced through at the eleventh hour. This matter came into the Council only last Monday and a hearing was given Thursday. It is an important matter. I don't think the Council wants to take the attitude of saying that it must he pressed through hefore the memhers of the Council have a chance to review it and examine into it. I hope the time will come when I can vote for this order, but I cannot do it to-day. I am not the entire Council, I have only one vote. I cannot vote for it to-day, and if under the circumstances the gentleman desires to press it he must take the responsihility for his own action. I think the matter should stand over and that we should have a right to examine into it.

Coun. CURLEY—Mr. President, from the communications which accompany the report of the committee and with which I assume Coun. Kenny is familiar, it is evident that there has heen no intention to force this through immediately on its presentation. The communication was addressed to the Mayor and City Council, dated December 1, 1911, and sent to the Mayor's office. That was more than two months ago. So it is not a new matter. The woman's injuries are more than a year old, so that is not a new matter. This communication, hy the way, is interesting, since it discloses the fact that the recommendation was made hy the Fire Commissioner and hy his Honor the Mayor with a view to protecting the city from the possible expenditure of more money than is contemplated in the order, in consequence of the suit. The commissioner's letter, under date of Decemher 1, 1911, reads as follows:

City of Boston,
Headquarters Fire Department,
Decemher 1, 1911.

To the Honorahle Mayor and City Council:

Gentlemen,—I have the honor to bring to your attention the case of Miss Anna Rohertson.

Miss Rohertson was severely injured by the Fire Commissioner's automohile on Septemher 21, 1910. The machine was proceeding from fire headquarters to the residence of the Fire Commissioner in Brighton to take him to a two-alarm fire. While rounding the S-curve on Massachusetts avenue it skidded, went up on the sidewalk and struck Miss Rohertson, injuring her severely.

Miss Robertson was in the hospital for a long period of time. In my opinion she has suffered, through no fault of her own, very serious injuries which the city should properly indemnify in order that justice may be done. I have understood until recently that Miss Robertson preferred to ohtain a judgment in court and take up the matter of settlement after that judgment had heen ohtained. After consultation with her, in order to avoid unnecessary delay of the law and to expedite justice,

I recommend that the city government settle this case at once for a suitable amount.

Miss Robertson has brought suit against the Fire Commissioner and the driver of the machine to the extent of $10,000. She not only suffered physical and mental injury, but she has also been deprived of her savings and subjected to considerable hardship due to delay; therefore it seems proper to me that this case should be settled for a material sum of money, the amount to be decided after investigation by the various authorities whose approval is required.

Very respectfully,
CHARLES D. DALY, Commissioner.

The Mayor, under date of January 27, sends this communication to the City Council:

City of Boston,
Office of the Mayor, January 27, 1912.

To the City Council:

I transmit herewith a communication from the late Fire Commissioner which sets forth the facts in regard to injuries received by Miss Anna Robertson, as the result of the sudden swerving of a Fire Department automobile as she was proceeding to her home on Massachusetts avenue. Accompanying this letter is a statement from Miss Robertson's attorney, Joseph W. Bartlett, Esq., and a report of her case taken from the records at the City Hospital.

It appears that Miss Robertson has suffered a cruel and perhaps an irreparable injury. She was in the hospital for twenty-three weeks and two days, underwent several severe operations, and is to-day, a year and four months after the accident, unable to take a single step without pain. She is a young lady of exemplary character and was at the time of her accident filling a lucrative position. She has sustained a loss of wages amounting to at least $1,700 and has been obliged to pay a bill of over $500 for treatment at the City Hospital.

It is one of those cases that appeal not only to the sympathies but to the sense of justice of public officials, and I earnestly indorse the recommendation of the late Fire Commissioner that after proper investigation the City Council award her a liberal compensation for the injuries which she has sustained.

Respectfully,
JOHN F. FITZGERALD, Mayor.

In connection with that bill that the Mayor refers to, I want to say that Doctor McCollom referred to the injustice of compelling that woman to pay that bill while in the hospital, showing me a receipt for $268 that he had collected from her during the course of her treatment at the City Hospital. As to what would constitute a proper investigation, I feel that the report of the City Hospital Department would constitute in the mind of any member of this Board, who cared to look it over, a proper investigation, since it discloses the fact that this woman was examined, not by one physician, but by several physicians. She was treated not by one physician, but by several physicians and surgeons. There is a complete record of the case from day to day and from week to week from the time of her admission to the hospital up to the time of her discharge. I think certainly the recommendation submitted by the Fire Commissioner and by the Mayor, coupled with the recommendation made by the committee, with what has been said of the physical and financial condition of the woman, should warrant the City Council in at least endeavoring to do justice to her.

Coun. KENNY.— Mr. President, I would like to just add a word to what my friend on the opposite side has said. I don't think we need be concerned at all about any ultimate liability here to the city. There is no question about that. There is no liability attaching to the city in this case, and if the member will read the correspondence he will find that the attorney for this woman admits that. Since this hearing was had on Thursday, I have had a call from her counsel, and he has left with me certain papers. Among them was a copy of the record at the hospital, which I have read. I have already said that it appears to be a meritorious case, but I think we ought to be given the opportunity of examining into it. What is the trouble? Why shouldn't we have the opportunity? If we are going to vote away the city's money, are we going to do it with our eyes shut? How are her rights going to suffer if she has to wait two or three weeks more? She would have to wait two years for trial if suit were brought against the commissioner or the chauffeur. As a matter of law, there is no liability here on the city or the Fire Commissioner. That chauffeur was not the employee of the Fire Commissioner; he was an employee of the City of Boston. You might as well look at these facts exactly as they are, and treat them fairly. I think when the time comes the Council will no doubt do justice to the matter, but I don't think the gentleman should insist on action this afternoon. I have not intimated any opposition to the matter. I simply want time to look into it, and I hope the Council will allow me to do so. It is certainly a remarkable condition of things to have a committee's report of this kind come in here at the last meeting of the year, involving several thousand dollars, without giving members an opportunity to look into it. I do not say the committee has been guilty of negligence, but I don't think it is good grace for the committee to insist at this time on the matter being disposed of. In fact, I don't understand that the committee does insist on it, but rather the chairman.

Coun. BALLANTYNE—Mr. President, I think this is a very meritorious case, perhaps one of the most meritorious that has appeared before the present city government. I have no desire to injure this young woman any more than she has been injured already by any delay on the part of this Council. But I agree with the councilor on my right that this is an important matter and that the members should look into it very carefully and see that they make no further mistake in passing this order. There are questions of law involved that some members of the Council would like to consult the Law Department upon. Some of us believe that there is no legal liability on the part of the city. I don't think there is. But there is a moral liability, a moral responsibility, and I believe this is a case that should be handled and settled very generously. But I don't think it is a case that should be rushed through here to-day before the members of the Council have a chance to look into it. As far as I know now, I am heartily in favor of using this young woman right, as far as the city is concerned, giving her ample compensation for the injuries she has received; but I want to be sure we are doing it in a legal way. I sincerely hope the motion to lay the matter over to the next city government will prevail, and I for one, as a member of the next city government, shall urge action upon it at a very early date.

Coun. BUCKLEY—Mr. President, we do not claim that there is any legal liability against the city. We have not said so at any stage. But we have gone on the ground that there is a still higher obligation, a moral obligation, in view of this young woman being maimed for life. There is a statute that gives the city the right to reimburse any official connected with the Police or Fire Departments for any amount of money which they have had to expend in connection with any suit against them because of their carelessness. In that way, of course, if judgment were recovered against the Fire Commissioner and the chauffeur, the City of Boston would under that statute have a right to reimburse those men for the money they have expended. But it is not right to compel this young woman to wait, and it is also, in my opinion, a little bit of an insult to the Committee on Claims, who heard this matter. It seems as though some members of the Council are rather suspicious of the way we rush things through, as they claim. But we certainly heard this case carefully. We are not asking any favoritism, but we believe that our reports should be given the same treatment that the reports of other committees are given and the same weight by this body. I do not know Miss Robertson, more than having seen her before the committee last week, and I don't like to have it said that I am trying to rush the matter through. I am trying to rush it through in one way, simply because I am chairman of the committee and because I believe reports coming from that committee, of which I am chairman, should be given the same consideration that is given to reports of the Committee on Finance or any of the other committees of this Council.

Coun. KENNY'S motion that the matter be referred to the next city government was declared lost. Coun. KENNY doubted the vote and asked for the yeas and nays.

The motion was lost, yeas 3, nays 6:

Yeas—Couns. Attridge, Ballantyne, Kenny—3.

Nays—Couns. Buckley, Collins, Curley, Hale, McDonald, Smith—6.

The question came on the acceptance of the report and the passage of the order.

Coun. KENNY—Mr. President, when the question is put on the order, I ask for a roll call.

Coun. SMITH—Mr. President, I will say that I am going to vote in favor of this to-day, in spite of the request by Coun. Kenny that he be given an opportunity to look into the matter—not because I do not want to grant him the respect that is due to such a request. I do not want to hurry this thing through without giving members time to look into it. I have often stood here and asked the same privilege myself. My position is not taken on that ground. It is because there is some occasion for hurry. This woman has used up all her savings. She has paid money to the city which we had no moral right to take from her, and we want to put her in a good financial condition just as soon as we can. We don't want to make this a matter of public debate or discussion. We want to recognize our moral responsibility. If there were any questions involved here that appealed to me as questions that should be looked into, I would favor granting Coun. Kenny's request. But there is no question of legal liability. There certainly is a moral obligation on the part of the city, and we ought to pass this order to-day.

Coun. ATTRIDGE—Mr. President, I would say that I voted yes on Coun. Kenny's motion simply to give him a chance to look into the facts of the case. I was a member of the committee that heard the facts presented by attorneys for Miss Robertson, and the position I take is because of the moral obligation of the city, and not because of any legal obligation. I am in favor of the city treating the woman fairly and honestly, and I shall ultimately vote in favor of the city recompensing her for the injuries which were caused to her.

Coun. HALE—Mr. President, as I arrived a little bit late for this debate, I don't know whether what I am going to say has already been said or not, but I want to say it. I have gone into the evidence in the case pretty thoroughly and have not the slightest doubt but what if suit were prosecuted by this Miss Robertson against the Fire Commissioner and the chauffeur she would recover a judgment very much in excess of the amount of money proposed to be given to her now. I, for one, think it would be very rank injustice not only to her but to Mr. Daly or the chauffeur to make them, on account of work performed in the course of their duty for the city, take out of their pockets $5,000 or $10,000, which would undoubtedly be the verdict. I do not believe, in the first place, that they ought to be called upon to make any such sacrifice, and I think if we can get a release of all claims by paying over this $4,000 now we certainly should do so. The committee has gone into the evidence very carefully and has reported upon it, and I don't think it can be claimed that there has been any hasty action at all. I hope it will go through to-day.

The order was passed, yeas 7, nays 0.

SALARY OF PROBATION OFFICER.

Coun. CURLEY, for the Committee on County Accounts, submitted a report on communication from Clerk of Municipal Court of City of Boston (referred December 29), fixing salary of Frank E. Hawkes, under the provisions of Revised Laws, chapter 217, section 81, as amended by chapter 332 of the Laws of 1910—recommending the passage of the following:

(Acting as County Commissioners.)

Ordered, That the salary of Frank E. Hawkes, male assistant probation officer of the Municipal Court of the City of Boston, determined by the chief justice of said court at the rate of two thousand dollars ($2,000) per annum, to begin January 1, 1912, be and the same is hereby approved, the amount so paid to be charged to the appropriation for County of Suffolk, Municipal Court of the City of Boston.

Report accepted; order passed.

ORDINANCES.

Coun. McDONALD, for the Committee on Ordinances, submitted the following:

(1) Report on ordinance (referred June 26) establishing a Park and Recreation Department—recommending reference to the next city government with a request that it be taken up and considered immediately.

Report accepted; said reference ordered.

(2) Report on ordinance (referred October 2) concerning the height and weight of firemen—recommending its passage in the following new draft:

(Coun. McDonald and Ballantyne dissent.)

City of Boston.

In the Year Nineteen Hundred and Eleven.

An Ordinance Concerning Members of the Fire Department.

Be it ordained by the City Council of Boston, as follows:

Any person five feet seven inches or more in height and weighing not less than one hundred forty pounds shall be eligible for appointment as a member of the Fire Department of the City of Boston, provided that such person meets the other requirements necessary for such appointment.

The question came on the acceptance of the report and the passage of the ordinance.

Coun. BALLANTYNE—Mr. President, I am not going to take the time of the Council in discussing this question of the height of firemen. I have laid my view before the Committee on Ordinances more than once and don't think it would be of any use to waste the time of the Council to-day going into what I have said to the members of the committee. But I am going to offer an amendment to this ordinance, that the height be changed from 5 feet 7 to 5 feet 6, and the weight from 140 pounds to 138 pounds. I ask that the ordinance be amended in that way.

Coun. SMITH—Mr. President, it seems to me, after the evidence laid before us by Commissioner Daly, that the fifteen largest cities in the country already have an ordinance providing for a height of 5 feet 7 or more, and as this body knows of its own knowledge nothing whatever about the subject, we would be flying in the face of the experience of the whole country in passing anything other than a 5 foot 7 provision. If Coun. Ballantyne has any statistics of places that have ordinances requiring less weight and height, places with an equally large department, I think the Council will be glad to hear them.

Coun. McDONALD—Mr. President, as a substitute motion I move that the order read that the height shall be not less than 5 feet 5 and the weight not less than 132 pounds.

Coun. CURLEY—Mr. President, while I sympathize with Coun. McDonald and will vote that way, I feel that the condition that has obtained in the Fire Department during the last year, as far as the disposition on the part of the commissioner to refuse to recognize civil service rules with relation to height and weight is concerned, will not prevail under the conditions now existing. I believe that that condition of affairs will not become apparent in the department again at any time in the near future, and I would respectfully move that further consideration of the matter be referred to the next city government.

Coun. SMITH—Mr. President, I would like to move that we change the wording of the proposed ordinance so that the height reads, in place of the 5 feet 5 inches suggested by Coun. McDonald, 5 feet, and the weight 100 pounds. I am perfectly serious in that, because some of the most athletic and energetic men I have ever known have been the smallest men I have ever known.

President COLLINS—The Chair rules the gentleman's motion out of order, the motion to refer to the next city government taking precedence.

Coun. BALLANTYNE—Mr. President, the gentleman said that we had had no experience here in Boston with men under 5 feet 7 or 5 feet 6, if I understood him correctly?

Coun. SMITH—Mr. President, I did not make that statement.

Coun. BALLANTYNE—If I misunderstood you, I withdraw the remark. I want to say that in one company of the Fire Department in the City of Boston we have one man who is 5 feet 6 inches and weighs 174 pounds. We have another one who is 5 feet 6 inches and weighs 160 pounds, and one of 5 feet 6 inches who weighs 140 pounds. There is also one 5 feet 5½ inches, who weighs 144 pounds. Those men are in the department in the City of Boston at the present time, and I want to say that one of those men holds a very high position and is an officer in the Fire Department. He is a lieutenant in the Fire Department, who weighs 174 pounds and who stands 5 feet 6 inches in height. Those men have all given good service to the city, and I believe that a man of 5 feet 6, who is otherwise physically able for service and who passes the civil service examination, is just as good a fireman as the man of 5 feet 7.

Coun. CURLEY—Mr. President, just one word with reference to that motion. I understand that just the same rule that has obtained since the 5 foot 5 schedule was adopted by an act of the Legislature is obtaining in the Fire Department at the present time, and I believe that the Fire Department under competent management will be able to deal with the problems affecting the department in the future, as it has in the past, previous to last year.

Coun. Curley's motion to refer the matter to the next city government was carried.

(3) Report on communication from United Improvement Association (referred October 30) for hearing on extension of building limits—that the same be placed on file.

Report accepted; said paper placed on file.

(4) Report on message of Mayor and letter from Thomas F. Doherty (referred October 30) relative to hearing on ordinance concerning building limits—that the same be placed on file.

Report accepted; said paper placed on file.

(5) Report on ordinance (referred August 22) to prohibit hospitals in a certain district—that no further action is necessary.

Accepted.

(6) Report on order (referred January 29) that no statues, etc., shall be placed in Faneuil Hall until ten years after the death of the person to be commemorated—that the order ought not to pass.

Coun. SMITH—Mr. President, I simply want to say, as far as my order was concerned, that it is the exact request of the Art Commission. Of course, in turning it down you are turning down the exact request of the Art Commission.

The report was accepted and the order was rejected.

(7) Report on message of Mayor, communication from the Fire Commissioner and ordinance (referred April 3) establishing building limits in the City of Boston—that the ordinance ought to pass.

The question came on the acceptance of the report and the passage of the ordinance.

Coun. SMITH—Mr. President, I am going to vote against this because I don't think, after spending all the time the Council has upon the matter this year, we have dealt with it fairly. We have had four hearings and have had every possible chance for opposition. We were asked by the Chamber of Commerce to extend the building limits throughout the whole city; we were asked by the Real Estate Exchange to extend the limits away out into Dorchester; and we were asked by the Mayor to extend the limits over all the three-flat apartment house district. Now, what have we actually done? Of course, East Boston, Charlestown and South Boston are really out of the question. That is to say, nobody has come here objecting with any degree of force to extending the building limits to those three sections. As a rule they are pretty much covered with buildings already. The question comes on extending the limits out into Brighton, Roxbury and Dorchester. After having all these hearings we have extended the limits in that direction in some places only three blocks, and in one case we have only extended it one block, which seems to me a very trivial way to treat the subject. It is an amateurish attempt to extend the building limits. We have not done anything worthy of being called an extension of the limits. We have taken a few blocks here and there and added them to the building limits, and we have taken those sections of the city already covered with buildings, where the question of fire protection does not really arise. I am not going to favor the request of the Chamber of Commerce to take in the whole city; neither am I going to favor their final request of last year to take in about two-thirds of the city. Neither am I going to favor the Real Estate Exchange's suggestion. I am going to be more conservative than all those bodies. I stand here recommending the extension asked for by Commissioner Daly the second time he came before us, which took in the Parker Hill district, running up to Egleston square and following Seaver street and Columbia road down to the harbor line. That extension seems to me a fair extension. It is a compromise measure. It is not nearly what we were asked for by the public bodies. It is only a partial extension. It could very well be supported by the gentlemen who have just been elected for another three years to this body. They went before the people and said they favored a gradual extension of the building limits, and I have no doubt many people voted for them in the outlying districts on that basis, that they favored a gradual extension. It seems to me Commissioner Daly's second plan outlined here is a gradual extension, and I strongly urge the Council to adopt his line this present year, say July 1, instead of taking such an amateurish attitude, and forcing the city next year to again go over the whole matter, to go all through hearings, and get into a turmoil. It seems to me it would be better to adopt the second line suggested by Commissioner Daly. I hope the Council will take that view. I think the pressure which has been brought to bear upon us has been very intelligent. We have been appealed to on the side of argument alone and we have given thorough consideration to it. I think we are all impressed with the fact that the fire hazard is tremendous in the city to-day, away beyond what it ought to be. I sincerely hope the ordinance will not be adopted.

Coun. McDONALD—Mr. President, I am compelled again to say, as chairman of the Committee on Ordinances, to the gentleman on my right here (Coun. Smith) that in my opinion he has again come into the Council here and broken, if you might call it so, an agreement reached by the committee after three or four hours' endeavoring to reach an agreement on the question of extending the building limits. While it is true, as the gentleman says, that the extension as reported is not as large as he or I thought should be reported here, we agreed to accept that section I have just reported, to go into effect July 1, 1912, and submit a still further extension to go into effect July 1, 1914. That report I was intending to make after we act upon this extension that has just now been presented. I thought, as chairman of the committee, and I think every member present thought, that that was satisfactory to everybody present last night. I did not think the gentleman was going to oppose it to-day because he agreed with us. Probably none of us at the committee meeting were satisfied with the conclusion that we came to. I know I was not. But I was willing to have a report made, standing by the conclusions we reached last night, and I am willing to do that to-day. I don't care what is done with this matter, but I think after we have had a meeting three or four hours long and have come to a conclusion and everybody has gone away satisfied, we should come in here and be unanimous instead of attempting the next day to kick over something that we agreed to the night before. It does not make any difference to me, personally. The whole of Charlestown is going to be included. I think and my colleague from Charlestown thinks that it should be included. We are satisfied on that score. I am not looking for votes, not catering to anybody in Dorchester or that section of the city; but I think we ought at least to support the agreement we came to last night, and if that is not satisfactory to the Council I favor sending the matter over to the next city government. But I think we ought at least to stick by our report.

Coun. KENNY—Mr. President, of course the member on my left here from Ward 11 (Coun. Smith) has a right to change his mind, and he has changed his mind evidently. But it seems to me that, having changed his mind, he owed it to his colleagues here to inform them that he had changed his mind, Last night, sitting in the outer chamber, at the meeting of the Committee on Ordinances, he agreed with the rest of us—and it was unanimous—that we should report what is known as Fire Commissioner Daly's first order, which extends the limits to some extent, the change to go into effect on July 1 next. He also agreed that we should report what is understood to be Fire Commissioner Daly's second plan, extending the limits, to go into effect on the first of July, 1914. This is a matter that we spent hours over last night, and I don't think we ought to reopen the subject now. It is going to take a long time to discuss this matter apparently, in view of the change of mind of one member and possibly of others. Therefore, I think it would be the best and wisest thing to turn this whole thing over to the next City Council. If the chairman of the Committee on Ordinances makes that motion, I shall vote for it—that we refer this entire subject to the next city government. Unless we can come in here after we have agreed and respect our agreements, unless we can perform our duties here seriously, we are going to have chaos. I do not criticise the memher for changing his mind. He has a perfect right to change his mind. But I think he should have notified us of his change.

Coun. CURLEY— Mr. President, I desire to amend the report of the committee by providing that in 1917 — that is, five years from now — the fire limits be extended in a circle one-half mile around the entire present fire limits; that in 1922, five years later, they be extended in another half mile circle; and that in each succeeding five years the same rule he adopted. That appears a little amusing to my friend from the Back Bay on the other side of the Chamber (Coun. Smith), hut perhaps fortunately children are sometimes easily amused. They seldom look heyond the surface. I feel that there is considerable food for thought in this proposition. In the first place, taking the three-decker houses so called in the Dorchester, West Roxhury and Roxbury districts, such a house heing regarded as a fire menace hy some, it appears upon examination of the facts that the percentage of actual loss hy fire is greater in the business districts where the houses are constructed of hrick, stone or concrete, fifty times over than it is in the tenement district where we find three-decker houses, in any given year, even as far back as the Boston fire. The three-flat house, to which the Chamber of Commerce takes umhrage at the present time, has heen a blessing in disguise, even although the Chamber does not feel that way ahout it, for this reason, that the average man who is interested in real estate does not put up property wlth a view to henefiting the community. He is not animated by the henevolent spirit of the brotherhood of man and the fatherhood of God. He is engaged in husiness as a matter of dollars and cents, a matter of profit, and if the only buildings that had been constructed in the last five years in this city were single family dwellings or two-story dwellings, constructed entirely of brick, stone or concrete, it would have heen an impossibility for the average working man to-day to enjoy the henefits and advantages that are to be found in the so-called horrihle three-flat structures. A three-flat house, as a rule, has abundant light, is provided with a bathroom of reasonahle proportions, has gas or electricity and all the accommodations that to-day are found necessary in this progressive age. The three-flat house has made it possible for the real estate man to secure a reasonahle rcturn on his investment on the one hand, while on the other hand providing suitable accommodations for the people who demand houses of that character. Now, then, Mr. President, what is the purpose of the city government? It is not, as I understand it, to work an injury to any person who has property that he desires to develop, for every bit of development that takes place only adds to the income of the City of Boston in taxahle valuation. It is proposed by this ordinance that has heen submitted to divide East Boston and to make a portion of East Boston a part of the fire district. There are great areas of undeveloped land in East Boston that are gradually filling up to-day with the two and three-flat type of construction. They are adding to the assessed valuation of property in that section of the city; they are adding to the revenue of the city, and in addition are providing proper accommodations for the people who require suitahle dwellings in which to reside. Now, if you provide an additional half mile radius every five years, you do what? You compel the owner of vacant land to take advantage within five years of his opportunity to construct wooden huildings on that land, or at the end of five years you make it impossihle for him to construct wooden buildings upon that land, and every five years that the radius is extended you add to the value of property in the city, you increase the revenue of the city, you add to its income. You place within the reach of the workingmen in this city the character of accommodation in the line of a house that is necessary. No real estate man will contemplate for one minute putting $4,500 to $6,000 in a single family, brick, stone or concrete dwelling that will net only $25 a month. That would he no return on his investment. It would represent perhaps a little hetter than 2 per cent, whereas in the three-flat house, by an expenditure of from $7,000 to $9,000, he has an income in the vicinity of $90 a month and gets a decent return on his investment. I sincerely trust that the City Council will do one of two things,— that it will either refer this entire matter, which is a large matter since it affects the well-heing, comfort, convenience and happiness of many persons in this city, as well as affecting the income of the city treasury of Boston, to the next city government for proper consideration, or adopt an order providing for an extension of the fire limits hy a half mile radius every five years.

Coun. McDONALD—Mr. President, it is rather a unique thing to-day for the chairman of a committee which has made a report to move its reference to the next city government, unless it is prearranged. But I am now going to make a suhstitute motion—that the entire matter be referred to the next city government.

President COLLINS—The Chair will rule that that motion takes precedence over the preceding motion, under parliamentary practice.

Coun. SMITH—Mr. President, I want to say just one word. I don't think we are any of us talking about the huilding limits. But last night we agreed on a compromise which left us all unsatisfied, like most compromises. Instead of going away from the meeting satisfied, as the chairman seemed to think, I, for one, went away distinctly dissatisfied: and I did change my mind on thinking it over. I came to the conclusion that we had made a bargain that didn't give any real satisfaction to the city in the way of the extension of huilding limits, and I came to the Council here to-day late in the meeting and had the maps suhmitted to me, and I spread one of the maps out on the tahle in the other room and showed Coun. Attridge, who was not here last night, that I intended to stand for that second plan submitted hy Commissioner Daly. I spread the map out and said the same thing to Coun. Buckley. I knew it was of no use to talk with Coun. Kenny, because he is not in favor of any extension, so far as I can find out, of any size; and I knew it was of no use talking to Coun. Ballantyne, because he believes personally that a wooden house is more comfortahle than a brick house. He stated so at the meeting last night, and doesn't favor any extension at all as far as I can find out. I knew it was of no use talking to Coun. McDonald, hecause he was with me.

Coun. CURLEY—For the first time in his life!

Coun. SMITH—Therefore I felt, as I had reached the meeting late, that I had done everything necessary in stating my change of opinion. Perhaps I did not do all that was necessary, but I certainly undertook to do it conscientiously. I believe where we extend the building limits in one spot only a hlock and in other spots only three blocks, in the places concerning which the discussion has heen, out toward Roxbury, Brighton and Dorchester, we are doing a very amateurish joh and doing it after a great deal of time and patience has been spent in considering the matter. We have heen a number of times over the different districts, looking at them; in automobiles, and have sat in committee during four long hearings. If we put it over to the next city government we will prohahly have to go through the whole procedure again. We have given everyhody an opportunity to come in. We have found nobody ohjecting within the line that has heen suggested by Fire Commissioner Daly's second plan, as far as I know, excepting Mr. Delano, who, of course, is interested in land up at Upham's Corner. The line runs through Upham's Corner, and I don't know on which side of the line his land lies. But it seems to me that we should not hold up what is necessary for the fire protection of the city when we are years behind any other great city in this country, simply hecause of the ohjection of one man, and I feel that in changing my mind from the agreement that we came to last night and notifying the councilors that I did I acted in perfect good faith.

Coun. KENNY—Mr. President, the memher from Ward 11 on my left (Coun. Smith) says there was no use in speaking to me of his change of mind, because, as he stated it, I am not in favor of any extension to speak of. If I am not reporting him correctly I hope he will at this time set me right.

Coun. SMITH—Mr. President, I think that is an exact statement of what I intended to say and did say.

Coun. KENNY—Then, Mr. President, I desire to say that that statement by the memher is without foundation, and it shows a carelessness and a recklessness in drawing conclusions that are hardly commendahle in a memher of this body. No word has ever passed from my lips which would warrant that statement. On the contrary, I have stated publicly and privately that I believe in a gradual increase in the fire limits, and when he states, as he does state here, that I am not in favor of an increase of any kind——

Coun. SMITH—Mr. President——

Coun. KENNY—I want him to consider seriously just what he stated and what he means by it.

President COLLINS—Will the gentleman yield?

Coun. KENNY—No, Mr. President. I want him to consider what he meant by that statement, and if it was a conclusion of his based on a statement of mine, what statement it referred to. When I have heard from him upon that I will proceed with what I have to say.

Coun. SMITH—Mr. President, we had a committee meeting last night called for 7.30 o'clock. At about eleven o'clock we took a vote on this subject. During all that time Coun. Kenny, of course, was discussing the matter with the rest of us, and he distinctly time and time again refused to consider Commissioner Daly's second plan for an extension of the building limits this year. That second plan proposes a very small increase in the fire limits, a very small increase. The plan which he finally agreed to, as I have pointed out, in some cases means an extension of only a block, and in other cases only three blocks. I think, therefore, I am justified in saying that it was useless to talk to Coun. Kenny, because he was not in favor of any considerable increase worth mentioning. He now says he is in favor of a gradual increase. Well, I have granted that; I have never said he was not. I know he said that on the stump and I know he sticks to his statements; but "gradual" is a word of considerable latitude. The extension of a block is an extension, but it is altogether too gradual to suit my mind. But it is altogether in keeping with what I have said about his ideas—that his conception of a desirable increase meant one so gradual that it would not mean any considerable extension of the fire limits. That is all that I have stated about him, and that is, I think, literally true.

Coun. KENNY—Now, what does the gentleman do? He goes to the members who are not present and tries to persuade them to his views, as he now exhibits them. He does not go to those of us who were present, with whom he made a compact and agreement, but he disregards his agreement, he repudiates it. His excuses are altogether too thin, Mr. President. I don't take any stock in what he is talking about now, and I don't think any of the other members do. He has not been fair in this matter. That is the fact, and we all know that he has not been fair. I want to leave it in just that way on the record.

Coun. McDONALD—Mr. President, I just want to say another word. I wish also to say that I don't think the gentleman has been fair with the committee. As Coun. Kenny says, he consulted Coun. Attridge, who was not present. Then he went and talked with Coun. Buckley, who was not present. Then he tries to say that I was with him, any way, that I believed as he did, and he did not consider it necessary to even talk with me—and I am chairman of the committee. He did not tell me anything about his change of mind. He says he went away dissatisfied. Well, if he did, nobody present thought he was dissatisfied. I thought everybody was satisfied, and there was no doubt in my mind that everybody was satisfied. I did not agree with the report, and I told the members so; but I told the members that I would submit the report and stand by the agreement; and he did not say that he was not going to stand by the agreement, that he reserved the right to come in here the next day and change his mind. We stayed together an hour after we left City Hall, and he never mentioned it, and he did not mention it to me this morning. I don't think he has acted fairly. He tries to tell us about extending the limits a block. Well, all Charlestown is included in the limits, as reported here, and there is more than a block in Charlestown. But if he wants to try to have us believe that there is no other section of Boston except Dorchester and West Roxbury, I will agree with him that in places the limits are extended only a block. But I live in a section that is more than one block or three blocks long, and the whole section is included, being put into the limits. In my opinion, no matter what the report was—whether he thought the limits were not being extended far enough or otherwise—because of our struggle to make some kind of a report that we thought would be satisfactory to everybody interested, he should at least have stood by the agreement he made with the other members of the committee to make that as a report of the committee.

President COLLINS—The Chair respectfully suggests that the question before the Council is whether or not this report shall be referred to the next city government, not as to the attitude of this or that member.

Coun. BALLANTYNE—Mr. President, I want to say just a word. Coun. Smith was absolutely correct when he made the statement that I thought a wooden building much more comfortable than a brick building to live in. That is my personal view, and if I were studying my own personal comfort I would advocate wooden buildings throughout Boston, but I am not here to advocate my own personal comfort. I am here to advocate that which I consider is best for the City of Boston; and I have stated publicly and privately, have stated to all the improvement associations in Boston through their journal, that I was in favor of a gradual extension of the building limits. I was in favor of that extension last night. I was not in favor of the second extension, but I agreed on the compromise, to let that go into effect two years from next July. I am still of the same opinion, that a gradual extension of the building limits ought to be made in Boston. But I am not in favor of sending the whole matter over to the next city government, so that we will have to thrash it all over again.

Coun. SMITH—Mr. President, I do not want to do anybody an injustice, but my distinct understanding of last night's meeting is this—and it again only illustrates the difficulty, to which I have to refer at about every meeting, of doing these things in committees where no stenographic reports are made. I understood that the chairman was absolutely in favor of making one jump and taking in the whole city. I think he stated it in those words, that he favored taking in the whole city; and when we agreed on this compromise he distinctly stated, I sitting next to him—it seems to me he distinctly stated in committee that he reserved the right to put in a minority report.

Coun. McDONALD—No such thing.

Coun. SMITH—If I am wrong, the gentleman may correct me, but I have a recollection of his saying that not only once but several times. Therefore, it seems to me no great harm has been done when I tell two members of the committee that I have changed my mind. Certainly I have a right to change my mind. It seems to me that I conceded altogether too much last night, and that this so-called extension of the building limits is really no extension of the building limits. It is an extension that is not concerned with the fire risk. What we have done does not meet the danger from fire. We have extended the limits where the buildings are already up. What Coun. Kenny, Ballantyne and Curley are favoring is extending the building limits gradually, just fast enough to allow the builders always to have the land covered by the time the ordinance reaches them. They just use the word "gradually" to help out their friends, the builders and speculators in land, so that by the time the limit gets there, to the half mile circle, the land is all covered with the fire hazard type of building.

Coun. CURLEY—I might suggest to Coun. Smith that he might include a reference to the persons who are to occupy those buildings, in order to be fair.

Coun. KENNY—Mr. President, I am not going to sit here and allow my position to be distorted in this matter, and, for the purpose of getting it on the record, I shall state it again. I last night voted for what was understood as Commissioner Daly's first extension, and I think my friend from Ward 11 (Coun. Hale), who sits on the other side of the chamber, will do me the justice to say that I was one of the active members last night who did show some desire to compromise this matter and to yield something, and I think I brought about the compromise. Certain of the members were not willing to go beyond that. They did not want to go beyond the extension suggested by Fire Commissioner Daly's first plan. I was the one who suggested that we go to the second plan, as stated on this map, July 1, 1914, and in justice to myself I would ask my friend, Coun. Hale of Ward 11, if I may mention his name, to state whether I am stating the facts in that connection or not.

Coun. HALE—Mr. President, I hate to take part in this discussion; I hate to have any discussion about it. The way I understood the situation last night is this, that there were developed at the hearings two quite distinct ideas on the matter of fire limits. One set of us, consisting primarily of Coun. Smith and myself, favored extending the fire limits to the area I believe called for in Plan 2, which was Commissioner Daly's second ordinance, and which took in parts of Roxbury and Dorchester, all of South Boston and Charlestown. On the other hand, there were certain other members of the committee who thought that would be too rapid an advance and who favored the adoption of what we call Plan 1, Commissioner Daly's first ordinance, which took in a smaller part of Roxbury, half of South Boston, half of East Boston and Charlestown. We spent about two or three hours trying to persuade the other members of the Council that we were right, and they spent two or three hours trying to persuade us that they were right. Then a compromise came about. As I said before, I would rather have had the area extended to what I call Plan 2, but I should rather get something than nothing. For that reason I was willing, and would have been willing to-day, was prepared to-day, to accept as a compromise measure the plan which I think was proposed by Coun. Kenny —at any rate it was advocated by him,—which was to put Plan 1 into effect July 1, 1912, and Plan 2 into effect July 1, 1914. As I said before, that did not go as far as I think it ought to go, but I would a great deal rather have some advance than no advance. I see now that we shall get no advance in this city government this year. I regret it extremely.

Coun. McDONALD—Mr. President, I want to say just one word, in order to get it on the record. If I said last night that I reserved the right to present a minority report, I must have said it while I was asleep on the sofa before the meeting started, because I never said any such thing when I knew what I was talking about and did not propose to present a minority report. Coun. Hale, Smith and I were in the outer room and discussed the thing, and Coun. Hale said to me, "Well, why don't they accept our proposition, to go into effect two years from now? Then we can agree on something so that we will not have to talk to-morrow and take up the time the last day of the city government in chewing the rag." That was our proposition, and I went in there and suggested the compromise. The other three gentlemen got together and accepted it, and we were all satisfied. That is a true statement of the situation, and no other statement than that can be made, because that is the condition that existed there last night. That is the agreement we came to. I am not going to discuss the matter any more, because I feel that I am right, and there is nobody who can tell me that I am not right.

The motion to refer the matter to the next city government was carried.

(8) Report recommending that Plan 2, so called, be adopted, said plan to take effect July 1, 1914, viz.:

PLAN 2.

The building limits referred to in section 18 of chapter 419 of the Acts of the year 1892 are established as follows:

City Proper, South End, Roxbury, Dorchester and South Boston.

Charlestown and East Boston.

All that portion of the City of Boston known as Charlestown.

All that portion of the City of Boston known as East Boston except the portion known as Breed's Island.

The above limits being shown on a plan dated, signed by F. O. Whitney, Chief Engineer, and deposited in the office of the Street Laying-Out Department.

In connection with the report was the following resolution:

Resolved, That the City Council is in favor of legislation requiring:

First. Fireproof roofs on all new buildings throughout the metropolitan district, and on all old buildings which are reroofed.

Second. At least a 5-foot set-back from the lot line on all new wooden buildings throughout the metropolitan district.

Resolved, That the Committee on Legislative Affairs, when appointed, be authorized to appear before the Committee on Metropolitan Affairs to advocate the passage of such legislation.

The report and resolution were referred to the next City Council.

REFERENCE OF UNFINISHED BUSINESS.

Coun. KENNY offered an order—That all matters of an unfinished nature in the hands of the several committees of this City Council be referred to the City Council of 1912.

Passed.

COPIES OF CITY COUNCIL MINUTES.

Coun. McDONALD offered an order—That the City Messenger be authorized to cause a sufficient number of the City Council Minutes for 1911 to be bound in the usual manner, and to supply each member of the City Councils of 1911 and 1912 and each of the heads of the several city departments with one copy of same, also the usual number of copies for the Boston Public Library; the expense incurred for said binding to be charged to the appropriation for City Council, City Council Proceedings.

Passed.

PRINTING OF CITY DOCUMENTS.

Coun. McDONALD offered an order—That the City Messenger be authorized to supply each member of the City Council of 1911 and 1912 and each of the heads of the several city departments with one set, and the Boston Public Library with the usual number of sets of the city documents for 1911 when completed and bound.

Passed.

PRINTING OF MR. PURDY'S REMARKS.

Coun. SMITH offered an order—That the remarks of Lawson Purdy on the subject of method of assessing, delivered February 1, before various bodies of city officials, be printed as a public document to the number of 300 copies; the expense attending the same to be charged to the appropriation for City Council, Incidental Expenses.

Passed.

INFORMATION CONCERNING COMMISSIONER DALY.

Coun. SMITH offered the following:

Resolved, That inasmuch as the City Council shares the responsibility with the Mayor for all loans and appropriations, it desires more detailed information concerning the removal from office of Fire Commissioner Daly in order to avoid all possibility of a deadlock over the coming budget for the department.

Coun. KENNY—Mr. President, I move that this resolution lie on the table.

Coun. SMITH—Mr. President.

President COLLINS—On the motion to lay on the table no debate is in order.

Coun. Kenny's motion to lay Coun. Smith's resolution on the table was declared carried.

ARLINGTON STREET EXTENSION FAVORED.

Coun. SMITH offered the following:

Resolved, That the Council of the City of Boston strongly urge the passage of a bill to be introduced by Coun. Smith for the extension of Arlington street to Columbus avenue, under the new constitutional amendment, with the taking of building lots 100 feet deep on either side of said extension.

Coun. Smith and Kenny addressed the Chair and Coun. Smith was recognized.

Coun. SMITH—Mr. President, I am very sorry to be obliged to make Coun. Kenny forego the pleasure of asking that this be laid on the table. I realize that he must be very hungry. But I do think that this matter deserves some consideration. The Council of the City of Boston, in opposition to the Chamber of Commerce, in opposition to the Metropolitan Improvement Commission, in opposition to the Real Estate Exchange, in opposition to his Honor the Mayor, has decided that it will not vote to extend Arlington street to Columbus avenue under the order sent in by his Honor the Mayor. In doing that the Council is decidedly against the entire community, with the exception, so far as I know, of one man, that man being the head of the Finance Commission. If that is to be our attitude, if the city government is to block a great public improvement which is of interest to the whole city and not to the locality merely, let us put this matter squarely under the amendment to the constitution, which went into effect last fall. Let us take lots adjoining on either side and pay for the improvements, just as they have done in London and some of the German cities. That is why the Commonwealth voted that cities in this state could do that. This exactly meets the conditions that that amendment was intended to meet. In putting a great big thoroughfare through the city we can buy the land on either side and through the increased value to the adjoining land, brought about by the thoroughfare, pay for the thoroughfare.

Coun. CURLEY—Mr. President, I rise to a point of order. This Council has no right to anticipate something that has not yet taken place. There is no constitutional amendment that has been presented by Coun. Smith. He simply anticipates presenting it and this resolution anticipates something being presented. But, as a matter of fact, it has never been presented.

President COLLINS—The Chair will rule on that point of order that it is well taken, no specific bill being set forth, and the Council not knowing what it is to be committed to, and accordingly the Chair rules the resolution out of order.

Coun. SMITH—Mr. President, of course Coun. Curley——

President COLLINS—The gentleman is not in order.

Coun. SMITH—Well, Mr. President, I think there is a mistake here. May I be allowed the courtesy of the body to explain?

President COLLINS—By unanimous consent you will be allowed the courtesy of making a statement.

Coun. SMITH—Mr. President, I have not intended to present any amendment. I think Coun. Curley must have been in Washington so long that he does not realize that the State of Massachusetts has passed the constitutional amendment. The state constitution has been amended and the City of Boston has the right to act under that amendment. But I am not suggesting any amendment. I am suggesting that we act under the new power granted us to drive a highway through our city, taking the land on either side and thus paying for the highway. That will be done under a constitutional amendment that has been adopted in the State of Massachusetts—nothing that I am responsible for, whatever.

President COLLINS—The question comes on asking the Council to indorse a prospective bill that is not in existence. That is the seat of the difficulty.

Coun. CURLEY—Mr. President, I would ask for information, for the benefit of Coun. Smith, that the order be read as presented by him.

The Clerk read the order.

Coun. SMITH—Mr. President.

President COLLINS—There being no objection, Coun. Smith may have the floor to make a statement.

Coun. SMITH—Mr. President, simply on the point of whether the bill is before the Legislature or not. The time expired for introducing bills into the Legislature before this Council took its action against Arlington street. Therefore, there was no opportunity to introduce a bill, and any bill which I introduce now must be introduced under permission of the Legislature. That is why the bill is not now in. The bill has been written and will be presented to the Legislature, and if I can get them to allow it to go in it will be before them.

Coun. CURLEY—Mr. President, I would just like to ask Coun. Smith if his bill has been reported on and acted favorably upon by the Legislature?

Coun. SMITH—Mr. President, every bill we have ever advocated here has had a hearing upon it and has been reported on.

Coun. CURLEY—Mr. President, I would say that my question is a simple one and can be answered yes or no. Has the bill providing for the taking of land in connection with Arlington street extension been presented to the Legislature, referred to the committee, reported and acted upon favorably by both branches—yes or no?

Coun. SMITH—Mr. President, as this is not a court of law my answer will not be yes or no, but I will answer the question squarely. There has been no opportunity to get the bill in. Therefore, the bill is not before the Legislature, but it has been drafted. There was no opportunity to take action in the matter before, because the Council did not take action on Arlington street until after the time for introducing bills had expired. But as this is a matter which affects Boston there will be no objection on the part of the Legislature to the introduction of the bill, none whatever. A large number of bills are introduced in the Legislature after the time has legally expired for putting in bills.

PARKMAN HOUSE FOR SCHOOL COMMITTEE.

Coun. SMITH offered an order—That the City Treasurer be authorized to convey to the School Committee for office purposes the Parkman house on Beacon street at a net price of $70,000, provided they agree to maintain a front, ground floor room as a suitable memorial to George F. Parkman.

President COLLINS declared the order referred to the Committee on Parkman Fund.

Coun. SMITH—Mr. President, I have introduced this order because the School Committee's present quarters are very much cramped, and they have been looking about for new quarters for some time. They are not going to be in the new City Hall Annex, as I understand it. It seemed to me—in fact, one of the members intimated to me—that the Parkman house would be a good place for them. It will be convenient to the Park Street Station and at the same time will keep in the city's control the Parkman house for purposes of a memorial. As the order provides, a part of the house could be set aside as a memorial to Mr. Parkman. I move a reconsideration of the reference.

Coun. KENNY—Mr. President, I sincerely trust that the reference will not be reconsidered. That is a matter, it seems to me, which requires considerable investigation and examination before we can take the action contemplated there.

Coun. SMITH—Mr. President, of course the matter has been up before Coun. Kenny's committee on Parkman Fund this year and thrashed out there, and I believe their action, as ratified by the Board, was not to sell the Parkman house for $69,000, or thereabouts, because the committee felt, and the Council agreed with them, that the house should be in some way a memorial to the late Mr. Parkman. This order provides for a memorial to him and also permits of the house being kept by the city for active city purposes. I think it would make an excellent place for the School Committee. In fact, one of the members has said so to me himself. Of course, the only reason why I have asked consideration of the matter at this time is that the new committee will soon be appointed. I don't know whether Coun. Kenny will be chairman of that committee or not. At all events, as we have already passed upon the matter this year, I don't see why we cannot take this up to-day and settle it.

President COLLINS—The Chair would respectfully state that this is a type of order that requires two readings, Coun. Smith, and could not be finally acted upon to-day. If it should go over for two weeks, a new government coming in the meantime, there would be a question as to the validity of the same.

Coun. KENNY—Mr. President, I was engaged in consultation with the member from Ward 17 (Coun. Curley) when the member from Ward 11 (Coun. Smith) was speaking, and I did not hear what he was saying. That may be my misfortune. However, I shall try to survive it. I do want to say this, that the committee recommended in its report that a conference be had with the Finance Commission and the Mayor, as I recall it, as to the final arrangement for the utilization of this property. The Mayor has not yet called a conference between the Finance Commission and the Committee on Parkman Fund, and certainly until we hear from the Mayor on that matter it would be the height of wisdom of a peculiar nature to take this action. I sincerely hope the reference will not be recalled.

Coun. CURLEY—Mr. President, I confess that I agree with Coun. Smith on this proposition. The question of maintaining the Parkman building as a permanent memorial to such a munificent benefactor of the city as was Mr. Parkman must appeal to every member of the Board, and I believe it does. The only question is as to the policy of acting immediately upon it. I believe the chairman has ruled, and ruled rightly. The only departments that might properly be considered as ones to be placed in charge of this building are the departments that deal with the expenditure of the Parkman Funds—that is to say, the Park or the Public Grounds Departments. But the Park Department has splendid quarters at Pine Bank, at Jamaica Pond, and the Public Grounds Department has excellent quarters on West Cottage street, in Dorchester. In view of the cramped condition of our school headquarters, I feel that it might be a splendid idea, both from the educational standpoint and that of doing justice to such an excellent benefactor, to have the building maintained as suggested by this order. I would move its reference to the next city government and trust that there might be speedy action upon it in the next city government. It would then be taken up without reference to a committee.

Coun. SMITH—Mr. President, I have no objection to that myself. But I think there is a little misapprehension here. I did not intend that the School Department should have the entire house to occupy as a memorial, but simply one room in the house, the rest to be used for the purposes of the School Department. Of course, it will be necessary, in the interests of the treasury, to do something with the house if it is not earning anything for the city. If something is not done, we may be obliged to sell or lease it in the near future. I have no objection to the gentleman's motion, at all.

The motion to reconsider was lost, and the order stood referred to the Committee on Parkman Fund.

Coun. CURLEY—Mr. President, I rise to a point of order, that the matter pending has not been disposed of. The question of reconsideration has been disposed of, but the matter of reference has not been acted upon.

President COLLINS—Reconsideration having been refused, the order stands referred to the Committee on Parkman Fund.

PRINTING OF CLOSING PROCEEDINGS.

Coun. BALLANTYNE offered an order—That the closing proceedings of the City Council of 1911 be printed as a city document, and that the Superintendent of Printing be directed to have copies thereof printed, containing the members' portraits and a group picture of the members and officers of the Council, and to distribute said copies and copies of said picture among the members of the City Council, the expense incurred to be charged to the appropriation for City Council, Incidental Expenses.

Passed.

RECESS TAKEN.

The Council voted at 2.39 o'clock p. m., on motion of Coun. ATTRIDGE, to take a recess subject to the call of the President.

The members reassembled in the Council Chamber and were called to order by the President at 3.06 p. m.

EXECUTIVE COMMITTEE REPORTS.

Coun. ATTRIDGE, for the Executive Committee, submitted the following:

(1) Report on resolve (referred January 29) in favor of House Bills Nos. 599 and 1058, extending the application of civil service laws to the Collecting and Treasury Departments of the City of Boston and to the Penal Institutions Department of the City of Boston—that the resolve ought not to pass, and that the opinion of the Corporation Counsel on the same be printed in the minutes of this meeting.

Report accepted; resolve rejected.

The opinion was as follows:

City of Boston,
Law Department, January 31, 1912.

John F. Dever, Esq.,
Clerk of Committees:

Dear Sir,—I return herewith papers sent to me by you. In reply to the request of the committee for my opinion I would say that the resolution as presented by Coun. Smith indorsing House Bills 599 and 1058 and ordering the Legislature to pass the same is not legal. Mr. Smith or any individual member of the City Council has a perfect right to go to the Legislature or any of its committees individually or collectively and indorse or oppose any bill or act pending before that body. The City Council has no authority under the city charter to go to the Legislature as the City Council of Boston and oppose or favor anything. Under the statutes and ordinances the Corporation Counsel under the direction of the Mayor is to represent the City of Boston in all matters pending before the Legislature.

Yours truly,
THOMAS M. BABSON,
Corporation Counsel.

(2) Report on message of Mayor and communication from Commissioner of Public Works (referred October 30) relative to appropriation of $75,000 for incinerator in Brighton—recommending reference to the next city government with a request for immediate action on the same.

Report accepted; said reference ordered.

(3) Report on message of Mayor, communications and order (referred January 29) canceling accounts for insane patients from February 1 1895, to January 31, 1906, inclusive, amounting to $31,295.08—that the order ought to pass.

Report accepted; order passed.

(4) Report on message of Mayor, communication and order (referred January 11) that the sum of $72,000, which was paid to the city for the property in the Charlestown district known as the Charlestown Almshouse, be and hereby is appropriated, to be expended by the Boston Infirmary Trustees, for "Long Island Kitchen, Refectory and Dormitory"—that the order ought to pass.

Report accepted; order passed, yeas 9, nays 0.

ABOLITION OF COMMITTEE.

Coun. SMITH offered the following:

Resolved, That it is the opinion of the City Council that the Committee on Legislative Affairs for the municipal year 1912 should be abolished.

Coun. SMITH—Mr. President, this is based on a letter from Corporation Counsel Babson which we received to-day. As under his opinion there is no need——

President COLLINS—The difficulty which the Chair has in entertaining this resolution, Coun. Smith, is that there is no Committee on Legislative Affairs of 1912 at present.

Coun. SMITH—Mr. President, I would like to have this referred to the next city government.

The resolution was referred to the next city government.

CLOSING PROCEEDINGS.

Coun. CURLEY offered the following:

Resolved, That the thanks of the City Council be extended to Walter L. Collins for the able manner in which he has presided over the meetings of this body for the municipal year of 1911.

The question came on the adoption of the resolution.

Coun. CURLEY—Mr. President, in retiring from membership in this body, where it has been my pleasure to serve for the past eight years, I want to say that I do so with a full realization of the great pleasure that will be denied me in the future. I have enjoyed the meetings under the present system fully as much as in previous years, when the Board was larger in membership. The thought occurred to me that it might be well to say a few words in retiring, other than words of eulogy of the members associated with me in this body, which might perhaps embody in some degree the thoughts that come to a man through service in a body of this character. The problems of municipal development confronting cities upon the Atlantic seaboard are of such a complex character, and their solution involving as it does great expense and wise judgment, makes it, perhaps, fortunate in a measure that the term of membership in this City Council is such that new men will not he called upon to pass snap judgment upon weighty propositions whose ultimate and proper solution means so much to our fair city. The value of city planning is perhaps nowhere better attested than in the system of playgrounds and municipal buildings found in Boston, which contribute so materially to the health and well-being of all. What in the past has been unheard-of profligacy of the state in the building of highways and the extension of the park system is to-day regarded as ripe judgment, constituting as they do our chief asset. A great truism uttered by a really great man was that ascribed to Hon. Patrick A. Collins, when he declared that it was almost time Boston should cease doing all its business in three acres. An equally great truism is that trade follows the line of least resistance, and in this particular I desire to commend the Council for its recent action in refusing to countenance a usurpation of its powers because of possible duress. At the same time I call attention to the necessity for favorable action at what in my opinion is the psychological time to extend the business district from three acres to possibly many thousands of acres. Were I present at the meeting of the City Council I should have acted precisely as did Mr. Kenny, and were I a member during 1912 I should not only vote but speak in favor of the proposition for I feel it to be a great error to permit a possible $200,000 excess payment prevent even temporarily a development that may in five years represent fifty million dollars of increased valuation to our city. In this connection I want to point out the fact that the city has authorized the expenditure of a million dollars or thereabouts for the widening of Pleasant street. The widening of Pleasant street means the extension of the business section of the City of Boston. By carrying it along on proper lines, the matter of making proper, just and necessary expenditures for public improvements carried on with a view to the future, is a work to which the City Council has given its attention and a work that previous City Councils have permitted to go by default. In consequence of their default and in consequence of the conditions that have presented to the City Council since the city was chartered, because of the old system under which the system was laid out, under which the city developed and under which it stagnated from a business standpoint, the city has been continually confronted with the problems I have suggested and has given them scant attention. In few, if in any, cases has proper consideration been given to the necessary, proper and businesslike development of the good old City of Boston. The western cities and the southern amd northwestern cities have had an opportunity to improve through the mistakes made by our forbears, and when they have laid cities they have laid them out with broad highways radiating from a common center. They have had the opportunity by the expenditure of a small sum of money to make what is possible to us only by what seems an extreme expenditure of money. In this connection, while I have no regard for the corporation which controls this particular property, I would say that I nevertheless recognize the fact that in a sense it is a conjunctive proposition with Pleasant street, that in a measure they are coordinate in the development of that section; and when one considers the possible real estate development that may ensue in consequence of that extension, I believe the future will justify the course of members of this Board in putting through this proposed improvement. I recognize the fact that perhaps my friend on the other side of the Chamber, in his zeal to force through this proposition, and the Chief Executive in the corner down stairs, in his zeal to force it through, instead of assisting have rather retarded progress; but I still believe and hope that the City Council of 1912 will recognize the absolute necessity of assisting in the carrying on of the development of that section of the city which means so much to the entire city. In this connection I desire to point out the splendid opportunity for constructive statesmanship made possible by the entry of the Grand Trunk Railroad, the addition to our transit facilitics made possible by the construction of the Boston Elevated Railway, the appointment of a Dock Commission and a renewed interest in harbor development are all subjects worthy of serious thought and deserving of assistance. The fallacy of the protective system in its application to our northern and southern neighbors is becoming recognized, and the opening of the Panama Canal may mark an epoch in the commercial life of our city, and possibly a return to the old time maritime supremacy of this section of New England. Opportunity is never a matter of chance, but is largely a matter of preparation and creation. If we desire to share in the opportunities that progressive and enlightened public opinion is unfolding to us we must prepare. I have had occasion many times to criticise the Finance Commission and I feel that I have been justified. Advice of a constructive character that will tend to the moral, social, intellectual and business development of a community is helpful advice, but expression of opinion that city officials are corrupt and that graft is general and maladministration common has a natural tendency to create distrust among those persons seeking an investment for capital, and the establishment of industries calculated to provide remunerative employment to our citizens and add to the wealth and happiness of the community. The demands upon the time of a public official in a large city are such that the opportunity for study of weighty propositions are necessarily limited. I feel the services that could be rendered by a constructive advisory body of men is immeasurable, while that rendered by a criticising body must be reckoned in the negative quality. I believe the time has come when we should all say a good word for the best city in this country, and if unkind words must be said permit them to be said by those who have never had opportunity to enjoy its advantages or become familiar with its opportunities. You meet men from every city in the Union and they speak in praise of their industries, and enlarge upon the enterprise of their leading men while, also, too often, the average Bostonian is prone to discuss a subject derogatory to our city and untrue as to fact. Boston has been more free from corruption than any city of similar size in the world, yet it has nevertheless been unfairly and improperly branded as among the corrupt. And this feeling has been fostered to such an extent that to-day every proposition of moment is regarded with suspicion which the successful culmination of the project alone can destroy. In this connection I want to take occasion to refer to the development of the East Boston Dock Front Company, which to-day pays in wages to workingmen, citizens of Boston, in excess of $55,000 annually, which pays for teaming traffic $18,000, and which does an export and import business, formerly done at the port of New York, amounting in 1909 to $60,000,000, largely the handling of wool, hides and extracts from South America and Australia, which had not been shipped to this port in a period of twenty-five years. The men who voted for that public improvement were branded and many of them are considered to-day as corrupt men, with no regard for decency and with small regard for the fair name of our city. It has been said that the man who has no enemies has no friends. If we must make enemies, Mr. President, let us make them through our faithful pursuance of a wise legislative policy for our city; and if we must be classed as bores let it be in consequence of constantly seeking the advantages and benefits of the fair City of Boston. Mr. President, in retiring from this Board it is customary to say a word in praise and in thankfulness to the men with whom you have been associated and the men who have served as companions at the regular meetings of this body. It becomes my pleasure at this time to express our thanks collectively, if I may do so with propriety,—my thanks and I believe those of the other members of the City Council—to the Clerk of Committees, that genial, good-natured gentleman, the Hon. John F. Dever; to the City Messenger, Mr Leary, his assistant, Mr. Silloway, and the other assistant; to the Assistant City Clerk, Mr. Doyle, and his assistants; and to Mr. Harnden, the stenographer of this body. They typify extreme courtesy, they typify exact and thorough knowledge of the duties of their offices, and they assist largely the members of this City Council in carrying on the necessary work of the city government. My old friend on the other side of the Chamber (Coun. Ballantyne), to whom I have often referred as Sandy McGregor, I wish to say that I shall miss greatly. I think of him when I read the words of a great poet of his race, with a splendid knowledge of human nature, that "a man's a man for a' that"; to my genial and smiling friend from Charlestown (Coun. McDonald), who quotes so often a poet, perhaps not in the same class with Shakespeare, but one who is well and familiarly known to the members of the old city government, I would say, in the words of that great Charlestown poet, Simon Devine, "May he live and shine." To my friend on the other side of the Chamber, the distinguished member from Ward 11 (Coun. Smith), I would say that I sincerely trust that his term of service in this body will, if it does not contribute to the harmony of every meeting, at least contribute to the amusement. The most necessary element in any government to-day is the man who desires to know, the man who seeks information, and the man who through the possession of that information makes possible the enactment of such legislation as will benefit humanity. He typifies the progressive spirit of the age, and were it possible for him to hold a high office in this country I believe he would soon be, if he is not there already, in the same class with a former president, Theodore Roosevelt. He is radical, he is progressive, he is healthful,—but he detains us here very long sometimes. To my distinguished friend from South Boston (Coun. Kenny), with whom I have had occasion to differ very many times, I want to say that it affords me great pleasure in leaving the City Council to leave with the knowledge that I am on friendly terms with every member of the Council, regardless of how frequently we have differed during our various terms of service. I am glad that this is so. If it were otherwise I might say, in the words of the judge in "Maud Muller,"

"Of all sad words of tongue or pen
The saddest are these,—It might have been!"

To my genial friend from Ward 9 (Coun. Attridge), I want to say that I have enjoyed his friendship and have admired his many sterling qualities during the time that I have been a member of this body. I feel that the city, in John J. Attridge of Ward 9, has secured the services of a faithful, efficient and painstaking public official, whose sole consideration at all times has been not petty notoriety, but the good of the entire community. To my dear friend, the Hon. Timothy (Coun. Buckley), with whom I have campaigned twice in this city, I want to say, and say it with all sincerity, that I shall miss him greatly. I value his friendship most highly, and I trust that his future will be as bright as he desires it. To my friend on the right, Coun. Hale of Ward 11, who was criticised on one occasion for displaying a friendship for me by attending a ball of the Tammany Club, I want to say that he has lost nothing by his friendship, that I respect it and value it, and that those associated with me in public or in private life bear the same relation towards him that I do. I trust that that friendly feeling and that good relation will ever continue. To the scribes with us—since there are none of those mentioned in the good book present—I will say that I am grateful to you for the consideration you have extended to me as a member of this body and to the membership of the body as well. To our genial presiding officer (President Collins), I want to say that in my terms of service in this Board no man in my memory has ever served as presiding officer of the body with greater coolness, with more singular ability or genial good nature, than the present incumbent of the chair. I sincerely trust that his future course, both in public and in private life, will be as his past course has been—such as to reflect honor and credit on him and on the entire community. At this time, in recognition of those splendid qualities and attributes possessed by you, in behalf of your colleagues in this Board, I desire to take this occasion to present you with an article that, in their opinion, typifies your private and your public life and your many splendid attributes. It has a character of the same composition of yours. There is no alloy in it. There is no dross. It is all 14 karat, and it is the wish of every member of this body that it shall be your pleasure to wear it; that it shall always keep correct time, and that, like yourself, in the end it will be found that it has never tarnished, that it has kept bright, that it is pure gold. (Coun. Curley here, amid applause, presented to President Collins a beautiful watch as a tribute from his fellow members and from the officers of the City Council.)

The resolution was passed by a unanimous rising vote.

President COLLINS said:

Fellow members of the City Council, words are hopelessly cold and inadequate to express my real appreciation of this testimonial which you, through the retiring member, Hon. James M. Curley, have given me. I would much prefer at this time not to talk, but to meet you singly and collectively and thank you for your unusual kindness. But I believe I would be remiss in my duty after the eloquent remarks of the gentleman who for many years has been in the city government of Boston, if I did not say at this juncture just a few words, first as to what we have done, and secondly, as expressing my sincere gratitude for your constant kindness. It has been said that Boston is a city of 700,000 people and that we have had many demands made upon our time, and I concur with the gentleman who preceded when he states that the City Council of 1911 has been a body which has had but a single purpose, and that the safeguarding of the best interests of Boston. You may inquire, in what respect has that been true? To illustrate,—in the first place, take our highway development. This year has seen realized improvements long sought for, but never accomplished. An order for the extension of Pleasant street, involving an expenditure of $900,000, has been passed by this city government, accepting the legislation of the preceding Legislature of the Commonwealth. In the great Dorchester district there was for many years a constant and meritorious attempt to get started a public improvement known as the widening of Norfolk street. This year's city government has seen fit to appropriate $150,000 for that purpose and that improvement will be under way in a few months. As a member of this City Council and through your good graces your presiding officer, it has been my good fortune to live in that district, and I can speak with conscientiousness and directness when I say that that improvement stamps this city government as standing for meritorious street improvements in the suburban sections. That is not all. You appropriated as well $300,000 for the building and acceptance of new streets. In my opinion great and effective work can be done by the city government, and constructive work, in the words of the gentleman who has just spoken—by planning street improvements from year to year in a comprehensive way, because, when you consider it, everyone uses the streets and their condition is everybody's concern. The old adage that "everybody's business is nobody's business," has been applicable for years in this city. In recent years substantial progress in street improvements has not been made in our community. As to the large prospective improvement of which the retiring member has spoken, the extension of Arlington street, I may say, as the presiding officer of this Council—and I believe I am voicing the sentiments of the majority of the members of the Council and the Council itself—that this Council will look at that matter fairly and meet it on its merits, within a very short time. The attitude of the Council has been misconstrued by some. The attitude of the Council was simply to postpone final action on that proposition until it could get all the evidence, and then weigh it as a jury of nine men, whom I have known to be tried and true. The result will be, I am confident from what we have seen of the work of the Council of last year and this year, action for the best interests of the City of Boston. Our borrowing capacity at the beginning of the year was $3,780,983; on December 31, 1911, we had the right to borrow $748,983.47. I believe that this year's Council has followed wisely the action of last year's body, in always keeping in reserve at least $500,000 to meet an emergency. We have steadfastly kept to the rule of paying nothing for maintenance by way of loan, and I believe that the new city government of Boston has forever emblazoned itself on the pages of efficient municipal history by adhering to that proposition. We went perhaps a little farther than any of the other city governments of the east, if not of the country, in taking a step in advance, because this year we had many hundreds of thousands of dollars on hand in the way of reserve, and it was our opinion that the city should not borrow unless it had to. We have followed the old advice that you must not borrow if you have the money in the bank drawing interest at less than you would have to pay on loans that might be issued; and this year, by way of special appropriation for permanent, improvements, we have expended over $800,000. I think it is a beautiful tribute to this Council and shows its impartiality, that it has appropriated money for districts which, in the old sense of the term had no representation; in our sense of the term, none living within those precincts who were members of our body. Although representatives from those parts of the city were lacking in person, they were here in spirit, and for East Boston, West Roxbury and Brighton we have appropriated large sums of money for meritorious municipal improvements. I think also it is a thing to be signally proud of—and I wish to say this to the gentleman who is retiring and to his colleague who lives in the same ward—that during these two years of most remarkable public improvements and demands, both the retiring member and his associate from the same section have never come forward here and advocated strenuously any substantial improvements for their own locality; showing conclusively that they have kept within the spirit of the new charter and have looked at the city as a whole. Fellow members of the Council, I did not intend to talk, and, as I have already said, remarks on my part are futile, because I cannot express to you in the true sense of the term my real gratitude. You have given me this testimonial as your presiding officer. As your president, I have tried to be fair to all. From the day when I was so chosen until to-day, I have tried always to realize that I was the presiding officer of all the members of the Council, and not of any two three, four, five, six or seven. I have adhered steadfastly to the principle that every man was entitled to a fair hearing, and in my rulings I believe I have been just to all. At this time permit me to thank collectively and individually the officials who have helped me to carry the ball. I do not think at this late hour I should mention all the names, because Coun. Curley has done it admirably and well, and I realize that you do not like repetition. I wish to thank our City Clerk, our assistant city clerk, our clerk and assistant of committees, our City Messenger and his assistants, and our official stenographer. To the Press I express my heartfelt thanks, because I had an experience during the past year which few presiding officers have had which has enabled me to appreciate their courtesy and kindness, filling, as I did, for months, the position of chief executive of the city. They have my gratitude, because they have all treated me fairly, without prejudice and without favor. In conclusion, I repeat that this City Council has stood for the best interests of Boston. Many questions have come before us. To two in particular I refer, before closing—namely, the lighting of the smaller lamps of the city, and the garbage contract. Both of those propositions previous city governments for many years have wrestled with, but without success. This city government has settled them on a stable basis for many years to come, something that it was not the good fortune of our predecessors to accomplish. To the retiring member, with his long legislative experience, I would say that never in my experience in the Legislature nor in the City Council have I seen a member more alert or keen in parliamentary practice, or with a greater or quicker grasp of public questions which have come before us than that gentleman; and yet, with his wide experience and his alertness in parliamentary procedure, there has been no member of this City Council who has at all times shown the Chair greater respect than he. In the words of the old man of the mountains,—and I know that in this I am voicing the sentiments of the City Council—when he leaves us I extend to him the hearty wish that he may "live long and prosper." In conclusion, fellow members, all I can say is that I thank you.

"In faith and hope the world will disagree,
But all mankind's concern is charity."

In all the deliberations which have gone on during the past year, that vital, strong and human characteristic has not been lacking among the members of this Council. Before taking my chair I believe it is my duty to tell you something that I believe it is your wish and your right to know. You may ask whether or not I shall be a candidate for this office next year. My answer is, unequivocally, no, I am not a candidate. Again, fellow members of the Council, officials, and the retiring member, I thank you sincerely. (Applause.) The Chair awaits the pleasure of the Council.

The City Council of 1911 adjourned sine die, on motion of Coun. CURLEY, at 3.50 o'clock p. m.
